Garza Plays Major Role In Annual Observance Of Oil Progress Week

Texas is playing a major part in the fourth observance of OIL PROGRESS WEEK, this week. This is a nation-wide celebration to salute the oil industry on the part which they play in the progress of all Americans. Post and Garza county residents have joined the rest of the state and nation in this celebration, because much of the progress of the county may be attributed to the oil industry.

and other revenue made possible by the oil business. The total receipts from oil did not reach the peak set in 1950 during the year of 1951 and this year is expected to be short of the all-time high. In estimating this figure, the small businesses and plants that depend solely on the oil industry, are not included in the income derived from the industry. Seven years of oil activities has changed the economy of the county from depending on agriculture and ranching alone. Post has some 20 or more businesses which are directly related to the oil industry. Some of these businesses are supply houses, oil field contractors, oil field haulers, trucking companies, and pipeline companies. All businesses in the city have felt the impact of the industry, indirectly, for example public utilities, telephone services, cafes, automobile dealers and many others. The general theme for this year's observance is "Oil Progress Serves You." This theme fits Post perfectly, just as it does other towns where oil activities have reached their peaks. Oil became an industry in Texas with the discovery of Spindletop, a gusher near Beaumont. This area around Beaumont and the northern part of Texas led the oil production of the state until 1951 when Districts 7C and 8 of West Texas set the pace as the leader.

Oil was first discovered in Garza county during the 1920's, but it was after World War II before the field was completely developed. At present Garza county is in the districts that are leading the state in production of oil per day. Over the state this week there have been and will be parades, barbecues, and other events to celebrate OIL PROGRESS WEEK. Some of these events are the Permian Basin Oil show at Odessa, October 16th through the 19th, a rally of the "Keep the Tidelands Association" will be held tonight in Fort Worth at the Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium, an oil show was held at Levelland Tuesday, and another annual show at Kilgore, the East Texas Jube-Oil-Lee, was staged for this week.

HOMEMAKERS STUDY FIRST AID: No, there has not been an explosion in the Home Economic department of Post High school. This is just the second year H.E. girls practice the fundamentals taught them by Mrs. Travis Everett, school nurse, during six weeks study of first aid. Mrs. Everett is giving the girls the Red Cross examination and after passing this they will receive a Red Cross first aid certificate. The girls are pretending there has been an accident and they are taking charge as they would in case of a real mishap. In the center of the picture, on the table, is Willie Ruth Fry with a broken leg and a brain concussion. Giving first aid to Miss

Texans For Eisenhower Movement Started Here

Garza County took its place in the rapidly-growing Texans for Eisenhower movement Monday night when interested citizens met in the John Lott home. Lott was named county chairman and Giles McCrary is co-chairman. The organization has set up a downtown center in the Joe S. Moss building, four doors west of the First National bank on East Main, with Mrs. Carl Webb serving as headquarters' chairman. The center has been decorated with bunting and on the walls are large photographs of both Ike Eisenhower and Dick Nixon. An ample supply of lapel buttons and campaign literature has been provided to distribute to residents of Garza County. Plans are being formulated at

Ginning Total Has Reached 1378 Mark

The ginning of Garza county is slightly short of the 1500 mark, a check-up of the county gins revealed Wednesday afternoon. The total bales ginned by the six plants throughout the county is 1378, which is 421 more bales than had been ginned this time last year. This total also exceeds the 1950 record by 293 bales, according to Dispatch records. The scarcity of laborers is hindering the farmers in most of the county in harvesting their crops. Southland and Storie Gin managers stated that the harvest in their vicinities is being hindered because of the lack of pullers. Close City, Graham and Planter's Gin officials reported that more workers were needed badly in their areas also. See GINNING on Page 8

Railed Car Of Cotton Burned At Justiceburg

The Post Volunteer Fire Department answered a fire call at Justiceburg, Monday, to put out a fire in a cotton car on a Southland Santa Fe freight. Firemen could not state the specific cause of the fire in the cotton car. The carload of cotton, 132 bales, was en route to Houston and had reached Justiceburg before train officials discovered the fire. Robert Cato, assistant chief of the Post Department, stated that there was no definite way of finding how the fire started, but that it had been burning for sometime, before it was discovered. The fire department reached the train after it had been stopped on a rail siding at Justiceburg and they started removing the burning bales. Cato estimated that 35 per cent of the long staple cotton was damaged. The fire was just on the surface of the bales and had not burned entirely through, Cato said. The booster pump on the truck was used in putting out the blaze.

PMA Starts Buying Hay For Area Farmers And Stockmen

Garza County farmers and stockmen started placing orders the first of the week for hay made available last Friday when this county was added to the eligible list for the government's emergency drought relief program. Four cars of hay, with from 16 to 20 tons to the car, have been bought thus far but none has been delivered. Mike Custer, secretary of the County PMA, said Wednesday morning that eleven applications had been taken up to that time, but that he expected a big increase in applications before the weekend. "There is no indication," Custer said, "that the supply will not be adequate and all who are interested should apply at the PMA office. The hay will be purchased in the North, principally in Nebraska, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota.

Under provisions of the Federal regulations, three grades of hay are provided: Grass hay, is timothy or other grass of good feeding, and sells at $28 per ton; mixed alfalfa or clover with timothy or other grasses of good feeding value, but must consist of one-third legumes, $32 per ton; legume hay, alfalfa or clover, excluding sweet clover, which may contain more than one-fourth timothy or grasses, $36 per ton. Farmers and stockmen are not permitted to place an order for more than a 30-day supply, but can reorder further needs from time to time. A deposit of $5 per ton is required when each order is placed. The hay will be shipped to unloading points nearest the largest number of applicants, and in most instances will come to Post, but some of it will go to Southland and Justiceburg. In most instances the hay will be delivered directly from railroad cars and the County Committee in all cases where possible shall arrange with local feed dealers to supervise the unloading and delivery. Latest information to reach here concerning the hay program was a news broadcast Tuesday night which said that an additional eight million dollars had been allocated to the program. Snow Taylor has been appointed as County Committee representative to receive and inspect shipments of hay.

Post High School Homemakers Study Six Weeks Of First Aid

The Home Economics department of Post high school has gotten off to a successful start for the school year, Mrs. Nan Dyer, head of the department stated. Two of the finest courses offered in the department this year are the First Aid studies and Family Relations course. The second year girls, studying their second year of H.E., are studying these courses at the present. This class had to be divided into two different sections because of the large number enrolled in them, Mrs. Dyer said. One section will complete the first aid course this week and the other is studying family relations. The first aid course is being taught by Mrs. Travis Everett, Post school nurse, and is enabling the girls to be eligible for the Red Cross First Aid certificate, when they have finished. "This course will be helpful to the girls as future homemakers."

Schools Receive An Audiometer

An Audiometer was presented to the Post schools Tuesday by the Lions Club and Rotary Club of Post. This is a meter for checking the hearing of the pupils of all Garza county schools. Mrs. Travis Everett, school nurse, will be in charge of the tests that will be given in the Post schools. Mrs. Everett stated that every student from the first to the 12th grades will be given a screening test for hearing defects. She plans to start these tests immediately after the finish of the immunization shots, which are being given now. The Audiometer was purchased See AUDIOMETER on Page 8

Grassland Goals Are Set By Mobilization Group

If sufficient livestock production is maintained there is need for a higher level production of livestock feed, declared Mike Custer, secretary of the County PMA, in reporting the suggested grassland program which was set up Monday by the Garza County Mobilization Committee. "During the past few years feed grain stocks have been reduced far below a safe level," said Custer. "However, only about one-half of all livestock feed comes from grain and other feed concentrates." Custer said that one way to help fill these bigger feed needs is by expanding the goals program to include all grasslands. Improving the quality, yield and utilization of the production from the current acreage is a major objective of the cooperative grassland program. The following chart, released by the Mobilization Committee, the first of the week will give you the grassland goals which have been set: Use idle lands for grass, 1,000 acres; apply phosphate fertilizer,

Fortune Rites Will Be Held This Afternoon

Funeral services will be held this afternoon in the First Methodist church for Thomas Edward Fortune, 90. The Rev. D. W. Reed, Baptist minister, and the pastor, the Rev. Joe E. Boyd, will officiate. Burial will be in Grassland cemetery with Mason Funeral home in charge. Mr. Fortune, who had been in ill health for several years, suffered a stroke the first of the week, and died at his home at 7 o'clock, yesterday morning. A retired farmer, he was born June 25, 1862, in Hanover, Ill. He had been a member of the Methodist church for 30 years. He and Mrs. Fortune were married in Montague county on January 13, 1895. They came to Garza county in 1915 from Oklahoma. Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Bettie Elizabeth Fortune; three daughters, Mrs. Garnie Smith of Redlands, Calif., Mrs. Ufa Mae Craig of Amarillo and Mrs. Nora Kiker of Post; three sons, Bob of San Francisco, Calif., Jim of Headton, Okla., and Ben Fortune of Turlock, Calif.; and 12 grandchildren. Mr. Fortune was preceded in death by three daughters and a son. Pallbearers will be S. E. Camp, J. F. Brandon, Jr., G. E. Fleming, Lee Mason, Lee Bowen and A. H. Nelson. Flower girls are to be Mrs. Woodrow Furr, Mrs. Carl Cederholm, Mrs. G. E. Fleming, Mrs. Alice Cass, Mrs. Lee Mason, Mrs. F. E. Roberts, Mrs. Muri Terry and Mrs. Ruth Martin.

Close City To Have Program October 27

Close City school will have a short school program and benefit show Monday, October 27, beginning at 7 o'clock. Everyone is invited to attend. Hot dogs, pie, cake, coffee and punch will be sold. The school first set the program date for October 28, but has moved it up one night, a spokesman for the group reported.

Rural Activity Committees Selected At Monday Meet

A general meeting of business and professional men of Post, was conducted Monday evening in the City hall, in the interest of better inter-county relationship. Mrs. Burnis Lawrence, chamber of commerce secretary, reported. Powell Shytle served as master of ceremonies and Olive Weakley was spokesman for the group. "At the present, interest is being directed toward the forthcoming school carnivals. However, as other activities are formulated the committees assigned to each community will be responsible for participation in each event," Mrs. Lawrence said. Dates for the school carnivals have been scheduled as follows: Grassland, October 21; Garmolia, October 28; Southland and Post, October 31; Close City, October 27; and Graham and Justiceburg, October 29. Powell Shytle will serve as

Absentee Voting For Garza Gets Underway

Absentee voting in the General Election to be held November 4, started Wednesday, Ray N. Smith, county clerk, reported. Applications for 11 absentee ballots have been received by the county clerk's office, but no one has voted "in person." Smith said late Wednesday afternoon. This voting will continue until Friday, October 31. Garza county residents expecting to be absent from the polls on election day may cast their ballot at the county clerk's office before the last day of this month, Smith said.

THE GASOLINE AGE

Between October 12 and 18, Oil Progress Week, will be observed on a national scale. And oil has earned that honor a thousand times over. Less than a century ago there was but one oil producing state—Pennsylvania. Today there are 27 states classed as producers, with Texas leading the field.

Texans In WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY, Associated Press Washington Service

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A handsome, gray-mustached Texan laid the cards on the table when discussing the economic plight of the American wool industry.

He was Ray Willoughby of San Angelo, a Vice-President of the National Wool Growers Association, speaking before the U. S. Tariff Commission.

"We're not looking for any favors," he said, standing at the witness table in front of the six-man tribunal.

"The simple facts are that the American wool man can't compete with Foreign producers whose hired hands work at such low wages and have such low standards of living.

"Congress itself has found that wool is a strategic material and that we should produce at least 360 million pounds annually as a national defense measure.

"Do we want to maintain a domestic wool industry? The American people themselves should answer that question."

Behind his statement were these facts which he and other witnesses had outlined to the commission:

Americans consume about one billion pounds of wool per year, but we grow only about one-third that amount. In fact, U. S. production has dropped so sharply in recent years that the 1952 clip estimated at only 230 million pounds.

The U. S. sheep population was 56 million in 1942 and 30 million in 1951; Texas sheep numbered seven million in 1951, averaged nine million in the 1940-49 period.

World wool production has increased, while world consumption has fallen off. As a consequence foreign wools have been pouring into this country, and notwithstanding a 25 1/2 cents per pound tariff have been underselling American-grown wool.

The government has been, and still is, guaranteeing American growers 90 per cent of parity by giving them a loan of 54 cents per pound on raw wool (grease basis). The actual selling price on that same wool is only 52 cents per pound.

If the price should go above that figure before next Jan. 31, the grower can take the wool out of the loan by paying interest, and then sell it. Should it remain in the loan price support program it becomes the property of the government on Jan. 31.

Parity is a formula intended to reflect a fair return to the producer for his investment

As a permanent proposition, we might do what has just been done by the Munitions Board under a selection of the Defense Department Appropriation Bill for this year.

"The Board has just ordered purchased, for military use, large quantities of American-grown wool at prices which are 110 per cent of loan rates. That would net the grower parity."

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Average Person Has Wrong Impression About The Amount Of Profit Big Companies Make

BABSON PARK, Mass. — It strikes me that a lot of people have some queer notions about business and profits. They don't say right out, but they imply that there is something wrong about making money. It ought to be evident to everyone that business must prosper before anyone can profit from it.

How Much Profit? Surveys reveal that the average person has an entirely erroneous impression of company profits. For example, a recent sample study indicated that over 50% of the people think that company profits range anywhere from 10% to 40% on the sales dollar; and 25% think that profits are over 40% on the dollar; whereas the actual take, according to a sampling of companies in varied industries, is under 10% on the dollar.

On the theory that large profits are not a good thing, our brain-trusters in the government enacted an "excess profits" tax. The average worker's attitude toward such taxes has been one of "let them tax business. That won't hurt me any. Most companies have plenty of money these days, so soak them!" But is it true that excess taxes don't hurt the worker? Why of course they do! If a company makes a dollar and the government takes 80 cents of it, that 80 cents is gone. It has no chance to find its way into your pay envelope. But you're unionized, and you demand a pay raise anyway. You strike and you get your raise. Who pays for that raise? You do, and I do—in the form of increased costs on everything we buy. Such a tax, therefore, directly affects us.

Mortgaging The Future I've been asked by some workers why such taxation isn't a good thing if we're all willing to pay higher prices. The answer to this question is not an easy one. As a matter of fact, the New Dealer says that inflation, heavy taxation, and deficit-financing have been good for us because we're all better off than we were twenty years ago. That's where the New Dealers are smart, because it's practically impossible to prove, up to this time, that they

As contrasted with the old days, petroleum is now the raw material from which comes a whole new host of products to make our lives easier and more pleasant: plastics, detergents, carbon black, synthetic fibers, synthetic rubber, refrigerants, anti-freeze, solvents, as well as huge supplies of high quality gasolines and lubricants. With oil man has made more progress in the past 50 years than was made in the previous 2000. The aggressiveness and enterprise of the industry, operating under a system of free enterprise, have seen to it that this country has never lacked for oil, in peace or war. The industry has invested more than ten billion dollars since 1945 to expand its facilities. Garza county has had a part in this vast industry which plays such a vital role in our way of life. Oil Progress Week isn't just a pleasant label. It accurately describes an advancement that has enriched the lives of all of us.

Getting Out On The Limb

by EDDIE the editor

SUDDEN THOUGHT: Snap judgment has a way of becoming unsnapped. A news item that crossed my desk says that statisticians find nine out of ten women are knock-kneed. And for years I've been thinking that statisticians never had any fun.

Some one is always discovering a new way to spend money, as if the old ways were not good enough. Nobody has ever discovered a simpler plan for saving money than saving it.

Let us shed a tear at this time over the number of "big busts" that have been appearing in the Dispatch the past several issues. If you only knew how silly we, down here at the plant, feel when we get around to discovering some big bust after the paper has reached its readers, you would be happy to join us in growing ulcers. Last week's No. 1 bust showed up in a 36-point headline type on the sports page. The headline read "College Football Officials To Become Stricter On Penalties." The week before that we ran a bit-of-news, which became more or less jumbled up while one of the printers was sleeping. The item read: "Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Ford had a pleasant surprise Friday, when their son, H. M. Ford, Jr., and family of San Antonio, flew to plane in the road in front of his visit them. Ford, Jr., landed his parent's home." Do doubt the Ford Seniors got a bigger surprise when they read the above item. And too, there was the birth announcement concerning the J. B. Cole baby, thank goodness we caught this one before the paper was printed. Had someone not found the error in time, the Cole baby would have weighed 6 pounds, 12 1/2 ounces . . . my, my!

Only the poor can afford to be poor. Wealth is too expensive.

Last week's circus in Post reminded me of a story which was making the rounds a day or two after Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus appeared in Lubbock.

A housewife in Lubbock had never seen an elephant. When one escaped from the circus there, she telephoned the chief of police in great excitement.

"Send some policemen here immediately! There's an enormous animal in my vegetable garden and it's pulling up my cabbages with it's tail!"

"What's it doing to the cabbages?" asked the chief.

"Kiddo," said the lady, "you wouldn't believe me if I told you."

THE WOMEN. God Love 'Em—One housewife to another at the vegetable counter of a food store. This lettuce contains the same amazing chlorophyll that you find in tooth paste and chewing gum.

There's an old axiom to the effect that progress is only what you make it. The moral, of course, is that you are the master of your own destiny; and that if you are going to make progress, you have to get out and do things . . . and keep on doing them.

What brings this to mind is the fact that Oil Progress Week is being observed by the nation's oil men this week, October 12-18. The thousands of oil companies of all sizes which comprise this vast industry, with its 2,000,000 workers and its traditional adherence to the principles of free enterprise and competition, have been doing things consistently for 93 years. They have compiled a record of progress which gives positive meaning to this old axiom.

Here in our county the oil production has meant much to the economy of the County, the city of Post and the Post Independent School district the past seven years. Oil was discovered in Garza County in the early 1920's, but it was not until the end of World War II that this County came into its own in the production of oil.

Well do I remember my first trip to the Garza central pool upon my return home from the Pacific in August 1945. At that time there were 11 wells, each pumping oil in quantity to make me wonder if I was living in what might become the oil capital of the world in time to come . . . and not being more than fifty miles north of this reality. I now feel that I am a geologist of importance.

The more than five hundred producing wells in this County are responsible for the present good conditions here, despite two crop failures. The thousands and thousands of dollars that have poured into new exploration and discovery, new oil fields, new and improved facilities of all kinds, plus the earning of the hundreds of oil workers have made the difference between good times and bad times.

I, along with all the other businessmen of Post, salute the oil industry in its observance of Oil Progress Week.

THE AMERICAN WAY

A Needed Steam Roller

Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

Hope For New Courthouse-Jail Saturday, property owners in Lamb county will go to the polls to cast their vote to determine whether or not a $600,000 bond issue will pass and a new county courthouse and jail be built in Littlefield. If the bond issue does pass, a courthouse and jail will be built on property already owned by the county, located on the city square at the end of Phelps Avenue, just to the rear of the building now being used as a City hall. If the bond issue does not pass, a mandamus may be issued to the county commission, requiring that body to build a courthouse and jail, because according to law, suitable and adequate offices must be provided for county business, and present offices used by the county are far from adequate.—The Littlefield County Wide News.

Recognize Label—Shun Contents Personally speaking, this column could have a field day by reproducing the columns we wrote during the campaign of 1948. We predicted the danger of risking another Truman administration with foreign policy. Are you satisfied with Korea? We predicted the corruption which was looming in government. We predicted continued inflation. There's one prediction we missed—badly. We predicted that Truman would be thrown out on his piano stool. He wasn't. And now he won't get out of the act—even though the curtain has started dropping. He's pulling the strings for his Charlie McCarthy. I don't want anybody handing me a bottle of carboic acid with a cough syrup label on it and saying: "Take this. It'll be good for you." If my forebearers were alive they'd recognize the label—but shun the contents.—The Kaufman Herald.

Old Folks Problem The Problem of how to care for old folks in Texas, as well as in other states, is growing by leaps and bounds. The $50 now provided through the joint efforts of the federal and state government in Texas is insufficient to pay privately owned "homes" for proper care for the aged. Something must be done to meet the growing demand for the care of our elder citizens. The mayor of Austin has proposed a solution that merits consideration. He proposes that various religious denominations take responsibility of maintaining homes for aged members. It would appear that this idea might meet with some support on the part of the church members. Churches maintain schools and colleges, libraries, missions and other worthy projects. This is made possible by supplementing church income with good investments. The Baptist church in Texas owns considerable income property, such as a hotel at Mineral Wells. The Methodists own property valued in millions in oil royalties in West Texas. Perhaps the program of caring for the aged falls within the province of the church, and that Mayor Drake's idea might be one for Christians to ponder.—The Falls Banner.

When The Boss Is Away "When the boss is away, the hirelings play," might be a slogan for some businesses, but it certainly does not apply to a newspaper. First, we'll be glad when the boss returns, not because we wish him not to enjoy

Garza County Is Included In Leading Oil Production Area For State Of Texas

The western section of the state, including Garza county, was the pacesetter for the oil boom in 1951, and indications are that it will continue to be the leader for some time. The state citizens or "furriners" draw their conclusions about the oil boom from this section (West Texas), so it is understandable that more oil should come from wide open spaces than from any other area of the state. Districts 7C and 8 of the Texas oil commission make up the official West Texas in the petroleum industry. From gleaming, modern offices in San Angelo and Midland to trailer camps in towns like Post, the prosperity of this area rests on oil and other traditional livelihoods, farming and ranching.

Although West Texas towns, including Post and Snyder, have boom eras from time to time, things soon settle down to a more moderate pace. Garza county has settled down to producing 11,837 barrels of oil per day despite the fact that drilling has been cut back this year. The oil refineries and natural gasoline and cycling plants of West Texas numbered 43 as of January 1, 1952. The refineries had a combined capacity of 64,445 barrels per day at the start of this year.

Natural gasoline plants where butane and propane are produced, were turning out 64,300 barrels of products a day in January of '52 and they were also returning dry gas to underground formation for storage or for an aid in the production of oil, which is called cycling.

At the start of 1952, District 7C and 8 had a 33,980 total of producing wells, which is a 3,973 increase over the previous year. This pushes West Texas ahead of the former leader, North Texas. This means that almost half of the state's average daily production of 2,767,082 barrels of oil came from West Texas last year, which produced 1,045,184 barrels a day. This area's production jumped higher than the production of any other section of the state. The increase for 1951 was 257,781 barrels daily over the figures for 1950.

The drilling in West Texas has been cut back considerably, although the dry holes of 1951 did not equal the total of dry wells for 1950. West Texas drilling is expensive, because of the extra hard formation. Sometimes only a few feet a day are drilled because of the rock bits that are being used up so fast. Rig time amounts to a fancy figure for the company or operator paying the bill. The total footage drilled last year in West Texas Districts 7C and 8 was 28,233,325 feet, this is an average of 5,522 feet per well. The drilling depths of these districts were greater than the previous year, just as they were in other areas of the state.

The following table is of West Texas production figures on barrels of oil produced per day during 1951:

• Card of Thanks

This is to express our gratitude for the wonderful celebration given last Wednesday in our home.

Words fail to express our deepest thanks for all the visitors and the many remembrances brought to me on my birthday. They came from many friends all over the Plains and West Texas where through the past 50 years we have served as pastor.

The largest part of the remembrances came from the people of Post. There are too many for us to send cards of thanks to all, but here we express our deepest gratitude to you, one and all, for your kindly remembrances and numerous gifts.

Personally I felt I was unworthy of so many expressions of love and appreciation.

Our prayer is that you everyone will be abundantly blessed in your hearts and lives by Him who has promised to reward for all love and kindness shown to others.

Your kindness will linger with us through all our coming days.

Gratefully yours,
Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Stephens.

Home Demonstration Women To Make Annual Fall Tour Nov. 5

The Garza Home Demonstration council has planned its annual fall tour for November 5. The group will meet at 8:30 o'clock in the morning at the court house. Each woman going is asked to carry a sack lunch. The tour includes visiting in the homes of county demonstrators.

When each new year's work is planned by the HD women, several members volunteer to be county demonstrators. This means that the entire family, aided by the agent, plans the year's work for the home. Then in the fall, the demonstrator shows the results of planning and work to the other club members. In this way the demonstrator teaches her neighbors and club members how to improve homes and raise their standards of living, by showing them what she has been able to accomplish. The demonstration carried out may be on any phase of homemaking that the HD member feels that she needs help with.

Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, founder of demonstration work, said "a progressive, practical example of better farming or homemaking by a farmer or his family, on the farm or in the home, which leads to greater profit, comfort, culture, influence and power is the definition of a demonstration."

The November 5 itinerary includes the following homes: in the morning, Mrs. S. W. McCrary, Post; Mrs. Sid Cross and Humble Camp, Justiceburg; Mrs. J. C. Fumagalli, Verbena; and in the afternoon, Mrs. Ruth Little, Mrs. Tom Henderson and Mrs. W. H. Barton, Barnum Springs; Mrs. Wesley Scott and Mrs. Hershel Bevers, Pleasant Valley; and Mrs. Thelbert McBride, Graham.

"If there are women in the county who are not HD members but wish to make the tour, they are cordially invited to go with us," Miss Jessie Pearce, agent, said. "Just bring your sack lunch and be at the court house at 8:30 o'clock, we will be happy to have you go along."

Movies Of The Week

Movie patron's favorite comes tearing into the Tower Theater Sunday and Monday with a gun and a grin, to carve a new notch in the silver belt of Nevada. This favorite is, of course, Randolph Scott, starring in "CARSON CITY", a rip-roaring story of the silver boom in the days of the old west. This is an adventure story filmed in color by Warnercolor and set against the background of the brawling Nevada capital during the turbulent 1870's. Scott follows his custom of providing action and drama galore by bringing law and order to and conquering evil in the town of "CARSON CITY". (Personally, we feel that this guy should run for president!) Lucille Norman, Raymond Massey, and Richard Webb are the featured players in this movie.

ly entertaining picture. "LYDIA BAILEY", a superb novel has been made into a motion picture and will be at the Tower, Friday and Saturday. This is a tale of intrigue and insurrection and embodies a gamut of action ranging from violent armed revolts and voodoo worship, to vivid passion in the jungles of Haiti as the natives rise up against Napoleon in a desperate bid for freedom. Dale Robertson and lovely Anne Francis are the stars for this production. Robertson has the role of a Yankee patriot and Miss Francis enacts the title role of "LYDIA BAILEY". Famed colored actor, William Marshall, does an outstanding acting job as the Haitian patron known as "King Dick".

The movie of the week is Wednesday and Thursday's offering "WAIT TILL THE SUN SHINES, NELLIE." IT'S THE LAW

MINORS LEGALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR NEGLIGENT ACTS

When a person suffers injury due to some negligent act on the part of a minor, his usual reaction is to seek out the minor's parents to press a claim for damages, leaving them to deal with their offspring in their own way. It may therefore come as a surprise to many to learn that the minor himself may be held legally accountable. It is a well settled principle of law in the State of Texas that a minor, who by his negligent acts injures another, is liable in damages to the injured party.

Upon proper proof being presented to the court, a judgment for the damages inflicted by the minor may be secured in behalf of the injured party. In cases where a minor is thus sued for his negligent acts, it is necessary that the judge appoint a special guardian for the minor, known as a Guardian Ad Litem. The duty of this person is to see that the minor's rights are properly protected, and that he is adequately represented on the trial of the case.

A judgment secured in such cases against the minor is a valid and binding judgment which may be satisfied by levying execution upon any property which the minor may own which is legally subject to execution.

Should the minor have no property upon which execution can be levied, and satisfaction made, then steps should be taken to keep the judgment alive. There are means of keeping such judgments alive for many years. By doing this, and by keeping track of the minor, it is possible to make the judgment follow him until he eventually does acquire property subject to execution.

Of course, there are practical considerations in a lawsuit against a minor. The most frequent stumbling block is naturally the situation of a minor having absolutely no property to satisfy any judgment which may be secured.

However, this lack of property in no way affects the right of the injured party to his judgment, which, as mentioned above, may eventually pay off after the minor reaches majority and accumulates enough property to satisfy the judgment.

Now, however uncertain this means of gaining redress for injuries may seem, in many cases it may prove to be the only method of collecting damages. For, when the chips are down, your chances of forcing repayment from the parents are usually very slim. From a legal standpoint, there is nothing in the parent-child relationship which automatically renders parents liable for the negligent acts of their children.

In order to be personally liable, the parent must himself be implicated in some way. The rules which apply here are similar to those regulating the liability of an employer for the negligent

Land Prices Reached A New Peak In Texas During The Year Of 1951

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Land prices in Texas reached a new peak in 1951.

The state averaged jumped from $49.95 in 1950 to $62.15 in 1951, the report of the Agriculture Experiment Station of Texas A&M college showed.

The report noted that Texas voters had approved a constitutional amendment to furnish a revolving fund of 100 million dollars to enable veterans to buy farms at low, long-term interest rates.

The program started in 1950 with 25 million dollars.

The report said: "If these additional funds should be loaned at a rate equivalent to that of the first 25 million, the veterans program would become the dominant factor in the land market in many areas, if not in the state as a whole. The consequences could only be inflationary in a market which is already booming."

Increased land prices in 1951 were attributed to the high price of cotton, together with the pre-season removal of acreage allotments, and greatly expanded activity in oil and gas leasing and development.

Prices went up in all but two of the states' 17 major type-of-farming areas. In the Grand Prairie the average price dropped 13 per cent and in the high plains and Trans-Pecos grazing area a decrease of 22 per cent.

Prices went up the most in the North-Central grazing area, with an increase; the Edwards Plateau and central basin, 46 per cent, and the Rio Grande Plateau, 31 per cent.

Post High School Girls Are Winners In Fire Prevention Writing Contest

Editor's Note: The following themes are the prize winners in the theme writing contest sponsored by the Post Volunteer Fire Department in observance of Fire Prevention week. Margaret Welborn is the author of the first prize theme. Joyce Short wrote the second place winner and Martha Kohlen is the third prize winning author.

DON'T SMOKE IN BED!

By Margaret Welborn

Your day started very gayly this morning, didn't it? It remained so up until an hour ago. Now you find yourself pacing up and down the corridor of a hospital. How long have you been waiting frantically in that corridor? Do you remember? Or do you want to forget that last dreadful hour you just lived?

Those two people who just walked in—the woman crying and the man fighting back his tears while both are praying that he is going to be alright—they are his parents. Aren't they? What will you tell them? Will you tell them that your carelessness has almost taken their son's life? Just exactly what did happen, do you remember?

"Yes, yes, I do remember. I remember every little detail of that horrible nightmare. I went to the Connors' home, just as I had for many times to sit with their son Timmy, while they went out. I know they must hate me now for what I have done. I don't want to think about it anymore."

Please go on. Remember the Connors will expect to know just what happened. After all the heartbreak you've caused them, don't you think they should know the truth?

"Yes, I guess you are right. Well, after they left, Timmy and I played for a while but it wasn't long before he got sleepy and I put him to bed. I went into the bedroom beside his to lie down and smoke. I selected a magazine and began reading."

"I don't know just how much time elapsed but I began to nod. I must have dropped my cigarette because suddenly I heard the crackling of giant flames leaping here, there, and everywhere. Evidently the cigarette must have ignited the curtains and spread very quickly because the room appeared to be an inescapable inferno. What was I to do? I stood there for a moment—frantic—screaming. I could think of nothing but to save my own life. I thought of Timmy not once. I ran through the door and down the stairs with a volley of flames chasing me. They must have already been in Timmy's room by then. I didn't know." "I stumbled out of the door and saw the neighbors and the firemen. All I could utter was 'Timmy-bedroom-upstairs' and then darkness engulfed me. When the light came I found myself at this hospital from sheer fright and exhaustion. But little Timmy lay suffering with critical burns. Not a very good trade is it—my carelessness for his safety?"

No, it isn't. But haven't you learned a lesson? A good lesson in fire prevention. Your carelessness brought disaster to several people, but yours isn't the only incident. There are hundreds of others. You may think all those fire prevention rules are not intended for you, but they apply to you and every individual in this world. Many people will never have this experience, but it is going to take you and thousands of people like you to show them that playing with a fire prevention rule does not pay!

PUBLIC ENEMY NUMBER ONE—CARELESSNESS

By Joyce Short

The Jones family was gathered in the living room as they always did in the evening twilight. Dad was reading, Mother was busy at some mending and both children were lying on the floor studying. The night was peaceful and no one noticed the small spark streaking along the worn-out cord on the floor lamp. Mrs. Jones had asked Mr. Jones to have the cord repaired and he had fully intended to do so but had neglected it because of the last minute rush at the store. Like so many of us are prone to do, he put it off until tomorrow what he should have done today.

The sudden flash of light, mother's scream and the children's horrified faces burned too acutely in his brain. He remembered now his wife's valiant effort to beat out the flames that rushed madly up the curtains. His little Janie had been too frightened to move and try as he might he could not seem to control the flames that were eating at her dress like a greedy beggar.

Mr. Jones crushed another cigarette in the ash tray and turned from his hours of pacing the floor to face the whiteclad nurse. She had just come from emergency surgery and informed him that the doctors were still fighting to save the life of his loved ones. They were given a fifty-fifty chance. His young son had been pronounced out of danger. "If only I had fixed the cord", he thought, but "if" is such a big word.

This scene is not unusual in our Nation, state or home town. In this case faulty wires were the reason but the fault lies on one thing—carelessness. It can be, and is the number one reason for many of the yearly fires that destroy people and property.

Everyone of us, as citizens, should do our best to avoid this sort of tragedy happening in our own home.

LET'S THINK AWHILE

By Martha Kohlen

So many people never let the thought of fire prevention enter their minds, unless they are suddenly jolted alert by some neighbors' home or property being destroyed by fire, or even their own. Then, too late, they see what they "might have done" to save their property, or what their neighbor could have done to save his.

Of course, we always think, "Oh, someone else's home may burn down, but mine won't." We close our eyes to the fact that maybe the wiring isn't as good as could be, or the patch of dry weeds and grass, beside the house could very easily be set afire by a careless match or cigarette or any number of things that could happen. It's a good thing that we don't worry so much about these things, I suppose, or we'd all be nervous wrecks, and couldn't think straight if something was afire. I don't mean that we should think about the possibility of a fire all the time and do nothing to prevent it. We should always be alert to the fire hazards around home, school, park, etc., and remove them.

A short while back, a Latin-American family named Tinajero, had the awful experience

Local Legionnaires To Seek Members "L Day," Monday

Legionnaires from more than 800 Texas American Legion posts with a slogan "level for the Legion" will seek to enroll other veterans in their organization Monday, which has been proclaimed by Governor Shivers and Mayor T. L. Jones as "L Day."

Membership Chairman J. M. Baylis and his committee will be in charge of soliciting new members in Garza county.

Monday is the beginning of another fiscal year for the American Legion which will start on its 36th year as the largest veterans organization in history.

of finding out what a fire is like.

The Tinajeros were living in a small house (which hadn't been completed) in Abilene. Mrs. Tinajero was in bed with a day-old baby. Her mother had gone to the kitchen to prepare the breakfast, taking a small grandchild with her. They only had a kerosene stove to cook on.

I don't know whether the old lady did something to the fire that she shouldn't have or not, but the kerosene stove exploded, caught the house afire and burned the old lady so badly that she never recovered. A neighbor rescued Mrs. Tinajero and the baby, but was unable to save the other child.

It's horrible to think about that mother and father having to watch as their home burnt, killing their small child.

We should all realize that "Fire Prevention" is everyone's job and that no one is exempt from fire. We should all keep our eyes open for fire hazards and keep our neighborhood, town, state, and the whole U. S. a safer place in which to live.

OIL PROGRESS WEEK
October 12 - 18

First National Bank

OCT-12-18 THIS IS OIL PROGRESS WEEK

Progress 1952

Texans have a natural interest in the oil industry, which is so important in our State, and in the progress made since Oil Progress Week was last observed. Here are a few quick facts:

New Wells—During the twelve months ending August 31, 1952, the Texas oil industry drilled 17,000 new wells, at a cost of over $700 million. Most of the heavy expense of drilling these new wells was paid from earnings plowed back into the development of the State's oil resources.

Production—Production has reached a record level. Texas currently is producing about 46 per cent of all the crude oil produced in the U. S. In the year ending August 31, Texas production totaled about 1,015 million barrels. There are now 113,800 producing oil wells in Texas.

Reserves—Proved oil reserves in Texas of 18 billion barrels represented 57 per cent of the U. S. total at the beginning of 1952. During 1951, the last year for which figures are available, proved reserves increased two billion barrels. These are developed oil reserves and the figure is important: developed reserves supply our needs currently and provide reserve capacity that is immediately available when we need it.

Refining—The Texas refineries will have a big year. They now employ, in round numbers, 46,000 Texans, and process about 28% of all the oil refined in the U. S. The daily refining capacity of all Texas refineries exceeds 2,000,000 barrels. A program to expand and improve these facilities has been general throughout the industry.

Taxes—The Texas oil industry continues to be the largest tax-payer in the State. Through the year ending August 31, gross production taxes alone on Texas oil and natural gas amounted to more than $137 million; in addition, the industry pays large amounts in other taxes.

Transportation—The total mileage of Texas' trunk pipe lines for oil and finished products is over 29,000. This low-cost transportation system is a major factor in the maintenance of the low prices you pay for petroleum products.

Humble Pipe Line Co. operates 5,895 miles of trunk lines for oil and finished products, which had transported a daily average of 722,600 barrels in the year ending August 31.

In brief, the Texas oil industry during the past year continued to do its part in meeting the demand for oil. It has expanded pipelines to provide low-cost transportation. It has improved facilities for making more and better petroleum products for your use. Today, two gallons of gasoline do work that required three gallons in 1925; and the gasoline costs no more than it did then.

Garza 4H And FFA Members Are In Dallas For Fair

Eleven 4-H and FFA boys left last Thursday night for the State Fair in Dallas. E. F. Schmedt, vocational agriculture teacher of Post high school, stated. The club members took commercial steers to be entered in the packer division of the show, which is being held today. Dick Roach trucker, provided transportation for the steers. The group left Post at 6 p. m. last Thursday and arrived in Dallas at 4 a. m. Friday, according to a telegram received by Schmedt.

The Garza county boys that went are Bobby Cowdrey, Harlon Pennington and Jack Ainsworth, FFA members from Post; Darrell Roberts, A. J. Stone, Dean Huddleston, Carrol Davis, and Auvy Lee McBride. Garza county 4-H club members, Lewis Heron, county agent, accompanied the boys, Schmedt said.

Schmedt and Mack Terry, FFA member, left Wednesday for the fair. Schmedt said that they would arrive there in time to fit the calves for Thursday's show.

In spite of the labor shortage, Southland is leading in the number of bales ginned with a total of 452. Pleasant Valley's Gin is second with 280 ginned bales. Close City had 215 bales, Graham 192, Planter's Gin of Post, 166, and Storie Gin, 63.

The average grade for the Southland gin is middling and has 3/8 inch staple. Pleasant Valley reported that their grade was middling with 3/8 inch staple. There is an ample supply of pickers in that community.

The cotton of the Close City area is grading from strict low middling to strict middling with 13/16 to 29/32 staple.

The cotton handled by the Graham gin is grading middling light spot and other variations and the staple has ranged from 13/16 to 7/8.

The Planter's gin has ginned most 3/8 inch staple cotton with a middling to strict middling grade. Storie Gin reported that the cotton ginned in their plant was of a middling grade and 3/8 inch staple was the best received.

All the managers reported that the harvest has just gotten underway in the county.

from the Maico Hearing Service of West Texas in Lubbock and George D. Holland of that company delivered the instrument Tuesday. Bill DeWalt, vice president of the Rotary Club, stated that the machine was bought for county use, but will be under the supervision of the Post school nurse. Plans will be announced in the near future as to the schedule for the rural school's use of the instrument. E. M. Mills, Post grade school principal, announced.

Mills said that he had seen the results of such tests before and that he is looking forward to a successful program in Post.

"We expect to find losses of hearing that have escaped the parents and teacher," Mills added. "Possibly, a change of the classroom seating arrangement will improve some of these faults in the hearing of the few found and other cases will need doctors' care."

The full support of the parents is urged by the school officials. Mills stated that the Audiometer will find the losses of hearing, but parents must work with the school nurse in improving them.

Yellowhammers Are Victors In Non-Conference Game Friday

With the passing of George... quarter back, the Rotan Yellowhammers raced to a speedy victory of 39 to 6 over the Post Yellowhammers, last Friday night in a non-conference tilt at Rotan. The game was the third loss for the Antelopes and the fourth for the Yellowhammers. The Post team is in District 5-AA, which boasts of faster, more experienced and heavier teams than those of District 6-AA of which Post is a member. The Yellowhammers outclassed the Antelopes in weight by 17 pounds per man, in speed, and in passing. The Post team has not met a team all season with passing offense of the Yellowhammers or one with as speedy backfield as last week's opponents.

Junior Antelopes Drop Second Game to Slaton Team

Junior Antelopes lost their non-conference game last Friday night, in Antelope Stadium, to the Slaton Junior Eagles. The score of the game was which was one a point difference from the first game lost, 6 to 0.

Nolan Williams, end, made the Antelopes score on a pass from Quarterback Darrell Stone. Harold Hamblen, Kerry Weems, Jerry Waggoner, and Lloyd Cross carried the ball for the Yellowhammers' scoring plays. Kent Westbrook kicked the three extra point conversions.

The scoring got underway early in the first quarter, when Rotan recovered a Post fumble and Hamblen raced around end from the 10 yard line for the first tally. Westbrook made the conversion with a kick. The Antelopes could not get the defense team of the Yellowhammers and they were forced to punt. Rotan took the ball on their own 35 yard line and began a touchdown march which ended with a pass from Peel to Weems for the second TD. The extra point kick by Westbrook was good. No gain was made for either team during the rest of the first quarter.

Rotan scored early in the second quarter with a pass from Peel to Waggoner, but the extra point attempt was blocked down by the Antelope line. The passing offense during this quarter was broken up by J. C. Shedd and Randall Lawrence. Shedd intercepted a Yellowhammer pass to gain possession of the ball for Post, but the offensive team of the Antelopes failed to make any gain and L. W. Evans punted. Rotan started another drive for a touchdown, with Cross, shifty halfback, carrying for the tally. Once again Westbrook made the conversion. The Antelopes had to punt again after the kickoff and the Rotan team attempted a pass which was intercepted by Lawrence. The score stood 27 to 0 at the end of the half.

Evans kicked for Post to start the second half and Doyle Waddell, end for Rotan, returned the ball to the 40 yard stripe. The Yellowhammers drove downfield for 41 yards gain with runs and passes before Darrell Norman intercepted a pass to stop this powerful drive.

Junior Antelopes came to the half full of fight, but Slaton's line was as solid as a wall and the necessary for a touchdown could not be made. The second half was up of "see-sawing" between the teams. Both squads made any considerable gain and the ball continued to change hands on downs. Post led three first downs during the period of play and Slaton led up one.

The Antelopes gained two first downs before the Rotan line became a solid front wall and Evans had to punt. The Yellowhammers failed to break down the resisting force of the Antelopes and Post took the ball on downs.

Rotan gained possession of the ball after a 55 yard punt by Evans and marched on for a touchdown. Cross carried the ball around right end to mark up this score and the extra point attempt failed.

Tommy Malouf, halfback for the Antelopes, became a powerhouse in the fourth quarter and played outstanding ball. He carried the ball for notable gain after the start of this period of play and the Antelopes were on a touchdown march when a twist of fate struck and they lost the ball on a fumble.

The Yellowhammers marched on to their final touchdown with the driving power and passing of the offensive team. The score was marked up with Waggoner taking a pass from Peel and the conversion was knocked down by Evans. The Antelopes took the ball on the kickoff and drove for 26 yards before being held and losing the ball on downs.

The Yellowhammers lost 165 yards on the next few plays after making two long runs for touchdowns and another run for a long gain. All three of these plays were called back on penalties.

The Antelopes took the ball after a punt for two no gain plays, then Stone completed a pass to Williams, who threw a lateral to David Pennington for a 35 yard gain. Then Stone connected another pass to Williams for the touchdown. The extra point attempt failed, this brought the score to 39 to 6.

The Antelopes had just completed the kick to Rotan and Cross was stopped on the 30 yard line when the final whistle blew.

SECTION TWO

THE POST DISPATCH SPORTS

— FROM A STRICTLY LOCAL ANGLE —

Post Has Open Date Friday Will Meet Tulia Oct. 24

The Post Antelopes have an open date this weekend and will be resting before acting as host to the gridiron team from Tulia, October 24, in Antelope Stadium.

The Antelopes dropped a non-conference game last Friday night to the Yellowhammers from Rotan, which is one of the strongest double A teams in the state. The Antelopes are now rated last in District 6-AA, but they are only one-half game behind the second and third place teams. This standing is based on non-conference games only, because no conference game has been played in District 6-AA at the present. The team from Tahoka is rated first with a one-half game lead over Spur and Slaton and a one game margin over Post.

The season's standing for the entire district is Tahoka, three wins to two losses; Spur, two wins and two losses; Slaton, three and three; and Post, two wins and three losses.

The results of last Friday's games were: Slaton 26, Morton 13; Rotan 39, Post 6; Tahoka 19, O'Donnell 0; and Spur had an open date. The schedule for this week's tilts is Post, open; Slaton at Ralls; Floydada at Spur; and Tahoka at Tulia.

District 2-AA standings for the 1952 season are of interest to football fans because of the showing of the Floydada Whirlwinds, top contenders for the title of this conference. They were the only winning team of District 2-AA during last week's battles. The Post Antelopes have the honor of being the only team to have scored against the Whirlwinds. This powerful and heavyweight squad from Floydada has scored 208 points against their opposition of the 1952 season. The Winds are standing out in front in their district with five wins, no losses; Canyon rates second with two wins, one loss and one tie; Tulia is third with two wins and three losses; and Hereford has one win, two losses and two ties to their credit. Two teams of District 6-AA will meet District 2-AA squads this weekend for games, they are Spur, playing Floydada and Tahoka journeying to Tulia.

Another double A district group that is in the public eyes at present is District 8-AA, of which Pecos and Seminole are tied for the first place ratings with five wins each. Monahans is a close third with four wins and one loss; Kermit has three wins and two losses and Andrews rates last with one win and three losses.

The district games of District 5-AA, which is called one of the strongest in the state this year, gets underway Friday night with teams playing conference games. Anson, the winner of 1951 and also state semi-finals champs, will be welcoming Colorado City; unbeaten Stamford will be host to Rotan, and Hamlin goes to Merkel. The winner of this district will probably play the winner of District 6-AA for the bi-district championship.

The biggest upset of the season in District 4-B was the Ropesville and Meadow game. Meadow was definitely the underdog of the tilt, but upset the predictions by romping over Ropes with a score of 26-0.

Little Antelopes Win Third Game

The Post grade school sixth and seventh football team racked up another victory last Thursday night in Antelope Stadium by defeating the Slaton team, 28 to 0. This was the third win of the season for the Little Antelopes. They suffered one loss at the hands of the O'Donnell Eagles to mar their record for this year.

Bobby Cowley and Jackie Odom were the boys that sparked the team to their victory. Cowboy took the ball over for the first touchdown early in the first quarter with an off tackle play for 10 yards. Odom carried the ball to mark up the extra point.

The Tigers took the ball after the kickoff for a 20 yard return but failed to make the necessary gain for a first down and Post took the ball on downs.

The second quarter started with a long run by Odom and then a run through the middle by Cowley for the TD. Once again Odom plowed through the middle for the extra point. This tally brought the score to 14 and 0, in favor of the Little Antelopes. Herbie Hays was the principal man on defense and Morris Bird did outstanding work on offense during the remainder of the first half.

Post received the ball to start the second half and failed to make any gain and they were forced to punt. The team from Slaton failed to break through the Antelope line and they punted. Hays took the ball for a 30 yard return and the touchdown march by the Little Antelopes was underway. This time the scoring team of Cowley and Odom reversed their positions and Odom carried the ball from the 15 yard stripe for a right end sweep and a touchdown. Cowley plunged over for the extra point.

Slaton failed to break down the resistance of the sixth and seventh graders' defense team and Cowley took a punt return for the final touchdown and was also the carrier for the extra point. Slaton fumbled immediately after the kickoff and Post recovered. The Little Antelopes failed to make any gain and the ball went over to the Tigers, who still had possession when the game ended, with a final score of 28 to 0.

Southland Defeats Peacock For The Third Win In District 3-B Games

The Southland Eagles marked up their third win in District 3-B six man football, Friday night, in Southland, by romping over the Peacock team 44 to 0. This made the Eagles' record of conference games a three win, one loss record.

Junior Becker, Jack Haire, Donald Basinger, and Harley Johnston were the ball carriers for the touchdown plays. Vernon Scott and Johnston caught passes from Basinger for the extra points of the game.

The first quarter was a show of fine defensive work by both teams and neither the home team nor the visitors could break down the resisting forces of their opponents and the quarter ended in a 0-0 tie.

Southland came out of the slump during the second half with three touchdowns and one extra point. Becker, Eagles' right half, ran around right end for 25 yards and the first TD. Basinger completed a pass to score for the two extra points allowed by six man football rules. Haire scored the second touchdown on a 15 yard run up the middle and the extra point try failed. The team from Southland drove to the two yard line and Becker carried over for another touchdown in the last few minutes of the first half.

Haire took the ball on the kickoff from Peacock and ran 70 yards for the first scoring tally of the third period of play and once more the attempt for extra points failed. A few plays later, Basinger ran 50 yards for another tally and then completed a pass to Johnston for the extra points.

The last touchdown of the game was made by Haire after a drive for yardage gains of eight yards and then a 10 yard run over the middle. The extra point kick failed.

Coach G. H. Spears stated that his boys "played fine ball, but were hindered by the injuries of some of the squad members. One of the most missed players was Jack Haliburton, the kicker for the Eagles, who was injured in workout last Thursday.

Post Basketball Girls Defeat The O'Donnell Teams

Post basketball girls started their season Monday night by defeating the teams from O'Donnell in three games.

The third string girls played first and Post took the lead early in the second quarter and went on to a 26 to 14 victory, with Katie McClellan leading all the way. The members of this team are Mildred Wells, Arleta Gary, Rheba Hays, K. McClellan, Mary Weatherby, Janyce Lobban and Glenda Askins.

Tommie Williams was the trouble maker against O'Donnell in the B game, but the entire team played exceptionally good ball. DeEva Lofton led the scoring with 13 points. The team is composed of Joy Martin, Tommie Williams, Woody Stewart, DeEva Lofton, Virgie Ammons, Maxine Baylis and Maudie Faye Ray. The final score of this game was 49 to 14 in Post's favor.

The A team won their game by a score of 63 to 11. Juaneila McClellan was the high point girl of this game. Good defense was displayed by the Post guards. Members of the first string are Deanie Hill, DeEva Lofton, Martha Wyatt, Jackie Sue Dale, Mary Jo Williams and J. McClellan.

Antelope Fans May Go To Spur On Bus

Bill Edwards, president of the Antelope Booster club, announced that the club plans to charter a special bus to carry Antelope fans to the Spur game on October 30. Plans are now in progress for the bus and everyone interested is asked to contact Edwards at Greenfield Hardware Co. before October 24.

Edwards stated that they would get as many busses as could fill, but had to have at least 30 riders to get one bus. He added that a swell time was had by all who rode the chartered bus to Rotan and that he is certain that the fans would enjoy the trip more if they will go by bus.

"This is one way to keep so many cars off the highways and reduce automobile accidents," Edwards said.

From One Old Timer To Another

... for years the oil industry and its great personnel have been a vital point in our defense and our economical situation . . . but today, especially in Garza County, where its play has been so important, we salute!

IT HAS BEEN AND ALWAYS WILL BE A PLEASURE TO SERVE THE GARZA COUNTY OIL FRATERNITY.

Let Us Continue To Supply Your Furniture Needs

MASON & CO.

"37 Years Of Friendly Service"

We keep comfort and convenience "on tap" for YOU

As your local oil jobber and distributor we receive and store petroleum products in our bulk plant and see that they are delivered in any weather, in any emergency to fill the needs of our community.

As local businessmen we pride ourselves on knowing what kinds of products and services our neighbors want. Yes, we're proud to be part of the progressive oil industry that brings better living to this community. This is our pledge that we will continue to serve you and our community well.

Winners Announced In Poster Contest

The winners of the Fire Prevention poster contest were announced by Homer McCrary, fire chief of the Post Volunteer Fire Department, last Friday. There were three divisions of this contest, McCrary said. The first division was for the grade school pupils of Post, the second was a contest for pupils in the rural schools of Garza county, and the last contest was for the colored school of Post.

The winners of the Post grade school division were: Lucille Guthrie, first place; Sheila Lawrence, second; Annetta Henderson third and Patricia Wheatley, fourth. The winners in the rural school group were all from Justiceburg and are as follows: Johnny Robinson, first; Weldon Reed, second; Sammie Kay Caffey, third; and Michael Ray, fourth. The prizes for these two divisions were $7.50 for the first place winners; $5 for the second best; $3, third prize and $2 for the fourth place.

The winners in the colored school group were Grace Evelyn Hoyle, first place and winner of $5; C. L. Milo, second place and $3 was his prize; and Johnny Johnson, third and winner of $1. "The judging was a difficult job and we are sorry everyone could not win first," McCrary stated.
