Gems Of Thought

ZEAL

True zeal is a strong, steady, uniform, benevolent affection; but false zeal is a strong, demagogic, boisterous, selfish passion.
—Emmons

Whether zeal or moderation be the point we aim at, let us keep fire out of the one, and frost out of the other.
—Addison

A true man never frets about his place in the world, but just slides into it by the gravitation of his nature, and awings there as easily as a star.
—E. H. Chapin

The secret heart is devotion's temple; there the saint lights the flame of purest sacrifice, which burns unseen but not unaccepted.

Minute of Prayer

Inspired by the late President's suggestion to pray for an early Victory, made at the time of the Pearl Harbor tragedy. This prayer is that of

THE REV. RICHARD D.
RALPH W. SOCKMAN
Minister, Christ Church
New York City

Let us pray:
O Lord, God and Father of mankind, and in anger, but in patience, we come before Thee. Not in fear, but in faith; we put our trust in Thee. O God, merciful and pitiful to the leaders of our nation. Comfort and sustain the soldiers and fathers of the world who are with us in the hour of our need.
O Lord, God, grant the triumph of right over might that peace may come.
Through Jesus Christ our Lord.
Amen.

IGNORANCE IN SCHOOLS

A grammar school student writing a composition on the difference between public and private ownership says: "A public utility is something usually owned and run by the government that is for all the people's convenience, as street cars, buses, post office, electric company, etc. All different classes of people are allowed to use them. Public ownership is when the whole city or county has charge of the utilities but private ownership is when a person controls it and gets rich on something the whole population needs. The money in public ownership goes to the city while in private just a chosen few get rich."

Apparently many parents and teachers are disgracefully uninformed on the simplest fundamentals of American life. Public utilities in the United States are not "usually" owned by government.
Over 40 per cent of our electric industry is privately owned—but instead of a chosen few who reap tremendous profits at the expense of the people, it is owned by hundreds of thousands of persons and institutions, such as life insurance companies, who have invested individual savings in electric company stocks and bonds to the tune of twelve or fifteen billion dollars. These billions have been given the United States the cheapest and best electric service in the world. As far as profits are concerned, that is a laugh! When the tax collector and regulatory authorities get through with the average private electric company, the so-called "chosen few" are left wondering whether the reward is worth the effort—they hold the sack while the government gets the gravy in taxes.

V-E DAY AND JOBS

While the matter is of personal concern to nearly all of us outside the armed forces, just what effect V-E Day will have on our jobs remained something of an unanswered riddle this week. We know, however, that virtually all operating businesses will continue at full blast, and we know further that no widespread unemployment will be an aftermath of this war.

Those with jobs in agriculture, trades and services, stores, transportation, government service and self employment need not worry about V-E Day affecting their jobs. If anything, V-E Day brought about more work, just a little more effort on our part and the grim determination to carry through to security during the post-war period. —Scurry County Times

AUDIENCE COURTESY

He walked up the aisle toward the stage and every neck in the audience was craned to get a better view of him. He walked on the stage and began his speech.
All the people were absorbed for awhile but soon some began to get restless and started moving, talking and whispering among themselves. The speaker grew discouraged and abruptly ended his speech. The people who had been interested gave him much applause. This visibly brightened him, and he answered questions with alacrity.

If you aren't interested in the speech, maybe someone else is.

saying and they can hear better if everyone is quiet. —Exchange

Mighty Fleet Paved Way
For Invasion of Okinawa Big Guns Pulverized Island in Covering Landings of Troops

By Ernie Pyle

Editor's Note: Ernie Pyle was several dispatches ahead when he met death from a Jap machine gun on the island. This newspaper will continue to print these for a few weeks.

OKINAWA.—Now that we are ashore in full force upon the Japanese island of Okinawa I would like to go back and tell you in detail how the invasion went off.
As our regimental commander said the night before the landing:
"All I'm worried about is getting past the first two days when we're on our own and will have to improvise to meet every situation. But after that we will be established and from then on we can just go by the book."

The first two days are over—accomplished with an ease that had everybody flabbergasted. By evening of the first day we had done much more than the most optimistic planner figured we could in the first three days. So from now on it's "by the book."

For some reason which I haven't lathamed yet the conventional name of D-Day was changed for this invasion to "Love Day." Possibly it was because we were landing on Easter Sunday and somebody fell the spirit of brotherly love.

At any rate when dawn came on Love Day and the pink, rising sun lifted the shroud of Oriental darkness around us, we were absolutely appalled.

For all our main convoys had converged and there they lay round us in one gigantic fleet, stretching for miles. There were around 1,500 ships and thousands of small landing craft which the ships had carried with them.

There weren't as many small ships as at Normandy, but in naval power and actual force of men and fighting strength it was equally as big as the invasion of Europe. We certainly didn't go at Okinawa in any half-hearted manner.

Ham and Eggs—

Then It's Business

We had ham and eggs for breakfast at 4:30 a. m. We strapped our unwieldy packs on our backs. Our heavier gear was left aboard to be taken ashore several days later.

It was only half light when we went on deck. You could see flame flashes on the horizon toward shore. The men on the deck were dark and indistinguishable forms.

Our assault transport carried many landing craft (LCVPs) on deck. They were lifted by a derrick and swung over the side. We piled into them as they hung even with the rail. Then the winch lowered them into the water.

I went on the first boat to leave our ship. It was just breaking dawn when we left. It was still more than two hours before H-Hour. Our long ocean trip was over. The days we had reluctantly counted off were all gone. Our time had run out. This was it.

All around us hundreds of other boats were putting off and churning the water, but there was no organization to it. They weren't yet forming into waves. These early boats carried mainly the control crews who would manage the colossal traffic of shore-bound invasionists in the next few hours.

An assault on an enemy shore is a mighty organized thing. It is so intricately organized, so abundant in fine detail that it would be impossible to clarify it all in your mind.
No single man in our armed forces knows everything about an invasion.

But just to simplify one point—Suppose we were invading an enemy beach on a four-mile front.
It is not as you would think, one over-all invasion. Instead it is a dozen or more little invasions, simultaneously and side by side.
Each team runs its own invasion.
A combat team is a regiment. Our regimental commander and his staff were on the little control ship. Thus our control ship directed only the troops of our regiment.

"We had beaches 'Yellow One' and 'Yellow Two.' Troops of our regiment formed waves directly off those beaches, miles at sea, and went straight in.
Other control ships on either side, having nothing to do with us, directed other waves having nothing to do with us. Each was its own private little show.

As I'd written before, war is an individual is hardly ever bigger than a hundred yards on each side of him. And that's the way it was with us in Okinawa.

An hour and a half before H-Hour at Okinawa, our vast naval fleet began its final, mighty bombardment of the shore with its big guns. They had been at it for a week, but this was a concentration whose fury hadn't been as proached before.

Bombardment of

Shore Deafening

The power of the thing was ghastly. Great sheets of flame would flash out from a battery of guns, gray brownish smoke would puff up in a huge cloud, then the crash of sound and concussion would carry across the water and hit you. Multiply that by hundreds and you have bedlam.

Now and then the smoke from a battleship would come out in a smoke ring, an enormous one, 30 or 40 feet across, and float upward with perfect symmetry.

Then came our carrier planes, diving on the beaches. And torpedoes plunged, carrying heavy bombs and incendiaries that spread deep red flame.

Smoke and dust rose up from the shore, thousands of feet high, until finally the land was completely veiled.

Bombs and strafing machine guns and roaring engines mingled with the blended crash of naval bombardment and seemed to drown out all existence.

The water was a turmoil of movement. Dispatch and control boats were running about. LSMs and LSTs were moving slowly forward to their unloading areas.

Motor torpedo boats dashed around as guides. Even the destroyers moved majestically across the sea as they closed up for the bombardment of the shore.

From our little control ship and the scores like it, waves of assault craft were directed, advised, hurried up, or slowed down.

H-Hour was set for 8:30. By 8
a. m. directions were being radioed and a voice boomed out to sea to form waves 1 and 2, to hurry up, to get things moving.

Our first wave consisted solely of heavy guns on amphibious tanks which were to wade ashore and blast out the pillboxes on the beaches.
One minute behind them came the second wave—the first of our foot troops.

After that, waves came at about 10-minute intervals. Wave 3 was on its way before wave 1 ever hit the beach. Wave 15 was moving up before wave 6 got to the beach.
That's the way it went.

We were on the control boat about an hour. I felt miserable and that awful weight was still on my heart.
There's nothing romantic whatever in knowing that an hour from now you may be dead.

Some officers I knew came aboard.
They weren't going ashore until afternoon. They wanted to talk. I simply couldn't carry on a conversation. I just couldn't talk.

Word came by radio that waves 1 and 2 were ashore without much opposition and there were no mines on the beaches. So far, so good.

We looked at the shore through binoculars. We could see tanks moving across the fields and the men of the second wave walking toland, standing upright. There were a few splashes in the water at the beach, but we couldn't make out any real fire coming from the shore.

It was all very indefinite and yet it was indicative. The weight began to lift. I wasn't really conscious of it, but I found myself talking more easily with the sailors, and somehow the feeling gradually took hold of me that we were to be spared. The 16th wave was to pick us up as it came by. I didn't even see it approaching. Suddenly they called my name and said the boats were alongside.

I grabbed my pack and ran to the rail. I'm glad they came suddenly like that. The sailors shouted, "Good luck," over and over and waved us off. We were on our way.

Marines Find Perfect Defense Position

After a couple of days with the headquarters of the marine regiment I moved to a company and moved and marched with them for several days. The company is a part of the First Marine Division, a very hard-bitten outfit.

The company was on a hill about 1,000 yards long and about a hundred yards wide. The men were set in down the sides of the hill.

There was a mortar platoon at the foot of the hill, all set up to throw mortars any direction.

"This is the most perfect defensive position we've ever had in our lives," the company commander said. "One company could hold off a whole battalion for days. If the Japs had detected these hills they could have kept us fighting for a week."

Thoughts On Religion

We need religion—not a shallow stream of piety that runs on Sabbath Day.

We need religion that is not like a trolley car which we ride on only while it is going our way.

We need religion that will measure 16 ounces to the pound and to which a false balance is an abomination.

Whatever makes men good Christians makes them good citizens.

We need more square guys than square acres.

The true test of civilization is not the census, not the size of cities, not the crops, but the kind of men the country turns out.

3 On A Match

How Superstition Was Employed To Increase Sales

Thousands upon thousands of people regard it as most unlucky for more than 2 people to light from a single match.

This popular superstition is said to have been originated by Ivar Krugger, famous Swedish match king, to increase the use and sale of matches.

Authentic records show that it did exactly that.

Only half as many hospital beds are available per 1000 persons in the South as in the rest of the country.

Death rates in the South for tuberculosis, malaria, pellagra, in-disease tower above those of the nation.

WAR PRISONERS TO BE USED IN AGRICULTURE

The War Food Administration announced that it has been agreed by the War Department that increased numbers of prisoners of war will be available this year for agricultural work. The WFA office of Labor reported that a total of 85,000 war prisoners will be used in contract work in a period through July as agricultural laborers. Last year approximately 65,000 prisoners of war were available. The men will be assigned through the nine service command areas of the Army. The type of farm work they engage in will be determined by the directors of State Extension Service. WFA will request an even larger number of POW's for farm work in the peak of the fall harvesting season.

Roosevelt's Appeal for 7th War Loan

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Before his death President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued a statement in support of the Mighty Seventh War Loan for 14 billions of dollars in which he reminds the Nation it is still locked in a deadly struggle with its enemies.

The President stressed the importance of greater production together with the buying and holding of War Bonds to help achieve the victory. He said:

MR. ROOSEVELT

"I don't need to tell you that we are still locked in a deadly struggle with our enemies—the enemies of our way of life—and the war is still the chief job of each one of us. The greatest production of which we are capable, faithful adherence to regulations that make it possible to supply our boys in battle with everything they need, and buying and holding War Bonds—these are things we at home must do to speed victory.

"In the past three years more than 85 millions of Americans have invested billions of dollars in bonds. Never before have so many people held such a direct share in a great national effort. To save—to buy and to hold all we can for war bonds—this is a small service to ask of us who do not fight—yet it is one of the biggest things we can do for our fighting men."

MRS. HAYES HOLMAN AIRLINES PURCHASER

BETWEEN THE TESTAMENTS

LESSON TEXT—Malachi 2:1-3, 15, 17; Luke 1:68, 72, 77, 78; Galatians 4:4-5. GOLDEN TEXT—I am the way, the truth, and the life.—John 14:6.

Four hundred silent years—such is the period between the Old and the New Testaments. There was no voice from God during those years, and spiritual darkness prevailed largely in the land. But there were those who kept their lamp of faith in God rightly shining even in the darkness.

The political history of Israel during this time is partially known from secular sources. Palestine was successively under the rule of the Gentile powers until at the time of Jesus' birth they were under Roman domination.

Spiritually that age may well be described by the words used in II Timothy 3:3, "having the form of godliness but denying the power thereof," referring to the last days. There is much here that fits our day's decadent churchliness.

I. Looking for the Lord (Mal. 3:1-3).

Although they had reached the state of spiritual pride and self-sufficiency where they talked back to God (see the "whereins" of 1:6, 7; 2:14, 17, etc.) Israel still talked about looking for the Lord to come. They knew from their prophets that He would one day come to judge their enemies, and they longed for that day; but they failed to see that it would be a day of judgment for them (vv. 2, 3).

How much like those of our day who like to talk about the love of God. His mercy and His long-suffering, but who minimize or forget that He hates sin and demands boldness of life from His people.

The forerunner of Christ, John the Baptist, is in mind in verse 1, but the "messenger of the covenant" is doubtless the "angel of Jehovah," one of the Old Testament names for our Lord Jesus (see John 8:26).

Christ is coming! Such is the message to Israel, and He will come as a refiner's fire. Christ has come! That is our message to men now, and He has come as a divider of men, a cleanser and refiner of hearts, that we, too, may be ready for that day of judgment which is to come when He appears again in all His glory.

II. Living for the Lord (Mal. 3:16, 17).

When others forgot or misrepresented the Lord, when they were content with a formal worship without the power of godly living, there were a faithful group who "spoke one to another" about the Lord. How exceedingly precious!

Notice that the Lord "hearkened and heard." He knows when His people so much as talk to one another about Him, and He notes it in His book of remembrance. When men are forgetting Him, He is remembering those who are true to Him. They are His precious jewels!

How vitally important Christian fellowship is in a dark and troubled day. Do not miss the joy and strength which will come into your life as you join others in God's house to speak of Him and to think "on His name." He may be all we have (that was true in Israel), but He is always and eternally enough.

III. Light from the Lord (Luke 1:68, 72, 77, 78).

The silence of the 400 years was broken, and the spiritual darkness which beclouded the land was pushed back. God, who had in the past spoken through the prophets, now spoke through the coming of His Son (Heb. 1:1-3). Being the Light of the world (John 8:12; 9:5), He shone forth with the "brightness of His glory."

Little wonder that godly Zacharias, the father of the forerunner John, sings, "Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, for he hath visited and redeemed his people" (v. 68).

He of whom all the prophets give witness, to whom every one of the sacrifices pointed forward, the Saviour and Redeemer, has come to show forth God's mercy and to give, not only to Israel, but in all men, "the knowledge of salvation" and the remission of their sins.

The "dayspring" is at hand; a Light has shined forth into the darkness of men's hearts. Jesus the Christ, the Saviour, has come!

IV. Liberty in the Lord (Gal. 4:4, 5).

Men who had been servants under the law became sons of God in Jesus Christ. Redemption sets a person free from the bondage of the law and brings him into the family of God as His child (Rom. 8:14-17).

How does one become a child of God? By accepting God's only way of cleansing from sin (Heb. 9:11-14, 22)—the shed blood of Christ. Believing in Him and making confession of Him before the world (Rom. 10:9, 10), we are saved and have the right to call ourselves the sons of God (John 1:12, 13).

That blessed liberty in Christ is for you who read these lines, if you will but turn to Christ now! Will you do it?

Woman's Culture Club Closes Year's Work Wednesday

The Woman's Culture club met Wednesday, May 23, for the final meeting of a very busy club year. At one o'clock thirteen members and four guests enjoyed a delicious luncheon at the Algelita Coffee Shop. The long table was made especially attractive by the bouquets of roses and Queen Anne lace arranged in crystal bowls. Place cards bore flower pictures and were handprinted by a club daughter, Iris Parker.

The entertainment feature was the presentation by Mrs. Tom Bouchier of the story of a Scotch-Irish boy as he grew up in a strange home as written in the enjoyable book "The Green Years" by A. J. Cronin. In her own charming manner Mrs. Bouchier made her hearers see the characters and realize the beauty of the story.

After going into business session the club heard a lovely greeting from Mrs. J. B. Slaughter. Written in verse, it expressed her regret at being absent and her best wishes for the club ship organized so many years ago.

Mrs. Jones paid a very nice tribute to the Used Clothing Drive Committee which was headed by Mrs. J. R. Durrett. Mrs. D. C. Williams and Ted Hibbs served on the committee.

Several letters were read and a contribution was made to the Cancer Control Fund. One name was presented for re-instatement on the club roll and three names were presented for new members.

Guests present for this meeting were Mrs. Bouchier, Haws, Surman and Miss Maxine Durrett. Members were Mrs. Jones, Durrett, Manly, Edwards, Hibbs, Parker, McFlea, Kitchen, Snowden, Young, Hodge, Presson and Cearley.

Marshall, King Pledge Victory to 'Bond Front'

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Army has overcome what in the past would have seemed to have been insurmountable obstacles and the Navy has promised full unconditional surrender. Chief of Staff General George C. Marshall and Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King said today, in commenting on the Mighty Seventh War Loan.

"We in the Army have overcome what in the past would have seemed to have been insurmountable obstacles. So have you. That is where the enemy miscalculated—for to Americans, nothing has ever been impossible. Yours is a hard task—a heavy responsibility. But we of the Army have confidence that you will again achieve the impossible."

Admiral King said: "We have had two wars to wage. One of those wars is just beginning. That means that your own labors, far from over, are also just beginning. The Navy, like the Army, has one objective. The unconditional surrender of the enemy. We will attain that objective because of people of good faith. People who have demonstrated their patriotism and their willingness to undertake the most gigantic financial task ever undertaken by a free people."

Those opposed to such amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the following: "AGAINST the amendment to Article VI of the Constitution of Texas, providing that any person in the armed forces of the United States, or the Armed Force Reserve of the United States, or of any component part thereof, or of the United States Maritime Service, or the United States Merchant Marine, or who has been a member of same within eighteen months prior to the holding of any election in this state authorized by law, and is otherwise a qualified voter, shall not be required to pay, or to hold a receipt for the payment of, a poll tax in order to vote at any such election, if same is held while the United States is at war or within a certain stated time thereafter."

Soil Conservation District News

The Supervisors of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District held their regular monthly meeting Thursday, May 24, at Spur. A business session was held before noon. Soil conservation plans were approved on three farms for this part of the district. They were farms belonging to W. D. Thaxton, Roy B. James and Marvin T. Nason. In the afternoon the Supervisors went to the Cliff Bird Ranch where they observed the results of Conservation District planting. Mr. Bird has an abundance of side-sprouts and other desirable grasses on hillsides that were bare in 1940. He attributes the remarkable improvement to complete rest during the entire growing season of the past year of 1941, and conservation checking since that time.

The southeast corner of Garza county was treated to a welcome shower last Thursday night. Lee Reed of Justiceburg reported 71 inches, but it is believed that it rained more than that south and east of Justiceburg. Novis Rodgers said that three of his tanks ran around. It was reported that the waterline of the Santa Fe Lake at Justiceburg rose seven feet.

County equipment has been used to build some terraces for S. W. Webb and J. O. Roberts, and is now being used to construct terraces for Story Roberts, Bud Stevens and Henry Aten have had their terraces built up.

Harvey Smallwood Moves Supplies On Okinawa

With the 7th Infantry Division on Okinawa, May 30—One of the worst things that can happen to one in the Pacific theatre of war is to be caught near the front alone at night, and Cpl. Harvey C. Smallwood, 29, of Post, is somewhat of an authority on such situations.

The roads on Okinawa are ribbons of mud. Yet the supplies must reach the men of the front to avoid major setbacks. So the drivers have their share of trouble when it rains, which it does frequently here in the Ryukyus. Late one afternoon while on the way to the front, Smallwood's truck became mired in an isolated area and he still was stuck when darkness began falling with tropical suddenness. Just as night set in another vehicle pulled him out. Disregarding danger to himself and his truck the Texan went roaring ahead and the food and ammunition reached the men.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Smallwood of Post, the corporal was engaged in farming before entering the army in March, 1941, nine months before Pearl Harbor.

Phil Foreman, first class petty officer of the U. S. Navy, spent several days here with his aunts, Miss Nora Stevens and Mrs. Walter Hyde. He has just completed several weeks of gunnery school at Washington. He left yesterday for San Francisco where he will be reassigned. His sister, Mrs. Gene Foreman Hill of Waco, met him here for the short visit.

Guests in the F. C. McNally home Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Benefield and children, Mr. and Mrs. James Landtroop of Plainview, Mrs. Helen Doerrrie of Perryton and T-Sgt. James McNally.

President Osmena Predicts Japs Will Be Hard To Beat

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Sergio Osmena of the Philippines, now in process of complete reconquering from the Japanese and from which General Douglas MacArthur's land forces under Admiral Chester Nimitz will swing into final action against the enemy, today issued a statement in behalf of the Mighty Seventh War Loan.

OSMENA

President Osmena's statement was released by Brigadier General Carlos P. Romulo, resident commissioner of the Philippines to the United States, at the Philippine offices here. President Osmena said: "Needless to say, we Filipinos are very pleased with the signal successes achieved by the United States and her allies during recent months. After a long and hard struggle, the Germans have been pushed to the brink of overwhelming defeat and the end of the war in Europe is now clearly in sight. "In the Pacific, our gains have been no less impressive. Under the inspiring leadership of such men as General MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz, the Japanese have been dislodged from one position after another in their ill-gotten empire. In this connection, my people and I are extremely grateful that the Philippines are now being liberated from the tyrannical rule of the enemy.

"Happy as I am that my country will soon be able to live in peace again, much remains to be done before Japan is fully beaten. Aside from the additional campaigns which will be needed to obtain military victory in the Pacific, there is also the human factor to be considered in that other peoples of the Far East eagerly await to be freed from the enemy. We Filipinos know only too well from experience what it means to be under Japanese domination.

"One of the outstanding feats of the war has undoubtedly been the effective fashion in which the United States has overcome the formidable obstacles of distance in supplying the Pacific. Large quantities of supplies will be needed, however, to deliver the final crushing blows against a ruthless and fanatical enemy. All of us can make certain that these supplies are available for our armed forces by giving enthusiastic support to the Seventh War Loan Drive."

Pat Carlson Sees Plenty of Action As Radar Operator

Pat Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Long, has been in on almost every invasion in Pacific Theatre of War since he has been in that area. Pat is a radar operator on a flagship and has the rank of second class petty officer.

His mother received a message from him on Mother's Day in which he stated he might be home in August and he thought it would be for keeps.

The radar officer is permitted now to reveal to his parents some of the places he has been. Among the latest and of course the most hazardous was the mission in Japan's front yard. The ship was within 35 miles of the main island of Japan. His first battle was that for the Marshall Islands.

Pat entered service two years ago and has been overseas 20 months. After leaving the states he went first to Pearl Harbor, then to Australia and later to Guam from which point operations are briefed.

His brother, Walter Gene, is also in the Pacific area. He is assigned to a submarine and has been serving as instructor in some phases of submarine warfare. He has been in service two years. He was in Post last summer on leave.

A. C. Surman and David Gossett, medical students of the U. S. Army stationed in Galveston returned last week after spending their furloughs with parents here.

Varied Duties Are Experienced By Orville Cearley

Orville F. Cearley, Mach. Mate 1-c of the U. S. Navy visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Cearley, last week while on leave from the Naval hospital in Virginia. He is being treated for an old leg injury and after one more treatment he will report to the Navy Yard in New York for further duty.

Orville entered the Navy in January 1942 from Tulsa, Oklahoma, where he was a member of the Fire Department. His job there, with seniority, will be waiting at the end of his naval service.

Boot training was taken at San Diego. Further work was done in Norfolk and New York. Out of two years Atlantic duty 16 months were spent in Iceland. His work was in the engine room of an oil tender for PBV planes.

During this time his ship was once attacked by German bombers with little damage done to the ship. The two German planes were shot down by a P-38.

His ship was stationed in Bristol, England, for a 3 month period late in 1943.

When questioned about some of the things that had happened, he insisted he was only an "ordinary seaman, nothing happens to me" but he mentioned the only U-boat action he saw. During a trip to Archangel, Russia, his ship had two run-ins with German submarines about 200 miles off Spitzbergen, Norway.

Just recently Cearley has completed 12 months of Caribbean service. Eight months was spent

Vernon Giles Is Back In States From 11 Months In Italy

Vernon Giles, husband of Mrs. Madge Anthony Giles, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Giles, is back in five states after being overseas for eleven months. Vernon called his family here Monday night to inform them that he was back in the good old USA and that he would be home soon on a thirty day furlough.

He has been with the 15th Air Force in Italy and is a member of the famous 449th Bomb Squadron that received the Presidential Citation for its many exploits in action during the bitter months of fighting in that area.

En route to Kansas City where he was to report before receiving his furlough he stopped over in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and had an opportunity to call his sister, Adeline, who lives there.

His wife and baby have been making their home here with her parents and of course are eagerly awaiting his homecoming as are other members of the family.

Mrs. Robert Davis, the former Lyall Pickett, received a long distance telephone call from her husband, Chief Petty Officer Robert Davis, a few days ago. He was in the states for a few hours liberty. The ship to which he is assigned is operating in the Pacific.

at a base north of New Orleans where he operated a power house. Four months were spent on a mine sweeper which operated from New Orleans to Cuba, Panama, Trinidad and back.

Orville left Post Friday for Annapolis for his return trip in Virginia.

George E. Self To Return To U. S.

With the AAF Engineer Command in Italy—Corporal Technician George E. Self of Post, who has been constructing airfields the 15th Engineer Aviation Battalion in the Mediterranean Area of Operations for the past thirty-four months, will soon return to the U. S. With this veteran unit.

"First all the way," has been the slogan of the 15th Engineers ever since June 1942 when they landed in England, the first AAF unit on British soil. The first AAF unit ashore again at North Africa and Sicily, they have always been chosen for and have fulfilled completely the toughest assignments. At Licata, Sicily, for instance, after landing on D-Day, they constructed a sorely-needed strip in only 18 hours. Company 'A' of the 15th was the heroic unit which maintained the strip at Anzio that provided the only local air cover, despite an almost continuous enemy artillery curtain aimed at knocking out the field.

After the beachhead had broken up, and following the fall of Rome, the battalion, acting in its own sense of duty without any orders from higher headquarters, kept pace with the advancing infantry, constructing one airfield after another to provide fighter cover over the front lines. By the time the German lines stiffened above Leghorn, they had built nine airfields, removed hundreds of mines, and performed many incidental combat engineer services for the ground forces.

With almost three years of airfield building behind them, these veterans are returning to the U. S., having contributed approximately 70 airfields worked on to the Mediterranean air war. The battered equipment which they operated during 36 epochal months is no longer serviceable but their spirit has emerged as strong as ever, the same spirit which will repeat itself in an overwhelming victory in the air above Japan.

Mrs. Clarence Taylor, the former Frances Hartman, has arrived in Post to make her home temporarily with her mother. She has been in Frederick, Oklahoma, with her husband who is in the U. S. Army. He was recently transferred to Chanute Field, Ill.

An order has been placed by the Lions club for house numbers to be used in the improvement project now underway by the club. Numbers are of plastic as metal numbers were not available.

Posts for street names are already painted and work on naming the streets is to begin quite soon.

The full cooperation of all citizens is urgently requested when solicitors for information on house numbers and are asked to buy a directory in order that expansion of the most worthwhile project can go forward.

The advantages of having streets named, houses numbered are numerous and favorable comment and endorsement have been given the project.
