Gems Of Thought

A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying in other words that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.—Pope.

THE ROAD TO RUIN

The new and better life we are all promised in our postwar world may be costly entertainment. The plan to pay $25 maximum unemployment benefits for 38 weeks might better be called the National Vacation Measure. What would happen at the end of 26 weeks when the vacation was over? Would there be a new bill for the next year, on the theory that unless it was passed there would then be unemployment? Naturally, the higher the benefits and the longer the period each year for which they are paid, the more difficult it will be to recruit help. Retail stores, garages, and many other trades find workers unwilling to accept work, even when thousands are being laid off from war industries. Farm help is almost impossible to get at any price the farmer can pay. To raise food to sell at a figure demanded by the government.

Sooner or later we are all going to have to get down to earth and work and save, or we will starve. All the hot air to the contrary, government can't take money away from the people in taxes to furnish the handouts now proposed. Legalized loafing on the government payroll will break any nation ultimately.

FIRE PREVENTION MUST BE PERSONAL

Fire Prevention Week, October 7 to 13, should command greater public interest this year than ever before. Never in history was so much property destroyed by fire in 365 days, as during the past 12 months.

In our own country, which has not been subjected to the ravages of war, there are 1,000 home fires every day. Once every 50 minutes someone is burned to death—a large percentage of them children left in homes which contain unnecessary fire hazards. Eight hundred million matches are used daily, each one capable of starting a fire in a home or factory. Two hundred and fifty billion cigarettes are smoked each year—each is a fire hazard which can ignite waste paper, bed clothes, material placed carelessly on shelves, clothing and a thousand-and-one other articles.

No one can prevent most of such fire losses except the home owner, the lighter of matches, the smoker, and each and every individual old enough to think. Annual fire losses in the United States, which could largely be prevented, are greater than those caused by the bombings of London during the first years of the war. They are not as spectacular as the London losses because they are scattered all over the country. Ten thousand deaths from fire, distributed over 48 states, and tens of thousands of homes and factories destroyed, do not make headlines like the bombing of a city, but the permanence of death and fire loss for those involved, is just as real.

Fire Prevention Week, from October 7 to 13, is something all should observe—not for that week alone but for every day in the year.

READING & WRITING
By Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

When a person is physically ill, he consults a physician. When he is emotionally distressed, he may go to a psychiatrist. Or he may turn to any one of those outfits who promise immediate aid in glowing terms.

—and received visits from three pathetic fortune hunters. She interviewed heads of radio "courts" for solving domestic difficulties, attended a lecture guaranteed to teach mind-reading, was in touch with scores of mediums, fortunetellers, and self-labeled "psychologists."

We suggest you read Mrs. Steiner's book before you take your troubles to the nearest cure-all agency.

What was possibly the first "horseless carriage" was invented in 1849 to carry gold seekers to Colorado, relates Arthur Amos Gray in "Men Who Built the West." It was known as the "Westport Wind Wagon," because it was made in the small town of Westport, where Kansas City is now located, and it was to be driven by wind power. With wheels twenty feet high, and large sails on top of it, it was made to carry twenty passengers. All very well, except that no one was ever able to make it go in the right direction.

Ten years ago the Russian correspondent, Konstantine Simonov, was a factory worker. Then he became a writer, won the Stalin prize with his play, "The Russian People"; to date several millions of his books have been sold in 21 languages in the USSR. Covering the war fronts, he was in Stalingrad during that epic battle. He wrote a novel about it—"Days and Nights"—which has now been chosen as the Book-of-the-Month Club selection for November.

LET'S STAY AMERICAN

Our country is reconverting so much faster than the planners anticipated, that it is making their heads swim. Overnight one thing after another is back on the market. American industry, when given the chance, knows how to get things done without a diagram being drawn in Washington. Our country is reviving just like

MUST GREED PREVAIL?

It is predicted that America's most violent strike era lies ahead. Union leaders have given union locals the word that they are free to strike whenever ready. The skilled craft unions are already preparing to refuse new members. They think that they can maintain prosperity for a few by keeping supply below demand in closed shops.

Some union leaders can see that this policy of denying the right to work to a man will play into the hands of advocates of legislation which would permit men to enter any occupation for which they are qualified, regardless of union restrictions.

Both unions and Congress seem to have forgotten that there is a Constitution of the United States, under which men are guaranteed the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness—which means the right to work. If we have any Constitution left, or any

YET POOR SOUTHLAND

Despite the fact the South has an abundance of natural resources, it continues to be economically the poorest section in the United States.

We happen to have in the South 40 per cent of the nation's forests, 27 per cent of its minerals including 100 per cent of its bauxite, 99 per cent of the sulphur and 97 per cent of the phosphate. We have 67 per cent of the nation's natural gas, 66 per cent of its crude oil and 27 per cent of the country's hydro-electric power.

In the years which have gone by, and which seem to be tumbling all at once into our laps, we have in the South always stressed agriculture and manufacturing secondary. Now it will become mandatory to put manufacturing top on our must list and revise our entire set-up on agricultural pursuits.

We have, fortunately, increased manufacturing 600 per cent since 1900, and brought about a 400 per cent increase in our net income. If we continue this trend, the Southland will yet become the paradise of the nation and the possessor of an enduring heritage.

NOW, BUILD HOMES

The government's wartime restrictions on home building will be removed Oct. 15, along with those on public works and business and industrial construction. We think Reconstruction Director Snyder's decision to that effect is wise.

It is also a great challenge to the home-building industry, which has been clamoring for freedom to get started on its postwar job.

Mr. Snyder promises that the government will do all it can to help make materials plentifully available and to prevent price inflation. But he puts major responsibility on voluntary action by the industry. If the industry wants to stay free of government restrictions, it had better make the most of this opportunity to show that voluntary methods can get homes up and hold costs down.—Fort Worth Press.

semblance of freedom for the individual, and courts to protect him, why should any man be shut out of work by any union or any industry, until he pays some organization for the privilege of being allowed to earn his daily bread and butter?

Until this question is answered and a man is free to work and free to join a union or not join it, as he sees fit, we cannot hold the United States up to the rest of the world as a shining example of a free country. What have our soldiers been fighting for it, when they return to their homes, they cannot work without paying for the privilege?

DO DEWDROPS DROP?

NO

Ye poet sings of "falling dew." He means warm air kissing cooler grass and flowers—leaving moisture. It didn't drop from heaven. OIL-PLATED lubricant is closely bonded to working parts by the magnet-like action of Conoco Nth oil's added ingredient. OIL-PLATING resists draining down to the crankcase at every stop! Lt. Lester Writes Interesting Letter To His Parents

Censorship often prevented the boys from telling where they were or what they were doing while the war was on but, now that it's over, Lieut. William C. Lester, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lester, Route 2, Post, writes the following interesting sketch of his activities in the European area.

Dear Mother and Dad:
These 14 months I've been over here have flown by in a way, and in another way it's been an eternity, but now the job is done and I'm ready to come home!
Our 27 day stay in England was very pleasant even though we were busy drawing our battalion equipment. Liverpool was the largest city we were in while there, it was pretty well smashed by the German air force, however, the British didn't seem to notice the destruction and didn't mind talking about the war or answering the questions we asked.

We landed in France on "Utah" beach and there I really saw destruction. Entire towns were torn to pieces, dead livestock everywhere and an occasional Frenchman who could still live in his cellar would be standing expressionless by the road.

Further in France conditions were better. The people would line the streets and wave and throw flowers at the trucks as our convoy passed.

You probably read about Gen. Patton's 3rd Army running out of gas last September. That report was correct, for we certainly stopped 3 days. Later we were given priority and our outfit was given gas to move up to construct a bridge across the Moselle River, 7 miles from Metz and a "stones throw" from Fort Driant and Fort Jean de Arr. Germany's stock of 80's and 100's was much larger than I would have thought and they were most generous with them, but we got the bridge in and maintained, for two weeks trying to keep the roads to a minimum (Gas, not to exceed 2 feet deep). Then we moved to Belgium to join the 9th Army. Our first job there was to construct a bridge across the Maas River at Maas-tricht, Holland. A floating bridge that was kept in constant use 3 1/2 months, we were beginning to be bothered with "buzz bombs" at this time and several hit in the small town where we were billeted. This town was just a short way from Liege, Belgium, a city the Germans were trying to blast off the map and later almost did.

Then came the "break through." We built two defense bridges, one across the Meuse River and the other over the Albert Canal, and prepared all existing bridges for demolition. Then we were alerted to fight as infantry.

At one time with what semitrailers we had, we hauled logs from the Hürtgen Forest to be used as piling for fixed bridges in the British sector also we moved Engineer reports from place to place as needed.

Finally the "Battle of the Bulge" was over. Everyone started concentrating on the Roer River which had been flooded when the Germans demolished dams and by heavy rains. When the water went down enough to make the crossing we were moved up to build a bridge. It was only 175 feet but took 12 hours to build because both banks and approaches were very bad and fields on each side heavily mined.

Next came the Rhine River crossing, the one job we'd planned and worked on so long, it was the most perfectly timed, the best organized and best executed operation I've ever seen. We crossed at Wesel, Germany, in 17 1/2 hours we had our 1200 ft.

bridge completed and carrying traffic.

We stayed with the 9th Army till the Germans fell in that part then we were moved back to the 3rd Army where we built our last bridge at the Danube-Enns River intersection on the Austrian border, 6 days later the war ended.

Our unit participated in three campaigns, Northern France, Rhineland and Central Europe and has stacked up some very nice records of which we are very proud.

I'm now at an assembly area camp waiting for my 91 points to get me on a boat headed for home. After 4 1/2 years in the Army I hope I won't have too hard a time learning to be a civilian again.

Men To Be Allowed Long Shirt Tails, Fancy Pajamas

Men's shirts are being recon-verted. The War Production Board has lifted its ban on long shirt-tails, pleated bosoms and those fancy "French" cuffs that need cuff-links.

Men can also look forward to the return of fancy sleeping pants and lounging wear. It removed restrictions against collars, sashes and frogs—a decorative effect around button holes—on their apparel.

New First Graders Find School Days Are Busy Days

Every year with the beginning of a new term a large group of youngsters enroll for their first year of school. Youngsters who have been encompassed by family, friends, and Sunday School suddenly enter an entirely new world.

This year is no exception. Fifty-five children have started the first grade of a long road which leads to a formal education.

In the section which Mrs. J. A. Thomas teaches are: Charlene Baker, Ronnie Blacklock, Tony Bullard, Gene Burchard, Robert Carleton, Marthana Cearley, Everett Cutting, Allen Truett Fry, Raymond Gary, Jerry Hays, Raymond Martin, Francisca Martinez, Mickey Mccrow, Leslie Anita Nichols, Duane Odom, Maxene Oney, Ann Osborne, Jack Hains, Jerry Raina, Norman Dale Shedd, Robert Shedd, Opal Shaw, Janice Tisor, Treva Walker, Luree Walden, Gary Welch, Odell Williams and Alicia Villa.

In the section taught by Miss Laurine Richardson are: Donald Ray Ammons, Marian Bratcher, Wayne Briggs, Kenneth Bullard, Segundo Bustos, Don Clary, Corine Cotten, Guy Davis, Jr., Leon Davis, Jefon Danson, Wesley Guthrie, Kelly Don Francher, Dolores Harper, Donald Dean Harper, Lewis Holley, Ruben Jiminez, Connie Mae King, Don Wayne King, Ruby Montgomery, Dorothy May McElroy, Floyd Ray McElroy, Opaline Oney, Glenda Rose Pierce, Julia Smith, Alvie Weddle, James Williams, and James Carol Woodfin.

This being the fourth week of school we wondered how the children are progressing and about their reaction to school.

The teachers are very enthusiastic about their young charges, saying that they can see a great deal of progress. While it will be about two more weeks before pre-primers are issued, the children work on their letters and numbers. One child said "Oh, we have to learn to read before they give us a book."

The period which receives the most response and seems to provide the most enjoyment is the singing period. Each child gets to name his favorite selection to sing. They also enjoy the art period when they make posters; the best ones they hang for all to see.

The story hour when the teachers read to them is also a good time. The play periods are Mrs. Nellie Rodgers, former Post citizen, wrote The Dispatch this week from her new home in Dallas stating that her son, Joe Graham, was now at home after many months overseas as a member of the U. S. Army. Mr. Rodgers formerly operated Post Courts.

She went on to say that he was in much more combat than she told her about in his letters and that he saw many prisoners of war they were released from German camps in Germany. He didn't talk about many things she continued.

His wife and baby are with him while he is visiting his mother. En route to California after he picks up his discharge papers, he expects to visit Post friends.

The Woman's Culture club met Saturday for the beginning of a new year. Combining a social hour with the business, members gathered for a luncheon at the Elmer's Coffee Shop.

Following the meal, the club went into business session. Several matters were discussed. A report was given by the program chairman, Mrs. Ted Hibbs. Mrs. M. Robinson will serve as recording secretary in place of Mrs. John Ceasley, who resigned.

Mrs. J. P. Manly presided for the program which had for its theme "Federation." In her introductory remarks Mrs. Manly spoke of the late Mrs. Clara Driscoll and her work for federated clubs.

"America the Beautiful" was sung. Mrs. J. R. Durrett in a few well chosen words extended greetings to the new members, only one of whom could be present at the initial meeting.

Mrs. L. W. Kitchen read a bit of verse pertinent to club work and Misses W. L. Davis and Lee read prayers particularly fitting to present times and needs.

Mrs. T. L. Jones, club president, gave a summary of Federated clubs and their significance, paying stress to certain outstanding women.

Reception Held Sunday In Home of Mrs. J. B. Slaughter

Editor's Note—Mrs. John B. Slaughter of the famous U lazy S ranch graciously contributed the following write-up of a reception held at her home on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Slaughter is slowly recovering from a long period of illness and to hostess such a large party was quite an undertaking. She planned and executed a most successful party for members of her family and many guests.

The Dispatch is pleased to present her version of a very happy occasion which was genuinely enjoyed by all who attended.

"My Home On The Range" Reception Given By Mrs. John B. Slaughter

It gave much happiness to honor Thomas J. Wilborn and my dear Skeeter who were married on August 26, and my grandson, John Lott and his dear wife, Ryla, and their three children, Jack, Patricia Jean and Linda Lou last Sunday afternoon at "My Home on the Range," the U lazy S ranch.

John and his family moved here recently from Kansas City, Mo., to be with us in the carrying on of the U lazy S ranch which is under the directorship of our foreman, Mr. J. W. Satterwhite. Mr. and Mrs. Satterwhite are my next door neighbors and live in the headquarters house. They take care of our cowboys.

In the receiving line were Mr. Wilborn, Skeeter, John, Ryla, and their three children. The members of the Novelty Luncheon club composed the house party and assisted in the reception. They were: Misses Doug Morrel, Ollie Weakeley, Walter Roy, D. C. Williams, Irene Rodgers, A. C. Surman, Marshall Mason, Willard Kirkpatrick, G. W. Connell.

Mrs. J. A. Stallings furnished piano music during the reception hours.

So gratifying to me was to have the assistance of my nurse, Mrs. Frieda Horton, and also my colored help, Amanda Alexander in the kitchen, Austin Alexander taking care of the cars, and Lorenzo Alexander, my very faithful one, opening the door to the house as guests arrived.

I was most happy to receive about 50 guests between three and four o'clock. After they went down the receiving line they were ushered over to the guest book, then into the dining room where they were served with grape juice punch, lovely little cakes, cashew nuts and mints.

The pink gladiolous used throughout the house and refreshment table were sent by my daughter, Mrs. Mamie Lott, of Coral Gables, Florida.

At the conclusion of the party the guest book was presented to Tom and Skeeter.

All this made the reception a grand success—and to me it was my happiness to have so many of my friends present on this occasion.

Mrs. Ella Norene Jordan arrived in Post Friday en route to Denver, Colorado. With her were Misses Jo Tetton, Rose Evans and Helen Hawkins, all of Orlando, Florida. They spent the night with Mrs. Jordan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McCreman, and left early Saturday morning to spend Sunday in Santa Fe, New Mexico. Mrs. Jordan plans to enter the University of Denver.

Mrs. Tommy Anderson honored her niece, Sue Bell Brister, with a birthday party Saturday night.

The home was beautifully decorated with various colors of dahlia.

After several informal games were enjoyed, they came into the living room where many lovely gifts were opened.

Weiners were roasted in the back yard where tomatoes, onions, pickles, a three tiered birthday cake and punch were set on an outdoor table for the guests to serve themselves.

Those present were Elwanda Davies, La Rue Stevens, Anita Kennedy, Mary Ann Hundley, Mary Nell Bowen, Wayne Kennedy, Charles Bowen, James Barnes, Robert Smith and Leon Miller.

The boys left at 9 o'clock and the girls remained for a slumber party.

Cake, cookies, punch and mints were served to Marea Dean, Sherron Brooks, Sherrie Custer, Ray Charles Garner, Patsy Norman, Beverly Ann Norman, Johnny and Beth Ellen Kemp, Dannie Cockrum, Gerald and Darlene Carpenter, Benny Jo Clary and Linda Kay Bartlett.

The supper was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scarborough on September 16.

Giant dahlias in varied fall colors were used to decorate the buffet table and the chosen flowers were artistically arranged on the quartet tables. A delicious supper menu was served.

Anhara, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wood, sang "Happy Birthday" to her mother as the cake was brought in and served. Lovely birthday gifts were presented to Mrs. Wood.

Registering for the delightful occasion were the honor guests and Misses Judy White of Tahoka and Meiba Jo Miller, Messrs. David Weathers and David Evans, Messrs. and Mrs. Charlie Walden, Sr. of Tahoka and Wilf Scarborough.

Light As A Feather Is Forecast For Future Clothing

In the not too distant future when a clerk tells you that the suit you're considering buying is as light as a feather, it won't be a figure of speech. Scientists have developed a new fabric made principally from chicken feathers which looks like wool, but is warmer, softer and lighter than wool.

War shortages, which gave impetus to many make-do and mend methods, inspired the experiment with feathers. One hundred million pounds of chicken and turkey feathers going to waste every year became a problem for research for B. H. Foster, manager of a textile mill.

After separating the quills—using a machine especially designed for this purpose—the fine elements, called barbs, are mixed with other fibers and spun into yarn. The yarn is woven into cloth just as in any other textile.

Particularly adaptable for admixture with other staple textiles, such as rayon, cotton, wool and nylon, feather yarn can be dyed any color and has a brilliant lustre. Odorless, it launders with no more shrinkage than cotton. An the cost of the fabric can be kept low enough to permit it to be made into budget-priced items.

Feather-picking, it's predicted, will become quite an additional source of income to farmers. For every 38 broilers a farmer plucks it will mean the makings of a man's suit. Though the fabric, now in its laboratory stage, is not quite ready for yard goods counters, it may very well be that the chicken you're having for dinner (if you're lucky) contributed its coat to your next new suit.

Mrs. Elmer Howard is doing nicely after major surgery performed Wednesday of last week at Lubbock General Hospital. She will be able to return home next Sunday.

South Plains Crop Estimate Reduced

The South Plains cotton crop picture has changed considerably during the past few weeks and the estimate made by area cottonmen of a few weeks back has been revised downward. Latest figures indicate the South Plains will produce 86,000 bales as compared to last year's production of 125,000 bales.

Progress of the crop has been poor in dry weather, it has been pointed out, and high winds have damaged the crop 15 to 25 per cent, offsetting above normal improvement made in August.

Fee prospects are also poor, as high winds have damaged it heavily over the plains area.

REV. MOORE THANKS HIS CONGREGATION AND OTHERS FOR THEIR CO-OPERATION

It has been our happy privilege to serve the Church of the Nazarene in Post for the past three years as their pastor. It has been a pleasure to work with the good people of the church and friends outside the church in helping them to push forward the good work they are doing to spread the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ to the people.

We have been able to see the work grow in many ways. There has been a good number of members received in the church these three years and this has only been made possible by the help of the Lord and the co-operation and prayers of our good people.

We can say the fine group of people are in good faith and good fellowship with a good co-operating spirit that will keep the work going.

There is a great future for the Church, we believe, in Post.

We have enjoyed the good fellowship of the other fine churches of Post. The fellowship of the good members of the other churches and their good pastors have been outstanding, in which we are happy to say.

We will not soon forget the warm fellowship and friendly attitude the fine business men here have shown us. And as we go to our new field of labor in Wellington, we wish for all the good people of Post good luck in every way. We sign by saying God bless you every one.

THE ISRAELITES IN A FOREIGN LAND

LESSON TEXT--Genesis 47:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT--Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations.--Psalm 90:1.

Preparation of a great nation takes time. God wanted Israel to have opportunity to develop from a family to a nation so He arranged for them to have a place of refuge and of abundant provision while they grew. He had already made ready for them by sending Joseph into Egypt, and now the whole family of Jacob moved down.

Jacob's fears had been overcome by the vision of God (Gen. 46:1-4), in which he was assured that this was the outworking of God's purpose to make of him a "great nation." The promises to him and his forefathers were now in process of fulfillment. The man who believes God is privileged to see Him work. We find the family of Jacob

I. In Egypt, but Separated (vv. 1-6).

As he presented the representatives of his brethren to Pharaoh, Joseph made known that he had settled them in the land of Goshen, a favored spot well suited to their life as shepherds.

It is worthy of observation that while they were now in Egypt there was no thought of mingling with the Egyptians. They were to be a separated people living in a strange land. Only thus could the purity of the nation be maintained and a people suited for God's service be kept and made ready.

The application to the life of the Christian lies right at hand. In Scripture Egypt is a type of the world, where fleshly appetites are satisfied and where strange gods are worshiped. The Christian is to "come out from among them" and to be separate (II Cor. 6:14-18).

The tendency in our time is to minimize the importance of separation from worldliness and to regard those who preach and practice it as being narrow and old-fashioned. Say what you will, it is a fact that worldliness has robbed the Church of its spiritual power and of its real testimony for Christ.

As a matter of fact, the Christian is not narrow. He is as broad as the counsels of God, and the worldling who boasts of his "broad-mindedness" has often mistaken superficial fitness for real broadness.

II. Blessed, but Blessing (vv. 7-10).

Jacob and his family received many mercies at the hands of Pharaoh and his people, but they were not in the land just to be blessed but also to bring a blessing. The patriarch Jacob was brought by Joseph into the presence of Pharaoh. That noble son was not ashamed to bring his aged Hebrew father into the presence of the king. There he gave witness concerning his life. But he did something else--he blessed Pharaoh.

That scene speaks volumes to us as Christians. We are not of the world but we are in the world (John 17:15-17). We are to be a separated people for the glory of God, but that does not mean that we are not to bring blessing to those round about us. We are in the world not just to enjoy ourselves, but to make Christ known to others--to touch lives that are needy and addened and sin-sick.

It is also of interest that the blessing of Jacob was given to the man on the throne. We are apt to think of the poor and the underprivileged as needing the gospel and forget that the rich man in the house on the hill may be the most spiritually hungry in town.

III. Preserved, but Preparing (vv. 11, 12).

God sent His chosen people down into Egypt that they might not perish in the famine. He wanted them kept and nourished while they grew into the great people which He ultimately led out toward the Promised Land.

That was important, for had they not been preserved the promise of God could not have been fulfilled. But all the time they were being prepared for the great day of deliverance and blessing which was to come.

Applying the truth once again to the Christian believer, it is not enough just to be safe in Christ. That is precious but it is not enough; there must be growth in grace.

Some Christians are saved and kept all right, but it is just a matter of being "preserved" and put on a shelf. They are of no earthly use unless it is to be exhibited, and that kind of a Christian is not really worth showing off.

Then, too, some of the saints are preserved but not in sweetness. They are evidently preserved by pickling, sour, unpleasant people sometimes called "vinegar saints." God deliver us from that kind of preservation! May we be kept in such a way that we are ready to witness for God!

It's About Time-- To Change Time

Recognizing the unpopularity of "daylight saving time" the Senate Thursday unanimously approved and sent to the White House a measure ending the war time act at 2 a. m., September 30.

Since January 20, 1942, when the daylight saving time act went into effect, there have been hundreds of complaints against it. The arguments are many but virtually all of them are based on the fact that it forces people to get up too long before sunrise.

In winter this has also worked an extra hardship on school children.

Since it is no longer necessary, the clocks in the nation will be set back an hour on Sunday, September 30 when war time officially gives way to peace time once more.

PRESIDENT TO CARRY ON PARALYSIS DRIVES

President Truman will carry on the Franklin D. Roosevelt tradition of broadcasting an appeal Jan. 30 for funds to fight polio. That is the late president's birthday.

Basil O'Connor, president of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, disclosed this plan and said the drive next year will include memorial concerts in the various cities instead of the customary "birthday balls. The march of times and other forms of money raising will continue. Drives last January netted over $16,000,000.

New Houses

ing Administration.
Priority for securing material has been provided by approval of the H-2 building plan given by the National Housing agency. The agency last week granted Post approval on 25 units, but it was deemed unwise by the Board to build that many units at this time.

George Samson, local contractor, has been made supervisor of the project and will also assist in securing the building funds.

Present plans call for expanding the project and providing adequate housing facilities for mill employees. Construction work is expected to get underway within the next few weeks.

County Calf Show

er, Jr.

Open class for breeding gilts, 5 gilts,
Fat calves, 8 calves.
Dairy heifers, 2 heifers.

There is one entry in each of the following classes, Poultry, Breeding Sows, Fat Barrows, Cotton and Grain Sorghum; therefore, there will not be any classes set up for these entries since there is only one entry in each. There will be eight gilts in the County Sears' Gilt Show, and these gilts must be shown in accordance with the agreement signed by the boy and his parents in order for the boy to retain possession of the gilt, also the winner of this show must show in the district in Lubbock on October 6, 1945 in order to receive the $100.00 Registered Jersey Heifer which the county winning gilt will be awarded for having won the County Show. Also the Sears' Boar in the county must be shown at Lubbock to compete for a $100.00 Registered Jersey heifer which will be awarded to the 1st place boar in the district and possibly one to the second place boar.

The grand champion calf will be entered and shown at the Pan-American Hereford show at Dallas early in November.

Boys who have breeding gilts 4 to 8 months of age, fat calves, or dairy heifers and have not sent in the entry for the show, should do so immediately. To turn in an entry, contact either Miss Sybil Teaff at the County Agent's office, or George Samson.

In the open class for breeding gilts the five top Sears gilts will not be allowed to compete, because each of them will receive from the Sears Foundation a prize ranging from the Jersey heifer for first place, and 25 baby chicks, or 63 broad breasted turkey eggs, or 32 broad breasted turkey poult for second place, and the 3rd through 5th places will each receive 100 chicks, or 50 turkey eggs, or 25 turkey poult. The bottom Sears' gilts may be entered in the open class.

Local Prizes Offered
Post Chamber of Commerce is offering $50.00 in prizes for open class entries and the Graham and Close City Gils are offering $100 in this event, making a total of build exhibit pens and a show to work toward.

The entire County Show will be judged by Fred Hale, Swine Husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station, Texas.

Club Boys Asked To Bring Lumber For Pens

George Samson is asking that boys who plan to enter gilts and boars bring side boards to help build exhibit pens and a show ring. Since new lumber is not available it is believed this help from 4-H boys will take care of the exhibit pens. Boys are asked to be ready to help build exhibit pens by one o'clock the day of the show.

War Chest Drive

question: "With the fighting over in Europe and the war with Japan won, why can't the work of the National War Fund agencies be substantially cut or even concluded?"

It is answered thus: "National War Fund agencies are handling the peak load of the war period right now—and for the next six months they will be busier than ever. When the 'shooting' war ends armies do not fold up overnight. Neither do services in their behalf. When hostilities cease starving, homeless people don't suddenly wake up to find they are enjoying the life abundant. Then, and only then, can the necessities of life, which we call relief, be made available."

President Truman, in his Aug. 9 report to the people, said "Victory in a great war is not something you can win once and for all, like victory in a ball game. Victory in a great war is something that must be won and kept won. It can be lost after you have won it—if you are careless or negligent or indifferent."

This year funds are needed for the USO benefit for occupation soldiers in far distant places, for the trainees who will replace them and for the wounded here at home; a full budget for United Seamen's Service; for War Prisoners Aid, until every American prisoner is repatriated and restored to health; a full measure of relief to the homeless and sick in Europe, in the Philippines and in China.

Last year Garza county far exceeded her quota and this year, especially, since this will be the last drive, it is hoped that again Garza county will head the list of those who give a Texas share.
