County's First Two Bales Auctioned At Fifty Cents Per Pound Saturday

In a slow-moving Saturday afternoon auction, Garza county's first two bales of cotton brought 50 cents per pound each here Saturday at 4 p. m. Sheriff Carl Rains served as auctioneer and finally sold the two bales to Jack Henderson, local cotton dealer, and Bill McMahon, manager of the Graham gin for half a dollar per pound which was some 16 cents above stock market quotations at closing time last Friday. Preceding the auction, Mrs. Burnis Lawrence, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, presented the two owners, E. P. Nash, of the Crossroads community and Joe B. Taylor, of Graham, with merchandise and cash certificates totaling $538. This was donated by the merchants and other business men of Post as premiums for ginning the first bales of cotton.

Film of Littlefield Post Game Slated

Booster club fans are reminded that tonight at 8 p. m. the picture of the Post-Littlefield game played here last Friday night and filmed by John Lott will be shown at the regular Booster club meeting in the High school auditorium.

President Dave Willis also announced that tentative plans of the club are to film the Levelland and Slaton games here (and possibly the Spur game) and give the films to team and the coaches for future use.

Announcement About Blood Made By Carter

Bill Carter, County Red Cross chairman, urges all persons who have to go to Lubbock and get blood transfusions from any of the hospitals serviced by the Red Cross blood bank to contact him, if at all possible, before going. He can then inform the Blood Bank officials.

Recently some persons who have gone and received transfusions have also received letters from the officials telling them they should get the blood replaced. Carter is attempting to eliminate such letters. He has on file people who will replace blood as it is used and those who receive transfusions do not have to be bothered with any details. He urges everyone to contact him or Bob Poole, commander of the local V.F.W. if they know they need a transfusion.

Second Petit Juror List Is Released

A second list containing names of 50 Garza county residents has been released by County Clerk Ray N. Smith as petit jurors for district court's September term and will appear at the court-house next Monday morning. The list includes Max Gordon, C. R. Thaxton, S. C. Storie, sr., W. Wells, Delmer Cowdrey, C. R. Baldwin, Jr., George Tillman, Roy E. Brown, Marvin Hudman, Jack Kennedy, J. F. Barron, H. H. Hudman, I. L. Chandler, Percy Printz, C. J. Josey.

Antelope Band To Participate In Big Festival

Activities of the Post High School Antelope band are not confined to football games by any means, it was revealed here this week.

The Band has received and accepted an invitation to participate in the marching contest and festival to be held in Brownfield at the city's annual "Harvest Festival" on Oct. 18.

Approximately 14 bands will be vying in three different classes according to the size of the band. Each first place band in the class will be awarded a trophy. Band members will discuss Monday how they will get to Brownfield.

It was also announced that band members are selling metal tags with "Post Antelopes" written on them and a black and gold ribbon below the tag and a small gold football dangling from the ribbon.

District Court Opens Next Week On Eight Indictments

Criminal court opens in the 106th Judicial district here Monday morning when District Judge Louis B. Reed begins the trials of 10 persons indicted by the Grand Jury this past week. Eight indictments handed down by the grand jury included one defrauding by worthless check, passing as true a forged instrument in writing, three theft over $50, four burglary and one receiving and concealing stolen goods.

The Grand Jury, with W. S. Duckworth as foreman, was impaneled Monday and handed down eight true bills containing the names of ten persons. Grand Jury members included Duckworth, Charlie Bird, A. B. Casey, Truett Fry, J. H. Haire, J. C. Fumagalli, W. C. Quisenberry, Lorenzo Alexander, G. F. Carpenter, R. L. Longshore, Earl B. Gregg and J. A. Probst.

Indicted for theft over $50 were Marlin Hawkins, Allen Hampton and Joe Milligan, alias Joe Wilson. The three were charged with the theft of four watches valued at more than $100 each from the O. G. Hamilton Drug.

Harold France, Bobby Blacklock, Billy Byrd Holly and James E. Cunningham were indicted for burglary of the Postex Cotton Mills. And Lizzie Milo was indicted for receiving and concealing stolen goods.

Only two civil cases were heard this week by Judge Reed. These were non-jury cases so the petit jury called Monday morning was dismissed.

Petit jurors have been summoned by County Clerk Ray N. Smith and will appear Monday morning.

Last Rites For D. W. Morris Are Held Here

D. W. Morris, a Garza county resident for 37 years, was buried Friday afternoon, in Terrace cemetery, beside his wife, Mrs. Lilly Oden Morris, who preceded him in death by 10 months.

Mr. Morris died in a Tulla hospital Wednesday afternoon a few hours after suffering a heart attack. He was visiting at the home of a son, W. V., near Tulla, when he became ill.

Funeral rites were conducted in the First Methodist church, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, with the Rev. J. M. Morrison of Spur and the Rev. D. A. Ross of Lubbock officiating. Burial was under the direction of Hudman Funeral home.

The long-time resident was born March 17, 1876. He and Miss Oden were married May 25, 1896. He had been a member of the Methodist church more than 50 years.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Dillard Thompson, Post; four sons, W. V. of Kress, Arthur of Halfway, D. C. of Post, and O. V. of Tulla; 16 grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Mattie Morton of Sayre, Okla., Mrs. Mary Penix of Fort Sumner, N. M., and Mrs. Fannie Lewis of California; and three brothers, W. C. W. of Muleshoe, F. J. of Capitan, N. M., and Albert Morris of Missouri.

All of the relatives except two great-grandchildren and Mrs. Lewis and Albert Morris were here for the funeral.

Pallbearers were Fred Babb, Jesse Gregg of Ropesville, Grover Mason, Roland Clem of Tahoka, E. J. Henderson, Barrie Jones, Earl Gregg and Oran Clary.

Post Football Ticket Buyers Due A Refund

An open letter to Purchasers of Season Tickets to Post Football Games: Due to my ignorance of the price of tickets in this district, we overcharged you $1.10 per ticket thinking the tax was added instead of included in the price of the ticket.

All I know for you to do is to call at the office in the high school, present your ticket, or tickets, and we shall gladly refund your money.

We are sorry for this inconvenience but know of no way to rectify a mistake except to admit it and then do the best we can to make it right.

Sincerely, D. C. Arthur Superintendent Post Schools

RESERVED SEATS Arthur announced that 306 reserved seat tickets in Section A have been mailed to Levelland. Section D will be reserved for home fans as usual, he said.

V. F. W. Club To Meet At 8 p. m. Today

Bob Poole, Commander of the local V. F. W. club, has reminded all members that tonight is regular meeting night and urges them to attend the meeting in the V. F. W. clubhouse at 8:30 p. m.

Elections of some officers whose terms have expired will highlight the meeting. And Poole says that an important discussion will also be carried on concerning a project of the club.

Postex To Sponsor Educational Exhibit At Annual Panhandle South Plains Fair

"From the Field to the Bed with King Cotton" could appropriately be the title of the massive and impressive educational exhibit to be displayed at the Panhandle South Plains Fair next week by Postex Cotton Mills.

The exhibit, which will attempt to acquaint the people of the area with the importance of cotton and its products, is under the supervision of Lee Ward. Viewing the exhibit, people will see forms of cotton displayed through all the various stages required to manufacture it into a sheet or pillowcase. These displays will include samples of the cotton as it progresses through the different departments of the mill such as the picker, carding, spinning, warping and bleaching department which includes cloth, finishing, sewing and packing rooms.

Attractively displayed, the various samples will carry the viewer from the cottonfield at spring planting time, during its boiling and opening periods, through the picking, ginning and then sampling for mill use. From there it goes through the mill.

This picture will be carried out effectively with samples of cotton seed, green bolls of cotton, one stalk of open cotton, picked cotton, ginned cotton (a miniature bale of cotton will be used here), and a sample of cotton ready for the mill.

Beginning with the initial process in making sheets and pillowcases at the mill, the Postex Cotton Mill educational exhibit will show a picker lap which emerges from the picker room after the raw cotton has been run through the picker machine.

The next sample carries the viewer into the carding room and shows the card silver, a string-like portion which has been carded and run through a trumpet to pull it into its string-like form. One yard of this card silver weighs 61 grains.

From the card silver the exhibit carries the cotton to the drawing silver. Six card slivers have passed through this process to become one drawing sliver. This is called the first or breaker drawing.

Progressing through the plant the viewer next sees the finished or second drawing. A process that has taken six first or breaker drawings.

Samples of bobbins roving on which the finished drawings are drawn and wound show the cotton at the stage just prior to becoming yarn.

And the next sample shows them the warp yarn that has been spun off the bobbins roving. Here also will be samples of filling yarn.

Full warp cheese and half full warp cheese and cheese starters carry the viewer one step further toward his goal of weaving a complete sheet or pillowcase.

These are followed by samples of slashed yarn — the starching process which enables the weaver to see POSTEX EXHIBIT Page 8

Getting Out On the LIMB . . .

By EDDIE the editor

Whenever I get in front of a typewriter to work on a column with a subject like I have picked this week it seems that my preaching tendencies come galloping to the front. And they are in full stride right now.

For I have chosen as a subject the behavior of children at the picture show. And, though I intend to localize my discussion somewhat, I can't say that Post children are the only ones who behave badly at the theater.

Only this week Manager Johnny Hopkins has announced that students have been willfully cutting the upholstery on the seats at the Tower. Hopkins is mad and he has every right to be. These cuts, and they are not on just one or two seats but eight or ten could not have been accidents.

In the first place why a person would have a knife open in the show is a mystery. And in the second place the holes are large gaping chunks that have been whacked out at random.

There is no logical explanation why such things should be done. But it is a certainty that they constitute vandalism. They prove beyond a doubt that whoever committed the act has little appreciation toward the company and persons who have made it possible to enjoy the entertainment of a movie in a nice building. He cares nothing about abusing the privileges which this company and these people have been kind enough to give him.

For such things as these small vandalisms of cutting leather on theater seats, if allowed to grow without any sort of restraint, might certainly develop into some larger act as time goes by.

Such an act by any student in the county is a certain indication that the student has no gratitude in him. For Manager Hopkins has endeavored to assist the students by giving them a student rate to all movies. And what does he get in return for his kindness? Whacked up seats and so much talking, tussling, and giggling that his business is actually being hurt.

In the last three weeks students attending the shows have become so noisy and unruly that other patrons either have to get up and leave or sit there and miss half the show. They get in a group and talk and laugh, they tussle, they throw pop corn to attract the attention of some girl and half the time it hits someone else. And asking them to stop has no effect.

Again in doing such things the students show that they have no consideration for others about them who have paid their money to see a show and not hear a bunch of kids giggle, talk and cut up during the entire time.

But Hopkins has issued a warning to these students. And under the circumstances, I don't believe even the students can blame him, especially those who have been taught to have a little consideration for their fellow citizens.

The manager has said that if the whittling on the seat covers, the talking, laughing, the tussling and the disgusting behavior of the students is not discontinued immediately they will have their privilege of student prices taken away. And he even gets a little stronger and says that if they insist on acting like a bunch of hoodlums they will be barred from attending the shows altogether.

Hopkins agrees that such measures would be harsh, but when any group in any place continuously abuses privileges that have been granted them out of the kindness of someone's heart then they should have to suffer by having these privileges withdrawn.

Some people are nice enough so that when they are asked kindly to stop certain things, they do so without any hard feelings. Yet there are many people in the world who get mad and feel injured when they are asked to stop something they themselves know is wrong.

Where does the blame for the talking of the students and the whittling on the seats lie? Not altogether on the students themselves. No, part of it can rest fairly heavily on the shoulders of their parents. The way they make a child behave in the show when that child is young has a lot of influence on its behavior when it grows up. Many parents take their children to the show and then forget them while they, themselves watch the show. The kid can tear up the show, make noise all over the place, run up and down the aisles and be a general terror and the parents never utter one word to quiet it.

A child treated in this manner undoubtedly never learns to have consideration for other people. They think they have an undisputed right to go to the movie and talk and laugh so much that people around them cannot enjoy the show.

So when and if Manager Hop-

THE AMERICAN WAY

If You Can't Convince 'Em - Confuse 'Em!

Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

Banner Is Home

The Banner is home again, after traveling first-class around the country in search of printing facilities. We are camped out in the new building, pending arrival of electricians, plumbers, painters and equipment salesmen who have been promising to return and finish the job for the past four weeks. We hope you like the easy-to-read type used in these columns, and that you'll see us on Visitor's Day, Oct. 6, and see for yourself that printing a weekly newspaper is an intricate, specialized and expensive process. We hope the visit will convince our friends that complaining about the high cost of a 50-cent classified ad is unjustified. A better understanding of the printing process will give everybody a better appreciation of his hometown paper, we believe. There will be no speech-making, no expensive favors and no ceremony. Business will be "as usual" so as to allow everybody to see the new machinery work. Unless inflation bites us again, we will revive visitors with hot coffee and donuts, if we can buy up the stale bread market over at Farmers by that time!

Town Perks Up—Schools Don't

The town of Lorenzo has perked up its ears and decided to grow a bit, and this is a heartening thing. It is also good to see the attitude of broadminded welcome exhibited by the established merchants here. The death knell of all to many of the smaller towns in this country has echoed off the sounding board of prejudice and resentment of change. In the past year Lorenzo, according to its population and business index, has grown more than any other town in Crosby county. This growth is reflected in more new homes, new businesses and new people. The new homes and new business automatically make space for themselves and become an asset to the community. The new people, however, have children. These children go to school. They cannot "make space" for themselves, and must accept whatever we provide for them. The present school plant facilities are inadequate and overcrowded, which places an unnecessary burden on all the children and an obligation upon all of us to relieve the situation.

Don't Kill Anybody

A thousand cotton trailers, more or less, are being added to the highways in Floyd county, and everyone of them is a potential killer. This fact should be by all means be kept in mind by those who are building them to be sure they have the tail lights and reflectors required by the highway department. This is to insure that they will give warning of their presence on the highways, in the lanes and on the farms wherever they may be when the busy season arrives. It isn't a matter of it being all right because "I am a careful driver and I'm not going to kill anybody." When a careful driver is out in a lane or on the highway broke down he is as helpless as a careless driver if somebody runs into him at 40 or 60 miles an hour. This, just for instance. Spend that extra money and save a life. You'll have the money, doubtless, to pay the fine if you're caught, of course, but money won't restore lives and limbs. You'll be a killer, money or no money.

kings carries out the warnings he has issued to the students here, parents should, instead of getting angry and shouting, dig out a little information as to how their child acts at the movie. Who knows, maybe he is the ring leader of the noise makers that is causing so many people to complain to the management.

THEATER VANDALISM . . .

Repeated acts of vandalism in the Tower theater by children of high school age has manager John Hopkins at the point where he has issued an ultimatum to school kids. And the facts of the case very definitely bear out that he is justified in telling them to mend their ways or their show privileges will be withdrawn. In the last week or two leather upholstery on at least eight seats has been whittled on with knives. Not just little pin point holes which could have been an accident, but huge gaping chunks have been cut out. Such acts are uncalled for and constitute vandalism of the highest degree. Hopkins also warns the students about the excessive talking and cutting up in the show while the picture is on. Many patrons have complained that they cannot hear the show (for which they paid 50 cents to be able to do) for students jabbering, laughing, and tussling in the show. Hopkins warns the students that if these actions are not stopped they will not have a special student rate ticket, and he also warned that if they insist on continuing them, students might be completely barred from the show. Parents (and some of them will say, "Oh, it couldn't be my child.") should check into the behavior of their children in the show. Is it the kind you condemn other children for? Then do something about it. Such a situation should definitely not exist in any place, and Hopkins is absolutely right in barring all students if they continue to act like a bunch of uncivilized children who do not know they are doing wrong.

TELEPHONE RATES . . .

Not too much good can be said about the increase in telephone rates which the City Commission granted Southwestern Associated Telephone company the permission to pass on to Post telephone users. The rates on certain business phones will go up approximately 65 percent. And for what? Because the present revenue of the company is insufficient is one plea made to the City Commissioners. But right behind that the company comes up with the statement that they intend to begin a construction program estimated at $25,000 to better the service. And what do they intend to do to better the service? Lay cable enough for the installation of another 150 phones and build one new switchboard position so that these telephones can be handled. Is this bettering the service to those who are present users of telephones? No, it is asking them to finance the company's program so it can bring in more revenue by adding more phones. A free, competitive enterprise is supposed to use part of its profit to enlarge its business, but it seems that most large companies now days just increase the cost of their services to foot the bill. If costs and help are running the company in the red here, then a hike is justified, but why try to make the people think they are being benefited by covering it with a flimsy camouflage of a proposed program to better service?

Texans In WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY, Associated Press Washington Service

WASHINGTON, P — Once again Texas stands a fair chance of getting a new cash crop in the form of natural rubber production.

Back in the placid days following World War One, a then low-ranking officer by the name of Dwight D. Eisenhower conducted an army survey of large tracts in southwest Texas where guayule grew wild.

Little came then of his recommendation that thousands of acres should be devoted solely to the latex-bearing shrub.

He saw such a project as natural defense insurance, in the event rubber supplies across the Pacific in the East Indies should ever be cut off.

World War Two revived interest in guayule — pronounced y-oo-lee — but with V-J day the program collapsed. Now, with the Korean war well into its second year, the issue bounds back into the picture.

If and when the cultivating and harvesting of guayule does become a profitable (without government subsidy) operation, credit must go largely to three Texans—Reps. W. R. Poage of Waco and Lloyd Bentsen of McAllen and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson.

A top ranking member of the House Agriculture Committee and chairman of its subcommittee on natural rubber production, Poage was primarily responsible for the launching of a guayule program which was just getting underway when the Japanese surrendered.

He opposed what he called "a short-sighted, penny-wise pound-foolish" economy policy of Congress which led to the abandonment of the program four years ago.

Early this year, when military demand for rubber sky-rocketed, Johnson as head of the Senate Armed Services subcommittee on preparedness took a sharp look into the supply situation.

He came up with a hard-hitting charge that the munitions board and others had fallen down on the job of stockpiling strategic materials.

It wasn't long until there was action on his recommendations . . . which included stepped-up output at synthetic rubber plants in Texas and elsewhere, as well as launching of a guayule seed and seedling program.

Rio Grande Valley Congressman Bentsen then got busy. He conferred promptly with Agriculture Department officials who took charge of the program after the munitions board had allocated some of its emergency funds for the work.

Soon contracts were being signed with a score or more of farmers in two counties of his district—Maverick and Zavala to plant guayule seeds on some 850 acres. They have been growing on irrigated lands under nursery conditions.

Agriculture officials have recently informed Bentsen that they hope to begin a big transplanting operation late this year, or early in 1952. They have in mind planting the seedlings on some 12,000 acres of unirrigated dry lands in LaSalle and Frio counties.

A department official said that the sooner the transplanting is done the better, because the work can be done largely by machines if the plants are not too mature. Otherwise, considerably more hand labor is required and that runs up the costs.

The guayule plants, which are later put out where they have ample growing space even though much less moisture, reach a harvesting stage in about four to five years. Under their natural growing conditions, without irrigation while seedlings, they require about six to seven years.

The big question now is money. President Truman has requested Congress to appropriate $2,307,000 to carry on the guayule program. If the funds are provided the planting will be carried on in South Texas as planned. Part of the funds will be used at the guayule research center in Salinas, Calif.

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Schools Of Today Tend To Make Students Soft And Spendthrifts In Place Of Being Educated

GLOUCESTER, Mass. — The other day I visited an old schoolhouse which I attended when a boy. It then had a big wood stove, two outhouses in the back yard (with various "inscriptions" thereon) and two grades in each room to teach us concentration, and it surely did.

This old schoolhouse turned out workers and our parents then set us a good example by working hard themselves. We then walked to school, some of us two or more miles. Now this has changed. Schoolhouses now have modern toilets, with tiled walls so that the boys cannot write sassy inscriptions thereon. They have expensive central heating and ventilating systems. Busses take the children to school, with gymnasiums to exercise them after they get to school!

The whole idea now is to eliminate hardships and make the children soft. Yet, don't blame the school principals. These luxuries are demanded by the parents. Whether, however, the primitive system by which I was educated or the luxury system which exists today produces better men and women is debatable.

Bamboos And Blackboards

In my day, the teachers used the bamboo on us when reasoning failed to get results. I had my share of lickings and my parents never complained to the teachers because they spanked their "darling boy." For some reason the bamboo was not used on the girls, but they had a blackboard treatment. For instance, if a girl was caught using unbecoming language, she was compelled to write on the blackboard a hundred times the following: "A soft answer turneth away wrath."

I remember being taught to read from the McGuffey Readers and having to learn such sayings as "Habit is a cable. We weave a strand of it each day until it becomes so strong we cannot break it"; or "All that you do, do with your might"; or "Things that are half done are never done right."

We Want Lower Prices

We want to reduce the cost of living, but the present price controls are the bunk. These laws were enacted to fool the voters and to make more jobs for Democrats. To reduce the cost of living, we must start with the schools and teach the children to love work instead of to love play. Turn to the yearbook which your highschool seniors issue and you will see that 90 percent of it is given to the various extracurricular activities. This long name, used to fool us parents, really refers to sports, clubs and other things which teach children to spend money instead of earn it. I have never found in one of these yearbooks the account of a spelling or mental arithmetic contest.

It may be that the merchants don't want lower prices, but want the children taught to be spenders. The merchants root for bands, baseball, football and other athletics. But again I say, don't blame the school principals. They are simply giving the parents what they demand. As long as parents are primarily interested in whom the high school employs as an athletic coach, we have only ourselves to blame.

Social Security Man
 Due Here Wednesday

Gerald L. Schantz, field representative of the Lubbock Social Security office will be in Post at the Post office on Wednesday, October 3rd at 11:00 a. m. to assist persons in Social Security matters.
 Farm hands who work regularly are now building social security protection, just as workers in commerce and industry have been doing for years. The law now covers regular farm hands who work for one farm operator five months or more. These farm workers help pay for this insurance, of course, in the form of deductions from cash wages.
 These deductions pay for insurance benefits for the workers at age 65, and for their families in case of death. They will receive insurance, not charity. Farm operators and farm workers who do not already know about this new law should contact the Lubbock social security office.
 Mrs. E. W. Baudine of Levelland was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Webb on Friday. On Sunday the Webbs visited the Baudines and their daughter and her husband in Levelland.

MURDER OR MAHEM — To kill or cripple is all this natural-born outlaw Brahman bull has in mind if he can get hold of the convict rider he has just thrown. Action like this can be seen anytime in Prison Stadium, Huntsville during the 20th Annual Texas Prison Rodeo which holds forth this year on October 7th, 14th, 21st and 28th.

Governor Allan Shivers And Eddy Arnold To Appear At Prison Rodeo

HUNTSVILLE, (Echo)—Eddy Arnold, America's favorite singer of folk songs will be the featured guest performer on opening day of the 20th Annual Prison Rodeo at Huntsville, Sunday, Oct. 7th. Appearing on opening day only, Arnold heads the list of stellar guest attractions booked by the rodeo management for appearances between acts of the famed convict show. Accompanying Eddy when he performs in Prison Stadium will be Roy Wiggins, "the mighty little man with the big steel guitar," one of the nation's finest steel guitar players. Rodeo Manager Albert Moore, who has directed the show for the past 18 years, promises that this year's rodeo will be even faster and wilder than any of the previous shows. Each Sunday's performance will include novelty acts along with standard rodeo events performed by the convicts, such as Saddle and Bareback Bronc Riding, Bull Riding, Calf Roping, etc.; and such exclusive Prison Rodeo features as the famous Chariot Race, Wild Mare Milking, and the breath-taking Mad Scramble.
 Governor Allan Shivers has been invited to officially open the show and the first Sunday has been designated as Governor's Day. While in Huntsville, the governor will be the guest of O. B. Ellis, General Manager of the Texas Prison system. Members of the Texas Legislature have also been invited by the Prison Board to be guests of the management that day.
 It's an unforgettable spectacle, one you can't afford to miss. There is no other event like it in the world. Convict riders, who have waived all rights to damages, compete for cash prizes.
 The show opens with what is perhaps its greatest act, the Mad Scramble. Ten chutes fly open and ten wild bulls with ten wild riders are turned into the arena at once. The next act opens while they're still picking up victims of the Mad Scramble. The show moves at that high pace for the next two hours, interrupted only by specialty acts and guest entertainers.
 Prices for reserved seats are $1.40, tax included, and may be ordered by mail or wire if remittance is enclosed. Address all orders for reservations to L. J. Craig, Prison Ticket Office, Huntsville, Texas.
 The snake, corn and fire dances of southwestern Indians are religious in character.

Skip Makes a Slip

Miss Gilbert, the teacher, was telling me how Skip Lawson almost went to sleep in her physics class. She noticed him nodding and—since they were discussing electricity—said in a loud voice: "Now maybe MR. LAWSON will explain what electricity is." Skip started up, looked around wildly, and blurted out, "Gee! I used to know, but I forgot."
 "What a loss to science!" sighs Miss Gilbert. "No one to this day knows what electricity really is, and here we have a genius who could explain it—but forgot!"

Post F. F. A. Chapter Plans Educational Exhibit At Fair

Members of the Post High School Future Farmers of America chapter have their eyes set on first place with their educational exhibit at the annual Panhandle-South Plains fair which begins Monday at Lubbock.

Last year the group, headed by Vocational Agriculture teacher E. F. Schmedt copped second place honors out of 12 entries. But this year they intend to do better. Their exhibit this year will be on "Controlling Cattle Grubs," and will be one of two exhibits of schools in Extension Service district 2. The other exhibit will be entered by Lamesa. However the Post exhibit will blend with the Garza county agriculture exhibit.

In exhibiting the booth on "Controlling Cattle Grubs," the FFA members, comprised of Billy Taylor, Charles Byrd, James and John Boren, Jack Lott, Bobby Cowdrey and Harlan Pennington, intend to answer three vital questions. They are "Why control grubs?" "When control grubs?" and "How control grubs?"

Each and every one of these items will be illustrated by the local FFA boys in their Panhandle South Plains Fair exhibit and all residents of the county are invited to come by and visit the booth.

Work on the exhibit will begin Friday afternoon, Schmedt said. He intends to have it completed by Saturday at the latest.

Miss Norman And Lieut. Fleming Exchange Wedding Vows Sunday

Miss Mary Etta Norman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Norman, and Lieut. Joe Gayle Fleming, son of John Fleming of Southland, and the late Mrs. Fleming, exchanged wedding vows Sunday evening in the Grassland Methodist church.

Mrs. J. R. Chapman, pianist, played a prelude of wedding music, the wedding marches, and "Always" during the ceremony. She also accompanied Mrs. Ferman Chapman of Tahoka, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "O, Promise Me."

The Rev. J. E. Stephens read the double ring ceremony, at 6:45 o'clock, before an altar flanked by baskets of white gladioli, with a background of greenery and candelabra. Burning tapers marked the bridal aisle. Candlelighters were Lindel Norman, cousin of the bride, and Curtis D. Beard of Vernon, cousin of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a nylon tulle and lace gown over taffeta. The fitted bodice, with small lace covered buttons in front, was fashioned with long sleeves ending in points over the hands and a small Peter Pan collar. The immense gathered, tulle skirt was worn over hoops. Her fingertip illusion veil was attached to a Juliet cap of lace with clusters of Lily of the Valley. She carried a white orchid, surrounded with showers of stephanotis and white satin ribbon, atop a white Bible. Mrs. Gerald Norman, matron of honor and sister-in-law of the bride, wore a dress of yellow net over taffeta, fashioned with a net cape over a strapless bodice. The full skirt was worn over hoops and she wore a small Juliet cap. Her bouquet was of white and yellow carnations.

John Fleming attended his son as best man. Ushers were Wilmett Hewlett of Wilson, Claude Chapman of Tahoka, uncle of the bride, and Gerald Norman.

A reception was given, following the ceremony, in the Norman home. The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth. An arrangement of white and yellow carnations surrounded by tall white tapers, in crystal holders, centered the table. The three-tiered cake, with each tier being separated with frosted posts, was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Silver and crystal appointments were used in serving.

Members of the houseparty included Misses Maurine Olds, Virgie Baccus and Mary Jo Gaston of Sudan, Mrs. Claude Thomas, Mrs. P. E. Stevens, Mrs. Ferman Chapman and Mrs. Virgil Bilbo of Ruidoso, N. M.

After a trip to Galveston, the couple will be at home, Oct. 9, in Albuquerque, N. M., where the bridegroom will be stationed at Kirtland Air Force base. For traveling, the bride chose a grey suit with navy accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Fleming is a graduate of Post High school and a 1950 graduate of Texas Technological college, Lubbock, with a degree in Secretarial Administration. For the past year, she has been employed by the Lynn County Production and Marketing association in Tahoka.

The bridegroom, who received his commission as a second Lieutenant in the Air Force this month, is a graduate of Southland High school and Texas Tech. He was a member of Kemas Social club and Plant Industry club at Tech, where he received a BS degree in agriculture, last year. Wedding and reception guests were family members and close friends.

"For the first time in our national lives we are maintaining a full-scale peacetime military establishment."

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Giles were Mrs. Giles, brothers and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Vernon of Elmer, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vernon of Lubbock. Friday night dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jess Wright of Lamesa. The former Post couple came over for the Littlefield-Post ballgame.

Friends of O. B. Kelly, former pioneer citizen of Post, will be glad to know that he is showing some improvement after undergoing facial surgery recently. "I'd be tickled as a boy with a new toy to hear from Garza guys and gals," he told the George Duckworth family in a recent letter.

Salvation Army Performs Tremendous Task Locally And Nationally In Its Effort To Help The Needy

Every Friday is Salvation Army time in Post. The man in the familiar black uniform with the red trim comes around on that day and contacts nearly every person in the town for contributions to the little red shield-shaped container he carries.

The representative, sometimes like last Saturday it is a woman or girl dressed in a white uniform with the traditional black hat, unobtrusively goes about the town taking donations from the citizens.

This quiet, unobtrusive and humble approach is the secret of the Salvation Army. Without the aid of any thunderous fanfare, such as many other similar agencies use, the organization performs its work quietly and efficiently.

Did you ever wonder how much money Garza county residents donate to the Salvation Army annually? And in the second breath did you wonder what is done with the money you and your neighbors give the organization?

These and many other questions have probably popped into your mind concerning this organization, because the Salvation Army performs its tremendous job without any undue amount of publicity, therefore the average citizen never realizes what they do exactly.

During 1950 Texans contributed $1,500,000 to the Salvation Army through Community Chests and local fund campaigns. Garza county residents contributed approximately $1,000 of that amount according to Capt. Tom Gregory, director of the district office at Lubbock.

Of the $1,000 contributed annually by Garzas approximately 50 percent has been kept in the county. In the last two or three months, however, this amount has been cut to about a third of the contributions according to Clint Herring, chairman of the Salvation Army local Welfare Committee.

"Of course if the county were to experience an extreme emergency," Herring pointed out, "all of the money contributed in the county would remain in the county."

Other members of the Welfare committee here include Mrs. Marvin Hudman and George Barker. This committee works as an individual unit and also in close cooperation with the Texas Department of Welfare. It is quick to help those who really need help with assistance of any kind except money.

"We never give anyone money," Herring explained. "But attempt to help them in a more substantial way, such as clothes, doctor bills, groceries, lodgings and transportation tickets."

These last two items come under the head of the Transient Welfare program. Should anyone traveling through Post become stranded in some manner and lack the necessary funds to reach their destination, they are helped by the Salvation Army with meals, lodgings and tickets.

So far this year the local committee has spent $134.87 for groceries and doctor bills for needy people. "Calls during the first eight months of this year have been fewer than at any other time," Herring said.

Salvation Army aid is based on the need of the family or individual. Other similar agencies go through miles of red-tape before doing any good, but calls on the Salvation Army funds are investigated thoroughly and when the need is established the aid is forthcoming without any strings attached.

State-wide, the organization conducted a far-reaching welfare and evangelistic program which brought direct benefits to thousands of people in need throughout the state last year.

Through the Family Welfare service, 675,477 articles of clothing were distributed to families in need, 15,305 grocery orders were provided, 3,800 were helped with rent, 61,847 were provided with shoes, and 17,233 were provided with articles of furniture. Employment was found for 3,840 and medical services and hospital services and dozens of other aids were made available to those in need.

Through its Transient Welfare program 448,000 meals, more than 100,000 nights lodgings and 43,415 articles of clothing were provided.

"The Salvation Army continues to emphasize its religious evangelism," Lieut. Col. John A. Morrison, Texas Divisional Commander of the Salvation Army, said, "and attendance at its youth training classes and evangelistic meetings totaled 986,786 for the year. Adult attendance at educational and evangelistic meetings was in excess of 300,000. Through this service," Colonel Morrison continued, "we are reaching a segment of people who are not reached by any other religious organization."

In keeping with the traditions of more than half a century, the Salvation Army rendered a big job of Christmas service. It included the distribution of toys to 23,339 children of needy families, gifts of shoes and clothing to 3,830 children, and Christmas dinners to 12,373 families. Colonel Morrison reported that a record number of 57,892 individuals were given some form of Christmas help.

In addition, the Salvation Army carried on its state-wide disaster service program, worked with the state of Texas as a parole agency, expanded the services of its state home and hospital for unmarried mothers at San Antonio, and performed many other services.

In connection with its parole work, the Salvation Army provides voluntary counsel and guidance to more than 1,000 former prisoners in Texas each month.

Many small town girls pack a few things into a bag and go to the big cities looking for work or the bright lights. Their modest savings are quickly spent and their future happiness endangered. Through its Evangeline Homes in the big cities of Texas, the Salvation Army comes to their aid. For a modest fee, it provides hundreds of these young girls a home while they adjust to their new environment. They are also assisted, in addition to food and lodging, in finding jobs on their return home.

Community budgets of local Salvation Army committees enables them to provide eye examinations, dental service, hearing aids, and other health services to needy boys and girls of school age.

Perhaps the one human service for which the Salvation Army is most noted is its two Homes and Hospitals for Unmarried Mothers in Texas. Here girls with a problem are given sanctuary away from the eyes of society, and assisted in planning their futures and the futures of their children. Hundreds of girls receive this aid annually.

As the nation steps up its defense mobilization program, the Salvation Army is back on the job in providing every possible morale service they can to hundreds of young men and women in the service.

Ten-year youth also receive attention from the Salvation Army. It maintains a fresh-air camp at Irving where hundreds of boys and girls of very low income families are given a healthful vacation in an outdoor setting. Here too the Salvation Army holds an annual summer camp for its young leaders and for its young musicians. In addition, youth activity and character building programs are carried out in many towns and cities to curb juvenile delinquency and prepare boys and girls for their citizenship responsibilities.

All of these programs combined under one organization tend to give the Garza county resident an idea where his donation to the Salvation Army goes. The two-thirds of the county donations which are taken out of the county are definitely put to worthwhile use.

And unlike other major organizations, the Salvation Army does not pay all its money out for salaries. It has been reported by one official that no worker in the Salvation Army can draw above $38 per week.

Brumley, the story concerned George Samson and his various activities which have been so beneficial to South Plains agriculture. Samson, a native of Scotland, came to the United States in 1905 and to Post in about 1907. Since that time he has devoted countless hours and days to helping the youth of the area in agriculture projects. Garza residents know and are justly proud of Samson, and the story written by Brumley tends to make them take just that much more pride in the first citizen of the county.

Post School System Cafeteria Serving An Average Of 300 Meals Each Day

With the opening of the 1951-52 school term and the installation of approximately $3,000 worth of new equipment in the Post school cafeteria, parents whose children eat lunch there can justly boast that "it's as good as they would get at home."

And any child, young one or grown one, can vouch that such a boast is tops in compliments. For mother's cooking is always best.

An average of some 330 students and faculty members daily spend their money for cafeteria food. E. E. Pierce, manager, says the business is booming, but quickly adds and proves with statistics that it is definitely a non-profit establishment.

Students and faculty members devour tempting menus which are posted on the bulletin board Monday morning for the entire week.

And all that is paid for such meals is 25 cents for the students and 30 cents for the teachers.

Preparation of the meals is in charge of Mrs. Pierce. She is head cook, dietician and supervisor at the lunch room.

"We serve only A type lunches," Mrs. Pierce pointed out. "On these we serve meat, bread, fruit, butter or oleo and milk. Of course the meal may be served without milk, but on the lunches we serve with milk the school is reimbursed 7 cents by the government and on the ones without milk only 5 cents is coming back."

Attesting to the food which the children get at the local lunch room, Superintendent Arthur said, "They serve the best prepared, attractive and well balanced meals I have ever seen put out in a school cafeteria."

Mrs. Pierce is aided in the preparation of the food by five efficient cooks. They include Mrs. E. E. Cass, vegetable cook who has two years experience in lunch rooms; Mrs. Carl Hughes, dessert cook, two years; Mrs. E. M. Mills, main dish cook, one year; Mrs. Irene Smith, salad maker, first year at Post; and Mrs. Carter White, rolls and general helper, first year here. They are also aided by Nora Bruton, a high school girl, for two hours per day.

In explaining the operation of the lunch room, the food, the hours and the duties of the lunch-room workers, Mrs. Pierce also emphasized the three main purposes of the lunch room. They are, (1) to furnish children a balanced meal once a day, (2) to serve as a laboratory for teachers, and (3) to use surplus commodities. As for the last purpose, the government sends in a varying amount of surplus commodities each month. Officials also suggest what other commodities are abundant each month.

The lunch room is entering its first full year of operation in its new $33,500 brick building. Although the lunchroom was moved to the new building during the last two months of school term much of the equipment is being used now for the first time. More than $2,000 worth of equipment has been installed in the kitchen this summer.

The kitchen space is approximately 30 by 21 feet and is one of the most modern anywhere. Installed are a new 6 burner dry heat food serving table, two new laminated work tables, one new baking table, new Hobart 4 gallon mix-master, a new table to hold dishes in washing room. Also new are a vegetable cutter and an electric potato peeler.

A 10 burner double oven stove has been used for sometime, as has the huge frigidaire which was donated by the PTA, but the three oven bake oven is newly installed. The kitchen also has a refrigeration room about 6 x 10 x 8 in which all fruits and vegetables are stored. The store-room is 6 by 10 with approximately 150 feet of shelf space for goods.

All of the cabinets in the kitchen are old. Ventilation is by a huge 36 inch exhaust fan in the rear of the building. In the wash room the dishes are put through a sanitary cleaning process before they are ready to go back on the table. They go through two suds and one scalding vat in which chemicals are also used in addition to the hot water. Pierce says that a new water softener has recently been installed and will cut down on the use of soap tremendously. Hot water is furnished by an 85-gallon water heater.

In the dining room, which is about 40 by 80 feet, there are 16 tables which will seat eight persons. The children go through the line for their meal and then take their trays and bottles back to the wash room.

According to Pierce several school children work in the lunch room for their meals. Two work on the ice cream stand (where the children may buy ice cream, pop cycles, etc. if they wish), the milk table and in the wash room.

A schedule has been worked out

Postex Exhibit

Sample number nine in the Postex Cotton Mill educational exhibit will probably draw the interest of many people. This will be a narrow pillowcase weaving loom in full action. Mill personnel will pull the loom this weekend, paint it and haul it to the fairgrounds Saturday or Sunday.

Following the loom will be samples of woven cloth that have been taken from the loom and called grey goods; the reason for the name being because it hasn't been bleached.

Samples of cloth that have been treated in caustic soda next meet the eyes of the viewer as he travels through the simulated mill. And from there he goes to a sample that has been treated with both caustic soda and then bleached with hydrogen peroxide.

Section 3 of this impressive exhibit shows viewers the starched and finished sheeting cloth and the final sample will show them attractively displayed Garza sheets and pillowcases.

Ward said Tuesday that he hopes to have at the end of the exhibit a miniature model mill, about four feet long, three feet wide and three feet high and drawn to the exact plans of the Postex Cotton Mill here. This mill is supposed, when working, to take a load of cotton through one end and bring it out the other a completed piece of material.

But Ward is uncertain about the running condition of the model. He is working on it and hopes that it will be in running condition by Monday. But whether it will run or not, it will be on display at the South Plains fair.

Assistance from all sides has been made in gathering and preparing this educational exhibit which has the full blessing of Manager O. G. Murphy.

Main workers include George Tillman, who is in charge of power arrangements and moving of loom and miniature mill; Walt Watt, weaving room overseer, who is in charge of the loom; Vachel Anderson, responsible for all cloth samples, finished, grey and sheets and pillowcases.

Buster Shumard, Wilburn Warren, Johnny Thompson, who are all responsible for mill samples and setting up equipment.

Division winners in the 4-H girls exhibits were: Wynce Lobban, arts and handicrafts and clothing; Norma Ritchie, needlework; Sue Stephens, canning and baking and gardening. Division winners were based on the number of points won in placing exhibits, five points for first, four for second and three for third.

A total of 45 first place ribbons were awarded in the Home Demonstration exhibits. These were divided thusly, Mrs. C. M. Voss, 12; Mrs. Barton, eight; Mrs. Peel, six; Mrs. J. W. Long, seven; Mrs. Byron Haynie, three; Mrs. Bill Norman, three; Mrs. Floyd Hodges, two; Mrs. J. C. Fumagalli, two; and Mrs. Hardie Smith, one.

Judges for the girls and women exhibits were Miss Clara Pratt, Lubbock County HD agent; Miss Mable Manley, Cochran county HD agent; Mrs. Aubrey Russell, district agent; and Mrs. Jackie Wathers, Post teacher. In the livestock exhibits Fred Boren, member of the Texas Tech animal husbandry department, and Bill Griffin, Lynn county agent, were judges.

Fair Winners

She was followed closely by Mrs. L. H. Peel, Post, with 46 points. Rules in this division stated an exhibitor must enter an exhibit in every division to be able to win top honors.

The Post Dispatch

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1951

SECTION TWO

Levelland To Be Heaviest Team To Face Post During The 1951 Season

A battered and injury hampered Antelope team will take the field against one of its most formidable opponents tomorrow night when the starting whistle opens the Post-Levelland game at 8 p. m.

But stinging from the 14-12 defeat handed them last Friday by Littlefield, the Antelopes are determined to bat a few ears down for the massive Lobos before the game is over.

Several of the key players are suffering from minor injuries, but Coach Bingham is hoping they will be in shape to play tomorrow night. Otherwise the team

Lobos Boast A Massive Backfield

When the Levelland Lobos take the field against the Antelopes here Friday night Post football fans will be seeing a phenomenon of the game so to speak. For every one of Coach Truett Rattan's starting backfield men are converted linemen.

Not only that but his mainstay, Langford Sneed, who played as first string tackle last year, is a leading candidate for the All-state honors. Other converted linemen are LaVon McAuley, former tackle; Ronnie Leatherman, former end; and Harold Phelan, former guard.

With this massive backfield, averaging a heavy 175 pounds per man, Rattan has won two out of three games so far this season. The only defeat has come at the hands of Seminole.

Like any coach, Rattan naturally moans about his team but perks up a little when he describes the line. He says his defensive line is a little weak, but should beat his offense, so the correct conclusion would be he has a heck of a line.

Sneed has been the hot shot in the scoring department this year and will be the man for the Antelopes to watch. Last Friday night he scored seven points against Hereford and in the other two games hit pay dirt several times. Other standouts in the scoring department are McAuley and Phelan both of whom scored against the opposing teams.

School Day For Post Children Set At Fair

Officials of the Panhandle-South Plains fair have set aside two days during fair week as School Days, with the children of Post schools being listed on the first day.

School day for Post children has been set for next Wednesday and tickets to the fairgrounds have already been distributed to children in the Post system.

Although school will not be turned out for the day many children from Post will undoubtedly attend the fair on that day.

Extent of the wound is not known. Sgt. Harper has been in Korea approximately 14 months, except for a month leave in Japan. He has been in the Army since 1948 and went to Japan in early 1949.

TO GIN WITH US THIS FALL

Throughout the years we have had only one thought in mind... that of giving cotton growers the best possible ginning service, extracting the most lint from every bale you bring to us, and leaving it in condition to demand the highest possible price on the market.

To this end we have completely modernized our Post plant in the past two years. Every piece of worn machinery has been replaced and the latest PROVEN devices for improving the QUALITY of your cotton has been added.

Recently we converted the gin to an all-electric power system.

Those who ginned with us last year know that they received the MAXIMUM amount of lint cotton and the HIGHEST QUALITY from every bale brought to us, regardless of whether it was early pulled cotton or the "bollies" that were machine-pulled at the end of the season.

We only ask the chance to prove to you that we know how to gin cotton, and that we have the equipment to do it with. We believe you will be satisfied, too, if you will give us a trial.

Movie of the Week

IT'S MOVIE TIME IN TEXAS, and Sunday and Monday the Tower theater follows that theme in bringing Post and Garza county movie fans the top comedy hit of the year, "That's My Boy."

Starring that increasingly popular comedy team of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, "That's My Boy" sends them to college, turns the college upside down with riotous capers, turn football into a wacky game and provides the movie fans a million dollars worth of entertainment.

You'll roar at Jerry Lewis in a football uniform, you'll want to help him when he is in love and above all you'll want to see Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis in "That's My Boy" showing at the Tower Sunday and Monday.

Another show scheduled for next week that movie fans will undoubtedly want to see is Tuesday night's attraction, "The Guy Who Came Back." This picture is the story of a once-great sports figure who refused to be a has-been. Played by Paul Douglas, the part comes to life on the screen. Douglas is ably assisted by Joan Bennett and Linda Darnell. Remember, "The Guy Who Came Back" shows at the Tower.

County Agriculture Booth
Contain Approximately 25 Items

Southland News
Send News Not Later

MRS. FLOY KING
Southland Correspondent

County Agent Lewis Herron announced Tuesday that Garza county will have an agriculture booth at the Panhandle South Plains Fair again this year. He has already begun work on collecting the various samples of Garza county agriculture which will be displayed at the fair throughout next week in an attractive booth display.

Herron says he plans to work up a booth containing approximately 25 displays of county products. These will probably include: 20 open bolls of cotton, one pound of lint, 10 heads of kafir corn, 10 heads maize, one each of wheat, oats, barley, rye, and maize, kafir corn, higera and sudan.

One bale of alfalfa and one bale of sudan; one gallon each of cowpeas, blackeye peas, pin-to beans, beans of other varieties, winter peas and one bundle of sudan; watermelon, pumpkin, six onions, 3 winter squash, six bell peppers, cashew and six hot peppers; two quarts canned vegetables and two quarts canned fruit.

It has not been definitely decided that the above listed items will go toward making up the display, but most of them will probably be included. Anyone who has any fine samples of any of the items listed above should contact Lewis Herron immediately, for he wishes to have the booth set up by Sunday.

This county exhibit will make three separate displays to be included in the Panhandle South Plains fair from Garza county. In fact the county will be one of the best represented counties at the fair with this exhibit, the FFA exhibit and the Postex Cotton Mill educational exhibit.
