By JIM CORNISH

Garza's big Oil Centennial Week certainly the biggest one ever from every standpoint — comes up every week and before the week is over everybody should appreciate every oil industry a whole lot. Especially after filling up on barbecue beef at the football game on Saturday night.

With the parade, free barbecue for 2,500 folks, high school contests and essay displays, the oil men are doing a commendable job of little public education on the subject of oil. They've worked at a difficult job and come through with a real "week".

Make plans to see the window displays, the parade, and eat fill of barbecue next week—while we're doing it let's try to get a little better acquainted with all these fine oil folks who are putting on the show. They are neighbors and most of them are citizens. Together we can make Post a much better in which to live.

As mentioned in the Dispatch as we mentioned in the Oil Centennial Week edition next week providing there is enough staff to do the extra work done. It will be one way for folks to say "thank you" to the folks who are hereabouts.

Mrs. Bob Smith named county's new HD agent

Mrs. Bob Smith has been selected by the county commissioners' court as Garza County's new home demonstration agent.

The Post woman, a former teacher and a Texas Tech graduate, will assume her new duties Monday, Oct. 26. She will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Jessie Pearce Oct. 1.

Mrs. Smith was approved by the extension department of Texas A&M and recommended by that agency to the county commissioners' court for the position.

The wife of the assistant manager at Herring's, Mrs. Smith lives at 802 West Fourth. She was graduated from Texas Tech in 1957 with a home economics education major and taught home economics one year at Spur before coming to Post to teach gym and arts/crafts one year here.

She is a native of Rotan, from where she was graduated from the Rotan High School in 1953.

Plan for water line rejected

Purchase by the city water department of the Gulf Oil filling station and office next to City Hall for approximately $12,500 was ratified by the city council at a special meeting Monday night.

The council at the same meeting turned down a proposition by developers of a proposed residential tract beyond the new city limits north of US-84 for the financing of water extensions to the area.

Mayor Powell Shytles said the purchase of the property—lots 1 and 2 of block 90 less the south 35 feet—from Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Roberts of Ringling, Okla., will enable the water department to acquire with its own funds badly needed office space of its own.

He indicated a drive-in window for bill payment is being considered for the station portion of the property although no architectural plans have been made for conversion.

The city is expected to take possession on or before Jan. 1, 1960. Lester Nichols with his Gulf Wholesale office occupies the office space. The adjoining service station is now vacant.

The city has been negotiating for the purchase for the last several months. The money to buy the property comes from water department revenues, not tax funds, the council indicated.

The city also has an option to purchase the General Telephone building on the alley behind the newly purchased property whenever the utility firm offers it for sale after the dial phone conversion late next year. The option price is $8,400.

The proposal on financing water extensions to a 56-acre tract owned by Sid and Edsel Cross and E. R. Moreland beyond the city limits on US-84 was offered to the council by Attorney Pat Walker.

Walker proposed that the city put in the necessary water main to the new city limits and that the developers pay cash for the cost of a water line from that point to their proposed residential development.

Home site buyers in the new development would then be issued their proportionate cost of this water line extension and these certificates would be redeemable by See CITY WATER, Page 8

County pays $3,000 fire protection

The county commissioners' court voted at their regular October session Monday to pay the Post volunteer fire department $3,000 for rural fire protection for the year 1959.

This is the same amount as paid by the county last year.

The court also authorized payment of $4,053.09 to Pritchard and Abbott for evaluating oil, gas, and industrial properties for the county.

In another action, the court appointed Ray Smith to serve as the court's commissioner in the sale of 298 acres of land in Bailey County, this belonging to the county. This is formerly school land and funds from the sale will go to the county school fund.

Smith said he will advertise next week in The Dispatch for sale of the land, giving description and details.

Fireman next door gives

Fast service

Mrs. A. W. Bouchier, 109 North Avenue P, got some quick personal service when she called the fire department Monday night.

A curtain caught afire and Mrs. Bouchier turned in the alarm. When Ben Brewer, who lives next door to Mrs. Bouchier, heard the siren he got the location of the fire by phone, ran next door and extinguished it with a bucket of water, before the fire truck arrived.

Rites are held Wednesday for Mrs. T. O. Bowen

Last rites were held Wednesday at 4:30 p. m. for Mrs. T. O. Bowen, 112 West 3rd Street, longtime Garza County resident who died early Tuesday following an illness of several weeks.

Services were held at the Calvary Baptist Church with the Rev. Graydon Howell, pastor, officiating. The church choir sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

Mrs. Bowen was born May 12, 1875, in Hill County near Hillsboro. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. H. James.

On July 14, 1896, Miss Minnie Lee James was married to Thomas O. Bowen in Young County. They lived there until 1914 when they moved to Post and farmed on the Plains. She had been a member of the Baptist Church since she was 17 years old.

Preceded in death by her husband who died in March, 1926, and one daughter and three sons, Mrs. Bowen is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Ella Dye, Mrs. Lela Par-rack and Mrs. Vera Ferguson, all of Post; three sons, Claude A. Bowen of Odessa, Bill Bowen of Lubbock and Tom Bowen of Post. See BOWEN RITES, Page 8

Law enforcement proposals made

Mayor Powell Shytles appeared before the county commissioners' court Monday afternoon with a proposal for joint action to boost nighttime law enforcement here, but no action on it was taken by the court.

The Post mayor proposed that if the county would provide for round-the-clock operation of the sheriff's department radio (adding a night operator), the city would put on a night patrolman.

Whether the city will go ahead with putting on a night patrolman without the advantage of the sheriff's radio operation to keep such an officer in close touch with the public is problematical.

Post has had no nighttime law enforcement on a regular basis for many months.

County Judge J. E. Parker said yesterday that a real effort is being made to secure stationing of a highway patrol officer here but that due to personnel shortages in the highway patrol that possibility appears at least six months away.

Commented Sheriff Carl Rains wearily yesterday, "We need help, but it doesn't look as if we're going to get any."

2,500 expected for big Oil Centennial Week barbecue

Between 2,000 and 2,500 Garza Countyans—either oil folks or their guests—are expected to eat some 1,000 pounds of good barbecued beef Saturday night, Oct. 24, at the Antelope football stadium to climax Garza County's oil centennial week.

The barbecue, which will get under way about 4:30 p. m., will follow what is billed as "the longest parade in the town's history" at 3 p. m. that same afternoon.

The parade and the barbecue will be the major highlights of the oil centennial week sponsored by the Garza Oil Centennial Association, a special organization of Garza County oil and oil service men and firms.

David Newby, centennial oil week chairman, urged everyone to "see your favorite oil man or oil service man" to get free tickets to the barbecue.

Newby said between 2,000 and 2,500 tickets will be distributed.

Members of the Post Chamber of Commerce and their families will be special guests of the centennial association for the barbecue and are requested to secure their tick-

Mrs. Irene Rodgers will head Public Housing survey

Mrs. Irene Rodgers has been placed in charge of conducting a housing survey in Post, probably early in December, to determine how many Public Housing Authority rental units are needed here.

Post's five-man Public Housing Authority at a meeting Tuesday afternoon selected Mrs. Rodgers to conduct the survey.

W. W. Collins, regional economist of the Fort Worth regional office of the Public Housing Authority has advised the local housing authority board, that the regional office will make a $5,000 preliminary loan contract to the Post Housing Authority to conduct the survey and complete other preliminary planning for the project.

The survey will "determine more precisely the number of low-rent units needed in Post and their distribution by race and by size." See MRS. RODGERS, Page 4

Big carnival planned

Parents of Post high school seniors are planning "the biggest and best" Halloween Carnival that Post has ever had as a means of raising funds for the senior trip which parents will sponsor next spring.

Tentative plans call for a coronation of a Harvest Carnival Queen in the grade school auditorium, the carnival itself to be held in the 4-H building south of the city, and then a special Harvest Ball at Teen Town.

Fifteen mothers, headed by Mrs. James Stone and Mrs. Elva Peel, met Wednesday afternoon to get the big carnival plans rolling. They announced it will take the help of every mother of the class to make the carnival a success and expressed confidence that they will receive full cooperation.

High school classes Monday elected their nominees for the carnival king and queen.

Senior nominees are Karen Poita escorted by Glendon Washburn; juniors, Denise Eubanks; sophomores, Melinda Newby; freshman, ets in advance at the Chamber of Commerce office.

While almost everybody will be guests of the oil folks for the barbecue, it was emphasized that it will be necessary to have a ticket to the feed.

Mayor Powell Shytles by proclamation has declared the week of Oct. 19-24th to be Garza County Oil Centennial Week in Post and Commerce office.

While almost everybody will be residents of this community to the contributions made to their health, prosperity and security by members of the American oil industry, as well as to that industry's support of freedom, democracy, competitive enterprise, and other rights.

Expanded program seen here as— Girl Scout Council okays Garza entry

The Caprock Girl Scout Council will accept the Garza County Girl Scouts into its organization without requiring either the ownership of the Post Girl Scout hut or local scouting equipment.

What's more any funds in the Girl Scouts' account here will remain with the Garza County scouting organization.

It seems that the points which have been cited as blocking the entrance of the Garza County Girl Scouts into the 10-county Caprock Council were simply "all a misunderstanding."

All the the Caprock Council will require is that the Garza organization pay so much per Girl Scout each year into the Council organization to help defray operational costs of that organization which will provide training for Girl Scout leaders and general supervision over the Scouting program.

At a meeting with the council's executive committee in Lubbock Monday night, a delegation of six Post people interested in Girl Scouting was told that the council would be glad to have them in the organization and would send a "trainer" to Post to help reorganize the Girl Scouting program in Garza County and secure and train Girl Scout leaders.

The Garza women were asked to meet with the council's financial committee Monday night, Oct. 26, at which time the amount the Garza organization would be asked to pay into the Caprock Council budget would be set.

It is expected to be in the neigh-hood of $1,000.

Post at the present time has no Girl Scout or Brownie troops in operation although the town's only active troop is expected to begin fall activities shortly.

Rites are pending for Mrs. Dixon

Funeral services are pending at Hudman Funeral Home for Mrs. Mattie Mae Dixon, 66, who died early today at her home, 109 West Fifth Street.

Mrs. Dixon had been in ill health for some time. She became critically ill Wednesday.

She was married to J. W. Dixon July 16, 1920, in Portales, N. M., and moved to Post 16 years ago.

Mrs. Dixon is survived by her husband; four daughters, Mrs. J. A. Cole and Mrs. R. G. Hodges, both of Slaton, Mrs. Alan Warren of Post and Mrs. Ben Petty of Lipan; one son, Billy C. Dixon, of Post; and 17 grandchildren.

She is also survived by five sisters, Mrs. P. M. Davis, Mrs. T. J. Sterling and Mrs. A. E. Miller, all of Snyder, and Mrs. M. E. Bishop and Mrs. C. R. Bishop, both of Falls, and two brothers, E. V. Wroewer of San Angelo and E. E. Wroewer of Snyder.

20 CLUB CALVES SHOWN AT FAIR

There are the 20 calves exhibited Saturday in the Garza Fair and their club member owners. The calves all "prime" or "choice," with no grand champion being exhibited. Eighteen of these club animals are to be exhibited next week in the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, with the calves to be loaded out Sunday afternoon at the rodeo grounds for the trip to Big D.

Two newspaper principles reaffirmed

Today starts National Newspaper Week. This is one "week" which begins on Thursday—probably to give the nation's weekly press the opportunity to get it off the ground with vim, vigor and enthusiasm.

Newspapers generally, like a lot of other businesses and professions, have simply lousy public relations. Most of it is our own fault. But we don't want to delve into that here.

What we want to emphasize this "week" is to reaffirm two of the guiding principles of The Dispatch.

First, we believe a newspaper serves best by giving its readers the facts—the truth as that newspaper can find it. Second, we believe a newspaper's editorial voice should be raised on public issues to stimulate thought on these issues. These two principles seem simple enough. But you'd be surprised as to how confusing they oftentimes can become in practical application.

Whenever pressures are applied to a newspaper over news it is virtually always to keep something out of the paper, not to see that it gets in, or to hinder the newspaper from finding the truth. They are applied frequently and in many ways, all the way from polite suggestions to overlook something to threats if we don't. As to the hindrance with news gathering, the reader would be agast if they were told all the things that go on sometimes when the hometown paper tries to get the story. We're not speaking just of The Dispatch, but any newspaper. But they happen here to us, just as they happen daily elsewhere.

We want people to understand that we are trying to print the facts because we think it is important—important not to us, but to the community which this newspaper serves.

A newspaper which tries to "get along" with everybody just to be "getting along" defeats its own purpose, because in the end it isn't much of a newspaper and has no one's respect or confidence. And therefore it fails to properly serve its community.

As to the second principle—that of raising the "editorial voice"—we want to emphasize the point again that in raising that voice we try to base this newspaper's opinions on the facts as they are available and to take a stand which we believe to be for the community's best interest.

No, we're the first to admit we're not always right and won't always be right in the future. But we will promise that we will say what we think needs to be said on the subject at hand.

The good that comes basically from the "editorial voice" is the stimulation it gives to our readers' collective thinking on the subject. Right or wrong as a newspaper on any editorial topic, we believe the American public in the long run will come up with the right answer if challenged to reach a conclusion.

It sometimes isn't popular to print the news or to raise an editorial voice. But any newsman worth his salt doesn't seek popularity.

If he has a high goal, it is for his readers to respect his newspaper. That, in a nutshell, wraps up all our own personal ambitions for The Dispatch.—JC

Let's 'unblock' Main Street crossing

Something needs to be done about Santa Fe freight trains blocking the Main Street crossing here—not to mention it's a U. S. highway to boot—for up to 30 minutes at a time.

At long last, we're pleased to report a complaint has been lodged with the county attorney and he is now looking into the matter. (We know about the complaint because we lodged it.)

We're sorry to say that there is no state law forbidding such harassing activities on the part of railroads against motorists in general.

Some states have such laws.

Up to now, the only recourse has been for harassed motorists, after ruining their dispositions for the rest of the day, to try to drive around the freight train either via the mill road crossing or the Rails highway cutoff crossing.

Of course some things could be done—say by the city council passing an ordinance on the subject. Some cities have regulated the speed of freight trains through their corporate limits and have even handed speeding tickets to the engineers of trains which zipped through at a pace above that set forth in the city ordinance.

Offhand, we don't know if our city council has the authority to take drastic steps—like standing up for John Q. Public—and forbidding the railroad to block crossings for long periods of time. Maybe the council can, and maybe it can't.

But it shouldn't be necessary.

Railroads these days well need all the good public relations they can get. They are regulated by the Interstate Commerce Commission and they have a tough time getting the freedom to act as they would like to do to do battle with their truck competition.

In a world of rising costs, the railroads are having a harder and harder time showing an annual profit. And when it can't make a profit, eventually that railroad will go out of business.

But getting back to the public relations angle, The Santa Fe can throw away all their good public relations in just 30 minutes to the irate motorists who have to wait impatiently in line while one freight train blocks the Main Street crossing waiting for an approaching passenger or freight. Cutting the waiting freight to open the crossing shouldn't cost too much. The train crew is being paid to sit and wait anyway.

And it would mean a whole lot in improved public relations for the Santa Fe.—JC

John Q needs to get wise

There is one major issue in the current steel strike the public is prone to overlook—and it's an issue which vitally concerns the public more than anybody else involved.

The whole principle today of a nationwide strike is to force the public to put pressure on the companies involved to "settle" with the unions so that production can be resumed.

The steel strike has gone along quietly for almost three months because up to this point it has not greatly affected the public. The steel companies were shutdown and thus were losing money instead of making profits. The union members weren't drawing any wages, so they were suffering, too. But due to a big stockpile of steel, the public for a long time didn't suffer.

Well, it will soon. If the strike were to be permitted by the government to continue, within a matter of days now all the auto plants would be shut down. The stockpile of steel has been virtually exhausted.

Voter deserves his privacy

An important election year soon will be coming up and local voters will be trooping to the polls several times to select candidates and decide issues.

So this is the best time we know to make a suggestion which we only hope will produce one badly needed improvement locally for 1960—voting booths.

A local voter should have the opportunity to vote his convictions in privacy. This is supposed to be. It's part of our great American heritage—the secret ballot.

Well, we really don't have a secret ballot in Texas. But that's not the point we want to argue here. We can have some voting privacy in Post.

The argument in the past against voting booths, as we remember, is simply the cost. Well, if the citizen has to pay a poll tax to vote, he or she should get a private ballot at least for his money.

If there are some good arguments against voting booths, The Dispatch will be most happy to print them. If there aren't, why not build some voting booths?

Trying to vote on the front counter at City Hall or on a library table raises two problems. It's hard to keep your mind on your voting and your neighbor's mind off of it.—JC

What our contemporaries are saying

Socrates was a Greek philosopher who went around giving good advice. They killed him.—The Andrews County News.

The City of Spur is again due congratulations for winning an award for their system of financial records. The City is often viewed in an unfair light because of their monthly bills, and then the tax notices that come in October. But the City is again taken for granted concerning paving and street upkeep, and other municipal improvement projects. Running a city the size of Spur is a big business and often a thankless job.—The Texas Spur.

Editor Don Robinson of The American Press

observes: "Having kept up fairly well with the so-called progress of our educational system in small-town America, as reported in country newspapers, I am becoming increasingly convinced that all the fancy school buildings, the demands for more and more extra-curricular facilities, the unimaginative requirements for teachers, and the insistence upon higher education for all nit-wits, has resulted in little progress. In my opinion, a group of fifteen or twenty children, gathered together in a small building for the sole purpose of learning, and taught by a teacher who is more concerned with their welfare than with her own, would still get a much finer education than is available in our present million-dollar monuments to learning."

Perhaps by the time you read this the Department of Agriculture will have made known its plans for the 1960 cotton crop . . . if not, it shouldn't be long in announcing what "B" farmers can expect in the way of acreage . . . guesses are that they'll be allowed about the same amount of acreage in 1960 as this year . . . however, there is a move on to skip the provisions of the law for 1960 and move immediately into the provisions for 1961 . . . it is assumed this would mean support of cotton at 70 per cent of parity (but the Secretary of Agriculture could set the support at a higher figure) with parity based on the average grade and staple of the crop rather than on Middling 7-8 inch . . . there would be no choice system . . . minimum CCC resale price would be 115 per cent of the loan . . . nothing official on this, you understand.

While we are on the subject of legislation . . . reports that farmers will be able to lease their cotton allotments next season don't seem to be so . . . there were reports that some legislation passed with this provision, but we can't find any record of it . . . nor can we get any official statement to that effect . . . what may have happened is that when the provision was not contained in P. L. 172, it may have been tacked to some other measure and actually passed . . . but we can't get the people who should know to say so . . . we'll let you know when we find out.

Strike Hurts

At this writing the dock strike is certainly hurting cotton . . . not just hurting cotton merchants, but cotton in general . . . this is one of the many risks that the merchants take . . . risks that the public seldom thinks about . . . and many of the merchants are caught with cotton on the docks or delivery commitments that they can not meet . . . but also to be considered is the fact that foreign mills, unable to get delivery of U. S. cotton, are turning to foreign growths and all the time carrying charges are piling up.

Changes Made

As we predicted some changes have been made in cotton marketing regulations to ease some of the pain of red tape in the current program . . . plenty of red tape remains, however.

Big contingent planned for 1960 Scout Jamboree

Plans to organize a contingent of 300 Boy Scouts, Explorers, and adult leaders to attend the National Jamboree at Colorado Springs in July, 1960, were announced today by the South Plains Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The appointment of the council's jamboree committee headed by Thomas, of Rails, was announced today by John Lott of the South Plains Council.

The National Jamboree will provide a wonderful opportunity for 50,000 boys and leaders. Lott said "for an unforgettable experience in camping, group living, and learning to know and love our nation."

The Jamboree Camp will comprise 2,000 acres of the ranch of Mrs. R. E. Johnson and located opposite the Air Force Academy. The Scouts will be camped "a mile high" within the Pikes Peak National Park.

The jamboree contingent is open to any Boy Scout who will be at least twelve years of age next Jan. 1 and to any Explorer who has three months tenure or more by July 15, 1960. Application forms will be available at the office of the South Plains Council, Thomas said.

Broiler placements are decreasing in Texas

COLLEGE STATION — United States broiler placements have assumed a continuous downward trend since mid-June of 1959. However, this trend has closely paralleled placements during the same period in 1958. Total placements for the first eight months in 1959 were greater than for the same period in 1958.

Texas placements of broiler chicks have been greater for only a few weeks during 1959 when compared with the same periods in 1958, according to Marshall Miller, associate extension poultry market specialist. A rather pronounced decrease in total placements so far this year in Texas is taking place, he added.

Miller noted that Texas broiler prices so far in 1959 have ranged well below prices paid in 1958. Also, the average weekly price paid in 1959 has been less than the corresponding week in 1958 for every week so far this year.

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE TEXAS ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE.

(Editor's Note: Attorney General Will Wilson went to Washington Oct. 12 to fight another border battle for Texas when the tidelands case will be heard before the U. S. Supreme Court. This is the first in a series of articles outlining the numerous boundary conflicts dating back to 1716, pointing up little known facts which shaped the Texas of today.)

The following is released as a public information service by the Attorney General's Department.)

The Texas boundary line stretches over some 4,000 miles and a sizeable portion of it has been forged and tempered in the fiery heat of conflict.

Attorney General Will Wilson is in one of these battles now with the Texas tidelands issue before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Since 1716 to this good day its location has been fought over.

The Attorney General, a dedicated Texas historian, looks at the overall picture.

"The cold facts are, regardless of motive, that down through the years there has been a fierce battle attempted on our territory," Wilson says.

"THE WORST and most tenacious of these land biters has been the federal government."

The first conflict arose along the East Texas-Louisiana line between the kingdoms of Spain and France in 1716.

Both nations claimed the Texas area. Each had military forces ready to take action.

While the diplomats wrangled overseas, the French and Spanish on the spot settled the dispute. They agreed on the Arroyo Hondo, a tributary of the Red River between the Sabine and Old Natchitoches.

THEN, IN 1803, the United States bought the Louisiana territory hazy as to the extent of land involved.

President Thomas Jefferson claimed the Rio Grande as the western boundary.

Spain contended it did not extend west of Los Adaes, a Spanish mission on the site of present day

'High School Day' at Westex State set for Saturday

CANYON — High school students from over the Panhandle and South Plains have been invited to be guests of West Texas State College for 'High School Day' Oct. 17.

Highlight of the day, first to be held here at WT for many years, will be the football game between the West Texas State Buffaloes and Mississippi Southern in the new 20,000 seat stadium.

Students attending the special day will be given $3 reserved seats for 50 cents, according to Frank Kimbrough, WT athletic director. The game will be at 8 p. m.

Activities will also include open house tours on the campus, a pep rally preceding the game, dinner in the cafeteria, and a dance in the student union building following the game.

Letters to superintendents throughout the area, with full information about the special day, are being mailed by Dr. Emmitt Smith, coordinator of public services.

Planned for the open house tours are visits to the new fine arts building, library, science building, student union building, museum, church centers, ROTC facilities, and dormitories. Guides for the tours will be students attending WT from the visitors home towns.

"High School Day" activities will start at 2 p. m., when visitors will gather at the field house. Visiting high school students will be recognized during halftime activities at the football game.

LUBBOCK VISITORS — Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Short and Jimmy Short of Lubbock were weekend guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Short and Janith Jimmy, '59 Post High School graduate, is attending Texas Tech.

til it reached the Red River.

"Congress moved the river running portions of the line eastward to mid-stream with no provision as to what course it would take northward from the Carthage area overland to Red River.

"Consequently there is a strip of land about 150 feet wide and some 70 miles long between Texas and Louisiana that the turn of events has left shadowed with doubt," Wilson points out.

Bible Thoughts

"PRAY FOR OTHERS"

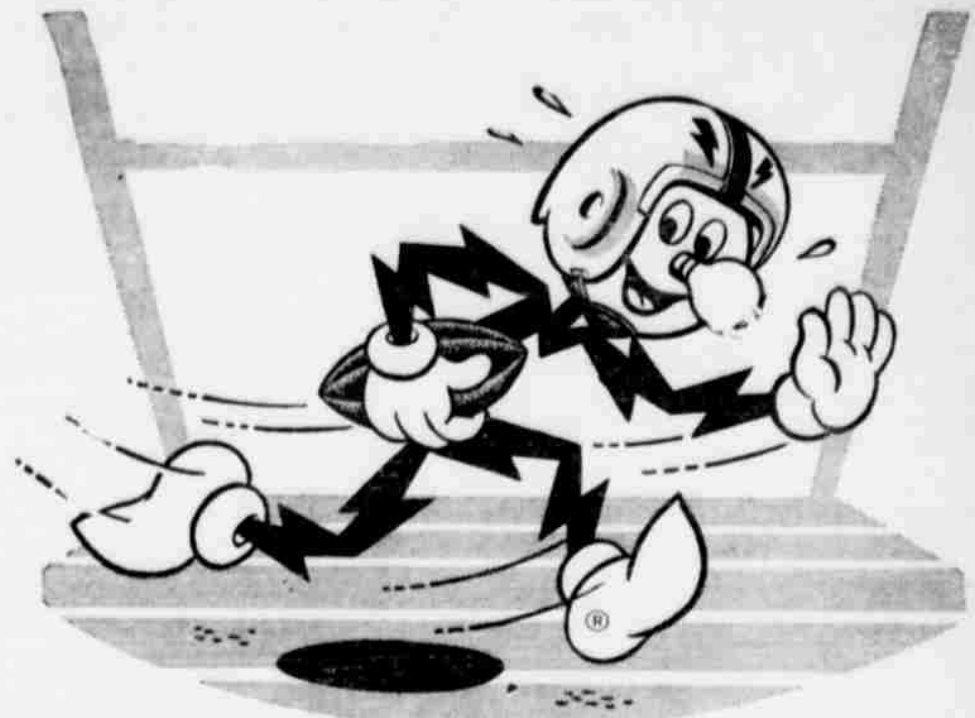

by RONNIE PARKER

Paul's first epistle to Timothy he writes, 'I exhort therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men.' (1 Tim. 2:1). An intercession is simply pleading in the interest of others. The writer of Hebrews teaches us that Jesus "ever liveth to make intercession for them" as he speaks of those who come unto God by Him. (Heb. 7:25). Just as Jesus prays for us, we are to pray for others.

It is altogether too easy in our prayers to think only of ourselves, and send up a personal "want list" much as a child does for Santa Claus. The noblest aspect of prayer is for others. Prayers should be uttered for the rulers, and all men. The sick, lost, broken hearted, even our enemies, need to be prayed for. We must never be too busy to pray. Luther once said: "I am so busy now that I find if I did not spend two or three hours each day in prayer, I could not get through the day."

Pray for others! "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

"Lord, help me live from day to day in such a self-forgetful way that even when I kneel to pray My prayers will be for others."

More than 5,000 youngsters take part in vacation reading club

AUSTIN—More than 5,000 youngsters in the small towns and rural areas of 25 Texas counties participated in the second annual vacation reading club, sponsored by the Rural Library Service of the Texas State Library, according to State Librarian Witt B. Harwell.

Children were required to read 12 books and teenagers 10 in order to qualify for Texas State Library Reading Certificates. Many of them qualified for more than one and will be awarded with a gold star in lieu of another certificate, Harwell said.

A ten-year old boy in Gaines County read 96 books - enough to qualify for his certificate plus seven gold stars, Harwell pointed out, while in Nueces County five children of one family all earned a certificate and at least one star for each.

Books for the "Texas Reading Roundup" were provided by State Library bookmobiles and cooperating public libraries in counties participating in State Library Demonstrations under provisions of the Library Services Act.

"The primary purpose for this phase of rural library service is to stimulate and encourage the reading of all types of books, both for fun and information during vacation months," Harwell declared. "Now that the boys and girls have returned to school I am sure they will benefit through the reading habits they have developed."

Taking part in the reading club were 18 counties presently receiving State bookmobile demonstrations including Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Kent and Dawson, Gaines Terry and Yoakum counties in West Texas; in East Texas, Houston, Liberty, San Jacinto, Trinity and Walker counties, and in the Coastal Bend Area of South Texas, the counties of Jim Wells, Kleberg, Live Oak and Nueces.

Other counties participating in the program included: Hidalgo, Willacy, Llano, Burnet, Grimes, Burleson and Robertson.

Introducing... Our new GIFT CENTER and the Popular New Lanvin Fragrances

Not even considering the big Christmas season just ahead, gift giving the year around has assumed more and more importance in today's living.

That's why we have established a sparkling new GIFT CENTER in our remodeled store—to help you quickly select the gifts you need.

It would be difficult to describe in a few words what you will find in our GIFT CENTER in all price ranges. But we will mention figurines, bookends, "Talk of the Town"—finest in contemporary fwnare, sets of glasses, snack sets, pottery, ash trays, desk lamps and pen pals to name only a few.

Our new fragrance line is LANVIN, which undoubtedly you have heard about repeatedly on Arthur Murray's TV Dancing Party. It is a fine line of perfumes, colognes and bath powders in My Sin, Arpege, and Pretex. We're sure the ladies will want to try them—so that makes them ideal for gift giving, too.

Oh, yes, before we forget we want to tell you that the first arrivals of our huge Christmas toy selections have been put out this week for your inspection.

Our customers are telling us that our remodeled store looks much less crowded and a whole lot roomier than ever before. We're happy to say that's true. But if you haven't noticed, our new fixtures enable us to carry an even larger stock of items for you.

The fixtures are designed to make your shopping easier because almost everything is out where you can easily find it. But if you want something you don't see, just ask. Like Lowell Short down the block keeps saying, "We've probably got it in here somewhere."

100 YEARS AGO

GALVESTON — We have been favored by a friend in this city with a letter from one of Capt. John Stoneman's command who has been ranging on the Pecos and adjacent country extending to New Mexico.

The letter is mailed at Camp Hudson, Sept. 11. No Indians were found, nor any recent Indian signs. From the description of the country, it is a howling waste where neither man nor beast can get subsistence. The writer had just returned from a scout of 500 miles and 2-month duration. The company started from Horse Head Crossing on the Pecos and traveling up the Pecos to the mouth of the Rio Bonita up that stream to the mouth of the Rio Leon; thence to Dog Kinion, thence to Fort Stanton and back through the Gaudaloups to Fort Davis.

McLENNAN — Mr. N. P. Clark has purchased an interest in the Waco Southerner and makes his bow as editor.

HOUSTON — The Crockett Argus is in favor of Judge Reagan for United States Senator.

LEON — The Centerville Herald has changed its name to the Texas Times.

GONZALES — The Gonzales Inquirer learns that there was quite a fire in Prairie Lea, 20 miles above there on the 30th which destroyed the store house of Mr. Josey and all the contents. His loss is estimated at $4,500.

ADVERTISING — WIGS! WIGS! WIGS! Bachelor Wigs and Toupees surpass all.

They are elegant, light, easy and durable. Fitting to a charm — no turning up behind—no shrinking off the head; indeed this is the only establishment where these things are properly understood and made. 233 Broadway, New York.

DEATH OF COL. H. W. SUBLETT

The following extract of a letter dated Austin of the 4th inst., announces the death of a well-known and much esteemed citizen:

"We have no news of interest. Crops of course, are short, but yet, large stocks of goods are arriving daily and no less than three new mercantile establishments are now being opened in our city."

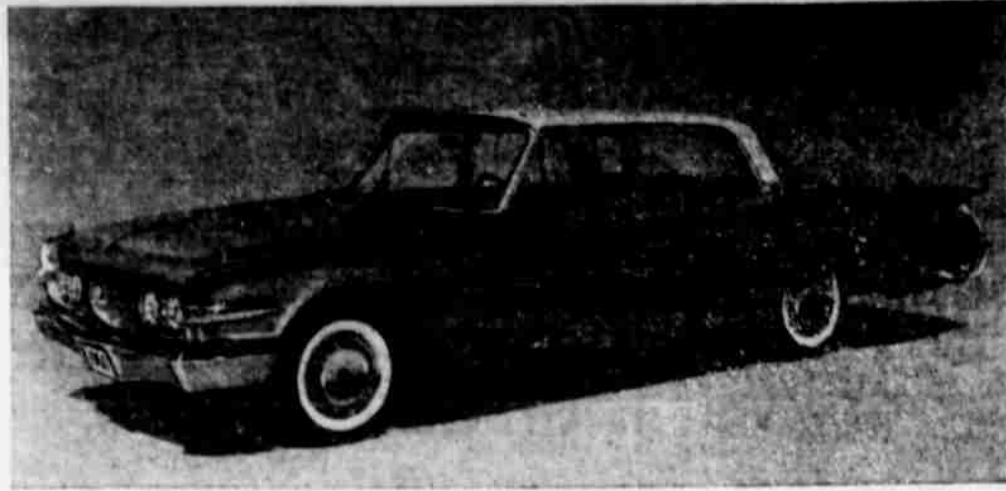

"Col. H. W. Sublett of this city, died last night at 12 o'clock, of congestion of the brain, after a sickness of only twenty-four hours."

Post area man is sentenced to pen

Two men, one of them a resident of Route 2, Post, have been given penitentiary sentences in 196th District Court at Tahoka on pleas of guilty, according to Harold Green, Lynn County attorney.

G. H. Clanton of Post Route 2 was assessed a sentence of four years in the pen on a charge of defrauding by worthless check. He was accused of depositing a $415 worthless check in the Wilson State Bank and of passing other checks against the deposit.

Marvin Lee Brown of Lubbock and Brownfield was sentenced to three years in the pen on a charge of burglary of the D. A. Brown grocery in Wilson on April 1.

ONE OF SEVEN MODELS

Fresh styling and roomy interiors characterize the Edsel for 1960, which went on display today at Storie Motor Co. The Ranger, four-door sedan, above, is one of seven low cost models which also include a two and four-door hardtop, two-door sedan, convertible and two Villager station wagons.

1960 Edsel automobile goes on display here at Storie Motor Co.

The 1960 Edsel, which goes on display today at Storie Motor Co., features completely new styling, a new wide-tread, long-spring ride, and a price that is competitive with top models of the "popular three."

Owner S. C. Storie Jr. and manager Dudley Brown invite everyone to see the 1960 Edsel in their showrooms. There will be favors for visitors.

Edsel's third year on the market represents its third year of distinct appearance changes. It also marks the lowest, widest, most spacious Edsel in the car's history, Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Company vice president and general manager of the Mercury-Edsel-Lincoln Division, said.

"WE BELIEVE THE 1960 Edsel will appeal to those who want a distinctive car at a reasonable price," Mills said. "The discriminating buyer will find the new Edsel gives him excellent quality and value for his money."

The Edsel has been completely redesigned for 1960, and is one inch lower, almost three inches wider and five and a half inches longer than the 1959 model. The tread has been widened by more than two inches at the front wheels and 3.6 inches at the rear to 61 and 60 inches respectively.

Most interior dimensions have been increased for greater passenger comfort. For example, shoulder room has been increased 2.8 inches and 4 inches, front and rear. Hip room is up 1.8 inches in front and 2.4 in the rear seat. And rear seat legroom is 1.2 inches longer.

THE INCREASED tread, together with a lower center of gravity, make the Edsel one of the most road-hugging cars in the industry. Because of this stability, an Edsel would have to be tilted at an angle of 62 degrees or have its outside wheels lifted more than four feet off the pavement for the car to tip over.

Edsels are offered in two series for 1960—the Ranger and Villager. They include the Ranger two and four-door sedans, the two and four-door hardtops, and the convertible, and the Villager six and nine-passenger station wagons. Both wagons are four-door models.

Edsel has a new body for 1960 and the styling changes are more than skin deep. For example, the "dogleg" has been eliminated by moving the windshield post forward 10 inches to allow the driver or front seat passenger to enter and leave the car without hazzarding a bumped knee. Visibility has been increased 17 per cent in the front windshield and 63 per cent in the back window.

THE EDESEL buyer has a choice of three engines and three transmissions, all improved over their 1959 counterparts.

Basic engine for all Edsels is the 292 cubic inch 185 h.p. Ranger V-

8. This engine operates on standard gasoline and incorporates a number of improvements for greater economy.

High performance engine for the Edsel line is the 300 h.p., 352 cubic inch Super Express V-8, which operates best on premium fuel. The extra cost option can be ordered in any Edsel.

"TODOS BIENVENIDOS" (Church located on Northeast side of town on Spur highway)

This lofty treehouse is the "secret hideout" of some boys that very well might live in your neighborhood. They spend many leisure hours here talking of adventures past and adventures planned. We know that they are at the age when being "in the gang" is an important phase of growing up. And yet when we read or hear of a juvenile gang our first thoughts are of the wanton destruction and often terrible violence that a group of young people can do. Rather than condemn them, isn't it our job...our duty...to provide our children with the guidance and facilities to steer their youthful energy into constructive channels. To teach them to build rather than destroy. To show them, by our example, that respect for our fellow man and his possessions is a proud achievement and not something to be ashamed of. And most of all...to give them the knowledge of God. Make God and the Church an important part of family living; for the family that goes to church together...stays together.

© 1959, Coleman Adv. Serv., P. O. Box 4887, Dallas, Texas

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Average harvest is forecast

Garza cotton crop may go over 15,000 bales

Garza County's milo harvest is 70 per cent complete and given a couple of more days of a autumn sunshine like yesterday's the cotton harvest will be in full swing.

A 15,000 bale, maybe a little better, cotton crop is in prospect for the county, which is about average over the years. It doesn't of course compare to the 24,000 bales of last year — the biggest crop in local history.

But the five inch rains of a week or so ago didn't do it much damage except produce some light spot and thus cut the grade.

County Agent Lewis Herron estimated yesterday from a third to a half bale an acre on the dry land with irrigated cotton not yet ready. The irrigated should run a bale to the acre he estimates.

Farmers of course are disappointed as some August rains might have brought another near 24,000 bale year. But the crop is average, despite the rain, in Herron's opinion.

Total bales ginned this fall at the county's gins jumped 766 bales this week to a total of 1,325 to date. That was the way the totals stood Wednesday afternoon.

The Southland gin reported 235 more bales this week for a 353 total with the grade now average to good. C. L. Driver reported cotton fields in that area fairly dry with a few more pullers needed.

The Graham gin has ginned 129 more bales this week for a total of 333 to date, with grades after rain averaging good or better although a few light spots are showing up, probably caused by the rains.

Seventy-nine bales were ginned up to yesterday this week at the Storrie gin for a 166 total. Fields are dry in the area with the grade of the cotton falling since the rain.

Pleasant Valley Gin had ginned 76 more bales this week for a 356 total. Grades were still good, although the rain had affected the cotton some according to T. L. Adams.

At the Close City gin, E. A. Hargrave reported 83 bales ginned this week for a 113 total for season with the rain affecting the grade, but not badly. Grades are looking good, he added.

Fields are in good shape now throughout the county with the gins on a daytime basis of operation with most of the cotton coming from dryland areas.

TO CONVENTION

Jerry Stone (above), son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stone, left Sunday afternoon to attend the National Future Farmers of America Convention in Kansas City, Mo.

and privileges that are part of the proud heritage of this nation."

R. G. (Wilke) Wilkerson and Matt Stelzer are co-chairmen of the barbecue event.

D. C. (Rilly) Hill in charge of the centennial week parade said that two floats, one sponsored by the Southwestern Public Service and the other by the Centennial Association, will be included in the big parade of oil field equipment.

Awards will be made to all band entries, including the Post High School band and junior high band.

The big week will get under way Monday with 20 to 25 oil week displays in downtown windows. Included, according to Jim Baylis, chairman of this division, will be working models of a drilling rig with subsurface structure, of a refinery, a hydraulic down-hole pump, a pumpjack, a display of cones, scale models of W-fishing tools and a cut-away model of a heater-treater.

Souvenir pencils will be distributed to all grade school and junior high students, but the big competition in the schools comes in the high school where ten transistor radios are offered as first prizes in poster and essay contests in the five classes.

Details of the contests were given all high school students Monday. Deadline for the contests is next Monday with prizes to be awarded during a special Oil Centennial Week assembly later during the week.

A centennial oil week program also is planned for the Lions club next Tuesday night.

Carnegie course returns to Post

The world-famous Dale Carnegie course, presented in Post for the first time this summer, is returning to Post it was announced Monday.

Originally the Dale Carnegie course was conducted as a public speaking course only, however, Mr. Carnegie soon realized that what men and women really wanted was human relations and leadership training rather than training to become great orators.

Since the beginning of the training in 1912, over 700,000 men and women have gained self-confidence and increased their poise, polish and personal force in business interviews, church, social, and home contacts.

General Motors Corporation recognized the value of the training in 1949 and since that time have sent over 24,000 of their employees through the course.

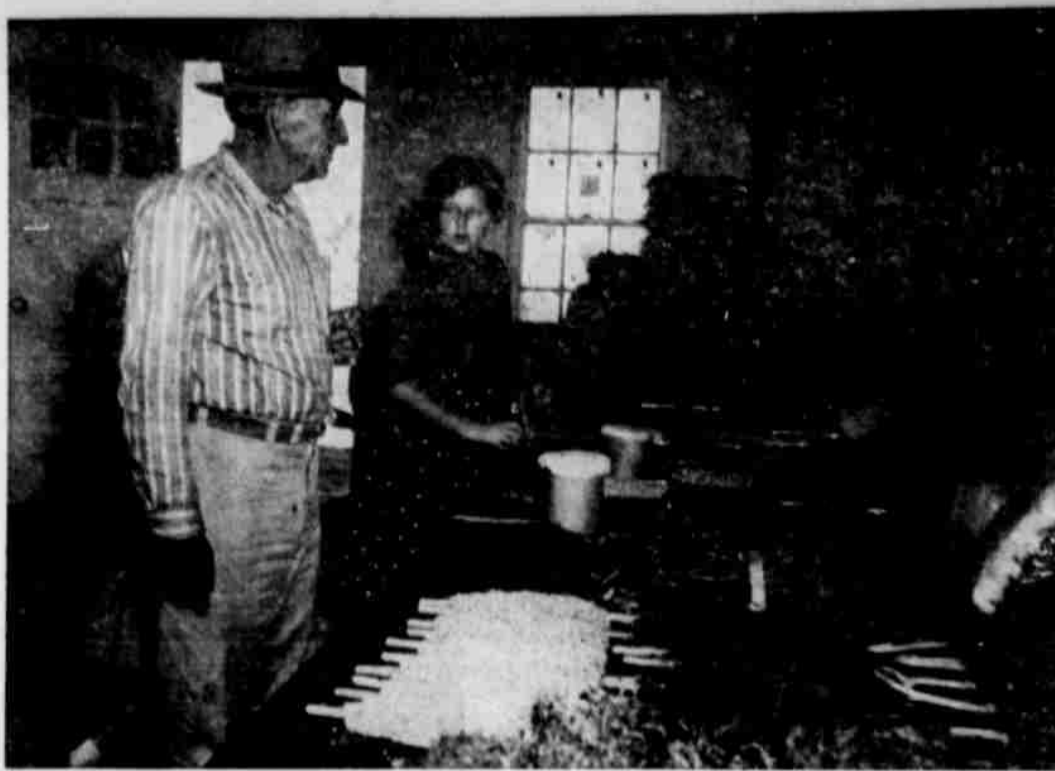

The Tower Grove Baptist Church sponsored the Dale Carnegie course in May of 1959 as a part of its leadership training program. Mack R. Douglas, pastor, writes, "The results of the Carnegie training are seen in self-confidence, the overcoming of fear and anxiety, assurance of leadership potential, tools for memory achievement, and most important, practical christian practices of influencing people."

Many graduates have reported that the memory training alone was worth far more than the cost of the course. Mr. Carnegie realized that all men and women had a better memory than they gave themselves credit for and worked 40 years on ways to develop and increase their memory for names, faces and facts.

One of the most remarkable aspects of the training is the fact that never is a word of criticism spoken in the Carnegie course. Never has a man or a woman been embarrassed in the training. The motto of the sponsor and the staff continues to be "We will not let you fail!"

The Dale Carnegie courses are presented in this area by James E. "Red" Norman and associates, 2702 21st, Lubbock. Joe Hood and Forrest Crowell, who are organizing the class in Post, may be contacted at the Rocket Motel for information.

City water—

the city in water only delivered to the site.

Walker emphasized that the city would not risk any money in the water line development. He said too that the 36 acre tract would be annexed into the city and thus all homes built there would bring tax returns to the city.

Mayor Shyles and councilmen opposed the plan on two counts. First, they said they would not consider the city paying interest "in water" on the certificates. Second, they declared that the city didn't have the necessary funds at this time to make a major water line extension to the new city limits.

It was estimated the cost of an eight inch line — which would be required for 80 homes on the new development—would be $14,000 to take it to the new city limits. The council argued the city would be putting in risk capital because there was no guarantee that the development would be successful. The developers said the water line will be needed anyway.

Several months ago the total cost of the water line to the proposed 36-acre tract from the present tie-in point was put at $35,000, including only the cost of pipe and ditching.

As one councilman expressed it, "They're just crowding us too fast. We're going to have to go out into that new area with a new water line in two or three years, but we're not ready now."

Mayor Shyles emphasized the council did not want to stand in the way of community progress.

The councilmen indicated the certification plan to pay back to site buyers in water the cost in part of the water extension appears to be a fair one, but they would not commit themselves as to how much of the cost of the line they were considering reimbursing with water.

The council did indicate it would be willing to accept the tract into the city and would permit the developers to tie on to present mains if the developers would pay the full cost of the water line extension.

The problem, it appears, is that neither side wants to finance the water line extension across the new city territory at present. The council admits in the future it will have to put some lines out, but says it can't afford to do it now.

Although it probably would be two or three years before many homes would be built on the proposed acreage, the developers can't proceed with financing of the overall project until it has received assurance from the city of a water supply.

Big quail crop may bring early season

AUSTIN — Many Texans may have the opportunity of shooting quail 30 days before the regular open season this year, according to H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

He says he will recommend to the Commission meeting in Austin October 23, that quail season be opened in a number of counties under regulatory authority effective November 1, and extending to January 16. The season under the general laws is December 1 to January 16.

However, reports from over the State indicate a tremendous quail population in some areas this year. Biologists on the ground recognize that there will be a heavy die-off because of lack of food unless many of the birds are harvested. In some of these areas some of the birds already are competing with rodents for food. Many towns in south-west Texas report that quail are coming on to the lawns in the city, looking for grass seed.

Biologists attending public hearings in regulatory areas have all heard the report of the excessive quail population in many counties.

There was a heavy quail population in Texas last year, and the die-off was unusually large because of rodent competition. From all indications, there is a heavier crop of birds this year, and it is the desire of the quail authorities to permit the harvest of these birds wherever possible, according to the executive secretary.

Rotan deals crushing defeat to Antelopes Friday, 56-0

The Post Antelopes, of whom it was said two years ago that there wasn't any way for them to go except up, hit rock-bottom again Friday night at Antelope Stadium.

Rolling up 424 yards—194 on the ground and 230 through the air—the Class A Rotan Yellowhammers defeated a completely outclassed Antelope team, 56 to 0.

The one-sided victory, which saw Yellowhammer reserves playing almost the entire second half, avenged a 31 to 6 defeat handed them by Post last season on the Rotan gridiron.

THE ANTELOPES, whose grid fortunes have gone from bad to worse with the season's progress, were never in the game against Coach Tommy Watkins' Yellowhammers. The Post team didn't make a first down until the fourth quarter, when they were given one on a penalty, and didn't get past the midfield stripe until the final period.

As if the loss of their three lettermen co-captains wasn't enough, the Antelopes were dealt another blow before the game when starting halfback Richard Ray was declared ineligible because of scholastic difficulties, and sophomore Harold Wayne Mason, a promising lineman, was held out because of a hand injury.

With the varsity squad down to about 14 men, Coach Vernard Alexander "brought up" some of the freshmen and other junior varsity gridmen. The fact that most of these youngsters broke into the varsity line-up for the first time was the only bright spot in the picture for Post Friday night.

run, Mayberry headed around end for what appeared to be a good gain, but fumbled, and halfback David Baugh took the ball in mid-air and went nine yards for the second TD. Brittain again tacked on the extra points, making the score 16-0 with 9:34 to go in the first half.

WITH 4:05 TO go, Todd Baugh passed nine yards to Brittain for a touchdown, and halfback Corky Taylor circled end for the extra points.

Mayberry made one of several good kickoff returns following the touchdown, running the ball from the 15 to the Post 48, where he was forced out of bounds by halfback Donald Goodrum.

With the midfield stripe only two yards away, the Antelopes again failed to cross it, winding up back on their 35, from where Rankin booted to the Yellowhammer 34.

After a pass from Todd Baugh to brother David gained only a yard, the Rotan quarterback found Goodrum all alone on the Post 35 and lofted a perfect peg, which the speedy halfback leisurely gathered in and then hooped it the remaining 35 yards to the payoff stripe. End Forrest Claborn halted Goodrum on the extra point try.

IT WAS THE MOST crushing defeat dealt a Post team in several years and the first time they failed to score since early in the 1958 season.

Rotan notched their first touchdown with 9:36 to go in the first quarter, scoring in four plays after game captain Dan Rankin had punted out of bounds on the Post 46.

Quarterback Todd Baugh's pass to fullback Bradley Brittain overshoot the mark, but Brittain came back to rack up eight on a run, and Todd Baugh rounded end for 18. With the ball on the Antelope 20, Brittain took a pitchout and swept left end for the touchdown. Post drew an offside penalty on the extra point try, after which Brittain banged through the line to make it 8-0.

THAT WAS ALL the scoring in the first quarter, with the Antelopes holding for downs on their 4-yard line just before the period ended. Fullback Clarence Ivie, end Horace Smith and guard Jimmy Minor led the Post defense in its only successful goal line stand of the night.

After Rankin punted out of danger, Rotan was unable to move, with Clarence Ivie dumping Brittain for a four-yard loss on a third down play. The Rotan punt was killed on the Antelope 12.

After Derwood Mayberry had gained a yard at the line and Ivie had lost four on an attempted end in the half, but the 'Hammers weren't content. Goodrum ran Rankin's punt back five yards to the Post 30 and, with five seconds showing on the clock, Baugh passed to end Hiram Lopez for another touchdown. Goodrum ran over the extra points to give Rotan a 38-0 halftime lead.

THERE WAS ONLY 1:48 left

With 7:35 to go in the third period, Todd Baugh went 11 yards on a keeper for a six-pointer, but David Baugh failed in the extra point try.

Rotan reserves took over at this point, and the third quarter had worn down to the 11:26 point before Rotan scored again, this time on an eight-yard blast through the line by David Baugh. A pass try for the extra points failed.

THE FINAL touchdown came with 8:06 left in the game after the 'Hammers had stopped the Antelopes on their 17. A five-yard penalty pushed Rotan back to the 19 after a seven-yard gain, and reserve quarterback Carlton Reeves collaborated with David Baugh on an 81-yard touchdown - producing a pass play, with the pass covering 11 yards and Baugh's run accounting for 70. A running try for the extra points failed.

The drive that fizzled out on the 17-yard line and another that carried to the 15—both in the fourth quarter—were the only scoring threats the Antelopes were able to muster.

Considering the fact that he was badly rushed on every passing attempt, junior quarterback Kenneth Williams turned in a good job alternating with Mayberry at the down-under spot.

Of the new squadmen, freshman Johnny Valdez logged the most time, and on one occasion shot through to throw a Rotan ball carrier for a six-yard loss.

Post High Colts whip Slaton by 20-8 score

Coach John Blocker's high school Colts scored a 20-8 triumph over Slaton's freshmen here last Thursday night.

Two Post linemen got the locals off right in the first quarter. Guard Harold Mason blocked a Slaton punt and Tackle Dean Johnston covered the loose ball in the Slaton end zone for a touchdown.

Halfback Johnny Valdez ran the conversion points across.

In the second period, the Colts boosted their lead to 14-0 when Quarterback Leslie Acker passed 30 yards to Valdez who ran another 30 for a touchdown play that covered 60 yards.

Slaton marched 50 yards for its only touchdown in the third, scoring on a dive play from the 20 yard line.

Post held another thrust by the visitors on its one-yard-line in the fourth quarter.

Then the Colts clinched it when Valdez took a pitchout and raced 50 yards for their third touchdown.

Outstanding on offense for the Colts were Left Halfback Ken Rankin, Left Guard Larry Guy, and Quarterback Buddy Moreland. Outstanding on defense for the locals were Left End Billy Shumard, Right Tackle Jerry Bush, Left Tackle Clarence Ivie, Right Tackle Dean Johnston, Left End Jerry Turner, and Ken Rankin, right linebacker.

The Colts next outing will be at Spur tonight with the kickoff billed for 6:30 p.m.

Raiders seeking first win over Baylor at Waco

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech's Red Raiders seek the school's first victory in Waco over the Baylor Bears Saturday night.

Texas Tech has won only 4 of 17 games played with Baylor, and all of those wins were accomplished in Lubbock. In fact, Tech hasn't beaten Baylor since 1946.

Six of the decisions were taken by the Bears in Waco, the last one by 27-0 in 1956.

Last season Baylor defeated Tech 26-7.

Two similar offenses will be exhibited, since John Bridgers' Bears also utilize a wide open attack.

Tech's Red Raiders finally saw their winning streak snapped — at three—by Texas Christian's defending champion Horned Frogs 14-8 before a sell-out crowd of 23,000 Saturday night.

Ironically, the Raiders, who had been outgained in three victories, amassed more first downs and total yardage than the heavier Frogs.

DeWitt Weaver's Raiders will not play again in Lubbock until Nov. 14, when University of Houston will be a homecoming opponent. After the Baylor contest Tech will play on the road Southwestern Methodist, Tulane, and Arizona.

Southland bows

Eagles win streak broken by Guthrie

By LINDA PAYTON

The five-game 1959 winning streak of Southland's Eagles was snapped at Southland last Friday night when Coach Duane Locke's eight-man football team missed four scoring opportunities and dropped a 24-14 decision to Guthrie.

Twice 15-yard penalties proved touchdown costly to the Eagles, one TD being called back and another time the penalty being called on Southland's four.

The visitors scored the first time they got the ball, marching the ball back across after the opening kickoff and then running the conversion points across.

Southland bounced back on the next kickoff to drive to Guthrie's four, but a penalty halted the thrust.

The Eagles got their first score in the second quarter on a 19 yard pass from Sammy Ellis to Manuel Salinas. Darrell Jones ran the extra points to knot the score at 8-8.

But Guthrie came right back with the next kickoff to tally in eight plays with Jim Porter running the ball across with two minutes left on the clock before halftime. Conversion was good to make it 16-8.

The Eagles took the next kickoff and scored in three plays on a pass from Ellis to Salinas again. But the extra points failed leaving Guthrie ahead 16-14.

With 40 seconds left to play, the Eagles kicked an onside kick and recovered the ball. Time ran out with Southland having the ball on Guthrie's 10 yard stripe.

In the third period, Southland took the kickoff and moved to the Guthrie 4-yard-line from where Ellis scored on a running play. But the TD was called back because of a rule infraction and the Eagles penalized 15 yards. Guthrie then held.

Southland threatened two more times in the third period, but couldn't get it across.

Late in the fourth quarter Guthrie scored its clincher touchdown on a dive play from the two-yard-

The Eagles have an open date this Friday night and will launch district play Friday night, Oct. 23, at home against Pettit.

Garza County SCHOOL PAGE

Have You Heard??

The girls' basketball team had an extra workout after school last week. The fifth period class challenged them to a game Friday afternoon. The 4th period, however, defeated them. The team is working into shape for the coming season.

All the choir students were looking forward Monday to their trip to Dallas and the Cotton Bowl. Sounds like they were going to have a real blast!!

If you see some real clean cars oozing around, you'll know the seniors washed 'em. Of course, they all have pneumonia, but at least, they got those greenbacks.

Lots of PHS kids were rooting for the White Sox or the Dodgers but nobody's figured out why Coach Murray was rooting for the Yankees. How 'bout it, Coach?

Glenda W. got a letter from a murderer last week. He's alias "Pete", really he's not a murderer, (we hope).

The cheerleaders had a real cute skit for pep rally Friday. It was "Little Blue Victory" instead of "Little Red Riding Hood". The Yellowhammers were the wolf and the Antelopes were the hero. Real cute, cheerleaders!

The Seniors are getting plans for the Halloween Carnival underway. There is still lots of work to be done.

Saturday night, Judy Clary and Jerry Stone had a date. So did Marsha Smith and Wayne McFadden. It's always good to see new couples.

We got the word that Peggy and Richard are going steady again. They look like they're having fun making up though.

Every Friday afternoon, the juniors make hot dogs till near game time and then cart them down from the homemaking lab to the concession stands. It's a hard life, juniors.

'Beatnik Ball' set tonight for Post youths at Teen Town

A "beatnik ball" will officially open the year for the Post Teen Town Friday night, youth directors Mr. and Mrs. Leon Miller announced today.

The grand opening event will begin at 8 o'clock and promises to offer an evening of fun and entertainment for Post youths, who are to come dressed in costumes of the "beat generation".

"The Velvetens", a band from Lubbock, has been employed to provide dance music for the evening.

Youth center activities are open to all teenage students and college students. Admission for the Friday affair is 25 cents.

It was also announced that semester membership cards will go on sale Friday for $1. The cards will be good for one school semester.

LUBBOCK GUEST

Miss Barbara Wheatley of Lubbock visited during the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wheatley.

Strange insects, don't worry. They are for that person's biology bug collection.

Sharron Jobe had a fabulous slumber party last Friday. Everyone had a small ball, eating, talking, dancing and just really cutting up. Nobody caught more than 40 winks all night. Those entertained were Kat, Linda W., Glenda, Mel, Pat, Rhea, Leta, Sharron and the hostess.

Vonda Howell had a date with Clarence Ivie Friday after the game. They make a real cute twosome.

Everyone regretted to hear of the accident involving Post boys last Saturday morning. The whole student body wishes the boys a speedy recovery.

Next week is open date, then district games start. Lots of luck for district, Antelopes!

A new steady couple around PHS is Kat Collier and Bob Cato. Congratulations, Kids!

Walk quietly in those halls

Our Junior High schedule of classes has been running smoothly and most students like it better than last year; however, while our 5 minute break between class permits more time to get from one class to another, it also permits time to get noisy. The temptation to shout "hello" to someone you haven't seen all period seems too great. Students in the sixth and seventh grade are setting examples for the younger children, so naturally we will want to set a good one. Walking quietly down the hall in an orderly fashion will make more of an impression than speeding down the hall leaving a row of stunned by-standers.

Here's what's new in PHS fashions

By Janene Haynie

Wednesday, Linda Wilks brightened PHS halls with an orchid skirt and sweater set. She topped this off with black lace-up shoes and bobby sox.

Kay Gordon looked attractive in a black straight skirt with a white blouse and avocado "Perry Como" sweater. With this cute outfit she wore grey suede lace-ups and bobby sox.

Looking like a little china doll, Sharron Wood appeared in bright red slim jims with a white blouse and black "Perry Como" sweater. For a finishing touch, she wore black lace-ups and bobby sox. We understand that this outfit was a birthday gift from Charles and his family. Nice going, Sharron!!!

Among the many well-dressed teachers, Mrs. Scott wore a very attractive broen print dress with brown pointed-toe heels. Bob Cato looked real "cool"

Thursday in his levis and black V-neck sweater. Under this sweater he wore a turquoise and white checked shirt.

Wearing a red corduroy jumper with a white blouse and red jewelry, Ruthell Martin looked very becoming. With this stunning costume, she wore black lace-ups and bobby sox.

Long faces, bags under the eyes and headaches seemed to be the fashions last week. These were caused by studying for and taking six weeks tests. Seriously though, we hope everyone made real good on their tests.

A lot of the girls around PHS are still sporting peroxidized patches in their hair. These are a result of summer.

Lois Hodges appeared very lively in her red and green plaid quilted skirt, topped with a bright red ban-lon sweater. She was very cute.

For Seniors Saturday's Slave Day

This next Saturday the Seniors are having a "Slave Day", all day long! If you have any odd jobs to do, no matter what kind, just call us at 512-W for quick, neat service. You pay what you feel the job's worth. You furnish equipment.

Get the attic cleaned, windows washed, yard cleaned, anything, but let the Seniors do the work.

Are those 2 shirts just coincidence?

By Meredith Newby
Judy B. and Charles G. have shirts exactly the same color. Isn't that some coincidence?

Jesse Morales has a very pretty brown, black, and grey shirt with highlights of yellow.

Sandra Gary looked very pert in her blue and olive green plaid "slim-jims."

Barbara Britton looked pretty in a lovely orange and black print tight skirt.

8th graders happy tests now over

By Mary Beth Ford
Lynette and Susie looked very cute last Friday in their clothes that were alike.

Everyone is really glad that our Six Weeks' Tests are over.

Carol H., Lana, Carol B., and Mary Beth were late for school last Thursday at noon. Who were the two that got into trouble?

Could it have been C.B. and M.B. Everyone is real proud of the eighth grade boys because they won 52 to 12. That's the way to go boys, lets keep the good work up.

7-C class wins new aquarium

By Meredith Newby
The 7-C class got an aquarium for the best attendance record.

We will keep it for a month and then the room that has had the best attendance for that month will get the aquarium.

It is an eight-ten gallon aquarium. In it there is some aquarium gravel, a few pieces of seaweed and a little hippo who opens its mouth to blow a bubble once in awhile. There are also some guppies without which it would be no fish in it. It sits on a sturdy steel stand and has about four five gallons of water in it. It is donated by Mrs. Sid Cross through the PTA.

The students of Post Junior High are grateful to Mrs. Cross and the parents to keep it up.

Seventh graders told of South American trip

By Meredith Newby

Friday, Oct. 9, a woman named Winnie Tuffing came to talk to the 7-C class on her trip to South America. She went there to see her daughter, Gloria, and her law, who moved to Bolivia years ago.

When 7-C came into Mrs. Wriston's room, they were greeted by a middle-aged woman wearing a blue-green skirt and a bright blouse. They were both silk and beautifully embroidered with baskets of flowers. It was a beautiful costume and was topped by a silk shawl the same color as the skirt. She brought another with which she showed us the Bolivian women carried their children and their produce to market.

She told us about the whole course of her trip and it was something like the following. She drove from Post, where she works in the City Water Department, and from Lubbock she flew to Houston.

She left Houston at about 4 o'clock and flew to Havana, Cuba, and from there to Lima, Peru. After about an hour's stay in Lima, she took a plane to La Paz, the capital of Bolivia, and from there to Cochabamba, where her daughter resides. While she was going from La Paz to Cochabamba, she saw many very craggy and jagged peaks of the mountains around Cochabamba. She went over many volcanoes, and on one of them, the pilot banked the plane and she looked straight down into the mouth of a huge volcano!

When she got into Cochabamba she noticed that there was only one paved road. Most of the people were either walking or riding a bicycle and there are very few cars. Some of the automobiles are the crank-up kind that were used in Grandma's day. Most of the cars are taxis and the pedestrians have the right-of-way. There are no traffic lights at all in the entire city.

Most of the schools are Catholic.

Junior High School teacher personality

By Mary Ann Stone

Mary Lee Wriston, our Seventh Grade Social Sciences teacher, has been a member of our staff for six years. During this time she has come to be loved by all of her students, and she has made her subject outstanding in their minds.

Mrs. Wriston was born in Lankin, Tex. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kittrell of Lorenzo. She graduated from Lorenzo High School and attended Texas Technological College, where she obtained her B.S. degree. She is continuing work on a Master's degree.

Her hobbies are teaching, eating steaks and travelling.

Our teachers— Coach Pete Murray

By Kathy Stone

Coach Pete Murray was born in Lubbock and lived there for one year. Then he moved to Arlington, Texas, where he was raised. He finished school in 1952 and played state football at Abilene.

He got his BA at Hardin-Simmons. Then he went to work on his master's degree.

He played professional football for the Washington Redskins. He then went into the Army. After the Army he came to Post. He teaches Civics and American History and he has prospects of having a very good basketball team in his fifth period gym class and is end coach for the football team.

He is married and his favorite foods are fried chicken, gravy, biscuits and pretzels.

Everyone seems to like him a lot. We are very happy to have Mr. Murray in our school and hope he gets to like us too.

Teen Town still drawing crowds

By Sammie K. Caffey

We had a wonderful time in Teen Town this weekend. There were approximately 75 there Friday night and approximately 50 there Saturday night.

We really appreciate Mr. and Mrs. Leon Miller planning those wonderful times for us. Thanks for everything from everyone that goes to Teen Town.

SOUTHLAND SCHOOL NEWS

General Science II caught a hummingbird during Mr. Robinson's Monday class. He clipped its wings and is going to keep it for a pet. The bird's name is "Skieter".

Everyone is glad "test week" is over but now comes the final decisions, who passes and who doesn't. Good luck.

We lost our first game of the season to Guthrie, 24-14, but the boys played an excellent game. Part of them took a real beating.

I know some kids who are having a real nice time at Teen Town.

since that is the main religion there, but there is one Methodist mission.

She bought an idol of a "devil dancer." They are a group of Indians who do a traditional pre-Easter dance, that has been handed down through the ages. They are very famous in South America.

The figure was beautifully costumed in a bright lavender gown with sequins and little pieces of triangle cut mirrors. It had on a headpiece that was very frightening to see. It was trying to be a dragon but it had snakes crawling on it and yet was very beautiful.

She also brought some models of some tightly put together reeds that made "keeno" boats. These boats sail on Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable body in the world.

She had a mahogany box that was made out of the rich woods that grow in the jungle there. There are also rich rosewoods and oaks in the jungle. She had the skins of two animals. A lovely, soft brown one and a not so soft white one. They were skins of the vicuna and the alpaca, two native animals of South America.

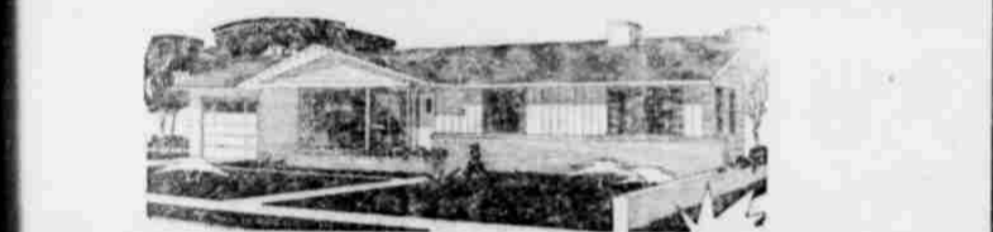

All of 7-C enjoyed Mrs. Tuffing's visit and were sorry when she had to leave but there is an old saying "All good things always have to come to an end."

heights have been raised for more comfort. The absence of connecting bolts and braces not only lends strength but eliminates rattles.

Two completely new engines are added in the 1960 Plymouth line, each of uniquely different design and each developed to fulfill a specific requirement.

Another valuable safety feature is the four-light emergency warning flasher system. Whenever a car must be stopped on a highway, a flick of an instrument panel switch starts all front and rear turn indicator signals flashing continuously and simultaneously as a warning to other drivers.

Cars use huge tank of gas each second

Every second of the day more than 1,772 gallons of gasoline were burned last year by the nation's automobiles, buses, trucks, planes, boats, and other gasoline-powered units.

Taking the lead in the consumption of this record-breaking 56 billion gallons of fuel was California, with five and one-third billion gallons. Texas followed with four and one-half billion, New York with three and two-thirds billion and Ohio with just over three billion gallons.

Maintaining adequate supplies of gasoline is an ever-present challenge to oil men who continue to break their own remarkable records for filling America's oil needs.

It's the Law in Texas...

Like some newspaper columns, newspaper advertising can be copyrighted.

In 1903 Justice Oliver W. Holmes declared that advertisements could be owned and copyrighted even without having any special literary or artistic merit.

An author, business, or agency that puts work and skill into an ad can protect it as a rule with a "general notice of copyright."

One publisher made special road maps for an advertiser, and got them copyrighted; the court held that the advertiser couldn't sell these maps to a rival publisher.

In another case a clever picture ran in one ad. The court told a competitor he couldn't use the same picture for his ad.

You cannot copyright some things such as a list of names publicly available or an ad so common it lacks uniqueness.

Most ads are "owned" by the advertiser, not the newspaper or magazine.

Ads which are run to get business may also create property right in a "trade name" of great value to a business even without a copyright.

Besides, a business or product name itself may often be copyrighted. Now and then, unfortunately, a company name may become so well known that without proper protection it can lapse into the common language and lose its character as property.

Trying to gain from someone else's ads may well get you in trouble.

It can be a crime for anyone to violate a copyright on purpose, and he may have to pay money damages covering all his profits. And then some.

False or misleading ads can cause loss or suspension of certain business licenses; the post office sometimes gets rough if someone uses the mail to advertise fraudulently.

Of course ads aim to brag about one's product which is well known by the public and therefore, within limits, such "puffing" is allowed. But the Federal Trade Commission often stops certain advertisements if they are false or misleading especially as to factual claims.

Shelter important for dairy animals

COLLEGE STATION — Many natural advantages for dairymen are found in Texas. Due to these advantages many Texas dairymen have been led to believe the North would be put out of the dairy business. Yet, says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman, Northern and Mid-West dairymen are not only still in the dairy business, but are supplying milk to almost every major milk market in the state.

Meekma says that Texas dairymen have taken literally the term "natural advantages." Too long the barbed wire fence has been considered sufficient shade and shelter. Texas dairymen do not require the elaborate, expensive arrangements of the North, but adequate arrangements to provide protection for dairy animals should be provided to protect them from the cold winter rains and the summer heat. In Meekma's opinion dairy cattle should be protected from the summer sun even more so than the winter cold.

VISIT IN KNOX CITY
Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Schmidt and Susie spent the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schmidt and family and Mr. and Mrs. John Schmidt in Knox City.

Oilman's long wait
Oil is no automatic symbol for money. It often takes years for an oil field to pay off commercially. One company has spent more than $47 million looking for and producing oil in the Williston Basin, yet its total revenues so far amount to only $1.1 million.

The entire series of three shots. Immunization programs are in effect in many schools, so that large numbers of school children have been polio-protected. However, that still leaves huge numbers of adults and small children unprotected. Parents have a responsibility to themselves to start and finish the series of three Salk shots. More important we need to protect our children—the pre-schoolers. Many areas of Texas have active polio immunization programs in operation. It would be wise to take advantage of such a program if present in your community. Whether or not such a program exists in your area, you should have your whole family polio protected. Also, if you have already completed your series of three shots, you may obtain added protection by getting a booster shot. Consult your physician about it soon.

Vet's Forum

Q. I am 19 years old, the son of a veteran who died as a result of injuries received in World War Two. I am thinking of taking War Orphans training under the War Orphans Education Act, but am wondering if my mother still being alive would mean I am not eligible. Will you please tell me?

A. The fact that your mother is living has no bearing on your eligibility for War Orphans training. You would be considered a War Orphan for purposes of this act, since your veteran-father died as a result of war service.

Q. Can a World War One veteran with less than 90 days' service ever be eligible for a VA pension?

A. If the veteran had been discharged sooner, for a service-connected disability, that would be possible, yes. He could be eligible for pension.
