Thirtieth Year

was in recognition of his outstanding services as a zone chairman. Nelson, of Childress, is governor of District 27-1, Lions International. Starks, who lives in Amarillo, is district governor-elect.—(Dispatch Staff Photo.)

Absentees May Vote Now On Consolidation

Absentee voting is under way in the five-district school consolidation election set for Saturday, June 30, and will continue until three days before election.

Qualified voters of the Southland, Graham, Garza and Close City districts may cast absentee votes at the county clerk's office here, and those of the Grassland district may vote absentee at the Lynn County clerk's office in Tahoka.

It has been announced that all qualified voters—those who have poll tax receipts or are exempt by reason of age from paying a poll tax—are eligible to vote in the consolidation election.

If the consolidation carries, only qualified property taxpayers will be eligible to vote in the bond election which will be called for construction of a school building.

County Supt. Dean A. Robinson said Tuesday that there are around 475 or 485 scholastics in the five districts in which the consolidation elections have been called. This figure includes 410 whites and 24 Negroes in the four Garza County districts.

If the consolidation issue carries and bonds are voted for a school building, it is expected that the new school will be ready in time for the 1957-58 term, Robinson said.

Voting in the June 30 consolidation election will be at the school houses in the five districts.

New Soil Bank Program To Be Explained Here Friday Night

The government's new Soil Bank program will be explained to Garza County farmers, businessmen and others interested in agriculture at a meeting at 8 o'clock Friday night in the Post Elementary School auditorium, it has been announced by Emmarhe I. Hartel, office manager for the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Mrs. Hartel will be assisted by County Agent Lewis C. Herron in discussing and explaining the Soil Bank program. They received data on the program at a district ASC meeting held in Lubbock Tuesday. Also attending the meeting were Ida Mae Wilks of the ASC office, ASC committee members Will Wright and Avery Moore Jr. and Hansel Hallman.

The ASC office manager said Wednesday that the importance of farmers and others interested in the Soil Bank program attending Friday night's meeting could not be stressed too greatly. All the data received by the Garza County group at Tuesday's meeting in Lubbock will be passed on to those attending the meeting here, she said.

Regulations and procedures for the 1956 Acreage Reserve Program of the Soil Bank were detailed at the meeting in Lubbock. It was the first detailed information for ASC staffs concerning the Soil Bank operation.

Under the 1956 Acreage Reserve Program of the Soil Bank farmers who are eligible to take part in the program may earn payments in connection with one or more of the commodities specified in the law—corn, wheat, upland or extra long staple cotton, peanuts (except for two varieties), rice and most types of tobacco.

Basic rules of the eligibility specify that acreage distributed for the reserve must:

1. Be representative of the land used for the crop.

2. Result in the harvesting of an acreage of the basic crop less than the farm allotment or base acreage.

3. Not be grazed, cut for hay or cropped for the entire 1956 calendar year.

Noxious weeds must also be controlled on the reserved acreage, and a farmer must comply with all acreage allotments or base acreage established for his farm.

Maximum and minimum acreage for basic crops which may be placed in the reserve has been established. For cotton, the maximum is 10 acres. Cotton minimum is the larger of 10 per cent of the allotment or two acres.

Payment which a farmer may earn for participating in the acreage reserve will be determined by multiplying a base unit rate by a yield factor. National average rate for 1956 cotton is 15 cents per pound and for wheat it is $1.20 per bushel.

For underplanting the allotment for cotton, the payment rate will be based on the normal yield for designated acreage.

For destruction due to natural causes or for plowing or otherwise turning the crop into the soil, or for clipping, mowing or cutting the crop, the payment will be based on the smaller of an appraised yield for the field or the normal yield for the farm, but will not be less than $6 an acre.

Sheriff's Officers Probing Break-Ins

Two break-ins, one at T. L. Jones Ice Co. and the other at the city swimming pool, were reported Sunday morning to Sheriff Carl Rains.

Three watermelons were stolen from the ice house where a door was forced open. At the swimming pool, candy bars and packages of peanuts were taken after a hole was knocked in a window on the pool side of the concession stand. Entry was not gained to the concession stand, but the thief reached through the hole knocked in the window to take three boxes of candy bars and the peanuts, the sheriff said.

The sheriff also reported that he had questioned two juveniles who climbed the pool fence and went swimming after closing hours Friday. He said the two questioned had implicated three other juveniles and that an investigation is continuing. The officer said he had also talked to the fathers of the two juveniles questioned.

County Is Improving Roads At Cemetery

County trucks and equipment are being used this week to improve the entrance roads at the Terrace Cemetery. The improvement work includes re-topping of the present dirt roads with caliche.

Operation and maintenance of the cemetery was taken over by the City of Post recently from the Terrace Cemetery Association.

More Plans Made On Water District

The White River Municipal Authority Committee, at its regular monthly meeting in Ralls Saturday, agreed to pay a Fort Worth firm $2,324.67 for core drilling completed several weeks ago as a preliminary to construction of a $2 million dam on White River near Calgary.

The committee also agreed to send a certified check for $275 to the State Board of Water Engineers as a fee for creating a White River water district.

In other business, the group voted to pay for recording of petitions for creating of the district, and considered the letting of a contract to make aerial topography maps of the proposed lake site.

A representative of Freese & Nichols, Fort Worth engineering firm working on the project, announced he has asked the Brazos River Authority for a subsidy for the mapping, which will cost about $5,000.

Attending the meeting from Post were Tom Bouchier and Dr. A. C. Surman, members of the committee; Mayor James Minor and City Supt. R. H. Tate. Bouchier is the committee chairman.

Little League Park Lights About Ready

Little League officials announced Wednesday that their campaign to light the new Little League ball park has been completed and that the lights are expected to go up Friday.

Bill G. Humphrey, league president, said the installation may not be completed in time for Saturday's games, but that they definitely will be up in time for next Tuesday's contests.

The games have been starting around 4:30 and 5 p. m., which has held down the size of the crowds. More fans will be able to attend the night games, league officials said.

Eight light standards are to be installed, with the ones at first and third bases having 12 lights and the others eight lights.

Part of the funds raised in the campaign came from sale of Little League membership cards at $1 each. There were also a number of firms and individuals who contributed more than this amount.

Humphrey said. He expressed the League's thanks to all who have assisted in any way in assuring lights for the field.

BAND DIRECTOR—Robert E. Meisch, above, has been elected as band director in the Post schools for the 1956-57 term. He was given a one-year contract at a salary of $5,000. Meisch, a graduate of Southern Methodist University, was at Van Horn last year, and was band director in the Gatesville High School for four years prior to that.—(Dispatch Staff Photo.)

Mill Machinery Is Expected In July

New machinery for expanded production at the Postex Cotton Mill is expected to begin arriving the first week in July. R. J. (Rube) Jennings, mill president, said Tuesday.

Contractor for the mill's expansion contract is H. B. Zachry Co. of San Antonio, whose workmen recently completed the roof to the weaving building extension and are preparing to put the roofs on extensions to the carding and cloth buildings and storage room.

Weldon Rogers, president, and C. A. Gibson, vice president, of Ely Walker Dry Goods Co., were here recently looking over the construction project and making preliminary plans for the expanded production.

Masonic Officers To Be Installed

New officers of the Post Masonic Lodge are to be installed at the next regular meeting night, which is July 12.

The new elective officers are Billy Bigham, worshipful master; Bobby Pierce, senior warden; Murrie Crowley, junior warden, and Luther Bilberry, tier. Re-elected to office were Paul Jones, secretary, and Ira L. Duckworth, treasurer.

New appointive officers have not yet been announced by the incoming worshipful master. He succeeds Bilberry.

Highway 84 Widening Is Nearing Completion

Traffic over the new four-lane divided stretch of U. S. Highway 84 from the north Post city limits to the top of the caprock will be running at normal within the next few days, according to B. F. (Boone) Evans, Precinct 1 county commissioner.

Evans also announced the completion of two farm-to-market roads in his precinct, contracts for which were let in a "package deal" along with the contract for the highway widening.

Railroad Man Is Rotary Speaker

A talk on the railroad industry by W. A. J. Carter, superintendent of the Slaton division of the Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway, was heard at Tuesday's Rotary Club luncheon.

Speaking of the rail industry as a whole, Carter told of the steady progress made through the years in growth, equipment, and other features.

At next Tuesday's luncheon, year-closing reports will be heard from Carl Cederholm and Harold Lucas, outgoing president and secretary, respectively.

New officers and directors are to be installed at the July 3 luncheon. They will include Dr. Harry A. Tubbs, president, and Irby G. Matcalf Jr., secretary.

TAPROOTS GOING INTO DRY SOIL

Dryland Cotton 'Out Of Moisture'

Dryland cotton in Garza County is beginning to "go through" what little moisture it was planted in, County Agent Lewis C. Herron said Wednesday.

"In most instances, the dryland cotton was planted in shallow moisture and the taproots are beginning to go into dry ground," the agent said.

Unless it rains within the next few days, practically all the dryland cotton that will be planted in Garza County this season is already in the ground, Herron said.

In the immediate Post vicinity rainfall for the first five months had totaled only 2.99 inches, which is almost four inches below the average. During the first three weeks of June only .39 of an inch of rain had fallen here, indicating that the average will drop even lower, since the June average for the county is 2.49 inches.

In January of this year, only .62 of an inch was recorded against an average of .55 of an inch for the month. February's moisture totaled .53 of an inch, with the average for that month being one inch. Not a trace of rain was measured in March, whereas the average is 7.8 of an inch. April fell way below the mark, with the highway widening. The west lanes of the divided highway, which are the new ones, have been completed, Evans said, and work is nearing a finish on the east lanes, which are the old ones. This section of the highway has been widened four feet.

Where the two sections of highway come to a point at the north city limits, there is a "divider," and a frontage road has been built on the west side. A barrow ditch of about 30 feet divide the two sections on up to the top of the caprock. Each section of the new highway is 22 feet wide.

The widening of the road eliminates a major traffic "bottleneck" which existed when the route was only a two-lane one.

One of the farm-to-market roads completed in the precinct is from U. S. 84 to the Gordon community, five miles of the new road being in Garza County and two miles in Lynn County.

The new F-M road is from U. S. 84 at Southland to the Hackberry Gin.

J. O. Boswell of Lubbock was general contractor on the three projects. His bid on the jobs was $199,355.34.

Work on the road improvements began in February. "We consider it a quick job, considering the amount of work," Evans said.

Total distance of the new four-lane divided road is a little more than four miles.

County Attorney Is Injured In Wreck

Carleton P. Webb, Garza County attorney, was recovering at his home Tuesday from head injuries and minor cuts and bruises received about 7:10 p. m. Friday when his automobile collided with a truck one and a half miles northwest of Post on U. S. Highway 84.

Webb was taken to his home from Garza Memorial Hospital the morning following the accident. Also injured in the collision was Lonnie W. Wilson, a Lubbock Negro, who was a passenger in the truck. He was dismissed from the hospital Monday morning.

The driver of the 1955 Chevrolet truck and trailer, Carl Summers of Lubbock, was not injured.

Sheriff Carl Rains, investigating officer, said Summers told him he thought the two-lane highway, which has been under construction, was a four-lane highway and pulled into the left-hand lane to pass a car.

Webb, coming from Post, was meeting the truck, Rains said. The sheriff said both vehicles pulled off the road attempting to avoid collision, but Webb's automobile, a 1950 Cadillac, hit the right wheel of the truck.

The impact turned the car completely around, practically demolishing it, Rains said. The truck cab was also heavily damaged and had the front wheels knocked from under it.

Swimming Meet Set For June 28

A swimming meet, open to anyone who wishes to enter, will be held Thursday evening, June 28, at the city pool, Gene Young, lifeguard, has announced.

There will be competition in three divisions—intermediate (12-15), senior (15-18) and adult. Ribbons will be awarded first, second, and third place winners in free style, side stroke, back stroke, breast stroke, underwater and relay swimming and diving events.

The swimming meet, to which the public is invited, will get under way at about 6 p. m., Young said.

Those wishing to enter are asked to notify Young or other attendants at the pool.

Planted Cotton Is To Be Measured

Measurement of planted cotton in Garza County will get under way following a school of instruction for reporters, which began at 8:30 o'clock this morning at the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

Emmarhe I. Hartel, county ASC office manager, said seven reporters are attending the school.

In Lubbock Monday at a meeting for the purpose of explaining the 1956 Cotton Measuring Program were Mrs. Hartel, Jack Myers, performance supervisor, and Mrs. Lorraine Cash, performance clerk.

New Wells Giving 115,000 Gallons

Tying in of three wells furnishing approximately 115,000 gallons of water every 24 hours has brightened the water outlook here, but are not sufficient to overcome the threatened mid-summer shortage, Mayor James Minor said Wednesday.

For three consecutive days last week more than a million gallons of water was used and that amount was also consumed on one other day of the week, making four days in all that consumption went past the one million gallon mark.

One of the additional wells tied in to the system is good for 40 gallons a minute and the other two for about 20 gallons a minute each.

"But it has proved a costly way to add 115,000 gallons a day to our water supply," the mayor said. He estimated that installation of pumps, laying of pipe and other work on the project cost between $5,000 and $6,000.

City officials again this week urge residents to be conservative in their use of water.

"Our old wells are dropping, and it's still a toss-up as to what our water situation will be later on this summer," the mayor said.

Post Jaycees Start Off New Club Year

The Post Junior Chamber of Commerce started its new club year at last week's luncheon meeting, with newly-installed president Lee Ward presiding. Other new officers in attendance were Jess Michael, vice president, and Bill Thomas, secretary.

Elton Lee, owner and operator of Fashion Cleaners, was introduced as a new member. Sidney Mack, recent Texas Tech graduate, who is here installing new machinery at the Postex Cotton Mill, was a guest of Ward.

EITHER WAY IT GOES...

It is with mixed feelings that we await the June 30 election on consolidation of five school districts. On the one hand, we feel that patrons of the Graham, Garnolia and Close City districts would benefit to a much greater extent by continuing to send their high school students to Post, where facilities already exist. On the other hand, we feel that approval of the consolidation issue would be the means of lifting a heavy burden from the shoulders of taxpayers of the Post Independent School District.

For the last 20 years, the Post schools have been financing the education of high school students and other transfers from these outlying districts, with the exception of the bare foundation aid paid by the State. Taxpayers of the Post district have been doing this with the expectation that some day the school tax monies of these outlying districts would, through consolidation, be pooled with that of the Post district, thereby equalizing the tax load. This could have resulted in facilities second to none in a school system of this size. Needed expansion has become a virtual impossibility under the present set-up. Yet, when trustees and other school patrons of these outlying districts were told this, they began a move for consolidation and construction of a school building of their own.

The Post school board has not been unfair in its decision to charge $92.40 for each transfer during the 1956-57 school year. In fact, it was not being unfair, but most conservative, in its original decision to set up a tuition fee of $137.44 for transfer students. That was what it cost last year to educate each pupil in the Post schools, and included costs of instruction, administration, etc., and bonded indebtedness. The bonded indebtedness was based on last year's charges and did not take into consideration the mounting costs in the years to come. Nor did the $137.44 figure include values of certain property already owned by the school.

Even at next year's $92.40 tuition figure, taxpayers of the Post district will be out considerably more than $5,000 in the education of youngsters from other districts.

Our schools have always been glad to have these boys and girls on their scholastic rolls. They have contributed materially to the success of our athletic teams, and many of them have earned high honors scholastically. It's just a case of the Post district taxpayers not being able to carry the entire tax load of current operations, to say nothing of the expenses of expansion.

If the five districts, which also include the Southland and Grassland Independent School Districts, vote to consolidate in the June 30 election, a bond election will be called for a school building costing in the neighborhood of a half-million dollars, and there will be a number of other expenses if an up-to-date school is to be established and maintained. All this will mean setting up of tax valuations of around $6,000,000 in the five districts, where agriculture is the predominant industry.

Also to be taken into consideration is the fact that the smaller rural schools throughout the state are, generally speaking, feeling the economic squeeze even more than the larger schools, where the bind is had enough. Then, there is the problem of securing qualified teachers, with the problem greater at this time than it has been in the 102-year history of the Texas public schools.

To sum it up, either way the consolidation election goes, the taxpayers of the Post district

Roger W. Babson Writes This Week:

Many Of Us May Be Wasting Our Lives In Things That Do Not Really Help Us Live

BABSON PARK, Mass.—I meet many interesting people, especially when in Florida where, during the winter, brilliant minds gravitate. As I have just returned to Massachusetts, I wish to mention five such men.

What About World War III?
One of these men is an international oil expert who has just returned from Arabia. He states that a small area in the Far East contains more oil than all other sections of the world. He doesn't believe that World War III will happen during our lifetime; but if it does, the war will be for the control of this fabulous wealth of oil. He says: "Arabia is where the United Nations' Headquarters should be located!"

Another very interesting man, one of the nation's greatest "fundamental physicists," is interested only in studying atoms. He thinks that our banks, factories, and stores are mere "peanuts"; and that I should not waste time studying them. He talks of the marvelous possibilities from rearrangement of atoms so as to make anything cheaply—perhaps life itself—and the unearthing of free power from or through the air.

Archaeologists Make You Think
Another interesting man is one who has just returned from excavating the great city of Carthage in Northern Africa. Here are found seven layers of cities, averaging some seventy-five feet, one below the other. All were once rich and powerful; all but the last have been destroyed. This man would not own any property in any valuable large city. He says: "The safest investment is a small, fertile, well-watered farm in the center of the United States." Based on all previous history, he foresees within one hundred years a complete collapse of our "experiment with Democracy," to be followed by a Dictatorship and later a Monarchy.

My next client is a famous parapsychologist from a leading university. He is studying the most advanced methods of psychic communication, including clairvoyance, telepathy, and other extraordinary powers. He hasn't much use for televisions or even present methods of broadcasting. To hear him talk, you would think we were still living in the "Stone Age," with little confidence in our power to think or communicate.

What Is Beauty?

Thursday to Thursday

By CHARLES DIDWAY

YOU'D THINK IT'S about time for the law of averages to catch up with us on this rain deal.

AT THE TIME this column is being written we haven't checked yet to see how far behind the average we are, but there'll be a story on it elsewhere in this issue... it isn't going to be good, unless it comes a gully washer in the meantime.

INCIDENTALLY, WE'VE just seen a Muleshoe Journal, which carried Bailey County's rainfall record for the past umpteenth or so years. It brought back memories, since we moved to Muleshoe in 1941—the year of the BIG rains.

WE HADN'T BEEN a West Texas long, and we had a lot to learn, including the fact that it doesn't rain every year like it did in '41. We moved to Muleshoe in May of that year, which was the real rainy month, with 11.84 inches being measured.

EVERYWHERE YOU'D look there were lakes of water and flooded highways. It was the first and last time since moving to West Texas that we wore rubber boots and rode in row boats.

IT WAS TOO MUCH of a good thing. At least half of it should have been saved and added to some of the dry years.

CELLOPHANE UNDOUBTEDLY is a wonderful invention, but it's one we've never been able to do much with. With the help of the little red tab, we're able to open a package of cigarettes fairly well, but there's the same type of tab on small packages of crackers served in a local restaurant, and we can't do a thing with it. It always tears off and disappears into nowhere before we can get the package opened.

MOST OF OUR cellophane troubles, however, come in trying to open packages of lunch meat. We're never able to find the starting point, and nine times out of ten wind up hungry. Also, we've just had our first experience in opening a cellophane-wrapped package of bunion pads, which are a little harder to open than the crackers and not quite as hard to get into as the lunch meat.

WE LEARN FROM the Stamford American that Connie Connell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Connell of Dermott, is the first sponsor entry for the 1956 Texas Cowboy Reunion. It will be Connie's first time to compete in the show. The Stamford paper reports that Connie is "a real ranch girl and lives on a ranch."

SIGN ON A Wheeling, West Virginia, auto parts and repair shop: "May We Have the Next Dents?"

INSTEAD OF complaining that we don't have everything we want, we should be glad we don't get everything we deserve.

stand to gain. Withdrawal of approximately 125 transfer students from our schools will lighten our tax load. And, if the issue fails, then consolidation with the Post district is almost certain to follow.

who had traveled over a thousand miles to discuss "Beauty," which to him included architecture, paintings, music, jewelry, and even perfume. "These," he said, "are the few things which we find in the oldest tombs of the wealthiest Egyptian Pharaohs." He believes these are the best investments today. To enjoy these things, he claims that they do not need to be heard, or seen, or touched; but that Beauty is something we enjoy through our thoughts and that, like gravity waves, it can penetrate any enclosure.

When I praised certain rich men like Andrew Mellon for buying famous paintings and establishing great art museums, he considered me very materialistic and frowned upon the thought that Beauty could be "purchased." His parting words were: "Read your Bible, especially the twelfth chapter of Ecclesiastes and the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians."

Looking Centuries Ahead
The actual Bible which I read was published in 1949 by my ancestor, Reverend John Rogers, who later was "burned at the stake" in London for looking ahead. After reviewing these five visitors, I wonder if there may not be a time ahead of us when the possessing of something not now considered of value may be recognized as the only true wealth. The Old Testament Prophets may have had it in mind when they talked about "JEHOVAH"; Jesus, when He talked about "LOVE"; and the Early Church leaders when they wrote of the "HOLY SPIRIT." Most religions now use these words in their creeds; but very few of their followers, including those of us who call ourselves "Christian," treat these unseen forces as wealth. This is not surprising, as it took our ancestors a million years to awake to the power of electricity! It is even possible that the atoms of the physicists may also be "peanuts." I don't know.

I am inclined to believe that too many of us are wasting our lives in things that do not really help to give us health, happiness, or power. Perhaps real wealth is something that cannot be touched, or seen, or even deposited in a bank or kept in a safe-deposit box. I do, however, forecast that the time will come when it will be recognized that wealth is not what nearly everyone now considers "wealth" to be.

Getting Out On The Limb

By EDDIE the editor

It's easy to guess who is to blame when success looks some people over and then overlooks them.

THE WOMEN, God love 'em! We heard one say that it's amusing how, during spring house cleaning, you find things that have been missing since fall house cleaning.

HOW VALUABLE is local newspaper advertising to local people? Here's what the American Bankers magazine, a publication which represents a traditionally hard-headed profession, has to say: No business man or woman in any town should allow a newspaper to go to press without his or her name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half, or even quarter-page advertisement in each issue of the paper but your name and address should be maintained if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town... it's the best possible town advertiser. The man or woman who does not advertise does an injustice to himself or herself and definitely to the town."

I agree with the writer who says diplomacy is the art of saying "nice doggie" until you can find a rock.

THIS ONE SHOULD go in the scrap book of Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State College. A Bowling Green, Ky., newspaper reported his speech at West Kentucky State and added a filer, but failed to put a "30" dash separating it from the Cornette story. The filer said: Texas furnishes more than half the natural gas used in the United States.

Experience may be a great teacher, but most people who have taken it find the tuition for the night courses quite high.

THE POLITICAL EGG: Once upon a time there were two farmers. Each had a hen that laid eggs, so one ate his. But the other did without, and instead put his in an incubator, which he bought by borrowing money. In due time he had 200 chickens from his one. A shocking profit (before taxes). He sold some to pay off the loan on his incubator; he ate some as a reward for all his labor in raising the brood. And he sold a good many to pay his income tax. But he still had some left. So the farmer who had eaten all his eggs got a law passed. The neighbors divided up the chicken raising farmer's "profits" and ate them. After all, they said, he had more than he needed (Russian Marxism) and they were hungry.

Naturally the farmer wasn't going to raise any more chickens just to have them taken away from him, so he ate his eggs too. In due time both the farmer's original hens died of old age, and there weren't any eggs for anybody. No chickens either. The neighbors were quite sure it was the chicken raiser's fault.

The political egg eaters will likely realize some day that the chicken raisers will get tired of being saps all the time.

THERE HAS BEEN a great deal of talk pro and con about the proposed two-way radio system for peace officers which can be obtained here under the Civil Defense Administration's matching fund program. I made a point to find out just how the matching fund program works, since I hadn't heard it satisfactorily explained.

Under the program, the FCDA makes Federal funds available on a 50-50 matching basis to local political subdivisions for Civil Defense and Disaster Relief projects. The police communications system is one of the several categories of the program under which application for these matching funds can be made. I understand that the proposed set-up here would also include a hook-up of the two-way equipment with ambulances.

My source of information says that once the locality has submitted an application, the application is processed in the Austin office and then forwarded to the Regional FCDA Office at Denton for approval.

After the application is approved, the locality is advised of this approval and can then proceed to purchase the equipment, using local funds for this purpose. When the procurement is completed, the locality then prepares an invoice for reimbursement of the approved 50 per cent of the cost of the project by FCDA, and submits this invoice to FCDA for payment.

A RECENT survey by a nationally distributed magazine reports that Negro and white race relations take precedence in public thinking over the atomic bomb and juvenile delinquency.

The survey asked persons to name "the biggest problems in the United States today."

The result: 45 per cent of those interviewed listed the racial question; 32 per cent cited the atomic bomb and the "cold war," while 36 per cent listed juvenile delinquency.

RESPONSE HAS been fairly good to the circulation department's appeal for copies of the May 3 issue of The Post Dispatch, but they could do with a few more copies, for they are offering two-bits apiece.

We came out ahead on one copy. A Snyder subscriber, Mrs. G. D. Gibson, sent along her May 3 issue and with it the following note: "Keep your change; glad to accommodate you if you need this."

Instead of complaining that we don't have everything we want, we should be glad we don't get everything we deserve.

Americans Speeding Toward Highest Traffic Accident Toll In History

Americans are speeding toward the highest traffic accident, injury and fatality experience in the nation's history, Thomas N. Boate, manager of the Accident Prevention Department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, declared today. Greatly stepped-up traffic law enforcement measures, he warned, are imperative for the protection of motorists and pedestrians alike.

"Last year," Mr. Boate said, "the nation suffered 38,300 traffic deaths, 2,158,000 injuries and 9,000,000 accidents. During the first quarter of this year, we were 10 per cent ahead of figures for the same period last year. If this rate continues, we will end 1956 with 42,130 deaths, 2,373,500 injuries and 10,000,000 accidents on our highways.

"Usually, at this time of the year, we are making plans to attempt to control the rash of accidents that invariably occur over the Memorial Day and Independence Day holidays. But if the present rate of increase continues, such efforts may be purely academic. The rate for any one day will be so high that these two holidays, which fall on Wednesday this year, may well be lost in the shuffle.

"We are being told that in terms of miles driven and exposure to accidents, we are killing fewer people than ever before. At the most, all that this proves is that people can drive a few more miles before they have an accident. It doesn't alter the fact that 26,000 accidents occur each day, and that each year almost one out of every 4,000 Americans dies on the highway.

"Last year 2,000,000 pleasure trips ended in highway disaster, and to me it is no consolation to know that although I'm marked for death, I have the dubious privilege of driving a few more miles before I am brought to an unnecessary and terrible end of life's journey.

"We know that 80 per cent of all accidents result from driver errors. Last year, for instance, the leading causes of high-way death were exceeding the speed limit, driving on the wrong side of the road, failing to yield the right-of-way, driving off the roadway and just plain reckless driving.

"Obviously, the ideal way to stop traffic accidents is for every driver to recognize his obligation to drive cautiously and alertly and to obey our traffic laws. Experience proves, however, that this is not likely to happen yet. So, to protect motorists from themselves, as well as from chronic violators, government needs to heed the request of the National Conference of State Safety Co-ordinators, administrator of the summer-long 'Slow Down and Live' program, the nation's major accident reduction program. This group has called on all state governors to step up state enforcement activities and to urge mayors to do the same on local levels.

"State and city governments should make every effort to enforce the laws that are designed to prevent motorists from driving dangerously fast, from hogging the highway, from driving while

VA Questions And Answers

Q. I have just gone on active duty, and I am covered by $10,000 free indemnity. Am I supposed to send VA a list of my beneficiaries?

A. Your list of beneficiaries should not be sent to VA. It should go to your branch of service instead. The military departments maintain these records for servicemen.

Q. I had two periods of Korean military service—one from 1950 to 1952 and another from 1954 to a few weeks ago. What is my deadline for starting Korean GI training—three years from my first discharge or three years from my second?

A. Your starting deadline is three years from your second discharge. Veterans with more than one period of service during the Korean conflict compute their deadline from their final discharge.

Q. I am a Korea veteran. Must I have 90 days of service within the Korean conflict period to qualify for a GI loan? I entered service the middle of January, 1955, and the "conflict" period ended Jan. 31, 1955.

A. All 90 days need not be within the Korean conflict period. What you need, generally, is a total of 90 days of service, with any part of it falling within the Korean conflict period.

Q. I am a disabled Korea veteran. Will I get help in choosing a course of vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 894?

A. Yes. You will receive vocational counseling to help you get a better idea of your aptitudes and abilities, so that you will be able to make a wise choice of training objective.

Registrars Named For 18-Year-Olds

County Judge Pat N. Walker and Miss Agnes Windham of Post have been appointed registrars for their area to represent Garza County for Draft Board No. 85 in Lubbock.

Boys who reach the age of 18 can register in Post by calling on Judge Walker or Miss Windham in his office in the county courthouse.

Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state director of the draft system, expressed public appreciation of the services of Judge Walker and Miss Windham.

"People of the Post area should appreciate the services these citizens render," Colonel Schwartz said, "as they are doing this work without pay as a public service to their country."

All males are required to register under the draft law on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter. Maximum penalties that can be applied for failure to register are $10,000 fine, or five years in prison, or both.

 Dieldrin treatment kills thrips and fleahoppers... pays off in higher cotton yields

Photograph shows results of test performed at Texas A. & M. (1954). In fact, the dieldrin-treated plants produced almost three times as many blooms in a three-week period after treatment as untreated plants injured by thrips and fleahoppers. Photo by Texas A. & M.

... this test prove without a doubt that treatment with dieldrin really pays. Dieldrin controls thrips, fleahoppers and other sucking insects. Cotton gets a good start... you get better quality cotton and earlier start... less chance of heavy loss due to early frost.

Dieldrin provides long-lasting protection. Days after application dieldrin still has lethal effect. Two to three applications at the recommended dosage—1/10 lb. of dieldrin per acre—does the job. Dieldrin dusts are fast-acting, free-flowing. In a spray, dieldrin forms fine emulsions... eliminates nozzle clogging.

From this conclusive test. Use dieldrin early this year. Your insecticide dealer has dieldrin information and information on latest methods of application best suited for your use. Delay—get dieldrin now!

TEXAS OIL PIONEERS
 No Records Exist On Who First Used Mud In Drilling For Oil

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of sketches compiled from records of "Oral History of Texas Oil Pioneers," University of Texas. Persons who can contribute additional information documents, or photographs of early oil fields should write to the Archives Collection, Box 7767, University Station, Austin, Tex.)

By WILLIAM A. OWENS

Who first used mud in drilling for oil? The question has often been discussed by old-timers, and claims have been laid in the names of several persons, but so far there seems to be no written record that proves the answer conclusively.

Credit is sometimes given to George A. Boughton, who was known familiarly as "Old Man Bowden" in early Texas oil fields, chiefly because he was a generation older than most of the drillers at Corsicana and Spindletop.

Born in Michigan in 1846, experienced in machine shops in Chicago, he came to Texas as a water well driller about 1890. Much of his trail has been obscured by time. His memory, however, is much alive among the old timers who spend their afternoons in the Navarro Hotel Annex lobby in Corsicana telling stories of the early days. He also appears in a few newspaper stories carefully preserved in the scrapbook of Captain Lucas.

When he first came to Texas he was apparently connected with the Dallas branch of the American Well Works of Aurora, Ill. He also contracted to drill water wells over a part of Texas and in many Southern states.

According to reports, the American Well Works manufactured an early rotary rig. No doubt Boughton learned to operate these rigs as early as they were brought into Texas. He may have been the first to introduce rotary rigs into the Corsicana field.

One of Boughton's employees in the early days was John S. Wynn, who later made quite a reputation for himself in Texas oil fields as a driller and inventor.

In his recorded reminiscences, Wynn tells what he remembers of the development of the use of mud. According to him, in the early 1890's a company started a water well in Charleston, S. C., with a pole tool rig. They hit quicksand and had to give up the well. The well was sub-contracted to Boughton, who brought a rotary rig from Dallas. He took Wynn along to work on the well. When they hit the quicksand, Boughton mixed a heavy mud and walled out the quicksand.

Wynn had not known of the use of mud before this. He thinks the idea originated in the black waxy belt around Dallas, where the mud was of a texture that naturally walled up the holes. He thinks that Boughton discovered the process, but he concedes that he may have learned it from someone else.

Boughton was a successful driller in the Corsicana fields when most of the drilling there was still being done by cable tools. He may have used mud in drilling these oil and gas wells.

Boughton died in Sour Lake in 1902 and was buried in Corsicana. Unfortunately he left no record of his activities in the oil fields.

LONG STAR AGRICULTURE

Texas Sweet Potatoes Are Finally Finding Way To National Markets

By JOHN C. WHITE

Commissioner Of Agriculture

The Texas Sweet Potato Industry passed an historic milestone last year. For the first time, more than two million bushels of graded and inspected Texas sweets found their way to national markets.

Ability of Texas sweet potatoes to compete successfully with those from other states in the big markets was made possible through a grading and inspection law passed by last year's state legislature. Until last September when the measure became effective, Texas yams were shunted at national markets in favor of graded potatoes from other areas.

Since then, however, the Texas Department of Agriculture, which administers the law, has processed 1,938,947 bushels for the industry. An additional 100,000 bushels were graded and inspected for individual farmers.

Since the program began, market outlets for the Texas product have developed in Detroit, Chicago, New York and several western states where buying is strictly on a graded basis.

Texas grading standards are high—even higher than those required by the Federal government. This is borne out by the fact that Texas sweet potatoes remain in better condition when shipped to distant markets than do those of many competing states.

The state inspection and grading service is operated on a self-supporting basis with no additional cost to taxpayers. Small service fees collected on the large movements take care of all expenses and add up to bigger profits and expanded markets for the producer.

Principal growing area for Texas sweets is centered around East Texas, although there is scattered production throughout the state. Last season's production amounted to about 3,480,000 bushels. This was slightly below the 10-year average of 3,664,000 bushels, mostly due to reduced acreage. Only 29,000 acres were planted to sweet potatoes, compared to the average of 40,000 acres.

However, yields were extra good last season. Average production was 120 bushels per acre, considerably more than the normal yield of 77 bushels.

If such crop conditions continue in the future, new-found market outlets through better standards promotion can make the sweet potato one of Texas' prize crops.

Gilbert Blodgett and girls, Edna and Martha, spent the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Blodgett and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Burnes in Lometa. Martha will continue her visit through this week.

1,400,000 Increase In Cars Forecast In State By 1965

ABILENE (Spl.)—Texas' population of registered passenger cars will increase by more than 1,400,000 and there will be a gain of 479,000 families in the state by 1965, according to a study by the nation's largest independent automobile finance company.

Lee R. Mosley of Abilene, vice president in this area for Universal C. I. T. Credit Corporation, said his company's analysis of the expected growth in the state's population and in family income—without considering other important economic trends at work—points convincingly to higher levels of prosperity in the future.

Passenger car registrations by 1965, he said, should total more than 3,934,000, a 56 per cent increase over the 2,530,000 now registered.

The finance company official also forecast a population gain of about 20 per cent, or more than 1,690,000 persons, by 1965. This would bring the state's population to more than 10,355,000. As for families, he foresaw a gain of 20 per cent, raising the total to more than 2,925,000 as compared with about 2,446,000 families now.

"Credit is a major force in maintaining local prosperity, particularly in view of the excellent payment record made by families in the state," he said.

"Two out of every three automobiles are sold on credit. Its continued use in the sale of cars and other valuable consumer goods will continue to make for higher living standards, more convenience and greater comfort for American families."

Other encouraging factors in the automobile outlook, he said, are the rapid growth in two-car families, accelerated by the trend to suburban living, the sound record for credit repayment established by families purchasing cars, continued high levels of employment, income and savings, and more aggressive selling by automobile manufacturers and dealers.

Modernization of highways and streets, including relief of city congestion and provision for more parking facilities, the finance company official added, are vital considerations in view of the expected growth in auto registrations.

Would Make A Difference

There would be happier marriages and fewer divorces if young men and women received as much pre-marital guidance as they do automobile instruction. And what the future could hold for the goodness of mankind if people would pay as much attention to breeding up citizens as they do to breeding up finer hogs and cattle and cotton!—"It Sez Here" in The Ralls Banner.

Modern Education

I sometimes figure this modern education is too efficient. Not long ago I was riding in the car with my 10-year-old son and he started jabbering about how the age of dogs was "7-to-1" compared with human beings. This, he figured would make our four-year-old pooch about 28. Then he asked: "How old is granddad?"

I told him 74 years. He was silent a few minutes, then popped out:

"You know, if granddad was a dog, he'd be more than 500 years old!"—"Hereford Bull" in The Hereford Brand.

Pin-Pointing Blame

Have you noticed how much of the present day vandalism is against institutions which in the past have been shown a measure of respect? Seems that juvenile vandals have centered their devastation against schools, court houses, churches, and other public buildings.

Remember how during the 1948 Presidential campaign some youngsters threw vegetables at the President of the United States on one of his whistle stops?

Did we hear some adult approve their action?

There you have it. There you have the blame pin-pointed.

When adults fail to respect the office of policeman, teacher, of President of the United States, what can we expect from the youth?—"Town Topics" in The Tulia Herald.

Railroad Regulations

In the state of Arizona it is illegal for an engineer to let water from locomotive fall on the tracks. And Nebraska has a law stating that any animal hit by a train must be given first aid and then taken to the humane society. And it is against the law to sneeze on a train in West Virginia!—"The Wink Bulletin."

Similar Complaints

True that youngsters and young adults will sometimes complain of "nothing to do," but it always seems to me that these complaints are about like those of the woman with a closet full of clothes who has "nothing to wear." It is a relative matter.—"Baker's Dozen" in The Fort Stockton Pioneer.

The Start's The Thing

That smart aleck over at the drug store says kissing a girl is just like opening a bottle of olives—the first may come hard, but it's a cinch to get the rest.—"Drifting Sands" in The Andrews County News.

Faithful Slaves

Gas flare fires are like clusters of red stars on the horizon reaching into infinity. The closer flames lick the wall of night in a futile and tireless effort to subdue its obstinacy. Silence presses its fingers against the temples of time, but there is a faint pulse in the earth. The pumps. They are like thousands of obedient slaves chained to the needs of man, reaching their long, strong arms through the rock and soil, dipping treasure from the depths. Far away beyond a shadowy valley the lights are red and green and extremely dense. Here is laughter, luxury and life; pipes filled with clear, pure water, homes, schools. Yet each man and woman, the most wealthy, those closest to poverty, the good, the evil, the youngest child, must trust their combined destinies to the iron hearts

74th Annual Meeting Of Texas Bar Set For July 4-7 In Houston

Judge Lloyd A. Wicks of Ralls, State Bar director, and his newly-elected successor on the board, Attorney Richard F. Stovall of Floydada, will head a delegation of South Plains lawyers to the 74th annual meeting of the Texas Bar in Houston, July 4-7.

Advance registrations, reported from convention headquarters in Houston, indicate that upward of 3,500 Texas lawyers and their wives will attend the four-day meeting, largest in the history of the organized bar in Texas—or any other state. The first Texas meeting, with 35 lawyers present, was held in Galveston in December, 1882. The meeting in Houston this year will feature as speakers some 50 of the nation's leading educators, practicing lawyers and judges on all phases of legal practice.

The convention will get under way at the Rice Hotel, July 4, with registrations, and an all-day institute on office management, titled "The Roll-Top Desk in the Atomic Age." A law student moot court competition, sponsored by the State Junior Bar on a question related to the Texas Business Corporation Act, will include teams from St. Mary's University the University of Texas, SMU and the University of Houston Law schools.

Wicks and Stovall will attend a quarterly meeting of the board of directors, to convene July 4 at 2 p. m., and a final luncheon-meeting, July 7.

Guests in the Bud Penix home over the weekend were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Penix, and stepbrother, George Stockton of Mineola and Mr. and Mrs. William James of Dallas.

of pumps. If a little girl's wish for a doll is granted, somewhere a pump must work for the aged woman's easy chair, for jewels on the fingers of a rich man's wife, for the drunkard's bottle of grog, food in a pantry for hungry children. YER OUT!

If this has never happened to you no words can describe the awful finality of an umpire's decision. It falls like a sentence of death on a boy's heroic dream. And with it ebbs out the joy of his mightiest hit, and of the fly he caught last inning.
 But thus baseball helps to build men. A fellow learns how to lose. And that's the first step in learning how to win.
 But the biggest lessons of life no sport can teach. On a higher tier than sportsmanship, teamwork and the desire to win are FAITH, BROTHERHOOD, AND DEDICATION OF LIFE. These are the ingredients of spiritual victory—the fabric of God-inspired manhood at its best.
 We can rightly be proud of our sand-lots and Little Leagues. But the character of American manhood depends most of all on our churches.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Annual ABC Rodeo Is Under Way In Lubbock's Municipal Coliseum

LUBBOCK (Spl.)—A new era in South Plains sports was inaugurated Wednesday with the unresisting of the annual ABC Rodeo in Lubbock's new $2,000,00 Municipal Coliseum.

The rodeo, featuring many of the nation's top rodeo hands, is the first sports event to be held in the 10,000-seat oval-shaped building on the Texas Tech Campus.

Kicking off the four-day show on June 20 will be a 2:30 p. m. parade through the heart of Lubbock by several hundred riders, including members of South Plains area sheriff's posses and other riding groups.

The rodeo itself is affording fans their first opportunity to see an indoor rodeo anywhere in this region.

"You haven't seen a rodeo until you've seen one indoors," Bill Pittman, general rodeo chairman, said. "Inside, you can hear the leather slap. Also, in the new coliseum, every seat is a good one—and the weather is no problem either."

Besides all that a rodeo generally offers, the big South Plains show includes a nightly exhibition by three champion cutting horses owned by P.J. Williams of Tokio, specialty acts by Clowns Gene and Bobby Clark and, for the first time, a wild horse race. In this event, six wild horses are turned loose and teams complete to see which can first catch and saddle one of the horses, ride and unsaddle it.

Also, the Light Crust Dough-boys and Organist Bernie Howell entertaining are rodeo fans, as will State Sen. Clem McSpadden of Oklahoma, who is the announcer.

Regular rodeo events of bareback and saddle bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling and wild brahma bull riding highlight the show.

Proceeds from the show will go into a fund for buildings and equipment for Lubbock's three Boys' Clubs, which are sponsored by the ABC, the Optimist Club and the South Plains Lions Club.

Racial Issues Okayed For July Primary Ballot By State Demos

Garza County Democratic voters will have a direct say at the polls July 28 on how they feel about mixing white and Negro children in the public schools.

The State Democratic Executive Committee last week approved a resolution calling for the referendum which will also include a "for" or "against" vote on interposition and on asking the Legislature to perfect present state laws banning intermarriage between whites and Negroes.

As it will appear on the primary ballot, which was printed last weekend by The Post Dispatch, the integration question will read: "Mixing white and Negro children in the public schools:

"For (or against) specific legislation exempting any child from compulsory attendance at integrated schools attended by white persons and Negroes."

The executive committee also: 1. Rejected a claim that U. S. Sen. Price Daniel, a candidate for governor, is ineligible under the state constitution and election law to seek the office in the July primary.

2. Selected Fort Worth as the site for the Sept. 11 state convention which will name party officers for two-year terms and give the Democratic nominee for governor a platform to run on.

3. Heard statements from candidates for Democratic nomination, including Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba, who urged the committee not to certify the name of his rival, Sen. Daniel.

4. Certified a list of 31 candidates for statewide offices, including six for governor, four for lieutenant governor and four for attorney general.

The racial questions set for submission in the July primary referendum were presented to the committee in petitions signed by 153,868 voters.

The interposition question is printed on the ballot in this language: "For (or against) the use of interposition to halt illegal federal encroachment."

The intermarriage question appears thus: "For (or against) specific legislation perfecting state laws against intermarriage between white persons and Negroes."

The referendum will bring about the first direct expression from Texas voters in the school integration question.

If Democratic voters approve any or all of the questions submitted in the referendum, it will give the September convention authority to ask the Legislature for specific laws. The convention could not make any such request without referendum approval.

De-Inking Process Patent Obtained

AUSTIN (Sp.)—A University of Texas chemist and a former student have patented a de-inking process that may help solve the critical newspaper shortage.

The method of de-inking waste paper was developed by Dr. Norman Hackerman, chemistry department chairman, and William J. Krodell, now employed by a Los Angeles, Calif., chemical company.

The new process is both economical and efficient. The price of de-inking waste paper would average well below the cost of new paper, the chemists say. Processing would be done at paper mills.

The resulting product is equal in color, brightness and strength to original pulp, and can be used in making more newspapers or other cellulose products.

Slogan and motto of the State of Indiana is "Crossed at America."

Korean College Student Working At Postex Mill

Woo Yong Cha, 34-year-old Korean student at Texas Tech, whose friends and relatives in Seoul advised him not to attend school in Texas because he'd have to carry a gun, is employed this summer in the laboratory at Postex Cotton Mill. "The minute the folks back home learned I planned to attend a Texas college, they advised me against it," Woo Yong said. "The trouble with them was that they had seen too many of your western movies." "Soon after arriving at Tech, I had my picture made in a cowboy hat and boots to send the folks back home. But there was no gun—I couldn't find one anywhere." Woo Yong's parents and his

Training Union Groups Are Guests At Wiener Roast At Teaff Home

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown Tuesday were her brother, M. Martin of Ropesville and a friend, Mrs. Keller of Dallas, whom they had not seen in more than 50 years. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Shults and John have returned from a vacation in New Mexico. Visitors in the L. R. Mason home over the weekend were their daughter, Ruby, of Plainview and their sons, Thomas of Tahoka and Lee of Gordon. Diann, Paula and Melba Foster of Snyder are staying with their grandparents, the A. O. Rosenbaums, while their mother, Mrs. Paul Foster, is in a Lubbock hospital. Visitors in the Howard Teaff home Saturday night were T-Sgt. and Mrs. N. B. Teaff and son of Lubbock. Mrs. Will Teaff and son, Auda Vee, and Ernie Popham visited with the O. J. Watson family at Gouldbusk and with the Eldon Roberts family at Abilene last week. Mrs. A. M. Smith and Kathleen and Mariam, accompanied by Keta Fern Jones are attending a music camp at Floydada this week. The Smith baby, Sylvia, is staying in the Bernie Jones home. The Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Bratton were in Snyder Sunday. He spoke at a nearby church. The intermediates of the Baptist Training Union were entertained at the Will Teaff home Thursday night. Attending the wiener roast were Hazel Shults, Harry and Bunny Smith, Gwen Cople, Oneita Jones and James Barron, who are members of one class, and the following group from the second class: Jim Bob Shults, Clinton Smith, Darrel Lee Jones, Francis Barron, Barbara Blacklock, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Maddox and daughters, Linda Bartlett and Linda Livingston. R. B. Wilson visited Sunday in Roby Hospital with his sister, Miss Bera Wilson, who has been a patient there for 10 weeks. She suffered a broken neck in a car wreck.

pal mode of transportation in Korea. "We've always been bicycle-conscious, and before World War II manufactured and exported them extensively." Woo Yong said one other Korean student, Kim Yong Ki, also of Seoul, attended Texas Tech last year to study textile engineering. Asked if he knew Kim Yong in Korea, Woo Yong shook his head. "No," he replied. "Seoul is a city of many people."

"Our textile industry is still small as compared with that of your country, but even at that we have more extensive textile operations than the entire African continent," Woo Yong said with a smile. "The only cotton grown in Korea is for the farmer's own use, and we import that used in our textile mills. Most of our cotton comes from the Lubbock area. Silk has long been our main fabric and is processed extensively." Before World War II, Korea imported most of its cotton from China and India, Woo Yong said. Following the war, however, the Reds took over China, cutting off that source of imports, and India began building large textile mills of its own, further reducing the supply. Woo Yong said a year or a year and a half at North Carolina State will complete his college education, after which he will return to Korea to become associated with the textile industry. In Korea, he first attended six years of primary school, then four years of middle school before completing his secondary education with two years of "pre-colleges" in preparation for college. Woo Yong said his biggest surprise after being in the United States for a few weeks was the diligence with which students study and the enthusiasm workers show at their jobs. "In Korea," he said, "we visualize America as a land of air-conditioning, luxury travel, and television, with the people giving little thought to anything except their own comfort." "I have learned to look upon America," he said, "as a country of steel and other minerals. My own country is almost entirely one of wood. Steel, iron and other mineral products predominate the scene in America, whereas in Korea most everything is made of wood." Woo Yong entered the Republic of Korea Army after the truce had been signed and saw no action except that of training. He doesn't think the peace in his country is a real one. "We still maintain about 20 divisions of our Army on the border of South Korea and North Korea, which is held by the Reds. We try to keep our military power built up to that of the would-be aggressors." Woo Yong, who rides a bicycle to and from his work at the Postex Mill, explained that the two-wheeled vehicle is the princi-

Whitewing Study Near '56

AUSTIN (Sp.)—Favorable reports on the current whitewind dove status promise possible ultimate resumption of open seasons on the popular game bird, reports the Assistant Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission. The Assistant Director said the Rio Grande Valley habitat area has substantial grain areas for the nesting whitewings to feed on now, in contrast to recent years, and that a survey just completed of favorite northeast Mexican feeding areas likewise was positive. Whether a 1956 harvest on whitewings, now considered unlikely, can be permitted this fall will hinge on a population count now being made in the Valley nesting grounds, said the Assistant Director. "The whitewings may not be ready yet for resumption seasons," he said, "but the trend continues to be possible within a year or so." The season on whitewings has been closed for two years and cut drastically into production. The dove was checked last year and showed an estimated 10 per cent increase over the previous year. But the Assistant Director said conditions now are in the Valley and also in northeast Mexico will just been inspected. Conditions nearby Mexico are not the Valley prospects are occasionally bulwark the nesting birds during the best season.

Farmers Gasoline Tax Refund Form May Become 'Best Seller'

A small, 3 by 7 1/2-inch government form, printed in green ink, is becoming a proverbial "best seller" in hundreds of county agents' offices, banks and Internal Revenue Service branches in practically all of the 48 states, Hawaii, Alaska and District of Columbia.

Why is it so popular? It is the form on which U. S. farmers will figure refunds from the federal tax on gasoline used on farms.

An estimated $50 million will be applied for by farmers if all of them seek the refunds each year. Agricultural officials have estimated this will amount to a saving of between $12 and $36 per average U. S. farm per year.

Ranchers, orchardists, wheat growers, cotton producers, tree farmers, poultrymen and dairymen—to mention just a few—are securing Form 2240.

Actually the form, titled "Claim for Refund of Federal Tax on Gasoline Used on a Farm," is more than that. It might well be called a long deserved and long-sought victory by farmers to gain relief from a levy from which farm payments provided no tangible reward, it is explained.

The gasoline tax, in recent years, has been maintained as a revenue producer that would help finance highway construction. The tax of two cents per gallon applied to all gasoline whether or not that gasoline was for a vehicle that used the highway.

This is where farmers found a rallying point for protest. Farmers and farm organizations argued that farm-used gasoline should not be taxed by the federal government to finance highways over which gasoline-powered farm equipment seldom if ever traveled.

The battle was lost in 1953, but this year, in January, President Eisenhower included the removal of federal taxes from farm-used gasoline as one of the key points of his legislative program.

In its definitions regarding who is eligible, the Internal Revenue Service says a "farm" includes stock, dairy, poultry, fruit, fur-bearing animal and truck farms, plantations, ranches, nurseries, ranges, greenhouses or other similar structures used primarily for the raising of agricultural or horticultural commodities, and orchards.

The Revenue Service goes a step further when it lists the type of farm operation that would require gasoline eligible for tax refunds.

In this involved definition it lists cultivating, raising or harvesting in connection with agriculture or horticultural commodities, the production of all livestock, the maintenance of bee-hives, the raising of fur-bearing animals and wildlife, and shearing, caring for or training livestock.

Another eligible use is in connection with "handling, drying, packing, grading, or storing" commodities in an unmanufactured state providing at least one half of the commodity so treated was raised by the owner, tenant or operator filing the refund claim.

Form 2240 means a saving to farmers but also represents the culmination of a successful farmer's fight for tax relief.

Claims should be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue. The period to be covered in this claim is Jan. 1, 1956, through June 30, 1956. (The period to be covered in future years will be a 1-year period ending on June 30 of any year.)

Claims should be filed on or before Oct. 1, 1956. Exact details concerning the refund claim are available with Form 2240.

FORD sets 500-mile record at Indianapolis Speedway

Again proves nobody outperforms Ford

... dramatic demonstration of the kind of performance and roadability that makes all your driving more fun in a Ford!

A Ford V-8 hurtled across the brick and asphalt surface of tough and testing Indianapolis Speedway... whirling through the tight turns and flashing over the straight stretches... to set a mark that no stock car ever reached before!

Previous to Ford's record run, no other stock car had gone even one lap at Indianapolis at 100 m.p.h., but one of Ford's laps was timed at the electrifying speed of 113.7 m.p.h. And Ford averaged over 107 m.p.h. for the full five hundred miles... close to the average set by the extremely costly, specially-built racer which won the Memorial Day "500".

Ford fully realizes that the welter of claims and counter claims about "racing victories" (many of them completely contradictory) must be confusing and disillusioning to the public. Ford ran this race against time, over the true "Classic" distance and at the most famous track in America, in order to dispel this cloud of doubt and disbelief and prove that no one outperforms Ford!

Peter de Paolo, leader of the team of drivers that piloted the winning Ford, states flatly: "No other stock car could have equalled this performance!" And Pete de Paolo should know, for he was the first driver to win the "500" Classic with a better than 100 m.p.h. average. And now he comes back with a group of drivers to establish a stock car record with the great '56 Ford!

Ford wrote this new mark large and bold in the record books. And the whole Ford did the trick. From the hood-ful of throbbing horsepower to the road-hugging rear end, Ford demonstrated that it has what it takes to make your driving more enjoyable. Convince yourself that driving a Ford can be real fun. Test drive a '56 Ford. There's a set of keys waiting for you, so come in and see us soon.

Control Measures For Cotton Insects Listed In 1956 Guide Available Here

Thrips are still reported in Garza County and other South Plains cotton fields.

Although the infestation was first reported more than two weeks ago and control measures taken by most farmers, county agricultural teachers, chemical men and others checking insects report there is still a definite presence of thrips.

Early season control measures are available from any county agent's office, many gins and chemical dealers.

The Texas guide for controlling cotton insects, under thrips and cotton fleahoppers, calls for application of either dusts or insecticides as an effective control.

Under dusts, farmers may use any of the following: 3-5-40 mixture, 2½ per cent dieldrin and 40 per cent sulphur, 2½ per cent aldrin and 40 per cent sulphur, 2½ per cent heptachlor and 40 per cent sulphur, 2½ per cent endrin and 40 per cent sulphur, 5 per cent DDT and 75 per cent sulphur, 10 per cent toxaphene and 40 per cent sulphur. Apply at 7 to 10 pounds per acre at 7-day intervals.

Under insecticides farmers may use these: Dieldrin (1.5 pounds per gallon); aldrin (2 pounds per gallon); heptachlor (2 pounds per gallon); endrin (1.6 pounds per gallon); DDT (2 pounds per gallon); and toxaphene (8 pounds per gallon). Apply sprays at 7-day intervals or less.

A half pint of spray concentrate per acre should be used with all but DDT and toxaphene, which calls for one quart.

The guide says to begin treatment when cotton is in the four-leaf stage or earlier if necessary. Two to four applications may be needed, but regardless of the number stop treatment at least 30 days before the bollworm usually appears, unless fleahopper or boll weevil infestations are extremely heavy.

This period allows sufficient time for beneficial insects to build up as an aid to bollworm control. Use maximum dosage recommended if overwintered boll weevils are present.

Sprays are more effective and economical than dusts for controlling insects on young cotton.

Spray applications may be made during wind velocities up to 12 miles per hour. Apply spray when leaves are dry. Poison "run-off" may occur if leaves are wet. For early season treatment with ground equipment, one to two cone-type nozzles per row, placed 6 to 9 inches above the tops of the plants, are sufficient. The number of nozzles should be increased to a maximum of three per row as plants increase in size.

Sprays should be applied at approximately 60 pounds pressure and at two to eight gallons per acre. As a safety measure, mount spray bombs on the rear of tractor, the guide concludes.

The Mississippi River is known as the "Father of Waters."

FURY IS UNMATCHED—Concentrated fury of a tornado is unmatched among all natural disasters. Here civil defense rescue workers search among the debris of Udall, Kan., for some of the 74 dead and hundreds injured by the twister on the night

Almost 4,000 Texas Foodhandlers Have Completed Course Prescribed By SHD

AUSTIN (Spl.)—Almost 4,000 Texas foodhandlers so far this year have won certification for having "satisfactorily completed the public health course in sanitary preparation and handling of food as prescribed by this department," the State Department of Health has announced.

Of the 3,864 embossed certificates handed out by the department's three public health instructors, 463 went to owners and managers of food establishments who attended and completed the five-day course of instruction covering all phases of sanitary food production, preparation, and service.

"We feel the accomplishment is significant," State Health Commissioner Henry A. Holle said, "since some 31 different diseases can be spread through improperly handled food and drink."

The free courses have been part of the department's health education curriculum since 1938. Most health departments over the nation conduct similar schools, but the movement originated in Texas.

Dr. Holle said school lunch room workers, who annually serve 114 million lunches to Texas school children, "are always among the most faithful patrons of the courses."

Instructors, working out of the Division of Health Education, are assigned to specific cities or towns on request of local health officials. Working in concert with county sanitarians, they cover the whole range of sanitary foodhandling.

Instruction, said the department, "is tailored to interest anyone engaged in any way with food—from housewives and dairymen to candy wrappers and barbecue chefs."

Consisting of five two-hour sessions of lectures, demonstrations, and films, the schools cover:

First day—bacteriology, second day—food contamination, third day—methods of controlling disease spreaders, fourth day—laws governing the operation of food-handling establishments, fifth day—personal hygiene.

Students who successfully complete the classes are awarded "certificates of competency," and when 80 per cent of the employes of a given food establishment win certificates the establishment is presented a "placard of approval."

Of the 29 schools held to date this year, four have been attended exclusively by kitchen and dining room personnel of state hospitals, the department said.

City ordinances have been passed in Abilene, El Paso, Big Spring, Midland, and West University Place in Harris County, which make attendance at the schools compulsory for all foodhandlers working within the city. Other cities are contemplating similar ordinances.

PAYMENTS OF $292,811 GO TO 7,154 PEOPLE

Close Of 1955 Sees Big Increase In Area Social Security Payments

Social security payments totaling $292,811 went to 7,154 people in the South Plains area in the month of December 1955, according to John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock Social Security office. This was an increase of more than 30 per cent over payments at the end of 1954.

In making this announcement today, Hutton said that many persons think of the old-age and survivors insurance program as providing protection only for older men and women. He made it clear that it is also a program benefiting youngsters. At the end of 1955, nationwide, about 1,275,000 children under age 18 were receiving monthly benefit payments under the social security law. Of these, 120,000 were being paid monthly dependent's benefits because of the retirement of an aged parent; the others were receiving survivors benefits as children of a deceased parent. Hutton pointed out that about four times as many orphaned children are receiving benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance program as are being helped under the Federal-State program for aid to dependent children. Nation-wide, almost 300,000 mothers of children under age 18 were receiving monthly survivors insurance benefits under social security at the end of 1955.

As a further illustration of the protection Federal Survivors insurance now provides for the young people of the country, Hutton pointed out that the mothers and children in 9 out of 10 American families can receive monthly survivors insurance benefits, if death should take the family breadwinner. More than half of all young children in the continental United States whose fathers have died were receiving social security benefits at the end of 1955.

"With the bringing in of many groups of employed and self-employed persons previously excluded, the old-age and survivors insurance program achieved almost universal coverage at the beginning of 1955," Hutton said. He pointed out that an estimated 68 million persons had taxable earnings under the program in calendar year 1955. Some 70 million workers were insured as the year came to an end. Of this number, 32 million are permanently insured and can qualify for old-age benefits at age 65, regardless of future employment; likewise, in the event of death, their survivors can qualify for monthly benefits, lump-sum death payments, or both.

When a worker retires or dies, he or his survivors are urged to visit, phone or write the Lubbock social security office for assistance in making claim for benefits.

"In fact," Hutton said, "the social security office should be contacted (1) when a worker reaches age 65, regardless of retirement, (2) when he reaches age 72, regardless of earnings, (3) when an insured member in a family dies, and (4) when a worker becomes disabled for any gainful employment or self-employment."

Non-Member Cities Asked For Decisions On Water Project

Post is one of 13 non-member cities which has been asked by the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority to make a decision on their plans to participate in the project by Aug. 13.

Mayor James Minor said this week that the City of Post does not plan to participate in the project, since construction of a pipe line to the main line and other costs would boost the price of the water to about 43 cents a gallon. Instead, he said, city officials will concentrate on the White River Dam project now under way.

The Canadian River Authority has been conducting conferences with the 13 non-member cities on the project for the past several months. In addition, Reese Air Force Base has asked for inclusion in the project on the basis of a million gallons of water per day.

Other non-member cities which will be requested to present the resolutions on the water contract elections include Canyon, Tulla, Happy, Kress, Hale Center, Abilene, Ralls, Lorenson, Crosby, Idarola and Midland.

Area Cotton Insect Report Shows Thrips Are Still Major Problem

Light to occasional heavy rains fell over the South Plains area during the past week, reports the Cotton Insect Situation release compiled by the Extension Service. Where rains were heavy, the report said, insect infestations were often reduced to a marked degree. Since thrips continued to move into cotton fields in large numbers, infestations often built up rapidly following the heavy rains.

Thrips continued to be the major problem in most locations. Infestations ranged from light on scattered late planted cotton to medium or heavy in most other fields. Damage was generally easily detected by very small and deformed leaves, many of which had irregular holes. Where cotton had reached the stage of squaring, the presence of tiny dead squares and an excessive number of small leaves also indicated thrip damage.

Where good insecticide applications were made, thrips have been satisfactorily controlled. In some cases where the insects have continued to migrate to cotton fields in large numbers, the interval between treatments has been shortened to five or six days. Poor control has usually been the result of improper application. Good applications will be secured when spray nozzles are operated only high enough above plants to secure complete coverage. This distance has been found to be six to eight inches above the plants. One type nozzle should be used with only one nozzle to each row. Sprays should be applied at 60 pounds pressure.

Fleahoppers were reported in light infestations on early planted cotton. The insects were not

Better To Get There Late Than Not At All, Sheriff Warns Motorists

"Arrive Alive—Slow Down and Live!" That's the slogan of the current speed control program which the Texas Safety Association, the Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council are sponsoring this month in cooperation with the "Slow Down and Live" program of the National Conference of State Safety Coordinators. It's also a pretty good maxim for any motorist to live by.

In commenting on the program, Garza County Sheriff Carl Rains stressed the necessity of impressing the average driver with the importance of setting his speed to suit the prevailing conditions.

"Much has been said about the speed demon's role in the traffic accident toll, and rightly so," Rains said. "But too many people lose sight of the fact that many drivers invite accidents by driving at speeds too fast for conditions, even though these speeds are far below what is thought of as 'burning up the road'."

The sheriff said the average driver should check constantly to see that his speed is safe for conditions of weather, traffic, road, the mechanical condition of his car and his own physical and mental condition at the time.

"Much of the dangerous haste that involves ordinary drivers in traffic accidents comes from the too-prevalent habit of not allowing enough time for the daily schedule," he said. "Trying to make up a few minutes in traffic can be deadly."

He pointed out that the driver who is obsessed with making time will not slow down for heavy traffic, slippery or rough roads, reduced visibility, fatigue or other physical disability. Moreover, his preoccupation with the time element impairs his judgment.

"My advice to drivers is to allow enough time to make the journey without pressure," the sheriff said. "If you do happen to get a late start, don't try to make up time on the way. It's better to get there late than not at all."

Broilers, Ice Cream Feature Foods On July Plentiful List

Feature foods for the month of July are listed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as broilers and ice cream, according to Miss Jessie Pearce, Garza County home demonstration agent.

The total list includes more than a dozen foods. Cantaloupes and watermelons are expected to dominate the fresh produce markets along with fresh summer vegetables. Movement from the areas of heavy production is stepping up and supplies increasing, say the marketing experts.

Fresh and processed lemons and limes are the only fruits listed on the July plentiful list.

Milk production is still running far ahead of last year and all dairy products are just about as abundant this month as last.

Turkeys, canned cranberry sauce, peanut butter, canned tuna in oil and pinto beans round out the list for the Southwestern area.

For the family picnics and weekend outings, Miss Pearce says, you can't beat a menu made up of foods which are now in heavy supply—fried or barbecued chicken, fresh vegetables, iced watermelons or cantaloupes plus dairy products.

Bankers Of Texas Raise Funds For 4-H Foundation

AMARILLO (Spl.) — Four-H Club work throughout the nation will benefit from a special fund now being raised by Texas bankers. These longtime friends and supporters of 4-H under the leadership of Art. P. Bralley, vice-president of Amarillo's American National Bank have joined in a national fund raising effort in behalf of the National 4-H Club Foundation.

Bralley is state chairman and J. W. Tapp, chairman of the Board of the Bank of America, is the national chairman for the program.

The state chairman has told Texas bankers that the National 4-H Club Foundation is a non-profit, educational organization which not only helps improve and expand 4-H club work in the United States but also provides an opportunity for our young people to promote work understanding and peace.

Currently, Bralley said the Foundation is supporting the International Farm Youth Exchange program which exchanges rural youth between the U. S. and other countries; is engaged in establishing and operating the National 4-H Club Center; conducting a citizenship improvement study in which Texas is participating as a pilot state and sponsoring a workshop program in human relations training for youth leaders. Bralley said 10 Texas 4-H leaders have attended one of the workshop sessions.

The Amarillo banker said that many banks are supporting 4-H club work on the local level but urged all banks to give consideration to the support of the National 4-H Club Foundation.
