Actors, patrons recognized at fifth annual 'Willy Awards'

by Wes Burnett

Jane Prince Jones left Post Saturday night with two awards following the fifth annual Garza Theatre "Willy Awards" as she was voted 1990's best actress and best supporting actress. Joining her with "Quanahs" were best actor Troy Timms, best supporting actor Tim McIntire, best cameo actress Alison Hoefler and best cameo actor Lino DeLeon.

"Bullshot Crummond" took best play awards, with Belinda Howell recognized for her role as stage manager. Hoefler accepted the award for Howell, who was unable to attend the event.

"The Silver Whistle" was chosen for the best cover design, "The Cradle Song" was recognized for the best design. Both awards were presented to director Will McCrary by Texas Tech University's Southwest Collection director David Murrah.

In his remarks, Murrah complimented Mayor Giles McCrary for his contributions to the university and pointed out that Post is a national treasure. He also emphasized that the Garza Theatre and its director were national treasures which brings much acclaim to West Texas.

The "Lifetime Service" award, presented by Giles McCrary, went to Millie Stewart for her continuous on and off stage support at the theatre. The mayor also presented the Garza Theatre Board of Directors award to Lubbock Avalanche Journal general manager and publisher Frank Anderson.

Will McCrary presented the director's award for cultural awareness to the Post Chamber of Commerce "and all the businesses in Post who so generously support our efforts." The director's award for youth achievement went to Joshua Hubble and Jennifer Hubble, who have provided a wide variety of support to the theatre both on and off stage.

Jon Steele was recognized by McCrary for his distinguished volunteer service. McCrary pointed out that Steele performed in seven of nine plays in 1990, five of which were in consecutive roles.

A packed house at the Post Community Center was welcomed by Garza Theatre board of directors president Nelda Dalby, and opening remarks were offered by state representative David Counts.

Among the special guests introduced were 17th Congressional District Congressman Charles Stenholm and his wife Cindy.

Musical entertainment for the awards program was provided by Will McCrary, Anna Wilson, Aaron Rathbun and Emily Hataway, with piano accompaniment by David King.

Dinner music was provided by the "Garza Theatre Harley Sadler Band" director by Ken Demarquis. The Mexican buffet dinner was catered by P.D.Q.

Ruby Williams served as awards musical director and Ben Miller designed the 1990 award statuettes.

Last year's best cameo actor Mike Toombs presented the best cameo actress award to Hoefler for her role as 'Lenya Von Bruno in "Bullshot Crummond", followed by Nelda Dalby, 1989 best cameo actress, presenting the best cameo actor award to DeLeon for his role as 'the telephone repairman' in "Barefoot In The Park."

Best supporting actress for 1989 Christy Morris presented the best supporting actor award to McIntire for his part as 'Joseph' in "My Three Angels" and Charles Somerville, best supporting actor in 1989, presented the best supporting actress award to Jones for her role as 'Mrs Banks' in "Barefoot In The Park."

Last year's best actress Linda Ellis called out Troy Timms' name as best actor for his portrayal of "Sputters" in "A Harley Sadler Show" and 1989 best actor James Bell presented the best actress award to Jones for her part as 'Dolly Levi' in "The Matchmaker."

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of the best play award by Lubbock Avalanche Journal Entertainment Editor Bill Kerns. His opening and closing remarks were spiced with humor and loaded with praise for McCrary, the people of Post and the Garza Theatre.

"I was somewhat surprised to be asked to present this major award because it took me a while to get down to Post and begin covering the Garza on a regular basis — but I do want you to know that I consider it a privilege to be asked to do this tonight," Kerns said.

"What you have here in Post is important. It deserves not only to be covered by our newspaper, but also to be supported by the entire area.

"Community theaters more often than not is born in a hospital critical ward, and it is so hard to keep it alive. I've seen a lot of them come and go.

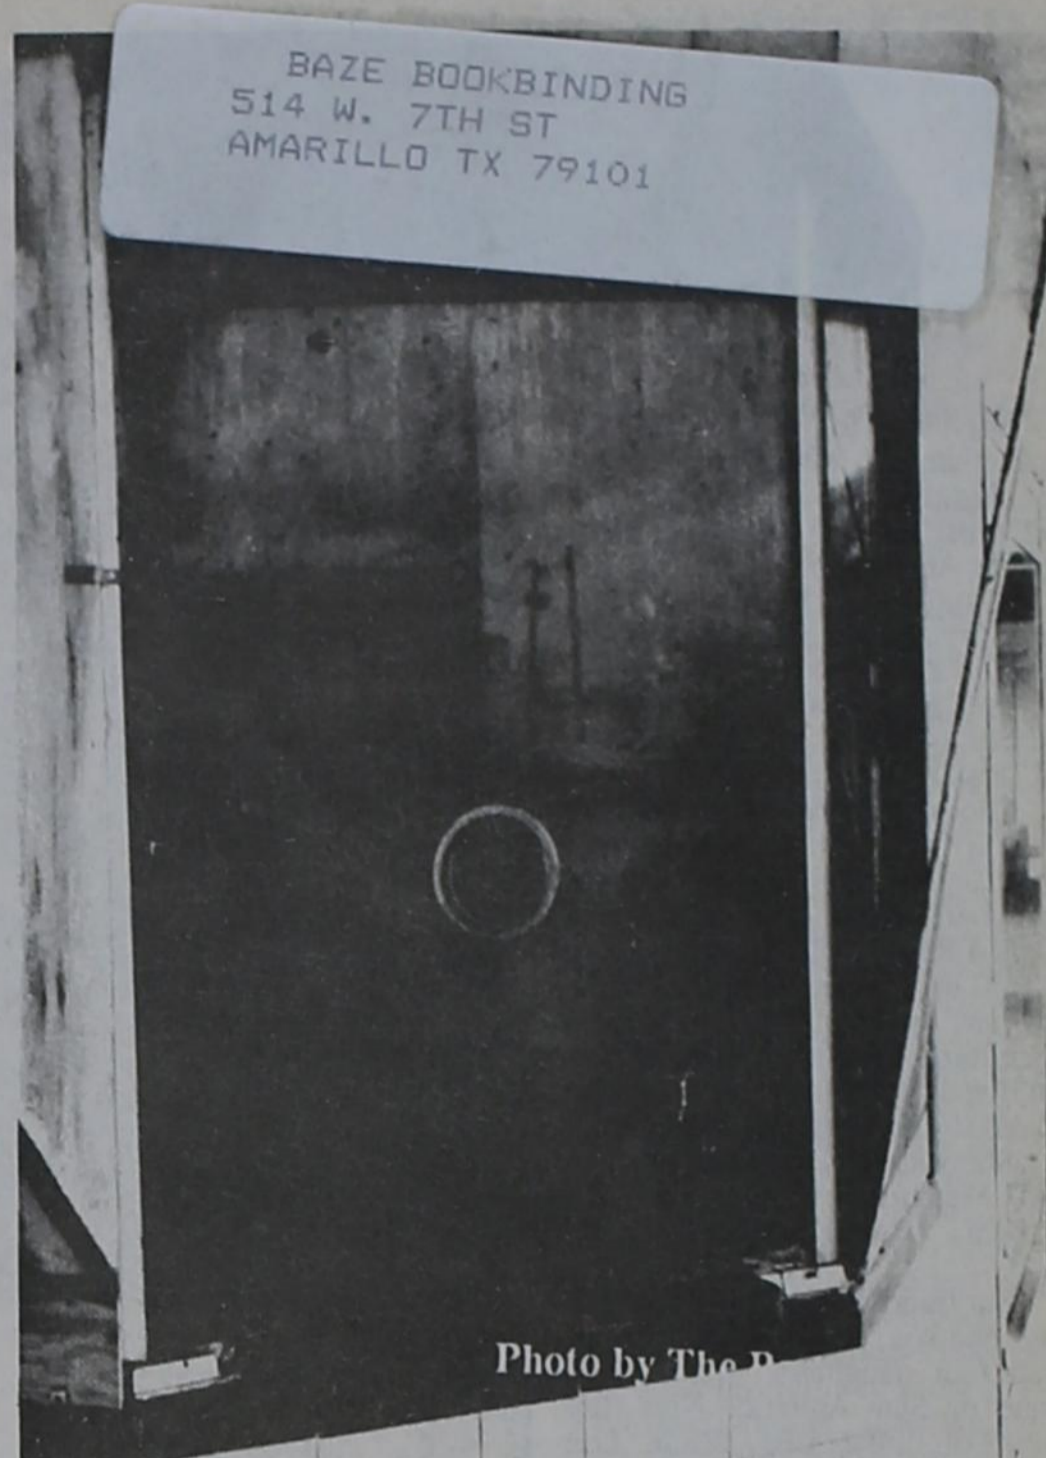

"We need places like the theatre, which ask us to care — and to think — and which at times allow us to simply laugh out loud for a couple of precious hours and forget about everything else.

"But what you have here in Post is so special because of the organization and love behind the Garza Theatre. I already mentioned that I wasn't present during your theater's very first years of operation, and I regret that.

VANDALS continue to enjoy the fruits of their labors downtown. The latest act of destruction was discovered Monday morning at the Tower Theatre, where the cashier's window had been broken, along with the ripping off of art posters and molding around the window.

Families of military personnel serving in war join in 'Operation Heart Shield'

A support group for relatives of U.S. military personnel serving in "Operation Desert Storm" are meeting on Tuesdays at 7 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church.

All affected people are encouraged to attend the "Operation Heart Shield" Tuesday meetings, which are designed to provide families the opportunity to share, in a private setting, the problems they face.

Agree to disagree agreeably

by Wesley W. Burnett

Congressman Charles Stenholm, for whom I have the deepest respect, was in Post Saturday evening, attending the Garza Theatre "Willy Awards," and during that short visit he shared with me in person, what we had discussed earlier by telephone concerning his vote on authorizing the president to use military force in the Persian Gulf.

"It was the most agonizing and most anguishing decision I have made during my years in the congress," Stenholm emphasized.

"I believe that it is a situation that if we don't take action now, we'll just have to face this problem later, and as much as I wanted to keep us out of war, I believe we did the right thing."

Although we disagree on the seriousness of the Iraqi threat to the national security of the United States, I was reassured of my confidence in Stenholm's common sense and reasoned decision making following our conversation.

It reminded me of the value of being an American, that value of compromise and toleration of opposing views.

With a smile and a friendly exchange, Stenholm and I agreed Saturday night that we could disagree and still be friends and agreeable.

It's what I call friendly disagreements.

The kind where you express your opinion and I listen, then I express my opinion while you listen, and then we decide how much of which opinion we accept, and without animosity, we agree to disagree...agreeably.

Hey, wouldn't it be wonderful if our world leaders could figure out a way to do that?

Oh well, so much for idealism. I just wish Stenholm and I could have had about another hour of just good old fashioned jawboning, who knows, I might have been able to move him a little closer to my position.

Six PHS band members named to All-Region Band

Barry Owen, Michael Voss, Lynette Graham, Alissa Mitchell, Mandi Sims and Laura Norman were named to the Class 1A-2A All Region Band, following competition last week in Lubbock.

They will perform in concert Saturday, January 26 at the Lubbock Monterey High School auditorium, under the direction of Harris Brinson.

Owen was named first chair tuba, Sims will sit at second chair tenor sax, Voss is third chair trombone, Mitchell will sit at ninth chair clarinet, Graham will be 11th chair clarinet, and Norman will alternate on mallets.

"We are extremely proud of these young people," PHS band director Crispin Bradshaw commented, "they have worked hard and long hours and they earned their achievements."

City voters say no to economic development tax

By a margin of four to one, Post city voters denied the proposed one-half cent sales tax for economic development in the municipal election last Saturday. A total of 286 voters marked against on the ballot and 72 voted for approval. The total included four absentee ballots.

Arts in education planning group attends workshop

A group of approximately 30 educational and arts organization representatives participated in a workshop in Lubbock recently, led by Peter Fox, president of the Texas Arts Council, who explained the critical need for workable solutions to the alarming school drop-out rate and teen age pregnancies in Texas.

Fox told the group, which included Caprock Cultural Association executive director JoAnn Mock, that the problems are costing Texas taxpayers $17 billion every year. He also pointed out the alarming statistic of 46,000 births to teenage girls last year and that one Texas city last year reported 65 percent of high school students were already single parents.

He cited the attitude that education is unnecessary and boring is a major problem, especially if youngsters assume they can get along without it or sell drugs to make lots of money.

Fox emphasized that the Texas Arts Council, the Texas Attorney General's office, the Texas Education Agency and others have teamed up to provide solutions to the problems, including the use of videos, brochures, posters and classroom exercises which seem to work best with children.

The goal of the area committee will be to provide two weeks of "Arts Across the Curriculum" workshop for grade school teachers; to combat boredom in the classroom, to assist teachers in creating a climate for learning; for exciting students to learn by applying the arts to basic subjects, such as math, history, science and social studies.

This committee will also address the area's teen age pregnancy problem with the "PaPa Arts" project, developed by the Texas Arts Councils, the Texas Attorney General's office, the Texas Education Agency and others, using the same concepts as the teachers' workshop.

The goal will be to provide community awareness and to help youngsters become aware of the consequences of premature parenthood for themselves and the baby.

Members of the area planning group of the Arts in Education are Mock, Patsy Jackson, Texas Tech Museum education director; Bill Bausch, assistant principal of Levelland schools; Jean Badger, administrator of Garden and Arts in Lubbock; Marvin Platten, education director at Texas Tech; Vivian Clark, executive director of Black Cultural Affairs; Malissa Postinkoff, administrator of the Lubbock Symphony and Louise Underwood, Arts in Education supporter.

Krueger sworn in as 34th RRC

Bob Krueger became the 34th commissioner in the 100-year history of the three-member Texas Railroad Commission in ceremonies at the state capitol today. Krueger was sworn in by Texas Court of Criminal Appeals Justice Morris Overstreet.

Speaking to a crowd of well-wishers in the Senate chamber following his swearing-in, Krueger said that he wanted Texas to maintain its competitive posture. "We want Texas to be an effective and competitive state," he said. "We want it to have regulations that are enforced efficiently, and at the same time, encourage productivity and competition with other states."

The new Railroad Commissioner said energy, transportation, and the environment would be focal points. Speaking of the oil industry, Krueger said, "I am convinced that when you put a piece of steel down in the ground and bring up new wealth that was not there before, to be enjoyed by the people of a state or of the nation, you have created something new, something with new potential. And you create networks of jobs, beginning with the tool pushers and roughnecks, and the people who transport the oil, on through the refining process to the finished product. Jobs are created all along the line. Those are some of the challenges we will have in this industry."

"We also have one of the most regulated transportation systems in the country in Texas," Krueger continued, "and it is important that we regulate as wisely and as well as we possibly can. We have environmental concerns as well. I'm very concerned that our underground aquifers be protected. We have to look to the next generation. We have to be concerned, to take a long-term view. It is the most important thing in public policy to take the long-term view."

Krueger said he looked forward to the challenge of serving on the Commission. "I think it's a tremendous opportunity to be going to the Railroad Commission at this time," he said. "I hope it is a time at which the person and the moment have come together. I would like this to be a fortunate time for Texas. A time in which the tide of affairs in energy and transportation is such that perhaps I will be able to bring some experience and some insight."

Railroad Commission Chairman briefs TIPRO

Railroad Commission Chairman James E. (Jim) Nugent summarized the world oil supply situation and the effect the Middle East war may have on production and demand in an address to the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association today.

Nugent also outlined the growing importance of natural gas in the U.S. energy mix and Texas' advantageous position as the leading gas-producing state.

The following is the text of Nugent's address to the producers:

Where Do We Stand As To Available Oil Supplies Today

OPEC strategic stocks (near consuming markets) held in storage and afloat are better than 100 Mln Bbls -- about 60 Mln barrels above normal.

Oil in transit at the end of December was reported at steep levels due to long haul shipments out of the Gulf ahead of the January 15th deadline.

OECD (Organization for economic cooperation and development - Western Europe) oil stocks on hand are at a 10 year high of about 3.6 billion barrels.

Lower economic growth and warmer than normal winter weather have eroded demand in consuming nations.

D.O.E. shows a sharp U.S. demand decline at the end of the year of 1.7 Mln Bbls/day. European demand down about 500,000 B/D. The Far East growth has slowed to a modest increase 100,00 B/D.

Present war demand may sweep to as high as 500,000 BPD from 250,000 BPD.

At the present time world oil production is from 200-500 thousand BPD above world usage and climbing.

At the end of hostilities Iraq may be able to produce 3 Mmbpd and Kuwait 1.5 Mmbpd. Adding another 4.5 Mmbpd to world supply.

That means having about 5Mmbpd in excess of world usage and a very direct impact on world oil prices (maybe back to the $15-$20 per barrel range.)

Texas natural gas producers have a golden opportunity to expand into developing markets as new environmental laws take effect. The Texas legislature has authorized the conversion of up to 750,000 government and school district vehicles this decade.

Many of these vehicles will be powered by clean-burning compressed natural gas, which costs about 70-cents per equivalent gallon of gasoline.

Meanwhile, the federal clean air act will spur the additional conversion of millions of fleet vehicles nationwide.

Thanks to our abundant gas reserves, thousands of new jobs will be created as Texans lead the way in mobilizing America's drive for clean air.

Natural gas is increasingly viewed in Texas and the United States as the premier fuel of the 90's.

There are new and expanding markets for natural gas as fuel-switching becomes a priority in the upper Midwest and Northeastern U.S.

Natural gas is the fuel that can be most readily substituted for foreign oil, in industrial and electric utility markets and in transportation.

Environmental initiatives, like the recently enacted clean air act, will boost applications for this clean-burning fuel.

Across the United States, industrial plants and electric utilities will be required to reduce emissions. To remedy this problem, natural gas is the answer.

Further, the use of compressed natural gas as an alternate motor fuel in fleet vehicles will open an attractive market. Indeed, if all the fleet vehicles that are centrally refueled in the United States were run on compressed natural gas, this would reduce our oil imports by another 140 million barrels per year.

With its economic and environmental advantages, natural gas is certain to win a larger market share of the U.S. energy mix.

For its current and new applications in our future, gas is nature's perfect fuel -- its supplies are abundant, secure, and home-grown. And we want that market.

And now more than ever we need a national energy policy -- one to stabilize or diminish or dependence on imported oil and with incentives to keep our own oil and gas industry healthy and alive.

Over the last four years Texas oil production has gone down at the rate of 12,000 barrels per month.

Now for the period of July to November 1990 our latest preliminary figures indicate production has increased 33,000 barrels, or 8,000 barrels per month which indicates a 20,000 barrel per month swing.

Carla Harmel, Matt Adams exchange wedding vows Jan. 18

Carla Michelle Harmel and Matt Wray Adams exchanged wedding vows Friday, January 18, 1991 at 1 p.m. in Lubbock. Officiating at the service was Judge L.J. Blalock.

Parents of the couple are Delroy and Marie Odom of Post and Dorothy and James Gschwend of Lubbock.

The bride wore a white swiss-dot street-length dress with white accessories. As something borrowed she wore her new mother-in-law's 1-ct diamond ring, something blue, her garter and something old, her earrings, and something new, her dress.

Attending the couple was Perri and Karinda Hatfield of Lubbock. Also attending was Dorothy and James Gschwend also of Lubbock.

Serving as ring bearer was the bride's three-year-old son, Lawrence Harmel.

A reception was held Saturday in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride's chosen colors of royal blue and white were carried out. A beautiful floral arrangement was centered on the table. The couple's cake was white and decorated with white wedding bells and in the center of the cake was "Matt and Carla" in royal blue. Punch, nuts, mints and fudge were also served. Crystal appointments were used. Serving at the table was Becky Warren and Sue Warren, aunts of the bride.

Those attending were Delroy, Marie and Aaron Odom, Dorothy Gschwend of Lubbock, Ron and Delcie Mathis, Dicky, Shelly and Bailey Odom, Becky Warren, Sue Warren, Betty Posey, Carolyn Halford, Bob Warren, Joel Warren, Henrietta Thomas, Donna Pearson and Karinda Hatfield.

The bride is a 1985 graduate of Post High School. She is currently employed at Highland Medical Center in surgery.

The groom is a 1975 graduate of Monterey High School. He graduated from Texas Tech in 1985. He is currently employed by BGR Architects.

Girl Scouts hold Service Saturday

by Carol Tobias
Last Saturday Girl Scouts all around Caprock Council gathered in their respective towns for Girl Scout "Service Saturday." The service project was to assemble "skinny books" from old torn apart school books. Individual stories from old books were "bound" in cut-down manila folders to be given away at a later date. This project was done in conjunction with the council-wide focus this year of encouraging children (and older folks too) to read more.

Many of the Scouts participating will be earning a patch called "Right to Read."

Locally, there were 14 Girl Scouts who assembled 120 "skinny books."

Those participating were Jody Hawkins, Latonya Collazo, Nicole Reed, Sharla Cruse, Tobitha Blevins, Amber Baker, Angel Blevins, Kristy Saldivar, Belen Rodriguez, Lynette Mendez, Laura Tobias, Camille Blevins, Stacy Morris and Tracy Morris. Leaders working with the girls were Jaquita Blevins, Pat Cruse, Debbie Morris and Carol Tobias.

Post Art Guild holds first meeting of the year

The Post Art Guild held its first meeting with new president Glenda Morrow. Marie Neff gave a program on color, which was exciting and very enjoyable.

New board members were elected to fill vacancies. Those elected were Jean Davenport, Melva Thomas and Sheri Riedel.

Finance reports for the years were $12,400.00 in sales, with $899.00 in sale tax.

A college extension program was announced starting January 18th, twice a month thru May. John Gibson, Dean of the Arts from Texas Western, will head the class.

Polly Cravy announced exciting and challenging programs for 1991. The Guild meets every second Monday at the Art Center.

The Post Art Members will be painting sites of historical interest to be exhibited in October.

On exhibit in the Art Association now is the permanent abstract collection from the Lubbock Art Association. The balance of the exhibit will be shown at the Festival of the Winds in March.

Energy assistance program for low income Texans

AUSTIN—Some low-income Texans may be eligible for help in paying heating bills this winter through the Home Energy Assistance Program, according to Texas Department of Human Services Commissioner Ron Lindsey.

Lindsey said the one-time payment is available to many low-income households. Applications for energy assistance were mailed to households that received food stamps, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, or Supplemental Security Income in December. Other low-income individuals may request an application by calling the toll-free number 1-800-252-8060 during the enrollment period of Jan. 28 through Feb. 28.

Eligibility is limited by gross income and resources. Aid is available for a one-person household having less than $628.49 gross income per month. The gross income limits are $842.49 for households of two persons, $1,056.49 for three, $1,270.49 for four, $1,484.49 for five, and $1,698.49 for six.

Households are eligible if the cost for heating is included in the rent payment or if the household pays a portion of its home energy costs.

Energy assistance checks are sent directly to the people who are eligible for assistance. However, the checks are made payable to the energy provider.

Thomas Jefferson invented the dumbwaiter.

VARSETY GIRLS work under the net at Idalou last Friday night as Crystal Clay takes a shot. Trudy Woods (14) and Sandy Allen join in the action. (Photo by Jerry Taylor)

Lady Lopes edge Tahoka

Trudy Woods and Crystal Clay hit double figures with 14 points each to lead the Post Lady Lope varsity basketball team to a 44-43 win at Tahoka January 15.

Ranetta Cruse scored five, Cathi Cash and Krista Kemp were credited with four each and Sara Alexander scored three points in the contest.

At Idalou last Friday night the varsity girls were tripped up 43-33.

Cruse led the scoring with 12 points, followed by Woods with eight, five by Clay, three by Sandy Allen, two each by Misty Bartlett and Cash and one by Kemp.

J.V. girls post 6-1 district record

The Post junior varsity girls, winning in double overtime 34-30, have posted six wins and one loss in district competition.

In the Idalou win eight different players contributed to the win. Regular time play ended with a 26-26 tie, the first overtime ended with the score at 30-30 and in the second overtime the Post girls ripped off four points, and put on a stiff defense to shut down Idalou.

Wendy Clay led the team with seven points, Becky Shumard and Cara Cash scored six, Krisha Bush got five, Angela Wallace collected four and two points each were scored by Stephanie Cox, Angel Hammond and Raeline Bagby.

On January 15 the team whipped Tahoka 36-25 with Cox leading the team at nine points. Shumard scored eight, Bush got six, Bagby scored five, Wallace got four and two each were credited to Sharon Lee and Clay.

The JV girls overwhelmed Seagraves January 11 with a 40-29 win, with Bush hitting double figures at 14 points, followed by Clay with 10, Cash with six, Shumard with four and two each by Cox, Bagby and Wallace.

Another win was racked up January 8 as the team ran away from Ralls 44-28.

Bush was credited with 12 points, followed by Clay with 11, Wallace with eight, Cash with seven, Cox with four and Bagby with two.

9th Grade girls win again

"The girls played their best game of the season so far," coach James Easterling said about the January 21 Post 9th grade girls' 32-25 win over Tahoka.

Jamie Hawkins led the team scoring with nine points, followed by Stormy Gass with seven, Amanda Richardson with six, three each by Mandi Sims and Amber Little and two each by Dani Brogden and Shelly Haney.

8th grade girls win 37-28

The Post 8th grade girls' basketball team, trailing at the end of the third period, ran by Sundown 37-28 in their January 14 contest.

"After a very slow start," coach Bill Gordon commented, "these girls showed a lot of character, being down five at the end of the third quarter and then winning by nine. It's great to have a team possessing that kind of quality."

Kembra Kemp led the team with eight points, followed by Christie Oden with seven, Chelisa Williams with six and four each by Amber Cooper, Tiffany Steel and Amy Wallace. Melissa Williams and Dee Medlin rounded out the scoring with two each.

Other team members are Holly Hardin, Charity Williams, Amanda Bush, Katina Davis and Jennifer Torres.

Varsity boys pull out one point thriller

The Post Antelope varsity basketball team came from behind in closing seconds at Idalou last Friday night to steal a 60-59 win.

Floyd Slay led the team in scoring with 13 points, followed by Darren Brown and Tommy Ammons with 12, Jay Whitehead with 10, Shane Horton with nine and Damon Curtis with five.

The team was smothered January 15 at Tahoka with an 81-47 loss.

Horton led the team with 11 points, followed by Brown with 10, Whitehead with nine, Curtis with seven, six by Slay, four by Chad Kirkland and two by Ammons.

J.V. boys lose by two points

The Post junior varsity boys' basketball team lost to Idalou 38-36 January 18 and to Tahoka 33-30 January 15.

In the Tahoka contest Josh Bush led the team in scoring with 11 points. Terry Curtis collected five, four each were scored by Ryan Hart, Rene Armendariz and Tray Payne and Robert Baldree was credited with two.

In the Idalou game Bush led the team with 13 points, followed by Curtis with seven, five by Hart, four by Payne and Armendariz and three by Radley Nichols.

Freshmen boys edge New Deal

Adrian Castillo led the Post freshmen boys to a 31-29 win January 14 at New Deal.

Castillo scored nine points, followed by Russell Baldree with six, five each by Radley Nichols and Clint Melton, three by Rynn Sappington and one by Kelly Line.

Post 7th graders whallop Roosevelt

The Post 7th grade girls' "B" team overwhelmed Roosevelt's "B" team 27-10 in a January 18 contest.

Scoring six points each for the Post team were Amber Perez, Raquel Martinez and Priscilla Garcia. Delynn Wood was credited with four points, two each were scored by Ami Raben and Jini Sparkman and Marci Hill scored one point.

TOMMY AMMONS (32) shoots for two for the Post Antelopes in their 60-59 win at Idalou last Friday night. (Photo by Jerry Taylor)

7th Grade boys edge Tahoka

Bodie Simpson led the Post 7th grade boys' basketball team with 17 points in a 22-17 win over Tahoka January 21.

Jeff Redman and Salvador Garcia both scored two points and Saul Martinez was credited with one.

8th grade boys win second at tournament

The Post 8th grade boys' basketball team took second place at last weekend's Christ The King tournament in Lubbock, with Javier Saldivar selected to the All-Tournament team.

In the first game of the tournament the team edged Cooper 52-45 with Saldivar leading the scoring at 27 points. Russ Bird got 11, Brad Lawson scored eight, Manuel Zubia got three, Clay Williams scored two and Jay Williams got one.

The team won 26-21 over Plainview to advance to the finals, with Bird getting nine points, followed by Lance Clay with six, Lawson with five and four each by Zubia and Ray Perez.

The championship game ended with All Saints edging Post 32-24. Saldivar scored 14 points, Lawson got six, Zubia and Clay both scored two each.

On January 21 the team lost 25-21 to Tahoka, with Bird getting eight points, followed by Saldivar with seven, four by Lawson and two by Perez.
