By CHARLES DIDWAY

THIS IS ONE of those weeks when we get all mixed up in election refurns . . . like ticker

THOSE TWO OKLAHOMA youngsters who played hookey for 50 days broke our record by 45. The last time we were back in the old home town, one of the two schoolmates who helped us establish what we thought would stand as an all-time record, told us it hadn't been broken up to then. But now it has.

WE BEGAN OUR hookey-playing marathon, the three of us, one Monday morning during the biggest snowfall in the history of the old home town. We descended into the basement boiler room before school began and didn't emerge until after everyone else had gone home. We passed the time playing pitch (the kind you play with cards), and those of you who have played pitch know what an absorbing game it can bewhen you have nothing better to do.

BEFORE WENDING OUR respective ways homeward that afternoon, the three of us agreed to try the same thing the next day. After that, it grew on us and we didn't attend a class all week, although we were in the same school building where classes were being clicked off with monotonous regulari-

THE ONLY OTHER person we saw around school that week was the mild-mannered janitor who came down regularly to stoke the furnace. One of my cohorts, a 200-pound Choctaw Indian who played fullback on the football team, told the ianitor the first day that if he breathed a word of our whereabouts, we'd toss him in the furnace. We wouldn't have, of course, but then the janitor didn't know that.

WE'RE SURE OUR absence didn't go unnoticed, but none of the town's few telephones were in our homes, and the school administrators apparently didn't consider us important enough to the school's well-being to slesh through hip-deep snow and inquire of our trusting homefolks why we weren't in school. By the end of the week, most of the snow was gone, and the following Monday we were back in school as if nothing had happened.

WE WOULDN'T ADVISE any of today's youngsters to try it. Education is an important thing, and who knows . . . that one week the three of us missed in school might have been the very one we needed to have made howling successes of us in later life.

THE WISE WOMAN we know-the one you meet every week in Pauline's front page column, "Up and Down Main Street"-came up this week with two sage sayings. In addition to what she told Pauline for her column, she told us for ours that she'll be happy just so long as she can keep her hair light and her past dark.

THIS ISN'T THE season for them, but since ung Barry Gordon of Waco believes in keeping his word, he sent his father, Homer Gordon, and Sid Cross a watermelon last week.

Voters who went to the polls on March 1 to vote on consolidation of the Post Independent and Graham and Garnolia common school districts have an opportunity in Saturday's trustee election to see to it that seven qualified men are chosen to the board of the new district.

Selection of competent trustees is just as important-more so in one sense of the word-as consolidation of the three districts. The turnout of voters in the consolidation election was considered good, and there is no reason why it shouldn't be even better in Saturday's trustee

In addition to electing seven board members, voters will ballot on assumption of the bonded indebtedness of the three districts and setting of a maintenance tax, two things that are required by law when districts are consolidated. When you vote on these two issues you will not be voting on new bonds nor an increase in taxes.

All qualified voters-those who have paid their 1957 poll tax or are exempt by reason of age-are eligible to vote for trustees. All qualified property-owning voters are eligible to vote on the bond assumption and maintenance tax issues as well. This includes just about everyone, since ownership of an automobile or any other property on which taxes are paid qualifies one as a property-owning voter.

Qualified voters of the three districts can show their interest in their schools' future by exercising their right and privilege . . . by voting in Saturday's trustee election.

investments are made haphazardly. Sometimes they are made on the advice of employees of brokerage firms. It, however, will usually be found that these men have been unable to make and KEEP any money for themselves.

Importance Of Patience, Hope, And Desire To Render Service

The selfish, shortsighted person seldom makes much money in the stock market, and keeps it only by sheerluck. Most of the real fortunes of today came from the fundamental desire to render service and give "for value received" help to: (1) A panicky market or (2) a new and useful industry. The first can be accomplished by anyone with patience and hope; the second sometimes fails because of poor judgment or because one is too early or too late.

Both of the above two methods of making money require courage, hope, and patience. It takes courage to sell stocks and "store up" cash during a bull market when most people are very optimistic; and it takes courage to buy stocks again, one or two years later, when most people are bearish. Futhermore, the waiting period between these right times to sell and buy requires patience and hope. However, the person who follows either of the above methods renders an important service; namely, his selling helps make the boom less dangerous, and his buying helps check the psnic. For this service an investor always receives a handsome reward.

Method No. 1-Selling High And Buying Low It is important that an investor decide in advance which of the above two methods he is to follow. It is difficult to mix the two methods. If you are to follow the first, of "selling high and buying low," it is usually best to confine your holdings to the active popular stocks, perhaps those known as the "blue chips"; while the secand method often requires buying stocks of new and smaller companies with inactive markets. All purchases should be confined to listed stocks. In either case, never buy on margin or borrowed money. For results with this first method, under the very best conditions-which no one of some of the best single stocks, the following figures are most interesting:

For instance, General Electric, now quoted around 55, but selling due to stock splits at an equivalent of 165, sold for 9 during the thirties. Texas Company stocks, now selling at an equivalent of 248, then sold at 10. Deere & Company, now selling at an equivalent of 180, then sold at 4. Du Pont, now selling at an equivalent of 720, then sold at 22. General Motors, now selling at an equivalent of 40, then sold at 8; while Radio Corporation, now selling at 33, then sold at 3. Method No. 2-Buying Into New Industries

Howard N. Feist, Jr. of the Business Statistics Organization of Wellesley Hills, Mass. has made an analysis of what could have been accomplished by investing only $100 in automobile stocks in 1915 and then making twenty-two successive switches into various industries, at the right time. This results in a most amazing figure of over two billion dellars!

As a practical matter, it would have been very difficult to have picked the right groups at the right time; but if you chose 90% wrong and only 10% right (provided all else was 100% correct), the $100 could have resulted in over $200,-009,000, diaregarding both taxes and dividends. Any "Doubting Thomas" may get a copy of this analysis with list of groups by sending two dollars to the Information Center, New Boston,

Results Of Certain Trustees

I also have a copy of what E. L. Quirin of Elm Street, Wellesley Hills, Mass., who handles Trust Funds (minimum of $50,000) has accomplished per $1,000. In 17 years he has turned $1,000 into $7,296 for a local friend of mine. This menns an annual rate of interest of from 25% to 40%. Of course, he had the general market in his favor much of the time; but it is another illustration of what intelligent, supervised investing can theoretically accomplish.

Those who keep wailing that daylight has de-come and dey wanna go home have my wholehearted permission to leave for home immediately and quietly.

I BECOME MORE puzzled every year. Does spring come on the wentieth or twenty-first of March? Until recently I thought I knew. Now, it seems, it all depends,

Spring is here, since both the wentieth and twenty-first are far behind us, but this is the sort of thing that compounds the wintriness of my cold-weather discontent. I used to look forward to spring's coming definitely on the twenty-

So even if the twentieth was buried under a blizzard, I could always say, "Well, it's still winter. But tomorrow will be spring." Or if snow was still falling on the twenty-first I could say, "Well, it can't last long, because it's

But what can you say when you don't know whether it is winter or spring? Just to say "It's snowing" is no outlet for the seasonal emotions.

Apparently the weatherman really does know when spring is due. To some people, and especially the experts on astronomy or climate, it may seem very fine to be able to pop up from the nether side of nowhere and announce that spring will breeze in-or by-at exactly such and such an hour, a whole day earlier than the rest of us expected.

But that sort of performance only leaves the rest of us asking where were we or where was spring. Or if we happen to see the calculations ahead of time they start us wondering how they are arrived at, and the next time we look at the clock it's time to put the cat out-in the snow.

If Shakespeare were alive to-day, he'd say, "The quality of mercy is not only strained, it is tenderized, homogenized, pasteurized, filtered, artificially colored and flavorized, with 400 units of vitamin D added."

In New York City the other evening Jackie Gleason was asked by the management to leave the Stork Club-and away he went!

NORMAN WRIGHT in The Ranger Times writes: "One of the things we could very easily get along without is the waitress who comes around about the time we have finished eating and asks sweetly, 'How did we enjoy our lunch today, sir?' Some of these days we are going to come right out and tell her the truth, that the stuff wasn't fit to dump out the door.

"Reminds us of a nurse we had one time who kept running in and out on missions of mercy. 'It's time to take our temperature now, sir,' she would say, or 'Let's drink our orange juice now,' or 'Let's take another spoonful of our medicine so we won't cough so much.' She capped the climax of this performance when she barged in one day and announced pleasantly, 'It's time for us to take our syringe now, sir-upsy daisy!"

The Middle East situation is fast reaching the status quo anteonly more so.

IF YOU PLAYED some prank on April Fool's Day, you followed a custom that goes back over 375 years; so far, in fact, that its true origin is uncertain.

In 1564, the tenants of France celebrated a gala day on April 1. playing tricks and doing foolish things. They were happy because they had won an important court decision over the land owners of the country. This was the start of April Fool's Day.

There have been many famous April Fool pranks, but probably none which lasted longer than one which is still an annual event in a small town in Maine. In this town is a hotel patronized by traveling salesmen and business men. During the winter, a large storm vestibule is placed on the front veranda, protecting the main entrance to the hotel.

Early on the morning of April 1, this storm porch is moved to one side, so that it leads to a blank wall. On the wall is a sign reading, "April Fool!!" People hurrying up the walk, open the door of the storm porch and find themselves in a blind alley, face to face with the April Fool sign.

Their bewilderment is complete, because the real entrance cannot be seen from the walk, and it has apparently vanished.

This trick was played forty years ago by the owner of the hotel, and is still played every year. It seems to be just as successful as ever.

The builfrog was making a speach at the bullfrogs' conven-

The Futile Years

All the futile years are stacked like uneven bricks against the far horizon of my childhood when warm days brought my mother to the soil. Her hands loved the feel of it; her heart gloried in the earth's perfume. She carried a small river of water in buckets to her flower beds and the rewarding lilac bushes, between the steps and the gate. The yard no longer blooms before the shell that was a home. Neglect and silence make a trysting place for memories with flutes attuned to the melancholy winds.-"Trail Dust" in Matador Tribune.

Best Is Yet To Come?

Strange stories always come out of such a storm as the Panhandle blizzard, and we probably haven't heard the best ones yet. A New York couple in a foreign-make sports car were highly indignant when they stopped in the Club Cafe Sunday. Officers at Shamrock had refused to let them tration. Suddenly his voice cracked. "Excuse me, gentlemen," he said. "I must have a man in my

Jones and Brown, two big game hunters, were arguing in their tent about their ability with rifles, "I'll bet ten dollars I can go out right now and shoot a bear," Jones said.

Ten minutes later a bear poked his head into the tent. "Do you know a feilow named Jones?" he asked.

"Yes." quavered Brown. "He owes you ten dollars," the bear answered.

heard about a Texas blizzard, they said. "Here we had a chance to be in one, and the officers wouldn't let us through." But a Texas group from the Gulf Coast area had the answer for that one. 'We were in it," they said, "and one time is enough. As far as we are concerned they can give that country back to the Indians."-"Trends" in The Crosbyton Re-

Enterprising Youth You know, these little newsboys are enterprising youngsters. They-'ll do practically anything to sell a paper. Just the other day it came back to us that one boy was barking, "Monahans News, Monahan News, Read all about the two men swindled." A passerby bought a paper, looked it over quickly, and said, "Say, there's nothing in here about two men being swindled." The boy went on with his selling, "Monahan News, Monahans News, three men swindled."-Gene Dow in The Monahans News.

It's Official New!

According to the best authorities and several of our plentiful supply of calendars, spring is of-ficially here. THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship.

It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neitner democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should altend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Fruitless Search For Knife-Wielder Leads To Liquor-Laden Car

Sheriff Carl Rains and City Marshal O. G. Shepherd Jr. settled for a liquor haul Saturday night after failing to find the man they were looking for in a stabbing case.

While looking for a man who had stabbed Pedro Garcia in the lower right arm, the officers came upon a parked automobile containing 40 lugs and six cases of beer, 14 lugs of wine and four lugs of whiskey. They later arrested the alleged owner of the automobile.

Sheriff Rains said Garcia was unable to name his assailant and that questioning of eyewitnesses to the stabbing also failed to establish the knife wielder's identity.

The intoxicants found in the automobile were confiscated and the sherilf said charges of transportation were to be filed this week against the car's owner.

Trustee, Bond Assumption And Maintenance Tax Election

> HERE'S SOME INFORMATION ABOUT THE TWO PROPOSITIONS APPEARING AT THE BOTTOM OF THE BALLOT:

The vote on the bonds assumption and maintenance tax has been made necessary by changing of the school district boundary lines in the recent consolidation of the Post, Graham and Gamalia school districts.

No new bands are being voted and no new tax is being set. The vote is merely for assumption by the new district of the out standing bonded indebtedness of each of the three districts and setting of a maintenance tax not to exceed $1.50 per $100.00 property tax valuation, as required by law.

> IMPORTANT THAT YOU VOTE FOR EACH OF THESE PROPOSITIONS.
