Post Elementary students vote for top books in 'Bluebonnet' program

three books by participating in this year's Texas Bluebonnet Award.

The students chose "Beauty" as first place, with 21 votes, followed by Tallahassee Higgins with 10 votes and a third place tie of nine votes each for "Megan's Island" and "Number the Stars".

There were 88 third, fourth and fifth grade students who read or heard five titles from the Bluebonnet list to qualify to vote. Six students read the entire list of 20 books and 28 students read 10 or more, many of them completing 15 or 16 titles.

Statewide results of the voting will be announced in March.

The purpose of the Texas Bluebonnet Award is to encourage children to read more books, to explore a variety of current books, to develop powers of discrimination and to identify their favorite books through the voting process. 20 Bluebonnets

Sixth season at Garza Theatre opens tomorrow with 'The Diary of Anne Frank'

To inaugurate its sixth season, the Garza Theatre has chosen one of the most distinguished plays in world literature, "The Diary of Anne Frank." This inspiring play, dramatized by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, will be offered in eight performances, Thursday through Sunday, January 31, February 1-3 and February 7-10. Curtain times are 7:45 p.m. evenings and 2 p.m. for Sunday matinees.

Based upon the book, "Anne Frank: Diary of a Young Girl", the play was first presented in New York October 5, 1955 and starred the very young Susan Strasberg as 'Anne'. Movie-goers will recall the award winning film which earned 'Oscars' for stars Shelley Winters and Ed Wynn, as well as for director George Stevens.

The Post production will feature Roosevelt High School junior Lisa Klenke in the role of 'Anne' and a experienced supporting cast, headed by director Will McCrary, which includes area favorites Emily Hataway, Charles Somervill, Troy Timms, Karen Copple, Michele Smith, Milton Cox, Mandy Swafford and Randy Sutherland.

Talina Bird Jr Champion

At age eleven, Talina Bird is one of the toughest young barrel racers going. Regardless of what class she runs in, you know she will be posting fast times. Part of this is credited to her outstanding bay horse, Sunny South, which she has ridden for three years.

Another important ingredient to the winning combination is Talina's grandfather, Jim Bird. He and his wife, Ada Lou, haul Talina and Sunny to most of the functions. At the end of the very successful summer, Talina has won the allaround trailer at the High Plains Junior Rodeo Association and also the WTBRA junior championship.

Talina is a sixth grade student at Post Elementary and she enjoys art, music and rodeo. Her parents are Jay and Cindy Bird, and she has two brothers, Brandon and Russ.

Medicine Transfer from Nursing Mothers

Studies show that certain medicines are capable of passing from pregnant women to their unborn children. If, during pregnancy, there is the possibilty of medication toxicity to the fetus, such medicines should be avoided. Another area of concern is with the potential transfer of medicine from mothers to breast-fed infants.

According to the Handbook of Nonprescription Drugs, the concentration of a particular medicine in breast milk depends on many factors - the concentration in the mother's blood and characteristics of the medicine, such as its fat solubility and the degree to which it is bound to blood plasma protein and milk protein. Another factor is the time of breast-feeding. If the medicine must be taken routinely, it should be taken shortly after breast-feeding. This allows as much time as possible for the medicine to clear the mother's blood and allows for a lower concentration at the time of the next feeding.

The Handbook of Nonprescription Drugs also indicates that aspirin and other salicylates should be used with caution by nursing mothers. Certain prescription drugs ideally should be avoided during breast-feeding. There are always exceptions, however, based on the health condition of the expectant mother.

9th Grade girls place second at tournament

The Post freshmen girls' basketball team placed second at last weekend's Christ the King tournament, with Jamie Hawkins earning the tournament's Most Valuable Player award.

"I am very proud of this group," coach James Easterling comments, "they had many different activities going on at the same time and still managed to play well."

In the opening game at the tournament the Post girls edged Frenship 30-27 with Hawkins leading the scoring at 10 points. Shelly Haney was credited with six, Amanda Richardson and Amber Little scored four and Mandy Sims got one.

Winning the second game 38-23 over the All Saints team, the Post freshmen were again led by Hawkins with 10 pints, followed by Cara Cash and Little with eight, four by Richardson and Haney and two by Sims and Mikki Wilks.

Crosbyton won the championship game 43-31, with Cash leading the scoring at 12 points, followed by Hawkins with 10, Haney with four, Little at three and two by Richardson.

The team lost to Seagraves January 28 in a 48–29 contest. Sims led the team with 16 points, followed by Little with seven, Hawkins with four and two by Haney.

Varsity boys win one, lose one

The Post varsity basketball team whipped Sundown 72-60 January 25 and January 22 lost to New Deal 69-66.

In the win over Sundwon Jay Whitehead led the scoring with 21 points, followed by Chad Kirkland Darren Brown with 12.

Floyd Slay and Tommy Ammons both got eight points, Shane Horton got six and two each were scored by Jay Mitchell and

In the New Deal contest Slay led the team with 28 points, followed by Damon Curtis with 12, Whitehead with 11, eight by Brown, three by Ammons and two by Kirkland and Mitchell.

J.V. boys win in overtime

The Post junior varsity boys' basketball team outscored Sundown 44-38 in overtime January 25.

Terry Curtis led the team in scoring with 19 points, followed by Tray Payne

Ricky Jefferson and Radley Nichols both scored five points, and two each were scored by Robert Baldree, Russell Baldree and Adrian Castillo.

The team lost a one point squeeker to New Deal January 22, falling 47–46. Josh Bush led the scoring with 14 points, followed by David Heaton with 12, Terry Curtis with 11, Rene Armendariz with seven and two by Ryan
