Ed L. Gossett Resigns From Post in Congress

Ed L. Gossett, United States congressman from Wichita Falls and formerly of Garza county, announced Friday that he is resigning from Congress to become general attorney for Southwestern Bell Telephone company. His headquarters will be in Dallas. Gossett gave the reason for his resignation as the "it has become increasingly difficult for me to do my full duty to my Congressional job and also my full duty to my growing family."

Merle Britton Is Transferred by SC

Merle Britton, range conservationist and head of the local work unit of the Soil Conservation Service, leaves with his family Tuesday for Lakeport, Calif. Britton will work with two soil conservation districts there. He asked for the transfer to be near his father who is ill. Jesse Ward will be acting head of the local office until a new head is named. Britton was made head of the local office several months ago when A. P. Ottinger was transferred to Oklahoma. (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Mesquite Spraying Program Begins

Mike E. Custer, secretary, Garza County Production and Marketing committee advises that mesquite spraying will begin in Garza county Monday. Public Law HB 420 is now in effect. Several contractors will be here to start on that date. According to regulations mesquite can not be sprayed within three miles of cotton with an up wind, or of one-half mile of growing cotton if a down wind and at a speed not more than 5 miles per hour. Custer urges ranchers who plan to participate in this practice and who will expect payment under the ACP program to secure flyers who have a license with the state commissioner of agriculture and who are approved by the county committee. It is also important that operators purchase an approved chemical; the only chemicals approved by the PMA are made by Du Pont and Dowell. These precautions are being taken for the operators protection.

Tax Rate, Road Change Asked By Commission

The commissioners court Monday called an election for July 14 for the reallocation of the county tax rate and the levying of a 15 cent additional road tax. A petition was presented the court signed by 230 citizens asking for the election. Women circulating the petition were Mrs. S. E. Camp, Mrs. Giles McCrary, Mrs. W. B. Sanders, Mrs. Max Gordon, Mrs. James Minor, Mrs. W. C. Kiker, Mrs. J. E. Parker, Mrs. Pat Walker, Mrs. Lewis Heron, Mrs. Bill DeWalt, and Mrs. Paul Jones. The election will call for the reallocation of the tax rate providing two cents for the jury fund, eight cents for the road and bridge fund, and 35 cents each for the general fund and the permanent improvement fund. The tax rate was last allocated six years ago with the jury getting three cents, the road and bridge fund, 15; general fund, 35; permanent fund, 10; courthouse and jail, 10; and road sinking fund, seven. Since that time, courthouse and jail bonds have matured. The county cannot raise the tax rate any higher, Buck Gossett commissioner, reminded, but is empowered by law to levy a special road tax upon the vote of the people. With this additional tax and the reallocation of funds, the county will have a fund to operate the hospital. The 35 cent general fund will probably be broken down to 15 per cent, sinking; 10 cents, maintenance; and 10 cents permanent improvements, Gossett said.

Foster Twins Are Buried Yesterday

The Rev. D. W. Reed conducted funeral services for Linda May and Glenda Kay Foster, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Foster, yesterday afternoon. The service was at 2 o'clock in Mason Funeral chapel. "What A Friend" and "Does Jesus Care?" were sung by Misses ElWanda Davies, Mary Nell Bowen, Geraldine Dunlap, Mary Ann Rose and Mrs. Bobby Pennington. Mrs. Ray N. Smith accompanied the vocalists. Burial was in Terrace cemetery with Mason's in charge. Linda May was stillborn at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday night and Glenda Kay died at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning in Lubbock Memorial hospital.

Masons Elect Officers Tonight

Bailey Matlar, worshipful master, reminds Masons of the election meeting to be held at 8 o'clock at the Masonic hall. Elective offices to be filled include worshipful master, senior warden, junior warden, secretary, tiler and treasurer.

Post Fire Boys Go To Dallas Convention

Five members of the Post Volunteer Fire Department will attend the 75th annual state firemen's convention in Dallas next week, according to Fire Chief Homer McCrary. They are Ira Greenfield, Luther Bilberry, Monk Gibson, Marvin Williams and McCrary. Local officers were in Lynn county Monday helping the sheriff's department there in a raid, Sheriff Carl Rains reports. Several bottles of wine and liquor were confiscated when Lance Elvers, a local man, was raided in Lynn county. A liquor law violation charge was filed against him here recently.

Jail Breaks and Runaways Plague Local Officers Trying To Stop Bad Check

The way of the transgressor is hard, the Bible says, but the way of the law - enforcement officers trying to catch and hold the transgressor is much harder. At least it seems that way in Garza county. Saturday morning, prisoners broke jail here for the third time. Fleeing were Marshall Samuels, poet and jail breaker extraordinaire, and Kenneth Finchum who was sentenced to 30 days for swindling with a worthless check. Samuels was charged with forgery. According to a reliable source, Samuels was in the main cell block and Finchum was in the women's cell. It is probable that they were separated for punishment. Finchum broke out of the women's cell, into the sheriff's office and took the jail keys. He came back upstairs and unlocked the jail, working the combination. Samuels got out and the jail and cells were relocked. The two disappeared for parts unknown. The jailbreak happened between 1 o'clock and 8 o'clock in the morning. This was not the crowning blow to local officers. Earlier last week, Jackie Faye Thomas, who is charged with passing for true a forged instrument, was released to the custody of Floyd county officials. Her mother and brother were in Post to make bond for her at the time the Floydada sheriff's department came to get her. They asked Floyd authorities if they could drive Jackie Faye to Floydada and the authorities assented. But when the sheriff got home, there was no car containing Jackie Faye following him. Her father called local authorities later and told them that his wife was home but that his son and daughter were missing. Due to circumstances beyond their control, local authorities could not have Jackie Faye appear for indictment until fall. Since she was wanted in Floyd county on similar charges to those filed against her here, she was turned over to authorities there for the interim. The local sheriff's department picked her up in Cheyenne, Wyo., after tracing her through several Texas points. She was returned here at considerable expense in line with the current administration's policy of clamping down on worthless checks. She gave several checks to local merchants in return for merchandise she purchased. The young woman is currently under a two-year suspended sentence for forgery. There has been no trace of her young accomplice. County officials warn merchants to be more careful in cashing checks. "Demand sufficient identifica-

Contracts Are Let for County Hospital With Construction To Begin at Once

Contracts were let Monday for the Garza county hospital, totaling $337,063, members of the commissioners court reveal. Construction will begin within 10 days after a Federal building permit is secured. Low bid on general construction was $214,560, submitted by McQuaid Construction company of Fort Worth. This firm already has the steel on order and is ready to begin work at once, according to Bill Myers, Wyatt C. Hedrick, architects, representative.

Junior Rodeo Association Completes Organization

Junior Rodeo association finished election of officers Friday night, naming Jack Kirkpatrick, manager, with Walter Duckworth as his assistant, for the rodeo Aug. 7-11. Leon Miller was named secretary - treasurer. Roy Josey was elected president some time ago. Giles Dalby is vice president; Jackie Meeks, arena director. George Samson was named parade director with Josey and Billy Meeks as his assistants. The group voted to use a percentage of the entrance fees as prize money. Events scheduled include bareback bronc riding, calf roping, calf penning, bull riding, flag race and sponsor contest. The sponsor contest will be for girls only and the calf penning event is for both boys and girls. That is, a boy and girl work as partners. All other events are open to both. A cutting horse contest is also scheduled and on the Monday preceding the four day rodeo, Aug. 6, a Quarterhorse show will be held. Bids have been received from two clowns. One good specialty act is planned, Miller says. The group met last night to get Goat Mayo's bid on stock for the show. Details of the meeting were not available at press time.

School Board Chooses Five New Teachers

Five new teachers have been elected by the Post Independent School board, D. C. Arthur, superintendent, announces, with two of last year's teachers resigning. Mrs. D. C. Arthur and Mrs. E. F. Schmedt have resigned. Mrs. Arthur taught in high school and Mrs. Schmedt in grade school. Miss Virginia Keeter of Throckmorton has been hired to teach English and speech. She is a graduate of Hardin - Simmons university. Miss Bobbie Noles of Kermit, also an H-SU graduate, was hired to teach public school music in high school. A graduate of Abilene Christian college, Miss Anna Louise Patterson of Abilene, was chosen for the grade school public school music teacher. These two teachers are above the Gilmer-Alken provisions and will be paid from local funds, Arthur said. H. F. Aduddell of Brownwood, a graduate of Howard Payne college, was hired to teach the second grade. Miss Maxine Barham, a Baylor graduate, was hired as a combination secretary and speech teacher. "That takes care of our faculty for next year, with the exception of one vacancy, provided these people all accept," Arthur reported. "We will have about the same number of Gilmer-Alken teachers we had last year."

Fourth Year GI Ag Class Is Suggested

Lewis (Sonny) Nance, GI vocational school head here, asks all Garza county veterans who are eligible and interested to contact him and make application for a fourth year vocational agriculture class before July 25. To be eligible, the veteran must have completed the three year course offered here and still have educational time coming. The class will be organized in the event it is desired and approved, Nance said.

Building Permit Comes From Washington Soon

Contracts were let Monday for the Garza county hospital, totaling $337,063, members of the commissioners court reveal. Construction will begin within 10 days after a Federal building permit is secured.

COUNTY JURORS COME LATER

County jurors are informed of a change in court dates by County Clerk Ray N. Smith and are to convene at 10 o'clock the morning of July 2, he said. Originally the group was to be at the courthouse Monday, but plans have been changed.

Paving Starts Here June 25 Officials Say

Paving is to get underway in Post June 25. Bob Phillips, superintendent for Holland Page contractors, called Mrs. Lorene Benson, city secretary yesterday and informed her that the workers would move in June 25. He is coming to Post today or tomorrow to look for a location. Twelve blocks of paving have been signed for. Most of it is around the hospital site, Mrs. Benson says, with four blocks on Eighth street. "If you want your street paved, please sign up now," city officials urge. "It is important that we get on with this as fast as possible." The commissioners court is considering no appointments for a six man board of directors. An announcement regarding the board can probably be made June 25, according to Commissioner Buck Gossett. After the board is appointed, it will meet and select a chairman. This group will be empowered to hire a business manager and superintendent. Plans are to have one member of the board from each precinct and two from Post itself.

Five Shallow Locations, Clear Fork, Deep Test Highlight Local Oil News

Five new shallow locations, a Clear Fork wildcat and a deep test brightened the oil picture in Garza this week. Three of the tests are set in the Dordard field. They are Humble 3 M. A. Fuller, five and one-half miles southeast of Justiceburg, a rotary operation to 2500 feet with operations to begin in the near future; the Humble 4 M. A. Fuller, a rotary operation to 2500 feet also five and one-half miles southeast of Justiceburg, set to begin at once. Also in the Dordard field is the Humble 6 M. A. Fuller nine miles southeast of Justiceburg. Scheduled depth is 2500 with rotary operation to begin at once. In the Rocker-A Field, the C. W. Guthrie 2 K. Stoker is slated as a cable tool venture to 3000 feet. Location is four miles northwest of Justiceburg with operations to begin at once. The fifth shallow location is in the city of Post, the C. E. Snowden 1 Unit 20. It is to be a combination test to 3200 feet with drilling beginning July 1. Location is south and west of the courthouse. Snowden had not filed for a permit with the city secretary early yesterday. The Clear Fork wildcat on the OC ranch has been confirmed with drilling to start at once. Location is 14 miles east of Post. A 7500-foot rotary is scheduled for the new Tobe-Strawn field three miles south of Justiceburg. Drilling is to begin at once on the rotary test, known as the Humble 1 Jeff D. Justice. The latest report on the No. 1 Rex and Ralph Welch well nine and one-half miles northeast of Post was made Friday. Then the operation was drilling below 3435 feet with no shows reported. It is contracted to the Ellenburger.

Local Officers Help Lynn Sheriff in Raid

Local officers were in Lynn county Monday helping the sheriff's department there in a raid, Sheriff Carl Rains reports. Several bottles of wine and liquor were confiscated when Lance Elvers, a local man, was raided in Lynn county. A liquor law violation charge was filed against him here recently.

Old Grade School Will Be Sold Here

Post Independent School board is asking for bids on three types of property. The old grade school building is to be sold, school land sold, and Verbena buildings sold. The old school building will be sold for salvage. It must be torn down and hauled off. The hole left must be filled in and the property leveled. Dates on all the bids are June 25. Two houses, a school house and some sheds are to be sold off the Verbena school property because the land is reverting to the Bird family. These buildings will have to be moved. The schoolboard recently bought a block south of the school from the mill. Therefore, they are selling the half block, they own east of the schoolground, James Minor, secretary, reports. Mineral rights will be retained on this property in conformity with law.

PENNELL RESIGNS

Bob Pennell resigned as deputy sheriff for Garza county June 4. Sheriff Carl Rains has asked for a deputy to replace Pennell but so far none has been hired.

THREE FINES LEVIED

Only three fines were assessed in justice court this week, all for highway violations, Justice of the Peace J. D. King reports. All were for $25 and costs.

PAVING IN POST ...

At this writing we do not know exactly what the paving situation is but we are fairly confident that some paving will be done. Some 94 blocks were to be paved under the bond issue voted last year. After weeks of pleading, cajoling, and begging, 12 blocks have been agreed up. The attitude of the citizens of Post seems anomalous to us. With one hand they vote for paving, with the other they refuse to pay their share. It reminds us of all those who leased their lots but did not want drilling in the city. Just recently there was a great hue and cry in Post for city mail delivery. Postal inspectors came and turned us down because of the conditions of the streets and sidewalks. Members of the city government have devoted a great deal of their own time to working up this paving. Memory is short and we have had such a long drought that people forget just how awful the muddy streets can be. About the time we let the paving lapse, the rains will come and once again we'll have to leave our cars in the garage and walk. Some paving costs are high, especially for those with concrete sidewalks. As Mayor T. L. Jones said, Each dollar invested in paving will be a dollar added to the value of the property. There are so many good reasons for paving and the cost is the only reason we can think of for not paving. The cost was fully explained when the issue was proposed. Besides, all that property owners have been enabled to sign a mechanic's lien which allows three installments in payment, rather than one lump sum. Why did we vote paving if we are so apathetic about doing it?

BOYS CLUB ...

We are glad that the chamber of commerce is taking a belated interest in providing some sort of summer recreation for the local kids. Post is not particularly blessed with recreation possibilities and even teenagers still need supervision, anyway. Possibilities for going fishing are few and for swimming a little better. There is only one softball team and there is little chance for a youngster to break into the team. We have never understood why the churches and business firms do not sponsor a softball league. The Works Progress administration or whatever it was, was a pretty sorry thing in many ways, but it did provide supervised play for children. The old grade school is a hazard to our youngsters, but with the shade and equipment there, it could be made a real playground. If the building were properly boarded up so kids could not break in, to their own danger, and the swings repaired, it would be an ideal place for youngsters to play. Chinning bars are there; sidewalks for skating, and numerous other possibilities. Some youngster home from college for the summer might act as playground director. South Lake park is a good project but something must be done while it is being prepared. An organized recreation program might induce some local boys to work on the park itself. We believe in teaching a moral code and demanding adherence to it, but we also believe in the removal of as many temptations as possible. Let's all encourage the chamber of commerce in establishing some sort of boys club.

Getting Out On the LIMB ...

by EDDIE the editor

The death of Dr. Glenn E. Kahler came as a tragic shock to Post. His loss is irreparable here. Post didn't only lose a physician, we lost an ardent civic leader and devoted churchman. Doctor Kahler came to Post six years ago and much of the progress made here since is attributable to him. A list of his activities will fill a page: First he was a physician and a friend to all his patients. He was a leader in the city government, serving as commissioner and acting mayor for two summers. Dr. Kahler was a president of the Rotary club and a director of the chamber of commerce. He was a deacon and trustee in his church, as well as a regular attendant there. He was district health executive for the boy scouts. Doctor Kahler not only took part in every worthwhile activity in which he was asked to participate, but he took a leading part, giving of himself fully whenever he was asked. Few men can list even a few of the accomplishments Glenn Kahler packed into his 39 years. First, he was valedictorian of his senior class. He went to the University of Texas as a pre-med student. There he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the highest scholastic fraternity in this country. He was president of his medical fraternity, Phi Beta Pi at the university.

THE AMERICAN WAY

A Reasonable Question

Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

It Sez Here
A bunch of 100 per cent Americans (white, of course) is going to take care of Dr. Bill Marshall of Wayland college. Negroes are eligible for admission to Wayland in a non-segregated basis, and the good clean, red, white and blue blood of the typical Texas Christian is seething. The democratic halls of earning all over the South are teetering on their foundations. I want in the fight. I congratulate Dr. Marshall for his courage and his Christian ideas. I congratulate the student body at Wayland for voting 265 to 9 in favor of admitting Negroes. I congratulate the college board for voting unanimously to extend the advantages of higher Christian education to deserving students of all races, colors and creeds. Of all church schools in Texas, Wayland, a Baptist institution, is the first to practice this type of Christianity and brotherhood of man. It is difficult to see how a Christian institution can do otherwise, or how a Christian person could fail to approve this demonstration of democracy. I am familiar with two kinds of Christians. One is the kind Dr. Marshall and his co-workers represent. The other is that God-fearing hypocrite who lusts for Negro blood at the heels of baying bloodhounds until exhausted, then lies down to sleep in a manurepile full of stinking pigs.

—The Ralls Banner

Expensive Mischief
A little mischievous act cost He had contacted a staff of nurses already and had discussed Post and its hospital with several young physicians. It has been truly said that Doctor Kahler was the hospital.

Tax Roll Hits Three Million
The city tax roll will go past the $3 million mark for the first time in history this year. City Tax Assessor Tom Carl indicated this week. Last year's tax roll was more than $2,700,000. The increased valuation total will come as a result of construction which has been completed between Jan. 1, 1950 and Jan. 1, 1951. Assessments for the 1951 tax roll are virtually complete except for certain commercial listings.

—The Seminole Sentinel

Barber poles started when barbers were also surgeons and wrapped bloody rags around a pole in front of the shop to dry.

The word bravo formerly was commonly used in Italy to indicate a hired assassin.

It seems fitting to me that the Rotary club, of which he was president for one of the most successful years of its 26-year history here, should present a resolution to the commissioners court asking that the hospital be named the Glenn E. Kahler Memorial hospital. I think that is altogether proper, because that is what it is, the Glenn E. Kahler Memorial hospital.

People like Doctor Kahler do not expect payment for all the services they give. I guess they operate on the theory that to whom much is given much is expected. Their reward is in the service itself.

But I can think of no greater memorial to a man than a hospital. Just the gesture of naming the hospital for the man who implemented its building would be a comfort to his family. I am sure. Certain business men and citizens are writing letters to the commissioners asking that this be done. I am heartily in favor of it.

Glenn Kahler's death was a tragedy for Post. When will we find such another outstanding man who will give as much of his time, himself and his career to us? His friends said he had great faith in this community, evidenced by his positive actions for development and progress here.

His life was many-faceted and the brilliance of each facet came to be directed toward the good of Post. In spite of all his activities, he was an unassuming, friendly man. His simple funeral service was typical in its lack of pomp and ostentation.

A great man has gone from Post and Garza county. It seems little to say that we all miss him, but the missing will be such that a great deal will be needed to fill the void.

Texans In WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY, Associated Press Washington Service

WASHINGTON, P — Schemes to tax only the rich and reduce prices may sound wonderful, says Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, but they just don't hold water.

The congressman gave his views in answering some 50 constituents who sent him a petition protesting soaring living costs and asking "that prices be rolled back to pre-Korea levels."

The petition, one of many said to be circulating throughout Texas for submission to congressmen, says:

"We also urge that new taxes not be placed on low income families, and suggest that needed revenue be secured from corporations with their record profits and from high income families who are not carrying their share."

Poage replied that "the tendency of the hour is to feel that we can cure any problem by passing a law." In his opinion, he added, the time has come to get at the fundamental cause of inflation—lots of money in circulation and not enough things to buy with it.

He said he favored across-the-board freezes on prices and wages at the outbreak of the Korean war. Since that wasn't done another approach must be tried.

"The simplest and most effective attack on inflation would, it seems to me, be for everyone to work longer at present hourly rates," he continued.

"If we increased the work week by only four hours we would increase production by 10 per cent. The workers would have more money, but there would be more things to purchase."

As to the age-old ideas of soaking the

"have-gots" Poage said:

"It is a mistake to believe that we can raise the funds needed simply by additional taxes on corporations or the 'rich.' The total corporate income in the U. S. is only about 20 billion dollars per year—less than one-third our governmental expenditures. We now take approximately one-half of this income."

He then noted that personal income taxes already are high, up to 87 to 90 per cent of an income above $80,000 yearly. Those who make such incomes account for only a relatively small percentage of the total national income, he observed, and added:

"There is no easy way to carry the tax load. We all must share it."

Around the Capital:

Federal Judge Ewing Thomason of El Paso and Mrs. Thomason have been honor guests at a number of receptions here during the past week on their first visit to Washington since he went on the bench about four years ago.

One of the most popular men to serve in Congress from Texas, Thomason showed he still can give with a quick answer when the occasion demands.

Newsman who had covered the House Military Affairs committee when Thomason was the No. 2 man and the chairman was Kentucky's Andrew J. May, noted in jest that the two top men left Congress about the same time to go to work for the government. (May went to the penitentiary in a war contract fraud case.)

"Yep," smilingly answered the jurist, "but we work in different kinds of buildings."

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Federal Attempts To Lower Prices Are Merely Political Gestures at Present

NEW YORK CITY. — What is the outlook for prices of foods, clothing and rent for the balance of this year? The scare buying is over. Installment sales are on the decline. Does this mean that the prices of all the things you buy will tumble?

The Federal attempt to lower prices is largely a political gesture. Very few high-quality goods will sell for less for some time. The only way prices will now be lowered is by reducing quality or forcing unemployment. As long as full employment exists, prices will continue to depend—not on Washington rulings—but on supply and demand. If American families go back to having a good beef roast only on Sundays, then the price of beef will decline. If, on the other hand, they decide to have roast twice a week, then the price will remain high.

Here in New York City is the great central market for men's and women's clothing. Upon inquiries today I learn that the prices which you see in windows and advertisements may be kept down, but the quality will not be good. If you want good quality suits or dresses you must pay more. This does not mean that the manufacturer of the brand you have always bought has marked up his goods, but that his old best-quality goods are no longer available. Hence, to get good quality you must buy a brand which has always cost more. This applies to almost everything—clothing, furniture and canned goods.

The "take home" wages are determined by supply and demand. Labor unions can make manufacturers pay more wages, but they cannot make the public buy more merchandise. The bureaucrats in Washington can set a "fair" hourly wage, but they cannot assure work to the union members. The "take home" pay is the product of the hourly wage multiplied by the number of hours worked. I believe this will hold up for some time; but it must decline before prices of food, clothing and shelter will tumble.

Yet we must remember that only 25 per cent of our workers are now unionized. The great mass are still free to work where they wish and for what they wish. These are the true Americans, in my humble judgment. These will supply the foremen, managers and future employers of our great growing country. If you always want to work for someone else, then join a union. If, however, you want to be a free man and climb to the top of some business, don't be tied to union rules.

Another reason why the government cannot now reduce prices is because the dollar will be worth less next year. Just now President Truman is balancing the nation's budget; but he can't do this next year. He must print money or bonds to help pay for the military expenditures. Paper dollars are little different from paper dolls or any other commodity. As the supply increases above normal, the price goes down. Government bonds have already dropped in price; dollar bills will tumble again soon.

Many readers of my column send me charts and figures showing how prices have temporarily been controlled in the past, but they forget we are now living in an entirely new economic age. During his administration, President Roosevelt destroyed the gold basis for our dollar bills. This gold basis prevented prices from going too high. Now the only thing that can prevent prices, wages, real estate, etc., from staying up is either "a reduction in the supply of printing press money," or a business bust. Surely the price of gold will again be marked up.

Don't buy now for hoarding. Prices will not skyrocket. There will continue to be enough necessary goods. On the other hand, don't wait for lower prices on goods you really need. Buy naturally; save naturally; and live naturally. Be neither a hoarder nor a speculator; be neither a scrippler nor a waster; be a God-fearing, sensible citizen and insist upon quality even if you must buy less.

Lubbock ABC Rodeo Is Slated There June 20-23

The American Business club of Lubbock will sponsor their annual rodeo June 20-23.

Four performances of the rodeo and specialty acts will be reeled off nightly at 8 o'clock in the Jones stadium located on the campus of Texas Tech.

The featured star this year will be Jimmy Wakely, recording artist for Capitol records and western star for Monogram pictures.

Jimmy began his climb to his present popularity in October, 1937, with a regular series of early morning shows over Radio Station WKY in Oklahoma City. Jimmy also was on the Gene Autry CBS radio program "Melody Ranch Show", for a two year period.

A tribute to Jimmy's success and popularity is shown in the fact that "Arizona Sunset" is Jimmy's 17th picture for Monogram.

Jimmy lives with his wife and four children on a comfortable little ranch in the San Fernando valley, where he spends much of his spare time writing songs and raising Quarter horses. Among his song successes are, "Star Spangled Banner Waving Somewhere," "You Can't Break the Chains of Love," and "Texas Tornado."

Other excellent specialty acts will be conducted throughout the rodeo.

Beutler brothers are again furnishing the stock for the ABC rodeo. The stock of Beutler brothers is second to none and will give the contesting cowboys a "ride for their money" so to speak, officials say.

A huge parade will mark the beginning of the rodeo festivities, June 20; the parade is being conducted by the Lubbock County Sheriff's Posse and anyone desiring to ride or participate in the parade should contact the Lubbock County Sheriff's Posse for full information. Area participants would be welcomed. Post Stampede Cowboys will ride.

Quebec Church-Goers Scrub Sanctuary

QUEBEC P — The people of Quebec City's Notre Dame de la Garde parish take pride in having their little church spotless and twice a year they hold a scrubbing-bee.

Singapore Brothels Are Due for Closing

SINGAPORE P — Police announced they're going to make an all-out drive against "red light" districts in Singapore.

They said they would have done it sooner to wipe out brothels and prostitution, but the anti-vice squad had its hands full the last several months investigating the Singapore riots of last Dec. 11.

Ohio Pastures Give Low Cost Dairy Feed

COLUMBUS, O. P — Pasture supplies dairy feed at about half the cost of hay and silage and one-fourth the cost of grain, according to agricultural specialists at Ohio State university.

For these reasons, farmers are being advised to provide pasture all season. Not only are pasture costs low, the experts state, but cows generally produce more when they get good grazing. Young pasture plants, they say, such as alfalfa, ladino, grass meadow, are high in protein calcium and carotene content.

The Rev. and Mrs. Joe Boyd Move to Post from Seagraves

The Rev. and Mrs. Joe E. Boyd, members to Post, have the happiness to adapt themselves to whatever charge they are given.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd attended the Methodist conference in Abilene sent the Boyds from Seagraves as a replacement for the Rev. A. B. Cockrell. The pastor, Panhandle and Abilene. They spent two years in Seagraves.

Mr. Boyd grew up in Stamford, attended old Stamford college, where, which was later incorporated with McMurry college. He attended McMurry college as well as Southern Methodist university. He also attended Stamford college and Abilene.

Mr. Boyd's brother is a pastor in the Dallas Texas conference and his wife, Marvin Boyd, is district superintendent of the Plainview district. The couple has two sons, E. Boyd, Jr., of Austin and J. A. Boyd, a 1951 graduate of Texas Christian college.

Mr. Boyd's hobby is writing. He is a successful writer, having written a number of articles to "The Christian Home," both nationally-circulated Methodist magazines. One of the teacher's use in Sunday school and the other is a fiction magazine. Mrs. Boyd writes fiction occasionally, but so far has not sold any.

He is interested in clubs such as Rotary, she says.

The Rev. Mr. Boyd's plans for church fit in with conference Methodist plans. An evangelistic program will be held this fall in cooperation with the West Texas conference. More immediately, a vacation Bible school is being planned for next month. We make it our habit to like what we are and fit in with the

IN SANTA ANNA CHURCH

Miss Joyce Hunter To Marry Robert L. Cash, June 29

By GANELL BABB

Scripture:
Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us. For yourselves know how ye ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves disorderly among you; Neither did we eat any man's bread for naught; but wrought with labour and travail night and day, that we might not be chargeable to any of you: Not because we have not power, but to make ourselves an ensample unto you to follow us. For even when we were with you, this we commanded you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat. For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but are busybodies. Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, and eat their own bread. But ye, brethren, be not weary in well doing. And if any man obey not our word by this epistle, note that man, and have no company with him, that he may be ashamed. Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother. 2 Thessalonians 3: 6-15.

Chamber of Commerce
this past week

By JAMES HESTAND
This week we finish the program of work discussion with an outline of the organizational affairs, public relations and the transportation and communications divisions of your Chamber of Commerce.

The Organizational Affairs division of your chamber of commerce is that section which makes a study of the overall program of work, and suggests to the board of directors a budget handled by the budget and finance committee.

The Program of Work committee will take the present program of work, and by some study develop portions of it into a long range program, and recommend to the board of directors the program from year to year. There are a number of ways that this group can arrive at a program. They can mail questionnaires, have group discussions, meet with the heads of the civic and fraternal organizations, and from these methods determine what the people of Post want the chamber of commerce to undertake, and submit the findings to the board of directors. This is one of the more important committees and will have to be very active for the remainder of this year.

The United States Chamber of Commerce committee will be appointed to study the material that the U. S. chamber furnishes the local chamber. Membership in the U. S. organization is now under consideration by your board of directors. In future columns we will discuss the advantages of U. S. chamber of commerce membership for the Post chamber of commerce.

The Public Relations division of the Post chamber of commerce has outlined for its two committees a long list of items to accomplish, and included will be the publication of a folder designed especially for new residents, and visitors, including a spot map showing location of places of general interest, church and school locations and other public buildings. This committee will also prepare an exhibit which can be used to advertise Post at nearby fairs. Publish a monthly membership bulletin. The group will also sponsor a series of newspaper articles, such as this column, designed to stimulate a better understanding and appreciation of what the chamber of commerce does for the community. The above are the major items for this committee.

The other committee in the Public relations division is the greeting committee. This committee will make every attempt to greet all newcomers to the city that can be located. Make some arrangement with the local merchants to give each newcomer a small gift, which must be called for at the store. Study the possibility of an annual newcomers' party, to be held at some time when weather will permit it to be an open air affair as a picnic or a barbecue.

In the Transportation and Communications division there are five committees and almost all that is necessary is to name them, and their names tell you what their projects will be. The aviation committee will offer their assistance to all those interested in obtaining better airport facilities for Post. The railroad, bus and truck service committee will work with all agencies to maintain and improve passenger and freight service in, into and out of Post. The farm-to-market and highway development committee will work for more and better roads. The street improvement committee will also work with city officials and others interested in developing a program over a long range period for the paving of as much of the city as possible. This committee will also work out a system of through streets and some suggested traffic regulations for recommendation to city officials. The telephone service committee is now working for more and better service. A radio station development committee will study the possibility of a radio station for Post, and will make every effort to help those interested in developing a station.

Working directly under the board of directors will be three long range committees. These committees must be long range and standing committees, because their work is synonymous with the growth and development of Post. These committees are: Water supply committee, Sewer Extensions committee and City Limit Extension committee.

PLENTY DEGREES COOLER INSIDE

THESE folks are enjoying something that's being pioneered by Buick. It's freedom from the blinding glare of bright summer sunlight. It's freedom from hot laps—caused by the sun's rays beating down through the broad expanse of windshield. These freedoms trace to a new feature you may have noticed in '51 Buicks—a new kind of glass! with a cool, soft, blue-green tint, in every glass area of the car, front, side and back. Buick engineers tell us that this "Buick first" reduces glare 18% over conventional glass—cuts sun heat as much as 45%—and Buick engineers are very conservative fellows. This glare-and-heat-reducing Easy-eye glass is factory-installed at moderate extra charge. It gives you a built-in transparent "sun visor" right in the windshield—and it also dulls the dazzle of oncoming headlights at night. As we've said, this is something Buick owners were the first to enjoy. It takes its place with such exclusives as the valve-in-head Fireball Engine—coil springs on all four wheels—the firm power linkage of torque-tube drive—and the magic of Dynaflo.* As we've also said—rather modestly—"Smart buy's Buick." Come in soon and find out what an understatement that really is.

No other car provides all this:

- DYNAFLO DRIVE* • FIREBALL ENGINE
- 4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING • DUAL VENTILATION
- PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT • TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE
- WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS • DREAMLINE STYLING
- BODY BY FISHER

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

Beavers Inhabit Southern California

NEWHALL, Calif.—Southern California has beavers, too, and less than 50 miles from Los Angeles.

A thriving colony of the aquatic animals, generally found in the northern states, was discovered recently high in Soledad canyon east of here. Several dams and pools and a large beaver population were found there by a party from Los Angeles County Fire department making an annual inspection of the remote area.

"In leaving, I want to express my deep gratitude to the best people in the world for the honor and privilege of having been their representative in Congress."

According to a story in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, it is understood that Gossett's duties with the company will permit him to engage in private practice, in addition. He and Mrs. Gossett have five children.

The story said, "The Wichita Falls congressman had the leading role in the House delegation on Tideland's legislation, operating from his vantage point in the House judiciary committee for quietism legislation to give ownership of the submerged tidelands to the states.

"In representing the 13th district, Gossett frequently left the ranks of the House Democrats to oppose administration-sponsored proposals.

"His most recent major action in this respect was sponsorship of an amendment to slash public housing for next year from the administration requested 75,000 units to 5000 units."

"Gossett was perhaps the guiding force of a bloc within the Texas House delegation which fought and voted against practically all New Deal or Fair Deal legislation.

Children Attend Sunday School In House Trailer in California

AP Newsfeature
SANTA MONICA, Calif.—School children here get religious education with a 1951 touch. They meet for Bible instruction in a super-modern trailer, fully equipped with the latest audio-visual aids, including movies.

The youngsters are released from their regular school classes for one period each week to attend religious courses sponsored by the Santa Monica Bay Council of Churches. Formerly they met in nearby centers for these "released time" sessions. Now when they pour out of school they find the mobile class room parked right outside.

Built to order, the trailer cost approximately $3,800, including furnishings. It will accommodate 34 pupils at a time, is 34 feet long, seven feet wide and seven feet high. It is furnished with two-pupil desks and individual

Duck Creek Board To Meet Thursday

The board of supervisors of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation Service meet next Thursday in Spur to discuss various items of business.

The local work unit has no plans to submit for consideration, Merle Britton, head, reveals. He reports that the Post unit has planted mixed grass in various parts of the county with good results. Included are seven acres on the property of Russell Wilks, sr., 50 on Monroe Lane's, and 12 on Charlie Bird's. Twenty acres of blue panic and weeping love grass have been planted in the Beulah K. Bird ranch. Floyd Hodges has planted 17 acres of weeping love grass.

"The grass planted on 895 acres of Double U land in February, 1950, is coming along nicely," Britton says. "It has weathered the drought well."

With an appropriation from the state legislature, the district has bought a grass drill and land plane for the local area as well as a grain drill and power sprayer. The grain drill is for use with cover and soil improving crops and the sprayer is to be used on livestock as well as for weed control.

Southland continues to lead the Square Deal Softball league of Post with six wins against one loss, giving the team a percentage of .858, according to E. L. Short, secretary. Grassland is in second place with five wins against three losses and a percentage of .625. Tahoka also is in second place with the same record. Post's Storie Motor company team has won two games and lost one. O'Donnell occupies the cellar showing one win and seven losses.

Leonard Anderson, league president, reports that at a called meeting of the commissioners in Grassland several teams were allowed to add names to their rosters and two protests were allowed.

Storie Motor was allowed a protest of a game with Southland with the game to be played over from the seventh inning's last half with two men out and a man on third base for Post. This game was set for July 6. Grassland protested a game which has already been played over.

O'Donnell comes to Post tomorrow night for a game.

Cottonseed Support Prices Are Announced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently announced that price support loans on the 1951 crop cottonseed will be available at $65.50 per ton for basis grade (100) and that in areas where a purchase program may be necessary purchases will be made at $61.50 per ton basis (100) cottonseed.

Prices for 1951-crop cottonseed will be supported by means of loans, purchase agreements, and purchase of cottonseed and of cottonseed products. The supports reflect 90 per cent of the January 15, 1951 parity price of $71 a ton for average quality seed. Officials stated that the supports are in line with the 90 per cent of parity support which the department announced in February for 1951-crop soybeans.

Hope "Cappy" Told Him Where To Get Off!

"Cappy" Fisher—who just retired after thirty-five years as a railroad conductor—was telling about a salesman who was often one of his passengers. "That man was so busy," says Cappy, "he used to bring a dictaphone on the train to catch up on his letters. On one trip he'd been rushing around so much he clean forgot to bring his ticket. Left it on his desk." When Cappy started to tell him not to worry about the ticket, the salesman busts out with "Who's worried about the ticket? It's just that now I don't know what city I was going to get off at!" Cappy might have been pulling our leg, but from where I sit, lots of us get so wrapped up in ourselves we often forget "where we're going." Some folks get so narrow they even begrudge their neighbors the right to enjoy a glass of beer now and then. Let's not forget that just as trains run on steam and oil, democracies run on freedom and tolerance!

Now Is Time To Plant Flowers For Late Blooming

Now is the time to set out young flowers or plant seeds for late summer bloom. Mrs. Jewell Strasser, county home demonstration agent, says the seedlings will come out to take the place of the early flowers as they stop blooming.

The best standby for late summer is the zinnia. This flower comes in many sizes from the tiny "Tom Thumbs" to the "Giant Flowered" and you can have them in double or single blooms in any color. Mrs. Strasser recommends the Mexican zinnia, a small, unusual plant, which is easy to grow. She says it is small enough to use in corsages, and the plant reseeds itself each year.

Another hardy annual flower is the sun-flower. You can get this plant in the single or double blossom, in red or yellow. She especially recommends the red, for it is a true mahogany-like color, which is beautiful. Another similar plant is the Mexican sun-flower or titiflora which grows tall and is a good background, or fence plant.

The yellow cone flower is a hardy native plant which is good for cut flowers, and once started it comes back each year. It is a labor saving flower.

Other suggestions for late summer annuals are petunias, Princess Feather, snow-on-the-mountain or milk weed, gaillardia, marigolds, salvias, vinca or periwinkle, gomphrena or globe amaranth (purple bachelor buttons), and portulaca. Mrs. Strasser recommends a moderately

OPS Dates Given By Local CofC

A list of dates is being passed on to local merchants by the chamber of commerce, providing a time table for compliance with office of Price Stabilization regulations.

The list schedules the effective dates of ceiling prices and other actions of wide general interest. James Hestand, manager, says.

June 11, ceiling prices of kosher beef must be posted in stores and cuts displayed with various grades in separate trays with each price tagged. June 15, service trade establishments must post visibly and prominently ceiling prices for their services in their place of business and must file a duplicate with the district OPS office in Lubbock.

Meat retailers must post ceiling prices of meat in non-kosher stores with cuts displayed with various grades in separate trays with each tray tagged by June 18. By June 30 retailers of consumer goods must not sell items covered under CPR 7 unless the OPS has acknowledged the receipt of their pricing charts. July 1 is the last day of marking and tagging consumers' items with ceiling prices.

July 2 is the last date for filing cover grade charts and Form 8 reports on furniture and bedding as well as machinery and other manufactured goods. Ceiling prices are effective on machinery then.

Bananas Are Delicious, Nutritious Energy Food Which Can Be Served Many Ways

Bananas, one of the most nutritious and well-liked fruits, has many uses and is especially popular for summertime eating.

The United Fruit company urges the housewife to suit the color of the banana to the use. When the fruit is tipped with green, it is partially ripe, with a firm, starchy, slightly tart pulp. This is the type banana that is just ready to bake, broil or fry. Cooking brings out different and delicious flavors.

The all-yellow banana is suitable for either eating or use as an ingredient in baking.

The song says, "When it is flecked with brown and has a golden hue, bananas taste the best and are best for you." Then it is sweet, mellow, thoroughly digestible and delicious in fruit cups, salads, desserts and milk shakes. It is at its best for eating, infant feeding and baking.

Baked bananas serve as a meat substitute. Bananas should first be peeled, then placed in well-greased baking dish. Next they are brushed well with butter or margarine and sprinkled lightly with salt. Bake in a moderate oven, 15 to 18 minutes, or until bananas are tender. Baked bananas can also be served with cream for a dessert.

Ham Banana Rolls

Ham banana rolls with cheese sauce is another main dish which stretches expensive ham by utilizing nutritious bananas. Ingredients include four thin slices boiled ham, prepared mustard, four firm bananas (all yellow or slightly green-tipped), one and one-half tablespoons melted butter or margarine, and cheese sauce.

Spread each slice of ham lightly with mustard. Peel bananas, wrap a slice of the prepared ham around each banana. Brush tips of banana with butter or margarine. Place ham banana rolls into a greased shallow baking dish and pour cheese sauce over them. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes or until bananas are tender. Serve hot with cheese sauce from the baking dish.

Banana Layer Cake

A recommended recipe includes two and one-half cups sifted cake flour, one and one-fourth cups sugar, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon baking soda, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup shortening, one and one-half cups mashed ripe bananas (four to five), two eggs, and one teaspoon vanilla.

Before mixing, have shortening at room temperature, grease pans and set oven at 375 degrees. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt into large mixing bowl. Add shortening, one-half cup bananas and the eggs, beat two minutes. Add remaining cup bananas and vanilla. Beat one minute longer, scraping down bowl and spoon frequently during mixing. Turn into two well-greased layer pans and bake in moderate oven about 25 minutes, or until layers are done.

Banana Mixed Grill

For those who like the quick and easy, all-in-one meal, there is the banana mixed grill. Suggested ingredients are three firm bananas, three half-inch thick hamburger patties, three tomato halves, melted butter or margarine, salt and parsley.

Place peeled bananas on broiler rack, or in pan with rack, along with patties and tomato

Banana Milk Shake

Banana milk shake will be a treat to any member of the younger generation. For each, slice one fully ripe banana, peeled, into a bowl and beat it with a rotary beater until smooth and creamy. Add one cup milk, cold, mix well and serve immediately.

Banana Chocolate Shake

One tablespoon chocolate sirup added before mixing makes banana chocolate shake. Three tablespoons of vanilla ice cream added before mixing makes a frosted milk shake. A half-cup orange juice in place of half the milk makes a banana orange milk shake. For a colder drink, crushed ice and ice cream can be added before mixing.

Buy bananas by the "hand" or section, at the degree of ripeness you need. They average three or four to the pound. Ripen them at room temperature but do not put them in the refrigerator as this impairs the flavor. Sprinkle canned pineapple juice, or fresh or canned grapefruit, lemon, orange or lime juice on freshly halves. Brush bananas and tomato halves with butter and sprinkle lightly with salt. Broil about three inches from heat for five to six minutes, or until bananas and meat are browned. Turn bananas and meat only. Continue broiling five to six minutes longer or until meat and tomatoes are browned and bananas are tender. This makes three servings.

Pan fried or broiled bananas, served as a hot vegetable make excellent flavor partners for fish, meat, poultry or eggs—to be served at luncheon or dinner. Pan fried bananas with hamburger patties and cold carrots make an appetizing, colorful and nutritious plate combination. To fry bananas, peel them and either keep whole or cut crosswise in halves. Fry slowly in butter or margarine until tender, turning them to brown evenly. Sprinkle lightly with salt.

With Ham and Eggs

All-yellow or slightly green-tipped bananas should be used for pan frying with ham and eggs. Ingredients are two tablespoons butter or margarine, one slice ham, cut one-fourth to one-half inch thick, two firm bananas and one egg. Peel bananas, cut them in two pieces and cook slowly in melted butter for about eight minutes. Turn both to brown evenly. Carefully break one egg at a time into a saucer, slip one at a time into skillet with ham and bananas. Fry over low heat about three minutes longer or until eggs are set, ham is browned and bananas are tender. This can be varied with sausage or bacon, but they should be fried separately.

Russians Act

The Russians obviously are trying to make sure that in case of trouble, the East Germans fight for them. They've already armed nearly 200,000 of them in "police formations." Of these, 50,000 are given military training.

Now the western allies have launched a campaign to enlist the West Germans as soldiers on their side.

So far, this campaign has not gone beyond the stage of preliminary talks. If war broke out within the next year, there wouldn't be a single West German soldier ready to fight.

Industrial Help for Allies

Meanwhile, West Germany's role in the preparedness race will be chiefly as a supplier of coal, steel and machinery for rearming Europe.

This alone can be a mighty contribution. The big smoky Ruhr valley twice armed Germany so well that it nearly conquered the world.

Allied occupation laws still forbid the Germans from making arms. But they can provide the means for others to make arms.

Russia can expect no such material from poorer East Germany. A little coal, some food, and such manufactures as optical instruments are about all East Germany can contribute in the years immediately ahead.

Manpower Advantage

In manpower, West Germany also has a tremendous advantage over East Germany—almost three to one.

That's why the Russians are so concerned about the prospects of the western allies recruiting West Germany as a full military partner.

The material and manpower resources of the two areas are easier to say than it is to determine how the Germans themselves will desire to wield these resources.

The western allies are convinced that most West Germans prefer them to Russia and are optimistic that they will join them militarily.

Neutrality Movement Strong

But there's a strong and apparently growing movement among West Germans — even those who dislike Russia—which preaches German neutrality.

West German leaders have warned these people that no country in Germany's geographical position—in the middle between east and west—can hope to remain neutral.

An even stronger feeling than this might weaken the loyalty of East Germans to the Russian cause. Many East Germans are ardent anti-Communists. The thousands of political prisoners taken by the Russians attest to this.

Even the "people's police" whom they armed are losing the trust of the Russians. They are deserting to the West by hundreds yearly.

There appears little doubt, however, that in event of war soon, Russia could get more military help from its zone than the western allies could get from theirs.

sliced bananas to keep them from turning dark.

Bananas suit all ages. Nourishing, fully ripe bananas are recommended by doctors for infants. For children, they are a protective food, providing vitamins, minerals and extra food energy. Athletes get nutritious food and quick energy from bananas. They are nourishing, yet have a low fat content. Old people find bananas a bland, easy to chew food which is easy to digest and low in fat content.

Germany Is Certain To Be in Middle If World War III Comes, Says Writer

By DON DOANE AP Newsfeatures

FANKFURT. — If war comes, Germany is almost certain to be right in the middle of it.

What role would the Germans play in such a war? Would they fight? On whose side?

These are among the world's biggest questions today. Much of the east-west diplomatic maneuvering is an attempt to make sure of the answers.

When you speak about "Germans" nowadays, you have to divide them. In one group are the 18,000,000 East Germans living in the one-third of Germany occupied by Soviet Russia.

In the other group are the 47,000,000 West Germans, living in the British, American and French Zones.

So far, this campaign has not gone beyond the stage of preliminary talks. If war broke out within the next year, there wouldn't be a single West German soldier ready to fight.

If the West Germans agree to join the West European army, they might be able to whip 150,000 men into uniform by 1953. Many would be battle-tested veterans.

Camp Ranger's Home Built of Redwood with Pine Interior

camp ranger's home at Camp Ranger, built with natural redwood and pine, is a perfect example of rustic setting.

Mrs. Frank Runkles and her children, Delores, and Donald, live in the which they designed. Runkles is a camp ranger. When the program was begun at the Post estate was for a contribution, which building was needed and offered to the building they chose camp ranger's home.

The building is a rambling structure, with redwood siding and a composition roof. Roof is concrete porch is supported by cedar posts. The cedar paint which adds to the beauty and brings out the quarters to make an S-shaped front walk. We brought them from Central Texas."

The house faces the southeast. The living room is 26 by 16 feet, paneled in natural finish knotty pine with a Nile green painted ceiling. Floors throughout are pecan, a narrow, extremely hard wood. The Runkleses say pecan will outlast oak.

Real Fireplace

On the west wall there are bookshelves and a real fireplace in the center. The hearth is paved with cobblestones identical to those to be used in the walk. It is faced with Austin stone and lined with Lueders stone which is more heat resistant. Heavy brass andirons are in the fireplace itself, with a utilitarian poker at the side.

"The fireplace is nearly always in use, in season," says Chief Runkles, "but we do not expect it to heat the house. We have panel wall heaters and the one in the living room is a dual af- fair, with another unit in the boy's room."

The mantel of the fireplace is handmade. Original plans called for a redwood mantel, but the Runkles family decided this would be too dark and used polished pine instead. The interior paneling is finished with a newly-developed finish that is particularly stain resistant.

Light fixtures are round bronze with cut-out brands. A spur rowel is suspended from the center. These fixtures are in both the living and dining area.

"The first plans drawn called for a square house and doors and windows were purchased for this type house. Then the board did not approve them, but wanted instead a long rambling house, so we really had to work to fit all the doors and windows in. How- ever, we did it," Mrs. Runkles says.

Ranch Style Furniture

The sofa is ranch style in tan leatherette with an embossed horse's head on the back. Arms are of ash. An easy chair matches the sofa and a platform rocker, upholstered in chartreuse plastic or leatherette, provides con- trast.

The first Christmas the Runkles family was at Camp Post, a bob- cat got their Christmas turkey. Said bobcat is now a throw rug on the living room floor.

Most of the doors are Philippine mahogany, slabs. The radio is dark wood. The coffee table and several occasional tables are ash with wagon wheel legs in a dark- er wood. Emphasizing the ranch theme, tiny cactus plants in west- ern type planters are used around the room.

The dining area is 9 by 9 feet in measurement. The dining room suite is a light wood and includes table, chairs and buffet. The air conditioner vent is built into the wall above the dining table. Din- ing room furniture is gaucho wood or celtsis, a form of ash.

Windows in the living-dining room are both short and long. Draperies, the draw kind, are a blue background with a scene of trees and the country in wine, green and chartreuse. A lace cloth is on the dining table with a lazy susan atop it.

Long Narrow Kitchen

The kitchen, long and narrow, is to the northeast of the dining room. Dimensions are 20 by 9 feet with a two-foot pantry across the end. A breakfast section is at the east end, past the outside door. It is furnished with a gray plastic and chrome table and chairs. Curtains at the windows are yellow with red and green rickrack trim.

The ceiling is sunbeam yellow and the floors are green inlaid rubber tile blocks. A gloss finish natural paint was applied to the cabinets on either side of the room. At each side above the double sink which is flanked by a work counter topped in green sheet rubber are dish cabinets with wide doors.

A window is over the sink and three tiny whatnot shelves are on each side of it. Shelves were placed at the end of the counter, too. These were an afterthought and are used to display family heirlooms, of which the Runkleses have several. Mrs. Runkles has some toy glass dishes that are more than 50 years old. A fancy changeable blue fruit dish was brought by his family from Ger- many. He also has his grandfath- er's mustache cup.

Opposite the sink are Mrs. Runkles' appliances, all electric and all on the south wall. They include a refrigerator, stove, hot- water heater, home freezer and automatic washing machine. Cab- inets are above these appliances, too. One is a dummy and holds the stove vent which takes excess heat and cooking odors out of the house.

Sliding Doors

Sliding doors open from the kitchen to the hall and dining room. The hall is about 19 feet long and four feet wide. A record

Foreign Students of Varied Backgrounds Attend SMU Under Government Program

By WALTON CANNON

DALLAS, P — Before Willy Schueman was 16 years old, he commanded 50 young men and boys in the Hitler Youth organi- zation.

At the same time, Walter Eller was fighting with the Free French forces in North Africa.

Today, both Walter and Willy are students at Southern Metho- dist university.

They met at SMU because of the United States government's program to bring foreign students to study.

This year 20 thousand foreign youths are studying in this country.

More than 50, from 32 differ- ent countries, are at SMU.

The University of Texas gives scholarships to 18, and the gov- ernment provides funds for oth- ers. Social and civic organizations are helping to provide living ex- penses and scholarships to many.

Many of the students have spent the better part of their lives in terror and confusion.

Enzio von Cramon, 22, is an Austrian baron who plays the ukulele and wears loud sport shirts. His grandfather was ad- jutant to the Kaiser.

Enzio's two brothers were kil- led while officers in the German army.

Julius Wolkow is studying to be an American engineer.

He watched the Communist police in White Russia take his father away to a Siberian prison.

Six years later, the invading Nazis took Julius to Germany as a slave laborer.

After the war, he escaped to the American zone of occupied Germany and finally got a pas- port to the United States.

Hee Lin Lim was in Malaya when the Japanese invaded the British colony. He saw the Japa- nese beat and kill his neighbors and burn their villages.

After the war, Communism be- came powerful in Malaya. When Lin left for America in 1949, once peaceful people were again fight- ing each other.

Lin is Chinese by race, Malay- an by citizenship. A sophomore at SMU, he is studying mechani- cal engineering.

Walter Eller, 27, is a French- man who can speak five lan- guages.

He was born in Dallas of French parents but was taken to France before he was two years old.

He escaped the Nazi occupation in 1940, fled through Spain to North Africa and joined the French army.

In 1943 he joined the United States Air Corps and flew bomb- ing missions over France.

Walter wants to stay in this country after he finishes his edu- cation. Two wars have destroyed too much of France for him to want to live there.

Willy Schueman joined the Hitler Youth when he was 10 years old. He rose to command 50 boys.

When he was 16 he became an anti - aircraft gunner. He was in combat for the last five months of the war. He never thought Germany could lose.

The news of Hitler's death was the greatest shock of Willy's life, he says.

After spending three months in a prison camp, he went back to high school and graduated in 1947. After that he studied at Bonn university in Germany and Manchester university in Eng- land. He has been in Texas al- most a year.

According to Willy, the big

"He who steal 'A' sticker go- ing to B-stick from C-stick."

The C-stick Yee referred to is a big meat chopper he is keep- ing handy for the next person who reaches for the now replaced "A" sticker.

Poster Bed

A white chenille spread is on the poster bed. Furnishings in- clude a vanity dresser and a tall chest of drawers, as well as a straight - backed rocking chair. White whatnot shelves are in the corner. Window curtains are white dotted swiss. A rose che- nille rug is on the floor.

This room is 14 by 14 feet in dimensions.

Enough stones were left over from the fireplace to build a goodsize barbecue pit which the Runkleses plan to have in the back yard. A quail nests in the front yard and Mrs. Runkles once saw six redbirds bathing while watering a tree.

"The camp abounds in wild- life," says Chief Runkles, "Some people from Texas Tech made a survey and reported seeing 48 different kinds of birds here in one year. They saw 37 on three trips. We scatter feed for them by the hundred pounds. We have every kind of game here."

The Runkleses have another married daughter, Mrs. L. B. Ross of Lubbock. They have a grand- daughter, Mona, who is 16 months old.

Mrs. Runkles enjoys keeping her new house — it is just such a welcome change from the three crowded rooms they had at camp headquarters. She finds the floors easy to keep and the woodwork in the kitchen is easily cleaned, too, she says.

The children do not stop with wildlife. They have several tame pets, including a turtle and a cat named Nero. A small aquarium in the living room holds fish.

Businessmen Said To Be Behind Reds

SINGAPORE P — The "Straits Times" claims an organization backed by plenty of money and believed to include a number of Singapore businessmen is operat- ing in this British colony as a supply agency for Communist terrorists in Malaya.

The newspaper said these sup- plies include opium, tobacco, tin- ned food and drugs. It added that thousands of dollars are spent by the "organization" in evading the customs patrols and in landing supplies at certain points along the west coast of Johore state. The "Times" asser- ted police are expected to make a large number of arrests soon in Malaya.

It is believed that the first commercial electric sign was put up on a New York theatre in 1894.

Belgians Prefer Radio In Foreign Language

BRUSSELS, P. — Belgians prefer foreign, commercially sponsored radio programs to their own government-controlled radio. A recent survey by an opinion-testing organization showed that the most popular station with Belgians is Radio Luxembourg. This station broadcasts exclusively commercial sponsored programs in French, Flemish and English.

Father's Day Gifts Galore May Be Had From Local Stores' Selections Today

Father's day is just around the corner, Sunday in fact, and Post drug, jewelry and department stores are packed with gifts for Dad. Not to mention the fishing tackle and other equipment for him at hardware stores.

Jewelry is a big gift item. Especially popular in Post are tie clasps, rings, cuff links and lapel pins with lodge emblems. Matching sets of cuff links, watch bands and tie clasps come in gold-filled plain designs with individual initials or lodge emblems on them. These can be bought separately or in sets.

Money clips, collar holders, silver belt buckle sets, several brands of nationally advertised watches, various types of watch bands, in metal, cloth, leather and nylon make up the list of jewelry items available for father here. Gold and silver picture frames, both small and medium can be bought here to place a cherished picture in for Father's day.

An unusual item is a compass fob on a key ring. Especially appreciated by that father associates and proper grooming. The girls have learned through these lessons, through demonstrations, from seeing colored slides, and by actual sewing in the home.

iated in any way with the oil fields is the rotary bit fob, which has three gold bits that actually work like the real thing. Small travel clocks also please dad, as well as electric alarms. A saddle watchfob on a pocket watch would be ideal for the dad who is now a granddad and does not hold with newfangled wrist-watches.

Variety in billfolds is legion. Some fathers will like the plain brown leather calfskin with their name or initials stamped in gold. Others prefer the more ornate, hand-tooled western variety. All shapes, sizes and colors fall in between. Another leather item is the carrying case for a nationally advertised electric razor and its cleaning brush. With or without a case, an electric razor is usually a welcome gift to the man who doesn't already have one.

After a hard day in the store, field or office, most fathers appreciate some comfortable house-shoes to lounge around in. One store has a variety of swim suits from briefs with leopard spots to trunks with a leopard pictured on the side. These come in all colors and sizes.

For that man who smokes a pipe, there is a carved wooden and glass pipe and tobacco holder. It has space to lay or knock-out three pipes and a large covered jar for his favorite blend of tobacco.

Cosmetic sets add a dash of luxury for the particular man. Shaving cream, lotion, powder and deodorant come separately or in matched sets, in plain or fancy bottles or in jugs. Several nationally-advertised lines are carried here.

New bright-colored straw Stetsons will please the younger father and there is an unlimited selection of traditional straws for the older man. Ties of all descriptions, particularly hand-painted ones in soft colors will look good with any father's Sunday suit.

One store has ties already wrapped in fancy packages, along with socks and handkerchiefs. Sports shirts and dress shirts are plentiful. Summer slacks are available in several colors and all sizes.

Sports coats are nice for summer wearing and Father's day giving. Fancy rayon and nylon underwear can be had for every taste. For the more conventional, there are nylon shorts in pale blue, green and rose stripes. For the Dad who goes on vacation after Father's day — if he can still afford it — are terry and seersucker robes. Summer pajamas are also available.

Various types of lighters are stocked locally. Some are small, lightweight, silver types, with a tiny square for engraving his initial. Butane lighters are available and need be filled only twice yearly. Something new is the long, narrow lighter available locally.

The father who is a sportsman poses no gift problem. Post stores have the latest in glass rods, as well as the more conventional steel types and bamboo flyrods in cases. Baits include the ever popular Hawaiian wiggler and jitterbug, as well as the hula dancer and the river runt, along with the new hula hopper which comes in white, yellow and fuchsia, the bass orno and the crazy crawler, as well as dozens of others. One bait comes with the guarantee that if no fish are caught with it, it can be returned and the angler will get his money back as well as a can of worms.

Nylon lines of different strengths and thicknesses may be had, as well as a choice of other tackle and tackle boxes. All kinds of camping equipment is available here. Thermos jugs come from the large size with spouts on down to the small pint bottles.

For the man who doesn't care to camp any farther away from home than the back yard, there is a hammock. Poker chips and holders, ivory dominoes, pen and pencil sets and even guitars can be had for those Dads who like indoor sports better.

Luggage is an especially timely gift this season. Several famous brands can be bought in Post.

If there is a Father who really likes to mow the lawn, his job can be made easier with a power mower. Give him a fabric-bottomed ashtray that is guaranteed not to spill if you want to please Mother, too. Ceramic ashtrays, reminiscent of barber shop quartets are also available.

Leather goods also include toilet kits with zippers and luggage tags. A small leather case holds a comb, nail file and clipper. A belt and buckle set come in a plastic box that is handy for keeping cuff links and the like safe ever after. Tiny jeweled collar bobs will make Mother want matching earrings.

Knives and flashlights and eyeshades and many other thoughtful gift items lift Father's day out of the socks, shirts and ties doldrums. Whatever he wants, you can buy it in Post.

Pole Fisherman Is Granddaddy Of Them All

By BOB BRISTER

ATHENS, P. — There are a lot of fishermen, from bent pin dabblers to deep sea trollers — but the biggest group from Maine to Mexico are the pole 'n liners.

The man who turns up his puristic nose at anything but the dainties of dry flies today probably started out with a cane pole and a gob of worms. And he probably caught fish.

Never let it be said that pole fishing, as the expert does it, is a lazy man's sport. It is neither crude nor easy, requiring skill and experience just as any other type of successful fishing. And it pays off.

The fresh water "pole" fisherman goes out in quest of practically every fish inhabiting inland waters, but the majority try for bass, bluegill, and catfish — three of the hardest fighting species of them all.

If he knows how it's done, he'll bring home meat for the skillet — and a crispy-fried cat or bream is fit fare for a king.

There are about as many types of pole-and-line fishing as there are sections of the country. Different methods are adapted to the different types of water. And the fishermen themselves differ. Some prefer to sit in one spot for hours, waiting on providence. Others, usually the experts of their clan, rove the banks and brushpiles.

The apex of pole fishing can be found in use among the old-timers in East Texas and Louisiana. It's called doodling or punching or fifty other local names. But in those sections, by any name, it's considered the common-sense way to catch fish.

With one man paddling and the other fishing, these swamp and marsh fishermen go out in pairs, covering their territory as it should be covered.

The paddler eases his mate along slowly and silently, as a minnow or artificial fly moves restlessly from one cypress knee to the next, seeking the dark spots and dabbling over the holes in the lily beds. There is no noise, no quick movement — and some of the biggest bass on record have fallen to this skill of the man with the pole.

Of course, in recent years the trend has been away from the pole and line-toward casting, fly-fishing and spinning. "Sport" fishing is taking over, and a man's fishing prowess is often measured by the number of rods and reels he owns.

But never cast remarks about the humble pole fisherman, perched upon a log — until you've seen his stringer.

Bandera Stompede Gives Tourists Way To Blow Tops and Secede from Union

BANDERA, P. — If you get fed up with the United States in the spring, come to Bandera and secede.

The Free State of Bandera annually secedes (for three days) when the tourist season opens in the dude ranch country.

The three action-filled days are called the Bandera Stompede. And how they do stompede. The 1951 Stompede was held recently and brought more than 30,000 people swarming into this little town of 1,019 people.

The Stompede got its start in 1948 when the "Free State of Bandera" wrote two letters to President Truman asking for a National Cowboy holiday.

President Truman, apparently not in a letter-writing mood, didn't answer them. The letters were signed by Zeké, a mythical "high constabular" of Bandera.

The President's indifference got tempers riled here, and secession followed. A pair of blue jeans was chosen as the free state's flag. "Cotton-Eyed Joe" is the national anthem.

In Bandera during the Stompede, you can let your hair down, go western, rip, roar and snort, and generally do anything you're big enough to do. Texas' most beautiful girls enter the Bell Cow Cowbelle beauty contest, won this year by Dianne Muennink of Hondo.

Bandera's long line of gaudy, noisy night clubs and cafes are packed to overflowing as western bands grind out the best in western music. Rodeos, street parades, beard judging contest, old settlers reunions and other events intersperse Bandera's greatest attraction — the opportunity for bored tourists to blow their tops.

One of the beauty contest judges this year was Jake Trussell.

Malayan Town Fights For Survival Now

PUSING, Malaya P.—The 3,000 residents of this little mining town in Perak state of Malaya are fighting to "make good." If they don't, they may suffer the same fate as the village of Jenderam in Selangor state.

The British forcibly evacuated all of Jenderam's 1,600 people in February and ordered it burned off the map of Malaya because it was a "wasp's nest" of Communist terrorism. The people were screened and the worthy ones resettled elsewhere. Pusing has been described by a British magistrate as the "worst town in Malaya," because there's been a lot of Red terrorism, murder and sabotage in and around Pusing.

The British have delivered an ultimatum — that there must not be another single act of terrorism in Pusing, or "other arrangements" will be made. The hint was that Pusing would get the same medicine as Jenderam. The British ordered the Pusing people to organize themselves a home guard with 48 hours to protect themselves against the terrorists. All able-bodied men rushed to join up.

Direct VA Loan Law Is Expiring At End of Month

World War II veterans planning to apply for direct home and farm loans from the Veterans Administration are reminded by the VA that the Direct Loan program ends by law on June 30, 1951.

VA states it would scarcely be possible in most instances to process applications before the June 30 deadline that are received by the VA regional offices after June 15.

The Housing act of 1950 authorized VA to make loans up to $10,000 at four per cent interest to World War II veterans with which to buy or build a home, or to build or improve a farmhouse. The act stipulated that VA was to make these direct loans in those areas of the country where the regular GI loans were not available from private lenders.

The law further required VA to designate the areas as eligible for direct loans.

Since the program got underway last summer, more than 2,600 counties or parts of counties in the United States have been designated as eligible for direct loans. An estimated 5,000,000 World War II veterans live in these designated areas.

As of May 10, about $90,000,000 of the $150,000,000 authorized for the program had been disbursed or reserved under pending applications for direct loans to veterans.

While the direct government loan program ends June 30, 1951, the regular GI Loan program does not expire until July 25, 1957. Both programs are subject to the same minimum down payments imposed by the credit controls announced Oct. 12, 1950.

Joe Callis Is True West Texas Pioneer, Born In Snyder

Joe Callis is a true West Texas pioneer—he was born in Snyder, Texas. His father, Henry Callis, moved to Snyder to the 24 ranch when Snyder was 6 years old. He has lived in this area ever since. The 24 ranch was owned by Scoggin and is now the Beggs ranch. It was known for the high quality horses bred by the cowboys. The Callises moved to their new quarters in 1895. Several families lived in that immediate vicinity and the children went to school in a dugout lined with dirt and china plates under a tarp for a ceiling. Miss Elkins, who later became Oscar Kelly, was the teacher.

school which was better known as the Willoughby school. The Nichols, Spithers and Willoughbys also attended. Callis' maternal grandmother ran the first hotel in Snyder. He had several daughters and they each were married in the hotel. Callis quit school at 14 to go to work. He worked for Scoggin and Brown, too. By the time he began work, there were a few fences. He was grown before he saw a stalk of cotton. When farmers first came to this country there was a good bit of objection because they let their stock run loose, more than anything else, he says.

Four Section Act
There were few farms before C. W. Post came here, although the Four Section act began to break up the big ranges. Ranchers would have someone home-stead around water, then they would take half and the homesteader would keep half.

Lumber to build the houses that were here was hauled from Colorado City and groceries and supplies were bought there. "I didn't get to go to town more than twice a year," Callis says. Callis' father came to Snyder in a buggy with two little daughters, from Henrietta before he met his mother. The two girls are now Mrs. Fronie Bingham of Spur and Mrs. F. E. Marable. Snyder was a tough town then, and just out in the country, Callis says.

Later, after the children were grown, Charlie Callis, his brother, married a teacher from the Willoughby school. When Callis worked for the 24s, his associates included Jake Raines, Shelley Cromwell and Pete Scoggin. Walter Brown was the boss. Callis describes him as a real cowman. His daughter Willie married Willis Rodgers and is now living in Monahans. Brown's only son is living in California. Jake Raines was known as the "millionaire cowboy." Callis recalls.

Organize County
People were eager to get Garza county organized, Callis says because it was such a long way to Gall, where they had to conduct all their business. All travel to Gall was by horseback or buggy.

"I remember that the tax assessor for Borden county was a one-legged man named Mitchell. He had a wooden leg and rode horseback all over the county, assessing taxes," Callis says. He remembers the all-night dances that the people here used to have. They would dance until sunup and then get home in time to go to work. Everyone went on horseback or by buggy. Music was by a fiddle and guitar. Callis was well-known as a caller for square dances.

He met his wife, the former Miss Lucy Smith, a teacher, at a dance. Their first date was at a dance at Doc Kennedy's house. She came here in 1914 to teach. The night they met, he had brought another school teacher to the dance but he took Mrs. Callis home. As a joke, someone made up the money for them to buy their marriage license that night. "It was love at first sight," Callis laughs.

Marry in June
They met in January and waited until June before getting married. Her father, the Rev. G. W. Smith, was a Methodist minister. Since Henry Callis was seriously ill, the two Smiths came back here for the wedding. They were married in the Charlie Callis home, near where the Double U stock pens now are.

Mrs. Callis and her father drove two dun horses to a buggy from Tuxedo here. They stopped in Abilene to get her wedding flowers and had a great deal of difficulty in finding a florist. But they were successful and she brought her bridal bouquet from Abilene here.

Mrs. Callis' wedding dress was of white embroidered batiste, made with three ruffles. The only guests at the wedding were the Bud Marables and the Charlie Callises. Her father read the ceremony. The next day, they were given a dinner in Post by the Marables. Several guests were invited.

Mrs. Callis taught at the Verbena school prior to her marriage and stayed with a Mrs. Faulkner. Callis recalls coming to Post to picnics, after the town was organized. He and Mrs. Callis came sometimes in a buggy. He remembers the "cowboy balls" held above the building that now is Short's hardware store. Other recreation was going to roundups.

Girls at Roundup
"Every cowboy wanted his girl to come to the roundup and eat chuck wagon dinner with him," Mrs. Callis says.

She says that her husband was really strong as a young man. "He could flank bigger calves than anybody," she states. Callis was outside man for Scoggin and Brown and worked with other ranches such as OS, Paddle and Spur.

"It took 30 days to hold the Spur roundup," Callis says. "They ran about 12,000 calves." Mrs. Callis says that her husband was always well-mounted. The 24 brand was the Scoggin and Brown brand and their "tally" brand was 33. The tally brand was put on cattle that were bought for immediate sale. Callis had a well-trained cutting horse, his wife says, at all times. He was also a good roper—being able to "lay a rope down so the calf would step on it."

Although he quit school at 14, Callis first went up the trail as a horse wrangler at 13. The herd was driven to Canyon and he wrangled horses and made a hand as well.

Rough Drive
"It was a pretty rough drive," he says. "We took poor calves, steers and spayed heifers. We just made five or six miles a day. It didn't rain that year until June 26."

This herd and a string of six horses was sold to a man named John Rider and one horse was given to him. Rider later was killed in an accident on the gift horse. That year, it rained on the herd at Lockney and they lost seven or eight cows and about as many calves in the cold and rain.

Herds were watered as far as Lubbock by going up the Palo Duro canyon. There were windmills on the plains. When the tanks were dry, cowboys would scrape the river. After the river bed was scraped, water would seep up through the hole.

"Cattle were long legged and rangy in those days," Callis says, "and could travel a long way without water. Once when my dad was trail boss, I went on a drive taking 3000 24 steers to Estelline. That was too many cattle in one herd. They were bought by Pierce and Reeves, a Colorado outfit who bought 24 calves for four or five years after that."

Buyers would ship the cattle to grass. However, Callis says a good trail boss could drive the herd so that it would mend every day on the trail. If it were not too dry, thus the calves would weigh more when they got to market than when they left the ranch.

"It was pretty rough sometimes," Callis says. "It was hard for the night guard to hold the cattle, especially if it rained."

Group Picture
He has a picture of a group on a drive taken at Colorado City more than 60 years ago. It shows the chuck wagon and hoodlum wagon (which held bedding and such as that) and the following pioneers here: Pete Scoggin, Bill Blackwell, Henry Callis, N. N. Rodgers, Andy Holloway, Bill Bradley, Doc Knox, Bob Willoughby, Little Joe Smith, Will Hooper and Jake Raines and John Snowden, the only one of the group now living, who was working in a mine in Colorado when last heard from.

After his marriage, Callis left the OS and worked for Bill Sneed who had about half of Garza and Crosby counties under lease. He ran some cattle on 100 sections and wintered about 5500 cattle one winter.

The Callises lived at "South Camp" 25 miles east of town when they were first married. Rattlesnakes got in the house, until they stopped up the holes. Mrs. Callis killed 18 rattlers in the yard in one month. She would ride eight miles on horseback to visit, then. The Callises have only one child, Kathryn, now Mrs. Phil Trammell, and Mrs. Callis would put her in front of her on a pillow and ride off.

They carried their water from a spring. It was 12 miles to Verbena. "We went to church there as often as we do here," Mrs. Callis says. "We attended Sunday school and carried our dinners so we could stay all day."

Verbena Church
As far as Callis can remember, the Verbena church was the first one in the county. A Brother Bilberry was pastor and it was a union church at first. Mrs. Nichols, mother of Henrietta, F. S. and John Nichols, was a charter member. They first had an organ for music and later a piano. Church was first held in a brush arbor built by cowboys.

There was a Methodist church already organized in Post when Mrs. Callis came here.

Callis recalls that the same year he went to Canyon with a herd, when he was just a youngster, he also went to Mexico with some cows. The first night they stayed near Verbena where the church now is. Some 1500 yearlings were in the herd. It rained all night and the cattle ran all night.

"The next night," Callis recalls, "We stayed at Jackson's tank. Jim Gilmore and Bill Cravy came over to stand guard so we could get some sleep. It was a pretty night and the cattle were still. Then John Stagner went to sleep and fell off his horse on the opposite side of the herd from camp. That scared the cattle and they started running, splitting at the wagon."

"Some stopped at the wagon," Callis continues. "I was sleeping with Jim Gilmore and decided to do just what he did. So I just lay there and he did, too."

Baldy Await
Baldy Await was the cook on this trip, Callis says, and he was awakened when a steer ran up on him. "Whose steer are you?" he yelled and jumped up on the wagon. Callis reports that the cattle were finally quieted and none were lost.

He recalls an instance when Mr. Brown was buying some horses from Joe Smith for his cowhands to ride. He asked Smith if the horses were gentle and Smith replied, "Kate and Mary ride them." Kate and Mary were his daughters, later Mrs. Guy Samples and Mrs. Sam Evans. They were excellent riders and rode side saddle.

When Brown got his horses back to the 24 ranch, not a cowboy could stay on them. The next time he went to Smith horsebuying, he asked again, "Are these horses gentle?"

"Kate and Mary ride 'em," answered Smith. "Damn the horses Kate and Mary ride," roared Brown. "I want some that my cowboys can ride."

Callis still rides in roundups and was laid up a few days recently when a horse fell with him at Giles Connel's ranch.

"Lucy used to say 'Ride 'em! Ride 'em!' every time I got near a bronc but now she says, 'Don't get on that horse,'" Callis reveals.

Farm Ownership for Operators Rises Throughout Southwest

ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff
The people who actually operate Southwestern farms—who plow, plant and harvest—today own more of the land they operate than at any time since records have been available.

This fact was determined by the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture after exhaustive research. This definite trend away from tenancy and toward ownership began between 1935 and 1940. It continued unbroken throughout the war years and into the post-war era.

The federal government has long aimed at making easier the ownership of farms by the farmer. In Texas, where a little different situation exists, the Republic and later the state have taken the same view. But their efforts sometimes failed badly.

For instance, the federal government attempted to create an owner-operator system in Oklahoma when the territory was opened for settlement.

But in less than one generation—25 years—the Oklahoma land was held predominately by non-operating owners.

One in Four
In 1930, only one farmer in every four remained in the owner class. The other states in the region—Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas for purposes of the study—were in much the same situation.

The published University of Arkansas report states that "from the standpoint of the farmer's financial ability, opportunity for achieving ownership during the past decade perhaps has never been equalled. Farm operators in the region have reaffirmed their tenure goal of ownership through extensive purchase of land from non-farmers, and through retirement of two-thirds of their land indebtedness."

The report breaks down the figures into four classifications. Possibly the best picture is given by the figures on the landlords. In Texas, 22.8 per cent of the farm owners in 1930 were landlords, who rented out all the land they owned. They possessed 27.5 per cent of the land and their holdings averaged 739 acres.

Oklahoma's landlords were more numerous. They comprised 28.3 per cent of the owners with 29.3 per cent of the land averaging 395 acres each.

The other figures, in the same order: Arkansas 8.9, 5.9 and 10.9; Louisiana 8.9, 8.2 and 9.4; and Mississippi 9.3, 15.6 and 28.4.

The report defined the other types of ownership as: Owner-operator—owns all the land he operates and operates all the land he owns.

Part owner-operator—operates all the land owned and rents additional acreage.

Owner operator-landlord—owns all the land operated and rents acreage to others.

Texas-Oklahoma
Of the five states studied, Texas ranked only ahead of Oklahoma in owner-operator percentage, probably because of a whopping 15.9 per cent of the land owned by corporations. This corporation ownership is a hold-over from the early days, when the gigantic cattle ranches, many owned abroad, were developed and when huge grants of land for specific purposes were made. Later oil companies and other types of firms became large land owners.

In Texas, 29.9 per cent of the farmers were owner-operators, compared with 70.9 in Arkansas. The other figures: Louisiana, 64 per cent; Mississippi 62.7 and Oklahoma 35.8. The regional percentage was 48.7.
