VOLUME XIX POST, TEXAS "OUT WHERE THE WEST IS THE WEST" THURSDAY, JUNE 14, 1945 "THE GATEWAY TO THE PLAINS" NUMBER 29

Excerpts From Santa Fe June 1 Crop Forecast

The June 1 statement of agricultural conditions released by the Department of Public Relations of the Santa Fe Railway Co. is of interest to rural readers this county inasmuch as the various dry weather keeps many guessing as to what final results will be when harvest season rolls around.

While most of Garza county's crops are "dry planting" cotton, the one eye cocked on the floating clouds which gather in the afternoon, and the other on the dry, crisp seed which fall from planter farmers who have their wheat planted are watching it deteriorate with each day of persistent dry weather, along with considerable wind.

The forecast reveals that wheat in the northwest Texas has greatly deteriorated during the past month and there are grave doubts as to the state will produce more than 40,000,000 bushels, compared to a last official estimate of 62,000,000 bushels. And without additional moisture, it is feared a figure will go still lower.

The dry land crop, south and west of Amarillo, will hardly yield an average of 5 bushels an acre. This same district there are over 50,000 acres of irrigated wheat that may average 25 bushels, while wheat on summer leached land should average 15 bushels an acre. Many fields of dry land wheat will not produce enough to pay the cost of harvesting and will be plowed under.

The first crop of new wheat was sown at Hamlin on May 23, the report revealed. It came from a field which was averaging 29 bushels an acre, tested 60 pounds, and was shipped over the Santa Fe to Fort Worth. Harvest is continuing in that locality, where there has been more plentiful rain will move to the South Plains about June 15. Further north it continued on Back Page, Col. 3)

Forty Girls Enroll In Summer Projects In Homemaking

The homemaking department of Post High school is offering an annual course in summer experience or better known as summer projects. Since this course is equivalent to one semester of homemaking, the girls will receive 1-2 credit if they complete their work successfully. There are forty girls enrolled in this course.

According to Miss Margaret Weaver this is the largest number ever to enroll in summer work.

In planning with their mothers and Miss Weaver, the girls selected projects which:

- (1) Are based on personal and family needs;
- (2) Offer opportunity for the development of skills and good practices;
- (3) Provide means for checking progress;
- (4) Include experience in the various areas of homemaking;
- (5) Can be achieved;
- (6) Give satisfaction;
- (7) Are difficult enough to challenge the individual.

Girls have selected the following projects: Improvement of bedroom, yard improvement, adding to their wardrobe, sewing for the family, adding to their hopechests, making Christmas gifts, preparing meals for their families, gardening, poultry raising, refinishing furniture, improving storage space.

The work will be completed by June 29 when the girls bring to a close their projects with a picnic.

Long Established Post Grocery Firm Closes Out Stock

The grocery stock of the Hundley Red & White store was sold last week by C. E. and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hundley to the owners of the Pure Food Market of this city. The merchandise was moved by the buyers Monday and added to their stock.

The Hundleys have been residents of this city since 1916 and have owned and operated the grocery firm for the past twenty-five years during which time they enjoyed splendid patronage from a wide area. Some time ago they sold their store building to Marshall Mason and several weeks ago Clyde sold his residence to the Church of the Nazarene for use as a parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hundley will remain in Post, but Clyde plans to leave within a few days with his three children for Hot Springs, New Mexico, where they will vacation for some time before he completes plans for the future.

A Letter to Fathers:

To All Fathers Everywhere, Greetings:

We write this to say 'We love you.' Sometimes we forget to tell you and maybe you think we do not appreciate your work and sacrifice for our sake.

Some of our fathers are old and have labored long to provide for and rear us properly. We hope we are a credit to you.

Some of our fathers are soldiers serving in all parts of the world with the Armed Forces. Many of our young fathers have not seen us. We know you love us because you are laboring for a better world in which we may live. We send you our love across the miles.

Some of our fathers are in-between, working every day in your very best way to make things better for us. We thank you.

Old or young, wherever you are, we pay homage—each of us—to the grandest fellow in the world—Dad.

Lovingly and sincerely,

Your Sons and Daughters

Post Boy Goes On Special Hunting Detail on Okinawa

Pfc. Roy a Neely was one of a group of fifteen Marines and a Navy Corpsman who went on an amphibious trip for Japs on Okinawa.

A delayed report by a Marine correspondent tells how the group went out after Japs who had been harassing the Americans for two days, during which time all movement was by crawling and crouching was eaten cold.

Led by Sgt. Robert A. Montgomery of Philadelphia the group started out at daybreak. All except the Navy man, pharmacist's mate, carried demolition charges, grenades and automatic weapons.

The boys worked in relays on the four Jap caves, as they Fred Tommy guns tossed the grenades and demolition charges.

On the first assault at the second cave, Pfc. Neely, with an automatic rifle, covered the approach of his buddy to throw the grenade. Jap sniper fire was so intense the Marines retired to a gully while a double charge of demolitions was prepared. With a second assault up the hill the charge was tossed and the cave collapsed. One wounded Jap emerged from the back of the cave. He said he was the only one left of 18 and that 4 machine guns and two motors had been in the cave.

After destroying two more caves Sgt. Montgomery led his men back to their positions in the lines and summed up the morning's work by saying "I think we can cook chow now."

Brother of Mrs. W. E. Huffman Tells of Jap Prison Camp

Editor's Note—A frequent visitor here with his sister, Mrs. W. E. Huffman, was Eugene Watson, survivor of the famous Death March on Bataan. His story taken from a daily paper will be of interest to readers.

Corp. Eugene Watson, survivor of three years in a Jap prison camp near Manila, arrived in San Angelo recently for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Millie Watson, 815 N. Magdalen, and other relatives in San Angelo and at Houston.

A husky 155-pounder now, Cpl. Watson weighed only 117 pounds when released from the Japs Jan. 30. He landed in San Francisco on March 16, picked up three years of back pay and his corporal's rank, visited a brother at Tucson en route home. He is really enjoying eating and drinking since he got back; especially likes good cold milk and plenty of it.

Another brother, Jim, and Charles Bradley were the only other San Angeloans he met while in the Philippines. They were in the same prison camp.

The brother, Lt. Jim Watson, was in the same company as Eugene. When he last saw him he was being given some pretty rugged treatment by the Japs.

He had no calendar but as near as he can remember, Jim was taken to Japan in May, 1943, with Charles (Chuck) Bradley leaving a month or so earlier. Eugene was slated to go with the 250 taken from his camp but was sick the day they left.

Sickness made little difference to the Japs as a rule. Corp. Watson liked neither to talk nor remember the beatings with pick or ax handles; the utter brutality of the Jap prison guards. Clothing did not conceal all the scars (Continued on Back Page, Col. 4)

LLOYD MILTON SHEDD TOOK PART IN MANY OF THE PACIFIC BATTLES

Lloyd Milton Shedd, 52, of the Navy, is at home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Shedd. The sailor has seen quite a bit of "rugged" duty in the Pacific for the past thirteen months, but is now assigned to shore duty at Alameda Air Station, California. It received 8 direct hits from shore batteries and suffered damage as well as casualties.

Off Okinawa he saw continuous action for 17 days and was in the midst of the Jap suicide bombings. He saw one U. S. Marine pilot shot down eight Jap planes is less than an hour.

Seaman Shedd has been in action in Attu, Pearl Harbor, Wake, Kwajalein, Maraca, Guam, Saipan, Iwo Jima, Iwo Chica and Okinawa.

Horrors Of German Concentration Camp Seen By Tom Ashley

Pfc. Tom Ashley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ashley of this county, sent his parents a most informative letter from Germany recently in which he gave them first hand observations on German Concentration camps and the atrocities practiced there. Tom is with the 187th Engineer Combat Battalion and has been overseas since Oct. 3, 1944. His battalion received the Presidential Citation for work accomplished in crossing the Rhine.

Excerpts from his letter and from the citation follow:

"A few days ago I had the opportunity to go through one of Germany's concentration camps. The camp consisted of 5 or 6 brick buildings where the Germans kept about 5,000 or 6,000 people, mostly Russians and Poles and others from nearly every country in Europe. These people were slave laborers who were forced to work for the Germans without pay; their sleeping quarters were terrible and they were kept on starving rations.

"Several hundred yards off to the back of the camp in a large hole the prisoners were buried. They were stacked in the holes like cordwood. They died of starvation or torture. The prisoners had no means of heating their buildings and they lived in the most crowded and filthiest condition I have ever seen. Their daily rations were a small piece of bread and one small potato.

"I went through the place 3 or 4 days after it had been liberated and the Red Cross was still taking the people out. The dead were also being removed. At that time there were still about 400 dead lying around. They were either starved or tortured to death. Some with holes punched or burned into their eyes and hands. They also had

Funeral Rites Held Saturday For Auto Accident Victim

Funeral services for James Dale Thompson were conducted Saturday afternoon at Terrace cemetery by the Rev. Austin Moore, pastor of the local Church of the Nazarene.

The twenty-four old man was fatally injured Friday evening about 9 o'clock in a car mishap on U. S. Highway 84 about four miles north of Post.

The ex-service man returned to Post about two weeks ago and for a short while had been an employee of the Postex Cotton Mills, Inc.

His survivors include a small son, Jimmy Dale; his father, William H. Thompson; three sisters and three brothers. One brother, J. H. Thompson of Fort, Texas, arrived here Saturday afternoon to help to attend the funeral.

Funeral was in Terrace cemetery with Mason & Co. funeral directors officiating.

Aboard a Coast Guard-manned troop transport enroute for the States, these soldiers from Post had a grand reunion talking about what they were going to do when they got home. Both have been in the thick of battles in the European area. On the left is Pfc. Vernon Giles, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Giles, and on the right is Sgt. Donald Terry. James was foreman of the spinning room of the mill when entering the Army. His wife is getting her home in Alabama, where his parents reside. Giles' wife lives in Post.

Editor Warren, editor and publisher of The Post Dispatch, who has been serving the post two years with the Navy in the Pacific is in Post on a 28-day leave visiting his wife and mother, Mrs. F. I. Bailey.

Warren, chief photographer's mate with the photographic section of the Navy, is on the first leave since entering the service thirty months ago. He was assigned to the Pacific after completing 15 weeks training at the Naval school of photography at Pensacola, Florida, and during the time for several months was attached to an air unit and one of the largest photographic laboratories in the Pacific. For the past eight months he has been in charge of operations of the lab.

Warren was a Western aviator and got back into the harness around August 1942 and was assigned to be privileged to shoot all his own photo while here. He will report back to duty at Dallas July 25th.

TODAY IS FLAG DAY

Inasmuch as today, June 14, is officially designated as Flag Day, here are some bits of information and inspiration.

On June 14, 1777, the Continental Congress passed the resolution "That the flag of the 13 United States be 13 stripes alternate red and white; that the union be 13 stars in white on a blue field representing a new constellation."

The flag was designed by Betsy Ross at the request of a committee headed by George Washington.

The flag was first planted on foreign soil over Fort Nassau, Bahama Islands, January 28, 1778. It was first saluted by a foreign power, by an admiral of the French Navy, February 13, 1778.

It floated over a schoolhouse for the first time in Massachusetts in May, 1812. Paul Jones claimed to have been the first to raise the national flag at sea.

In 1814 Francis Scott Key of Frederick, Maryland, wrote "The Star Spangled Banner." Captain Samuel Driver of Salem, Mass. gave it the name of Old Glory in 1821.

The following, taken from the Marine Corps Manual, is particularly appropriate at this time and should cause everyone to appreciate just a little more the meaning of our flag.

For more than eight score years I have been the banner of hope and freedom for generation after generation of Americans. Born amid the first flames of America's fight for freedom, I am the symbol of a country that has grown from a little group of thirteen colonies to a united nation of forty-eight sovereign states.

HALF MILLION PLANES

It is not unlikely that in this country alone we shall have by 1950 at least half a million private, commercial and military planes in active service says William A. Burden, Assistant Secretary of Commerce.

"I can't stand these damn things any longer," he cried. "I've got to take my clothes off."

We all laughed under our ponchos while he stood there in the moonlight and stripped of every stitch, even though it was very chilly.

This unfortunate soul was Cpl. Leland Taylor of Jackson, Mich. His nickname is Pop, since he is 33 years old.

Pop is a "character." He has a black beard and even in the front lines he wears a khaki overcoat dress cap which makes him stand out.

After Pop went back to bed everything became quiet for several hours, but hardly anybody was asleep. The next morning the boys on guard said that Pop must have smoked three packs of cigarettes that night. It was the same way with Bird Dog, Gross and me.

Once there was a distinct rustling of the bushes in front of us. Of course the first thing I thought of was a Jap.

But then I figured a Jap wouldn't make that much noise and finally I decided it was one of the horses the mortar boys had commandeered, crashing through the bushes. And that's what it turned out to be.

Pop Taylor also had the Jap idea, at first. The next morning "Brady" Bradshaw, who was sleeping with Pop, said Pop shook him violently during the night to wake him up and borrow a 48 just in case. Brady laughed and laughed about it, for lying on the ground between them all the time was an arsenal of two carbines, two shotguns and Pop's own 45.

Along about 4:30 I guess we did sleep a little from sheer exhaustion. That gave the mosquitoes a clear field. When we woke up at dawn and crawled stiffly out into the daylight my right eye was swollen shut, as usual.

Swarms of Insects Add to Hell of War on Okinawa Fleas and Mosquitoes Vie to Keep Men Awake Far Into the Night

By Ernie Pyle

Publication of this column completes the series written by Ernie Pyle before his untimely death at the hands of a Jap machine gunner off Okinawa.

OKINAWA.—One of the most miserable damn nights out of hundreds of miserable nights I have spent in this war was spent out here.

Bird Dog Clayton, and Gross and I, turned into our sacks just after dark. So did everybody else who wasn't on guard. It was too early to go to sleep, so we just lay there in the dark and talked. You could hear voices faintly all over the hillside.

We didn't take off our clothes, of course; nobody does in the field. I did take off my boots but Bird Dog and Gross left theirs on for they had to stand watch on the field telephones from 1 till 2 a. m.

The three of us lay jammed up against each other, with Bird Dog in the middle. We smoked one cigarette after another. We didn't have to hide them under the blanket for we were in a protected position where a cigarette couldn't be seen very far.

Right after dark the mosquitoes started buzzing around our heads. These Okinawa mosquitoes sound like a flame thrower. They can't be driven off or brushed away.

I got a little bottle of mosquito lotion out of my pocket and doused my face and neck, though I knew it would do no good. The other boys didn't even bother.

After a while the hillside grew silent. The hours went past. By an occasional slap at the mosquitoes such of us knew the others weren't asleep.

Suddenly Bird Dog sat up and nudged down his socks and started scratching. Fleas were after him. Even the grass has fleas in it over here.

For some strange reason I am immune to fleas. Half the boys are red with hundreds of itchy little flea bites, but I have never had one.

But I'm the world's choicest morsel for mosquitoes. And mosquito bites poison me. Every morning I wake up with at least one eye swollen shut.

Get the Best Of Leatherneck That was the way it was all night, with all of us—me with a double dose of mosquitoes, all the rest with a mixture of mosquitoes and fleas.

You could hear marines hushfully cursing all night long around the hillside. Suddenly there was a terrible outburst just downhill from us and a marine came jumping out into the moonlight, cursing and jerking at his clothes.

"I can't stand these damn things any longer," he cried. "I've got to take my clothes off."

We all laughed under our ponchos while he stood there in the moonlight and stripped of every stitch, even though it was very chilly. He shook and brushed his clothes, doused them with insect powder and then put them back on.

This unfortunate soul was Cpl. Leland Taylor of Jackson, Mich. His nickname is Pop, since he is 33 years old.

Pop is a "character." He has a black beard and even in the front lines he wears a khaki overcoat dress cap which makes him stand out.

Sidelights from Washington

By GEORGE MAHON

Predictions here as to the end of the war in the Pacific range from thirty days to three years, but several factors made the date of final victory wholly unpredictable. It is certain that Japan will be subjected to bombing of unheard-of intensity and devastation, exceeding by far the bombings of Germany.

Our Army at the peak for the two-front war was 6,300,000. With Germany out of the war, the question is often asked, "Why do we need a seven million man Army to defeat Japan?" We probably don't, but the War Department is unwilling to take chances.

Clint Anderson, who is resigning from Congress to become Secretary of Agriculture, has considerable first-hand knowledge of our West Texas farm problems. He has travelled across our Congressional District many times enroute from his home in New Mexico to the East, visiting in Lubbock, a number of times.

Freight rate equalization which we have fought for in the South and West for years is partly realized as a result of recent decisions by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The War Department Subcommittee on Appropriations, of which I am a member, is now holding extensive hearings on Army requirements for the coming fiscal year.

Of interest to Texans is the fact that the huge appropriation contemplated for the continued construction of the big B-32 now being manufactured by Consolidated at Fort Worth will be greatly curtailed.

I recently accompanied the crew of a B-29 on a test flight. It is a delightful experience to fly in this huge plane over friendly territory. But despite its graceful beauty, the Japs have found that in the hands of a courageous American crew, it is the deadliest weapon in the history of warfare.

It is reported that General Ike Eisenhower will visit Washington this month and address a joint session of Congress. I think the able and popular general will be pleased if his appearance is greeted with the same outburst of applause as was received by the young infantry sergeant who, at a similar session some time ago, was given the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Eisenhower is very popular with Congress. But his popularity does not exceed that of General George Marshall, Chief of Staff, who is generally regarded here as the top military man of the war, not only in name but in fact.

A TIMELY REMINDER "It is easy to take a day off, but impossible to put it back," a slogan posted by the management of a Naval Ordnance Plant at Louisville, Ky., reminds employees.

The thing the "tired business man" is tired of these days is regulation by forty-seven government agencies, each giving out directions in direct opposition to the others.

'Sacking' Eases Strain on B-29 Crewmen "Back time" is one of the most-used expressions in the B-29 cockpit in the Pacific. It means simply lying on your side doing nothing. Combat fliers everywhere have lots of spare time, because they are under a terrific nervous strain when they work, and must rest. There's really nothing else to do except lie on your side. Combat crews have few duties between missions. And since there's no amusement or diversion out on these islands, except homemade ones, they just lie and talk and lie some more. Endless talk and arguments go on in every tent and Quonset hut. They can argue about the deaconess things. One afternoon several pilots got into an argument over whether or not you do everything in reverse when you're flying upside down.

Winter Woolens Should Be Stored For Protection

Winter woolens which have not been stored for the warm weather months should have attention at once. The danger for moth damage increases with warm weather, and in these days of war-time shortages, proper care of woolen garments is increasingly important.

Storing winter garments properly, not only saves them from moth damage, but also helps to prevent mildew, fading and decay. Cleanliness is, of course, the first rule on how to store articles of clothing successfully. All spots and stains should be removed, and all grime and dirt cleaned from the material, with special attention to the dust that might have accumulated in cuffs and pockets. They should be brushed well.

Use flakes, sprays or balls to discourage moths and carpet beetles. If you leave the woolens in a closet make it as airtight as possible so the gas from these moth preventives cannot escape. Since fumes from the flakes and balls go downward, it is advisable to put some of them on the top shelf, or tie them in a cloth sack and hang from a high hook on the ceiling.

Woolens should be stored in a dry place, as mildew cannot be removed. An electric light helps to eliminate dampness, and sometimes dries the air enough to stop mold growth.

Wool should also be stored in a dark place, as light tends to fade colors or weaken fabrics. Since clothing bags serve as protection from light as well as dust, they should be used whenever possible, to help make last year's clothes wearable next fall.

Methodist Close Successful Bible School Friday

The Vacation Bible school which was conducted for ten days at the Methodist church closed with the presentation of a program Friday night, June 8, at the church.

That it was a very successful school was evidenced by the excellent work by the children. Each department carried out a certain religious subject in its study and made books to illustrate such subject.

Mrs. J. E. Parker served as director of the school and she introduced the teachers Friday night who in turn presented their classes.

The program was opened with a song after which the Juniors led in repeating the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Tol Thomas introduced the Cradle Roll, with 19 babies enrolled.

The Beginners presented their books and sang several songs. The Primary group gave a playlet and sang the prayer song "Into May Heart."

The Juniors' subject was Know Your Bible and their books illustrated this. Their special song was "All My Burdens Went Rolling Away."

The Intermediates presented a puppet show of the Life of Joseph, which was very cleverly done. The making of these puppets was their project. They were dressed in the flowing garments worn in Joseph's time and as the reader gave the story of Joseph and his family the puppets were maneuvered in quite a creditable style by the young stage managers.

Twenty-three certificates were awarded and there were several perfect attendance records.

The ladies of the Missionary society served an old fashioned ice cream supper to about 150 children, parents, and friends.

LOCAL STUDENT GETS READER'S DIGEST AWARD

Norma Joy Hudman, valedictorian of the 1945 graduating class of Post High school, has been recognized by The Reader's Digest Association as a student whose successful school work gives promise of unusual attainment.

Norma Joy received an engraved certificate last week from the Digest Editors: "In recognition of past accomplishment and in anticipation of unusual achievement to come." She will receive an honorary subscription to the Reader's Digest for one year.

Since 1937 The Reader's Digest Association has presented these awards yearly in senior high schools throughout the United States and Canada to the highest honor student of the graduating class. ALL FLOWER GARDENERS PLEASE TAKE NOTICE

An idea was suggested this week by George Samson which we think worthy of consideration by all flower enthusiasts.

Why not have a Dahlia Show this fall? Since so many beautiful dahlias were grown here last year and even more planted this year it seems some arrangement should be made whereby the general public could view and appreciate the work of our local gardeners.

There are several ways such a show could be planned for the enjoyment of both the gardeners and the visitors. So why not make plans regarding a show during the height of the dahlia season next fall.

Looking around town we have just wondered how many dahlias bulbs have been planted. We would really like to find out how many bulbs each gardener has planted this year.

Recent Change In Feeding Program To Increase Meat

The recent change in government regulations pertaining to the marketing of cattle is calculated to increase the meat supply by encouraging feeders to put more weight on their cattle by feeding them for a longer period. Several months ago some of the government officials became sold on the idea of conserving the grain supplies and making beef on grass by placing such a low ceiling price on well finished beef as to make it an unprofitable operation. Apparently this program went beyond the point of just discouraging the feeding of well finished cattle and cut well into the regular market feeding.

Stamford Reunion Anticipated By Old-Time Cowboys

Minds of the oldtimers in this area are turning these warm days to the approaching Reunion of their buddies during the Texas Cowboy Reunion which will hold its fifteenth annual showing on the 2, 3, and 4th of July at Stamford. On those dates the veteran cowhands of the Southwest will gather to swap yarns of happenings on the range in their younger days. Bowed legs will waggle and creaky knees will be slapped as the wizen faces break into a happy smile as tales are told reminiscent of days long past.

Each year the old-time cowpunchers assemble at Stamford during the Reunion, elect officers for their association, renew acquaintances, dance the old square dances which were the vogue in those days and even yet are considered the folk music of the old West. Membership is limited to men who were actively engaged and employed in ranch work on ranches at least thirty-five years ago. The roster now includes almost two thousand men from 16 states of the Southwest. Members who have paid their dues are entitled to chuck wagon dinner each day and free admission to each performance of the rodeo. All wear badges showing their membership in the Texas Cowboy Reunion Association.

Lee Byrd and O. D. Cardwell of Post hold membership in the association.

 Response to the offer has been good, and dramatizes not only the desperate need for used cooking fat, but the purchasing power of the four cents and two red ration points each pound brings.

Masonic Lodge News

Our last stated communication, May 19, 1945, was both interesting and encouraging. About thirty-five brethren were present. Bro. Walton McQueen was examined as to his proficiency in the E. A. degree and Bros. Russell Wilks, Jr. and Cecil Osborne were examined in the F. C. degree. All examinations were declared satisfactory. Bro. S. R. TOFFLIGHT GENERALS RETURN TO AMERICA

Return of the nation's top fighting generals from Europe will swell to a parade in the next few weeks.

Three already have arrived home and many others, including Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, are expected to follow within a month.

After short visits in this country some of the generals, including Eisenhower, will return to Europe to tackle the problems of redeployment and the occupation of Germany. For others, like Gen. Courtney Hodges and Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who already are here, the trip is just a leg on the journey to Tokyo.

The latest to arrive in the United States is Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the 15th army group in Italy, who reached Chicago in time to take part in Memorial Day ceremonies.

THE CHURCH BEGINS ITS WORK

LESSON TEXT—Acts 1:20-26, 28-42. GOLDEN TEXT—Ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.—Acts 1:8.

The church of Jesus Christ, glorious in spite of her failings, is the greatest institution known to this world. That is true because while it is in this world, the church is not of the world, but of God. He established the church as the fellowship of believers to do His work in the world. For more than 19 centuries the Christian church has served Him with varying degrees of consecration and usefulness.

The beginning of the work of the church is of special interest, for such a study will show whether we today are following in the right path. We find in our lesson that the early church was distinguished by:

I. Obedience to God (vv. 29-32). The disciples filled with the Holy Spirit were bold in declaring the gospel and in proclaiming their risen Lord. Realizing that the apostles' message was winning the people, the leaders of the Jews admonished them not to speak in the name of Christ (Acts 4:18). When they continued, the priests threw them into prison, but an angel set them free (Acts 5:19).

When they were again apprehended and accused of disobeying the command of the high priest, Peter and the others responded by pointing out that they were under a higher command, that of God Himself. Him they would obey, come what may.

Who will deny that we need a renewal of that spirit in the church today? We need to lose our fear of men and their little authority, and regain a larger measure of obedience to God.

II. A Convicting Message (v. 33). When God's Word is preached with complete obedience to Him, something is sure to happen. Men and women will be convicted of their sin. They will be cut to the heart.

That conviction will show itself in one of two ways. Some will be repentant and will cry out with the jailer at Philipp, "What must I do to be saved?" (Acts 16:30). Turning to Christ, they will find deliverance from sin.

Others will harden themselves in their wicked ways and become even more bitter in their hatred of Christ and the church. In our lesson we find them taking counsel to kill the disciples. Knowing themselves to be wrong and seeing that God's work revealed their sin, but not being willing to give it up, they tried to destroy the witness against them.

We see that same spirit operative today. To be sure, it does not usually show itself in such crude action as physical killing, although the day when that may happen again may not be far away.

In our cultivated time, it is revealed in a scholarly attack upon God's Word, an undermining of the faith of our young people in schools or colleges, or a ridiculing of those who wish to live a separated, consecrated life.

III. No Compromise (vv. 24, 25, 28-40). A wise man, Gamaliel, presented what we would now call a program of appeasement. He urged that they wait and see what would happen.

At first glance his idea seems to be most commendable, and of course it did save the lives of the disciples at the moment. But it was essentially a "do-nothing" policy of compromise. If he believed in what the disciples were doing, he should have come out boldly on their side.

Notice that the believers had no part in this scheme. They listened, but did not give assent. They took the beating and went right out and preached the gospel again. What a fine example for us to follow! Those who are alert to the real problems of the church today recognize that the willingness to compromise with the world, the flesh, and (so it seems at times) the devil himself for the sake of peace, is destroying the real ministry of the church.

IV. Absolute Fearlessness (vv. 40, 42).

The early church was a very small group of believers with no position of influence or power in the world. Humane speaking, it would have been expedient for them to heed the admonition now twice given (compare Acts 4:18) and confine their testimony to a private witness.

But they had hearts which were aflame with the fire of God, a commission to take the good news of God's saving grace to all men, and the assurance of God's presence (see Matt. 28:18, 20; Acts 1:8), and they were absolutely fearless.

The world admires true courage not only on the battlefield, but in the polity. The criticism which men in the sacred service make of the church comes at this point, namely, that the church has been too timid about giving out the Word of God, about really believing and practicing it.

Isaac Merritt Singer of Boston, Mass., in 1851, manufactured the first successful sewing machines in this country.
 William Morrison of Des Moines, Iowa, in 1892, made the first electric automobile.
 Prior to the death of VIII of France, in 1498, were white as mourning, queen, Anne, changed the color when she clothed herself in black.

Sgt. Weldon Skinner Takes Part In Air Trip Over Europe

An Eighth Air Force Fighter Station, England— Staff Sgt. Weldon A. Skinner, son of Mrs. A. U. Skinner, of Grand Prairie, Texas, recently participated in an aerial sight-seeing tour over European battle fields.

Sgt. Skinner is a technical supply clerk with a unit in the 4th Fighter Group, commanded by Col. Everett W. Stewart, of Abilene, Kan., and has been part of its non-flying personnel for 28 months.

While flying at 1,000 feet over Germany in a four-engine Liberator bomber, he was able to view the grand scale destruction below of railroad yards, bridges, and factories. It was a six and a half hour flight, beginning at the 4th Fighter Group's base in Essex County, England.

Skinner was formerly principal of the Post Grade school and has a host of friends here who will be interested in hearing news of him again.

CROP FORECAST—

Very little grain sorghums have been planted over the area, and the seed that is in the ground will not sprout until it rains, states the forecaster. Because of the wheat failure, an increased acreage will be planted to grain sorghums and sudan grass. Some 500 acres of sugar beets are being planted in the irrigated areas of the South Plains, along with about 3,000 acres of potatoes and approximately 500 acres of onions and carrots.

Dry weather in the northwest has also cut into a limited acreage of oats and barley, reducing prospects about 50 per cent. By nearly the same ratio, excessive moisture has reduced the small grain outlook in north Texas, especially spring planted oats which are turning out fair to poor yields. The oats harvest is becoming general over the state, except in the Panhandle, and the wheat harvest in the north central area is just getting under way.

Cotton planting has been completed over most of the state, although considerable replanting was necessary, especially in the north, due to excessive moisture.

TOM ASHLEY—

(Continued From Front Page) their hands and feet tied together. "There were some who looked dead but you could tell if you looked close that they were still alive, but were too weak to eat. Some had been prisoners 4 or 5 years.

"I know all of this is hard to believe. I didn't believe it myself until I saw it and now I know how cruel our enemy can be. Every thing I have read about them I know to be true. Words can't describe how horrible it all was."

Citation

The work done by the 187th Engineering Battalion is heartily commended for their joint operations with the organization of crossing the Rhine on March 24, 1945 and in working with untiring effort both in planning and practices held on Naas River and its actual crossing. Only one assault craft was lost due to mechanical failure. This is living proof of the excellent preparations made in aiding the successful crossing. The spirit and cooperation of the Engineers is a credit to the Corps.

Corp. Wilson enlisted in the Air Corps in October, 1939, in Tucson. He arrived in the Philippines in February, 1940, and was captured when Bataan fell. He took part in the infamous "Death March" from Bataan.

While in the prison camp he was forced to work on Nichols, air field near Manila.

While he does not know what the Army intends to do with him when his present furlough expires, he is willing to go back to the Pacific area if ordered to do so. He feels that his experience with the Japs would be of value; would take considerable interest in "dishing it out" instead of being on the receiving end.

As to the Philippines, he would not mind going back after the war. He likes both the climate and the people there; the natives, he found, were very friendly.

Mrs. Steve Luce and daughter, Katherine, arrived last week for an extended visit with her parents, the J. P. Manly's.

Extra Action Attraction!

To the Shores of Iwo Jima

Few words, if any, are adequate to describe the monumental task successfully accomplished by the United States Marines in the battle of Iwo which comes in Technicolor and where everything showing red is blood; where our boys were driven back five times—went back six and where they fought the worst 29 days of fire and death and hell in the War's record to that date. The story must be seen to be believed. With a magnificent musical score and a narrator with a voice like that of a machine stitch, this is likely to be the most astounding camera record to come from the Signal Corps up to this time. It's a "must-see."
