Mother's March On Polio Is Slated For Tomorrow Night

Mother's March on Polio is the March of Dimes fund raising one big item left on the 1952 campaign in Post, Chairman Dave Willis said.

POST GIRL RETURNS TO CLINIC — Cherry Dodson, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Dodson, of Post, was reported "somewhat" better at the Plainview Polio Clinic Wednesday. Cherry, who only recently returned home from the clinic after being stricken with the malady, was carried there Sunday in a critical condition. This picture was taken Friday afternoon. EXTRA EASY CASH

There is a method of making extra spending money at low cost expenditure. All you need to have is something to sell . . . a used living room set . . . stove . . . bed . . . anything you have that still retains value though you no longer need it. Then call 111 and place your ad in the want ads. There's nothing to it, and you will be surprised at how quickly the money rolls in. Place that Want Ad in the Post Dispatch today!

Mrs. Hagood's Rites To Be This Afternoon

Funeral services for Mrs. Hattie Hagood are to be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Methodist church. The Rev. J. E. Stephens, of Wil- son, and the Rev. Joe E. Boyd, pastor will officiate. The body arrived by train last night, from Modesto, Calif., where she died in the Stani Claus hospital Sunday. Mason Funeral home is in charge of arrangements. Burial will be in Terrace cemetery.

The drive will be conducted from 7 'til 8 p. m. Friday night (that's tomorrow night). Although the original date for that drive was scheduled for tonight, Willis and Mrs. John Lott, chair- man of the women's division, postponed it because of the Ed- gar Bergen show.

Another change has been an- nounced by Willis also. The na- tional march is usually con- ducted on an invitation basis. Peo- ple wanting to contribute to the March of Dimes usually leave a light burning. Willis says that every house in Post will be con- tacted, light or no light. In case anyone finds it impossible to be home at that time they may mail their contribution to the March of Dimes, Post, giving their street address so the donation can be credited to the mother working that block.

Kickoff for the March will be the Fire Whistle and Fire Trucks cruising around town. Mothers are urged to begin promptly at 7 p. m. Block mothers are to count the money and turn it over to the group captains who will turn it over to Mrs. Lott by 10 a. m. Saturday.

Four New Members Join Bergen Show

The Edgar Bergen - Charlie Mc- Carthy show promises to be big- ger than ever with the addition of four new members to the cast. These include the Pepper Sisters and Will Ahern, magi- cian.

Bergen's personal representa- tive, Irwin Franklyn, informed the Dispatch Friday that the four had been added to the troupe and that the show would be at least a two hour event of comedy, music, magic and dancing.

Also included in the cast will be Frances Westerman Bergen, former top New York photogra- pher's model and actress. And Domenic Frontiere, well known accordionist.

The Pepper Sisters are origi- nally from Tennessee. They starred for two years on the Horace Heidt show and are now on tele- vision and in pictures.

Will Ahern is a past master at the art of magic. He starred three years in the Broadway pro- duction of "Hellzapoppin'." And don't forget the "big" stars of the show — Charlie, Mortimer Snerd and Effie Klinker. You know Effie! She is the old maid school teacher who experiences such a difficulty finding a man on the Sunday evening radio show over CBS.

Two-Hour Bergen Show Is Slated For Football Stadium At 8 P. M. Tonight

Tonight is the night the South Plains residents have been waiting for. The Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy show is slated to get underway promptly at 8 p. m. in the High School football field.

Featuring Edgar, Charlie and Mortimer as the "stars" of the show, the two-hour performance also will include some of the best entertainers of the country. Sharing the singing honors will be the new additions to the program, The Pepper sisters. This talented trio of singers hail from Tennessee and toured the United States for two years as stars of the Horace Heidt show. Magic is to play an important part in the show. Will Ahern, star for three years in the Broad- way production of "Hellzapop- pin," is scheduled to mystify the audience with his art of magic and illusion.

Music? Naturally. Domenic Frontiere will supply the music. Acclaimed as one of the best accordian players on the West Coast, Frontiere is much in demand. Jerry Marlowe, composer and pianist, will provide the classical and boogie on the key- board.

Thousands of South Plains resi- dents are expected to jam the football stadium tonight for this benefit performance to help raise funds for the Garza Memorial Hospital now under construction. Bergen's generous donation of his time and talent is a "thank you" to the people of Post for their response in his recent Opera- tions Santa Claus.

Of course the stars of the show in every sense of the word will be the "wolfish" Charlie, the somewhat "thick headed" but lovable Mortimer and their fe- male counterpart Effie Klinker. Effie plays the part of the old maid school teacher that cannot find a man.

Tickets will remain on sale at the American Cafe, Pure Food Market and Chamber of Com- merce until 5 p. m. today. Get yours now. Admission prices are $3 reserve seats, $2 general admission adults, and $1 general admission children.

Buy your tickets and attend the BIG Edgar Bergen-Charlie benefit show at the high school football stadium at 8 p. m. to- day. You will go away feeling you have seen the best program in your life and also with the feeling that the money will be used to help you and the other residents of the county.

For every penny that is taken in goes toward the new hospital.

Methodist Youth Fellowship Renews Sponsorship Of Boy

The Methodist Youth Fellow- ship of Post has just renewed its sponsorship of a needy child in France through the Save the Children Federation according to an announcement from Ross Morrow, treasurer of the group. Daniel Parage, 16-year-old French boy, has again been as- sured of help through the effort of the local Fellowship. Under- taken at a cost of $96 the spon- sorship will enable the Save the Children Federation to send the boy a complete outfit of clothing, shoes, and regular supplement- ary rations of food, textiles, or money, depending on individual need, for the next year.

Participation in the Save the Children Federation was begun by the Methodist Youth Fellow- ship, which includes the Young People, taught by John Lott, and the Intermediate group taught by Mrs. Lott, six years ago.

They have sponsored Daniel through the six years. Daniel is the son of Mme. Parage. His father was an employee of a rail- road company and was sent to a concentration camp in Germany in retaliation for sabotage which happened in M Parage's district.

After the war he returned home, but life in the camp had ruined his health and he died leaving an ill wife to supply the needs of the family. The rail- road company gave aid, and then the Post Methodist Youth Fellow- ship volunteered to sponsor Dan- iel through the organization.

Reports from field workers in France revealed that Daniel has always been in bad health. At times this posed a difficulty in his keeping up with his studies. Under constant medical supervi- sion, he had to be sent to a spe- cial home for children run by the See METHODIST YOUTH Page 8

Rodeo Stockholder Meeting Planned

A stockholders meeting of the Junior Rodeo Association has been called for the City Hall on Feb. 13 according to an announce- ment.

The date was set at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors and advisors.

Financial report given at the meeting showed the Association has about $1,000 on hand. Hiring of specialty acts and the ob- taining of stock was also dis- cussed.

TO GO TO ATHENS

Miss Sue Stephens, secretary of the Post senior 4H club, is making plans to attend the Longhorn Recreation Laboratory in Athens, Texas, next month. She will be the only representa- tive from the county. This will be her second trip to the Athens school.

Post Greet The Bergen Troupe In Style Wed.

Edgar Bergen and his troupe of entertainers have arrived!

Approximately 57 cars of Post and Garza county citizens motor- caded to Lubbock yesterday morning to meet the famed ven- triloquist and the other city guests when they landed at Reese Air Force Base.

The 65-piece high school band under the direction of Miss Barbara Norris greeted the group with the strains of "Howdy" as they emerged from the plane.

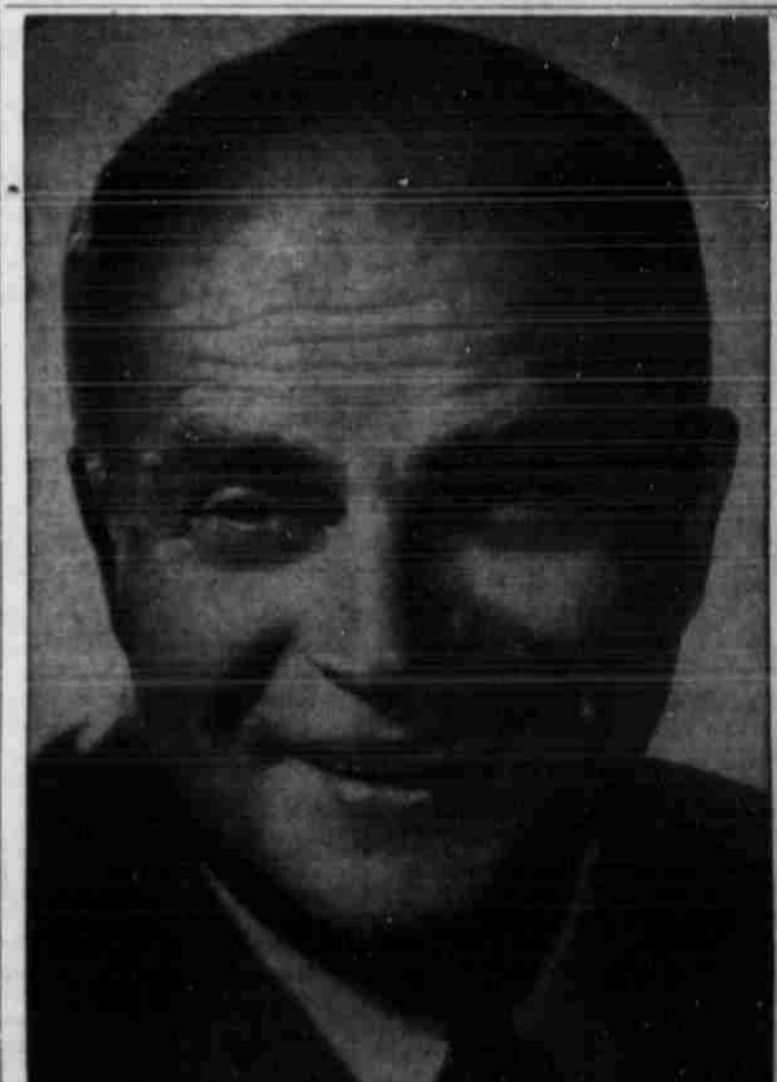

Following a luncheon as guests of Col. Tom Barrett, base com- mander, the entire motorcade screamed through Lubbock be- hind a police and State Highway patrol escort. This escort was ar- ranged through the courtesy of Jim Crook of the Lubbock Cham- ber of Commerce, the Lubbock Traffic Commission and Police Department and the Highway Pa- trol station in Lubbock.

The Bergen troupe is comprised of the Pepper Sisters, Joan, Eve- lyn and Jackie; Jerry Marlowe, pianist; Domenic Frontiere, ac- cordianist; Mr. and Mrs. Will Ahern; Irwin Franklyn and the three fliers, Mrs. Bergen and Mrs. Franklyn were unable to make the trip.

Approximately 260 men turned out for the fine barbecue held for the stars of the group at the Rodeo Grounds. An estimated 150 women attended the Covered Dish supper held at the Methodist church in honor of the women.

Entertainment was provided at the barbecue by three Postex Cot- ton Mills workers and Domenic Frontiere on his accordian. The Pepper Sisters sang some num- bers at the supper following or- gan selections.

Tickets for the show have been going fine according to a report from the ticket committee. Se- veral donations have been given for the hospital. Mrs. T. E. For- tune gave $100 to the fund in memory of Dr. Glenn E. Kahler. Other donations include $15 by George Samson, $4 by Homer Mc- Crary, $10 by Mrs. C. J. Mangum and $7 by Miss Joe Thomas.

HONORS POST IN TRIBUTE — Edgar Bergen, famed ven- triloquist, television, radio and picture star, is honoring the citizens of Post and Garza county by appearing in the city tonight. The generous gesture of a benefit program for the new county hospital is being made by Mr. Bergen as a "thank you" to the people of the county for their response to his Operations Santa Claus before Christmas. He and his troupe of outstand- ing entertainers will give their talent to the county tonight in the football stadium in a two hour performance.

Getting Out On the LIMB . . .

By EDDIE the editor

Dear Mr. Bergen: In behalf of the approximately 6,000 residents I say "WELCOME TO POST AND GARZA COUNTY, TEXAS."

We are ordinary West Texas people (ordinary in a Texas manner, that is); our town is a small, almost typical West Texas town; our facilities are of the usual small town variety; and our hearts are as big as all the legends of Texas.

With all sincerity we hope that in our way we will be able to show you the extreme pleasure and honor your visit has given us.

Little did we realize last December when the Operations Santa Claus project was underway that its results would be so tremendous. We recognized the drive for gifts to wounded servicemen as a most commendable project originated by a man brimming with generosity and humanity. That is why we sponsored it locally - to bring some small amount of cheer into the hearts of men who willingly placed their life on the block as a sacrifice for America and the world.

The only reward we anticipated at that time was the appreciation of the men who received the gifts. Frankly, we even wondered about receiving this. For the gifts we sent were not fine, expensive presents. They weren't meant to be. We intended the gifts as tokens of appreciation for a job well done. We sent what we thought would be useful to the men. And, naturally, placed beside some expensive gift, we carried a small doubt that our presents would come up to par. However, being firm believers in the phrase, "The value of the gift varies with the heart of the giver," we mailed the package with confidence.

For we know, Mr. Bergen, that no presents would come to you with any more heartfelt appreciation, nor be any more gladly and freely given than ours.

We certainly received the anticipated reward. For many letters came in to people who had mailed out gifts. They were welcome letters, chock full of warm hearted gratitude, a wee bit of wonder and bafflement that people still remembered, some interesting biography and sincere thanks.

These letters more than repaid any of us for the small amount of time, money and effort we put on the gifts. They were the limit of our expectations.

Yet, you have carried our reward above and beyond even the wildest dream. You have taken time from a schedule that is already a major taxation of your time to appear here personally and thank the citizens of our county and town for their small efforts.

Not considering the many other wonderful gestures you make daily toward your fellow men, Mr. Bergen, this extending the hand of friendship to the people of this county places you in the Texas classification of the "best." Mr. Bergen you are "good people."

In reading over the biography of your life we find that apparently we could not have chosen a more appropriate philanthropic drive to sponsor than our new hospital. We did not know at the time you are the sole sponsor of the Bergen Foundation, a philanthropic enterprise of national scope which has made it possible for any worthy young woman, irrespective of race, creed or color, to take up registered nursing as a career.

Combine the Bergen Foundation, Operations Santa Claus and the personal trip to Post and they mean one thing. In our opinion (and we feel certain the rest of the country shares the opinion) you are what we consider a great man. A man who is willing to give to those in need, a man who is willing to acknowledge the efforts of others, a man whose unselfish generosity of time, effort, talent and money has brought cheer, security and happiness to countless thousands.

Being somewhat boastful, let us say you are a man whom we would be proud to call a Texan.

Let us be considered forgetful let us hasten to explain this Welcome includes Mrs. Bergen, Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn, Will Ahern, Domenic Frontiere, the Pepper sisters, three fliers, Charlie McCarthy, Mortimer Snerd and Effie Klinker. May your time here be so spent that you may look back upon your visit to Post with pleasure in the years to come.

There has been an immense amount of interest expressed in this section of West Texas concerning your arrival. It is our sincere hope that we have a capacity crowd at your program tonight (and weather permitting, we feel assured we will).

During your stay here remember our homes and our town are yours. Please feel that from now on you are a citizen of Post and Garza county, Texas.

In closing let us again say, "Thanks for coming and WELCOME to our community and

Truancy

The 10 per cent non attendance of children of school age in our schools is a bad situation.

The community can ill afford to continue to let anyone of school age remain out of school. An illiterate child will be handicapped all through life.

It is the duty of Colorado City to do everything possible to properly educate every child.

Children who do not attend classes are more liable to become juvenile delinquents than those who attend.

It is everybody's business to have every child properly educated.

All citizens and public officials should do their part to eliminate non-attendance in our schools.

Too Old To Cut The Mustard

Another abominable (that's a 64-dollar word) thing that grips Facts is the kind of radio programs that come on 'bout five o'clock in the mornin and run till Facts has to come to work. There's enough "corny" stuff on the radio in one hour, beginning at five a. m., to do a country boy a lifetime. Don't know how it affects elite people. Guess they are still asleep, and it ain't nothin for them to worry about. Just as a sample of the special tune Facts heard five times in less than one hour one mornin recently, Facts cites "Too Old To Cut the Mustard." It's bad enough to have to hear it once, much less five times right along. Sort of seems like the disc jockeys are tryin to rub it in a bit. When men too old to cut the mustard—what ever that signifies—they ort not to have to hear that tune played so many times over. But, unlike the weather, there's something that can be done about that—switch stations and hear another brand of milder stuff. Or cut the radio off.

S. C. Storle To Build Gin

Another new gin will be built in Lockney before the next cotton season, it was revealed the past week end. S. C. Storle of Post signed a contract to buy 77 1-2 acres from Perry Tipton at the northwest edge of Lockney and will begin construction of a new modern gin plant there within the next few weeks. This place is known as the old Ramsey farm. Mr. Tipton has owned it for the past two or three years. Mr. Storle will build a five-stand 90-saw all steel Lumsum gin and will install all the latest equipment, he told F. L. Brown, local real estate man who handled the sale of property.

There Ought To Be A Law

Sometimes we scold young people for doing foolish things but many times we notice adults doing things just as foolish and never say anything. Fire Chief Lowell Bibrey calls our attention to the fact that several cars passed the fire truck last week on its run to the Handley home. Because of the fact they had no protection the driver and others on the truck were struck in the face by gravel picked up by wheels of the passing cars. There might be a state law forbidding the passing of a fire truck—we don't know. But we believe there ought to be.

WELCOME...

It is with a sincere feeling of gratitude that we say WELCOME to Edgar Bergen, Mrs. Bergen, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Franklyn, the Pepper sisters, Will Ahern, Domenic Frontiere, the three plane personnel and Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd in behalf of the county. Not often does a town the size of Post have the opportunity to play host to internationally famous celebrities. And especially is that statement true concerning the magnificent and generous gesture being extended by Mr. Bergen. His famous show is followed by millions over the world and would cost any town many thousands of dollars to obtain. Yet, Post, with a population of only 3,100 persons, receives the show gratis as an appreciation of the small effort we did in helping out Mr. Bergen's Operations Santa Claus. We can envision no more distinguishing mark of greatness in a person than this fine, warm hearted gesture by Mr. Bergen. We are happy that we were able to participate in the local Christmas gift program for wounded servicemen who made such stringent sacrifices for our welfare. It was indeed a pleasure. And it is also a pleasure to be able to welcome to our town the man whose generosity and humanity originated such a worthwhile program. So let us again say, "WELCOME to Post and Garza county members of the Edgar Bergen troupe. May your short stay here please you as much as your presence pleases us, the citizens of this county."

THANKS...

The space in this editorial will be used expressly to thank the people of Post and Garza county for the fine work they have accomplished. First we would like to say thanks for the splendid cooperation extended by the people in the initial steps of the locally sponsored Operations Santa Claus. Of course everyone did not give presents. That is to be understood in every undertaking. But many of those who did not give, planned to and were hindered by time, work or a hundred and one other things. However, the cooperation was fine and the town of Post and county of Garza made a fine showing. In fact according to the population they made a better showing than any other town in the United States, despite the fact that more than 32,000 gifts were received by Edgar Bergen in response to his radio appeal. The gratifying fact is that this town and county sent enough gifts to provide for an entire hospital. Many of you have received letters of appreciation from the servicemen who received your gifts. That in itself would seem to be enough. But Bergen is here to thank you personally. And the way you have responded in planning and arranging for his visit has been tremendous. You have put in valuable time, spent money and extended every effort in an attempt to see that the troupe enjoys a delightful stay in Post. For all of this let us say "thanks" from the bottom of our hearts.

Texans In WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY, Associated Press Washington Service

WASHINGTON, P - Texans are strong for a sharply stepped-up civilian pilot training program. Their idea is that such a program would be a big contribution to the nation's defense at minimum cost.

They may be able to do something about it. One of them is Col. D. Harold Byrd of Dallas, vice chairman of the national executive board of the Civil Air Patrol and southwest regional commander of the patrol. The other is Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater, vice chairman of the house commerce committee. This committee handles legislation affecting civilian aviation.

Both declare that the government is overlooking a great opportunity in not training a large force of civilian pilots. Such a force, they agree, would serve two important purposes:

1. It could take over many emergency missions and defense patrol assignments now performed by the Air Force and Navy in the continental United States, thereby relieving service personnel for foreign duty and other tasks for which civilians are not suited.

2. It would be a huge reservoir from which the armed forces could draw young men when they reach draft age, men who would be ready to go immediately into advanced flying training.

The Civil Air Patrol already is functioning as an auxiliary of the Air Force. But, Colonel Byrd said here last week, it needs more planes and gasoline to keep them flying. He expressed his views at luncheon at the Pentagon with Air Secretary Finletter and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air force chief of staff.

Colonel Byrd said after the luncheon that he is hopeful Congress will pass legislation granting the Air Force more latitude in furnishing the CAP with planes and equipment.

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Nation Is Faced With Most Dismal Marriage Picture In Its Long History, Writer Claims

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Each generation, in countless ways, helps determine the fortune of the generation which follows it. Thus, the economic course of the fifties was largely charted in the thirties; what we do today will be felt most strongly in the seventies. In view of this fact, let us pick out one of the most significant events of twenty years ago and analyze its probable effect during the next few years.

One of the most important characteristics of the thirties was an abnormally low birth rate. Births averaged at only 17.4 per thousand population. This was about 20 per cent below the rate of the twenties. During 1933, the depression low, ONE-THIRD FEWER BABIES WERE BORN THAN DURING THE HIGH YEAR OF THE TWENTIES. These few 1933 babies are today's 18-19 year old youths. Because of the low birth rate of the thirties, there are one million fewer females in the 14-19 age group today than there were in 1940, despite a 14 per cent increase in total population! This is a remarkable but sorry fact.

Two-thirds of the girls in the above group will marry during the next five years. This implies that in this age group alone, our marriage potential during the next five years has been reduced by nearly 150,000 marriages annually due to this one factor. Think what this means to every businessman reading this column.

Effect On Future Marriages

Another important influence on our marriage rate for the near future is the great number of marriages which took place during the prosperous forties. Especially did couples then marry at a younger age. The all-time high—more than 120 marriages for each 1,000 unmarried females over 15—took place in 1946. This was more than double the 56 marriages per thousand in 1932. Moreover, the average during the decade of the forties (including the war years) was higher than during the boom of the twenties.

Not only did this accelerated rate compensate for the low marriage rate of the thirties, but it also depleted our normal reserve of single girls in the "above 19 age" brackets. The result of low births of the thirties, and the high marriages of the forties is that we have today over 2,500,000 fewer single girls under 35 than we had in 1940! I, therefore, expect marriages during the next five years to be at least 20 per cent lower than the recent average of 1.7 million—a loss of about 350,000 marriages each year! Never before in our history have we faced such a dismal prospect.

Importance Of Marriage To Business

Everyone is aware of the social importance of the institution of marriage, but its influence on business is often overlooked. When a man and woman marry, a new family unit is created. Separate housing is needed. This largely accounts for today's shortage of houses to rent, and why so many new houses are being built. In building the house, the contractor must buy plumbing, lumber, steel, glass, cement, gypsum, paper and electrical equipment. The newly married couple buys furniture, rugs, and household accessories. There is also additional demand for electricity, water and gas and usually a bank mortgage! As babies are born, demand is created for milk, baby foods and clothing, baby carriages, toys and a variety of other items. Thus, marriage is most helpful to business and is an important reason for today's prosperity.

Consider then the far-reaching effect of a twenty per cent decline in marriages for the next five years. This can make business slump and keep it down. We are too complacent with our present high production and high consumption standards. We pay too little attention to the birth rates. I do not believe a repetition of the severe depression of the thirties is necessary. There are things we can do to counteract the coming big slump in marriages. I might add that the new draft ruling regarding childless couples could also be a helpful factor. It will be interesting to watch how much business will be affected in the long run by the recent Roman Catholic emphasis on the subject of birth control.

Reichelderfer, officially took notice of the volunteer weather men by issuing a special volume dedicated to their long and patriotic service to the nation.

Heart Fund Drive To Open Friday

Although the 1952 Heart Fund campaign will begin in Texas tomorrow the local drive is not expected to get underway for a week or so.

John Ben Shepperd, Texas Secretary of State, has agreed to serve as co-chairman, Ben H. Wooten, Dallas, general chairman of the fund, announced.

Texas' goal is $347,000 to be used for research, education and community service. Research and education will be on a national level and also education and community service on a local level in the continued battle against heart diseases which affect a half million people in Texas alone.

Fred Massengill, jr. is state publicity chairman.

Entitled "The Cooperative Weather Observer," the book lists the names of 102 observers in the state of Texas who have served voluntarily as cooperative weather men for more than 10 years. Of this number, 47 have given the government more than 20 years' service; four more than 40 years; and one more than 50 years. For each who has served over 20 years, the volume carries a short biography.

Volunteer weather men in the South Plains area who have served more than 20 years include Durrett, D. L. Jones, Lubbock; E. I. Hill, Tahoka; Ben Moore, sr., O'Donnell; N. van Roeder, Knapp; and Albert Baugh, Aspermont.

105 Postites Pose For Dispatch Shots

The response of Post residents on the picture taking enterprise sponsored Thursday by the Dispatch proved excellent with a total of 105 people turning out.

In arranging the undertaking with a national engraving company, the Dispatch was desirous of obtaining one column engraving cuts of the business people of the town, at a reduced rate.

Approximately 100 letters were mailed out to the business men of the town and at 8 p. m. when Jack Bodene, the well-known photographer sent by the company, completed his work a total of 105 pictures had been taken.

This is a record for Texas, Bodene said that he took more pictures in Post on Thursday than he has taken in any town in Texas on one day. The closest number was at Graham when 90 turned out.

The Dispatch wants the people who had their pictures taken to understand the arrangement made with the company. The company will give them the opportunity to purchase pictures. Proofs will either be mailed or a representative will be around to contact them personally.

No one, however, is obligated to purchase pictures. They may do so only if they wish to.

The Dispatch would like to take this means of extending a heartfelt "thanks" to every person who dropped by for a picture.

receive a copy of the book and Secretary Sawyer is sending letters of commendation to those who have served over 40 years. Cooperative weather observers operate one of two general types of observing stations; the precipitation station, at which they record rainfall only; and the full climatological station at which they record high and low temperatures and rainfall.

Operating with simple standard gages and thermometers provided by the Weather Bureau, the cooperative weather observer, regardless of the severity of the weather which he is to record, each day makes his readings and records them on a special form which he mails to Weather Bureau Section offices once a month.

In paying tribute to the cooperative weather observer, Secretary Sawyer said: "The volunteer weather man represents the highest type of American citizen, who unselfishly devotes his time and exposes himself to the severest of weather in the service of his government, and who is content to do so for the general good he performs.

"The weather observations so gathered in out-of-the-way stations throughout the breadth of the country cumulatively add up to an invaluable body of information of importance to the commerce and industry, agriculture and defense of the nation."

The Secretary said that it has been estimated that a cooperative observer with 50 years' service, who has spent 15 minutes per day to take and record observations, answer questions about the weather and make regular reports, has contributed the equal of 570 full eight hour days to his government.

"This is a remarkable contribution," the Secretary said. "It is patriotism functioning every day of the week, holidays and Sundays not excluded, and it deserves the thanks of all of us."

Secretary Sawyer said the volume of the cumulative record was tremendous. "It answers vitally important questions about where to live, what to grow in our fields; where to build roads and factories and airports, how to protect our farms and towns from floods, and when to plant and harvest."

The Secretary, in his letter of commendation, told the amateur weather men that he appreciated their "remarkable record" as Cooperative Weather Observers. "Your years of voluntary service, and your unselfish devotion to the work of the Weather Bureau are not only commendable but furnish an inspiring example of public service," he said.

"In behalf of your government and especially in behalf of the Department of Commerce, I wish to thank you for the important job you have done so well."

"The Cooperative Weather Observer" is a volume of Americana, as evidenced by the biographies and residences of the volunteer weather men. They operate at such out-of-the-way locations as Pinal Ranch, Arizona; Toronto, Kansas; Pearl River, Louisiana; Conception, Missouri; Fairbury, Nebraska;

Rock House, North Carolina; Vickery, Ohio; Hondo, Texas; Yakima Terrace Heights, Washington; Dadeville, Alabama; Eureka Springs, Arkansas; and Cuyamaca, California.

Vocationally, the weather observers, both men and women, include farmers, ranchers, engineers, priests, editors, businessmen, local officials, teachers, medical doctors, carpenters, railroaders, "irrigationists" and many others.

The 201-page volume—"The Cooperative Weather Observer"—may be obtained at $1 a copy from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office in Washington.

Members Of Post Boy Scout Troupe To Observe Boy Scout Week Feb. 6-12

The week of February 6-12 will be a special week to some 39 boys in Garza county. For beginning next Wednesday these boys will observe Boy Scout Week.

Members of Troops 16 and 108 are all planning observance of the 42nd Birthday of the Boy Scouts of America.

Highlights of the week for the Boy Scouts here will be Scout Sunday. This will be observed on Feb. 10.

Members of Troop 108, a total of 19 boys, plan on observing Scout Sunday in the First Baptist church. Scouts will serve as ushers Sunday morning and will also sit in a group.

The 20 members of Troop 16 presently plan on observing the special day at the Methodist church. They too will sit in a group.

This nation-wide observance will launch a new three - year program known as "Forward—On Liberty's Team." Approximately 2,900,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers and their adult leaders throughout the United States, its territories and wherever American families live, either in service in the Armed Forces, or as representatives of the government and business will participate.

This year's celebration will honor the organizations and institutions whose sponsorship make possible the existence and growth of the nation's 80,298 Packs, Troops and Explorer units. Troop 16 of Post is sponsored by the Rotary club, Troop 108 is sponsored by the Baptist church.

Observed in every city and town and most villages and hamlets by more than 80,000 units, Boy Scout Week is the largest single birthday observance by young Americans.

Troop 16 scoutmaster John Lott says that his boys will probably have a special banquet and also set up a window in one of the downtown stores. Ralph Kirkpatrick of Troop 108 said they had not definitely planned a banquet.

The Boy Scouts of America was incorporated at Washington, D. C. on Feb. 8, 1910. Traditionally, on that day, the members recommit themselves to the Scout Oath or Promise at 8:15 p. m. in the four time zones.

During Boy Scout Week it has also become a tradition for units to be hosts to friends and parents at Open House meetings and show some of the skills they acquire through the game of Scouting. Post troops have not planned any Open Houses this year.

Over the entire nation 735,000 adult volunteer Scout leaders see the new program to be launched next week as a challenge that the youth of America may have available a program of character development so they may be trained, "on their honor, to do their duty to God and their duty to their country."

Pointing out that in a few years, America will have nearly fifteen million boys of Scouting age, Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America, said in a Boy Scout Week message that "Everyone of them represents an opportunity as they march from youth to manhood."

Scouting's challenge says the Chief Scout Executive, is training "our youth in character, in qualities of citizenship and unselfish service."

"Many Americans," he says "believe in our ability to make the Scout Oath and Law and the Scout Program vital factors in helping to preserve American Democracy, through men who are 'physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.'"

"Today's challenge," he warns, "is fast running out. More boys must have the best leadership, the best program and the best in spiritual ideals."

"The fundamental requirements for the kind of democracy of which I speak is character in the individual citizen. There is nothing wrong with America that character cannot change. That change can be effected in one generation, with proper character training for youth."

The Boy Scouts of America, Dr. Schuck feels has a great job to do to help develop "a body politic which, because of its character, will not be indifferent to the responsibility of voting, but will consider their right to vote as a great privilege, that must be intelligently exercised, if government of the people is to prevail."

Dr. Schuck announced that the nation's Boy Scouts now numbering more than 2,900,000 boys and leaders, will take part in the campaign to Get Out the Vote in the Presidential elections this Fall. It will be, he said, "a non-partisan effort, without reference to any candidate or party."

The Boy Scouts will urge the people of America to exercise their franchise and go to the polls and vote. They will place on the door knobs of over thirty million American homes a cardboard hanger in the form of a Liberty Bell with the slogan of the new three-year program, "Forward . . . On Liberty's Team" and the injunction for every citizen to vote.

The Scout Program is a great help to the American home, Dr. Schuck feels. "There is no substitute," he says, "for the character training of children in a God-worshiping home where family love, honesty and performance, integrity of conduct, honor and unselfishness are taught and lived."

The home, he said, needs supplemental help.

"I think of Cub Scouting as a great supplement reaching into approximately 800,000 homes. I see father, mother and youngster building a program together having fun, having enjoyment, helping the boy, but just as important, helping to build and maintain the American home of character."

"What is true of Cub Scouting," he added, "is likewise true of Boy Scouting and Exploring."

"Out of thin air" comes the HIGHEST HORSEPOWER in Buick history

NOTE FROM YOUR BUICK DEALER:
Presented here is the story of a great new engine development, as told by the men who did the job. We reprint the story here in its entirety — as we couldn't beat it if we tried.

No, we didn't have to build a new engine. We took Buick's valve-in-head Fireball Engine—which makes the most of high-compression. We drew on 12 patient years of Buick carburetion research.

And we came up with more might, more miles, from gas—right out of thin air, in more ways than one.

When you talk about "miles per gallon" you think of fuel, because that's what you buy. But air's free—and for every gallon of gasoline, a busy engine can gulp more than 8,000 gallons of air.

The problem is to deliver air in the right proportions, throughout the full range of speeds at which you drive.

A carburetor—big enough to supply the air needed at full throttle—can be wasteful in stop-and-go driving. A carburetor sized for thrift in city traffic literally smothers your engine when you really give it the gun.

So Buick engineers developed the Airpower carburetor — a four-barrel automatic — and here's how it works.

Loading along, two barrels are working, two stay closed. And you get a low-speed thrift and smoothness that's out of this world. As you pick up speed, the "stand-bys" come into play—feeding not just more gas, but more air too—so you keep getting maximum power from each drop of fuel.

You have 170 effortless horsepower when you need it—a tremendous reserve ready to go into instant action at the nudge of your toe.

You have the satisfaction of knowing that you get this power with a frugal use of gas. At 40 you use less gas than you formerly used at 30.

That's the story of Airpower carburetion in facts and figures straight from the factory. But statistics can't tell you the breath-taking joy of heading for new horizons in a great-powered new ROADMASTER.

When can you do that? Better come in soon. Lots of other folks are flocking into our showroom these days to see the greatest array of new Buicks we've had in years.

Living with Mme. Parage is her mother who is a widow from the first World War. The income of the entire family does not exceed $29 per month. The interest of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, however, has made it possible for the family to keep their heads above water.

Latest word from Daniel was received in September. It read:

"Daniel, who is 16 years old, is in apprenticeship and is learning to become a skilled worker in a factory. This, in time, will enable him to earn his own living in an adequate manner. His health is fairly good and he is still the easy going, likable youngster the Social Workers have always commented so favorably upon. We are told that Mme. Parage is doing her best to keep the home together, which is one room that is always immaculately clean."

The appreciation which the interest of the Methodist Youth Fellowship has resulted in is adequately expressed in the following letter from Daniel to the group:

"I have greatly delayed in thanking you for the package you sent me for Easter. I received it in May, and I was very happy with it, just so were my mother and sister; we all three thank you whole heartedly.

"I have remained a long time without writing, for just at the time I received the package, I went to the hospital for two months—I was suffering with my stomach and veins and the doctor operated on me for appendicitis. Since the operation I've been very well, but since I was quite weak when leaving the hospital, the doctor sent me for a month on vacation. Just a few days ago I returned, and I hasten to write you, for I am so late; I beg you to excuse me—my health was the cause of it.

"The package that you sent pleased us very much—with the material mother made my sister and me some clothes. Mother made me a beautiful shirt and some trousers.

"Anne Marie was very pleased with the velvet (?) and mother made her a pretty blouse and a pleated skirt with the wool. She enjoyed herself with the crayons and me with the candy.

"At the first of October, I shall return to school. I'm still learning the trade of mechanic—I only have another year before taking an examination and if I pass I shall begin work to help mother who is quite well worn. Anne Marie will be in school too beginning with first of October. She likes school and wants to become a teacher. To go we take the train each morning and come back in the evening for here there's only an elementary school and Anne Marie's school is 25 kilometers from here in a small town called "Commercy," and mine is 30 kilometers in a city called "Caul."

"Sure," said the editor, "do you want it on white or rye?" This is how the average Garza county housewife sometimes feels when she surveys what two dollars will buy these days. If she doesn't shop carefully the budget takes a cruise up coon creek in nothing flat. By checking Dispatch ads she is better equipped to serve two dollar dinners. Cotton Research Program At Texas
Tech Invaluable To Cotton Farmers

By DR. LYLE E. HESSLER

Research Associate

Texas Technological College

(The following article was prepared by Dr. Lyle E. Hessler, research associate of the Cotton Research Committee of Texas, as a report on the research activities in textiles at Texas Tech, and should be of interest to people of this area since cotton plays such an important part in the economy of the county.)

Every two years the Cotton Research committee of Texas reviews the work in progress and passes on new projects proposed by the various agencies for future research. Cotton research at Texas Tech will continue three of its old projects and start on three new ones.

The number one project, which has been active for several years, is entitled "Studies on the Physical Characters of Texas Cotton on Spinning and Fabrication." This project has had a great deal to do with raising the value of the cotton in the El Paso area from a discounted cotton to a premium cotton; or, in other words, one that goes begging in the market to one that is in demand for quality yarn and fabrics.

Incorporated in this project has been an active program to better the lot of the High Plains cotton. One report on the High Plains cotton has been made available to the trade with the main purpose of increasing the useability of shorter stapled cotton. In many cases, the High Plains cotton can be substituted for commonly accepted better cotton, and at considerable saving; thus the end result will be a greater demand for the High Plains cotton and ultimately a better price.

Of course, everyone knows when the shortage years are over, cotton from this area will be the cotton for which no market except export will be available, and who knows what the future of the export will be under present conditions.

Therefore, if a greater demand can be created for the High Plains cotton by showing the mills the best processing, spinning, and use, the shorter staples of this area will fair much better in the competition for a place in the market.

Since the Cotton Research Committee is a state-wide organization, other cotton growing sections are being studied and will be reported on as soon as the work is completed. For the 1951 crop, the Lower Rio Grande Valley and the Rolling Plains will be included in this year's work. The ultimate goal for Texas cotton is a processing and spinning manual which will enable cotton mills to select one of the many Texas varieties without fear of being caught with a cotton which they cannot use or does not meet their needs.

Another project of a continuing nature is one designed to aid Texas cotton mills entitled "Co-operative Work with Texas Cotton Mills." Over the past 20 years the number of cotton mills in the state has decreased. The aim of this project is to give Texas mills any help they may need to place them on a firmer foundation to meet the competition of the Eastern mills, which are larger and more versatile. Aid given Texas mills has been greatly appreciated, and in some cases, has helped them to overcome difficult problems.

Quality control is rapidly becoming a part of most textile mills. And since cotton research at Tech has specialists in the field, there is very little that can not be offered to the Texas mills.

The third project that was active during the past biennium is one on "Cotton Tricot Knitting." Several papers have been published on this work and a great deal of publicity has come to Tech, especially in the East. By the number of inquiries from tricot mills, there is no doubt that considerable interest has been created.

Work at present is directed toward commercial feasibility of cotton tricot knitting. Limitations as to yarn size, the use of nylon-cored cotton yarns for greater uniformity, and other fabric properties are being studied. Many new designs of cotton tricot fabrics have been made, which points out the many possibilities of this versatile knitter.

Three new projects for research have been activated for the new biennium. One is entitled "Cleaning Efficiency of Existing Opening, Picking, and Carding Machinery."

With mechanical harvesting becoming more and more prominent, especially in this area, greater efficiency is demanded in cleaning equipment to produce yarns that can compete with hand-picked cotton. This project is designed to improve existing equipment, and to develop new equipment to do a better job in cleaning. As a part of work on mechanical harvesting, research is being conducted to better evaluate the color of cotton and to determine how much color affects the end product.

As an aid in this work, a Reflectometer has been adapted to measure the light reflectance of the raw cotton and obtain a more accurate measure of trash and color produced in mechanical harvesting. The logical step was to measure brightness of the cotton after kier boiling and bleaching. This work indicates that mechanically harvested cotton will reach a degree of whiteness comparable to hand-picked cotton.

Another new research project is entitled "A Physical, Chemical and Microscopical Study of Rain Grown, Semi-Irrigated and Irrigated Cotton Fiber."

Cotton fiber is very sensitive to environmental conditions which is the cause of watering may adversely effect the fibers. The lack of knowledge on how much and when to add water to the plant has prompted this project.

Some insight into the physical character of cotton, developed under conditions of varying the time and amount of water may give mills a better understanding on how to handle irrigated cotton in processing for spinning and finishing the end product. This project will also go a long way toward overcoming some of the prejudices built up against irrigated cotton over the years.

The final new project is called "Quality Control Instrumentation for Greater Efficiency in Yarn Manufacture from Texas Cotton." A new instrument laboratory has been established by Cotton Research at Texas Tech. Instruments based on electronics for evaluating small variations in products in processing are being developed and will place cotton processing on a more exacting basis for statistical analysis. An instrument for measuring silver and roving variations is nearing completion.

These variations can be scientifically made and evaluated, the next step will be to study the causes or variations. After it is ascertained whether the variation is in the cotton or equipment, steps can be taken to remedy the difficulties. Thus, better quality control can be worked out on a pilot plant scale and later made the basis for full mill operations.

Glad You're In Town Charlie . . .

Judge Snowden Can Register Post Boys

AUSTIN, Texas. — Boys who reach the age of 18, required to register with the nearest draft board, can register in Post with County Judge H. M. Snowden.

The nearest draft board is Local Board No. 88, Lubbock, which has jurisdiction over Lubbock, Garza, Crosby and Lynn counties.

Judge Snowden's services as registrar enables Garza county boys to register in their own county without having to go to the expense and trouble of travel to Lubbock.

A local board is maintained for the four-county area because one board can take care of it under present circumstances and thus keep down the cost of government.

Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said today that "people should appreciate the service Judge Snowden is rendering to the people of Garza county. He does this job without pay as a patriotic service to his country."

All males are required to register under the draft law on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter.

Maximum penalties that can be applied for failure to register is $10,000 fine, or five years in prison, or both.

Condition of J. F. Brandon, Jr., who underwent major surgery in Lubbock Memorial hospital last week, was described as fine Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Newbury are ill at their home in the Graham community. Mrs. Newbury is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Lofton and grandson went to Sweetwater Friday for a short visit with their son and uncle.

Post Mare Wins Fat Stock Title

Many county residents and Quarterhorse fans of this area should easily recognize the Grand Champion Mare of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show. For her native home is in Post.
She was Dee Gee, owned by Miss Wanda Harper, 20-year-old member of the Girls Rodeo Association from Mason. The 6-year-old Dee Gee had won first in her class — aged maiden mares — before being declared winner of the halter class Grand Champion Saturday.
Sonny Nance, of Post, raised Dee Gee. He kept her until she was three year old and then sold her. Wanda has entered her in the local Quarterhorse show. Dee Gee took first at San Angelo in 1950, in Post in 1951, and grand championships at Weatherford and Beeville.

Gerald Schantz To Be Here Wednesday

Gerald L. Schantz, Field Representative from the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Post at the Post Office on Wednesday, February 6th at 11:00 to assist persons in Social Security matters.
Butcher, baker, candlestick maker — if you're one of these, or if you are self-employed as sole owner or partner in practically any trade or business, you have a special date with Uncle Sam on or before March 15. You and an estimated 4,600,000 other people who work for themselves were covered by the Social Security Act in January 1951. Consequently, you are required to file a report and pay the social security tax on your self-employment earnings along with your regular Federal income tax return, says John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock social security office.
Whether you be a peanut vendor or a partner in a large unincorporated manufacturing plant, as long as you are self-employed, and have earnings of $400 or more in a year, you must pay a tax of 2 1/4 percent on your earnings up to $3,600 a year. The only exceptions are professional people such as doctors, lawyers, and a few others. If you don't know whether your work is now covered, just call or go to your nearest social security office and ask for a booklet called "Do You Work For Yourself?"
As Hutton points out, you are paying this tax to buy protection under the old-age and survivors insurance program. In order to credit earnings under your name it is necessary that you have an account number — a social security account number. "You should get a social security account card if you don't already have one. You'll need it before you file your 1951 return early this year," says Hutton.

BOOKS CONDEMNED

MONTREAL, P —The National Council of Women was told recently that a sharp increase in the number of "highly dramatic crimes" is largely attributable to "the sad plight of the modern, so-called literature."
Mrs. C. L. Pearson of Toronto, in her report as chairman of the council's committee on cinema and printed matter, said such crimes usually follow "one or the other of the threadbare patterns of trashy books."

John Deere Day Is Attended By 250

Approximately 250 Graza county residents turned out last Friday to help Shytles' Implement company celebrate its annual John Deere Day, according to an announcement by Powell Shytles.
Visitors attended the open house at the store on the Tahoka highway all Friday morning. While there they were shown all around the place. All new farming equipment and other machinery was displayed and willingly demonstrated to anyone wanting to see it.
A light lunch of coffee and sandwiches was served to the guests before they all adjourned to the Garza theater for a program of five shows. These included a full length feature, "Gallahad Jones," and four shorts on problems of interest to farmers of today.

Wednesday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Voss were Mrs. Frank Nease, of Plainview, and her granddaughter, Mary Katherine Robertson, of O'Donnell. Thursday visitors of the Vosses were the Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Stephens, of Wilson.

the request for an increase in taxes be granted, said, "Never in our memory has such a request been made."

Plans For Local Public Schools Week
Progressing Nicely Chairman Reports

Plans for Public School Week, to be observed this year from March 2-8, are progressing nicely at the Post schools, L. H. Welch, chairman, announced.

Open house will be held at the local schools as it was last year. Several new innovations are being planned by the committee on Public School Week. Residents are urged to accept the hospitality of both teachers and students and receive the rewarding experience of visiting their school.

Public Schools' Week was established last year to offer all people an opportunity to annually re-examine the schools; to get acquainted with the teachers and the students and the work they are doing.

The Public School is a distinctive educational development of the United States. In no other country in the world are so many offered so great an opportunity to obtain an education that will enable them to reap the full heritage of their life.

Historians of American education have noted a striking parallel between the development of the United States free system of Public education and the expansion and maintenance of fundamental human rights in the United States.

It is possible that the Democracy of this nation has been, to a large degree, inspired by the fruits of this system of education and the benefits won through the years have been preserved because the citizens have been taught to think, to weigh the values of political philosophies, in the nation's public schools.

It was with this thought in mind that the events of the annual Public Schools Week were originated. Every resident has the opportunity to inspect firsthand the activities of the schools; activities which are financed by these residents' tax dollars. Leaders believe that it is only by continual interest in the educational system that "Texas Public Schools—Democracy in Action" can be preserved and kept strong.

Governor Allan Shivers, in proclaiming the week as Public Schools Week, said, "For the year 1952, we may well set our goal for 1,000 communities participating in the program."

"To help prepare children for living now and in tomorrow's world is our common obligation. This cannot be done by education alone, indispensable as public schools are in human development and general welfare, nor by any other single agency. Involved in preparing children for living now and tomorrow are church leadership, home and school partnership, parent education, coordination of all forces serving children and youth, and legislation. Group action is needed to provide better schools, libraries, recreation, safety, health, and enrichment opportunities. Team work can remove the conditions which cheapen character and destroy basic values.

"Citizens of Texas should visit their local public schools during Public Schools Week in order to acquaint themselves with what the schools are doing and what the schools should do to develop programs and find resources necessary to equip youth to carry the ball on behalf of humanity."

"Texans can afford to provide the finances necessary to guarantee Texas youth the basic education necessary to equip our young people for self government, regardless of who they are or where they live."

Education is nothing new. The first cave man and woman were teachers. They instructed their young in the use of the spear, the club, and the snare.

Classical education evolved in the nations of Ancient Greece. It survived the centuries of the Dark Ages, and was born again in the colonies that became the founding states of the United States.

It was in these colonies that the principle of free, democratic public school education was established. From this start has developed the great educational system that exists and flourishes in this nation today—the nation that is the world's greatest Democracy.

This principle of free public school education was first recognized by the General Court of Massachusetts Colony in 1642. The court declared that each community should provide teachers for the children. From this grew public school system of today. Historians say:

"The education of the masses through these schools which were public schools has been the bulwark of the liberties of the people and the national freedom of the country."

They have protected and nurtured the public school system, without which Democracy will wither and die, for it cannot live without learning the knowledge by its citizens.

Since school buildings are merely a physical agency through which public education of children and adults is carried on, they are important only as they serve this purpose. It is therefore difficult to judge the school plant unless the citizens know exactly what it should do and is doing.

WITH THE FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION IN JAPAN — Pvt. Herbert Glenn McCrary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer McCrary, Post, Texas, recently arrived in Japan from Korea with the 1st Cavalry Division.

The division, now assigned to security duty on Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island, was the second U. S. division to enter the Korean fighting, making an unopposed landing at Pohang-dong in July 1950.

The unit participated in the see-saw battles across the Nak-tong river and following the Inchon invasion in September 1950. Linked up with the 7th Infantry Division to climax a spectacular northern drive.

McCrary, a rifleman in Fox Company, 5th Cavalry Regiment, has been in Korea since Oct. 16, 1951. He has been awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge and the Korean Service Ribbon with one campaign star.

Something Needed To Help Sport

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS, P — Basketball isn't going to become big-time stuff in Texas and the Southwest until some way is figured out for the team that's behind in the last five minutes to have a chance to win.

Basketball is a great game for about 35 minutes. Then it bores you either because one team is so far ahead the other doesn't have a chance or there's nothing except stalling to prevent the team that's behind from catching up.

The team that's in arrears can't get the ball unless it fouls the other one and then it can't get the ball unless that team takes its try for extra point — which it won't do with only a few minutes to go.

What is the solution? It has

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brown and children visited relatives in Stanton Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Evans visited in Slaton Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Cross and children visited in O'Donnell Sunday.

George Knox, son of the Bud McLaurins, of Pecos, is spending several days with his grand-harrassed coaches and officials through the years. If a team is forced to take its free throws instead of carrying the ball outside it means rough and tumble and knock-down drag-out basketball. The team trying to get the ball will deliberately foul so the other will have to shoot. So that's not the solution.

The only one that might work has its problems, too. A rule that a team had to shoot or get rid of the ball after holding it 25 seconds would give the team that's behind a chance to catch up. But, asks Howard Grubbs, secretary of the Southwest Conference, who's going to keep the time on the team with the ball? In other words, it would require a man with a stop-watch and nothing else to do. It would mean adding an official.

Basketball clicks in other areas despite the handicap but it never has caught on in Texas and it probably never will until that "you can't win" problem is solved.

Duck Creek Soil Conservation Work Progressing In This Special Area

Terracing in the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District has been limited this year because of dry soil conditions and also many farmers listed early to prevent wind erosion.

Soil conservation technicians recommend that all crop land soils, except rocky, overflow, or deep course sandy soils should be terraced. Some of the reasons for terracing are:

(1) To retard erosion, (2) to conserve and spread water, (3) to serve as guide lines for contour farming, and (4) to increase crop yields.

Farmers in the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District who have completed terracing recently are:

D. W. Reed of Close City constructed almost one mile of terraces: S. C. Storie, sr., terraced 800 acres west of Close City.

At the present time terraces are being built on the J. T. Sims farm in the Barnum Springs community.

Many farmers of the Duck Creek SCD have requested aid from Soil conservation technicians in helping them plan and layout irrigation systems. Jess Ward, work unit conservationist, says, "that where the farmer has time to make a topographic map of the area to be watered a more satisfactory plan can be developed."

After this map has been made, location of main ditches and rows can be located and run so as to insure the farmer he can receive maximum benefit from water being used. Also in most cases many point rows may be eliminated.

Topographic maps have been made on J. A. Propst farm in Graham program; Stanley Sims farm at Close City and C. E. Basinger of Southland. Irrigation rows have been run for Jack Kuykendall, Jack Meeks, and C. C. Lee of Pleasant Valley Community.

New Book On James Hogg Work Of Genuine Scholarship Writer Says

By DAVE CREAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

In a day notorious for the apathy of citizens toward current political problems, it takes rare faith and courage to try to stir up interest in by-gone personalities and issues.

But the University of Texas Press at Austin has tried it with a book about a Texas governor in the 1800s — James Stephen Hogg.

It's a work of genuine scholarship. The title: "Addresses and State Papers of James Stephen Hogg," edited and with a biographical sketch by Robert C. Cotner. It's not the kind of book that will top the best-seller lists, but it is a work of significance entirely worthy of publication regardless of the costs and of profit or loss.

While it is correct to say that the personalities involved in this book lived here more than 50 years ago, and that the immediate issues of that day have long since been resolved, it is nevertheless a volume that any intelligent citizen could read with great profit. Many of the fundamental problems faced so forthrightly by the late Jim Hogg are still with us, perhaps today in sharper focus than in his time.

No better example could be found than his views on various aspects of the extension of federal powers, repeatedly expressed in this collection of speeches and official reports of his administration. There was something of the prophetic in Hogg's message to the legislature in March, 1891, vetoing a bill which would have permitted the state to collect two cents a pound federal bounty on sugar grown on its prison farms:

"The State is sovereign of her own affairs and can NOT be disturbed in the legitimate exercise of her prerogatives. If she desires to raise sugar by convict labor, under NO circumstances could she with propriety ask or accept from any government a license to do so; nor could she yield to supervision of her affairs by any officer NOT subordinate to her own laws. To do so in one instance would lead to another, and finally to supervision by the Federal government over the cotton patches, wheat

Donald Carey team up Tuesday to bring you one of the brightest comedies of the year — "LET'S MAKE IT LEGAL."

Friday and Saturday another great war epic flashes across the screen at the TOWER. "FORCE OF ARMS" starring William Holden, Nancy Olsen and Frank Lovejoy. Termed as "the most beautiful love story ever told," "FORCE OF ARMS" gives you the story of a hot-grenade hero in the muddy boots of the 36th of Texas and a blue-eyed WAC who had him walking on velvet.

Movie Facts

Speaking of war pictures, the 1943 picture of the year had its setting in one of the hottest places in the whole war—"Casablanca." Paul Lukas was selected as the best actor of the year and Jennifer Jones won the accolades as best actress.

Don't forget the big Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy show tonight at 8 p. m.

fields, stock ranches, lumber yards and factories within her own limits."

Editor Cotner here inserted a footnote which is also typical of the thorough job of annotation throughout. "Compare," says the editor "the income parity program of the New Deal beginning with the Farm Relief and Inflation Act, commonly called the first Agriculture Adjustment Act of May 1933."

This book does NOT attempt to tell the whole story of Hogg's brilliant career as governor, a career that set standards of such height that governors ever since have been trying to measure up to them. Nor is it a reproduction of all of Hogg's state papers, speeches or correspondence. Many of his speeches were not reported, and the volume of his administrative archives was such that it demanded careful selection to get a fair cross-section of his political beliefs.

The Hogg papers were originally published in 1905 by C. W. Raines. Cotner, a member of the history faculty of the University of Texas, has tied them into the background of the 1890's as well as to the present, in a series of dispassionate but sympathetic introductory notes. These will be useful to the casual reader as well as to the scholar, or to the budding politician looking for source material or inspiration. The book is a "must" on the list of every young man (perhaps some older ones) aspiring to public office, and a model for the hired hands who write politicians' speeches or press releases.

The book reproduces the substance if not the fire of what Jim Hogg had to say. The fire that came in his mannerisms, the idiom so well-remembered by those who saw and heard him, seems not to be in the record. There are flashes of pungent, even lurid phrasing in these addresses and letters, but these are mere suggestions of the quick wit that flashed back at hecklers or the scorn that cut deep into his opponents.

Cotner, whose complete life of James Stephen Hogg should be ready for publication late in 1952 after many years of patient digging, says his research indicates Hogg wrote his own speeches. That governor had no high-powered staff of researchers or hacks, but took himself off to some quiet place for absolute concentration on the job of drafting a speech from voluminous notes. "Addresses and State Papers" gives some hint of what to expect in Cotner's more personalized biography of Jim Hogg. A footnote to Hogg's speech before the National Democratic convention at Chicago in 1896 suggests some interesting national possibilities in the realm of what might have been. For the first time it prints in extract from a letter written Hogg by William Jennings Bryan: "... I believe that you have all the qualifications necessary for president and there is NO man I would rather support than yourself ..."

But to reproduce all the letter would NOT be fair to the editor and the publisher. You should look for it yourself, along with the blow-by-blow account of Jim Hogg's battle with such railroad titans as Jay Gould, his jousting

Movie of the Week

A MOVIE THAT TEXANS WILL BE PROUD OF!

That is exactly what M-G-M is offering in their latest production "LONE STAR."

"LONE STAR" is the epic story of the Texas of more than one hundred years ago, days of strife and conquest, when it appeared for a time that there was to be no state of Texas but rather an alien country which would stand between the United States and Mexico.

It is the story of how a group of brave patriots fought and won annexation of the area to the Union. It is also a love story as untamed as the great outdoors in which it is played; and a dramatic story as fiery as the characters by whom it is played.

And the cast of "LONE STAR!" Great artists as Clark Gable (as cattle owner Deveraux Burke); Ava Gardner (as Martha Ronda the newspaper editor); Lionel Barrymore (as ex-president Andrew Jackson); and Broderick Crawford (as Senator Tom Craden).

"LONE STAR" is so "hot" that press books and publicity are practically unavailable. And Manager John Hopkins is proud to announce that Post will have one of the first showings of this great epic of Texas.

See "LONE STAR" at the Tower Sunday and Monday! Mrs. Clovis Tucker has two tickets at the boxoffice. She may use them for any showing of "LONE STAR."

Next week is chock full of outstanding pictures at the Tower. Look:

Wednesday and Thursday you have the great picture "CYRANO DE BEGERAC" starring the Academy Award winner Jose Ferrer. His outstanding portrayal of the 17th century gallant poet-swordsman-philosopher won Ferrer the highest acclaim in the profession for 1951—the best actor of the year.

This great picture is being shown at the Tower Wednesday and Thursday at no advance rates in prices.

FORD'S COMPLETE NEW CAR FOR 1952— The all-new 1952 Ford Customline Fordor Sedan features a completely new Ford Coachcraft body with curved one-piece windshield and rear window, triple-spinner grille arrangement and body highlights sweeping backward from the extended headlights along the hood and fender to the jet-tube taillight sections. Added styling features of the Customline Fordor are the chrome capped rear fender profiles. The new 1952 Ford will be displayed at Tom Power, Your Friendly Ford Dealer, showroom beginning tomorrow.

Ford's 1952 Styles To Feature Coachcraft Bodies And More Powerful Type Engines

Tom Power, Your Friendly Ford Dealer, is telling everyone in Garza county that Friday is the DAY as far as new cars are concerned.

For beginning at dawn tomorrow Tom, along with all the other Ford dealers in the United States, will display the completely new Ford line in his show window. He and all the personnel at the plant urge everyone to drop by and see the all-new FORD.

Ford Division of Ford Motor Company has announced three completely new lines of Ford passenger cars for 1952, featuring Coachcraft bodies and more powerful engines.

There are a total of 18 models in the three new lines — eight in the Mainline series, seven in the Customline series, and three in the Crestline series.

"Ford Mainliner cars are for buyers chiefly interested in lowest-cost, dependable transportation," explained L. D. Cruseo, vice-president of Ford Motor Company and general manager of Ford Division. "The Customline models incorporate many special refinements and conveniences, and the Crestline series features three luxurious body styles.

"These Fords for 1952—in every respect — are the finest cars we ever have built, and their advanced styling, engineering and quality features establish them as the leaders in the high-volume field," Mr. Cruseo said.

Ford's styling identity is preserved in the low-wide lines of the hood and front-end of the new cars, centering around a triple-spinner, air-scoop grille arrangement. The new cars have curved one-piece windshields and rear windows, and their body lines sweep backward from extended headlights along the hood and higher fender lines to the jet-tube taillight sections.

Among the 1952 models are three completely new utility passenger vehicles, one for each of the three lines of cars. The Ranch Wagon in the Mainline series is a two-door, six-passenger unit, with all-steel body. In the Customline, there is the Country Sedan, a four-door, eight-passenger vehicle with all-steel body. In the Crestline is the Country Squire, another four-door, eight-passenger model, with wood trim over the steel side panels.

All three of the utility units are quickly convertible for light hauling tasks. The rear seat of the Ranch Wagon folds into the floor, and in the two four-door models, the center seat folds into the floor and the rear-most seat is removable.

"Only Ford in the high-volume class offers both six-cylinder and V-8 engines, three transmissions, foam rubber padding on all passenger car seats, center fill gasoline fueling, suspended-type power pivot clutch and brake pedals and a dash-mounted master brake cylinder," L. W. Smead, general sales manager, said.

"A greatly increased use of safety glass makes our cars much safer to drive, and all four-door models have rear-door safety locks as standard equipment."

The 1952 models are more maneuverable and have a more comfortable ride because of the new "tailored-to-model" springs, a longer wheelbase, wider front tread, a more rigid frame and a new steering linkage with a higher turning ratio. The front tread is 58 inches wide and the wheelbase is 115 inches.

"Ford is the world's largest builder of V-8 engines and has built more than 12,000,000—more than four times as many as all other manufacturers combined. The Ford Strato-V-8 engine—proved over billions of miles of rugged service—is more powerful than ever, with an increase from 100 to 110 horsepower this year," Mr. Smead said.

"In addition, we are introducing the new 101-horsepower Ford Mileage Maker Six, a high-compression low-friction engine produced after four years of intensive research and testing."

Both Ford engines are designed to operate on regular gasolines and embody many features found only in more costly cars, such as aluminum autothermic pistons, full-pressure lubrication, free-turning valves and weather-tight ignition.

Ford Coachcraft bodies feature construction, automatic posture control seats, curved front and rear glass, new insulation and sealing, curved flight-style instrument panels, and insulated body bolts which dampen noise and vibrations between chassis and the passenger area.

The luggage compartment contains more than 25 cubic feet of loading space. Counter-balancing springs help to raise the luggage compartment deck lid and the hood and to hold them open for servicing or loading. The deck lid hinges are side-mounted to prevent interference with luggage.

A range of 10 two-tone exterior body color combinations is available for closed car models, and there are 12 single body colors, all with matching and harmonizing trim and upholstery, adding up to more than 80 combinations.

Operating controls, such as the key-turn starter-ignition switch, windshield wiper, light and ventilation controls, are grouped in a safety position to the left of the steering column out of the reach of children.

Controls for interior lights, choke, lighter, heater-defroster-ventilator and radio are grouped to the right of the steering column, with the clock and ash tray near the center of the panel. The heater unit itself has been moved to clear the passenger compartment and is located under the hood. An adjustable door has been added to provide warm air directly to the right front seat. The defroster slot extends over the entire interior width of the curved glass windshield.

Ford Mainline body styles for 1952 are the business coupe, Tudor, Fordor and the new Ranch Wagon. Customline units are the Tudor, Fordor, club coupe and the all-metal Country Sedan station wagon. The Crestline cars are the Sunliner, Victoria and Country Squire.

Russians "Discover" TV Mass Production

BUDAPEST, P — Latest Russian "discovery" is the art of mass production of TV sets.

The newspaper SZABAD NEZ declares also that Russian-made TV sets are far superior to those of the West, giving "a clear, sharp and perfect picture".

However, Hungarians have to be content with the "promise" that TV will arrive in "the near future."

Hunting Season Deaths Reach 28

AUSTIN — The Chief Clerk of the Texas Game & Fish Commission said incomplete casualty reports from the recent major hunting seasons show that at least 28 Texans died from accidents.

All but six of the tentative total died from gunfire. Five drowned and one died of a broken neck sustained in a fall from a deer stand in a tree.

At least six other persons died from heat attacks attributed to over exertion while hunting.

The Chief Clerk said the total for the last season would approximate that of the previous season when at least 35 were listed as having died from assorted causes including heart attacks.

The number wounded during the recent season was estimated at "in excess of 50."

The Chief Clerk said the totals to date show that 13 hunters died from self-inflicted wounds and that seven were killed by guns handled by others.

In addition, one hunter was mistaken for a turkey, dying from a shot through the head by a .300 calibre bullet.

The Chief Clerk observed that, while the casualty total remained high, the number of accidents from hunters being mistaken for game appeared to be less than usual.

The seven fatal wounds which were self-inflicted included such common causes as leaning on the gun barrel, crawling through a fence, removing a gun from a car, barrel first, and striking the butt end of a gun against the ground.

RED PLAYGROUND

VIENNA, P — The lesser lights of international communism have a new summer playground. While the top leaders spend their vacations in Moscow or at Russia's resorts around the Crimea and the Black Sea, the second-fiddle boys go to Hungary.

The huge hotels and summer resorts along the shores of the 50-mile long Lake Balaton, once a gathering point for East Europe's elite, have been converted to rest centers for weary Communists from West Europe. Hungarian newspapers recently revealed that among those sojourning on the shores of the lake were Communists from West Germany, Norway, France and Belgium.

The big 1952 FORD

Outperforms them all!

Ford's completely new 101-h.p. high-compression, low-friction Six, with free-turning overhead valves, is the most modern Six in the industry. And Ford's high-compression V-8, now 110 h.p., is the most powerful engine in the low-price field. Both are available with performance-proved Fordomatic Drive.

Out-rides them all!

The '52 Ford gives you riding comfort such as you have never before experienced in a car in the low-price field. With front springs tailored to the weight of each model, longer rear springs and diagonally mounted shock absorbers, Ford's Automatic Ride Control gives you the smoothest, easiest ride of them all—a level ride on straightaways, an even keel on curves.

Exclusive Power Pilot Economy!

Both the new Ford Mileage Maker Six and the Strato-Star V-8 have the exclusive Ford Automatic Power Pilot. This completely integrated carburetion-ignition-combustion system gives you high-compression "go" on "regular" gas.

Out-sizes them all!

The '52 Ford has longer wheelbase, wider front tread and greater length. It's big outside and big inside, with spacious seating for six and the largest luggage locker of them all.

New Coachcraft Bodies!

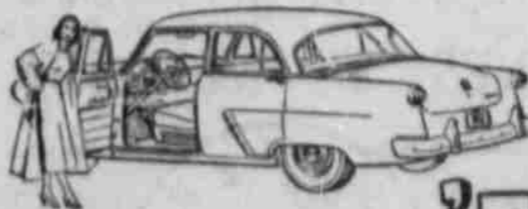

Ford's new Coachcraft Bodies are longer, stronger... distinctive in their modern beauty. They offer new hull-tight construction which seals out dust, weather and noise. And Ford has more color and upholstery combinations than any other car in its field!

Full-Circle Visibility!

With narrower corner pillars, picture windows all around and a rear window that's 48% larger you have "all-direction" vision that adds to your enjoyment and your safety.

Out-values them all!

With such modern design and engineering features as new Flight-Style Control Panel, new Power-Flot Clutch and Brake Pedals, new Center-Fit Fueling, and new counterbalanced hood and deck lid, Ford adds up to more dollars and cents value than any car in its price class!

You can pay more but you can't buy newer or better!
