Members Of C. Of C. Urge Hospital Project

During the Post Chamber of Commerce's membership campaign, which ends this month, members and prospective members received a letter concerning their dues and asking for suggestions for Chamber of Commerce projects.

The response was gratifying, from the standpoint of renewals, new members and suggestions, the Board of Directors announced.

The suggestions, a large number of which concerned the proposed hospital, were reviewed at a meeting of the board Monday night at the City Hall. Some of the letters received by the chamber of commerce on the subject of a hospital here will be published in the Post Dispatch.

As the hospital and other projects under consideration are for the good of the entire community, a special effort is being made to have a 100 per cent enrollment of business firms on the C. of C. roster. The complete list of members in good standing will be published in next week's issue of the Post Dispatch.

Total sales of U. S. Savings Bonds in Garza County during the Security Loan Campaign were $46,572.00, according to T. R. Greenfield, County Savings Bonds Chairman. He received sales figures this week from state savings bonds headquarters in Dallas.

The county's quota was $65,000. The Security Loan Campaign was launched on April 15 and continued through June 30, with sales through July 15 being credited to county quotas. Of the county's total sales, Series E Bonds accounted for $29,850.

Building May Be Ready By Nov. 1 For Hot Lunches

The contract to build a new cafeteria on the southeast corner of the grade school grounds was let to Elbert (Lefty) Davies last week by the Post Independent School Board.

Construction was to get underway within 10 days and the project is to be completed within 90 days, Supt. G. R. Day said yesterday.

The building will be 40 by 64 ft., the dimensions including a store room, kitchen and dining room.

Arrangements are being made to serve hot lunches each school day noon to the school students and faculty. Mrs. M. C. Pennington has been employed as head cook. Other workers will be selected later, Day said. Mrs. Pennington was in charge of food for the lunch room project last year.

Tax Valuation In City Is Increased

In recent meetings, the Board of Equalization for the Post Independent School District set the tax valuation for the district at approximately $5,600,000, an increase of approximately $1,600,000 above last year's valuation.

The increase is largely due to the increase in oil properties and it does not effect the present tax rate, which is $1 per $100 valuation.

Stephens Requests Dismissal Of Suit On Bowen Election

J. E. Stephens, in whose name a suit was filed last week to contest the first primary vote for Garza County Judge, filed a motion Saturday to dismiss the suit which was to have been heard Tuesday by District Judge Lewis B. Reed of Lamesa.

According to the official canvass, Judge J. Lee Bowen, incumbent, won over Stephens by two votes. The suit alleged the ballots cast in the "Two Draw" voting box were void because the precinct election judge failed to initial each ballot before it was placed in the box and asked that Stephens be declared the nominee for the office of county judge.

Fertilizer To Be More Plentiful During Next Year

Three developments have taken place recently following Congressional action of the International Emergency Food Committee. These changes will boost the nitrogen fertilizer supply of the next 12 months up to ten per cent over last year's total, says
M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist of Texas A.
and M. College.

The expected increase will make available over 900 thousand tons more than was had last year. Even though there has been an improvement in the supplies of world fertilizer nitrogen as compared with last year, the expected supply from now on until next July will still fall short of world demand.

The first of these developments that will bring more nitrogen fertilizer is the increase of smaller country imports and the private production. The amount the United States will get from the small countries such as Chile, Canada and Norway will amount to something like 26,500 tons of the ten per cent increase.

The other two developments deal with army production at the US government plants. One provides that ten per cent of the anhydrous ammonia that is produced at these plants will be turned over to commercial plants to be changed into fertilizer for farm use. In numbers, this will amount to around 28 thousand tons.

The other development is that half of the coming year's exports of nitrogen fertilizer shall be made up of army production.
Since the coming year's expected exports will be close to 61 thousand tons, 31,000 tons will be on hand for domestic use.

With all this talk about thousands of tons of fertilizer, it sounds as if there will be enough for everybody, says Thornton. But even with this expected increase, the world will still be a little short on nitrogen fertilizer.

Permanent Storage For Grains Urged By PMA Committee

Effectiveness of the 1948 49 price support program for wheat, corn and other grains covered by the Government support program depends on the cooperation of farmers themselves, stated B. F. Vance, chairman of the Texas Committee of the Production and Marketing Administration.

No farmer needs to take less than the support price for his grain if he will avail himself of the provisions of the price support program, the chairman explains. But it is up to the individual farmer to use the program before it can be effective in supporting prices for him.

Both loans and purchase agreements are available to support the prices of wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums. Where a farmer needs the money, he can obtain a loan at specified rates providing the grain is properly stored. Under the purchase agreement provision, the farmer specifies in the agreement the quantity of grain to be supported. He holds title to the grain and may sell it on the open market if he wishes. But under the terms of the agreement, the Commodity Credit Corporation stands ready to accept any quantity of the grain up to the quantity specified in the agreement and pay the support price for it. Acceptance of the grain by CCC is subject to grade specifications as outlined in the purchase agreement.

This year the combined crop of corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums is expected to produce 6,444 million bushels. That is a billion bushels more than last year and 1 1/2 billion bushels more than the pre-war average. Considering corn alone, storage will be needed for about 600 million bushels.

With little prospect of additional terminal and country elevator storage, it is up to farmers to provide the additional storage, the chairman explains. Loans will be made on grain in acceptable temporary storage on farms. Action by farmers to provide permanent storage for their grain also is urged by the chairman, since grain stored on farms is a stabilizing factor in supporting prices. More farm storage means that farmers will be able to spread marketing over the year instead of over-taxing marketing facilities at harvest time.

Soils don't wear out like a pair of shoes. They can be used and made better at the same time. They can become poor through use and can be rebuilt, says Dr. C. E. Kellogg, in charge of the USDA Division of Soil Survey.

Tips On Worming Of Pigs Offered By County Agent

Pigs that are fed a good ration and still remain unthrifty are likely to have roundworms. Likewise, if you raise a litter of pigs on ground that was formerly occupied by pigs, there is a good chance that the second litter will have roundworms. Robert H. Gibson, Garza County agricultural agent, says that these worms may be passed right on out through the body and onto the ground. An examination of the pig lot may show presence of these roundworms. They can be identified as being large, thick yellow or pink worms about lead pencil size.

Weaned pigs of any age may be wormed, but the best time to worm pigs is two or three weeks after weaning. Pigs are weaned at around 56 days of age, so when a pig is two and a half months old, this is a good time to worm them. For best results, move the pigs to a concrete floor, worm them and bring them back to the pen or pasture after three days.

Another method is to worm them in the original pen, and later move them to a different pen, or out to the pasture three days after worming. Moving the pigs helps break down the worm's life cycle, and thus reduces the number of worms.

Sodium fluoride is the best chemical to use for worming pigs because it is 90 per cent or better effective, the cost is low, it is easy to get, and it is not harmful to the pig if given as directed.

Gibson suggests not to worm over six to 10 pigs at one time. Directions call for one pound of sodium fluoride mixed thoroughly with 100 pounds of dry feed. If you don't have that many pigs, mix one teaspoon with one pound of dry feed for every pig weighing 25-35 pounds. Some of the larger pigs may be given another pound 12 hours after the first dose. If a second worming is required, repeat the treatment in 30 days.

Two wormings will probably be enough unless the pigs are left on ground that is severely infested with roundworms. Important: keep in mind, says Gibson, that sodium fluoride is a poison, and if it is improperly mixed, or too much is used, the pigs may be poisoned.

Lead is absolutely vital to telephone service. Today it would require a pole 1000 feet high to hold all of the connecting telephone wires now placed in a single 3-inch lead-covered cable.

Our expansion program, although proceeding at a fast pace, would be completed even faster if it were not for this continued shortage of vitally needed lead.

Baseball Fans Can Show Appreciation By Supporting Millers In Season's Finale

Post baseball fans are urged to attend the last few games of the season to show their appreciation of the Post Millers for their excellent showing in the Oil Belt League.

A large crowd is expected to attend the game with Denver City in the Postex Park at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. It will be a return Oil Belt League match which was rained out on its original schedule.

The Millers and Denver City at present are tied for fourth place in the league standings.

Wendell Greer and Lefty Faulkner are scheduled to pitch. Because of injuries to a couple of players, the Millers have had tough luck in their last two games. They lost 8-4 to Sunday on August 21.

Tuesday night the Millers took a 17-2 defeat from Knox City in the Postex Park. A highlight of the game was the home run made by Dell Hester after losing the ball in the weeds.

The Millers will meet Seagraves in the Postex Park at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in a regularly scheduled match. With this and three other games scheduled for the season's finale, the Millers stand an excellent chance of winning a place in the finals.

They will go to Levelland Sunday, August 22, for a double-header. A game with Slaton here on August 29 will complete the schedule.

The clippings are on display in the Chamber of Commerce office, headquarters for the junior rodeo.

The rodeo is being sponsored by the Post Stampede and Rodeo Association and the C. of C. in connection with the annual Boys' and Girls' 4-H Show, September 17 and 18.

Several members of the Church of Christ attended a series of lectures given at the Broadway Church of Christ in Lubbock, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday by Otis Gatewood, director of a mission in Germany. Mr. and Mrs. Gatewood, who make their home in Lubbock, are well known in this district. They adopted a 16-month-old German refugee child several months before leaving Germany and received the final adoption papers last week. Much of the work of the mission is with displaced persons and refugee children. Gatewood's mission work is underwritten by the Lubbock church. He is scheduled for a speaking tour that includes several Texas places and some of the larger cities over the nation before he and Mrs. Gatewood return to Germany.

Another mission worker who is well known in this area and who preached at the local Church of Christ a number of times last year, is Cline Paden. ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK:

Competitive Spirit Is Essential To American Way

Gloucester, Mass.—I recently read an article in an educational journal which takes business men to task for encouraging rivalry and competition in the schoolroom. The article implies that the educator who encourages competition among his pupils is "sowing the seeds of war in the classrooms." This is a lot of bosh.

The other day I was talking with some fishermen here in Gloucester who are afraid of competition. They fear competition from Canada—competition from Japan—and competition among themselves. They are depending upon their labor leaders to "save them from competition." The same is true of many another product of land and sea. Yet the railroads that cross the country, the immense steel mills, the towering grain elevators—all these have grown up out of keen competition.

I got to thinking about an incident that happened a dozen years ago in London. There, at the American Consulate, was Sikorsky, our great plane designer. He was en route to see his brother, a monk in one of the monasteries of the holy Mount Athos in Greece. Both men were white Russian refugees. Uprooted from their homes and with plans for their lives disrupted, one brother ran away from life, but the other put his wits to work. One was afraid of competition; the other asked for it. And we all know the result.

Psychology And Adjustment

There are certain sensible psychologists who say that a well-adjusted man is one who has learned to take the bitter with the sweet. In short, he learns to adjust to his environment. A look about you will tell you that your environment is highly competitive. God made it that way. That's what he gave us brains for.

Competitive Spirit

Down through the years the creatures which have failed to compete successfully with the forces opposed to them, have given way to those which could meet the conditions imposed upon them. The bones of those who feared competition fill the cemeteries; while the bones of those who have enjoyed competition are found in museums. What happened to the great Inca civilization of South America? Where is the great Pueblo culture of our Southwest? Gone too are the cultures of ancient Athens and Rome. Must we follow these others because we will not compete?

Competition Accomplishes

What do you suppose would happen to Joe Di Maggio if the New York ball club didn't have competition? Only the competition which Henry Ford forced made it possible for lots of us to own cars. The competition between oil companies has given us cheap gasoline to run these cars with. Because no one organization—yet—monopolizes the electric field, we have electric lights in our houses. Not only city homes but the farms too have lights, electrically powered machines in the barns and electric stoves in the kitchens. Most of the good things we have today we owe to competition and inventors.

Remember those days in the early and mid-thirties when we left behind the "Man with the Hoe" and substituted for him "Six Men and a Shovel"? The competitive spirit all but died out in those days. What took its place was no credit to the United States. Certainly as Christians we must—and are willing to—care for those in need. But a little effort to "Strive and Succeed" is necessary to keep America going.

Competition is stimulating things done. Rivalry is American. Whether we like it or not we live in a competitive world and a competitive age. Whether manufacturers, merchants, farmers or fishermen, let's prepare our children to take their rightful places in the competition they will have to face. Competition and rivalry make for productivity.

GETTING OUT On The LIMB
By EDDIE the EDITOR

As long as we have human beings, we'll have politics, and as long as we have politics, we'll have certain campaign periods in which almost everybody indulges in gossiping, propagandizing, spreading of little white lies, mud-slinging, undermining and some other sins—all of which are forgiven by everybody well in advance of the next campaign.

This is a normal procedure. It's like saying "ain't"—widespread usage makes it somewhat acceptable.

One of reporters got a little mixed up a week or two ago in writing about the forthcoming School Consolidation election.

Supt. G. R. Day was quoted as saying the Post grade school will continue to take the grade school children from the Cross Roads, Hartford and Barnum Springs School Districts whether or not the consolidation election carries on August 21.

This is wrong. The cost of school operation has increased to such an extent that it is no longer economically feasible to take these children.

The children from those three common school districts, cannot continue to come to the Post Grade School. The funds available for such practice are not sufficient to meet the needs.

I'm sorry we made this error and we all sincerely hope that the mistake will not affect the returns of the election.

As we have stated before, this proposed consolidation is for the general good of the community and the mutual benefit of the three common school districts and we hope the people can see it the same way when they go to vote on August 21.

And I stand corrected on something else: School teachers are still hard to get. Superintendent Day tells me that there just aren't enough primary teachers to go around in the state of Texas.

Post is highly fortunate in having some excellent primary teachers.

So, in view of this, I'm going to postpone what I had in mind to say about teachers until the dim, distant future when there are plenty of them.

It seems to me that teaching school should be quite a good field for our young people to go into now, because it isn't too crowded.

A lot has happened to the school teaching profession since the day when teachers were plentiful. The scarcity has awakened both the colleges and the school boards of the nation to the needs of better teacher training facilities and raising the standards of the profession. This is all for the good of our own community. In a very few years, we will start seeing the results.

There are recognized tests available for ascertaining a person's tolerance, his ability to get across to others the knowledge that he acquired in college, his ability to command respect and discipline without appearing to shake a big stick, his ability to get along with his fellow teachers, the parents and his superintendent and principal, and his natural attitude toward his profession.

A teacher who takes a job just because it will pay her room and board can't possibly be as sincere in her work as the teacher who took up the profession because she loves children and has a respect for education.

By EVELYN BOYD

I like H. I. Phillips' "idea for any party platform" as published in a recent issue of the New York Sun. It says, in part:

1. We stand for a platform the average man and woman will read all the way through, without an offer of cash prizes.
2. We are for a return to the day when every American felt that he could buy a pair of shoes, a full course dinner and a shave without leaving himself open to charges of extravagance.
3. We promise to bring back the nickel as a factor in American economy and to work for the return of the era when a man would bother to bend over to pick up a dime.
4. We are for the return of an automobile that a man can buy without putting up his life's savings.
5. We pledge a campaign for a Government stand for better cooking in lunchrooms and with definite standards requiring that a pork chop be cooked through, that minced rubber be kept out of hamburgers and that no fried egg be served which resembles a charred toboggan tassel.
6. We denounce the way traffic is being handled in every city, town and hamlet in the U. S. A.
7. We stand firmly for a 50 per cent cut in the number of people parading around with banners calling the boss unfair.
8. We favor more chicken in chicken pies and are against French fries as compulsory with a dinner order.
9. We are for a return of the happy day before so many people got thin skinned over dialect stories and could read Potash & Perlmutter, the Dooley papers or any Harry Lauder stuff without declaring it a sign of racial discrimination and bigotry.
10. We think the holdog could be cooked with less grease.
11. We stand firmly for noiseless popcorn in movie houses.
12. We stand for the return of the era when a kid would do an errand for 50 cents.
13. We are against the Japanese ocell, moths in flannel suits, the over-exploitation of chocolate bars, caraway seeds in bread, ants in the pants and

Not every person who goes through college and gets a B.A., master's or even a Ph.D. degree has brains enough to teach school. Very often a person who hasn't been exposed to much education is a better teacher because he happens to be able to impart the little bit of knowledge that he does have.

Our school system is no better than our teachers. If we do not have good teachers, it does not matter how fine our school buildings are. Children don't learn any more in a big, sprawling, beautiful building than they do in a one-room little red school house if they don't have good teachers.

So once again the teaching profession offers a challenge to our college-age young folks. It offers a future, and there isn't a more important field for them to enter.

the lack of adequate tire changing tools in automobiles.

14. We promise to restore money to its former position as money and to end conditions through which it is easily confused with waste paper.
15. We are for less grinning in public life.
16. We are against Federal operation of diaper service.
17. We promise a national program to make available more baby sitters.
18. We are opposed to double features, two goosefeather mattresses in every bed and a jack-pot on every air program.

Phillips is my favorite columnist. He is the best writer of satire in the business. As I am too poor to subscribe to the New York Sun, in addition to a long list of other publications that I take, my sister, Dezzie, clips them for me every day and mails them to me once a week. She also throws in some Westbrook Pegler columns and a variety of other interesting clippings. Readers of this column have her and Dick to thank for much of the odd little bits passed along in this space now and then.

Everybody is squawking about high prices, but despite their squawks most economists are saying they will go even higher until after the election is over and the new year sets in.

This is an election year and many a candidate is using price control as a device to woo the voters. The American people MUST NOT be carried away by the kind of hysteria that believes that more laws, more controls and more political domination of the economy can provide the answer.

Nobody will produce goods at a price which is too low to return a profit. The greatest beneficiary from price control is the black marketeer.

The common argument that high prices are largely the result of conscienceless profits should be scotched. Competition is the best means of limiting profits that ever existed.

The typical retailer in general merchandise earns a profit of around five cents on each dollar you spend with him. In the food field, with its fast turnover, he earns less than two cents. The profits of manufacturers are usually about six per cent, and are often less. Certainly no one can say that this is an excessive wage for the enormous service business renders the United States.

What Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

JUST TALK—If private business were operated like state, national and City businesses are operated the private businesses would go bankrupt in less than six months. It seems a shame that so much money is spent to train men in many public offices and then make them spend most of it in efforts to hold the office.—Slaton Slatonite.

SNYDER TO BE LIGHTED—With signing of a contract last week by the Snyder City Council with the Texas Electric Service Company for four score of the new mercury vapor street lights for the city, the old town is scheduled to "throw some new light on the subject." Work on installation of the new lighting system is slated to get underway within the next several weeks.

Many area towns have installed the new mercury vapor lights that have brought them out of the semi-darkness provided by old-time methods. Among towns in this section recently putting in the lights are Roby, Sweetwater, Hamlin, Breckenridge, Roscoe, Big Spring and Lamesa.—Scurry County Times.

IT SEZ HERE—Fourteen Democrats of contrasting shades of party loyalty met in Crosbyton Saturday to appoint delegates to the state convention at Ft. Worth. Proceedings were admirably inane. Following tradition, every question was voted down. Obviously pleased at being so hard to get along with, the county's party brains voted to send an un instructed delegation to Ft. Worth. Because, as one man put it, "They'd be in a position to trade out" with somebody. He meant "sell out." It's a virtue in politics: a man is known by the means and methods by which he "sells out." Another brightly suggested that an un instructed delegate always gets free beer and stands a chance of getting his expenses paid by doing the bidding of big boys who, after all, "run the convention and there's no use bucking them anyway." Anyway, five delegates whose allegiance and political convictions are as unexplored as the bottom of a gopher hole will tell the party at Ft. Worth that they represent 12,000 people of Crosby County. And that will be, modestly speaking, a serious distortion of the truth. Only 14 know who the delegates are! Only 5 know whether they're Dixiecrat, pro-Truman or Republican! There's one nice thing about a Texas Democrat: he saves his fury and oratory for a large audience. Why blow the top to 14 neighbors when you can tell off a thousand in Ft. Worth and get photographed by the Star-Telegram in the act of reading the riot act to party members who are impressed only by the fact the delegate is hogging the publicity? No issue was settled at Crosbyton. No loyalty and no pledge was expected of delegates. The latter have no responsibility to anyone. They do not know yet what they're "fer" or "agin." They'll make up THEIR minds at the convention. The five will sell their influence at Ft. Worth to the highest bidder. Thus 12,000 people will have absolutely no influence in formation of a party platform which they will be more or less committed the next few years. That makes the average man's influence in government as futile as a paper shirt in a bear fight.—Ralls Banner.

WOE TO US—If we ever get past the Presidential election without getting in war things should settle down to better conditions than we have had in many generations. The Russians will either back down before that time or we will be in war and if war does come the civilians will really have it tough. Many weeklies are barely able to get their papers out now because of paper shortage, if a war comes most weeklies will likely have to close up. And the folks with new cars will not likely be much better off than those of us who have creeping wrecks for the Government will most surely ration gasoline more stringently than they did in the last war. Its tough to think about.—Slaton Slatonite.

END SPENDING SPREE—The "Cold War" now being fought by Russia and the U. S. is not a war between nations but actually a war between two ways of life. It is a strange paradox indeed, then, that while we spend billions of dollars to help other nations keep out of the clutches of Russia's system, we are at the same time spending billions of dollars to help wreck our own. For that will be the inevitable result if the reckless federal spending spree is not ended, and with it the crushing taxation that is already lowering our standard of living and destroying the incentive that made America what it is.

Too many people take too little interest in our government's extravagance; they feel it does not affect them much, if any. But it does. It has a direct effect upon the constantly increasing prices that affect every man, woman and child. For the money the government spends is the people's money, and the more it spends, the less there is left for the people to spend for

Mrs. Claude Rains' Brother Dies From Burns In Collision

The Rev. and Mrs. Claude Rains and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rains, attended funeral services in Tucumcari, N. M., Wednesday for Mrs. Claude Rains' 26-year-old brother, Gene Jackson of Amarillo, who died Sunday night from injuries received in an automobile collision.

The accident happened two miles west of Vega when Jackson's car was sideswiped by another vehicle. Highway patrolmen investigating the mishap said the gasoline tank of Jackson's car apparently was broken by the impact then sparks from the pavement probably caught on fire. Jackson suffered from second and third degree burns. He died in an Amarillo hospital.

Mitchell Light of Cleveland, O., driver of the other vehicle, apparently was uninjured.

Shortly after the collision, Jackson's young nephew, Walter Ray Jackson of Adrian, chanced to be riding a bus which stopped at the scene of the accident. He recognized his uncle's car and the blanket and boots belonging to his uncle, but he said his uncle was burned beyond identification. A passing motorist took the boy to Adrian to inform his father, Calvin Jackson, while an ambulance took the victim to Amarillo.

Jackson's wife and baby were visiting in Wichita Falls at the time of the accident. The Rev. and Mrs. Rains, on receiving the news, left for Amarillo Saturday. They returned here Monday.

Jackson, an employee at the smelter near Amarillo, had lived in Amarillo three years. He was reared in Tucumcari.

"Mrs. Bailey Post" Thanked For Work

Mrs. F. I. Bailey thinks it is possible that she is "Mrs. Bailey Post" for whom a technical sergeant stationed in Alaska recently sent a "thank you for a Red Cross package of sterile bandage" sent from Stamford in October, 1944.

The letter, which was published in part in the Abilene Reporter-News Sunday, was from T-Sgt. Charles A. Borcham who said "Your package was useful the 1st of July, '48, during an operation of a soldier here in Whittier for appendicitis. The soldier, Billy Johnson, is a Texan who "has recovered quite well and is almost ready for duty."

Mrs. Bailey said the sterile bandages packed here were sent, with names of the worker inside each package, to Stamford for shipment. The notes inside the packages she packed said "Mrs. Bailey, Post."
