Edwards of Greenfield company is bubbling with good news about their newest product — Du Pont Du Pont paints begin research. Years of laboratory work go into every Du Pont product. Bill attended a Du Pont meeting in Lubbock last week and is most enthusiastic about the Du Pont products.

In the laboratory, the more the treating methods are perfected by ingenious designers that subject paints and surfaces to conditions of heat and exposure far beyond that which are normally required in the field.

These tests are conducted at "paint farms" where paint panels are placed on racks exposed to sun and rain, heat and snow, freezing and thawing. The panels are examined regularly over periods of time to determine just how the products stand up when subjected to all the furies of the elements.

It says that Du Pont technicians each year make a strategic loan throughout the country. Examination of the surfaces at intervals proves durability and color fastness in actual use.

These experiments are your guarantee of satisfaction, both interior or exterior use. Whatever your need, whether table, a trellis, or a tractor, entire house job, Bill can make your selections. Combinations for your interior are worked out for you in most effective manner by decorators and are put in color charts before you see them. You are invited to see color charts before you see your paint. Du Pont is recommended for every surface.

Cemetery Unit Asks Members To Pay Dues

Annual meeting of the cemetery association directors was held last Thursday night, T. R. Greenfield, chairman, reports, voting to go up from $7.50 to $12.50 for gravedigging.

"The reason for this is the increased cost of labor," Greenfield says. "We want to start our spring work campaign but we need money to do so. We would like to see 50 or 100 members pay their annual dues so we can begin."

The group voted to curb new lots, since all those curbed have been sold. This is another reason more money is needed, Greenfield says.

Local Couple Extends Welcome To Veterans

Jack Berch, radio singing star, will make a special broadcast to veterans' hospitals Tuesday, March 20, 11:30 - 11:45 a. m. on NBC, to tell veterans about the good will of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson of this city, who want to extend friendly greetings to the GIs with letters, cards and packages.

During the "Heart-to-Heart" portion of the broadcast Berch will read a letter from Mrs. Robinson, which, in part, reads: "If we could find any of these boys who are interested, we would like to write to them and occasionally send them personal packages. If at any time they should have the opportunity we would be happy to have them visit us, as if our home were theirs." The couple got the idea when they read an article about veterans who must remain in hospitals for years. The story said many of the men were without families.

Six Wildcats and Nine Tests for Proven Area

The area spotlight on oil activity continues to shine brightly on Garza County this week with six wildcats underway and nine tests going down in the county's proven area. Attracting top attention is Continental Oil Company No. 1 J. C. Fumagalli, Northeast Garza wildcat.

Wednesday drilling was below 3-313 feet in San Andres lime, with no show reported. On a recent drillstem test at 2,649-732 feet, recovery after one hour was 75 feet of slightly oil and gas cut salt water. The Fumagalli well is in the southeast quarter of section 14, block 8, H&GN survey and 14 miles northeast of Post. Nine miles northeast of the Fumagalli well D&E Drilling company was rigging up on Continental's two offsets to its recently completed Canyon Reef discovery, the No. 2 Swenson Land & Cattle company.

Fifteen miles east of Post, Stanolind Oil & Gas company and others No. 1 D. C. Hill, slated 9,000-foot wildcat. Wednesday was drilling below 2,800 feet in lime.

The four other wildcats, Murchison Brothers No. 1 Morris Neff, slated 4,900 - foot project, was drilling at 4,235 feet in lime and shale. The well is three miles northeast of Post.

Eight miles southeast of Post in section 10, block 2, T&NO survey, Paul S. Teas of Dallas No. 1, J. S. Edwards, on a 3,800-foot contract, was coring below 3-090 feet in Permian lime and shale.

Fred W. Shield of San Antonio No. 1 L. G. Thuet, projected 3,500-foot test six miles west of Post, was drilling at 2,830 feet in shale.

Drilling is slated to get underway at once on I. Weiner, et al No. 1, J. M. Shannon wildcat, seven and one-half miles southeast of Justiceburg. The exploration is to be drilled to 3,500 with cable tools.

Two other wells are slated for the Justiceburg area. H. L. Cain of Lubbock No. 1 Beyers, will drill with cable to 3,000 feet. The other well will be drilled by John B. Collier of Odessa on the P. G. Spinning estate, section 880, block 91, H&TC survey, 4 miles south of Justiceburg. The test will be with cable tool to 4,000 feet.

Three new wells are to be drilled. (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

The case, which hinged on the testimony of Harold Hoskins, the only eye witness to the accident, weakened when the witness changed his story three or four times while on the stand, Hoskins first testified that Cross drove away from the scene of the accident without giving his name or address after he had stopped to ask if the victim was badly hurt. Later on cross examination Hoskins stated that Cross had given him his name and told him he was going after trial aid and would return. As a result of Hoskins' testimony, District Attorney Karl Cayton told the jury that he could not conscientiously ask the jury to rely on the testimony given by the witness.

The defendant was represented by Lloyd Crosslin and E. G. Pharr of Lubbock. The court room at last night's session was more than half filled with spectators.

When the criminal docket was brought to the attention of Judge Reed Monday morning three cases were considered, with the defendant in each case entering a plea of guilty to the charge against him.

Felix Tanner, Negro, entered his plea to a charge of robbery and was given a 5-year probation sentence. Tanner was charged with robbing Clarence Pryor.

J. E. Roberts, who entered a plea of guilty before the court on a charge of forgery, was given a 5-year probation sentence.

Buren Curb, charged with burglary of Forrest Lumber Company, was given a 5-year probation sentence, after entering a plea of guilty to the charge.

Tuesday was spent in hearing a civil case, styled E. S. Griswold of Abilene vs. S. W. Sibily, trustee. The suit was based on a debt and contract. The case was heard before a jury and will result in judgment for plaintiff.

Before the week ends one other criminal case will likely be considered by Judge Reed. The case is docketed, The State of Texas vs. H. D. Vanzandt, charged with forgery.

District Attorney Karl Cayton of Lamesa indicated this morning that two murder cases will come up for trial when the next session of court is called within the next few weeks. M. L. Holland, charged on a grand jury indictment with the murder of C. F. Chapman, will face trial during the current term. Chapman died of gunshot wounds inflicted during a gun battle and fight on the highway near Justiceburg on or about August 31, 1950. Holland at the time of the shooting was serving in the capacity of city marshal for Post.

William Bay (Baby Ray) Wood, Negro, was charged with murdering Alice Littleton, Negro woman, early in October of last year, will also face trial at the next session of district court.

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Hard-Earned Savings Will Go for Naught If Third War Brings Increased Inflation

BABSON PARK, Fla.—This week I am not discussing the immediate effects of inflation which I have already covered. Rather, I am telling you what will happen 10 years hence.

Gold statistics show that the greatest wealth consists of good health and good judgment. The most wasteful people and the poorest investors are those who sacrifice their health for money, pleasure, or social position.

The next best investment is to give our children good, practical education and sane religious ideals. Therefore, storing up physical, mental and spiritual resources is of great importance.

Only Mr. Stalin knows whether World War III will start in 1951. His present policy seems to be to scare us, with violent propaganda, to spend hundreds of billions more on armaments and thereby force serious inflation and depression upon us.

Texans In WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY, Associated Press Washington Service

WASHINGTON, P.—Texas members of the House say little but think lots about realignment of the state's congressional districts.

Every member of the 21-man solidly democratic house delegation is keeping a close ear and eye on the Texas legislature.

How the state lawmakers revamp the districts will determine whether some of the present congressmen keep their jobs. It almost certainly will affect the political strength of a number of them.

Since it is the duty of the state legislators to make room for a 22nd Texas congressional district—gained through the 1950 census, the lawmakers here are keeping a discreet silence.

Knowing that no official group likes for another to trespass on its jurisdiction, the incumbent congressmen refrain from public utterances for fear that their views might backfire.

However, they would like to see a lot of changes in the chamber's redistricting bill. That measure, among other things, likely would disturb some close friendships.

It would leave Rep. Olin E. (Tiger) Teague of College Station without a single county of his present 6th district. Some of the counties would go to Rep. Tom Pickett of Palestine, some to Rep. W. R. (Bob) Foote of Waco, and one to Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson. And Rep. Lindley Beckworth would lose his home county of Upshur to the district of Rep. Wright Patman of Texasiana.

If they had their way, the Texas congressmen probably would vote to give the 22nd congressman to Harris county and leave the other districts as they are with that exception. They point out that Harris county, with Houston, has about double the population of the average congressional district.

Getting Out On the LIMB ...

by EDDIE the editor

In the next life, I want to be a hermit. I make this simple request for numerous reasons. As a hermit I will have no post office box and get no mail.

I must be on the mailing list of every crackpot between Maine and California. While I stick around here working 12 to 15 hours a day, trying to get ahead, they sit up in their weatherized offices and mimeograph advice to me on how to get rich or married or rid of ulcers.

Just the other day I got a big bunch of second or third class mail from "Executive Books," a double menace. I can tell you, I didn't like the way they started off their letter. "Dear Friend," they said. "What is the eternal question that looks you and every other man or woman squarely in the eye every morning?"

Offhand, I couldn't think of a quick reply to that one since I keep my eyes shut until breakfast is ready, just to keep questions, termites and My Dog Bugle from looking me squarely in them.

So Executive Books, like a nagging wife, answers his, her or its own question. "How can I have more money on which to live—to support those dependent on me? HOW CAN I BE A SUCCESS IN BUSINESS?"

Every day, I hear a new answer to that one. Just recently it was an unhappy home. Seems that makes a boy stay in the office and work harder, rather than go home to a shrewish wife and squalling, smart-aleck kids.

Executive Books is modest and claims it doesn't have a sure fire method of success, but if I could just master words, I could probably be a big success. EB says, "Now I tell you what I'm gonna do! For only three dollars—blat, blab, blah ..."

Anyway, it turns out they want me to buy a couple of books. The first is some kind of dictionary, a best seller, they say. Me, I still have to read the Kinsey report. Even a stupid cuss like me can learn as many words in an hour as the average man does in a year with this little ole book. Hubba! hubba!

A brochure or somesuch is included concerning this book called "Word Power Made Easy." That is the name of the book. I was amazed at the things this book would teach me how to do.

For instance how to talk about common phenomena and occurrences. When is a phenomenon common? (That question is mine.) In case I need to know, it will also teach me how to talk about liars and lying, actions (kind unspecified), insult my enemies, flatter my friends, doctors, a variety of conditions, complicated ideas, ad infinitum.

If I just had this book, I could test my grammar and my vocabulary. It has pronunciations with a college education. Also tests to determine my ability to pronounce 40 words correctly.

But this is not all Executive Books is willing to do for me.

They have another book they want me to have, all included in the price of the first. A $7.95 value for only $3 or something. "Winning Your Way With People" is its title. This is the book "that shows you how to make people listen to you, think well of you, agree with you and remember you." Just what I need for the tulips.

When they send this to me, I can learn how to get my ideas across to people—what I've not already learned from "Word Power." I can learn to build a winning personality—takes the place of a better mousetrap, no doubt.

I can learn the importance of my being important. No comment. I can also learn how to win people's help in business. All these years, I've been paying for it. I can learn how to make conversation a two way deal—can it be that the author is a bachelor?

This books tells how to make a speech and feel no pain. It will probably put the aspirin people out of business. How to help the customer buy is another tip it offers. I try to do this every week. I can learn, from this volume, how to get results through leadership. How else?

It will also tell me how to come out of my shell, how to be happy though married, how to turn my mistakes into assets, how my habits can make or break me and "The Just-As-I-Am" complex, probably a mystery conclusion.

The only things it will not teach me are a cure for the common cold or how to cut down on my income tax.

This book will keep me from being mediocre, failing to achieve my rightful station in life, and a colorless, indifferent social existence. It will hold me and inspire me so no book has done in years.

THE AMERICAN WAY

The Siamese Twins

Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

An Apt Solution Here's an adequate formula for success in rhyme which we heard last week:

Early to bed, And early to rise; Work like hell, And advertise! —The Crosbyton Review

Women Out Live Husbands Most people have observed how much longer women are living today than their husbands. Last week a gathering was held of couples who started in an East Texas community more than 40 years ago. Today there are three couples left in the original group who held an annual get together party.

The balance of the group is interesting: Forty widows; one bachelor; one widower! Perhaps there are too many folks working or worrying themselves to death over things which they have no control. Too many men are trying to get rich when they should be content with moderate means.

We have always believed that it was worry instead of work I can send off a free postcard and get these books at no cost for the first seven days. After that, I have to pay, of course, and then subscribe to four books a year from Executive Books.

Well, I am only going to file all of this interesting information right in the wastebasket. I have struggled along in business for more than 25 years in my mediocre way. My colorless social existence suits me and I don't have to read any books to know I am happy though married.

I don't care anything about these two-way conversations. If people are so rude they won't listen to me, I don't care to bother with them anyway. I don't make any speeches and am trusting qualified medical men to get rid of my pains.

At my age, my habits have already made or broken me and I like it the way it is. Why should I change now? I speak the common brand of English and am fairly well understood around here. I know what everyone else is talking about, with the exception of one or two.

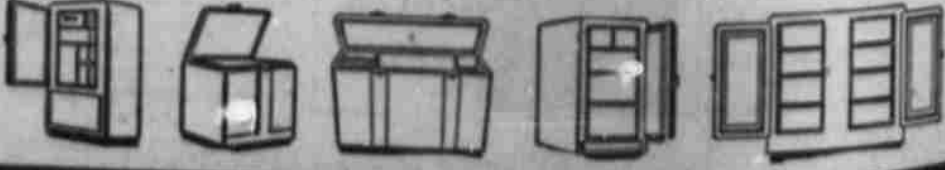

So why should I spend my three bucks? There have been times when that would buy a reasonable quantity of cold beer. Those times may come again. Against that day, I'll keep my fellow buy the books. money and let some smarter Ho hum. It is nearly time for spring fever.

Three of Post's Greatest Needs Two Years Ago Have Been Realized Now

Two years ago, the Post Dispatch surveyed several local citizens asking what Post needs most.

The progress Post has made in acquiring these things makes an interesting story.

Three of the four things mentioned most often have already been provided. The most needed thing was a park or playground for the children, people surveyed said. The chamber of commerce recently presented a deed for a park at South Lake to the city.

More paving, including West Main street, was the next most popular item. West Main and the side streets connecting it with the Tahoka highway have been paved. More paving has been voted and the contract let.

Third most needed thing according to Post citizens surveyed is a hospital. Bonds have been voted and plans drawn for a county hospital. John Herd gave a site. County officials are awaiting letting the contract. In addition to the hospital, local physicians plan to build a private clinic nearby.

Post still does not have a recreation center, which a number of people polled felt a paramount need. Attempts have been made to maintain a recreation center here, but they have failed.

Next on the list was street lights. Street lights have been installed in the main part of town, but residential lights are still needed. Members of the school board polled two years ago were aware of the need for a new grade school, which has been realized.

Improvement of churches and building a swimming pool ranked high. Other things mentioned then and accomplished now include organization of girl scouts locally, establishment of a retail credit association, building a new picture show and public restrooms.

Things suggested two years ago on which no action has been taken include sidewalks, community hall, and refinery. As far as the Post Dispatch knows, few trees have been planted. The housing situation is fluid, at times there is sufficient housing while at other times, there is not. Some minor oil companies have established headquarters here. It is impossible for the to say if any more gardens have been planted.

One man suggested cleaning up the town. That seems to be a current suggestion. Even if it was done two years ago, it needs to be done again.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wells and family of East Helena, Mont., left Thursday afternoon after spending the week visiting in the home of his sister, Mrs. Glenn Wheatley and family his dad, W. Post Moviegoers Contribute $321 To Polio Fund

Moviegoers of Post brightened the new year for polio victims at Gonzales Warm Springs foundation to the tune of $321.51, it was revealed by John Hopkins of Tower Theatre.

This sum represented the amount collected in the Tower Theatre's participation in the 1950 Texas Polio Fund Drive which raised a total of $171,934.08. The money will help buy badly needed equipment and aid in the proposed $1,000,000 expansion program at the Texas polio treatment center.

Five hundred sixty-seven Texas theatres participated in the 1950 Texas Theatres Polio fund during Christmas week. Audience collections were made following showings of a special film titled "A New Year's Message from Governor Allan Shivers" featuring Governor Shivers, Miss Anseth Teel of Fort Worth and young Janalee Davis of Del Rio, polio victims being treated at the Gonzales Foundation. Six Texas T-V stations also ran the film and solicited mail contributions.

The 1950 drive was directed by L. M. Rice, attorney for Robb and Rowley Theatres, and R. J. O'Donnell, Vice President and General Manager of Interstate Theatres. Other theatremen who spearheaded the campaign included Don Douglas, Robb and Rowley, Sam Landrum, Jefferson Amusement Co.; R. I. Payne, Theatre Enterprises, and Lynn Smith, theatre owner from Gonzales. Members of the advisory committee included John Q. Adams, Joe Bryant, Col. H. A. Cole, Claude Ezell, Phil Isley, Henry Hall, C. D. Leon, B. R. McLendon, Henry Reeve, John H. Rowley and R. N. Smith.

A breakdown of theatre collections in the state follows: Interstate Theatres, $99,214.07; Robb and Rowley, $16,578.41; Jefferson Amusement, $17,343.75; Theatre Enterprises, $7,109.09; Video Independent, $9,051.84; Ezell and Associates, $3,343.91; Phil Isley Theatres, $907.12; and others,

Musical Terms To Be Printed in Hebrew

TEL AVIV P.—A dictionary with 1200 musical expressions in Hebrew is expected to be published in Israel.

The "Va'ad Halashon" (Hebrew Language council) originally believed that it might be necessary to determine some 100-200 musical expressions in the revived Bible language, but experience has shown that many more are needed — even if a number of non-Hebrew (often Italian) words which are internationally used, are admitted into modern Hebrew as well.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Webb Are Interested in Canaries, Chows

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Webb, newcomers from Levelland, raise chows and canaries in their spare time.

After living in Levelland for 20 years, the Webbs moved to Post recently to take over Dunlap's here, following the resignation of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bunker. He has been in the dry goods business several years although for a number of years, he was connected with Wallace theatres.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb are members of the Methodist church. Both are ex-students of Methodist colleges and Mrs. Webb's father was a Methodist preacher. The Rev. W. J. Johnson, he was presiding elder of the Wichita Falls district at the time of his death. The First Methodist church in Wichita Falls was built during his pastorate.

Mrs. Webb is an experienced storewoman, too. She has been connected with Dunlap's ready-to-wear department since the store opened in Levelland. She first attended Southwestern university at Georgetown, where she was a pledge to a sorority. The next year she transferred to Texas Wesleyan, in Fort Worth.

"My dad was one of the founders of Southern Methodist university," Mrs. Webb reveals, "but he wouldn't let me go out there."

Her husband attended SMU where he was a member of Psi Epsilon Phi, a local fraternity which later affiliated nationally. The Webbs have two children, Charles, who is in the Army in Waco and a daughter, Mrs. Dale Peden, Levelland. They have a granddaughter and two grandsons.

Webb likes to build things and tinker around the house, he admits, but has little time to do so. "The store is my main hobby," he says. Both like to attend football games. His home town is Itasca in Central Texas.

Mrs. Webb raises canaries and gives them to shut-ins. She has sent them as far as California and Oklahoma and given them to all her friends around Levelland who are shut-in. Right now, she has only "the grandpa," Frank Sinatra, and the youngest. Their Chow is in Levelland.

Webb is a member of Rotary. Mrs. Webb was president of the Business and Professional Women's club in Levelland, on the stock committee for the new hotel proposed there and a member of the Wesleyan Guild. She enjoys needlework and cooking, but it has been years since she has had time, she reveals.

For a time, she was a member of the 26 Study club, sang in the church choir and taught a young people's class. The Webbs say they enjoy being with people.

"We like Post fine," Webb says. "The people are really nice. This is just the size town I want to live in." The Webbs live in the east side of Mrs. F. A. Gilley's duplex near the courthouse.

Miss McFall is a sister of Mrs. K. Stoker. She was recently presented in a recital by the Speech department at McMurry college in Abilene. She read "The Nazarene" then.

Mrs. J. C. Strange, organist, will assist Miss McFall. Committee in charge of the program, appointed by P-TA President Mrs. Paul Jones, is Mrs. Willard Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Victor Hudman.

The Roy McClellan family, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. King and Mr. and Mrs. Charles King returned home Sunday after attending funeral services for Jake McClellan in Mount Pleasant.

Sizeable Crowd Attends Open House At Post Schools Thursday Afternoon

A sizeable crowd attended the open house held at Post high and grade schools Thursday, in observance of Public School week. The local chapter of the Masonic Lodge sponsored the program. The band marched and played down town at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon to open the program. It also played over the public address system and demonstrated rehearsal procedures in the grade school auditorium. Students presented a talent program over the system, also.

First grade rooms were decorated with art work and lesson sheets of the students. The Easter and Texas themes were emphasized. Each teacher was in her room to conduct visitors and explain the exhibits.

Higher grades had exhibits on China. Posters were placed around the walls depicting various phases of transportation. Social science classes displayed products of the countries they are studying as well as different phases of Texas history.

Outstanding in high school were the homemaking and science exhibits. A formal evening dress with a net overskirt and several other garments made by students were demonstrated in the homemaking department. In the dining room was a display of party cakes for all occasions and various special salads. Miss Bessie Pitts is head of this department.

O. C. Strickland was in charge of the science exhibit. This included the electrolysis of water, the operation of an electric motor, the principle of construction of an electric light, a corn cell under a microscope and other projects worked up by pupils.

Mathematics exhibits included notebooks, papers and graphs. Geometric figures were also exhibited.

Business training classes demonstrated properly typed letters ready for mailing, as well as letters taken in shorthand and then transcribed. Typed designs for cover sheets were also shown. Bookkeeping notebooks and filing systems were displayed.

Each department had an outstanding display of daily and departmental work.

Watchdogs Prove Friends of Burglars

RICHMOND, Ind., A—The faith of two Richmond families in their watchdogs has been shattered by burglars.

Sam Graf told police he and his family returned home to find the house entered, $182 taken, and their "vicious" dog locked in the kitchen.

And Ed Bratton came home the same night to find his house ransacked and his watchdog—which he had left inside—sitting outside, shivering on the front porch.

Watch Out For The "Blind-Spots"

Stopped by Squint Miller's farm the other day and saw a vinegar bottle in his kitchen with an oversized cucumber inside it. The cucumber filled the whole bottle.

"What's a cucumber doing in here?" I asked him. "That's my 'blind-spot' reminder," says Squint. "My grandmother kept one in her kitchen to remind her to take stock of herself now and then."

"I slipped that bottle over the cucumber when it was just starting to grow on the vine," he went on. "And like certain viewpoints, not noticed, it just grew and now it's there to stay."

From where I sit, we could use a cue from Squint and watch our own "blind-spots" and prejudices before they grow too big to get rid of. We've got to respect our neighbor's right to his preferences... preferences for a certain of car, a favorite movie star, a temperate glass of beer after work. We won't be tripped by any blind spots if we keep our eyes wide-open!

Mrs. Gertie Mills Gets Securities Dealer's License

An oil and gas securities dealer's license for Gertie Margaret Mills of Post was mailed recently from the office of John Ben Shepperd, secretary of state, in Austin.

Shepperd's office must approve, qualify, and license a securities salesman or dealer before he is eligible to sell stocks and bonds in the state of Texas. These licenses must be renewed each year.

The Securities act, which was designed to protect the investing public from fraudulent schemes, supplanted the old "Blue Sky Law" in 1935. The act requires that the Securities Division of the Texas Department of State administer the licensing of securities dealers and salesmen and grant issuer's permits to individuals and corporations.

When an issuer's permit is granted, it assures that the bonds or stocks issued in Texas are registered. Shepperd's office keeps records of securities registrations and salesman and dealer licenses, and determines whether or not the plans offered are fair, just, and equitable.

Approximately 4000 securities and dealer licenses are granted by the state of Texas each year.

The Stories of Lee Byrds Would Make Western Movie

Life stories of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Byrd, West Texas pioneers, make a typical western movie.

Byrd came to Garza county in 1885. Byrd's family has been typical of the cowboy—he drove the herd to market, he quelled stampedes, and he came in long trips to square dance.

Byrd came to West Texas a somewhat later date. He was born in Parker county in the West Texas town of Westehrford. Her family moved there to Jayton in 1885. Then they moved to the present town of Byrd.

Byrd's parents, the Bill Byrds, moved from Young county to settle on a ranch on Grape creek, a ranch on a dugout, facing the bank of the creek. There were three dugouts in the area near a spring.

Byrd recalls, were 14 by 18 feet. His grand-uncle and a family named Smith lived in the other two. The dugouts were topped with logs covered with dirt. Slide windows were built above the area.

No Schools Then

There were no schools in the area for Byrd to go to at that time. Snyder was the first school. Although Indians had both the settlers, they moved to the north, he recalled.

The men went to Colorado City for most of the groceries and supplies in those days. At first they cooked in ovens outside the dugout and in pots. Later they had a woodstove inside. The stoves were always warm, he recalled.

From this location, the Byrds moved to Kent county into another dugout. There were few people in this area. Later, they moved to Snyder, where he grew up.

Byrd's step-father was James Williams. He was the man who built most of the houses in Post. "Skinner" worked for him. She started school in Clairmont, but school had no grades. In Garza county, she had gone to a school so in West Texas, she felt completely lost. Her career soon ended.

Byrd was working near Clairmont on the Two Circle Bar ranch when the couple met. They were going to dances at the court-house in Clairmont. They were married in a buggy by a Judge

MR. AND MRS. LEE BYRD

Jay. He took his bride to live in a dugout. Dimensions of this dugout was about 16 by 24 feet. It was very up-to-date, with slide glass windows and a tarp on the floor.

"A traveling man stopped there once in a storm," Mrs. Byrd remembers, "and he was amazed that it was so nice. He said he thought it would be awful, but it was really pretty. He was driving a wagon and team."

First Children Twins

Their first children, twin daughters, were born while they lived here. Mrs. Byrd went home to her mother in Clairmont for the babies' birth. After they were a few weeks old, she decided to take them home.

Her husband hitched the buggy to the wagon and put Mrs. Byrd and the babies, Vivian (Bib) and Lillian, into the buggy while he drove the wagon.

"I noticed everything was awfully quiet," Mrs. Byrd recalls. It was cold and snowing and curtains were up around the buggy. "I lifted a curtain and looked out to find that the buggy had come loose and Lee had gone off and left us. I hollered and hollered before I got his attention."

Finally, he noticed that the wagon was not pulling anything, so he turned around and came back for his family. Lillian died in January. Bib is now Mrs. Charles Benson.

Their first home was 10 miles from Clairmont. They moved from there to the Hart ranch where he was foreman. It was down the river in Kent county.

Move To Snyder

Later he moved to Snyder to work for the Fullers on the LP ranch. Headquarters were 20 miles north of Snyder. Some of the property was in Garza county. Byrd worked for the Fullers off and on for 22 years. In 1908, they homesteaded 1100 acres for them.

While they worked on the Hart ranch, three months before they started working for the Fullers, the Byrd's son, "Bud", was born. In 1936, they came to the OS ranch. This was the second time he had worked for the OS. The first time was in 1896. At that time, some people named Long owned it. It took in all the range included in the Rodgers, McCrary, Connell and Stoker ranches now.

They lived at the headquarters and for five years Byrd ran it as manager. From there, they moved to the Spinning ranch for four years. Then Byrd and his son leased a ranch at Tarzan in Martin county. After 11 months, Mr. and Mrs.

Byrd came to Post and bought their present home on North Taylor street, just outside the city limits. Byrd and his son run only registered white face cattle on the ranch.

Keeps Few Cattle

"I've always had a few cattle of my own," Byrd says. He remembers driving a herd to market once and holding them on the present site of Terrace cemetery. A big rain came and the cattle stampeded. Byrd's horse threw him and the cattle tried to trample him, but he got up and waved his slicker at them to head them off.

Most cattle run then, as now, were whitefaces. They were not as good quality then as now, Byrd says. There were a lot of longhorns.

Several of Byrd's early-day friends are still living near here. They include Sam Elkins, Ed Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fox, Mrs. O. D. Cardwell and Mrs. Irene Rodgers.

Kent and Garza counties were dry then, Byrd recalls. There were no tanks, only lakes and rivers. At first, they did not even have windmills. Rain and lightning caused most trouble with the cattle. Sandstorms were bad at Clairmont, Mrs. Byrd adds.

When Byrd was 16, he took 4000 head of 4-year-olds to Amarillo. It was awfully dry and they went two days without water. Finally they came to a little shack of a house by a windmill and the cattle tore down both the house and the windmill.

Guard With Roy

One night, he recalls, he was on guard with Ben Roy. It was dark and lightning so Roy told Byrd if the cattle started running to let them drift. Finally, 1200 of them stampeded, just as his horse ran over a corral rope. Byrd fell 20 or 30 feet, but finally got up and helped get the herd to drifting into the brakes.

"For awhile after that, the cattle would run every night," he recalls. "We had to drift them to keep them from running. We were near Amarillo and two of the boys had gone in for some candy. Coming back, one of them dropped a stick. When he bent over to pick it up, the cattle stampeded."

"I had already gone to bed," Byrd adds, "and I jumped up without my clothes, ran for my horse and started helping round-up before I realized it."

"The boss told me to go to bed with my clothes on," he continues. "So I slept under the wagon and sure enough, in the night, the cattle began to run. I raised up right quick and hit my head on the wagon. So I just lay back down."

The next day, Byrd relates, the herd was 50 to 75 cattle short. The boss sent him for them and he had to trail them 30 miles. He was three days getting back to the herd and part of the time, he didn't have anything to eat.

Wild Turkey Plentiful

Wild turkey were plentiful, as well as antelope, bear and deer, Byrd recalls. At first, there were buffalo in the area.

It was the custom then to round up and brand out of the

Preacher Now Rides Motorcycle on Calls

PACIFIC BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Rev. Frank Crane, 27, reminds members of his church of the old time country parsons who rode horseback to visit their far-flung parishioners. The difference is that Crane, a fifth-generation Methodist minister, uses a motorcycle.

He makes daily calls on his modern contraption and says the idea has made him especially popular with the younger set.

"At first I had a tough time getting one youth group to attend Sunday meetings," he says, "but when I started giving rides on the motorcycle to all who came, the attendance boomed."

Grain Loan Dates Not To Be Extended

Loan maturity dates for 1950 crop grains will not be extended beyond those announced, B. F. Vance, Chairman of the Production and Marketing administration state committee, has reminded Texas farmers, therefore, the maturity date on grain sorghum loans will be March 31, 1951.

round-up. There were no fences, so the cowboys merely hobbled the horses and stood night guard over the cattle. They drove to Amarillo, White Deer and Clarendon, even after the railroad came nearer.

The work was hard, he says, because after driving all day, it was necessary for each cowboy to stand guard a part of the night. At times, they had a good bit of trouble with rustlers.

Dancing was their main recreation, Byrd recalls. On the trail, some of the cowboys would tie a rag around their arms and be the girls while the remainder danced the man's part. The schottische and square were the main dances. Byrd would dance awhile and call awhile.

One night he came in off the trail and went to a dance. The dance lasted all night and until 10 o'clock the next day. Byrd remembers that it rained and snowed that day. He usually rode horseback to the dances.

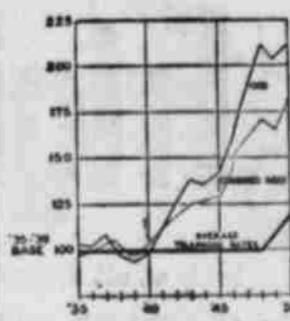

Before the couple was married, Byrd took Mrs. Byrd to a dance. He drove a brone team. After they got there, he decided the dance was too rough and he had better take her home. He just had to ear down the brones, then let them go.

Mrs. Byrd's people moved to Post when her step-father was building houses here. He built the second house north of Cox Lumber yard. That was their home. Among the other houses he built is the house now occupied by the L. A. Pressons.

Byrd's hobby is square dancing and hers is crocheting.

Now Is Time To Plant Spring Garden Home Demonstration Agent Advises

Now is the time to think about spring gardens, Mrs. Jewell Strasser, county home demonstration agent, believes, since it has rained, at last.

Garzans live in Area 3 of the planting guide for Texas, Mrs. Strasser reveals. She has a booklet published by the extension service which gives a list of proper varieties of vegetables for this area.

Logan snap bush beans are a tender plant, suited to this area. A pint of beans should be planted to the 100-foot row, two to four inches apart, one to two inches deep. In 45 to 65 days, they will be ready for use.

Bluelake is the variety of snap pole beans for the area. They should be planted one-half pint to the row, four to six inches apart. Also a tender plant, beans are best planted one to two inches deep. They mature in two months to 75 days, for eating.

Detroit dark red and Crosby's Egyptian beets are adapted to West Texas and should be planted one ounce to the row, two to three inches apart and one inch deep. They are hardy plants and are ready for use from 50 days to four months after planting.

Red Core Chantenay and Danver's Half-Long are the carrot varieties which do best in this soil. One ounce of seed is planted to each row, two to three inches apart and one-half to three-quarters of an inch deep. Carrots are hardy and are ready for use in 75 to 100 days.

White velvet okra responds best to this climate. One ounce of seed should be planted to each row, some 24 to 36 inches apart. Seeds should be placed one inch deep and this tender plant will yield in three to four months.

Bermuda onion plants should be set out four to the foot. A depth of an inch and a half to two and one-half inches is recommended. A hardy plant, it is ready for the table in 30 to 40 days. Bermuda and Sweet Spanish sets are adapted to this climate. Two quarts should be planted to a row. They should be placed two to three inches apart and one-half to one inch deep. Also hardy, these onions come to the table in 45 to 75 days.

Blackeyed and crowder peas are planted one-half ounce to the row six to eight inches apart. Tender, they should be planted two to three inches deep and are ready to eat in 75 to 90 days. Little Marvel and Laxton's Progress are the English peas best grown in Garza. They should be planted two pounds to the row, three to four inches apart and three to four inches deep. They are hardy plants, usable in 50 to 75 days.

Scarlet Globe radishes should be planted one ounce to the row, one-half to one inch apart and one-half to three-fourths inches deep. They are ready to eat in a month or two and are a hardy plant.

June pink and Porter tomatoes grow best here. Thirty-five or 50 plants should be set to the row, 30 to 36 inches apart and two to four inches deep. It takes 100 to 120 days for them to be ready to eat. Tomatoes are very tender plants.
