ASSUME HOSPITAL DUTIES — Mr. and Mrs. Don Curl have assumed their new duties at Garza Memorial Hospital, Curl as administrator and laboratory technician and Mrs. Curl as bookkeeper. The couple, shown here in the hospital lab, are from Jacksboro, where he held a similar position at the Jack County Hospital. The Curls were present at last Thursday night's hospital board meeting, which consisted mainly of a "getting acquainted" session for the board members and the two new employees.—(Staff Photo).

School Enrollment Here Shows Gain Of 202 Students Over Last Year's

The current enrollment figure of 1,170 white students in the Post schools is an increase of 202 students—20.8 per cent—over enrollment at the end of the second six-weeks period of the 1956-57 term, Supt. R. K. Green told school board members at Monday night's meeting.

The greatest increase—143—is in the elementary school, where 613 pupils were enrolled on Jan. 6, as compared with 475 at end of the second six-weeks last year.

The increase in the three grades of junior high school is 37—up to 274 from last year's figure of 237.

The total for the high school on Jan. 6 was 278, as compared with 256 at about the same time last year.

Even after the Jan. 6 count was made, there have been increases in all three schools, the superintendent told the trustees. He said the fifth grade presents a problem with 140 students in four sections. He said he believed average daily attendance soon will qualify the school for an additional fifth grade teacher.

"One teacher can keep 40 pupils, but she can't teach that many," Green said in advising the board of the fifth grade enrollment problem. Enrollment by grades at the last count was as follows: Elementary School — 1st grade, 144; 2nd, 104; 3rd, 97; 4th, 126; 5th, 140; special school, 7. Junior High — 6th grade, 95; 7th, 89; 8th, 90. High School — 9th grade, 102; 10th, 74; 11th, 49; 12th, 53.

Poll Tax Payments Lag; Political Pot Simmers

Poll tax payments Wednesday still were lagging far behind what they should be considering that the Jan. 31 deadline is less than two weeks away.

Up to 4 p. m. Wednesday, 537 poll tax receipts had been issued, which leaves anywhere between 900 and 1,000 to go if the county comes up to its usual election year figures.

Meanwhile, four more candidates announced for office this week, bringing the number to seven. They were Dean A. Robinson for re-election as county school superintendent; Carl Cederholm for re-election as district and county clerk; Bryan Maxey for Precinct 2 county commissioner, and D. C. Roberts for re-election as Precinct 1 justice of the peace.

Board Plans Early Search For New School Head

8-Member Park Board Sets Initial Meeting

First meeting of the city-county park board members will be held next Thursday evening for the purpose of organizing, which will include selection of a ninth person to serve as member-at-large. Also at the meeting, Mayor James L. Minor and County Judge Pat N. Walker will present the board two $2,500 checks to be used for park development and promotion during 1958. The city and county each will present $2,500 checks at the beginning of each calendar year for 10 years in the joint park development plan.

Park board members appointed by the county commissioners' court Monday and the length of time each will serve on the board are: Mrs. Hub Haire, one year; Alvin Young, two years; Ozell Williams, three years; Floy Richardson, four years.

Under the joint park development plan, the portion of the park north of South Lake "shall be developed exclusively for recreational purposes" and the part lying south of South Lake, "shall be devoted to and developed for the furtherance of agricultural exhibits, experiments and demonstrations."

The board will have exclusive control of the park's development with the only stipulation being that before actual construction is begun "the park board shall secure the services of a qualified park engineer or architect, have him plan the park and then follow the plan."

The park property will be deeded to the park board to be held in trust for the use and benefit of the citizens of Post and Garza County. The contract also calls for the city to take the park property into the city limits and to pass "such ordinances as are necessary to protect the public's property and to guarantee to the public the uninterrupted use and enjoyment of said park."

Generally, however, the trustees agreed that it would be "best for the schools" not to renew Green's contract.

The unanimous voice vote against renewal of the superintendent's contract followed a secret ballot in which the vote was six to one against contract renewal. Earlier, the board members had agreed to take a voice vote to try to make their action unanimous in case the secret vote was split.

Clint Herring, president of the board, said today that a meeting will be held soon to get a search under way for a new superintendent. The board is considering hiring a business manager in order to give the superintendent more time for faculty administration and other duties.

Supt. Green told The Dispatch today that "I think my accomplishments will still be here after I leave."

He said that there had been a state of confusion in the schools here even before he came in 1955. "Conditions were not stable, by any means," he said.

"I feel that the over-all program of the schools has improved under my administration, and we are not in debt financially, as we were when I came to Post," Green said.

The superintendent has two children in school—Kent, a junior, and Bob, a fifth grader. The Greens also have a five-year-old daughter, Barbara.

Green was superintendent at Santa Anna before coming to Post.

County, District Clerk Is Seeking Re-Election

Carl Cederholm has authorized The Dispatch to announce his candidacy for re-election to the office of county and district clerk of Garza County, subject to the Democratic primaries.

Cederholm, who was elected to the office in 1954, said he would make a formal statement to the voters at a later date.

School Study Success Depends Upon Number Participating, Says Aikin

Three Garza County school men, in Austin last Thursday for an ad-State Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. says that the success of the Legislature's state-wide study of the Texas Public Schools will depend upon the number of persons participating in the county meetings.

Aikin, who is chairman of the study, told the 1,200 administrators that "the Committee of 24 has no axes to grind, no new programs to propose."

On Phone Rate Boost Request

City To Resubmit Rate Compromise

By JIM CORNISH

Post's city council at a special meeting Monday night voted unanimously to again offer General Telephone Company the same compromise rate increase here which they offered and had immediately rejected by the utility firm last September.

The phone rate boost proposed by the council would call for 50 cent hikes in the monthly business phone rates and 25 cent a month boosts in both residential one and two party phone rates.

The action came after a 90 minute discussion of General Telephone's new rate hike request presented to the council at its January meeting last week.

The phone firm has been pressing for a rate hike for almost four years without success — the city's contention being that for the service given the phone company was making a fair return on their local investment.

General Telephone last week asked for an increase of $1.50 and $1.75 on one and two party business phones and 50 and 75 cents respectively on one and two-party residential phones.

The city council in coming back with its original compromise offer pointed out in its letter to General Telephone that "using the utility's own figures" this would give the phone firm a net investment return of approximately 5 1/2 per cent after payment of federal taxes.

General Telephone in its presentation last week said the company was now earning only a 3.45 per cent rate of return on investment taxes. Its proposed rate boosts would jump the net return after taxes to 7.19 per cent.

In voting to resubmit the compromise offer with "no strings attached," the council was following the advice of its attorney, Carleton P. Webb.

The action followed a colorful discussion of the long-standing phone rate issue which Mayor James Minor opened with the comment:

"A number of people came to me after last week's meeting — most of them reasonable, solid citizens—to give me their views on the phone problem. I have yet to have one of them tell me to give the phone company anything."

Cy Thaxton declared that everybody who had talked to him about the rate case wanted to know why we even offered them a compromise boost last September.

Councilmen agreed that if any utility rates needed hiking for a sufficient investment return it was the municipal water rates—not the phone rates.

City Attorney Webb told the council that in his opinion General See PHONE RATES, Page 8

Following Break-In At Judy's Cafe

Suspects Are Given Lie-Detector Tests

Lie-detector tests given two suspects in last Thursday night's burglary of Judy's Cafe were inconclusive, County Sheriff Carl Rains said Wednesday.

The suspects, one 16 and the other 21 years old, were taken to Austin Tuesday by the sheriff and Texas Ranger R. E. "Raz" Renfro of Lubbock for the polygraph tests.

The juvenile suspect was released following the trip to Austin, but the 21-year-old was still being held Wednesday morning, the sheriff said.

Meanwhile, Texas Rangers were here again Wednesday continuing an investigation into the burglary, which included theft of money from coin-operated machines, wrist watches, candy and cigars, and extensive damage to the coin machines.

Norman Moriearty, who was in charge of the cafe while his father-in-law and owner of the business, Wesley Northcutt, was away on a vacation trip, said $16.80 was taken from two cigarette machines and an undetermined amount of money from a record machine.

Moriearty said the intruders' haul would have been larger except for the fact that the coin machine operator had been alerted.

Rites Set Today For Lott Infant

Funeral services for Lynsey Elizabeth Lott, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. (Jack) Lott Jr., were to be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon in St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Lubbock.

The infant, who was about a month old, died of spinal meningitis at 11:40 a.m. Wednesday in West Texas Hospital, where she had been admitted Tuesday night.

The Rev. Willis P. Gerheart, former pastor of the Church of Heavenly Rest at Abilene, officiated at the funeral services. Burial was in Tech Memorial Park Cemetery.

Survivors include the parents; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Lott Sr., of Post, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Minor Alexander of Abilene.

Potts Elected As Bank Director

J. B. Potts, a vice president of the First National Bank, was elected to the bank's board of directors Tuesday afternoon at the annual stockholders' meeting of the local financial institution.

All other ten directors of the bank were re-elected.

L. W. Duncan, also a vice president, was named secretary of the board.

The directors held a meeting following the stockholders' meeting and re-elected all the bank's officers.

Three Garza Countians Attend Administrators' Conference

Three Garza County school men, in Austin last Thursday for an ad-State Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. says that the success of the Legislature's state-wide study of the Texas Public Schools will depend upon the number of persons participating in the county meetings.

Aikin, who is chairman of the study, told the 1,200 administrators that "the Committee of 24 has no axes to grind, no new programs to propose."

"We do want," he said, "specific recommendations from the people of Texas on many important school matters and we then will pass the recommendations along to all members of the Legislature."

Those attending the conference from this county were Dean A. Robinson, county school superintendent; R. K. Green, superintendent of Post schools, and F. W. Callaway, superintendent of schools at Southland.

As keynote speaker for the annual School Administrators Advisory Conference sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, the Paris lawmaker challenged the citizens of Texas to give this school study

"the same splendid cooperation you gave us ten years ago," Senator Aikin in 1947 was co-sponsor of the Gilmer-Aikin school survey which resulted in legislation designed to guarantee at least a minimum of educational opportunity to each child of school age in Texas.

"The Committee of 24 was established in Texas before foreign developments re-emphasized the fact that education is a vital part of our national defense," Senator Aikin said. "To a much greater extent than ever before, our survival depends upon the quality of our schools."

The Committee has slated meetings to be held in every Texas county, and has urged complete participation by all districts. County chairmen have been asked to insure that at least two-thirds of the active participants in the study are lay citizens not engaged in teaching or school administration.

Senator Aikin said each county committee has until May 1 to submit its official report.

Peace Re-Election

Roberts today authorized The Dispatch to announce his candidacy for re-election as Precinct 2 justice of the peace, subject to the Democratic primaries.

Roberts, a resident of Garza since 1918, was appointed justice of the peace early in 1954 to fill the unexpired term of J. D. King. He made good his record for the office in 1954 elections, and was not re-elected in 1956 because of a constitutional amendment that changed the term of office to four years.

Statement to the voters

"The time I have been in office I have handled approximately 100 cases and have made every effort to handle them in a impartial manner. I appreciate the confidence you show in me as Precinct 2 justice of the peace in 1954 and I shall make every effort to merit your confidence. In the meantime I solicit your vote."

Cooperation Needed In Tax Project

The city and school district have gone together to jointly order a complete revaluation of all taxable property in both the city of Post and the school district.

The tax valuation engineering firm of Pritchard and Abbott, which already is employed by both governmental units here to value oil and industrial properties, has been hired to do the job.

The firm's representative has promised an immediate start so that the new valuations would apply for next year's taxes.

Total cost of the valuation program will be $12,500.

Both the city and school district have asked for an equalization valuation—one aimed at fairly placing the rightful valuation upon each piece of property large or small. The objective is not to boost valuations, although obviously that is likely to result in the overall total valuation.

Property revaluations of course are looked to rather apprehensively by most taxpayers in this day of constantly rising cost of government as well as cost of living. They feel of course that valuation boosts in the end will result in more taxes off a bigger tax base.

That is why it should be emphasized from the start that the city and school district are long overdue for a complete revaluation so that each citizen will carry a fair share of the burden.

The engineering firm has promised a thorough, fair, and competent job. It has a good reputation in such work.

There is no doubt but that the end result for the community as a whole should be of great benefit if the valuation work is carried out in the manner promised. Many inequities exist, so many in fact that a thorough overhaul is the best way to set things straight.

Therefore citizens should approach the valuation project with an open mind and a cooperative attitude.—JC.

Dozens Of Thirteens Needed

Every community wants good schools—parents especially and teachers too.

One of the "vehicles" built to foster parent-teacher understanding and interest in better schools is the Parent-Teacher Association. The PT-As have become a national movement and one which can do a great amount of good.

But such organizations, no matter how good the cause, can get out of step with the times and lose most of their membership and attendance.

That is what has happened here in Post. Last week only 13 adults turned out to the monthly meeting—almost evenly divided between teachers and parents. Clearly there is a lack of interest here on the part of the teachers as well as the parents.

Last week, the 13 who did show up spent the evening discussing ways and means to bring the PT-A back into real being. There were lots of good suggestions.

To build back the attendance it was generally agreed that the organization needed programs on topics which would attract parents, an action program to keep the membership busy, and a better selling job to get both parents and teachers out.

A school system which numbers its parents in the lower thousands should attract more than six or seven to the meetings of an organization aimed at school improvement. Next month efforts are being aimed at a social which will get parents and teachers better acquainted and toward efforts to "advertise" the session in advance. To be sure that working mothers and fathers too have an opportunity to attend, the February meeting has been changed from an afternoon one to an evening one.

If the efforts to rebuild the Post PT-A in the months ahead don't produce results, who can blame the 13 who turned out last week from staying home as well.—JC

Case Of Shoe On Other Foot

We folks in Garza County, like those everywhere else in the nation, have had a sufficient quantity of advice on the parent-child relationship to do us from now on—whether we follow it or not. We hear continually about what parents owe their children, but isn't it about time to begin considering that love, after all, is a two-way street, and that the children owe their parents something too?

Part of the children's pleasure in growing up should be the dawning realization that their parents are not so terribly different from them, and that younger people really do have some obligations to their parents.

Specifically, some of these obligations are: Children owe their parents breathing space—room to move around, even to make drastic changes in their lives. It is astonishing how resentful some people feel about a parent's having a private life.

The children owe their parents patience: wait a few years. It is quite common for parents to like their children better at certain ages than at others—but they do not abandon them in off-seasons. So, too, at intervals children may have difficulty liking their parents, but time makes changes in both instances.

Children owe their parents forbearance: suppose they aren't the most exciting people you know. Nobody is so dull that he has no interests—unless we are too dull to find them.

Children owe their parents attention. They alone can provide the little things—the gift when it's not a birthday, a letter when it isn't their turn to write. Of course such things are trouble. Nobody knows that better than parents who have sat up nights to make a daughter's party dress or eaten hamburger instead of steak to save money for a bicycle.

Most of all, children owe their parents what they owe themselves or anyone else: an acceptance as people. Right, wrong, impatient, generous, serene, suspicious—older people are, as a wise man once said, "Just like young people, only more so." The children will be there themselves one day.—CD

Poll Tax Receipt Gilt-Edged Bargain

With bank deposits, postal receipts and rainfall having marked up all-time highs at the end of 1957, January would be a good month for us to stay in the groove and see that a new record is established in the number of poll tax receipts issued. Few things are better reflections of a county's progress and interest in good government than a high percentage of poll tax payments.

Jan. 31 is the deadline for Garza County voters to pay their poll tax in preparation for a full year of elections. In addition to an election to name the governor, a U. S. senator, a U. S. representative and Texas legislative members, Garza citizens will vote for several county officers and on proposed constitutional amendments in the general election.

Then, too, there will be the city council and school board elections this spring and, in all probabilities, at least one important bond election. Who can argue that the price of a poll tax isn't an outstanding bargain in good government with all these elections on tap?

The poll tax is the key to use of the ballot box and exclusive admission to precinct conventions—which makes it an even bigger bargain. As usual at this time of year, poll tax payments are much slower than they should be, considering the short time remaining between now and the Jan. 31 deadline. If you have to stand in a long line during the last few days, there is a chance of your not paying a poll tax. Do it now before the last-minute rush begins. Let's chalk up a new record this year in poll tax payments.—CD

A Marching Ahead Year

The two major economic "readings" of community growth and well being—bank deposits and postal receipts—show Post in a very favorable light.

Bank deposits climbed during 1957 here more than a half million dollars to an all-time high of $8,059,492. At the same time postal receipts for 1957 totaled up to a new record business of $33,812.83.

These two record readings on the town's business barometers came as rains washed away a six-year drought but at a time when wet weather delayed and damaged the South Plains big cotton crop.

Postmaster Harold Voss has been told by postal inspectors that the Post postoffice was the only one in the area showing a gain in 1957. It was the same picture in bank deposits. Deposits in most area banks showed declines last year because of the fall rains and the lateness of the cotton harvest.

What's the reason that Post's bank deposits and postal receipts bucked a downward trend for the area? The obvious answer is new business—or community growth.

Deposits and postal receipts long have been accepted as the best two single measuring sticks for a community's business.

1957 therefore should be put down in the books for Post as not only a "looking back year" (Golden Jubilee), but a marching ahead year in community growth and accomplishment.—JC

No Substitute For Printed Word

Man's appetite for news is enormous. We have to be deprived of it before we fully understand how we crave this form of mental nourishment.

A Reuters' dispatch tells of an ex-American soldier, captured in Korea, who chose to live in Red China with his Chinese wife. The one extravagance in which he indulges is a subscription to a news agency bulletin printed in English. It costs 13 yuan ($8.30) a month—one sixth of his income. He told a reporter: "... he felt he must get news somehow."

Too few persons appreciate a newspaper until it is hard to get. Most Americans take it for granted. The ex-soldier has a radio but he finds nothing takes the place of printed news.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

THE MONTH OF January was half gone at noon today, leaving 11½ more months of 1958 stretching ahead of us, in case you're keeping up with such things.

The reason we are is because it helps us get this column off to a start each week. We put a sheet of blank paper in our typewriter, take a quick look at our desk calendar and start from there.

SOME CALENDARS tell you little, others tell you much. Our desk calendar, for instance, which is the compliments of Wilson Bros., lists all the holidays and more important anniversaries. Just as an example of what you can learn from the calendar, tomorrow is Benjamin Franklin's birthday, Saturday is Daniel Webster's and Sunday is Robert E. Lee's.

And now that our desk calendar has seen us this far, we're on our own for the rest of the way.

LAST WEEK, we started counting the names in news stories as they crossed our desk in the process of being edited. It was rather easy at first but as the deadline approached, we had to stop because it was taking too much time.

Up to the place we stopped, we had counted approximately 850 names, and that was before the bulk of the society and front page news had started pouring in. We're convinced now that the easiest way to do it is to wait until the paper is printed, then count the names.

BUT, ON THE basis of the 850 names we counted before stopping, we figure there were more than 1,500 names in last week's news columns. Since names make news, we're convinced that readers of The Dispatch are receiving a new-sy paper.

If your name wasn't one of those appearing in last week's paper, perhaps we'll get it in this week. You can help us by telephoning any news you know to 111.

ALREADY WE'RE getting good response to our wedding anniversary Column plan and hope to build it up to a regular feature, similar to our Happy Birthday Column. Couples who have been married 25 years or longer and who list their anniversary date with us will be given a certificate for an 8x10 goldtone portrait at Cal and Rose Casteel's Photographic Arts Studio.

The certificate will come as a gift from The Dispatch, and there are no strings attached. As each couple's wedding anniversary date nears, they will receive a congratulatory card from The Dispatch along with an invitation to go to the studio for their portrait-sitting.

SINCE MANY couples may be too modest to send in their own anniversary dates, their children or other relatives may do it for them. Simply list the couple's name and the date on which they were married and mail or bring it to The Dispatch office. Or, the information may be telephoned in.

These "Confucius No Say" statements aren't as side-splitting as those some of the high school students think up, but they're more suitable for this column:

Man who leaves home to set world on fire, often come back for more matches.

When a man works like a horse, everybody rides him.

Little sugar plum today sometimes sour grapes tomorrow.

Many can read some people like a book but can't shut them so easily.

Man who beef too much find himself in stew.

Coat of paint sometimes make old house look like new, but not old woman.

INSURANCE MAN Walter Cridler tells this one on himself:

He says he has the habit of knocking on his customers' doors and as they open the door, he asks, "Remember me?"

He said he felt a little embarrassed the other day when he knocked on the front door of what he thought was still Lynn Duncan's residence, and asked, "Remember me?" as the door swung open.

"No, I can't say that I do," answered the man who had opened the door.

Walter said the man was Don Curt, new administrator at the hospital, who was in the process of moving into the house just vacated by Duncan.

Before chicle came into use tree resin was used for chewing gum.

In one year the U. S. output of chocolate candy alone totaled more than 297 million pounds.

Citizen originally meant one vested with the freedom and privileges of the city.

Canuck is a term sometimes used in the U.S. to denote a Canadian.

Texas Man Helps To Increase Interest In Mathematics Through Latest Book

AUSTIN—If your child suddenly shows greater interest and an improved understanding of arithmetic in the future, this could be one of the reasons.

Making arithmetic more enjoyable and easier to grasp has, for many years, been the work of expert Herbert F. Spitzer, Professor of Education at the State University of Iowa. Dr. Spitzer is a native of Iowa. Texas, a graduate and former faculty member of North Texas State. His parents still live in Meridian.

HERBERT F. SPITZER

"Exploring Arithmetic", a newly published series co-authored by Dr. Spitzer, uses many successful new techniques for helping youngsters "reason through" each new number process and use it in problems directly related to everyday arithmetic needs. The child first learns to use a new process through techniques already mastered and is carefully led to the stage where the accepted method automatically become apparent to him.

Games, puzzles, number tricks help to make arithmetic interesting and important to youngsters who are fortunate enough to use these new books. Semi-stylized, cartoon-type pictures, which attract the child's immediate interests, are used in full color throughout the books which are rampant with beaming little boys in saddle shoes and girls with pony tails. This is intended to show the children that the world of school is not completely divorced from the world outside.

Educators feel that these new books with their varying approaches will provide long-range social benefits as well as immediate improvement in arithmetic teaching results. It was recently pointed

VA Questions And Answers

Q. I have a World War II GI term insurance policy. Do I have the right to borrow on this policy?

A. No. GI term insurance has no loan value. However, you may convert to a permanent plan of GI insurance, if you wish. Permanent insurance does build up a loan value, after it has been in force for one year.

Q. I am getting VA compensation for a service-connected condition. Recently my condition got worse. What steps must I take to get an increase in compensation?

A. You must submit new medical evidence, such as an adequate statement from your physician or a medical report of a recent period of hospitalization.

Q. I plan to take flight training under the Korean GI Bill. At what rate will I use up my GI entitlement?

A. Your entitlement will be used up at the rate of one day for each $1.25 paid as a GI training allowance.

Q. The television station in my town, in cooperation with a local college, is conducting a college course for which credit will be given. I am eligible for War Orphans schooling. Could I take this TV course under the program?

A. No. The law does not permit courses given over radio or television.

Dear Editor: What better way is there to begin a New Year than to thank those who have helped to control disease in Texas?

New Peach Cobbler Recipe Is Offered

By JESSIE PEARCE
HD Agent

Most of us like to try out new recipes, and are always getting new ones to try. I know that I gather recipes from many sources, and like to pass on good ones that I find. I am particularly pleased to find one that is quick and easy. This is just what can be said of the Peach Cobbler recipe I am giving you today. It is just as good as it is easy to make.

First, pour one cup of sugar over 2 cups of undrained canned peaches. Set aside. Melt 1/4 lb. (one stick) oleo in a 3-quart casserole. Make a batter of the following: 3/4 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup sifted flour, 3/4 cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla to the peaches and pour into casserole, on top of melted oleo. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla to the peaches and pour over the batter. Bake at 450 degrees F for approximately 30 minutes. The cobbler will fool you if you are not familiar with this type of mix. The batter rises to the top, and comes out like a conventional cobbler. I think this type of dessert is much better served while warm than after it cools. This one would be ideal for that quick dessert needed when unexpected company comes.

Other fruits work equally well, such as cherries, or pineapple. You will want to leave out the vanilla if used with fruit other than peaches. If using canned cherries, add a little red food coloring to give the fruit a pretty red color. I got this recipe from Mrs. Charlie Voss.

Another favorite recipe of mine that has been in our family for years is a chocolate icebox cookie recipe. These cookies are crisp and tasty and make good sandwich cookies with a bit of frosting between them.

Here is the recipe: 2-3 cup shortening.

Any Vanderbilt says:
(On Men's Manners)

"The encouraging thing about etiquette is that it can be learned, that it doesn't necessarily have to be bred in the bone—though that is, of course, the way it would come easiest."

"Professor Arthur M. Schlesinger of Harvard in a learned discussion of etiquette throughout American history points out that Andrew Jackson, elected to the presidency in 1828, was our first president not in the Adams-Washington aristocratic tradition. He was the son of a desperately poor Scotch-Irish immigrant, who through native ability rose to highest office, correcting his rough manners as he went along to such a degree that, as Schlesinger puts it, he 'excited the admiration of both friend and foe by his urbane and courtly demeanor.'"

"Knowledge and instinctive practice of accepted good manners does not, of course, make the gentleman. A real gentleman, a man with a heart for the kind, considerate, decent thing may have no manners at all, in the usual sense. Polished manners and a scurrilous character can well be encountered in the same individual—just as a man may dress like a gentleman as a result of careful imitation, yet be far from a gentleman in his daily actions. At the same time, it is highly desirable from a social and business point of view for every man to know and practice the accepted manners of his time—to err, perhaps, on the side of punctiliousness in such things."

"Learning to make good manners almost innate makes life easier at home and in business. Young men who want to become executive material must do more than apply themselves in social as well as in business manners if they want to get ahead. They must learn how to dress, how to conduct themselves on various social and business occasions, how to communicate their ideas to others in concise, well-chosen language."

"We have all known successful businessmen whose grammar was bad, whose taste in clothes was atrocious, and who broke every rule of good manners, if indeed they knew any existed. But this is doing it the hard way. It takes considerable business or professional genius to overcome the destructive effect of boorishness and uncouthness. Top executives, if they must endure these drawbacks in a key man, are uncomfortable and apologetic concerning him. Often such a man is replaced if he can be with another who

The year of the Mayflower II

"These, being about a hundred souls, came over in this first ship; and began this worke, which God of his goodness hath bestowed blessed." —Bradford's "Of Plymouth Plantation"

Last June the Mayflower II landed on our shores. The America she found was far different from the virgin land that lay open to the hardy voyagers of the original Mayflower. But the opportunity of America — for which the pilgrims gave thanks — is still here.

Certainly we should be grateful for the blessings of our country. And we should work to protect them.

One of the best ways is to provide security for our country and our families by investing in United States Series E Savings Bonds. They give us a rock-ribbed emergency fund, a backlog of security we know is safe because Bonds are backed by the strength of 170 million Americans.

Bonds can provide more blessings for us, too — a way to save for a new home, a car, a college education for our children. Bonds can't be lost, stolen or destroyed. The Treasury replaces them without charge in case of mishap. And they pay a good rate of interest — 3 1/4% when held to maturity.

So plan now to make all your future Thanksgivings happier even than this year's. Start buying Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan at work or regularly where you bank.

Sorority Meeting Is Held Monday Night In Max Gordon Home

Following the program, refreshments of chocolate cake, nuts and coffee were served.

During the business session, it was reported that the Bible the group gave to a hospital for Christmas was received at the Wichita Falls State Hospital. Improving And Enlarging Post PTA Group Subject At Meeting

The Post Chapter of Parent-Teacher Assn., held their monthly meeting last Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the grade school auditorium, with 13 present.

The Rev. Clinton Edwards gave the devotional.

Mrs. Jim Cornish was in charge of the evening's program, with her subject, "Improving and Enlarging the Post PTA Organization," giving several pointers to that effect.

Mrs. Cornish gave six pointers to begin the informal discussion on the betterment of PTA in Post. They are:

(1) PTA meetings should be held at night, thus avoiding confusion of afternoon and evening meetings, as in the past, and giving both parents the opportunity to attend.

(2) Reminders should be sent to the homes several days in advance of meetings.

(3) Real effort and time should be taken by a program committee to plan for each year, with the local schools in mind.

(4) An action program of PTA projects for school betterment should be adopted with committees of parents actually carrying them out instead of a single board handling all PTA projects. As the average parent is only a spectator in PTA affairs, participation would be a key in holding interest.

(5) PTA should realize the real school problems and not back away from them because of a degree of controversy.

(6) The basic good of PTA comes through a better relationship of parent and teacher. The organization should improve the understanding of groups, which calls for frankness on both sides.

Following Mrs. Cornish's opening pointers, the group joined in a discussion, during which it was decided that evening meetings would be held in the future. The group also discussed having a nursery for the meetings; the programs being more on local level; serving refreshments at the meetings, and it was decided that more social affairs during the school year would help to acquaint the parents and teachers.

During the brief business session, it was decided that PTA would again this year buy a year's subscription to the National Geographic Magazine for the Post High School library.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 13, at which time a silver tea, honoring pioneer PTA members, will be held. All parents are urged to attend.

Those attending were: Mrs. Lee Davis, Mrs. W. L. Davis, Mrs. R. K. Green, Miss Maxine Durrett, Mrs. J. H. Haire, Mrs. O. G. Hamilton, Mrs. Hudman, Mrs. Tillman Jones, Mrs. Raphael, Mrs. C. R. Thaxton, Mrs. Caylor and Mrs. Durrett.

The next meeting of the club will be held Jan. 22 in the home of Mrs. Tom Gates. "Confucianism" will be the program subject for the meeting.

Parents Should Be Safety-Education Teachers In Training Of Youngsters

AUSTIN — The role of parents as safety-education teachers was emphasized, today, by J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Assn.

Speaking from his Austin office, Musick said: "No matter how much safety education parents give their children, it cannot be completely effective unless both mother and father obey the rules of safety themselves."

"In safety, as in everything else, children absorb the attitudes of their parents and mimic their behavior. Telling Johnny not to cross streets except with a green light is not going to seem important to him if he sees dad jay-walking or squeezing through an intersection on a caution light."

"By the same token, if Susie sees mother standing on a make-shift ladder of a chair and boxes, to get something from a high shelf, she's not likely to use a sturdy ladder when she wants something from a similarly high place."

Musick pointed out that good examples and repetition are two of the most effective weapons of accident prevention. By each parent making certain that his own actions are reasonably safe and correct, he creates a climate of safety which fosters good safety-attitudes in children.

Archeological Survey Of Area Is Planned

LUBBOCK — Scientists will scour an area within a 100-mile radius of Lubbock as part of a detailed archeological survey of the Southern High Plains to be conducted by Dr. Fred Wendorf of Texas Tech.

Cooperating will be some 35 members of the South Plains Archeological Society, said Wendorf, who received a $300 grant for the project from the Tech Office of Research. He is associate professor of anthropology at Tech and assistant director of the West Texas Museum at Tech.

A listing of archeological sites and approximate dates when they were occupied by early plains dwellers is an aim of the project. It is the first serious effort to investigate the entire area thoroughly, Wendorf stated.

NEW FRENCH RAILWAY INNOVATION — Paris, France — Pulling in to a Paris station is the "Perpendicular," a self-balancing locomotive which will soon make its appearance as regular equipment on the French Railway System. Preacher Donates Volumes To ACC

ABILENE — Price Billingsley, 80-year-old retired preacher among churches of Christ and one of those influential in establishing the first church of Christ in Abilene, has donated his personal collection of about 1,000 volumes to the Abilene Christian College library.

One of the truly pioneer preachers of West Texas and other areas, Billingsley kept records of his lifetime experiences. The bulk of his contribution to the ACC library is a collection of notebooks, records, memoirs, diaries and observations he has made through the years. In addition there are quite a few bound miscellaneous works.

President Don H. Morris, in response to the gift, said: "Price Billingsley was part of the history of this region himself, and his memoirs will prove valuable to historians and researchers — especially graduate students at the College who are studying the history of the church and this region."

DANGER AHEAD!

Beautiful, yes. Beautiful as only Nature in all her purity can be. But dangerous too; dangerous to the ships at sea and the men they carry. For an iceberg's greatest bulk lies unseen beneath the surface... and against it, the unwary cannot survive.

Many of the things which, on the surface, appear the most tempting and beautiful contain hidden dangers and unsuspected pitfalls.

Men, like ships, need warning and guidance — and nowhere can they find greater help, greater love and protection than in their Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Another Test On U Lazy S Ranch

A new oil test by Paul C. Teas on the sprawling U Lazy S ranch and new tests on Shell Oil's No. 1-BA Slaughter Estate discovery offset in Borden County's Lazy S-Ellenburger field, also located on the same ranch, were the two newest oil developments here today.

Teas, a Dallas independent, has filed application to drill a Pennsylvania and Ellenburger test in southwestern Garza County about 14 miles south of Post.

Named the No. 1-B J. B. Slaughter estate, the hole is slated to be drilled five-eighths of a mile from Teas' Spraberry discover, the No. 1 Slaughter, and about one mile southwest of Shell's No. 1-C Slaughter, which is an indicated Strawn discovery.

In Borden County, testing continued yesterday of Pennsylvania perforations at Shell Oil's No. 1-BA Slaughter Estate.

After returning 72 barrels load of water on swab, the well kicked off to flow 213 barrels of oil in 19 hours. No basic sediment of water was logged.

During the last three hours of the test, the test made new oil at the rate of 9 barrels an hour. The test is a deep one with Pennsylvania perforations from 8,164 to 82 feet. Oil was recovered in two higher tests of the Pennsylvania.

Phone Rate—

Webb pointed out that only a few months ago the valuation engineering firm of Pritchard and Abbott had carefully gone over the phone company's entire establishment here and set a maximum replacement value on the facilities at only $101,000.

The attorney told the council that the telephone company has raised its valuation estimates here over $30,000 since negotiations on the rate increase last year began.

"I'd have a whole lot more respect for the telephone company if they hadn't shifted their figures every time they were pushed into a corner," Webb declared.

City Attorney Webb said that if any rate increase is granted, "I'd have an ordinance with provisions for service and penalties provided."

The state law says the city has the right to regulate such utilities, Webb emphasized.

Mayor Minor said he investigated how much the phone company had priced the cost of putting phone service to Post into the Graham community. The price ranged from $350 per customer up to $1,461 for a single phone, although all were located within a two mile area, he said.

The mayor said "all boils down to the fact that we had better service in 1951 before giving the phone company a 50 per cent rate increase than we do today, plus the fact that we've lost almost all our rural coverage, and it will stay lost."

"I don't know the solution," Minor said. "If they'd do something I wouldn't mind giving them some little increase."

City Attorney Webb told the council in his opinion the whole question of rates have never been given a going over by the Texas Supreme Court.

"I don't think the phone company wants a law suit on this any more than we do," he told the council.

He said if a law suit is filed against the city, the council will have expert testimony from Pritchard and Abbott to show their fair estimate of replacement value here is $101,000—not $175,000—and given a choice of such testimony he thought the jury would be far more inclined to accept the engineering firm's figures than the phone company's.

Asked what he thought was the reason for the phone company's pushing so hard here for a rate increase, Webb said "I think it is a point of pride with them. I think we can expect service to become progressively worse until we bow to their demands."

He termed this "harrassing tactics."

Asked how much a damage suit would cost, if the phone company filed one, Webb replied: "Several thousand dollars—with expert testimony for the city being the major cost."

Mayor Minor pointed out how Southwestern Public Service is tying in new lines to give Post improved service at thousands of dollars of additional cost and that Pioneer Gas put in lots of new lines to new residential areas.

"They don't come to the council and ask for rate increases because the other utilities don't expect the city to pay for their expansion," he said.

Thaxton termed as "the silliest argument of all" the phone company's contention that the more phones they operate the less money they make.

Webb said the phone company's actual investment in this town today "would be remarkable if its $40,000 after the depreciation they've already taken on it."

Mayor Minor said "the whole thing in a nutshell is that it's hurting the town."

Councilman Powell Shytlies expressed his view: "We think we're doing what's fair. We'd all like to get it settled. Using their valuations our compromise offer would give them about a 5 1/2 per cent return on investment after taxes."

Tax Re-Evaluation Job Ready To Roll

The tax valuation engineering firm of Pritchard and Abbott plan an immediate start on the big job of completing revaluating every piece of property in the city of Post and the Post school district.

Representatives of the Dallas firm were here Monday looking over their task and sketching their plans for the revaluations.

Three typists will be put to work here Monday to copy city and school district records on properties.

Their engineering valuations crew will come in three weeks to begin the actual job. But prior to that city and school property records will be cross-checked and everything gotten in readiness in the way of records.

Mayor James Minor told the city council Monday night that the firm is interested in making the Post city and school district project "a model job."

Minor said he emphasized to the engineers that the city wants them to equalize property values primarily—not to raise them.

Meeting Slated On Loan Application

Directors of the White River Municipal Water District will meet here tonight to speed the district's application for a $4,000,000 federal loan on its way to Washington.

Tom Bouchier, president of the district, said today that Lloyd Wicks of Ralls, the directors' attorney, has been to Fort Worth to clear the loan application through the regional office of the federal agency involved—the Home Housing Finance Association.

Plans for sending the application to Washington for final approval will be made at the regular January session of the directors at 6:30 p. m. in the city hall.

Voters of Post, Spur, Ralls and Crosbyton voted in August to approve a $4,000,000 bond issue to finance the project.

Final decision on the loan application probably would be made in Washington in the next 60 days, according to advice from the Fort Worth regional office.

Approval of the loan for the full amount would enable the district to launch its big White River Dam project construction in 1958.

Postings—

(Continued From Front Page) tion we had "goofed" in last week's Shytlies Implement ad in naming the correct day Powell is planning his big John Deere Day free lunch and show for his farmer customers. The date was right Jan. 21. That's next Tuesday—and the time is 12 noon. So those of you who are planning to go—and a couple of hundred usually do—mark that date right now. All the correct information on the John Deere Day plans can be found in Powell's ad this week on page 3.

This is a little story most of Dr. E. Young's friends should find very interesting—and amusing. We were over in his dentist chair over the weekend getting a gone-to-pieces wisdom tooth painlessly extracted and Dr. Young, who is not noted we are told for his patient-in-the-chair conversation as are most dentists, was telling us what did the most damage in decaying youngsters' teeth and when. He emphasized that a well known soft drink was a prize offender in tooth decay. On our way out we got a chuckle out of the fact that Doc had a vending machine offering this well known drink in his outer office for waiting patients.

You can't blame the Tom Hendersons for giving any hunters the ice box treatment to any requests to hunt on their property. A few days after Christmas a prize 1,600 pound bull of theirs was found shot to death near the fence on the Ralls highway, three and one-half miles north of Post. Evidently the valuable animal had been shot by someone from the highway—with the aim so good, one could almost surmise that the bull had been the intended target instead of just unlucky. The bull had been killed with a single shot behind the ear.

We're sorry and so is Mrs. Earl Morris that Southland readers won't find any Southland items in The Dispatch this week. Mrs. Morris dropped us a card to explain that Mr. Morris in the Slaton Mercy Hospital and she couldn't find time in her busy schedule to get the items written. We're sorry not only to have to miss the column but also the reason which caused it.

The Dispatch's new Happy Anniversary column, which makes its bow on page 4 of today's issue, is creating quite a stir of interest. Remember The Dispatch is giving a handsome $ by 10 gold-tone anniversary portrait by the Casteel Studio to every happy couple celebrating an anniversary from the 25th one up that ladder. We'll have to confine publication of these pictures to those celebrating their 25th and their 50th anniversaries and those beyond their 50th or we won't have space for all the pictures. So drop us a line or call to get on that anniversary calendar.

Spring fashions are being unpacked in Post stores this week and you'll be seeing them out on the shelves and hangers very shortly. We've been reading a lot about this "new look" in fashions this spring and can only hope it is not as gruesome as pictured in some of the dailies. The nice thing about stores in a town this size is that they don't try to jam radical fashions down milady's throat or into hubby's pocketbook. If they did, Earl Rogers probably could develop a new facet to his feed business by fashioning up that flat look—do they call it "the silhouette"—with some of his feed sacks.

Don't forget to get that poll tax paid by January 31st if you want to vote this year.

Cafe Burglary—

Also stolen were three wrist watches, a box of cigars and two or three boxes of candy. Only pennies had been left in the cash register and they were not taken.

The burglars used a meat cleaver from the kitchen of the cafe to break into the coin machines. Workers who discovered the break-in after opening the cafe shortly before 5 o'clock Friday morning found the cleaver on the floor behind the counter. The metal machines had been badly slashed and hammered with the cleaver.

Moriearty called the Texas Rangers to assist the sheriff's office in its investigation.

The great team victory for the Antelopes and avenged their previous defeat of the season's setback at the hands of the Whirlwinds in the semifinals of the tournament.

The Antelope center Wayne Runkles, who shot in the second half to put Post ahead, seemed to sense that "the game" was under control. He stayed close until the third period when he scored six points ahead of the margin until early in the fourth. The Antelopes, who were their best in the second half, pulled up even in the fourth quarter, and were break- ing wide open at the end of the game.

Brown Bros. Independents Defeat Ralls, 74-68; Lose To Spade '5'

Brown Bros. independent basketball team of the National League, TAAF, defeated Ralls, 74 to 68, here Monday night after having lost to Spade Saturday night by a score of 76 to 65.

The local cagers led from early in the game against Ralls and were out in front, 14-8, at the end of the first period. The halftime intermission found them with a slim 31-29 margin, which they had widened to 51-47 at the end of the third quarter.

Ex-Post High School star Jerry Hays led the Post scoring with 11 points, but three other former Antelopes, Noel White, Kenneth Martin and Jimmy Redman, were close behind him with 10 points each.

Against Spade here Saturday night, Brown Bros. trailed 27-29 at the end of the first quarter, but had forged into a 37-all tie by halftime. In the third quarter, the Post independents went five points ahead to lead, 54-49, at the buzzer.

Leslie Acker Leads Junior High Scoring

Leslie Acker, with 49 points in five games, is leading the undefeated Post 8th grade boys' team in scoring. His biggest point total was 16 in the Post team's 31 to 27 victory over Slaton.

Only three points behind Acker in second place is Tommy Bouchier, who has scored 46 points.

Other total points for the 8th graders are: Bobby Beard, 31; Benny Schlehuber, 14; Dwight Capps, 12; Harold Wayne Mason, 9; Clarence Ivie, 8; Jimmie Ivie, 4; Carroll Cowley, 3; Neal Francis, 2, and Floyd Hair, 2.

Seagraves Eagles Rally In Final Period To Defeat Post, 58 To 50

A fired-up Seagraves team rallied in the final quarter Thursday night to defeat the Post Antelopes, 58 to 50, on the Eagles' court. The Seagraves victory avenged a 43-34 defeat pinned on them by Post earlier in the season.

Outshooting the Eagles from the field, 22 goals to 21, the Post team led the game at the free throw line. Eleven of the 21 points scored by Seagraves in the final quarter came from the free throw stripe.

The Antelopes lost two players, forwards Scotty Pierce and Dan Rankin, via the personal foul route.

The score was tied 8-all at the end of the first period and 22-22 at halftime. Post gained a point in the third quarter to lead 38-37 at the buzzer.

Post Girls Defeat Tahoka, 38 To 35

The Post High School girls' basketball team made their District 2-AA record 1-1 here Friday night when they defeated Tahoka, 38 to 35, in a thriller.

Although they led throughout the game, the Post team had to fight off a last-ditch Tahoka rally to annex the victory.

Acting Coach Jimmy Pollard's team got off to a 9-6 first quarter lead, were ahead 22-17 at halftime and 33-26 at the end of the third quarter.

In the final period, the visitors outscored the Post team, 9-5, and threatened right up to the final buzzer.

Patsy Norman of Tahoka had 15 points to top the scorers, closely followed by teammate Jan Thomas, who had 14.

The Post scoring was about as evenly divided as it could be, with six players scoring points, but none in double figures. Sophomore Glenda Whittenberg was tops with nine. Kay Martin had eight, Doris Eilenburger, Janet Stephens and Barbara Gary, six each, and Leta Stone, five.

The Post 8th grade girls play at 4:30 o'clock and the 8th grade boys at 5:15 o'clock.

If the girls win, they play the winner of the Ralls - McAdoo game at 6:10 p.m. Friday. If they lose, they play the loser of the Ralls-McAdoo game at 2:30 p.m. Friday in a consolation round game.

If Coach Herman F. Raphael's boys' team wins, they play the winner between Ralls and McAdoo at 7:05 p.m. Friday, and if they lose, they play the loser of that game at 9:25 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Area cage fans who have been wanting to see college basketball at its best are being afforded the opportunity this season with Texas Tech competing for the Southwest Conference championship. A number of fans of the Post vicinity have seen the Raiders' games against TCU and SMU in Lubbock's new coliseum.

Tech's first two games as a Southwest Conference member broke attendance records for college games played in the Southwest. A crowd of 10,100 saw Tech beat Texas Christian Jan. 7 and an estimated 10,175 were on hand for Southern Methodist's victory over the Raiders.

Tech's next home game—with Baylor University Saturday night, Jan. 25—should be a lot easier for the general public to attend than previous contests have been. The reason is that many Tech students will be home between fall and a spring semesters. That is the last day for examinations, and most probably will have completed them by then.

Just the same, Jimmie Wilson, business manager of athletics, has urged fans planning to attend the Southwest Conference clash with the Bears to buy tickets early and avoid a possible last-minute rush.

Both of Post's independent basketball teams are going good, with the K&K Food Mart team undefeated in eight games. Another undefeated Post team is the 8th grade boys, who have won five against no defeats.

Cotton Disease Losses Were Heavy Last Year

COLLEGE STATION — Texas cotton producers literally took it on the chin from a lot of sources in producing their 1957 crop. Floods, hail storms, insects and unfavorable weather during the normal harvest season all took their toll but, reminds Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist, cotton diseases got in a lick and cut production in the state by about 10 per cent.

He says the state average, however, doesn't tell the story because in areas where diseases struck the hardest, losses ran into ruinous figures. The three diseases which caused most of the damage were listed by Smith as bacterial blight, root rot and seedling diseases. These same diseases have been listed for the past six years as big trouble makers for cotton growers.

The specialist advises farmers to become familiar with the diseases most common in their area. This knowledge will enable them to plan a systematic control program. Detailed maps of the fields on which are shown areas known to be infected with cotton diseases are an aid in combatting this production problem. These spots or areas can be left out of cotton and handled in a different way.

There isn't much that can be done about most cotton diseases after the crop is up and growing. Here are suggestions from Smith on practices which have proved their value in cotton disease control. All planting seed should be treated; whenever available disease resistant varieties should be planted; cultural practices and crop rotations are of great value in control programs and he advises against mixing high and low quality planting seed. Low quality seed may be the source of infection of many diseases. The application of a complete fertilizer with a high phosphorous content will aid in controlling seedling diseases and no planting should be done until the soil temperature is 70 degrees F. for three consecutive mornings at a depth of three inches. The temperature readings should be taken around 7 a. m.

The pathologist suggests a visit with the local county agent for more detailed information on a disease control program for your county.

'Dimes' Research Seeks Drugs Against Viruses

NEW YORK—An egg is prepared for laboratory studies of influenza virus.

UTAH—A microscope is used upside down to study viruses in drug research.

MICHIGAN—Drugs are carefully placed in solution before being tested in mice.

Three research projects supported by the March of Dimes are spearheads of efforts to find drugs that will be effective against many virus diseases other than polio. Antibiotics are potent weapons against bacteria, but up to now no such wonder drugs have been found for viruses.

In New York, at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Dr. Igor Tamm is director of a project which is studying the action of drugs against polio, influenza and other viruses. Scientists are investigating how slight changes in the chemical structure of compounds have a tremendous influence on their ability to restrain virus multiplication in living cells.

At the University of Utah in Salt Lake City, a team under the leadership of Dr. William J. Burke is searching for a substance in crude gallic acid which appears to give monkeys some protection against paralytic polio. The substance, still unidentified, does not occur in pure gallic acid, but in the raw form of the chemical, made from a growth which appears on a species of oak tree grown in China.

At the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, drugs which in preliminary experiments have proved hopeful are tested further in mice and monkeys. The project is headed by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., who made the official evaluation report on the Salk vaccine.

Hundreds of drugs have been studied over the years in man's search for compounds effective against polio and other viruses.

Although polio virus is used more than any other in the projects supported by the March of Dimes, scientists hope that if they find a drug effective against this disease they will have made a break-through toward finding drugs that can be used against the other virus diseases that plague mankind.

ADAPTABLE PLANTS FIRST CONSIDERATION

Sound Forage Program Requires Planning, Says Pasture Expert

COLLEGE STATION — A sound forage program that will meet all needs for grazing, hay and silage requires a lot of planning, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist. A well-rounded program provides grazing as much of the time as possible and includes forage reserves of hay or silage or both for use when needed.

The first consideration in planning such a forage program is to use plants that are adapted to the local soil, climate and livestock situation, comments Trew. The best quality forage available is the most desirable for any livestock, especially producing dairy cows, hogs and poultry. But he points out that some types of livestock can get along on lower quality forage better than others.

The operator should help insure proper establishment by planting the right amount of good quality seed in the right kind of seedbed, advises Trew. Best stands are obtained when seed are planted two or three inches above the fertilizer and to one side. The soil usually should be firmed at or after seeding.

Even high-producing pastures may be unprofitable with poor grazing management, warns the specialist. Don't start grazing until the plants are well established and ready. Then stop grazing at the right time — overgrazing reduces production. The productivity of a cultivated pasture can be greatly increased by dividing it into several sections and following a rotation grazing program. Such a program permits the use of a high percentage of the grazing produced; use of the plants when they are palatable and nutritious; rest for the plants between grazings; and use of growth not needed for grazing as hay or silage.

The best means of weed control in pastures is properly grazing and fertilizing adopted plants, says

Auto Inspections Showing Gain

With the 1958 motor vehicle inspection deadline more than three months away, approximately one million vehicle owners have obtained their 1958 inspection stickers, setting a trend for early inspections.

According to John H. Grant, manager of Motor Vehicle Inspection Records, Texas Department of Public Safety, more than 300,000 vehicles above the number inspected during the comparative period last year have been inspected to date. But he cautioned that three million vehicles are yet to be inspected before the April 15 deadline.

Regarding the early inspections Grant said, "In addition to the Trew, the more vigorous the pasture plants, the less severe the weed problem.

Other points in planning a good forage program include planned seasonal grazing, proper fertilization, adequate forage reserves, irrigation where practical, and the use of pastures in cropping systems. See your county agent.

ever increasing awareness of automobile and truck owners of safety inspections as an essential safety measure, the increase this year is due in part to the realization that periodic inspections help maintain automobiles at higher value by lessening depreciation."

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reported that vehicle inspections have reduced traffic fatalities. Garrison said that "mechanical defects were causative factors in 19 per cent of the rural fatal accidents in 1951 prior to the inauguration of the inspection program. In 1956 mechanical defects were causative factors in only 5 per cent of the fatal rural accidents. It can well be said that this is due to the motoring public's acceptance of the vehicle inspection program by keeping their automobiles in good repair."

age or pressure dressing usually checks bleeding. If not, press firmly at the point which cuts off blood flow to the injured area. Use a tourniquet only when other methods fail.

4. Look for shock — face drained of color, cold moist skin, rapid weak pulse, fainting. Wrap the victim in blankets, make him lie down unless doing so will make other injuries worse, and try to calm him. If he can swallow, has no abdominal injury, and is not vomiting, have him drink as much "shock solution" as possible. Make the solution by stirring one teaspoon of table salt and a half teaspoon of baking soda into a quart of water.

5. In poisonings, follow antidote instructions on the poison container label if it is at hand. Otherwise, give egg whites beaten in water, or plain water, to dilute poison. If the poison was not corrosive or kerosene, induce vomiting.

6. Give artificial respiration in drownings or electrical shock. Learn now, before an emergency.

7. Handle with care. Don't move an injured person unless necessary; then use a stretcher, or make one with blankets, a board, or ladder padded with clothing.

8. Splint broken bones. The time-honored rule is to "splint 'em where they lie." Make splints from any firm object, and long enough to reach well beyond the joints above and below the suspected break.

9. Care for burns by applying a sterile gauze dressing and cover with bandages. Don't pull off clothing stuck to burned tissue. In case of chemical burns, rinse immediately with plenty of water.

10. After covering wounds with sterile dressings, bandage to guard against infection, reduce bleeding, and lessen pain.

USDA Announces Discovery Of New Development In Cotton Breeding

MAY LEAD TO PRODUCTION HYBRID STRAINS
 COLLEGE STATION — The discovery of a new technique for making some strains of cotton male-sterile may offer the first practical means yet found for producing hybrid cottons, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announces.

Recent field trials by USDA and other cooperating scientists demonstrated that certain chemicals will prevent pollen from developing in some varieties of cotton. The result is a no-pollen, male-sterile plant—one which cannot fertilize itself. If another variety of cotton is planted close by—a variety that is either not affected by the chemical spray, or is not sprayed to begin with—it can provide pollen to fertilize the male-sterile plants, and a cross can be obtained.

Hybrid cotton themselves are not new, for plant breeders have produced many crosses that show outstanding yield and quality characteristics. But these crosses have been obtained by a hand-pollination in carefully controlled experiments. The problem has been to find a practical way to produce these hybrids in large quantities.

Although the discovery of this new technique is a step in the right direction, it must be remembered that the whole problem still hasn't been solved. Even after one variety in the field is made male-sterile and another variety unaffected, the pollen still must be transferred. Unlike corn and other plants where it is windblown, the pollen in cotton must be carried by bees and other insects.

In experiments, from 62 to 88 per cent of the seed from treated rows were successfully crossed. But this was in relatively small plots with lots of bees—quite different from a large field on a practical basis.

So, since varieties of cotton do differ in their male-sterility response to spraying, field-wide use of these chemicals, called selective gametocides, has practical possibilities, say the scientists. By planting two types of cotton a whole field could be sprayed leaving one variety male-sterile and the other unaffected. Then seed from the male-sterile plant would produce hybrid cotton.

A step has been made in the right direction, but more research is still necessary before recommendations can be made for general use of the gametocides.

High Grade Cotton Shortage Foreseen By Dallas Exchange

Texas cotton farmers are offered one of the greatest opportunities in history in 1958, says the president of the Dallas cotton Exchange.

A strong demand exists for good grades of cotton of every type grown in all areas of the state, according to Jack M. Craugh, who heads the Dallas Exchange.

The farmers who plant good seed, handle their crop properly during the season, and then harvest and gin for quality, face the prospect of selling all their cotton on the open market at a price above the 1957 loan level, Craugh believes.

There will be a shortage of high grade cotton in 1958 of all staple lengths, he said, because of the conditions created by the short crop and bad weather during harvest of the past season.

The American Cotton Industry should be able to export from 5 to 6 million bales next year with little difficulty, providing farmers produce the cotton suitable for export needs, Craugh declared.

The premium for good cotton as compared to low grade cotton should be higher next year because of the demand situation, Craugh said.

Unless Texas and American cotton farmers meet the market demands, Craugh believes that the buyers will turn to foreign cotton and synthetics to meet their needs.

YEAR-END SUMMARY DISCLOSES

Range Management Work Tempo Is Boosted With Favorable Weather

COLLEGE STATION—In a year end summary, Extension Range Specialist G. O. Hoffman, reported that range management demonstrations, which during 1957 had emphasized efficiency and economy of livestock production, totaled 9,198 and involved 3,795,605 acres of Texas rangelands.

Hoffman said the cooperating ranchmen reported to their local county agricultural agents who supervised the demonstrations that the work which was carried out had been worth to them more than $5,250,000 in increased returns or savings. In addition, the demonstrators and cooperators reported they had received an additional million dollars from information gained at training meetings and field demonstrations in the form of better range practices which they were able to use on their farms and ranches.

In addition to the demonstrators, another 11,726 operators in 208 counties of Texas were assisted with range management problems, said Hoffman. More than 24,000 stockmen attended some 880 meetings where range management practices were discussed. Field days totaling 140 were attended by 9,150 and more than 2,300 flexible stocking rate; 1,900 livestock distribution and 2,100 reseeding demonstrations were conducted by operators as aids to their range recovery programs. To further insure adequate water supplies, 8,214 new watering facilities were constructed.

During the past year, Hoffman said 5,267 4-H club members were trained by county agents in grass and range plant identification. A new 4-H program, range judging, resulted in 70 teams being trained in 43 counties.

Too, 70 counties were provided 25 varieties of adapted native grasses which had shown promise in tests. These grasses were planted in demonstration nurseries and will shorten the testing period by two to three years.

State Cross Association
 Education has been a concern of Texas government more than a century and more. But seldom, if ever, a subject loomed so large in discussion as now in the state capital.

It was begun, said the senator, "before foreign developments re-emphasized the fact that education is a vital part of our national defense."

Land Leasing Set
 School Land Board has set March 4 for sale of oil and gas leases on public lands.

Some 34,000 acres of tidelands plus several hundred tracts on state prison farms will be offered for leasing.

It will be the first time tidelands leases have been offered since the federal government filed suit contesting Texas' claim to land more than three miles from shore. State officials were unsure how attractive the land would be under the circumstances.

Optometrists At Odds
 Rival groups of Texas optometrists are apparently on their way to the Texas Supreme Court to settle differences over what practices are legal for that profession.

Disagreement centers on two issues: (1) whether optometrists may advertise, and if so, who and (2) whether they have offices in part of the space of a store.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled unconstitutional the portion of the Ophthalmic Dispensers law passed last spring that pertained to advertising. Reason, a familiar one: the topic was not mentioned in the bill's caption.

Members of the Texas Optometric Association disagreed with the opinion. They brought suit asking that the State Board of Examiners in Optometry be enjoined to enforce a no-advertising rule. Since the case involves constitutionality of a law, it can be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Another suit was brought by a group of optometrists protesting a state board ruling that an optometrist's office cannot share space in a store.

Attendant publicity resulted in the resignation of Charles M. Babb of Austin as executive secretary to the State Board of Optometry Examiners. Babb was criticized for holding that position while also serving as legal counsel to the Texas Optometric Association—i. e., serving both the regulators and the regulated.

Present Prospects Encouraging For Cotton In 1958 Forecast Indicates

By JOHN C. WHITE
Commissioner of Agriculture
 Each new year brings new expectations and speculations on things to come—both good and bad. These are some of the present prospects for Texas agriculture:

LIVESTOCK — Prices are good now in livestock, and producers are making good profits. Bumper feed crops have decreased costs while prices are way up from a year ago. However, this windfall may not last too many months. Eager hog raisers could glut markets later this year, depressing prices. Range cattle prices are up sharply, cutting profit prospects for grain feeding.

SEED — The Texas Department of Agriculture Seed Division reports good germination potential on Texas cottonseed and hybrid sorghum seed tested so far. However, germination difficulties have been reported in many neighboring states, notably to the east of Texas on cottonseed and to the north of Texas on hybrid sorghums. Several states have lowered germination standards. There is plenty of good seed left and available in Texas. Best advice is to check seed tags carefully for germination ratio.

EGGS — A more profitable year is in prospect for Texas egg producers. Prices should be higher, feed costs lower, and sales are expected to be only slightly under the record volumes of 1956 and 1957. Production is expected to be off at the start of the year but cheaper feed and fair prices will likely encourage many farmers to re-stock their henhouses. And added boon is anticipated for Texas producers in the form of the new Texas Egg Law, which should raise prices and standards at the same time. Also in the offing is a Texas egg market report which the Texas Department of Agriculture hopes to get underway before spring. The proposed report would include egg prices in Houston, San Antonio and Dallas markets.

COTTON — Surpluses are down due to the weather foul-up of the 1957 crop. Although it is too early to tell, prospects right now are encouraging for 1958 cotton. Cottonseed oil prices are way up and in good demand. Exports of American cotton indicate stocks may be way down at harvest time this fall.

Kent County Native Dies Friday In Rotan Hospital; Rites Held Sunday

Funeral services for Emerson (Boy) Underwood, brother of Mrs. Basil Puckett and Mrs. Oscar Gray of Post, were conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Church of the Nazarene at Rotan. Burial was in the Cottonwood Cemetery in eastern Scurry County.

Mr. Underwood, who was 58, died at 10:30 p. m. Friday in a Rotan hospital. He had been under treatment for a heart ailment about ten years.

The following obituary on Mr. Underwood appeared in Sunday's Abilene Reporter-News: Emerson (Boy) Underwood, colorful Kent County nightwatchman, preacher, bronc-buster and father of nine children died Friday at 10:30 p. m. in Callan Hospital here (Rotan) . . .

A preacher 14 years until about 1949, Mr. Underwood refused to join a church or be ordained. "The Lord . . . to go preach to everybody, I couldn't do that and belong to any one church," he said.

Aside from pastoring a Holiness church at Antelope five years, the one-time cowboy preached wherever called, at Methodist and Baptist churches. He started a Methodist congregation once: "I always shout when I preach," he said. "Guess they were not used to it—anyway they sure looked funny."

Mr. Underwood was the son of the late George Underwood, early-day Clairemont area rancher. He was born March 6, 1899, in Kent County.

Starting as a ranch and cowhand on area spreads, he also did a lot of rodeo roping work in his younger days.

In 1935, Underwood was farming and ranching in the Clairemont area when he was converted at a "low-sack" meeting (tow sacks hung over posts enclosed the assembly). The minister who converted him, the Rev. Henry Smith, now of Sweetwater, will officiate at the funeral.

Underwood decided to take to the pulpit—but he never passed the hat or took a collection, he told Reporter-News correspondent Orlin Parker in a 1954 interview. "The Lord will provide."

While he was preaching, he ran a school bus between Clairemont and Jayton, did some trucking and carried the mail.

He finally quit preaching. ("The hardest work I ever did.") For a while he was the Rotan night-watchman and also assisted the Kent County sheriff. Then he farmed near Rotan until his death.

Mr. Underwood was a member of the Snyder Masonic Lodge, which will be in charge of graveside rites.

Surviving are the wife, Minnie, of Kent County; five sons, Junior, Glenn Dale and Burl of Eagle Mountain, Calif., Jackie of Richmond, Calif., and C. M. of Rotan; four daughters, Mrs. Bonnie Bau-ske of Longview, Mrs. Rosa Nell Watkins of Red Oak, Okla., Mrs. Pat Caddell of Andrews, and Mrs. Sue Gray of Richmond, Calif.; a brother, Nath, Fisher County rancher; three other sisters, Mrs. Garland Wolfe of Rotan, Mrs. Lizzie Byrd of Clairemont, and 15 grandchildren.

(Those from Post attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Puckett and Mrs. Bill Laurence.)

More than half a million law books are contained in the Library of Congress.

Included on the program will be discussions on industrial foundations, garment industries, mineral resources, processing agricultural products and a study of West Texas in the era of missiles and satellites.
