Jewell Annice McCampbell

Services for Jewell Annice McCampbell, 95, were held Thursday, April 11, 1991 at 2 p.m. in the Hudman Chapel with Rev Lewis Koerselman, retired Presbyterian minister, of Amarillo, officiating.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home.

She died Tuesday, April 9, 1991 in Midland Memorial Hospital.

She was born August 28, 1895 in Pittsburg and was the daughter of Marion Prueett and Caroline Pruitt. She married Arthur McCampbell on March 10, 1918 in Reed, Okla. They moved to Post November 24, 1921 and were engaged in farming. She had lived in Midland for 22 years.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Arthur, on March 1, 1964, and son Thurman on May 3, 1942.

She is survived by two sons, Howard McCampbell of Amarillo and Chester McCampbell of Midland; seven grandchildren; 15 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Margaret J. Hays

Services for Margaret J. Hays of Anaheim, Ca., were held Wednesday, February 27, 1991 in the Church of Our Father in Cypress, Ca., with the Rev Donald Dexter, officiating.

Burial was in the Forest Lawn Memorial Park under the direction of Forest Lawn Mortuary of Cypress, Ca.

She died February 23, 1991 in Harbor Health Care Nursing Home in Fullerton, Ca. after a lengthy illness.

She was born in Bunker on July 29, 1922 and moved from Bunker to Post in 1924. She married James Hays, Jr on August 2, 1943 in Post and later moved to Anaheim, Ca.

She was a housewife and a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Anaheim. She was a beauty operator in Post for several years.

Survivors include her husband, James; a son, James III of Winfield, Kansas; a daughter, Marilyn Strong of Carlsbad, Ca.; parents, Mr and Mrs Sidney Ely of Hemet, Ca.; two brothers, Billy Dixon of Joshua, Ca. and Phil Ely of Poyay, Ca.; and three grandchildren.

Post area executives "jailed" to benefit MDA

Arrest warrants are currently being issued for several Post area executives. These executives have volunteered to be locked up and sentenced to serve time on Thursday, April 25th, in an effort to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

These "jailbirds" will be sentenced before an honorary judge at the United Supermarket. Bail has been set at a minimum of $150. You can make a donation or pledge to help bail the jailbirds out of jail.

The Lockup is sponsored by United Supermarket, the Coca-Cola Bottling Company and the Post Chamber of Commerce. Over the past several months, United and Coca-Cola has sponsored lockups in Lubbock, Plainview, Slaton, Brownfield, Levelland and Snyder raising several thousand dollars in support of MDA.

These funds are used locally to help children and adults with neuromuscular diseases. MDA provides patients with medical care and orthopedic equipment at no cost to the patients. MDA also funds several research programs and an annual summer camp for children.

Last year the Post Lockup raised over $2300 for "Jerry's Kids", this year looks to be in the neighborhood of $3000!

For more details, call the MDA office at 793-5632 or Ann Stelzer at 495-3461.

Letter to the Editor

Letters to the editor policy: Letters to the editor are encouraged and invited. Letters may be edited for brevity. Letters which are deemed slanderous or libelous will be rejected. Letters must be signed, but the name may be withheld from publication if requested.

Dear Editor:
As the State Representative for District 78, I have access to the festivals and events that go on all over the district as well as some in other districts.

I want to commend Post, Texas on the positive attitude and the progressive climate that I always encounter on my visits there. The strides that Post has made the years I have been in office are a prime example of what people can do with good leadership and great attitudes.

The Garza Theatre, the art community, the Main Street Project and the Post Chamber of Commerce are all working together to make sure that when people visit Post, they will certainly want to return. Keep up the good work because you are a prime example of what can be accomplished when everyone works together.

Best regards,
Sincerely,
David Counts

Mrs Eddie Clark

Kendra Christopher, Eddie Clark wed March 23, 1991

Kendra Kay Christopher became the bride of Eddie Clark on March 23, 1991 in the First Baptist Church in Spur. Charles L. Cole, minister from Austin, officiated at the 6 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Robert and Deanna Christopher of Lubbock.

The groom is the son of Kenneth and Donna Clark of Spur.

The church decorations included pew bows of maroon paper and circled rope, two candelabras and one unity candle stand. Both parents of the bride and groom lit the side candles of the unity stand.

The groom escorted his mother down the aisle.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an elegant gown of white delustered satin and venise lace. The bodice was heavily beaded with sequins and pearls featuring a Sabrina neckline of Italian illusion, Renaissance sleeves and a deep basque waistline. The full skirt embellished with lace motifs and Italian illusion cutouts flowed into a cathedral train. To complete her attire, the bride chose a wreath of crystals and sequined appliques finished with a double pout and two-tiered silk illusion veil. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of sterling roses, french lavender freesia dusty rose miniature carnations enhanced with satin streamers tied with love knots.

Serving as maid of honor was Jennifer Christopher, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Angela McKinney and Cynthia Eagle. Flower girl was Tandi Humble. All were attired in duty purple tea-length dresses with three-tiers and big bows in the back. The bridesmaids carried cascading arm bouquets of burgundy gladiolus miniature sweetheart roses and satin streamers.

Best man was Joe Howell. Groomsmen were Fred Humble and Shayne Harris. Serving as ushers were Robby Christopher and David Fitzgerald.

Groomsmen and ushers were attired in tuxedo shirts with bowties, blue jeans and boots.

A reception was held following the ceremony. The bride's table, covered with a white tablecloth, featured a three-tiered two layered cake with fresh flowers. The cake featured two staircases down the middle tier and two satellite cakes at the bottom. Boot shaped mints were also served.

The groom's table was covered with a white tablecloth with red boots, cactus plants and windmill as centerpiece. Finger foods were served from the groom's table.

Following a trip to San Antonio the couple will make their home in Spur.

Emperor Alexander I of Russia and Napoleon I of France agreed to divide the world up between them in 1807.

Laurie Susan Hudman, Steven Mark Bandy wed April 13

Laurie Susan Hudman and Steven Mark Bandy exchanged wedding vows on Saturday, April 13, 1991, at 7 p.m. in the evening at Indiana Avenue Baptist Church in Lubbock, with the Pastor Jon Randles, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Charles and Sue Hudman of Crosbyton, Jim and Shirley Bandy of Hale Center, and Glenn and Carol Richardson of Lubbock.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a magnificent gown styled of white crystalline and lavishly embroidered in lace and pearls. The high neckline was edged in lace embroidered in crystals and pearls, and the upper part of the bodice was of sheer illusion, with the lower part of the bodice being of satin heavily embroidered in lace, pearls and crystals. The fitted bodice was styled with a basque waistline, in both front and back, and the back of the bodice had buttons at the top, with the lower back of the bodice being in a keyhole design with strands of pearls across the opening. A large double candybox bow was at the waistline in the back, centered with a pearl ornament. The long sleeves had multi ruffles of the crystalline at the top, with filament edging, and the remainder of the sleeves was of sheer imported illusion embroidered in lace and encrusted with pearls and crystals. The sleeves came to a point over her hands, and pearl buttons accented the cuffs. The flowing skirt, also of crystalline, had large appliques of lace embroidered with pearls and crystals, and double rows of ruffles with filament edging were at the bottom of the skirt in the front, and at the sides of the skirt, a cascade of five ruffles of the crystalline was formed. In the back, starting at the waistline, a magnificent cascade of eighteen crystalline ruffles flowed into a full cathedral train.

Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was designed in two tiers, each of which was edged in filament stitching. The veil featured a circlet of silk flowers and pearls, with cascades of crystal beading and pearls embroidered into the flowers on each side of the halo. A pouf bow was at the back of the halo, and the halo came to a point on her forehead.

Matron of honor was Tamara Carlisle, sister of the bride, of Burnsville, Minnesota. Bridesmaids were Kimberly Lookingbill of Dallas, Kristi Casler of Amarillo, Lisa Kalms, Patricia Hyde and Robin Golden, all of Lubbock.

The bridesmaids wore gowns styled of candy iridescent taffeta. They were designed in the intermezzo styling, being tea length in front and floor length in the back. They had wide collars of the taffeta, in a portrait neckline design, and the fitted bodices had a long torso cut, and at the left front of the lower bodice at the waistline was a rose-bow of the taffeta. They wore satin pumps dyed to match the dresses.

Best man was Chris Bandy of Lubbock, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Steve Borrowdale of Albu., N.M., Murvin Johnson and Jimmy Bandy of Hale Center, Chad Dean and Eddie McMahon of Lubbock.

Music was provided by Lisa Gentry of Lenora, Dale Odom of Ralls, Denise Mitchell of Crosbyton and Roger Farr of Lubbock.

Flower girl was Samantha Scott of Burnsville, Minnesota. Ring bearer was Evan Bandy of Lubbock. Candlelighters were Cody Scott of Burnsville, Minnesota and Le Chelle Bandy of Lubbock.

Ushers were Wesley Johnson of Hale Center, Tony Valentine, Don Laseman, B.J. Holland, Scott Stevens, Brian Lattrell and Tom Sinclair, all of Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Crosbyton High School and Texas Tech University. She is employed by Stenocall/Lubbock Radio Paging, Inc.

The groom is a graduate of Hale Center High School and is employed by Tesso, Inc.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will make their home in Lubbock.

The April 15 income tax filing date has come and gone. Figuring taxes always makes me wish I had saved some of that money during the year, and I always plan to save "next year." In case "next year" has arrived for you, too, here are some simple everyday suggestions to help add some money to your savings account.

Stage a family fund-raising contest. Specify a short time (maybe a week or so) during which each family member will contribute to saving. The one who contributes the most wins a prize. Choose a prize without cost, or you will defeat your purpose. The prize might be something like getting to pick supper menus for a week, skipping family chores, or being allowed extra telephone or television time. Everyone in the family can contribute. Children can earn money by taking care of neighborhood pets, doing yard work, starting a neighborhood newsletter, or holding a car wash. The entire family can participate in collecting recyclable materials or contributing items to a garage sale. Children and adults can make crafts and sell them on consignment at craft shops. Short-term jobs may be available through temporary employment agencies.

Reduce necessary expenses for a limited time. For example, go without soft drinks for two weeks, contributing the amount you normally would have spent to your savings account; or cut back on entertainment costs, long-distance phone calls and hobbies for a specified time and contribute all savings to the account.

Plan menus for a "recession week" of meals. See how little you can spend on meals while keeping nutritional value high. Nutritious and filling meals can be made using low cost foods such as beans, rice and seasonal vegetables. Bread can be bought at thrift stores for lower prices. Food made from scratch usually costs less than convenience foods. Shopping the sales, buying generic brands and using coupons can lower costs even further.

If done for short, specified lengths of time, these activities can be approached as fun family projects rather than deprivation. Meanwhile, make sure all savings are deposited to your savings account. You will be surprised how much it grows!

Tax increase will kill Texas' economic recovery, study says

A major tax increase will bring Texas' economic recovery to a grinding halt, according to the National Center for Policy Analysis in Dallas.

A new NCPA study of the effect of taxes on economic growth says "the Texas economy is one of the most sensitive in the nation to local and statewide taxes." According to the study, an annual tax increase of $2.3 billion (which some say is necessary to balance the state budget) would cause a loss of $4.6 billion in personal income because of a slower rate of economic growth.

"If the state government tries to solve its budget woes by higher taxes, Texans will be hit with a triple whammy," said NCPA president John C. Goodman. "In addition to paying the higher taxes, Texans will have less income because the tax burden will slow down economic growth in Texas."

"When the burden of additional taxes is added to the negative impact on economic growth, an annual tax increase of $2.3 billion, for example, becomes a total burden of $6.9 billion for Texas taxpayers."

The estimate assumes other states hold their tax rates constant. The study says what matters most is the level of taxes in Texas relative to other states. For example, Texas is helped when tax rates in other states go up because that makes Texas more attractive to business, industry and population growth.

The study analyzed how state and local taxes affect economic growth in 48 states and the District of Columbia. It cited, Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma as three of about 30 states whose economic growth is particularly sensitive to state and local tax rates:

* In Texas, each one percentage point increase in the state's tax rate (local taxes as a percent of total personal income) causes a 1.9 percentage point drop in the growth of personal income.

* In Arkansas and Oklahoma, each one percentage point increase in the tax rate causes a 0.9 percentage point drop in the state's growth rate.

"The Texas economy is more sensitive to taxes than just about any other state economy in the nation," said George W. Scully, who conducted the study. "Each additional dollar of state and local taxes causes Texans to lose about two more dollars of income because of lower economic growth." Scully is an economist at the University of Texas at Dallas who is currently on leave at the Heritage Foundation in Washington, D.C.

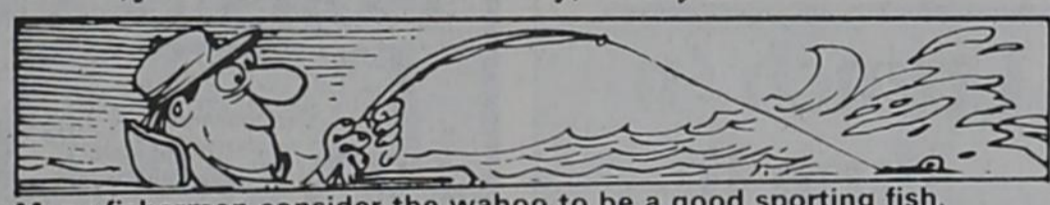

The study analyzed state and local taxes and economic growth in individual states over a 30-year period, from 1957 to 1987. The average tax rate in Texas was 8.6 percent of personal income - below the national average of 10 percent. The state's growth rate over the period was 2.1 percent, roughly equal to the national average, but with above-normal variability, due in part to the swings in the Texas oil economy.

"Texas gained in the past because it had lower-than-average tax rates," said Scully. "But we would have had more growth had we kept our tax rate even lower." According to the study:

* If Texas had kept its tax rate only 1 percentage point lower over the last 30 years, income per person in Texas would have been about $2,027 higher each year because of higher economic growth.

* Income per person each year would have been $658 higher in Arkansas and $1,150 higher in Oklahoma if those states had kept their tax rates 1 percentage point lower.

"This study presents new evidence in addition to a large body of research by others showing that higher state taxes reduce the growth in income, jobs and new business activity," Scully said.

Woman's Culture Club meet

by Katharine Cathcart

The Woman's Culture Club met Wednesday, April 10, at 2 p.m., in the home of Iva Hudman, with Lois Cook and Donna Craig as co-hostesses.

Former club presidents were honored guests of the day and Donna Craig, club president, presented each with a General Federation of Women's Clubs pin. Former presidents attending and years served were: Linda Malouf, 1968 - 1970 and 1982 - 1984; Doll Haire, 1959 - 1961; Ruby Kirkpatrick, 1976 - 1978; Buena Bouchier, 1978 - 1980; Maxine Earl, 1953 - 1955, 1980 - 1982, 1986 - 1990; and Katharine Cathcart, 1984 - 1986.

Maxine Earl gave a historical review of Women's Clubs in Texas and their impact on civic improvements and government policies from city hall to the state and national levels.

Delicious refreshments were served from tables decorated with spring flowers featuring the club colors of purple and silver.

Those attending were guest: Paula Malouf of Plainview, honorary club member, Linda Malouf of Plainview, and club members: Doll Haire, Pauline Warren, Ruby Kirkpatrick, Joyce Strubhart, Nona Lusk, Lillian Potts, Maxine Earl, Peggy Ellis, Dorace Wilson, Buena Bouchier, Iva Hudman, Donna Craig, Lois Cook, and Katharine Cathcart.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, April 24, at 2 p.m., in the Woman's Clubhouse, with Nona Lusk and Katharine Cathcart as hostesses.

Redman, Crenshaw on honor roll

Texas State Technical Institute in Sweetwater has released its honor rolls for the recently completed winter term.

In order to qualify for the President's Honor Roll, students must have a grade point average of 4.0 for the term. For the Dean of Instruction's Honor Roll, students need to have a 3.5 or better grade point average.

Bobby Redman has been placed on the President's Honor Roll while Donald Crenshaw was placed on the Dean of Instruction's Honor Roll.

Senator Montford "reluctantly" votes on report

Senator John Montford said last week that he "reluctantly" voted for the compromise conference committee report on public school finance "because it was the best we could do under the present circumstances and time constraints."

Montford said, "We were able to remove the consolidation language from the bill, and in all good faith I could not stand by and let the courts take over the operation of our public schools."

The heated controversy over public school finance came after the Supreme Court of Texas twice ruled the current system unequal and mandated the Legislature to re-write the law.

"Add to that the ruling by District Judge Scott McCowan of Austin that we had until April 15th, the Legislature had to act or be faced with Judge McCowan virtually running our schools."

"It was not an easy vote, but I could not stand by and see something like that happen. I feel too deeply that our school children and their education should be left under local control rather than be vested with some judge in Austin," Montford said.

Montford continued, "It would not be prudent to abdicate our responsibilities as legislators and besides it will be easier to amend an act of the Legislature than it would be to impact court supervision or amend an act of the court master."

Montford pointed out that under court supervision, "we would lose control of the appropriations process for our public schools and the Legislature would be at constant odds over appropriations and programs for our schools."

"But," the senator concluded, "the most important thing that would be that there would be no constraints on the court or the court-appointed master to prevent massive consolidations which could occur in our part of the state."

RRC issues 83 permits for March

The Railroad Commission granted a total of 83 permits for horizontal wells in March, reflecting a slight downturn for permits to drill the advanced technology wells statewide.

By comparison, the Commission issued 92 permits for horizontal wells statewide in February and 95 during January, 1991.

In all, the Railroad Commission has issued a grand total of 1,568 permits for horizontal wells in Texas since 1984, some 1,368 of which have been granted since January 1, 1990.

The Pearsall Field southwest of San Antonio remains the nation's premier hub for horizontal drilling activity. Forty-one new permits were granted for horizontal projects in that portion of the Austin Chalk geologic formation during March, matching February's new permit tally for the field. Operators in Frio County accounted for 27 of the total.

Roughly one-third of all horizontal projects planned or underway in Texas are located in Frio County. A total of 521 permits for horizontal wells have now been issued there, while 313 of those wells have been completed.

Meantime, Dimmit County ranks second in the Pearsall Field with 141 horizontal permits issued through March 31, followed by Zavala County with 140 and LaSalle County with 121.

In all, 923 of the 1,568 permits for horizontal wells issued in Texas since 1984 have been granted to operators in the Pearsall Field. Some 516 of those wells have now been completed.

Meanwhile, the Commission has issued 320 permits for horizontal wells in the Giddings (Austin Chalk) Field through March 31. Burleson County leads the horizontal race there with 210, followed by Fayette County with 55, Lee County, 46, and Washington County with nine. As of March 31, 133 horizontal wells had been completed in the Giddings Field.

Overall, operators in 57 Texas counties have now received Railroad Commission permits to drill horizontal wells. Besides the counties previously noted, 128 permits for horizontal wells have been granted to operators in Gonzales County, 42 have been issued for horizontal projects in Wilson County, while another 27 permits have been granted to operators drilling horizontal holes in Brazos County.

Growing turf in shade is perennial problem

Shade is desirable in the landscape, but it is the number one problem in growing turf grass.

Many people just do not understand that grasses do not do as well in shade as they do in full sunlight. There are a lot of situations where you just can't grow grass in the environment that you have.

Environmental changes caused by shade have a major effect on grass. Reduced light, less extreme temperatures, increased humidity, restricted air movement, competition from trees, increased disease problems and shallow root systems are all products of shade.

Additionally, grass in shade has less ability to use nitrogen, less photosynthetic activity, less growth, less wear tolerance, more susceptibility to preemergent herbicides and less tolerance to cold.

The problem is not fertilizer or water, it is light. To grow turf in the shade, you must have a shade-tolerant grass.

Bermuda grass and buffalo grass have little shade tolerance. San Augustine is probably the most shade-tolerant warm season grass, followed closely by centipede and zoysia. Tall fescue, a cool season grass, will grow in moderate to heavy shade where San Augustine fails.

For any success at growing grass in filtered shade try the following:

- * Start with a grass variety suitable for shade.
- * Raise the mowing height.
- * Water deep and infrequently.
- * Apply nitrogen moderately in fall and spring.
- * Avoid high nitrogen applications in the summer.

In many heavily shaded areas, it is best to use ground cover plants or other landscape materials rather than wasting time and money trying to go against nature.

JAIL MEETS ALL STANDARDS - Garza County Sheriff Freddy Cockrell (right) accepts the Texas Jail Standards certificate from Inspector Terry Gullan during a visit here this week. Gullan found the jail in complete compliance. He also commended the sheriff's department for the proper working condition of the facility and administrative records management.

FUTURE PROBLEM SOLVERS - Post Middle School students to compete in Austin are (left to right) B.J. Hart, Jason Fry, Jeremy Ellenberger, Bitt Simms and Larry Haynes.

Five Post Middle School students to compete at Texas Future Problem Solving Bowl in Austin

Jeremy Eilenberger, Jayson Fry, B.J. Hart, Larry Haynes, and Bitt Sims of Post Middle School have been selected from among 1,000 groups of students statewide to compete at the Texas Future Problem Solving Bowl. On Friday, April 26, these students along with approximately 120 other teams will convene in Austin, Texas, for the opening ceremony of the state bowl. During a team creative problem solving competition Saturday morning, these groups of fourth through twelfth graders will attempt to generate solutions to problems related to censorship in the 21st century. Each four-member team of students will spend two hours completing a written booklet that combines research with creative approaches to solving problems related to the state bowl topic.

The team from Post Middle School is coached by Julie Hudman.

Winning teams will advance to the International Future Problem Solving (FPS) Conference at the Washington University in St. Louis, June 7 through 10. Qualifying teams from almost every state in the United States, Canada, and other foreign countries will be invited to attend the conference.

Whether competing at the International FPS Conference or working in a hometown classroom, students benefit greatly from their involvement in the Future Problem Solving Program. In addition to creative problem solving skills, the program develops teamwork and an awareness of the importance of the different views that each member brings to a team.

Dr. E. Paul Torrance, an expert in creative thinking, developed the Future Problem Solving Program in 1974. Since the beginning of the program in Georgia, participation has increased dramatically throughout the country. Statewide this year, approximately 22,000 students participated in Texas Future Problem Solving activities.

We wish our team from Post Middle School lots of luck at the Texas Future Problem Solving Bowl.

Garden Club News

by Margaret Barley

Alma Williams, Maurine Hudman and Marion Wheatley certainly did a great job as filler's-in, or filler-inners, for the regular hostesses for Garden Club on Thursday, April 11th. Alma's home is always such a pleasant and comfortable place to meet and the gals refreshments were super.

Thelma Epley, our one-person telephone committee, told us as she called, to bring any quilts or quilt pieces we might have. Naturally, I envisioned all 15 of us going right to the quilt box for something for show-and-tell. As it turned out, the quilt "bringers" - Jewel White, Maurine Hudman and Alma Williams, numbered three while the "non-bringers" - Shorty King, Irene Mitchell, Thelma Epley, Gladys Blair, Annie Laurie Francis, Marion Wheatley, Margaret Barley and special guest, Nedra Foster, totaled seven.

Not a bad comparison. We all enjoyed the beautiful patterns and colors of the quilts. Alma told us of the renewed interests of this lost art, especially among young ladies. She discussed new techniques for quilting and materials being used. Thanks Alma for a fine program.

At our business meeting, we decided to "pilgrimage" on April 20th to tour Teysha Cellars and then on to dinner.

Outstanding decision! We also elected our officers for next year. Believe me, there is a very fine line between elected and railroaded! Anyway, we are very much looking forward to their leadership and ideas.

Southland NHS inducts five

The Southland High School Chapter of the National Honor Society inducted five members at a ceremony held at Southland High School on March 13, 1991. The inductees were Dora Anaya, Joel Basinger, LaDonna Childers, Jesse Collazo, and Chris Lopez. Other members of Southland's National Honor Society are Robert Elliott, Tina McCarl, Nelda Moreno, and Cori Weaver.

Included in the induction ceremony were five new members of the Southland Chapter of the National Junior Honor Society. These inductees were Amber Basinger, Ashley Basinger, Brandy Criswell, James Johnston, and Amy Lopez. These students join Lucy Collazo, Jason Haire, Justin Haire, Jenny Lewis, and Lesa Prather as members of NJHS.

Students in grades 10 - 12 are considered for NHS, while consideration for NJHS involves grades 7 - 9. As members, students must maintain an 85 or above cumulative GPA and must uphold other qualities held in esteem by the societies: character, service, and leadership.

Sponsors of these two societies at Southland I.S.D. are Bill McKee, Principal, and Marilyn Jones, Secondary Math teacher.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - With a court deadline facing them, lawmakers late last week voted mainly along party lines to approve a school finance reform bill which the governor promised to sign immediately.

A huge sigh of relief rippled through Democratic ranks as the final vote sealed the $1.3 billion proposal, much as a tardy student might heave in handing in a long overdue term paper.

Relieved they were, but not especially proud or supportive of the hard-won compromise.

Even if the measure is approved by the court this week, the biggest unknown factor is how voters will react when large property tax increases kick in.

One member observed: This is unprecedented in Texas history: the Texas Supreme Court, holding a shotgun on the Legislature, forced it to raise local school property taxes with successive hikes over four years.

The resentment many lawmakers, particularly House members, feel toward the court is deep. Certainly, political careers may die over this vote alone.

The Good News

The good news is that it's over for now and members can get on with other business in the six weeks that remain.

It has also opened the door to tax reform; many think that too many dedicated funds have left lawmakers with discretionary control over only 16 percent of the state budget.

And in school districts, where necessities are short and frills are non-existent, the bill is a rainbow of hope.

The Bad News

On the down side, many lawmakers think a new state income tax is much closer to reality now.

Others are worried that court liberals, in their zeal to interpret equality, have blazed a dangerous trail intruding too deep in local affairs and emulating federal judges.

A third complaint is that, like Mark White's HB 72 reforms six years ago, this bill doesn't reform as much as it kicks up the cost.

For now, voter opinions depend on whether you live within a winner district or a loser district; over the long term, only time will tell and voters have unpredictable memories.

Sideline Skirmishes

Sideline skirmishes during the school finance battle:

- Thirty-eight Hispanic and black House members joined to kill a provision giving students a choice of schools. "I think choice promotes old-time segregation," said Rep. Greg Luna, D-San Antonio, who supported the final bill.

- The measure added five work (instruction) days for teachers with no additional pay. "That's a slap in the face to teachers," said Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, who also ripped the tax hikes.

Other Statehouse Action

In other, less dramatic, action last week:

- A Senate committee approved appeals court Judge Fortunato Benavides as the first Hispanic appointed to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

- The House approved what opponents called the "loan shark bill" allowing finance companies to charge higher interest rates, up
