Thursday to Thursday WOLF AT THE DOOR

WITH MORE THAN four months of the year ne, we're still something like 18 inches below the normal rainfall, which if we are going to get, we need most of now.

IF EVERY MEETING that starts on time should end as quickly as Saturday's Precinct 1 Democratic convention, then those of us who arrive at everything a few minutes late might as well stay home.

ONE OF THOSE who admitted that every thing happened so quickly he wasn't able to tell what was going on was Olin Reddell, Post High School athletic coach and civics teacher. We rode up town with Olin after the brief convention was over, and gathered from what he said that his desire to sit in on the convention dates buck to some of his civics teaching.

WE REMINDED HIM that the county Democratic convention would be at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and both of us agreed that to get anything out of it we'd need to get there on time and listen closely.

THE KENTUCKY DERBY was something else that "slipped up" on a number of us Saturday. Frankly, we had the date of the Derby confused with the Memorial Day Speedway Races at Indianapolis, and didn't even know it had been run until we heard someone say that Needles had come up from somewhere near last place to win the race.

IT ALL BOILS down to the fact that there is just too much going on.

AND THERE IS no sign of a let-up. National Cotton Week is to be observed here May 14-19, with a number of business firms featuring displays of cotton and cotton products. There'll be little else in the way of an observance, but the Post Chamber of Commerce passes along its thanks to the business firms which have agreed to join in what little there is,

AFTER THAT, IT won't be many days until the opening of the 15th annual Post Stampede Rodeo, and commencement exercises at the schools. Sandwiched in on Friday, May 25, will be the opening of the City Swimming Pool for its third season of oper-

SO, AS OLD Satchel Paige says, "Don't look back-something may be gaining on you."

WHAT IS BELIEVED to be the last interscholastic competition to be engaged in this school year by a Post group came Saturday when the Junior High School boys' softball team won the district tournament at Floydada by beating the host team in the first round and Abernathy in the finals. That's a good way to wind up a school year, and the junior high girls did almost as well by winning second place in their division.

National Cotton Week, May 14-19, is sponsored each year by the Council to stimulate the sale of cotton products. Stores throughout the country and communities all over the Cotton Belt join in this celebration. This is one of the Council's many projects aimed at protecting markets and expanding consumption of our most important agricultural commodity.

Post is taking a part in this year's observance, with a number of stores featuring official posters and display materials for 1956, "Pick your cottons now-first choice for you and your home" is the theme for 1956.

It means a great deal to Texas. The value of cotton and cottonseed produced in this state in 1955 amounted to 38 per cent of the total farm income. Cotton is grown on 126,011 Texas farms, or 43 per cent of the farms in the state, Last year they produced 4,025,000 bales and 1,682,000 tons of cottonseed, providing income and payrolls for 1,801 gins, 124 warehouses, 81 oil mills, and 53 textile mills. These dollars circulated many times in the communities of Texas.

This is something to think about when you go to the retail counter and buy clothing, household furnishings or other fiber materials. Be sure and pick cotton.

can pick up your ballots at one of the 14 cooperating business firms. After you vote, drop the ballots in the big box in the theater lobby.

A MOTHER DOWN the block won't let her boy have a .22, although next month the government is giving him a guided missile.

SOME OF US can recall the day when a person who had to pay income tax was considered wealthy.

THE POST HIGH seniors were to get off bright and early Wednesday morning for a threeday stay in cool Colorado. We listened the other day to two of them discussing whether or not they'd make the trip to the top of Pike's Peak while at Colorado Springs. One said she didn't want to, but that she would if the rest of the class did.

THEIR CONVERSATION reminded us of a friend who told of going to Colorado with his wife and trying every trick in the book to keep from accompanying her to the top of the peak. But she insisted, and after they arrived, pointed to the view below and said, "Now see what you'd have missed by not coming up." "Yeah," said the weary husband, "but what I can't understand is why we had to come up here if it's so danged pretty down there."

Roger W. Babson Writes This Week

No Stockholder Should Basically Be Hurt Or Helped By So-Called Stock 'Split-Up'

BABSON PARK, Mass.-So much appears in the newspapers today about stock split-ups, f believe readers will be interested to know why they occur

Large Stockholders Will Die

Most of the split-ups are due to the fact that some very large stockholder has died and his stock must be sold to help the executors pay the estate taxes, which may approximate fifty per cent. As investors are much more willing to buy stocks at a low price, the brokers strongly advise split-ups in such cases to help the marketing of the stock. There is nothing unethical about this. No stockholder should basically be harmed or helped by such action. If it's a "two for me" split-up, and if you have ten shares of stock, you are sent, without cost, ten shares more. The talization is doubled, but the assets are the same. Hence, theoretically the value of your shares after the split-up should be only one half what it was before.

However, owing to the gullibility of investors d to their desire for low-priced stocks, the m total of the "split-up" stock for a while is usually worth more than before there was talk of a split. In addition, new investors in it-up stock may be misled by the price of es. For instance, just before General tric was split, it sold at about 125. It is now d at a price of around 60, which looks lowr to most people. However, because the stock as split 3-for-1, this really represents a price 100. The new lower price misleads investors did not know of the split-up.

Let Preminent Stocks Have Done Since 1829
Without taking any position as to whether should now buy stocks,—or put your money Government Bonds and swait much lower to prices.—I submit the following interesting a using stocks which have not been split to mislead you.

So. California Edison 93% Security For Government Bonds

Many prominent bankers and businessmen believe that the government debt should be cut down. They may be right; but I see no vital reason for this. The U. S. Government is a corporation with definite assets, including about one fourth of all the real estate in the United States! I understand that an inventory of these federal holdings can be secured from Senator Hayden of Arizona. This report shows that the government has over 400,000,000 acres of land, about 400,000 buildings which cost over $14,000,000,000, very valuable mineral rights, undeveloped water powers, and many other assets.

Furthermore, there are various ways of figuring the government debt. Also, in addition to its power to tax and the right to print money, which no other corporation has, the Federal Government keeps books in a very conservative manner. For instance, if a new Post Office is built in your community, it is not listed in the Capital Account, as every private corporation would do, but is charged to Operating Expenses.

"The Fly In The Ointment" Although there is no lack of security for Government Bonds and no fear of present outstanding U. S. Government Bonds defaulting on their coupons, such bonds could suffer from inflation. I refer to the fact that the interest payment on Government Bonds is fixed. Hence, if the value of the dollar declines, the price of longterm Government Bonds might decline correspendingly. This danger can largely be offset, however, by buying short-term Government

Inflation is a danger which all investors suld carefully watch and fight. This is especial ly true in a democracy like ours, where Cong-resonen and Senators vote for inflationary mea-mers just to get re-elected. Such politicians are selling our country "down the river," or, as the Bible says, "for a mess of pottage." I know nothing about the possibilities of World War III: but if it comes, I forecast that our dollar will cirty cents. In that case, most Govern

YOU CAN FEEL that old rodeo fever creeping up as the May 23-26 dates for the 15th annual Post Stampede Rodeo near. The only good thing about the fever is that it doesn't hit some of us as hard as it does others, and a four-day siege of it is enough to get most anyone down except the most rabid fans.

They're making plans for another good one this year from the time of Thursday's opening parade until the final bucks out of the chutes on Saturday night. It's heartening to hear that merchants and other businessmen are being spared one item of expense in connection with the rodeo-that of paying for store-front decorations. The Boy Scouts will have the flags, all of uniform size, out for the four-day event, and that will give the town as festive an appearance as it needs for the rodeo.

They keep telling us how modern weapons will make the foot soldier obsolete. But I notice that in spite of DDT and the other miracle insecticides, they're still selling fly swatters.

About the only time some people will listen to both sides is when they're on a record.

"Store must be open at 6:3 m. and remain open until m. the year round pail of water and a scuttle of coal must be brought in by each clerk before breakfast, if there is time to do so and attend to customers who call.

This store must not be open on the Sabbath unless absolutely necessary. a back scratcher. ing mesquite chips last year but did not continue them extensively because of the slow method used in processing mesquite shrubs into suitable chip sizes for feeding. Fisher is directing a project in who have been in the feeding business for many years look on the experiment with skepticism. Their argument is: "If mesquite wood is good cow feed the cattle would eat it out in the pasture."

The argument doesn't go far enough, Fisher says.

"We know for a certainty cattle won't eat mesquite shrubs because they are too fibrous and too well protected by thorns," he said.

In the fight to control mesquite and in the search to find an economical use for West Texas' most prolific woodland crop, the Spur experimenters are trying it as feed cows despite the thorns. Late in 1955 the Spur station obtained a 'mesquite chipper" especially designed to process mesquite shrubs into cow feed. It is little more than an ordinary planer. The big difference is the "floating" roller below the revolving drum to which the planing knives are attached.

Thorns Shredded The floating roller serves as an automatic feeder of the shrubs into the knives rotating at high speed on the drum. The high speed of the revolving knives chip the mesquite shrubs into small, thin pieces. The brittle thorns are also shredded and the resulted chips "tenderized" sufficiently after a man can chew them as easily as he can a "woody" turnip.

The mesquite chips can be fed to any mature dairy and beef animal, sheep and goats.

At the station four steers get a daily ration of eight pounds of mesquite chips, four pounds of cottonseed hulls, two pounds of meal, two pounds of alfalfa meal and six pounds of ground grain sorghum. Four other steers get the same ration except eight pounds of cotton seed hulls are substituted for the eight pounds of mesquite chips. The daily hull ration is 12 pounds.

For the first 56-day feeding period the pen of steers getting cot-tonseed hulls made an average daily gain of 2.79 pounds per animal while the mesquite chip pen gained 2.56 pounds daily, only .23 of a pound less per day than the steers getting all hulls.

Both pens will be fed for 140 days, then slaughtered for a carcass comparison

When compared with other commonly used control practices, spot-oiling re-quires less hand-labor, the oils used are readily available and comparatively cheap in price and the gravity-flow hand sprayer used for making the applications is inexpensive.

Elliott says a mixture of half naphtha and diesel oil is best for crown-oiling in cotton and corn. A squirt applied to each crown before the Johnson-grass plants are six inches tall and followed by from four to six additional applications should give 98 per cent control. ### U. S. Barters Surplus Farm Commodities For Foreign Goods

COLLEGE STATION (Spl.) Since March 1950, surplus United States farm commodities worth over $400 million have been traded, with no exchange of curren cy, for needed foreign materials under the Commodity Credit Corporation's barter program, reports John G. McHaney, extension economist. Contracts now outstanding will bring these barter exports to more than a half-billion dol-agricultural products exported under this program, according to McHaney, have includ-ed most of those held by the Government in large quantities wheat, corn, grain, sorghums, barley, flaxseed, oats, rye, tobacco, cottonseed oil, peanuts, dried skim milk, linseed oil, cottonseed meal, soybeans, rice, and cotton. Wheat has accounted for more than half teenagers who agree with our the total on a value basis.

Materials acquired by the United States through these barter transactions are both strategic and nonstrategic. Strategic materials include antimony metal, beryl industrial diaore, cadmium, monds, high carbon ferrochrome ferrochromiumsilicon, ferroman ganese, fluorspar, crude iodine, manganese ore, and palladium. The nonstrategic materials include such things as fertilizer and cotton yarn.

Barter transactions are carried out through regular commercial trade channels by private United States firms. Materials have been exported to 29 friendly countries.

THE CHURCH POINTS THE WAY

Thousands of columns have been published in American newspapers about Juvenile Delinquency. Investigations have been held in scores of cities, and many witnesses have been called in an effort to find the cause and the cure.

In all this sudden excitement little has been said about the lack of religion in the homes and hearts of these thousands of unfortunate youths. Far too much emphasis has been placed on inadequate play facilities, too little discipline, too few policemen, etc.

Juvenile Delinquency is primarily a moral and religious problem. Neither jail nor playground, as necessary as they are, will do much to foster love, goodwill, self-respect and charity in the heart of a person. The development of love and charity in the life of a youth needs constant day by day cultivation. But how can a parent properly train a child if that parent has had no religious or spiritual training or background and lives a selfish and faithless life? How can a parent teach a youth the fundamental spiritual values if that parent does not even attempt to live an exemplary life and does not admit his or her dependence upon God, our creator?

Down through the ages the Church has been the bulwark against crime, sin and evil. Those who would solve the problem of delinquency in young or old should seek the way of the Church, for those who need spiritual healing should seek spiritual treatment. The Church stands ready to help parent and youth alike.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support Plan to go to church regu-larly and read your Bible daily.

Farmer Is Burned In Gasoline Explosion

Adrian Cook is recovering in Garza Memorial Hospital this week from burns received Sunday afternoon in a tractor gasoline exsion on his farm about nine miles west of Post.

Cook was knocked from the tractor and his clothing set aftre by the flaming gasoline, which was lieved to have been ignited by excessive heat.

He extinguished his flaming clothing by rolling in the mud of a nearby irrigation ditch, but suffered severe burns on the arms and legs and about the face.

Donald Carpenter, who was ssing the farm at the time of explosion, rushed to Cook's aid and he and a Mexican farm laborer carried the injured man the home of his mother, Mrs. O. R. Cook. He was brought to the hospital by his wife, Betty, and Lowell Sweeton.

The attending physician said Vednesday that it will be several sys before Cook will be able to ve the hospital.

Mrs. A. H. Hood is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Roy Fitzgerald, and family in Pampa.

New Marketing Program Planned To Aid Poultry, Egg Industry

By JOHN C. WHITE Commissioner Of Agriculture

The Texas Department of Agriculture is laying groundwork for a new and important marketing program aimed at helping the Texas poultry and egg industry.

Plans are for inauguration of a marketing service intent on improving quality of Texas poultry inspection and grading, through boosting the Texas egg industry through a grading and standards program, and thereby expanding market outlets for Texas poultry products.

Since there are at present no Heard, West Point Manufacturing state laws which regulate quality or set standards for the sale of poultry or eggs within the state C.; F. An additional license fee of $10 each for the privilege of solicitng will be charged for each employee or representative of those covered in the above lists.

Conviction for violation of terms of the ordinance will carry a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100.

Mayor James Minor said ctirens can help see that terms of the ordinance are carried out by asking all itinerant peddlers or vendors calling on them if they have met the licensing requirements, and by refusing to do business with them until they offer proof that they have paid the license fee.
