'Preparing for Drug Free Years' project helps families in fight

Post ISD one of six included in program

The Post ISD board of trustees heard a report at the November 13 regular meeting concerning a new program to assist parents in preparing for "Drug Free Years."

Post ISD and five other area communities are included in the pilot project, which has demonstrated success in Oregon, Washington and Illinois, according to Region 17 Education Service Center's Leigh Mires.

Mires is the administrator of "Preparing for the Drug Free Years" for the service center in Lubbock and she explained to the trustees the purpose of the project.

"It is designed for parents of students in the upper elementary ages," she said, "and we work to teach parents about the risk factors for their youth and how to develop skills to avoid the pitfalls of drug and alcohol abuse."

The service center has trained two parent educators in each of the six communities, with Sandra Scrivner and Reyes Pequeño of Post to coordinate the program here.

Classes for parents are expected to begin in February.

The other communities in the pilot project are Tahoka, Spur, Crosbyton, Seminole and Matador. The program is funded by a grant from the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

"The program was developed by Dr. J. David Hawkins and Dr. Richard F. Catalano of the University of Washington," Mires added.

The pilot project here will be evaluated for the first time on youth perception and response.

In other action, the board tabled a decision on changing the group health insurance plan for employees to a later date and approved the September and October 1990 financial statements.

Certificates of Deposit were renewed at $1,674,310 for 6.46 percent, $1,186,928 at 6.46 percent, $11,167,285 at 6.41 percent and $874,858 at 6.41 percent.

Payment of bills was approved as well as releasing the lien of John Henry Osby and Lillie Mae Price.

Attorney Joe Boerner presented a written report concerning the Lubbock ISD policy on use of school facilities. Boerner has arranged for members of the law firm to meet with the Post ISD board in December to discuss the school liability and possible election problems. The law firm will have a policy ready for the board's consideration in December.

Superintendent Bill Shiver reported to the board on the T.A.A.S. test results from October's testing period. He reported the results "do not look good" and that the school's predictions based on the CTBS scores administered in September are consistent with the T.A.A.S. data.

Attending the meeting were board members Royce Hart, Barbara Hardin, Dan Hodges, Jerry Hays, Ronnie Gradine and Gary Workman.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:
I wanted to write a thank you to the good Samaritans of Post, Texas. My 10-year old son and I were traveling cross-country from Beaumont, Texas, to Denver, Colorado on September 21, 1990, when our MG quit running at the stoplight in the center of town on the way to Lubbock. I figured we were out of commission for the weekend as it was 9:30 on a Friday night.

However, as we pushed our car into the center of the street parking area, we hadn't any more than sat down to evaluate the situation and possible options, when the first good Samaritan came to the rescue. He asked if he could help and enthusiastically went off to find us an A-1 mechanic! Within one-half hour to an hour, my son and I looked at each other in amazement as four more friendly locals came to help us solve our predicament with their flashlights, advice and help. I wish I could remember their names.

Within two hours, you'll had my car running again and we were off to Lubbock, where we were able to find some new parts the next morning.

Thank you! Thank you! Thank you! I can't say enough about how much I appreciated the hospitality you showed me in Post. Your pride in your community shows. It seems that you might just have a little bit of heaven in the high plains of Texas.

Sincerely,
Charles and Keith Norris

Artificial Sweeteners: Alternatives to Sugar

Table sugar (sucrose), a nutritive sweetener, continues to be the sweetener preferred by most people. The United States Agriculture Department reports that in a recent year the per person use of nutritive sweeteners such as sucrose, sorbitol, honey, and maple syrup was about 134 pounds. Nutritive sweeteners also are referred to as caloric sweeteners. Diabetics and those on calorie-restricted diets often are advised to use noncaloric or nonnutritive sweeteners. Non-nutritive sweeteners are sometimes referred to as "artificial sweeteners." Nonnutritive sweeteners approved for use in the United States include saccharin, aspartame, and acesulfame-K.

Saccharin is 300 to 400 times as sweet as sucrose. Saccharin has been used for more than 80 years to sweeten foods and beverages.

Aspartame, an artificial sweetener which is 200 times sweeter than sucrose, is commonly used as a sweetener in diet soft drinks, tabletop sweeteners, fruit juice, frozen desserts, and yogurt.

Acesulfame-K also is 200 times sweeter than sucrose. It has been approved by The U.S. Food and Drug Administration as an ingredient in chewing gum, instant coffees, gelatins and puddings, non-dairy lighteners, and as a tabletop sugar substitute.

PUBLIC NOTICE

On July 19, 1990, GTE Southwest Incorporated ("GTE-SW") filed revisions to the company's tariff pertaining to the features and associated equipment for providing emergency number services (9-1-1).

In this filing, GTE-SW proposes to modify its existing 9-1-1 tariff and to add more than 200 new service offerings. The new items of service and equipment in this application have been added to meet the company's increasing 9-1-1 customer demands and to allow GTE-SW to compete more effectively in the 9-1-1 equipment market.

The product line in the new offerings consists of a mini-computer and specialized console package for larger communities, as well as a personal computer with Automatic Number Identification (ANI) display for smaller communities. (ANI displays a caller's telephone number on the emergency dispatcher's computer screen.) In addition, the product line will include ANI and Automatic Location Information (ALI) display units compatible with, and similar to, those offered by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and other local exchange carriers in Texas. (The ALI feature displays a caller's address on the computer screen.) The rate charged existing 9-1-1 customers may be revised at the expiration of their contracts with GTE-SW if the proposed tariff is approved.

This filing has been assigned Docket No 9667. The hearing on the merits is scheduled for February 25, 1991, at the offices of the Public Utility Commission of Texas. The deadline to intervene in this docket is December 31, 1990.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information, should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas, 78757. # TELECOOT® Report

A WEEKLY SUMMARY OF COTTON MARKETING NEWS

Nervous best describes the U.S. cotton market as uncertain economic conditions, strong foreign demand and the prospect for war in the Middle East continue to have their impact. As a result, traders seem more concerned with nearby rather than deferred deliveries.

At times in recent weeks, an inverted market has appeared possible with the New York December contract trading at a premium over the March contract as traders bite the bullet in order to get out of their short positions. Some sources expect traders with long positions may take delivery of cotton, however, the amount that can be certificated may be in question.

The trade also appears concerned that heavy exports could result in the United States running out of cotton this marketing year. USDA's November supply and demand report indicated ending stocks of 2.6 million bales. Since then, exports have increased dramatically, adding credibility to the trade's fear.

USDA reported exports for the week ending November 15 totaled 196,400 running bales with almost 88,000 destined for China. Facilitating current export levels is a weak U.S. dollar on world money markets.

A bullish cotton trade in the U.S. and Far East, however, is not indicated in distant futures months' prices. Deferred deliveries usually carry prices that reflect carrying costs from nearby contracts or from one month to the following one. Thus, traders may be cautious about taking forward positions. Another concern is that exports may be cancelled later this marketing year in order to meet domestic demand.

Support for this concern was enhanced by the October cotton use report released November 21 which showed U.S. textile mills used cotton at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 8.696 million bales. U.S. mills consumed cotton at a daily rate of 33,660 bales in October. This was up from 33,391 bales in September, according to figures released by the U.S. Census Bureau. Mill activity is expected to decline in November and December, however, as many mills have announced shutdowns ranging from one to five weeks during the holidays to control inventory.

New York's December contract closed up 10 points on November 16 at 74.25, and March settled at 73.63, up 19. The day's trading began strong but weakened throughout the day due to persistent scale-up selling by trade houses and strong technical resistance in December. Prices rallied during the last hour of trading to post the slight gain.

Trading remained thin on November 19 from a lack of market-moving factors and the holiday-shortened week which kept interest light. December closed up nine points at 74.34 and March was up two at 73.65. December virtually kept pace on November 20 as the contract closed up 16 points to close at 74.50 while March posted a significant loss to close down 39 at 73.26 as positioning continued before the first notice day for December delivery on November 26.

The Census Bureau's cotton usage report on November 21 eased fears of a slowing U.S. economy for at least another month. Coupled with tight deliverable stocks, the news helped December to close up 93 points at 75.43, and March made a noticeable gain to settle at 73.78, up 52.

USDA reported cotton harvest has reached 78 percent in the top 14 producing states as of November 18. Oklahoma's harvest was 70 percent complete, and Texas was 54 percent off the stalk.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - History does not often repeat itself, but now and then parallels occur which tease the mind, like Gov.-elect Ann Richards' situation with insurance rates.

In the last two months of her campaign, she hung her hat on the pledge to bring insurance rates down in Texas — and even foes in the other camp had to admit she had latched onto a good issue.

But now, before she's even in office, the State Board of Insurance hikes insurance maximum rates by an average of 15.8 percent statewide, ranging from a 1.4 percent raise in West Texas to 24.1 percent in Fort Worth.

The board's action last week came right on the heels of a legislative hearing in which big companies asked lawmakers to totally deregulate the industry to drive rates down.

The request was 180 degrees apart from Richards' position: she vowed during her campaign to lower rates through stricter regulation.

Mark White, Utilities

How does this tie in with history repeating itself?

In 1982, the Democratic nominee Mark White upset GOP Gov. Bill Clements with a last month surge based on a promise to lower utility rates.

White wanted to eliminate the automatic pass-through charge, which he did once in office. Rates didn't go down, but White did as the unkept promise rose to haunt him four years later.

He protested it wasn't his fault, and it probably wasn't, but the catchy promise that moved him into the Mansion was catchy enough to be recalled by voters strapped by a recession. That, and a broken promise not to raise taxes.

Richards Rips Hike

Richards has yet to get started to lower insurance rates, so scoffers who say she won't or can't are premature.

She ripped the insurance board for not looking out for consumers, but the rates go into effect two and one-half months after she takes office. So, score one for the insurance industry.

If her credibility is on the line, so is that of insurance lobbyists.

Companies can still charge below the maximum rates, and the state board also divided Texas into 21 rating territories to make it easier to base premiums more precisely on territory losses.

Entrenched Commissioners

As for Richards' pending appointment powers, the lone commissioner who voted against the rate hike is the only one she'll get to replace in the short term: Jo Ann Howard, whose term is up in January. The other two commissioners muster out in 1993 and 1995.

The governor-elect is a savvy hardballer, so if political pressure is there to bear, she'll find it.

Frankly, there's not too much danger of overplaying her hand; there's little love lost between her and the insurance industry now.

The insurance industry and the trial lawyers regard each other as mortal political foes, the latest battle lasting three sessions over the workers' compensation insurance issue.

The fact that Richards' ex-husband once headed up the Texas Trial Lawyers Association, and that it heavily backed her this year, can only remind us that no quarter is likely to be given.

In political gamesmanship, the insurance lobby stole a march on them all and she may not be able to do anything about it.

But if she finds herself signing a new state income tax sometime in her first term, her foes may not be able to resist the urge to pose her in front of Mark White's silhouette.

Clements Meets Successor

Meanwhile, the governor-elect held a rare meeting with the man she will replace, as she announced her first staff appointments.

Richards met for about 45 minutes with Gov. Bill Clements, whom she had criticized during her campaign against GOP nominee Clayton Williams.

"This is no longer campaigning," Richards said. "Now is the time where we have to do the job we said we would do. This is one of those visits."

Following the meeting, she announced her first two staff assignments:

- Jack Martin, a political consultant and former executive assistant to U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, will direct Richards' transition team.

- Bill Cryer, a spokesman for the Richards campaign and head of press relations for the state treasurer's office, was named press secretary.

Other Highlights

- Three Austin residents will direct Richards' inaugural committee: Cathy Bonner of Bonner Inc, Katherine B. Reynolds of KBR Investments and attorney Will Davis.

- Norman Stephen Mattox, the father of Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox, died Nov. 17 at his Dallas home following a long battle with cancer. He was 75.

Fall Spraying Aids Fruit Trees
Preparation for next year's fruit crop can begin this fall by spraying trees for several fruit tree diseases.

Bacterial spot, bacterial canker, peach leaf curl and coryneum blight are diseases that can be slowed by spraying now.

Dr. John A. Lipe, Extension Service horticulturist at Fredericksburg, says that bacterial canker is the most serious of the targeted diseases. It is a common cause of tree dieback and death.

Canker also causes bleeding or gumming along the trunk and branches. In eight out of 10 cases, fruit tree gumming is caused by canker rather than borers, which are often mistakenly blamed for the problem.

Canker gumming is especially evident in the fall. It is caused by a systemic bacteria that plugs the tree's vascular system. The only thing that will help trees seriously infected with canker is good care: adequate water, fertilizer and weed control.

Bacterial spot and coryneum blight commonly damage leaves and sometimes the fruit of stone fruit trees in the spring and summer. Physical signs of these diseases are leaves with small holes; in severe cases, trees are defoliated.

Spraying now will not eliminate the disease but will reduce its incidence next spring and summer.

Another common disease is leaf curl, which causes extremely crinkled leaves in the spring. Leaf curl is caused by a fungus that quits once temperatures begin to get warmer.

The disease is worst following a cool, damp March, but spraying now is usually sufficient to prevent it from becoming bad enough to cause heavy defoliation next spring. Spraying different mixtures of Kocide 101, Kocide 606 and Kocide DF can be used effectively to prevent these diseases.

Kocide 101 is the only formulation available in small enough quantities to be practical for garden use.

Kocide contains copper, which will cause leaf burn on healthy green foliage, so wait until the leaves are beginning to drop and are easily brushed from the tree.

It is best to apply this spray while most of the leaves are still attached, but the spray is worthwhile, even if most of the leaves have already dropped.

Besides spraying, sanitation is important in reducing the carryover of disease to next year's crop.

Mummified and rotting apples, dead wood on the ground or in the tree, plus ragged stubs of broken branches harbor disease spores. These items should be pruned out, gathered and burned or tilled into the soil.

Fall is not a good time to prune fruit trees or other deciduous plants. Pruning stress, especially when coupled with other stresses including drought, poor nutrition and disease, can make the tree more vulnerable to winter injury.

Lipe reported that soil moisture levels across much of the Hill Country are adequate to carry fruit trees and vines as they enter dormancy. The roots of deciduous trees, vines and shrubs are active throughout the fall and winter, and the soil should never be allowed to dry.

The word ye, in such expressions as "Ye Olde Shoppe," is pronounced like the word the. The letter y in Anglo-Saxon indicated the same th sound as apparent in the current spelling.

Morgan family reunion highlights 60th anniversary

Ewell and Gladys Morgan celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary November 10 and 11, 1990, with a family reunion hosted by their children and grandchildren.

Gladys Pettigrew married her husband on November 9, 1930 in Lamesa, Texas.

The couple have four sons, Laurence of Pecos, Philip of Phoenix, Az., Bryan, of Grandview, and David, of Austin. They also have 14 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren. The grandchildren travelled from Texas, New Mexico, Kansas, Arizona and Santiago, Chile.

Ewell retired in October, 1977 from the Santa Fe Railroad after 39 years of employment. Gladys taught school for 29 years before retiring in June, 1977.

After their retirement, the couple moved to the R.A. Morgan homeplace at Justiceburg where Ewell was born in 1912. Gladys and her family, the Claude Pettigrews, moved to Justiceburg in 1922.

Shower honors Ginger Ickles and Sam Butler

The Community Room of the First National Bank Building was the scene for the recent wedding shower honoring Miss Ginger Ickles and Sam Butler.

Approximately 50 guests called between ten and eleven on Saturday morning, November 10. They were registered by Mrs. Nona Lusk at a table featuring a picture of the honored couple.

Greeting the guests were Mrs. Curtis Williams, the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Dan Ickles of Pampa, and the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. Noel White.

Miss Keitha White, sister of Butler from Lubbock, served refreshments of assorted homemade breads, a fruit bowl with dip, coffee and orange juice.

The serving table was covered with a red cloth and featured a white lace runner. A fresh flower arrangement centered the table. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

The 15 hostesses presented the honoree with a set of cookware.

Hostesses for the occasion were: Mmes Bobby Cowdrey, Jerry Bush, Albert Stone, K.W. Kirkpatrick, James Stone, Elmer Cowdrey, Lonnie Peel, E.E. Peel, Troy Nelson, Edwin Lewis, Ray Mason, Tom Middleton, Mack Ledbetter, Williams and Lusk.

FNB and American Express help with Toys for Tots...

A cuddly plush toy will be donated to the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve Toys for Tots Program for every purchase of American Express Gift Cheques from November 23 through December 31 at The First National Bank of Post participating in the American Express Gift Cheque "Most Thoughtful Gift" program.

Toys for Tots, which gives new toys to needy children nationwide, is now in its 43rd year of brightening the lives of America's underprivileged youngsters at Christmas time.

"Holiday time is the most important gift-giving season of the year and is so meaningful to children," said Craig Hoenshell, president, American Express Gift Cheques. "By giving an American Express Gift Cheque to someone on your list you are also giving a nice toy to a child who might not be on anyone's list."

American Express Gift Cheques provide an attractive, convenient alternative to cash, personal checks and gift certificates. They are like universal gift certificates except that they can be cashed and are refundable if lost or stolen.

American Express Gift Cheques are available throughout the year in $25, $50 and $100 denominations.

For more information about the "Most Thoughtful Gift" campaign, please contact Kevin Sullivan of American Express Gift Cheques at (212) 640-3902.

Oil production rate at market demand

The Railroad Commission has continued the Texas oil production rate for December 1990 at 100 percent of market demand.

Chairman Kent Hance and Commissioners John Sharp and James E. (Jim) Nugent continued the top production allowable after reviewing oil companies' nominations to buy a total of 1,863,069 barrels of Texas oil per day. The December nomination total, an increase of 17,249 barrels daily when compared to November purchaser nominations, estimates Texas oil production in the coming month. December 1989 nominations totaled 1,866,589 barrels daily.

The commissioners set production for the East Texas field at a 100 percent market demand factor in compliance with a state district court injunction levied last month. However, the commissioners, in a two-to-one vote, issued a statement saying waste is "imminent" in the East Texas field if it is produced at a market demand factor above 86 percent. In a related action, the Commission voted to let expire an emergency production order signed in August which authorized oil operators in the state to produce their wells up to their maximum efficient rate.

The Commission first went to the 100 percent ceiling level for oil production in April 1972. It applies to all fields in the state except those that are assigned lower legal rates of production so that reservoir pressures will not be depleted before the maximum amount of oil has been recovered.

Chairman Hance also reported that December nominations for the purchase of Texas gas totaled 20,862,009 Mcf/d (thousand cubic feet per day). November nominations totaled 20,288,903 Mcf/d. December 1989 nominations amounted to 20,201,221 Mcf/d.

The next statewide oil and gas production allowable hearing will begin at 10:00 a.m., on Wednesday, December 19, 1990, at the Railroad Commission in the William B. Travis Building, 1701 N. Congress Avenue in Austin.

Major purchasers filed these December nominations from the floor at the hearing: Amoco Production Company, 146,500 barrels, down 500; Conoco, Inc., 62,000 barrels; unchanged; Exxon Company, U.S.A., 143,830 barrels, up 330; Mobil Oil Corporation, 118,000 barrels, down 200; and Texaco Trading and Transp., Inc., 122,950 barrels; unchanged.

VA cuts home mortgage rates for veterans

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs has lowered the maximum interest rate on VA-backed home mortgages to 9.5 percent for qualified veterans, says U.S. Senator Phil Gramm.

"This is good news, not only for veterans who can now expect to pay less for a new mortgage, but to the entire real estate and homebuilding industry in Texas," Gramm noted.

The new VA interest rates are:

- * 9.5 percent for homes, townhouses and condominiums.
- * 12 percent for manufactured homes.

- * 11.5 percent for loans covering both manufactured homes and lots.

- * 11 percent for home improvement loans.

"Last year, the VA guaranteed $15.8 billion in home loans to veterans," the senator said. "That covered 196,000 loans, up substantially from the year before."

The Department of Veterans Affairs mortgage program allows qualified veterans to obtain guarantees to buy, renovate or refinance a home.

Jobless rate takes major plunge!

"The state of Texas had 80,000 fewer unemployed people seeking work in October," Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers said today. "That fact caused a significant drop in the state's unemployment rate and we are looking at 5.3 percent for October -- the lowest level we've been able to boast in several years," Nabers said. "While the jobless statistic looks good, there are other economic indicators that are not too encouraging."

The unemployment rate in Garza County was 5.0% with 1,832 total employed of a 1,928 total workforce.

"We would feel better" Nabers said, "if there had been a corresponding increase in total employment but that did not occur." Texas Employment Commission analysts say that there is a possibility that the current rate may understate actual unemployment. It is also probable that many jobseekers simply withdrew from the labor force.

"Unfortunately," Nabers said, "the Texas economic expansion appears to have slowed in recent months." Only Services and the Nondurable Goods sector of Manufacturing and Mining recorded advances between September and October and these uptums were very small.

Transportation, Utilities, Wholesale and Retail, Trade and Finance, Insurance and Real Estate all posted declines for the month.

Unemployment rates among the 27 Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSA's) for which data are currently available all dropped in October, following the statewide pattern. Only one area, Lubbock, had a current rate which was above its year-ago rate. The current rate for El Paso was the same as the October 1989 rate. All other MSA's had current unemployment well below their year-ago levels.

Those MSA's with the lowest unemployment rates in October included: Bryan-College Station, at 3.0 percent; Austin, at 4.1 percent; Amarillo, with a 4.2 percent rate; and Lubbock, with a rate of 4.3 percent. Only nine of the 27 MSA's had rates of 6.0 percent or above in October.

The MSA's with the highest October unemployment rates were: McAllen-Edinburg-Mission, at 14.5 percent; El Paso, with a 9.6 percent rate; Brownsville-Harlingen, at 9.1 percent; Laredo, at 8.3 percent; and Corpus Christi, which had a current rate of 6.7 percent.

This Week In History

On November 29, 1864, the infamous Sand Creek massacre took place, in which Cheyenne and Arapaho Indians were accosted in a raid by 900 cavalymen, killing 150-500 men, women and children. Nine soldiers died. The tribes were awaiting surrender terms when they were attacked ... November 29, 1916, the U.S. established a military government in the Dominican Republic ... December 2, 1942, the first nuclear chain reaction (fission of uranium isotope U-235) was produced at the University of Chicago under physicists Arthur Compton, Enrico Fermi, and others ... November 26, 1949, China sent troops across its border ... December 2, 1953, condemnation of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) was voted by the Senate, 67-22, for contempt of a Senate elections subcommittee, for abuse of its members, and for insults to the Senate during his Army investigation hearings ... December 1, 1955, Rosa Parks refused to give her seat to a white man on a bus in Montgomery, Ala. The bus segregation ordinance was declared unconstitutional by a federal court following boycott and NAACP protest ... December 2, 1982, a retired dentist, Dr. Barney B. Clark, 61, became the first recipient of a permanent artificial heart during a seven-and-a-half-hour operation in Salt Lake City, Utah. The heart was designed by Dr. Robert Jarvik, also on the surgical team.

Employers to see $300 million tax credit

Texas employers are going to get a $300 million TEC tax credit in 1991 according to Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers of the Texas Employment Commission.

"This is without doubt the best news we have been able to announce in the past six years," Commissioner Nabers said. "Every Texas employer will realize a tax credit of approximately 34%." This amount will not be an actual refund but will be applied to taxes owed in 1991.

"This will provide some much needed relief to business," Nabers said ... and then added, "It's long overdue."

The tax credit is a result of lower unemployment and a trust fund that has reached capacity. The trust fund is the account from which benefits to unemployed workers are paid. According to Nabers the fund will total approximately $1.3 billion by the end of November. "That is more than is needed so the overage can be credited back to taxpayers," Nabers said.

When asked if this was a major indicator of a better economy, Commissioner Nabers was cautious, calling it a positive sign but describing the economy as simply stable rather than great.

The amount of credit to be received by employers will vary depending on their tax liability. For example:

- * A large employer with a tax liability of $5 million will receive a tax credit of approximately $1.7 million.
- * A mid-sized employer with a tax liability of $29,000 could receive a tax credit of $9,900.
