

Post High School band earns Division I rating, advances to regional competition Saturday at Tech's Jones Stadium

Aiming for 'Sweepstakes' title again

Continuing its drive toward a second consecutive "Sweepstakes" title, the Post High School marching band brought home a Division I rating last Tuesday (October 22) following the U.I.L. contest at Jones Stadium.

"The bus ride home sure was a lot more fun!" band director Crispin Bradsher commented.

"We are so proud of our band members," he added, "they have worked so hard, and it just seemed like we were forever getting it just right, but all those extra hours of practice have paid off for them."

By earning the Division I rating at the marching contest, the band was also chosen to participate in the invitation only Area Marching Contest at Jones Stadium this Saturday.

They begin their competition at 5 p.m.

Only a limited few bands will advance from Saturday's competition to a state marching contest in Austin.

"That's our next goal, to make it to Austin," Bradsher added.

The "Sweepstakes" title requires Division I ratings in marching, concert and sight-reading contests.

Last year the band achieved the "Sweepstakes" title for the first time in the history of Post High School.

"This is a tradition we intend to maintain," Bradsher commented, "it is a real mark of accomplishment for our students."

'Cafeteria Plan' canceled by commissioners' court

by Wes Burnett

With only seven employees signed up for the Pension Concepts and Administration, Inc. benefit plan, the Garza County Commissioners' Court turned down renewal of the "cafeteria plan" at the regular meeting Monday morning.

Commissioner John Valdez introduced the motion to continue the plan, but the motion died for lack of a second.

Pension Concepts representative Honey Fuller explained that although the plan had only seven enrollees for renewal, the county saved more than $2,000 in 1991 by paying lower matching social security and withholding taxes.

Treasurer Ruth Ann Young cited the frequent changes in insurance coverage choices by employees as an added burden in her office of administering the plan. "One employee has made 12 changes in her insurance in just one year," Young said, "and each time a change is made, we have to send in paperwork for Pension Concepts."

Employee participation in the plan peaked at 18 and dwindled to 12 this year.

In other action, commissioners agreed to return an abandoned county road to property owners, after S. Rafe Foreman requested the deed transfer. The abandoned road, which hasn't been used or maintained in 30 to 40 years, is located off FM 651 on property bounded by Foreman, Preston Poole, Double U and Jay Pollard. Commissioners requested Foreman to prepare the legal documents for the transfer of deeds.

Only one bid was received for leasing of oil and gas on county owned streets and alleys in Justiceburg. The court accepted the bid from G.F. Whitlow of Midland and check for $1,700 on the lease which covers approximately 32.48 acres.

Marchelle Clay was appointed to serve as Voting Box 9 election judge in the November 5 state constitutional amendments election.

The court approved Tuesday, November 12 for the next meeting, setting aside Veterans Day November 11 as one of the closing holidays.

Attending the meeting were commissioners Herb Walls, Valdez, Albert Stone, Sammy Ellis, Judge Dalby, treasurer Young and clerk Sonny Gossett.

Christmas plans include gala lighting, artisan walk, parade

'Main Street Christmas in Post, Texas'

by Wes Burnett

Members of the Post Merchants' Association are preparing a special Christmas season this year, beginning with a special lighting of downtown on Saturday, November 23, which includes music, food and Santa Claus.

Building owners are encouraged to join in the fun and excitement by making plans to trim the buildings with lights during the Christmas season.

Arrangements have been made for lights and placing the lights for a fee through the PMA.

The Christmas celebration in Post will continue Saturday, December 7 with the annual Gamma Mu Christmas Bazaar at the Post Community Center, an Artisan Walk in downtown stores and a night-time parade.

Parade chairman Charles Wallace is requesting all civic and community organizations to begin plans now to prepare floats and entries for the parade. "Lighted vehicles and floats will be especially attractive," Wallace said.

Those interested in participating in the parade should call Wallace at 495-2835 or the Post Chamber of Commerce at 495-3461.

Other plans for the Christmas season include the mailing of the popular Christmas catalog with $750 in prizes to be given away and Santa Claus visits downtown.

"We're trying to bring back the 'good ole days' with a happy and joyful Christmas season right here at home," PMA president Jerry Taylor emphasizes.

Battered and abused women get special care with United Way's Women's Protective Services

by Wes Burnett

One United Way organization that serves quietly in the background and for good reasons, little fanfare, is the Women's Protective Services Inc.

The purpose of the organization is to provide temporary shelter and assistance to women who are victims of abuse.

The seriousness of the cases requires specialized counseling and security that often times can mean the difference between life and death for affected women and their children.

"We desperately need the United Way support," executive director Ginger Eways comments, "and the $750 in your United Way budget will make a big difference in our ability to serve Garza County."

A total goal of $15,000 has been set by the Garza County United Way board of directors to support Meals on Wheels and 11 other local organizations in the joint, once a year fund raising effort.

The campaign this year includes $3,000 for the summer baseball program, which serves hundreds of young boys and girls.

Also getting help from United Way here are the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, with a $3,600 budget set for each organization.

Other participating agencies include the Garza County Mental Health, Garza County Child Welfare Board, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Post Jr Girls' Basketball, Trail Blazers, Post Satellite School, Meals on Wheels and Women's Protective Services.

The United Way budget committee screens all requests from participating agencies to ensure that each receives its fair share.

Donations to the Garza County United Way may be mailed to P.O. Box 425, Post, Texas 79356 or at The First National Bank.

Brent Green correctly picked all but two games in last week's Post Dispatch football contest to claim first place.

Green also picked Washington 24, NY Giants 17 in the tie-breaker to edge Nancy Morris, who also missed only two games, but chose the Giants to win the tie-breaker.

Sammy Basquez won third place, missing three games, along with four other contestants. Basquez was seven points off on the tie-breaker with a guess of Washington 24, NY Giants 13. The actual tie-breaker score was Washington 17, NY Giants 13.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the editor policy: Letters to the editor are encouraged and invited. Letters may be edited for brevity. Letters which are deemed slanderous or libelous will be rejected. Letters must be signed, but the name may be withheld from publication if requested.

Dear Editor:

The 1991 Regular Session of the legislature enacted SB-1 which created the Texas Ethics Commission. Since the Commission has already been created by statute, there is no need to set it into concrete in the Constitution. Therefore, a "No" vote on Proposition 6 in the November 5 ballot is most appropriate.

The Texas Ethics Commission which will come into existence next January 1 will be composed of eight members, four selected by the Senate and four by the House of Representatives with half from each political party. No neutral individual is provided for the break the inevitable 4-4 deadlock. This new State Agency is structurally flawed. It can be more easily reformed in future legislatures than through the Constitutional Amendment process.

Proposition 6 would give the Texas Ethics Commission authority to set per diem for legislators and recommend salary increases.

It is time that we improve ethics and accountability in State government. A "No" vote on Proposition 6 is a step in that direction.

Sincerely,
Lewis H. Earl

10 Fire Tips for Fire Safety

1. INSTALL AND MAINTAIN SMOKE DETECTORS - test once a week and replace batteries once a year.
2. PLAN AND PRACTICE WAYS TO ESCAPE - plan two ways out of each room and a place outside for everyone to meet.
3. KEEP SPACE HEATERS AWAY - keep space heaters at least three feet from flammable materials.
4. DISCARD CIGARETTES PROPERLY - never smoke in bed or when you are drowsy.
5. BE CAREFUL COOKING - never leave anything unattended on the stove.
6. A MATCH IS A TOOL FOR ADULTS - store them out of reach of children, teach children not to play with matches.
7. USE ELECTRICITY SAFELY - check all cords for wear and cracks, never overload an extension cord, never tamper with circuit breakers.
8. COOL A BURN - if burned, immediately place it in cool water, do not use butter, see a doctor if blisters appear.
9. STOP, DROP AND ROLL - if your clothing catches fire, do not run - STOP where you are - DROP to the floor and ROLL to smother the flames, protect your eyes and face by covering them with your hands.
10. CRAWL IN SMOKE - if you have to exit through smoke, crawl on your hands and knees to the nearest exit.

Public Notice

On July 1, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas that proposes to delete Paragraph 3.4(G) from Section 3 of Southwestern Bell's intrastate Access Service Tariff, which concerns credits where a customer uses Switched Access Service to furnish a service which has been defined to be an exchange service. The application was assigned Docket No. 10463.

Because Southwestern Bell is not aware of any customers who presently use switched access service to furnish an exchange service, Southwestern Bell does not believe its revenues will be affected. However, certain interexchange carrier customers of switched access service have made claims under the aforementioned tariff. Such customers, but only to the extent they provide an exchange service using switched access, would be affected by this application. Based on claims made for credits (assuming such credits were allowable), Southwestern Bell's revenues would be affected by no more than $1,168,962 annually, which is .037 percent of the Company's adjusted revenue for the 12-month period ending December 31, 1990. It is not possible to know how many interexchange carriers might believe themselves entitled to credits, but 189 carriers have registered with the Commission pursuant to PUC Substantive Rule 23.61.

The tariff, after suspension, is proposed to be effective May 1, 1992.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible, but no later than November 15, 1991. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256. ### Southland Student Featured in SPC Comedy

Wendy Davenport of Southland has a featured role in the upcoming South Plains College production of "The Nerd."

The two-act comedy by Larry Shue will have performances at 8:15 p.m. Nov. 1-2 and 2 p.m. Nov. 3 in the SPC Theater for the Performing Arts. Tickets are $3 for adults, $2 for public school students and $1 for SPC students and faculty with ID. All seats are reserved. Tickets go on sale Monday (Oct. 28). The production is under the direction of Jay Brown.

Davenport, 19-year-old sophomore drama major at SPC, plays Tansy, a young woman who is in love with Willum Cubbert, an architect. The hilarity begins when a bumbling oaf shows up unexpectedly one way at Cubbert's and soon drives everyone crazy, including Tansy.

Davenport, the daughter of Jo Ann Stelzer of Post, is a 1990 graduate of Southland High School. Her high school theatrical roles included Lily Doll in "Three Ladies," Alma in "Play On" and Dorothy in "The Wizard of Oz." She has had roles in "Brighton Beach Memoirs," "Don't Look Down" and "Play On" at SPC.

Davenport is the recipient of the Monty Roberts and Iris Upshaw Memorial Scholarships at SPC and is a member of Delta Psi Omega, the college theatrical organization. She plans to attend Wayland Baptist University after completing her studies at SPC.

For ticket information, contact the SPC theater office at (806) 894-9611, ext. 266.

Willson Honored at Ralls Home-coming

Mr. and Mrs. Georgie M. Willson attended the Ralls High School Homecoming Friday, October 25.

The school recognized Willson, as a former Band Director from 1952-56 and for his writing the Ralls Fight Song, a rousing march which has been played by the band for 38 years. Larry Williams directs the Ralls Band at this time.

The band, plus former members of the band, performed their half-time maneuver and finished with a tribute to Willson from the speakers mike while the band played the Ralls Fight Song with Mr. and Mrs. Willson on the football field.

The Band Director from Crosbyton played in the band at this time as he was a former Ralls Band member.

Jane Ann Davis, a former band student at Ralls during Mr. Willson's tenure there, twirled with the massed band.

Have a Safe Halloween

Halloween is a time for fun for lots of kids. Many enjoy going "trick or treating"; some like to visit the homes of friends and relatives and share seasonal treats. Whatever your preference for celebrating Halloween safely should be a prime consideration.

- Follow these do's and don'ts:
- Wear flame-retardant, light-colored materials.
  - Use reflective materials at night so motorist will see children.
  - Makeup is safer than masks; if masks are worn, make sure they are removed between trick-or-treat stops.
  - Avoid billowy costumes and wigs which can burst into flames.
  - Avoid oversized shoes and make sure children walk on the sidewalk or grass and cross the street only from corners or at crosswalks. If kids must walk on the street, have them walk on the left side facing traffic.
  - Props such as magic wands and swords should be made of cardboard rather than metal or wood.
  - Made sure children observe all traffic signals and never dart between parked vehicles. They should also watch for cars turning at intersections or into driveways.
  - Avoid jack-o-lanterns illuminated candles. Costumes can become entangled with fire from the candles. Flashlights are a safer way to illuminate pathways.
  - Avoid dogs as they may be frightened by a costume.
  - Make sure young children are accompanied by a parent or responsible adult, and older children not accompanied by adults should travel with friends.
  - Tell children to avoid going inside a home or building to accept treats, and to stay in their own neighborhood.
- After dressing up, putting make-up on and eating all these treats, you may need these tips too:
- Makeup stains from face paint and lipstick can be especially difficult to remove because of their greasy composition. For washable garments, use a pre-soak and the hottest water the care label will allow to remove these stubborn stains.
  - Most hard candy stains can be removed easily by regular washing methods.
- Remember, the longer a stain sits on a garment, the more difficult it becomes to remove.

Eagles take advantage of turnovers in 35-7 win

by Wes Burnett

A flurry of turnovers cost the Post Antelopes dearly in the 35-7 loss here last Friday as the Seagraves Eagles pulled out front in the third and fourth quarters.

Athalf-time the 'Lopes were trailing only 14-7, but had turned the ball over four times on one fumble and three interceptions, keeping the defense on the field and setting up a difficult situation in the second half.

Brandon Bird electrified Post fans with the only score of the night for the home team as he returned a first quarter kickoff 90 yards.

The touchdown came with 10 seconds left in the first quarter following Seagraves' first score of the evening.

Bird took the ball at the Post 10 yard line, roared up the middle of the field behind good blocking, broke through two would-be tacklers at the 20 yard line and simply outran Eagle defenders down the right side line. With 10 seconds showing on the clock, Shane Horton's extra point kick put the 'Lopes out front 7-6.

Seagraves had scored earlier with 29 seconds remaining in the first quarter when the Eagles recovered a fumble at the Post 32 yard line.

That play had been set up when Adrian Castillo recovered an Eagle fumble one play earlier.

The Eagles went the distance in eight plays, getting a key fourth down conversion at the three yard line, with Rudy Garza taking the ball in the final yard. Timmy Cavazos' point after kick attempt failed.

Defensively, the Antelopes played toe-to-toe with the District 4AA leaders. In the second quarter the 'Lopes forced a fourth down punt twice. Seagraves scored its final first half points on a drive that started with 5:14 on the clock and went 43 yards in six plays. The big play was sweep around left end by Garza to the 16 yard line. Then on second down Cavazos threw a pass to David Ingle at the one and two plays later Frederick Bryant went over right guard to the end zone. Cavazos threw another pass to Ingle in the end zone for the two point conversion. With 3:34 remaining in the first half, Seagraves led 14-7.

The 'Lopes mounted a come-back attempt, but were forced to punt on fourth down at their own 37 yard line. The ball landed on the Seagraves 41, but the Eagles were penalized for too many men on the field and gave new life to the Antelope drive. Two offsides penalties put the ball at the Seagraves 37 and on first down quarterback Damon Curtis' pass intended for Tommy Ammons was intercepted by Seagraves at the 20 yard line.

The defense held and the teams went to the lockers to study second half strategy. The Eagles came out and set the pace with an 11 play drive, highlighted by a kickoff return by Edward Vidales to the Post 48 yard line. Kendrick Anderson and Garza put the damage to the Antelopes and on fourth down from the six inch line, Garza went into the end zone with 7:33 remaining in the third quarter and the extra point put the Eagles on top 21-7.

The Antelopes got another break when Aaron Davis recovered a fumble by Cavazos attempting to receive a fourth down punt by Shane Horton at the Seagraves 37 yard line.

Eight plays later the Antelope offense turned the ball over on downs when a fourth down pass from Curtis to Bird was too high and the Eagles got the ball back at their own 26 yard line.

The fourth quarter opened up with the Eagles in charge at their own 32 yard line following another Horton punt. Tony Conde took the ball around his right end, cut the corner and outran the Post defenders to the end zone. With 11:38 left in the game and an extra point kick later, Seagraves took a commanding lead of 28-7.

Four plays later the 'Lopes gave up the ball on another punt. The defense held, but after Seagraves punted the Antelopes still were unable to muster a first down and the Eagles began their final touchdown drive. It was set up by a punt return from the Seagraves 40 to the Post 11 yard line. Conde scored from the six on third down with 4:50 left in the game. Cavazos kicked the extra point for a 35-7 score.

The Antelopes travel to Crosbyton Friday for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

AMENDMENT 1

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT ALLOWING HOME RULE CITIES WITH A POPULATION OF 5,000 OR LESS TO AMEND THEIR CHARTERS BY POPULAR VOTE.

Explanation

The Texas Constitution sets the population (no fewer than 5,000) necessary for a city to be able to adopt or amend a home rule charter. Prior to the 1909 constitutional amendment giving cities the power to write, adopt, and amend a charter, the state legislature granted charters. Population shifts have placed 37 Texas cities with charters and populations that have fallen below 5,000 in the position of being unable to amend their charters. This proposition would enable these cities to amend their charters.

Argument For

- Cities should not be unable to amend their charters because of a population number arbitrarily selected more than 80 years ago.

Argument Against

- Instead of asking voters to patch it every year, legislators should revise the Texas Constitution. This proposed amendment should be defeated as a message to legislators that voters want a constitution that is a framework of laws.

AMENDMENT 2

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT MANDATING THE REPAYMENT TO THE DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION OF MONIES EXPENDED TO ASSIST THE TEXAS TURNPIKE AUTHORITY IN THE CONSTRUCTION, MAINTENANCE, AND OPERATION OF TURNPIKES, TOLL ROADS, AND TOLL BRIDGES.

Explanation

Currently, Article 3, Section 52-b of the Texas Constitution specifically prohibits the legislature from lending state credit or granting any public money to an individual, firm, partnership, corporation, public corporation, public agency, or political subdivision for the purpose of constructing, maintaining, or operating toll roads and turnpikes. The proposed amendment would allow the legislature to authorize the newly created Department of Transportation to use money from any available source for the costs of turnpikes, toll roads, or toll bridges of the Texas Turnpike Authority so long as money spent out of the state highway fund is repaid to the fund from tolls or other turnpike revenue. (The state highway fund is the depository for all state gasoline taxes, diesel fuel taxes, motor vehicle registration fees, federal gasoline tax reimbursement, and several other minor fees.) At this time, because the constitution prohibits the use of state funds for turnpikes or toll roads and bridges, they are entirely financed through the sale of revenue bonds and the revenue generated by the project.

Further, according to the implementing legislation the proposition would make possible the absorption of the Texas Turnpike Authority into the Department of Transportation in 1997 after a feasibility study is conducted by the Sunset Advisory Commission. This merger was suggested by the state comptroller's Texas Performance Review, which identified five separate agencies that have responsibility for some form of transportation in Texas. All five agencies would become the Department of Transportation, with the Texas Turnpike Authority being the final agency absorbed, if the Sunset Advisory Commission recommends it.

Arguments For

- This amendment would give the state greater flexibility in building highways.
- If federal funds become available as a result of the Federal Surface Transportation Reauthorization Act for state turnpike or toll road construction, this amendment would enable the Texas Turnpike Authority to gain access to those federal funds.

- If federal dollars are used to construct a turnpike or toll road, the Texas Turnpike Authority would have to comply with the regulations of the National Environmental Policy Act relating to environmental impact assessments in the area of proposed construction.

Arguments Against

- Taxpayer money should not be used to construct or maintain a toll road or turnpike that benefits one small area of the state.

- The ballot wording of the proposed amendment is incomplete if not deceptive. It does not mention that voters would be authorizing use of taxpayer dollars to build toll roads or turnpikes. Voters should reject this amendment and demand that legislators draft constitutional wording that fully discloses the effects of a constitutional amendment.
- This proposition would make construction of toll roads and turnpikes much more economically feasible and could result in a proliferation of such roads throughout the state.

Explanation

The Texas Constitution sets the population (no fewer than 5,000) necessary for a city to be able to adopt or amend a home rule charter. Prior to the 1909 constitutional amendment giving cities the power to write, adopt, and amend a charter, the state legislature granted charters. The proposed amendment would allow the legislature to authorize the newly created Department of Transportation to use money from any available source for the costs of turnpikes, toll roads, or toll bridges of the Texas Turnpike Authority so long as money spent out of the state highway fund is repaid to the fund from tolls or other turnpike revenue. (The state highway fund is the depository for all state gasoline taxes, diesel fuel taxes, motor vehicle registration fees, federal gasoline tax reimbursement, and several other minor fees.) At this time, because the constitution prohibits the use of state funds for turnpikes or toll roads and bridges, they are entirely financed through the sale of revenue bonds and the revenue generated by the project.

Further, according to the implementing legislation the proposition would make possible the absorption of the Texas Turnpike Authority into the Department of Transportation in 1997 after a feasibility study is conducted by the Sunset Advisory Commission. This merger was suggested by the state comptroller's Texas Performance Review, which identified five separate agencies that have responsibility for some form of transportation in Texas. All five agencies would become the Department of Transportation, with the Texas Turnpike Authority being the final agency absorbed, if the Sunset Advisory Commission recommends it.

Arguments For

- This amendment would give the state greater flexibility in building highways.
- If federal funds become available as a result of the Federal Surface Transportation Reauthorization Act for state turnpike or toll road construction, this amendment would enable the Texas Turnpike Authority to gain access to those federal funds.

- If federal dollars are used to construct a turnpike or toll road, the Texas Turnpike Authority would have to comply with the regulations of the National Environmental Policy Act relating to environmental impact assessments in the area of proposed construction.

Arguments Against

- Taxpayer money should not be used to construct or maintain a toll road or turnpike that benefits one small area of the state.

- The ballot wording of the proposed amendment is incomplete if not deceptive. It does not mention that voters would be authorizing use of taxpayer dollars to build toll roads or turnpikes. Voters should reject this amendment and demand that legislators draft constitutional wording that fully discloses the effects of a constitutional amendment.
- This proposition would make construction of toll roads and turnpikes much more economically feasible and could result in a proliferation of such roads throughout the state.

AMENDMENT 3

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO AUTHORIZE THE LEGISLATURE TO FURTHER IMPLEMENT AND ENHANCE THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE VETERANS' HOUSING ASSISTANCE AND LAND PROGRAMS AND TO EXPAND THE INVESTMENT AUTHORITY OF THE VETERANS' LAND BOARD.

Explanation

Article 3, Sections 49-b and 49-b-1 of the Texas Constitution deal with the Veterans' Land Fund and the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. Both of these funds are run by the Veterans' Land Board, and the constitution limits investments from the funds to bonds and obligations of the United States.

If passed, the proposed amendment would remove the limits on investments from the constitution and allow the legislature to establish such limits. The amendment would also allow the legislature to delegate other duties with respect to the housing program to the Veterans' Land Board. (The constitution already allows the legislature to do this for the land program.)

Enabling legislation that will take effect if the proposed amendment passes would expand the investment options of the Veterans' Land Board. Allowable investments would include state and local bonds, investments insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or the Federal Savings and Loan Corporation, other specific investments, and "any other investment authorized for investment of state funds by the treasurer." The enabling legislation would also prohibit investments in any company doing business in South Africa unless the company has adopted the Sullivan Principles or has agreed to the U.S. State Department code of conduct. The board could not invest in any company supplying strategic products to the South African government.

Arguments For

- The proposed amendment and the enabling legislation would give the board the authority to choose from a variety of stable and conservative investments.

- The proposed amendment and the enabling legislation would give the board the same investment options as the state treasury. The Legislative Budget Board has estimated that the increased investment options will result in additional income of more than $1 million per year.

- The restrictions on investments in companies doing business in South Africa are appropriate and track the restrictions on state treasury investments.

Arguments Against

- The current constitution gives the Veterans' Land Board sufficient and secure options for its investments.

- The proposed amendment and the enabling legislation allow the Veterans' Land Board to make unnecessarily risky investments. There is no reason to risk these funds just to increase investment returns by a few tenths of a percent.

- Limits on investment in South Africa are not appropriate now that the South African government is in the process of dismantling apartheid.

AMENDMENT 4

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF UP TO $1.1 BILLION IN GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS FOR ACQUIRING, CONSTRUCTING, OR EQUIPPING NEW PRISONS OR OTHER PUNISHMENT FACILITIES TO CONFINE CRIMINALS, MENTAL HEALTH AND MENTAL RETARDATION INSTITUTIONS, AND YOUTH CORRECTIONS INSTITUTIONS, FOR MAJOR REPAIR OR RENOVATION OF EXISTING FACILITIES OF THOSE INSTITUTIONS, AND FOR THE ACQUISITION OF, MAJOR REPAIR TO, OR RENOVATION OF OTHER FACILITIES FOR USE AS STATE PRISONS OR OTHER PUNISHMENT FACILITIES.

Explanation

This proposed amendment would authorize the state to add an additional $1.1 billion of general obligation bonds to the $900 million of such bonds already approved by voters in 1987 and 1989 for additional facilities for the adult and juvenile criminal justice system and for mental health/mental retardation facilities. If this proposition passes, the implementing legislation authorizes the sale of $45 million in bonds for juvenile facilities and $672,100,000 in bonds to be used for a minimum of 6,750 maximum security beds, six medium security regional centers, one psychiatric center, and 12,000 beds for drug treatment in substance abuse centers, for a total of 25,250 new adult beds. The enabling legislation also requires that 2,000 of the 25,250 beds be contracted for with private organizations that meet or exceed existing qualifications and standards. These bond funds would also be used for "major repair or renovation of existing facilities, and for the acquisition of, major repair to, or renovation of other facilities for use as state prisons or substance abuse felony punishment facilities." This last provision would allow the state to purchase abandoned military bases or other structures suitable for the housing of various classes of state prisoners. The sale of these bonds would leave an unallocated balance of $382,900,000, which could be sold by specific action of future legislatures.

Arguments For

- Despite the increase in the number of prison beds and in state funding for community-based correction facilities and programs since 1987, more than 9,000 convicted felons remain in county jails awaiting space in institutions. The public is not protected when even violent offenders serve only about 20 percent of their sentences before being paroled to make room for new offenders. Lack of prison space negates the deterrent effect of a sentence as well as the effect of final sanctions for those who violate their sentences in community programs or for those who violate their paroles. The addition of more beds will allow those already in prison to serve larger portions of their sentences.

- This proposed amendment, by providing up to 12,000 beds for substance abusers, recognizes the fact that drugs and alcohol abuse are involved in at least 80 percent of felony crime in Texas. The practice of simply incarcerating these offenders without any treatment has done nothing to reduce recidivism rates. Treating these offenders now will save money in the future.

Arguments Against

- Although the state now appropriates more money for community corrections facilities and programs than in the past, non-violent offenders still occupy a large portion of existing prison space. Money for prison construction and debt service would be better spent on more services at the local level for non-violent offenders. Money for better education across the state would also lead to a reduction in the crime rate.

- Debt service on existing prison bonds averages $74 million per year; interest on these new bonds would add an additional $70 million annually. When the full $1.1 billion is allocated, this final figure would be nearly $180 million annually. When existing bond funds are fully spent, Texas will have 60,000 prison beds. If 25,250 beds are added by this bond election, taxpayers will be spending more than $1 billion dollars per year on operating costs and debt service for the prison system alone.

AMENDMENT 5

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT AUTHORIZING THE EXEMPTION FROM AD VALOREM TAXES OF CERTAIN PROPERTY IN AN ENTERPRISE ZONE.

Explanation

In November 1989 voters approved an amendment to the Texas Constitution that allows local taxing jurisdictions to exempt from ad valorem (property) taxes goods, wares, merchandise, and ores (except oil, gas, and petroleum products) that are in the state no more than 175 days for processing or manufacturing purposes. This exemption is known as the "freeport" exemption. Local taxing entities could choose to continue existing taxes if official action was taken prior to April 1, 1990.

This proposed constitutional amendment would allow those taxing jurisdictions (except local school districts) that acted to continue taxing the option to offer the "freeport" exemption in designated enterprise zones. Enterprise zones are areas designated by localities and certified by the state that have pervasive poverty, unemployment, and economic distress. The exemption could be granted only to a new or expanding business operating in an enterprise zone. Approximately 75 percent of the 84 currently approved enterprise zones are within jurisdictions which do not offer the "freeport" exemption. If this amendment passes, it would still require enabling legislation.

Arguments For

- This proposed amendment would allow cities, counties, and junior college districts to grant "freeport" property exemptions to businesses within an enterprise zone without having to offer the exemption to all businesses in their jurisdiction. Some local taxing units that have wanted to attract new businesses to enterprise zones have not been able to offer a "freeport" exemption because of the loss of revenue that would result from exempting all "freeport" property. This proposed amendment would offer another option.

- Business groups have indicated that the enterprise zone "freeport" exemption would be useful in bringing new jobs to the most needy neighborhoods in the state and that the new jobs and tax revenue would more than offset the immediate cost of the exemption. However, even if the proposition passes, local taxing units with designated enterprise zones would not have to offer the exemption.

Arguments Against

- This special interest tax exemption, if granted by the jurisdiction, would rob local taxing entities of a portion of their tax base at a time when all local governments are short of revenue. The lost revenue would have to be made up either with higher fees and taxes or a decrease in services.

- Decisions to locate businesses in certain communities are chiefly influenced by the educational level of the local work force and the availability of good transportation, not tax incentives. Texas communities could attract more businesses by taxing all companies equally and spending revenues on education and transportation rather than by offering tax exemptions to certain businesses in selected neighborhoods.

AMENDMENT 6

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT CREATING THE TEXAS ETHICS COMMISSION AND AUTHORIZING THE COMMISSION TO RECOMMEND THE SALARY FOR MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE AND THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, SUBJECT TO VOTER APPROVAL, AND TO SET THE PER DIEM FOR THOSE OFFICIALS, SUBJECT TO A LIMIT.

Explanation

Legislation passed during the 1991 session of the Texas Legislature creates the Texas Ethics Commission, to take the place of the existing State Ethics Advisory Commission. This new commission will come into being as of January 1, 1992, whether or not the proposed constitutional amendment, which also establishes the Texas Ethics Commission, is ratified by voters.

The Texas Ethics Commission, as created by statute and as proposed in the constitutional amendment, will be composed of eight members, chosen as follows: two members of different political parties appointed by the governor from a list of at least 10 names submitted by members of the house of representatives; two members of different political parties appointed by the governor from a list of at least 10 names submitted by members of the senate; two members of different political parties appointed by the speaker of the house from a list of at least 10 names submitted by members of the house; two members of different political parties appointed by the lieutenant governor from a list of at least 10 names submitted by members of the senate. Commission members will serve four-year terms, with the exception of the initial appointees, half of whom will be appointed to serve two-year terms.

The statutorily created powers and duties of the Texas Ethics Commission include the ability to investigate and to subpoena information and witnesses when complaints concerning violations of ethics laws are filed with the commission or when six commission members vote to initiate an investigation. Complaints and proceedings of the commission will not be made public and will not be subject to the Open Records Act. When six commission members vote by secret ballot to hold a formal hearing on a particular complaint, the formal hearing will be a public one. An order issued by the commission, after a preliminary, informal, or formal hearing, determining that an ethics violation, other than a technical one, has occurred, will not be confidential.

The proposed constitutional amendment differs from the statute in that it would give the Texas Ethics Commission the additional authority to recommend salaries for legislators, the speaker of the house, and the lieutenant governor, subject to voter approval at the next general election following such a recommendation. The proposed amendment would also give the Texas Ethics Commission authority to set the per diem compensation (i.e., daily allowance for food and lodging) of legislators and the lieutenant governor. Such per diem could not exceed, during a calendar year, the amount allowed during that year as a deduction, for federal income tax purposes, for living expenses incurred in a legislative day by a state legislator in connection with legislative business. The per diem would not be subject to voter approval. Currently, members of the legislature receive salaries of $7,200 per year and a per diem allowance of $30 per day during regular and special legislative sessions. The speaker and lieutenant governor presently receive the same pay as legislators.

Arguments For

- Texas needs an ethics commission with power to investigate and prosecute alleged violations of ethics laws. The body that would be established by this proposed constitutional amendment would have such power and would provide much greater potential for enforcement of ethics laws than does the current system. Although the same type of ethics commission will be created statutorily if the proposed amendment fails, a constitutionally created commission would be harder for elected officials to abolish.

- Having a constitutionally created ethics commission would help restore people's faith in state government. That faith has been shaken by recent scandals and allegations of bribery and undue influence involving elected officials.

- Under current law, the only way that legislators' compensation can be increased is for those officials to propose raises for themselves, subject to voter approval. The last time Texas voters approved a legislative pay raise was in 1975. The proposed amendment, by removing the issue of legislators' pay from the legislative process, would provide a more palatable mechanism for setting appropriate salaries for these officials now and in the future. Similarly, giving the Texas Ethics Commission the power to set the per diem provides a means of assuring that this allowance will be more in line with the actual cost of living for legislators. The increased likelihood of reasonable compensation will have the desirable effect of attracting a larger body of qualified citizens to run for office and will also reduce legislators' reliance on political contributions to help meet expenses.

Arguments Against

- Texas needs a strong and independent ethics commission, and the commission that would be established by this proposed amendment (and will be established by statute, even if the amendment fails) will be a creature of the legislators, the governor, and lieutenant governor, recommended and appointed by these officials. It will be a highly partisan body, subject to partisan politics. There will be no commission members who would represent the public interest. Although the commission will come into being regardless of the outcome of the election, a rejection by voters of this proposition would send a message to elected officials that the people of Texas want a strong and independent ethics commission.

- If elected officials allow themselves to be bribed or are otherwise open to undue influence, the voters will find out and turn them out of office at the next election. There is no need for an ethics commission, which would simply add another agency to the bloated state bureaucracy, to police our elected officials. The ballot box will suffice.

- The Texas Ethics Commission, as established in the proposition and the statute, would be a creature of the legislators who would still, in effect, be recommending their own salary and per diem through their chosen commissioners. It is wrong for legislators to have such power to influence deliberations or determinations concerning their compensation. Our taxes pay for both salaries and per diem, and voters should have the major voice in determining their amounts.

AMENDMENT 7

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO ALLOW THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF A STATEWIDE PUBLIC RETIREMENT SYSTEM TO INVEST FUNDS OF THE SYSTEM IN A MANNER THAT THE BOARD CONSIDERS PRUDENT.

Explanation

This proposed amendment deals with investment policies of the Teacher Retirement System ($21.9 billion in assets as of August 1990) and the Employees Retirement System ($6.1 billion in assets as of August 1990). Article 16, Section 67 (a) (3) of the Texas Constitution currently allows these retirement systems to invest their assets "in such securities as the board may consider prudent."

In 1980, the attorney general ruled that this language precluded direct investment in real estate (indirect investment, by loans to developers backed by mortgages, is allowed). This proposed amendment would change the language in the constitution from "such securities as the board may consider prudent" to "such manner as the board may consider prudent investments." This proposed language would allow direct investment in real estate, at the discretion of the board.

Under the current constitution and with the proposed amendment, the legislature would retain the power to place additional restrictions on these investments by law.

7th graders slip in two games

The Post 7th grade football team fell 22-0 to Tahoka October 17 and 14-6 last Thursday at Seagraves.

In the Tahoka contest "we had no offense," coach Chili Black reports. "Every time we did something good, we had a penalty. On defense, we gave up the long run, in short, we were not ready to play," the coach adds.

In the Seagraves game the coach says "we had several chances to win, but each time mistakes stopped us."

The young 'Lopes scored after receiving the opening kickoff, driving the ball 67 yards for the touchdown. Armando Ayala scored from one yard out. The two point conversion failed.

Seagraves took the ensuing kickoff and returned it 27 yards for a touchdown and at the half the score was knotted 6-6.

In the third quarter Seagraves scored on a three yard pass play and ran the ball in for the two pointer.

The team hosts Crosbyton tomorrow.

Seagraves slaps 8th graders

The Post 8th grade football team hit a brick wall last Thursday in a 29-8 loss at Seagraves.

"We made some mistakes against a good football team and couldn't overcome them," coach Darrell Radle says. "We only allowed one good drive, the rest of their points came on big plays."

A highlight for the Post team was Alvin Reed's 112 yards rushing on 12 carries.

The Antelopes collected a total of 198 yards offense and Seagraves was credited with 234.

"We also had some big plays called back on penalties in the first half, including a 54 yard touchdown," coach Radle added.

The lone touchdown came in the third quarter on a 52 yard, three play drive, which included a 43 yard run by Reed to the five yard line. Saul Martinez went the final yards for the score and Reed got the two point conversion.

The team hosts Crosbyton tomorrow.

Thursday night is Hallelujah Night at the Lighthouse Church 12th and Avenue I

There will be no preaching, just bring your children by (between 7 and 8:30 p.m.) to receive some candy that the Lord has blessed.

Also, each family, when an adult is with the children, will be given a signed, typewritten copy of a prophecy God gave me for Post, which was spoken to the Lighthouse Church on Sunday, October 13, 1991. The City of Post and KPOS Radio has a cassette copy of the spoken prophecy.

Arguments For

The State Pension Review Board has recommended that public retirement funds should be allowed to invest in real estate. Many investment professionals feel that this is appropriate, because real estate can help balance a large portfolio. Over the long haul, real estate has produced better returns than many other investments.

The boards of these statewide funds have traditionally been very conservative in their investments. They can be trusted to avoid unreasonable risks in the future.

Arguments Against

The boards of these funds should not be allowed to take risks with these funds, which are needed to support retired state employees and teachers.

In recent years, Texas real estate investments have led to bankruptcy for many private investors, banks, and savings and loan institutions. Public retirement funds do not belong in this volatile market.

AMENDMENT 8

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT AUTHORIZING THE VOTERS OF THIS STATE TO CONSIDER STATE DEBT QUESTIONS IN THE FORM OF BALLOT PROPOSITIONS THAT MUST CLEARLY DESCRIBE THE AMOUNTS, PURPOSES, AND SOURCES OF PAYMENT OF THE DEBT ONLY AFTER APPROVAL OF THE PROPOSITIONS BY A TWO-THIRDS VOTE OF EACH HOUSE OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Explanation

This proposed amendment would change the procedure for creating state debt, allowing it to be created by means of propositions submitted to voters rather than by constitutional amendment. Because the Texas Constitution prohibits the state from incurring debt, each proposal to create debt now requires voters to approve a constitutional amendment.

The proposed amendment would authorize the legislature, by joint resolutions approved by two-thirds vote of both houses, to submit for voter approval propositions describing the amount, purpose, and repayment source of each proposed debt. Elections would require the same notice that is required to amend the constitution.

Arguments For

This proposed amendment would give voters full disclosure of the type and amount of state debt that is being proposed, by placing in the constitution a requirement that all propositions to create state debt disclose the amount, the specific purpose, and the means of repaying the debt. Under current law, the constitutional amendments that authorize bond issues are often vague and misleading.

Authorizations for specific bond issues do not belong in a constitution, which should be a general framework of law. The proposed amendment properly authorizes a procedure for creating state debt but will halt the confusing clutter of amendments to the Texas Constitution.

Arguments Against

Incurring new state debt should only be allowed by amending the constitution itself. More informative language could be included in the ballot description without ending the practice of including specific information about new state debt in the constitution.

The proposed amendment should include a ceiling on the amount of new state debt that can be created. Although it should not be necessary to amend the constitution for every new bond authorization, a reasonable ceiling would maintain a constitutional restraint on the amount of state debt.

AMENDMENT 9

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT AUTHORIZING THE COMMISSIONER OF THE GENERAL LAND OFFICE TO ISSUE PATENTS FOR CERTAIN PUBLIC FREE SCHOOL LAND HELD IN GOOD FAITH UNDER COLOR OF TITLE FOR AT LEAST 50 YEARS.

Explanation

When Texas entered the Union, all land in Texas not owned privately became state public land. However, in the early days not all land owners complied with legal requirements for obtaining title to their land. In 1900, all remaining land in the public domain not reserved for other purposes was placed in the permanent School Land Fund. In a few cases, this included land that someone had purchased without receiving the original title to land granted by the state that is called a land patent. A constitutional amendment was passed by the voters in 1981 to provide a mechanism for someone who had purchased school land in good faith and paid taxes on it to obtain a clear title. However, since that amendment expired in 1990, those who now discover that land they thought was theirs actually belongs to the state can acquire it only by purchase at fair market value.

The proposed amendment would authorize the General Land Office to issue a patent for public free school land to applicants who qualify by proving to the School Land Board that they acquired the land without knowing the title was defective and that they and their predecessors had held a recorded deed to the land and paid all applicable taxes for a continuous period of at least 50 years as of January 1, 1991. If the patent were denied, the applicant could sue the School Land Board in the district court of the county where the land is located. The amendment would not apply to beach land, submerged filled land, islands, or any land found to belong to the state by a prior court ruling, and could not be used to resolve a boundary dispute. Any patent issued for land within five miles of mineral production would reserve mineral rights to the state. The land patent application would have to be filed before January 1, 1993.

Arguments For

This proposition would provide the means to correct an inequity. Someone who has paid for land and paid taxes on it for a long period of time in good faith should not have to pay for it again because of errors made in the distant past. Since giving up state land for compensation is a serious matter, it should be authorized by the people and not by the legislature alone.

Limiting the time allowed for filing a land patent application, combined with vigorous efforts to inform the public, will encourage those with legitimate claims to come forward and discourage those who might try to circumvent the original intent of the amendment.

Arguments Against

It is a waste of the state's resources and the voter's time to consider an amendment that concerns the interests of a handful of people. A more general proposition giving authority to the legislature to deal with these cases as they arise would be preferable.

It would be better to extend the provision for a longer time to avoid the probability that another constitutional amendment will be required to deal with claims that surface after 1993.

AMENDMENT 10

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT AUTHORIZING THE LEGISLATURE TO EXEMPT FROM AD VALOREM TAXES CERTAIN PROPERTY OF A NONPROFIT CORPORATION THAT SUPPLIES WATER OR PROVIDES WASTEWATER SERVICE.

Explanation

Many rural residents of Texas are supplied with water by nonprofit water supply corporations. Formation of these corporations was authorized by the legislature in 1933, and there are now some 900 operating in Texas. Most serve only a few hundred families, and most do not provide sewer service, as the residents have privately owned septic tanks for wastewater treatment.

Unlike investor-owned water utilities, nonprofit water corporations are governed by the people they serve. Residents of their service areas elect the boards that manage these corporations. Unlike municipal utility districts and other special districts, they do not have taxing powers and are not exempt from taxation by other governmental entities, such as school districts and counties.

This amendment would exempt from ad valorem taxes (property taxes) a nonprofit water corporation's property used in the acquisition, treatment, storage, transportation, sale, or distribution of water, or the provision of wastewater service.

Arguments For

Nonprofit water supply corporations are very similar to the water districts that are exempt from taxation and should receive similar exemptions.

Legislation that will become effective if voters approve this amendment requires that rates for customers be reduced by an amount equal to the tax exemptions.

Arguments Against

School districts and counties where nonprofit water corporations are located would have to increase property tax rates to compensate for the proposed exemptions.

Projected 1992 increases in property tax rates for many school districts and counties are already excessive, further increases for the purpose of reducing some residents' water rates should not be imposed.

AMENDMENT 11

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT AUTHORIZING A STATE LOTTERY.

Explanation

The Texas Constitution requires the Texas Legislature to prohibit lotteries and gift enterprises in Texas. Consequently, the state cannot initiate a lottery unless the constitution is amended to permit it. The constitution was amended in 1980 to allow the legislature to authorize bingo games conducted by specific religious and charitable groups, and amended again in 1989 to permit the legislature to authorize charitable raffles by certain nonprofit groups.

If this proposed amendment passes, the implementing legislation would create a division of the comptroller's office to operate the lottery. The comptroller would appoint a director of lottery operations who would have authority to create a lottery administration and hire employees. Revenues from the lottery would be deposited in the general revenue fund.

Arguments For

A lottery provides a source of revenue to the state that is raised by voluntary participation. It provides a way to increase state revenues without raising taxes.

A Texas lottery would capture Texas money now spent on other state lotteries. It would benefit retailers by drawing customers into stores to purchase tickets.

Texas has learned from the experience of the thirty states that already have lotteries. The implementing legislation includes features to prevent problems encountered elsewhere, such as a state lottery stabilization fund to compensate for fluctuations in income to the state; programs to help those at risk for compulsive gambling; and measures to reduce the possibility of fraud. The state would also use the lottery proceeds to recover from winners who owe the state back taxes, child support payments, or payments on education loans.

Arguments Against

The lottery will not produce enough income to solve the state's fiscal problems nor prevent further tax increases. It is a relatively expensive means of raising revenue, which could cost the state as much as 37 cents for every dollar of revenue earned, compared with two to three cents per dollar of revenue earned for most state taxes.

A lottery is not an appropriate enterprise for the state to operate, either as a revenue source or a form of entertainment. Promoting gambling, particularly to poor people, in order to increase state revenues is morally and ethically indefensible.

The lottery functions as a regressive tax that draws most heavily on those least able to afford it. Lotteries have been shown to be twice as regressive as sales taxes. Lottery advertising often targets low-income players, who are likely to spend a higher percentage of their income on lottery tickets. Lotteries are particularly hazardous for people at risk for compulsive gambling.

AMENDMENT 12

Wording on the Ballot

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO INCREASE FROM 20 PERCENT TO 50 PERCENT THE PERCENTAGE OF TEXAS WATER DEVELOPMENT BONDS PREVIOUSLY AUTHORIZED BY TEXAS VOTERS THAT MAY BE ISSUED FOR ECONOMICALLY DISTRESSED AREAS.

Explanation

In 1989 Texas voters approved a constitutional amendment that authorized the Texas Water Development Board to issue $500 million in bonds, 20 percent of which ($100 million) could be used for subsidized loans and grants for water and wastewater facilities in economically distressed areas of the state. This proposed amendment would increase the amount that could be used for the economically distressed areas program to 50 percent ($250 million).

The most pressing needs for water and wastewater facilities exist in the colonias, rural subdivisions in the Rio Grande Valley, El Paso County, and other areas along the Texas-Mexico border. Many residents of the colonias have no water supply and no sanitary means for sewage disposal. These inadequate facilities cause serious public health problems similar to those found in "third world" countries.

The Water Development Board plans to issue its first bonds for the economically distressed areas program this fall. Loans will then be made to counties, cities, water districts, or nonprofit water supply corporations to provide water and sewer services in accordance with minimum state standards. The amount of the state subsidy will be based on residents' ability to pay a portion of project costs through their water and sewer rates.

Projects receiving state assistance may serve only areas where 80 percent of the dwellings were occupied in June 1989. And projects must be located in a county or city that has adopted subdivision rules prohibiting new developments that lack adequate water supply and sewer facilities.

Arguments For

Cost estimates to provide safe drinking water and sanitary sewage disposal in colonias show needs for state assistance exceeding the $100 million currently available. The $250 million proposed by this amendment is a more realistic estimate of state funds that will be required for all eligible water and wastewater projects in the economically distressed areas.

Supervision by the Water Development Board will assure that state funds are used in the most cost-effective manner.

Arguments Against

Aid to the colonias should be provided through appropriations rather than bonds. Because of the interest costs, future drains on general revenue funds for bond repayment will be significantly larger than the additional $150 million.

Voters should not authorize additional funding until some of the projects that will be built with the $100 million already authorized have been completed and can be evaluated.

AMENDMENT 13

Wording on the Ballot

Halloween In

Spirit of Safety

October 31 is Halloween, and most of the "spooks" you see on the streets will just be kids in disguise. But real dangers lurk behind this fall celebration. Texas Safety Association offers these tips for kids and adults, which will help insure a fun, safe holiday for everyone.

CHILDREN: If you go trick-or-treating, stick to neighborhoods you know. Stay on sidewalks; or, if there are no sidewalks, walk close to the curb on the left side of the street, facing traffic. Look left, right, and left again before crossing the street. Even witches and ghosts can be hurt by passing cars! Never go inside a stranger's house, and don't eat ANY treats until they've been inspected by a grownup.

PARENTS: Keep safety in mind when planning Halloween costumes. Use light-colored, flame-retardant fabrics, adding retro-reflective tape to make the child more visible to motorists. Avoid clumsy, ill-fitting shoes or costumes that drag on the ground, because they may cause a child to trip and fall. Masks can impair vision and breathing. Use non-toxic makeup instead.

Feed trick-or-treaters before they go, so that they'll be less tempted to snack on treats before they get home. Young children should be accompanied by an adult. Set a curfew for older kids, and give them change for emergency phone calls.

Explanation

This proposed amendment would authorize the legislature to allow the Higher Education Coordinating Board to issue up to $300 million in general obligation bonds to finance education loans to Texas students attending Texas colleges and universities. The maximum interest rate would be set by law. An interest and sinking fund would be established to pay the principal of and interest on the bonds as they mature. The legislature could provide for the investment of bond proceeds and establish the interest and sinking fund. The state cannot issue bonds to finance student loans without this constitutional amendment because the Texas Constitution prohibits the legislature from lending the credit of the state without specific authorization in the constitution, and prohibits use of public funds for grants and loans to individuals. Previous amendments authorized issuance of $85 million for student loans in 1965, $200 million in 1969, and $75 million in 1989.

Arguments For

These loans are urgently needed to meet the demand for loans to financially needy students. If this amendment is not approved, thousands of Texas students may be unable to continue their college studies. These loans go only to financially needy students who otherwise could not afford to attend college.

The student loan program usually operates as a revolving, self-supporting fund. Because changes in federal loan programs have created large increases in demands for state loans, and because most of the many loans made in recent years are not yet due, the bonds to be issued are necessary to fund the program until payments on recent loans begin to come in. The bonds will be paid back, plus interest, by borrowers, not taxpayers.

Arguments Against

The state does not need to incur any more debt. The bonded indebtedness of the state now totals $7.5 billion. General obligation bonds, which accounted for $2.3 billion in debt at the end of fiscal 1989, reached $2.8 billion at the end of 1990.

This proposed $300 million debt will not stand alone. The legislature should undertake a comprehensive evaluation of overall state debt before voters are asked to add to it.

Seagraves takes 29-16 j.v. win

The Post Antelope junior varsity gave up two blocked punts in a 29-16 loss here last Thursday to Seagraves. "They blocked two punts and scored 14 points off of that," coach Bart McMeans comments, "if we would not have allowed that to happen, we had chances to win."

"We played hard at times, but we still have not put four quarters together, we have not reached the point where we feel we need to be," he added.

Post scored first with a 55 yard, 10 play drive. Lawson did most of the work, with four carries and 34 yards. Heath Eagle scored the touchdown from one yard out and Clay took the ball in for the two point conversion.

The second touchdown came on a seven play, 35 yard drive, set up by a Ray Perez hit on the quarterback that caused a fumble. Walls recovered and Eagle threw a pass to Acevedo for the 16 yards and touchdown. Clay again scored the two pointer.

The team travels to Denver City tomorrow for a 5 p.m. kickoff.
