Asphyxiation Victim Is Buried; Others Recover

School Board Accepts Lancaster Resignation

Tots Crawl To Safety

"Surprising improvement" with in the last 24 hours in the condition of Mrs. Herbert H. Hewitt, 20, who was asphyxiated Saturday in her home here was reported Wednesday by the woman's physician.

Meanwhile, funeral services for Mrs. Hewitt's husband, 25, who was found dead from asphyxiation in their three-room home on West Sixth Street, were held at 10 a. m. today in Abilene.

The couple's two daughters, Frances Grace, 4, and Nancy June, 2, were reported out of danger

CAUTION IS NEEDED

The tragedy which struck the Herbert C. Hewitt family Saturday points up the importance of being careful about burning gas. Officials have urged people to make sure there is ample ventilation when gas fires are burning, especially when the fires are in open-type heaters. Residents also are urged to be careful of gas leaks, especially when flexible hose is being used as a connection.

at Garza Memorial Hospital, where they and their mother were taken early Saturday night after being found ill.

Mrs. Hewitt's physician said Wednesday that she had regained consciousness and probably will be able to leave the hospital in two or three days.

Deputy Sheriff J. W. (Red) Floyd found the family about 7 p. m. when he was called after the landlady, Mrs. Percy Printz, found the door locked.

The officer said he looked through the front door glass and could see one of the children moving around and could hear another crying. He entered the house through a window and saw the man, fully dressed, lying across the foot of the bed. The woman was in the bed.

Floyd said he turned off an open gas heater which was going full-blast in an adjoining room, and opened the door.

"I knew the man was dead as soon as I saw him, and thought the woman was until I saw her move her head," the officer said.

The deputy moved the woman and children to where they could

The resignation of Jack Lancaster as Post Elementary School principal was accepted by the school board Saturday afternoon at a special meeting in the high school library.

The grade school principal's resignation had been submitted to R. T. Smith, superintendent - elect, prior to the board meeting of Monday night, March 19, at which Lancaster was re-elected for another year.

Following the March 10 board meeting, it was learned that Lancaster had been told by Smith that he would be re-elected if he would resign, effective at the end of this term. Smith, who came here from Shallowater to attend the special board meeting, told Lancaster and the trustees that this was done to "make it easier" on the principal than it would be if his contract were not renewed.

"Being asked to resign and being fired are both cast out of the same mold," Lancaster said at Saturday's meeting.

The principal told the board he was "so taken aback" when Smith told him he wanted his resignation that he submitted it at once. Asked by the board if he wanted them to accept his resignation, Lancaster said he did not; that he believed if given a chance to work with the new superintendent "I can deliver what he wants."

Board Member J. E. Birdwell told the principal that Smith had been hired with the understanding that the board would back him up on any principal or teacher he did not want.

After the five board members present at the meeting had voted unanimously to accept Lancaster's resignation, the principal was called back into the room and advised of the board's action.

Doctor To Open Offices Monday

Dr. Bob W. Williams, Post's new physician, plans to have his offices open by Monday in the clinic building at 615 West Sixth Street, across the street from Garza Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Williams, his wife, Cynthia, and their three-year-old son, Stuart, have rented a house at 612 West Fourth Street.

The new doctor, who finished his internship last July at Parkland Hospital in Dallas, practiced with Dr. J. T. Krueger in Lubbock from August until January.

Dr. Williams is a graduate of Lubbock High School, Texas Tech and the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston. After finishing high school, he was in the Navy for 20 months during World War II.

Mrs. Williams is the former Cynthia Tankersley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cy Tankersley of Lubbock. She attended the Brownfield schools before moving to Lubbock with her parents in 1946 and is a graduate of Lubbock High School.

Dr. Williams said Miss Anne Porterfield, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Porterfield, has been employed as his receptionist. He has not yet employed a nurse.

Oil Field Equipment Object Of Search

A two-day search in oil fields in the vicinity of Farmington, N. M., for approximately $2,000 worth of oil field equipment stolen here last October was made over the weekend by Sheriff Carl Rains.

The Garza County sheriff went to the Farmington area after getting a tip that some of the equipment stolen here might be found there.

He said upon his return here that his search failed to uncover any of the missing equipment, but that he had requested New Mexico officers to advise him if any of it turned up.

The equipment, consisting mainly of heavy tools, was stolen from Smith & Breyer Drilling Company. It was taken from a location in the OS Ranch field east of Post.

Marianne Jones Will Represent County At Regional Event

Post 7th Grader Wins Spelling Bee

Marianne Jones, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones, won the sixth annual Garza County Spelling Bee Friday and the right to represent the county in the regional bee at Lubbock on April 12.

Marianne, who is in the 7th grade, correctly spelled "peaceable" after Linda Ward, second place winner had left out the second "a". Marianne then correctly spelled the next word, "peculiar", to emerge as winner in a field of six contestants.

Third place went to Kenneth Jones, Justiceburg 7th grader, who was eliminated when he left the "f" out of "mutinous."

The six spellers had correctly spelled 63 words before the first contestant, Robert Bevers, also a Justiceburg 7th grade student, went out. He was eliminated when he added an "e" to "assembly."

Two hundred and sixty-five words later, Gloria Blacklock, 7th grade student from Close City, became the second contestant to go out when she misspelled "grate."

It required 106 more words before fourth place winner Katherine Smith, also a Close City 7th grader, went out after misspelling "kidnap." That left the three finalists.

First, second and third place awards of $25, $15 and $10 were presented the winners by Chant D. Lee, vice president of the Post Chamber of Commerce.

Battle Creek Mayor Will Be Here For Statue Dedication

The mayor of Battle Creek, Mich., Russell V. Worgess, is coming to Post for the unveiling of the statue of C. W. Post April 5 and the world-famous International Choir from Wayland Baptist College at Plainview will sing on the statue dedication program.

Post's own mayor, James Minor, will make the principal address at the statue dedication program. These arrangements were announced today by Monta Moore, manager of the Post-Montgomery interests in this area who is busily at work completing arrangements for the statue-dedication day for Mrs. Merrivether Post.

The day's schedule also has been changed and a definite decision has been made to stage the appearance of TV Stars Danny Thomas and Spring Byington in the grade school auditorium with a closed circuit TV network carrying the show to screens located in other school buildings so everybody will have a chance to enjoy the two TV personalities.

The statue dedication is now scheduled for 11 a. m. Saturday, April 5. The Danny Thomas Show with Spring Byington, a free hour-long show, is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p. m. that afternoon.

The statue of the town's founder, which is being given to the community by his daughter, Mrs. Merrivether Post, already is in place on its base and pedestal on the east lawn of the Garza County courthouse.

Erection of the statue was completed Saturday by Jim Collier of the South Plains Monument Works of Lubbock. The statue is wrapped in canvas and will be unveiled by Mrs. Post during the dedication ceremony.

Some details of the dedication program remain to be worked out, Moore told The Dispatch today.

A new speaker's stand is going to be built for the occasion, Moore said.

The closed circuit TV network—the first ever to be set up in Post—will be worked out by KDUB, Lubbock's channel 13 station, using KDUB equipment.

The decision to schedule the show indoors was made because not enough technical equipment was available to set up the show for outdoor staging and also protect it against bad weather with a standby indoor network.

Thomas is scheduled to bring a small musical group here with him for the show. A girl singer, as yet unannounced, also is expected to See MAYOR COMING, Page 8

Survivors include two sons, E. V. Bradley of Houston and Vernon Bradley of Mineral Wells; and three daughters, Mrs. Pauline Kilpatrick of Post, Mrs. H. C. Yarbrough of Snyder, and Mrs. Mary Ruth Russell of Fort Worth.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete at press time this morning. The Hudman Funeral Home is in charge.

Oil Showing For Shell Wildcat As—

2 Dual Producers Slated On Ranch

Two more new deep wells on the Slaughter ranch south of Post are being completed this week as dual producers, and a Shell Oil Co. wildcat has reported oil shows in a drillstem test of the Pennsylvania.

Paul Teas' J. B. Slaughter No. 2, the 6,400 foot Spraberry producer which opened up the Slaughter ranch field in Garza County, is now going to be deepened to test both the Strawn and Ellenburger formations.

These are the major Slaughter drilling developments this week.

The two new wells which are being completed as dual producers are Teas' promising No. 1B J. B. Slaughter estate, a half mile south of the No. 1-C Slaughter in Garza County, and Shell Oil's No. 2BA Slaughter in its U Lazy S multipay pool across the Brazos River in Borden County.

The Teas' No. 1B Slaughter will be completed from the 8,100 foot Pennsylvania and Ellenburger pays. It will become the second producer in the field from those pays—the discovery well being the No. 1-C Slaughter by Shell.

James Simms production superintendent for Teas, told The Dispatch that 5 1/2 inch casing has been cemented at 8,299 feet for tests of the Ellenburger in open hole to See DUAL PRODUCERS, Page 8

Burglars Interrupt Lull; Strike Lumber Company

The office of Forrest Lumber Company, 302 West Eighth Street, was burglarized Tuesday night, and merchandise valued at between $50 and $75 stolen, according to a preliminary check made Wednesday morning by Walter Johnson, manager.

The loot included a number of pocket knives valued at about $50, Johnson said.

The burglars broke into and heavily damaged a cold drink dispensing machine, but didn't get much money from it, since the machine's intake had been picked up earlier in the day.

The manager said desk drawers were rifled and "things disarranged in general" in an apparent search for money.

The burglars, who had entered the office through a west window, left through a side door after tearing off the door hasp.

Johnson said he found company tools used in breaking into the coin machine and in knocking off the door hasp "scattered all over the yard" outside the office.

Sheriff Carl Rains investigated the burglary after being called early Wednesday morning by Fred Cockrell, an employee at the office.

Tuesday night's break-in broke a lull of about three weeks which had followed a several months' rash of burglaries.

Need Still Exists For A Public Library

This is National Library Week and a good time to point up the need in Post of more adequate public library facilities, but before going into it, it is only fair to briefly outline efforts which have been made here in the past to provide these facilities, and give credit to the groups that have been behind them.

One of the first efforts at providing public library facilities came five or six years ago with the establishment of a library at the First Methodist Church. Even before that, two Post women had hit upon the idea of a rental library with nothing more in mind than to provide current best-sellers and other books to Post's reading public. Lack of interest on the part of the public soon put an end to the rental library project.

The Methodist Church library, while still maintained for the benefit of members, gave up after a few years in trying to interest the general public in what it had to offer. For three or four years after it was established, best-sellers and other volumes were added to the shelves regularly, but this, too, was halted when it became apparent that the public just didn't seem interested enough. An elaborate library system, including card files and other cataloging procedures, had even been set up in the church library.

It wasn't long after the church library was established that the home demonstration women of Garza County set up a rental library in the home demonstration agent's office.

Again, the library was discontinued after a few months because of lack of interest.

That's the way things rocked along until a couple of years ago when the City Council began talking at some of its meetings about establishing a public library. This idea developed into what appeared at the time to be a good one. The City of Post and Post High School officials came to the conclusion that a city-school library could be maintained throughout the summer, as well as the school year. The Rotary Club got behind the project with a book donation drive, and several hundred volumes of adult fiction were processed, cataloged and added to the school library. A city-school library committee was appointed, and the two school librarians were paid by the City of Post for part-time work in handling the needs of Post's reading public.

Even the senior Girl Scouts came in on the city-school library project, and spent many hours assisting the librarians in their duties. For awhile, it appeared that this arrangement might be the solution to Post's needs for public library facilities, but it appears now to have gone the way of all the other ideas—through lack of interest.

It would appear from the foregoing, that the people of Post simply do not want a public library, but we do not believe that to be the case. We think they want one and will patronize one if it is established under standards more nearly approaching those under which such a library should be set up and maintained. Such a project would cost some money and couldn't be accomplished overnight. But there are any number of avenues by which it can be brought about.

In much larger cities, and even in some as small as Post, libraries have been established through endowments. People looking for something to endow, something with a lasting quality, could look a long way before finding something more appropriate than a public library. Even the donation of a building site would be a "starter."

Then, too, in many counties, libraries have been established by the commissioners' court under a state law which provides for one of the people want it. That, too, would take money, but it is possible that the county and city could work at it on a cooperative basis, as they have on many other things of benefit to the public.

Some folks say it is the "changing times" which might have made people less library-conscious. We doubt it. Statistics show that already-established libraries are checking out just as many—in some cases, more—books than they were 10, 15 or 20 years ago. We believe the thing needed to make people library-conscious is, first of all, a library.

Books and reading may well be one of our most effective weapons in our protracted and bitter war against the ism of evil—stronger than guided missiles, sturdier than hydrogen bombs.

During this National Library Week, let's take stock of our needs in the way of a public library. Instead of becoming discouraged over commendable projects which have failed here along this line, let's resolve to make it a long-range project to go after and get a public library which will be just that in every sense of the word, and not just something tied in with something else.—CD

Statue Dedication Plans Make Progress

Post is now preparing for a real Easter weekend—with the C. W. Post statue dedication scheduled as a real one-day show the day before the year's traditional religious holiday.

Details of the statue unveiling and dedication have now jelled and add up into a quite impressive event. This time it is Mrs. Merriweather Post's party instead of the town's party, as was the case in last fall's Golden Jubilee when Mrs. Post was the community's honored guest for the occasion.

Mayor James Minor will make the statue dedication address and the mayor of Battle Creek, Mich., will come from thousands of miles away to be on hand. It will be an extraordinary event on the courthouse lawn.

It is to be hoped that everybody takes advantage of the invitation and is on hand for the occasion.

In mid-afternoon will come the big free entertainment arranged by Mrs. Post with TV stars Danny Thomas and Spring Byington doing the honors for everybody via a closed circuit television hookup from the grade school auditorium stage.

There simply wasn't enough technical equipment available to set up the affair for an outdoor show and then protect the event from the always present weather uncertainty by having arrangements made to move indoors should it be necessary.

It also was felt that the impromptu style used by Danny Thomas would be most effective if properly staged, something which would be difficult out of doors.

We can only hope the weather will be as perfect for this eventful occasion as it was last September when the town celebrated its Golden Jubilee.—JC

New York Teenager Has Right Idea

In honor of National Newspaper Week, the Putnam County Courier of Carmel, N. Y., sponsored an essay contest among high school students. The assigned topic was "What My Hometown Newspaper Means to Me." A distinguished panel of judges chose the winner. She is Estelle Duhrels, of Carmel, and her essay was devoted to what the hometown paper means to an average, busy teenager.

Miss Duhrels listed many features of the paper that help her keep contact with the community—vital statistics, social and church notes, news of sports and entertainment, the comings and goings of people, and so on. Then at the end she said: "The hometown newspaper is an essential part of the 'American Way of Life.' It stresses the importance of the everyday citizen in the modern world, and I am one of them!"

That is an interesting and accurate point of view. The hometown paper is a unique institution. Nothing duplicates it, nothing can take its place. It provides a running history of its community, and of the people whose lives influence the community in one fashion or another. It is the backbone of community life and progress.

It always does our heart good to see a teenager come in The Dispatch office to buy a current copy of the paper, or to see him purchase one from the newsstand. We number the teenagers among our most appreciated readers, and feel that our efforts have not been in vain when we put out a paper that contains something of general interest to our young readers. May their tribe increase!—CD

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

THIS CHANGEABLE weather, always a topic for conversation, has kept us so busy talking that we almost let the old Indian legend on wind direction slip up on us. It's the first day of spring, remember, that the wind direction is checked to see what kind of crops we'll have. We'll keep in touch with Noah Stone, who makes the check every year, and let you know the verdict next week.

It's been a long time since the weather has slowed crop land preparation as much as it has this year, but not many farmers are complaining. We heard one say Sunday that he'd seen too many dry years to "kick" about wet weather.

RAIN, SNOW AND mud have brought on a number of postponements the last few weeks. One track meet after another has been put off, and last week it was a rodeo that was postponed. The Seagraves event, which has opened the West Texas rodeo season for the last several years, was put off until this weekend.

Why worry about Russia having a dog in their satellite. We have bugs in ours.

AFTER TALKING to Fritz Greenfield, Chamber of Commerce secretary, we've come to the conclusion that it's a toss-up as to which place gets the most requests for odd bits of information—The Dispatch or the C. of C. office. We had a woman call last week and ask us on which day of the week July 27, 1955, fell.

Last week, we overheard a couple of women talking about a proud grandmother. "She's so proud of those grandchildren of hers, that she is a charter member of the P. I. P. Club," one of the women said. "What is the P. I. P. Club?" asked the other woman. "Pictures in Purse," was the reply.

THE REASON Shakespeare turned out all the work he did is that he didn't have a television set.

Speaking of television, have you ever noticed in the westerns (there isn't much else to watch) that when one or more of the characters are inside a house fighting off an attack, they never shoot through a raised window. They always bust out a closed one with the barrel or butt of their gun. There's probably a reason. We wouldn't know... we've never had to fight off a band of desperadoes from inside a house.

IN THIS push-button age, a woman whose work is never done must not have all her buttons.

While waiting for Saturday afternoon's special school board meeting to get under way in the high school library, we took a look around at some of the shelves and came to the conclusion that the high school has a pretty fair library, especially in reference works. There are two sets of the Encyclopedia Americana and two of the Encyclopedia Britannica; also other encyclopedia sets and a set of the Dictionary of National Biography.

IT HAD BEEN a long time since we'd seen some of the titles on the fiction shelves, and some of them brought back fond memories of our own school days, especially "Tom Sawyer," "Girl of the Limberlost," "Two Years Before the Mast," and others.

All of which reminds us that this is National Library Week, and folks should make more use of what public library facilities we have here.

THE SCHOOL BOARD meeting was just getting under way when some gentleman stuck his head in the door and wanted to know, "Is this where the Serenaders are going to play?" He was given directions by Bobby Pierce to the grade school auditorium, two buildings east.

The spellers in Friday afternoon's Garza County Spelling Bee did a good job on most of the words given them from the book, "Words of the Champions." The six spellers made it from "abide" to "peculiar" before the championship was decided, and that's better than they've done in the last three or four years. We recall one year when they didn't get through the "a" words before it was all over.

WE HEARD THE new hit record, "Tequila" the other day. It has three words in it and they're all three "tequila." But even at that, it makes more sense than "Get a Job," "Short Shorts," and some of the other wordier tunes, and its music is fetching.

Our Contemporaries Are Saying . . .

And Then It Hit! A recession to us is much like the old boy who owned the little hot dog stand. He spent most of his time tending to his own business. He was deaf and therefore had no radio. He had very poor eyesight and so read very little and had no television set. But he put out a good hot dog and was well patronized. He advertised regularly in his hometown newspaper and even erected a sign telling all passersby of his product. Business was good.

As time went on, his business increased. He increased his meat order, which helped the wholesaler. He increased his bun order, which helped the baker. He increased his order for condiments, which in turn helped this particular wholesaler. He purchased a larger grill, which in turn brought business to the local appliance dealer. Then, to top it off, he took his son out of school to help run the business and added two more waitresses.

However, about this time things began to happen. His son, who had attended the school of higher education, approached the old man one day. "Father," he said, "Haven't you heard the news on the radio, and read the news in the papers? If money stays tight we are bound to have had business. There is a big recession coming on. You had better prepare for a slackening off in your trade."

This gave the old man a nifty sleepless night. He weighed the problem pro and con. But he thought, "My son has been in college. He reads all the papers and news stories, he listens to the radio, he watches television, and he should know whereof he speaks." So, the old man cut down on his meat and roll orders. He slashed his mustard, onion and condiment orders. He quit his newspaper advertising and took down his fine cafe sign. No more did he bother to tell people of his place of business and of his fine hot dogs. The results: his hot dog sales fell sharply, almost overnight. Finally the old man approached his son, as the bottom was about to fall out of his long-established business, his hard work going to pot, and said, "You're right, son, we are certainly headed for a recession." —"Omnibus" in The Big Bend Sentinel.

Burlington Film Is Seen By Rotarians Burlington Industries, of which the Postex Cotton Mills, Inc. here is a part, had an unsatisfactory year in 1957 from the profit standpoint but the "company's prospects for the long pull are good."

Rotarians learned this and much more about Burlington at their Tuesday luncheon when they viewed a film, "The Burlington Story—1957."

The movie was shown the club by R. J. (Rube) Jennings, president of Postex who had the film here to show to all Postex employees.

The film explained that Burlington Industries is composed of 16 member companies operating over 100 textile plants in 80 communities across the nation and in foreign countries.

The film disclosed that the textile industry has been going through "trying years" with low profit margins and that the industry's outlook for the immediate future has no change in sight, but that the long range outlook is for improvement.

Lee Ward was inducted into the club as a new Rotarian prior to the program.

Lubbock Hat-Making Workshop Attended By Two Post Women By JESSIE PEARCE

Mrs. N. C. Outlaw and I have completed one of the most interesting experiences of our lives. We attended a hat making workshop that was conducted by Mrs. Patsy Schneider of Mineral Wells. Mrs. Outlaw and I had two reasons for attending the workshop; first, we wanted to learn more about hat making than we learned in our workshop last summer; and, second, we wanted to gain information that would help us teach others.

I have heard people talk about making hats for years and have observed their work over that period of time. I am sorry to say that too many of the hats looked like they had been made at home. I wasn't interested in this kind of hat making, but did become interested when I saw hats made by average women without previous training that had a real fashion flare and looked like they could have been a Mr. John or Little Dache models.

Mrs. Outlaw and I found that for the expenditure we ordinarily put in on a hat we can create our own and have one of those expensive models that we have always dreamed of owning but couldn't afford.

Most people get a real satisfaction out of creativeness and hat making gives one the opportunity of putting her talents to work.

For those persons interested in a new hobby or creative outlet, we hope to be able to have a hat making workshop here. It will be some time before we have learned enough to teach a class, probably fall. In the meantime you can be making your plans toward the workshop and creating your own fall hat. This workshop that I am talking about will be open to any woman, or man, not just Home Demonstration Club members.

One interesting thing Mrs. Schneider brought out was that the workshops she had held in Mineral Wells had increased the retail hat sales rather than decreased them as some people feared. This statement sounded a little peculiar, but she explained it this way: groups of women had become interested in making hats and quite naturally wore the ones they made. This started many more women wearing hats than had formerly done so, so the increased retail sales of hats. The explanation sounds reasonable, so a year from now we may be seeing the same thing take place in Post.

At any rate, Mrs. Outlaw and I will be wearing our creations and working and studying so we will be ready to teach you what we have learned.

John Ivan Fawcett, owner of Northern Ireland's Royal Portrush Hotel, has purchased a plane as an aid in operating his hotel business.

GETS SCHOLARSHIP — L. A. Garner, Post High School science instructor, is one of 35 science teachers from over the state selected for a tuition scholarship to a summer institute in science at Howard Payne College, Brownwood. The institute will be held for six weeks this summer.

'Auntie Mame' Will Be Summer Opener For Fair Musicals DALLAS — The seventeenth summer season of State Fair Musicals, Inc., will open here June 9 with "Auntie Mame," current Broadway hit play.

The other five shows to be presented are, in order "Oklahoma!", "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," "Guys and Dolls," "Most Happy Fella" and "The King and I."

Each show will run for two weeks in the air-conditioned State Fair Music Hall.

"Auntie Mame" will be presented by the national company of the show, starring Constance Bennett. The other five shows all will be produced in Dallas by the Musicals' own staff under supervision of Charles R. Meeker, Jr., managing director.

The only casting definitely set at this time is Jane Powell and Rusty Draper in "Oklahoma!", Marie Wilson for "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" and Johnny Ray in "Guys and Dolls."

None of the shows has been presented by the Musicals before. "Oklahoma!" road companies played Dallas in 1947 and 1948; "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" was a Cotton Bowl week attraction in 1951; "Guys and Dolls" and "The King and I" were State Fair of Texas attractions in 1951 and 1954, respectively.

Dates of the six shows are as follows: "Auntie Mame," June 9-22; "Oklahoma!," June 23-July 6; "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," July 7-20; "Guys and Dolls," July 21-Aug. 3; "Most Happy Fella," Aug. 4-17; and "The King and I," Aug. 18-31.

County Judge Pat Walker Talks On Youth At PTA Meet Thursday

Youngsters who don't behave have no right to attend the public schools, County Judge Pat N. Walker told a crowd of over 40 last Thursday night at the Parent-Teachers Association meeting in the school lunchroom. The judge, who deals with the juvenile problem here among his other duties, declared that "community rights are paramount over those of the individual" and that in his opinion "youngsters don't have any rights that don't carry with them certain responsibilities." "They have the right to go to public schools only when they measure up to the responsibility of respecting that school," Judge Walker said. In his thought-provoking talk on one of the nation's knottiest problems—what to do about juvenile delinquency as far as schools are concerned—Judge Walker emphasized that "95 per cent of American youth is headed down the path we want youth to go" and that it is "the three to five per cent who don't behave themselves that are giving youth as a whole a bad name."

"It doesn't alarm me that youngsters will try anything," Judge Walker said. "But it does alarm me that the public accepts youth violence as childish pranks to be expected." The county judge said schools are not designed to be reformatories and that "youngsters who don't behave shouldn't be allowed in the classroom." "There are a great many people in this country who just won't rear children," Walker declared. "They want the school teachers to baby sit nine hours a day while both parents work so they can enjoy a new automobile or a new TV set. "The fault is that the public seems to think this is all right." "We have failed to teach discipline to youngsters. The three to five per cent we are talking about have no respect for anything—and no discipline." Judge Walker declared that "the public is to blame" for the youth problem of today and that the youth problem doesn't belong to the youngsters but to the schools, the homes, and the churches, and to the public in general. Judge Walker said he didn't believe in permitting youths who would not respect authority to attend school because they would simply "corrupt other boys and girls", cost the taxpayers a great

Post Student Member Of Texas Tech Rocket-Firing Team

All Firings Are Well Supervised

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech students, one of them from Post, have fired a rocket more than a mile into the atmosphere.

Dr. C. C. Schmidt, Tech physics department head, said he has approved the carefully supervised project because it gives students an opportunity to put into practice the fundamentals of science which they are studying.

A team of 15 Tech students, including Bob Dunlap of Post, has built seven rockets so far and fired them under carefully-planned safety conditions. Included on the team are students in physics, mathematics, chemistry and engineering.

Students in the project have formed a Tech rocket society under the name Pyros, the Greek word for fire. The Greek letter "pi" is equivalent to a "sideways double-t," the Greek letter "rho" stands for rocket and "sigma," or "s" for society.

Donal Myrick of Lubbock, a spokesman for the group, said one of the seven rockets was fired to an altitude of 5,500 feet. Another went 4,096 feet.

The first three barely got off the ground, he said. Another blew up and still another climbed only 1,600 feet.

Altitudes of the rockets are calculated with the help of data gathered with optical tracking instruments. The time of flight, angle of projection and horizontal distance of flight are planned in advance.

The rockets are fired electrically by remote control from a shelter below ground level. The zinc-sulfur fuel is ignited by a 4,000-degree electric arc created by a 15,000-volt charge.

Elaborate precautions are taken to be sure there are no planes flying overhead and that there are no unauthorized persons in the firing range, which is large enough to allow a considerable margin for error.

"We're not going to say where we're making our firings because we just couldn't conduct them if a crowd gathered anywhere near the site," Myrick said. "That would be too dangerous."

The Techs use a countdown in their firings, with flags employed for communication among three observation points (one of them a lookout tower). A yellow flag indicates the area is clear of danger. A blue flag goes up 10 seconds before firing and a red flag indicates danger any time something goes wrong.

The rocket motors have a burning time of approximately one second. They have developed a velocity of 370 feet per second and a thrust of 300 pounds.

The students estimate that a spent rocket has hit the earth with a force equivalent to four tons. One such device buried itself five feet into the ground.

The rockets are being built in the machine shop of the Tech physics department. About 25 working hours are required to make one, Myrick said.

The latest rocket had a steel fuselage more than an inch in diameter and about five feet in length. Nose cones for the rockets are designed and cast from aluminum by the students.

Myrick said the tail fins are not as important to good flight as the cone. The fins are made as small as they possibly can be and still give stable flight to the rockets.

The launching platform is a steel frame anchored by guy wires. Myrick emphasized that no rocket launchings of the type conducted by the Tech students should be undertaken without supervision of professional scientists.

San Francisco has 18 miles of piers and berthings for ships, some deep enough for the largest vessels afloat.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

Agriculture In State And Nation Going Through Dramatic Evolution

LUBBOCK—This is an era of big business and agricultural co-op's must consolidate or face real hardships, officials who conducted a co-op managers school at Texas Tech agreed.

More than 90 managers attended the sixth annual state-wide school, sponsored by the Texas Federation of Cooperatives, Texas A&M Extension Service, Houston Bank for Cooperatives and Tech.

Smaller co-ops need to get together in federations or regional organizations, according to J. K. Stern of Washington, D. C., president of the American Institute of Cooperation.

"After all," he pointed out, "the purpose of co-ops is to save members money through mass purchasing and give them bigger profit margins through the economies of processing and marketing by a large organization."

Co-ops just are not merging as fast as other businesses are, he said.

C. E. Bowles, vice-president of the Houston Bank for Cooperatives, said the plight of many smaller gins serves as a concrete example of the need for larger co-ops.

"Once a gin turning out 1,000 bales annually could make money," he explained. "Today a gin must turn out 25,000 bales to be profitable."

In areas such as Central Texas' Blacklands—where there are many small gins—this poses a particular problem, Bowles said. They must modernize to complete economically in the ginning business. Modernization costs at least $30-to-40,000 and small gins won't be able to get financing for that.

"In addition to becoming bigger, the modern co-op must strive for more unity and economic integration within its management," Dr. Wayland Bennett, Tech agricultural economist, declared.

"The more you combine services within an organization, the more economical and profitable your operation will be," he said.

"Don't fear economic integration within your organization," Bennett advised. "But do be sure that it's well planned." Seven instructors are conducting the school, which includes sessions on public relations, finance, management, membership participation and insurance.

FOUNDATIONS

You have to go down if you want to go up! That sounds like foolishness, but it isn't.

If you plan to build a garage, you don't need to dig very much before you lay the foundation. But if you plan to rival a modern skyscraper, you must start deep below the earth's surface.

Foundations of great buildings must go down until they rest on bed rock. Not until then is it safe to start going up.

So the next time you look up at a building which rises far above you, don't forget the foundation that makes it possible.

Our lives need such foundations, too. In the building of our lives, and those of our children, we are too often governed by what other people think or by our temporary wants and desires.

But when life's storms come and its testing moments are upon us, it is the foundation that keeps us secure, or the lack of it that permits collapse. Only a life foundation that rests solidly upon faith in the eternal God is really adequate for the kind of character building we must do if we want our lives to be happy and successful.

You've got to go as deep as that, if you want to go up.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

the Sharp Trader

buys at better than wholesale

...because he buys where his bread is buttered

A REAL sharp trader doesn't need "connections" or "special discounts" or catalogs, or any other gimmick to get what he buys at BETTER than wholesale.

Maybe you think we're kidding?

Not at all. It's a fact. When you BUY in the community you LIVE in, you know that every cent you pay for goods and services above wholesale cost stays here at home with you. By staying here, it can get around to buying MORE good things for you and your family.

It's trading material . . . and TRADE ALONE builds communities with better opportunities, better schools, better churches, better neighbors.

Any ONE of these advantages could bring you returns beyond measure in a BETTER LIFE, as well as real CASH returns in the form of increased business, improved property values, a better job, more people to help you carry the load of normal community expense.

All of this — which you don't get for your money when you buy somewhere else — makes the cost of the actual GOODS very low . . . when you buy them at home.

That's how the SHARP TRADERS get BETTER than wholesale values.

The number of pumping days—or the lack of them—aren't just going to affect the tax collections at the state level. They're going to be felt at the local governmental level—city, school district and county—as well. Kenneth Clark, the oil property evaluation engineer for Pritchard and Abbott who will appraise oil properties for the county, Post independent school district, and the city, was in town last week and pointed out to County Judge Pat Walker that oil property valuations are tied to oil production. If production drops, so do the oil valuations which make up a pretty hefty portion of the three local governmental units' tax take. Clark said that with present reductions in pumping days, the local units already are confronted with a five per cent cut in valuation. If more drastic cuts are made in production in the future or if pumping is shutdown for a prolonged period, it could mean as much as a 30 to 40 per cent cut in oil valuations.

A 5 per cent cut won't particularly hurt the Garza County tax take because the county had enough new production before Jan. 1 to offset any such loss. The school district and the city, however, have no new production to compensate for any valuation losses so oil valuation cuts will mean a cut in the taxes paid by oil companies here. The pinch to the school district shouldn't last over a year though as all of the Slaughter ranch—scene now of a considerable deep well oil development—lying in Garza County is within the school district, Walker points out. A drop in oil taxes here means either cutting expenditures through belt tightening or increasing other taxes to keep the budgets balanced.

Uranium mining operations are going to be resumed in Garza County in April, C. L. Brownlow, the uranium man, told us yesterday. That announcement came following the filing in the county clerk's office here Monday of a legal instrument assigning the three Garza County uranium leases from the Garza Mining Co. to the Radiation Exploration Co., Inc. Brownlow is president of the Radiation Exploration Co., Inc., which has Wichita Falls backing. He told us that the Atomic Energy Commission has closed its office in Albuquerque and moved it to Austin so Texas now has an AEC office. Brownlow plans to check over a portable type uranium mill which has been set up on location in central Texas. He is thinking in terms of possibly such a mill here.

Ted Hibbs, the Reedy Kilowatt man, proved to one and all who enjoyed The Serenaders last Saturday night that he is an expert on the harmonica. Hibbs played one solo one-handed, with one hand behind his back, then played a second with two hands. Ted kept his harmonica playing a secret here for several years, but he might as well start carrying one of his several instruments with him in his pocket now.

get some air, and a physician was summoned. He said Hewitt apparently had been dead for four to six hours.

The children had managed to crawl along the floor out of the bedroom. One was in the kitchen and the other in the back part of the house. The older child was the more seriously ill of the two.

Relatives of the family said Sunday the two children had been in the hospital from Wednesday night until Thursday noon. They said the attending physician told them he had not found anything wrong with the children except drowsiness, and they (the relatives) conjectured that even then members of the family were becoming ill from a lack of oxygen in the house.

The family moved here from Abilene about seven weeks ago. Hewitt was employed by Wes-Tex Drilling Company. Officers said they learned that Hewitt's co-workers had stopped for him Friday afternoon and again Saturday afternoon en route to work, but had given on both times when Hewitt failed to respond to the automobile's horn.

No natural gas leaks could be found in the house, officers said. The Abilene services for Hewitt were held at Elliott's Chapel of Memories, with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery. The body was taken to Abilene Sunday by Hudman Funeral Home.

stem test of this pay 8,300-8,348 returned 2,100 feet of oil and no water. The oil did not flow on the test but probably would flow when developed, it was indicated.

In comparison the Shell 1-C recovered 6,800 feet of oil from the Ellenburger.

Earlier, this well flowed oil on a drillstem test of the Pennsylvanian at 8,945 to 8,100 feet and yielded heavily oil and gas-cut mud on a test of the Mississippian at 8,130 to 8,180 feet, indicating possible production from the third pay zone. It also flowed oil on a test of the upper Pennsylvanian at 7,856 to 7,876.

Simms said the rig has been moved from the No. 1B Slaughter to Teas' nearby Spraberry producer to deepen it to the Pennsylvanian and Ellenburger.

The other promising new producer being completed from two pays—Shell's No. 2BA Slaughter in Borden County—is reported by M. L. Pierce, Shell Oil's production superintendent for its Slaughter development, to have flowed 343 barrels of oil Tuesday after swabbing.

Pierce told The Dispatch by mobile phone from the rig yesterday that the No. 2BA Slaughter flowed 14 barrels of oil hourly for 24 hours from the Ellenburger through 8-64 inch choke and that the well has been finished at 8,892 feet.

With total depth at 8,715 feet, the well was plugged back to 8,692 feet and packer set at 8,510 feet. In 20 hours of swabbing 20 barrels of oil plus 12 per cent basic sediment and water was recovered.

Acidized with 500 gallons, it was swabbed three hours and after the load was swabbed, it kicked off and flowed from an open hole in the Ellenburger.

The oil shows in Shell's new Slaughter wildcat came in one of two drillstem tests of the Pennsylvanian between 7,970 and 8,047 feet in Shell's No. 1-D J. B. Slaughter estate.

Testing was reported to be continuing in the formation yesterday.

This wildcat is two and one-half miles west of the Shell 1C and would open a new field to development. It will be drilled on through the Ellenburger.

Four or five drillstem tests have been made of the Pennsylvanian. One produced clean oil and two others oil and water. In none did the oil flow.

In one of the tests, a two-hour test at 7,970 to 8,007 gas surfaced in 15 minutes and 630 feet of 40 gravity oil was recovered with 720 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. In another two hour test from 8,007 to 8,047 only 150 feet of slightly gas-cut mud was returned.

In other oil developments this week:

Shell Oil's No. 2-C Slaughter in the Teas multi-pay pool was reported drilling at 6,541 feet in time.

The Kerr-McGee No. 1 Slaughter, three miles north of Shell Oil's No. 2 BA Slaughter in Borden County was running a log at a total depth of 8,630 feet in lime and chert, preparatory to testing the Ellenburger.

Two miles southeast of Southland at Paul C. Teas, Jr., No. 1 Sidney Johnson, a correlation log was run at 3,460 feet yesterday to determine whether to drill on 300 more feet to test a possible pay zone or whether to plug the well.

Written, Driving Tests Scheduled

Members of the Post Junior Chamber of Commerce have set Sunday and Monday, May 18 and 19, as dates of their Safe Driving Road-e-o for Teen-agers. Announcement of the dates was made Tuesday by publicity chairman Jack Foster following Monday night's Jaycee meeting.

The Road-e-o will consist of a written test to be given at the high school on May 18 and a driving test on West Main on the following day.

The Safe Driving Road-e-o is for any teen-age boy or girl who will not have reached 20 years of age by Aug. 15, last day of the national finals in Washington, D. C., has a driver's license or permit, and has a clean record of no moving traffic violations in the past six months.

The Safe Driving Road-e-o will offer the national winners three scholarships totaling $4,500 and an all-expense-paid trip to Washington, D. C., for the winner of each state Road-e-o. There will also be prizes for winners on the local level, according to the Jaycees.

High scoring contestants in community Road-e-os will then go into the state eliminations, usually concluded during June. Early in August the state winners are then flown to Washington, D. C., for the finals, Aug. 11-14.

The Safe Driving Road-e-o, which grew out of a Jaycee regional safety conference in St. Paul, Minn. in 1952, had 210,000 teen-age drivers participate last year. Each state, plus the District of Columbia, Hawaii and Alaska, was represented. One hundred per cent of the states had at least 32 per cent of their Jaycee chapters participating in the national event.

The Safe Driving Road-e-o, local Jaycees point out, is an example of growing community interest in safety and safe driving. Each year, state, national and regional organizations, vitally interested in traffic safety, contribute money, time and effort to make every Safe Driving Road-e-o a success.

Cooperating with Jaycees in the average community Road-e-o are law enforcement personnel, safety engineers, driver training instructors, insurance personnel and a wide variety of businessmen.

Saturday's special meeting was called after the board received reports of circulation of petitions asking that Lancaster's resignation not be accepted. None of these petitions was presented to the board, Herring said.

Lancaster told the board Saturday that he had informed his teachers the previous Thursday that he had been asked to resign. At a meeting of the grade school teachers on Friday, a petition was drawn up and signed by many of the teachers. Lancaster told the board Saturday that after informing the teachers of his resignation he had requested them not to circulate a petition asking that he be retained.

At the conclusion of Saturday's meeting, Lancaster asked to be permitted to lead the board members and others at the meeting in a prayer. In it, he asked for divine guidance in the education of the community's youth, that no rancor exist, and that the discontent over school matters give way to a coordination of efforts for the good of the community, its schools and its children.

Those present at the meeting were board members Herring, Birdwell, Quanah Maxey, Burney Francis and Bobby Pierce, in addition to Smith and Charles Didway, Dispatch editor, Board members Robert Cato and E. R. (Bust-

In the Post Junior High elimination contest, Marianne, Friday's winner, had lost to Linda Ward, second place winner in the county bee. In the elimination contest, Linda had won by correctly spelling "motley" after Marianne had misspelled it, then by correctly spelling the next word, "mountain."

Friday's contestants were congratulated by bee chairman Dean A. Robinson for what he termed their "splendid showing" in the county bee.

Pronouncer was Mrs. Phil S. Boucher, and judges were Mrs. Gordon Hamilton, Mrs. Pat N. Walker and Mrs. Loree Thaxton. Marianne, who finished second in the 1957 county spelling bee, is a sister of Howard Jones, who was the winner in the first county bee, held in 1953.

Moreland were out of town. Moreland, one of the two trustees out of town when the special meeting was held, told The Dispatch upon his return that if he had been present the vote still would have been unanimous. "I'd have gone along with the board backing up Smith's decision," he said.

Lancaster came to Post in 1952 and taught language arts in junior high school until he became grade school principal at the beginning of the 1956-57 school year.

By VERN SANFORD

Gov. Price Daniel, concerned over the mounting number of deaths by accidents, has taken steps which he hopes will save the lives of many Texans.

First move was to name a Traffic Safety Director. He chose a native Texan, Brad Smith of Westlaco, for this all important job. Smith is a former newspaperman, past president of the Texas Press Association, and also has been active in radio and television reporting.

Governor Daniel soon discovered that although highway deaths in the state had reached a terrific total of 2,600 a year, there was another growing trend. Boating and firearms accidents and drownings from swimming and skiing now are claiming some 500 lives a year in this state. Three out of five are water fatalities; two out of five are due to firearms.

A steady increase in the number of such accidents has been due to more and more hunters in the fields; and more water in which to swim, boat, ski and fish. With the popularity of these outdoors sports on the rise, Governor Daniel feels the urgent need of an educational program on safety measures.

Calls On Newspapers — He has called on the newspapers, radio and television stations, to help in publicizing the need for caution, and to point out the dangers to watch for. He has asked that instructions be relayed through out the state via such organizations as the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, 4-H Clubs and the FFA the Red Cross, the Army, Air Force the Game and Fish Commission.

Leadership in the program has been assured by the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, which group proposed that the Governor call a statewide Conference on Boating and Firearms Safety, to be held in May or June. Additional help in furthering the safety program will come from the Boating Trades Association of Texas, the National Rifle Association, the Outboard Boating Association, and the A&M Extension Service. All are especially anxious to get youth groups interested so as to build intense local support in every community.

A planning committee for the proposed Spring conference met with the governor on March 10 and drafted a statewide educational campaign on boating and firearms safety. Precautionary Measures — Actually outdoor life is no more dangerous than indoor life. In fact, facts prove that there are more accidents in the homes than on the highways. It's true that not all accidents can be prevented. But many can. No one can learn too much about safety precautions, whether it be safety on the highway, in the shop, on the water, in the field, or in the home.

But it is well to be reminded of precautionary measures from time to time. And that's what we propose to do. First let's look at "traffic" laws that are designed to make navigation safer. Actually they are much like our highway rules. Let's suppose that two boats are approaching head-on. The keep-to-the-right rule applies. Exception: If you're too far to the left and it is impractical to change your course. Let's presume that two boats are approaching an "intersection." In other words, they are approaching at right angles to each other. Again it is the boat on the right that has a navigation channel. Furthermore it's against the law if you block a navigation channel.

There is one circumstance when all rules can be broken. That's when it is necessary to do so to avoid a collision.

Every boat should be equipped with life preservers. If your boat has a 10-person capacity, then you must keep 10 life preservers, or buoyant cushions or vests in your boat at all times.

And here's a warning that's too often ignored. Don't carry more passengers than the boat's rated capacity. Overloading a boat is dangerous.

A rule, and courtesy, which many boaters overlook is that of slowing down when approaching another vessel, especially a smaller boat. Remember that it is your responsibility if you swamp another's boat.

Lights Required — Lights, bow and stern, are required on all boats navigating at night. Red and blue on the bow; white on the stern. Spotlights should be used sparingly. Slow moving fishing boats should carry lanterns. A blinking "Life-Saver" lantern, such as the one made by Empire, is ideal. It blinks a red warning to slow down traffic. Its strong beam warns of obstacles, thus making it worthy of a place on any size boat.

All boats are not required to carry fire extinguishers. But it is a wise boatman who sees to it that there is an extinguisher handy. He also takes along an old army blanket, for there's nothing better than a water-soaked blanket to smother a stubborn fire.

If your boat is a small one, 16-foot or less, a NO-SMOKING rule is in order. Especially is this true if yours is an outboard carrying several extra tanks of gasoline. One carelessly thrown match on such a boat could cause loss of life and property.

The above are but a few points for the boating enthusiast to consider. Later we'll discuss precautionary measures which one should take while hunting, or skiing, or enjoying the many other pleasures of outdoor life.

Meanwhile, anchors away—and an enjoyable and safe excursion for you this weekend.

Broilers, Fryers Top Plentiful Foods List

COLLEGE STATION — Broilers and fryers are in heavy supply—considerably larger than at this time last year—and take top billing on the April plentiful foods list. So, spring chicken definitely deserves a place on the barbecue pits and on the family food platter in April.

Dried prunes—which headed the March list—are still plentiful and rate a top place among April plentifuls.

In the vegetable department, green peas and sweet corn will be found in good supply in cans or frozen packages. Stocks of these processed vegetables were at record heights at the latest count in February. Canned pears are another April plentiful.

Children who like that "after school" sandwich or other members of the family who carry lunches to school or work will be glad to know that honey and peanut butter spreads are also April plentifuls.

Milk and other dairy products round out the list. Production continues at record levels and is increasing seasonally.

No Fatal Traffic Accidents in Garza First Two Months

None of the 16 traffic accidents killing 23 persons in Texas Highway Patrol District 5A during January and February occurred in Garza County, according to Capt. E. L. Posey, commanding officer.

In addition to the 16 accidents in which fatalities occurred, the Highway Patrol investigated, during the first two months of 1958, 135 accidents which injured 257 persons and resulted in 285 cases of property damage.

Captain Posey's report shows that speed was the number one contributing factor in the 414 accidents investigated by his men. He urges all motorists to observe speed limits and help prevent accidents by voluntarily complying with all traffic laws.

During the two-month period, highway patrolmen in the district contacted 9,969 traffic law violators. Speed was the number one violation, followed by stop sign violations, defective lights and drunken driving.

4 Locations, 2 Completions Reported In Oil Activities

Four new locations, two of them in the OS Ranch - Glorieta field, and two completions, both in the Rocker "A"-Glorieta field are listed for Garza County in current Railroad Commission filings.

Hilburn-Hawn Company of Dallas has staked location for its No. 1 Ray Hodges, a new 4,950-foot wildcat, five miles northwest of Post. Exact location is 330 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of Section 1209, TTRR Survey.

Shell Oil Company has filed application to drill a 9,400-foot Ellenburger test on its extensive Slaughter lease in southwestern Garza County.

Designated the No. 1-E Slaughter, the venture will be drilled 1,990 feet from north and west lines of Section 18, Block 30, T-7-N, T&P Survey.

The site is two miles west of the Texas No. 1-B Slaughter, apparently prolific southwest extension to a recently opened Pennsylvania and Ellenburger field, 13 miles south-west of Post.

The two locations in the OS Ranch - Glorieta field have been staked by Blanco Oil Company, et al, of San Antonio. They are the No. 6-A and No. 7-A J. N. McCrary, on a 373-acre lease 12 miles east of Post. Projected depth for each hole is 2,900 feet.

Cosden has completed two wells in the Rocker "A"-Glorieta field—the No. 2-B K. Stoker and the No. 3-B K. Stoker.

Total depth of the No. 2-B was 3,125 feet, with pay being topped at 3,039 feet and 5½-inch casing set at 3,125 feet. Initial pumping potential is 78 barrels of oil per day, plus 50 per cent water. Gravity tested 38 per cent. The well was acidized with 4,500 gallons. It is 2,310 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of Section 945, Block 97, HTC Survey.

The No. 3-B went to a total depth of 3,108 feet, with pay topped at 3,014, and 5½-inch casing set at 3,108. Initial pumping potential was 72 barrels, plus 18 per cent water. Gravity tested 38 per cent. The project was acidized with 1,500 gallons.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime A WRITER CLASSIC

Agricultural Co-Ops Must Consolidate Or Face Real Hardships, Group Is Told

By JOHN C. WHITE
Commissioner of Agriculture

Agriculture in Texas and the nation is going through a dramatic evolution.

If the changes we are experiencing in farming and farm life were just a bit more physically violent—it could be properly called a "revolution." No previous era in agriculture has seen such an emphatic shift in emphasis and techniques as we have since World War II.

Old farm concepts have been outmoded by new and dynamic production and marketing. As a result, laws passed 20 and 30 years ago have, in some instances, not met the needs of this new period.

This is particularly true in Texas. Some of our old laws are impractical. And even some of our legislation that is less than 2 years old already need amending.

A goal of the Texas Department of Agriculture during the next legislative session will be to emphasize changes in the following fields:

1. Revision of the nursery law.
2. A marketing enabling act.
3. A new general warehouse law.
4. Dressed poultry inspection law.
5. Amending the recently-enacted egg law.
6. Amendments to the weights and measures law.

A new nursery law is needed to set up some basis of standards and to control movement of inferior nursery stock into Texas.

The marketing enabling act is necessary because our selling and transportation methods have not kept up with the giant strides made in farm production. The state farm agency needs to enlarge its work to provide data to growers and handlers of volumes of commodity movement, planting, harvesting and grading services. At present, the TDA has no authority to participate in these types of programs except that which is rendered in the language of the current appropriation bill.

The present general warehouse law provides that all warehouse storage space for hire shall be bonded by the Agriculture Department. However, the penalty provision is weak and inadequate.

On poultry inspection, the federal government has made inspection compulsory for poultry moving in interstate commerce. The same type of service is needed within the state to protect Texas consumers against inferior and low quality poultry.

The new Texas egg law already needs amending because financing of the statute is insufficient. This program should and could be self-supporting without the necessity of any use of tax money.

A fee system of checking sales and enforcing the weights and measures law is also advocated. This is practiced in other states and would place financing of the act on a solid footing in Texas.

These changes by law are necessary if our state government is to keep abreast of modern agriculture.

TO OUR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS—

We want to invite you to the best sale we've ever had to say 'thank you' for your business and friendship the past ten years.

We've tried hard to give you a drug store to meet your needs and we're proud of the fact that we've always come to serve you whenever you needed us for a prescription to take care of your family. We've griped a little, like the time we came down at 4:30 a.m. to get a 49c sack of sulphur and we thought we had a gripe coming.

But I hope we've never fussed about coming down to fill a prescription for a sick person who really needed the medicine.

We wish to continue to serve you and hope that life will be good to you the next ten years as it has for us the past ten years.

Most respectfully,

BOB COLLIER

High School Hi-Lites

By FRANCES DIETRICH

Hi, kids! The basketball girls received their gray sweaters with gold emblems on them. The boys that didn't letter in football got their jackets.

The English III and IV students are working on their research themes for the term. There are going to be some pretty good ones from the looks of the books people are checking out. The English IV classes are also studying parliamentary procedure. Each class has organized a club, elected officers, and carried on business.

Miss Leslie Nichols, a graduate of Post High School, and now a freshman student at West Texas State College at Canyon, visited several classes Friday. She talked to the shorthand class and answered questions they had about shorthand in college.

Mr. Wiginton demonstrated several calculating machines to the commercial classes Monday.

Tryouts for the senior play, "That Crazy Smith Family," were Monday night.

The senior boys will play the faculty in basketball in the high school gym Thursday night. The proceeds will go to the senior class.

The basketball boys were honored with a supper in the school cafeteria Friday night. The menu consisted of barbecue, beans, potato salad, tea and pie. Couples there were: Forrest Claborn and Kathy Stone, Jimmy Short and Jeanie Holly, Noel Don Norman and Kay Martin, Sidney Hart and Janet Stevens, Don Clary and Shirley Masters, Wayne Runkles and Rhea Peel, Herbie Hays and Barbara Shytles, Kenny Poole and Linda Wilks, Dan Rankin and Pat Wheatley, Clarke Cowdrey and Anne Harmon, Charles Morris and Sharon Woods. BULLETIN SUGGESTS WAYS TO COUNTERACT IT

Salinity In Irrigation Water Is Subject Of Research Publication

COLLEGE STATION — A permanent, prosperous irrigated agriculture is dependent on an adequate supply of irrigation water of satisfactory quality.

There are many things that can affect this supply and quality and in many cases, successful irrigation farming is more dependent on the management practices followed than on the quality of water available.

This is especially true in regard to salt content, or salinity, of the water. Frequently, too much attention is given to the "toxic limits" of salt concentration and not enough emphasis directed toward the selection of suitable crops and adjustment of tillage and irrigation practices to the water which is available.

All waters from surface streams and underground sources contain substances known as salts. This does not necessarily mean table salt, which is the common concept of salt. Thousands of different salts are known. Epsom salts, gypsum, and baking soda are a few examples.

A salt-affected soil is one in which enough salt has accumulated to reduce or interfere with crop yields. The source of the salt that accumulates is usually the irrigation water, but in some cases the soil may have been salty in the virgin state, or salt accumulation may have resulted from a high water table.

A bulletin released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, "Salinity Control in Irrigation Agriculture," gives a thorough discussion of this problem and suggests several ways to counteract it.

A few of the ways given in the bulletin are provide adequate drainage; irrigate more often than ordinary; select crops tolerant to your salt conditions; and apply the water uniformly.

This valuable bulletin may be obtained from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for bulletin 876.

EXTENSION SOIL CHEMIST OFFERS TIPS

Proper Nutrient Balance Important In The Application Of Fertilizer

COLLEGE STATION — Maintaining the proper nutrient balance in the application of fertilizer is important in getting top profit from money invested in fertilizer, advises Bill Bennett, extension soil chemist, in charge of the Texas A&M College Soil Testing Laboratory.

Too much nitrogen applied to a crop will often cause a plant to become vegetative and lessen the fruit set. Too much phosphorus or potassium in relation to nitrogen, he adds, will cause a plant to be small, mature early and fail to make its top potential yield.

To determine the proper nutrient balance for a soil, Bennett suggests that a soil test be made. A soil test will determine the amount and kind of the various plant nutrients that should be applied to give the proper nutrient balance for the crop that is to be grown. The result is the application of the most profitable rate of fertilizer. A soil test will also eliminate unnecessary application of nutrients not needed.

Bennett points out that if soil samples are taken, it is necessary to take a sample which will give a true representative picture of the field being tested. A poorly taken sample, he points out, could result in a fertilizer recommendation which actually could be misleading and result in wrong recommendations.

For information on how to take a soil sample, Bennett suggests a visit with the county agricultural agent who also has forms for listing information which must accompany the soil sample.

The Movie Marquee

Johnny Hopkins, manager of the Tower Theatre, is joining other connected with the motion picture industry in urging the general public to watch the Academy Awards presentation program on television Wednesday night, March 26.

Since a number of the award-winning pictures have been or will be shown at the Tower and since all the actors and actresses winning "Oscars" have been on the Tower screen at one time or another, the awards program will be of special interest to all Post movie fans.

Showing at the Tower Sunday, Monday and Tuesday will be "Legend of the Lost," a drama of adventure and romance in the wild African desert. The picture stars John Wayne, Sophia Loren and Rossano Brazzi, with Kurt Kasznar heading the list of featured players.

Filed mostly in Libya, where the motion picture camera had never before recorded the beauty, starkness, and impenetrable mystery of the desert, "Legend of the Lost" took a company of Hollywood stars and a vast unit of technicians half way around the world to bring this story to the screen.

Starring Kim Novak and Jeff Chandler, George Sidney's "Jeanne Engels" comes to the Tower Theatre screen next Wednesday and Thursday. The Columbia drama, story of a girl whose flame made her a star, and consumed her too soon, features Charles Drake, Larry Gates, Virginia Grey and Gene Lockhart.

The story of Jeanne Engels is one of the most fabulous in all show business, and the screen version presents it in all its glory. —CD

LETTERS To The EDITOR

THE PEOPLE'S POSITION

Should the people run the public schools?

Yes, to a certain extent, we should.

We should run them in the same way we should run our nation. Ours is supposed to be a representative form of government, that is, rule by the election of representatives of the people, by the people, to act for all the people. It is different from democracy, which is rule by a simple majority.

To properly act for the people, representatives must be informed of the desires of the people. Some of the ways they learn what the people want are by personal talks, letters, and petitions addressed to them. Each of these forms of communication has its place. No one of them should imply a threat to the person of, nor a reward to, the representative.

Both threats and bribes should be rejected by the good representative. But he who refuses to hear and consider the desires of his electors seeks to become an all-knowing little god, a monarch, or a dictator. We want none of those.

The representative must be as free to refuse an action as to grant a request, if he is to represent all the people properly. Therefore it behooves us to seek to be well informed. Then let us tell our School Board what we want—no threats, no bribes. Let us trust them to do what they think best after considering all the facts. Let us accept their decisions with good grace. Then we will have an orderly progress of good American government.

Morality isn't enough?

During the first century after Christ, there was a Roman captain in the occupation army in Palestine. He was "a devout man, and one that feared God with all his house, which gave much alms to the people, and prayed to God always." (Acts 10:2)

Tel, strange as it seems this "good" moral man, Cornelius, needed something more. Morality isn't enough to save a man. God told Cornelius to send for Peter, "who shall tell thee words whereby thou . . . shalt be saved." (Acts 11:14)

Cornelius needed Christ to save him. Jesus said: "I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." (John 14:6)

Peter came to Cornelius' house and found his kinsman and near friends ready "to hear all things that were commanded of the Lord." Peter preached Christ as the Son of God, the Saviour of the world. He told how Jesus had lived a perfect life, and died for man's sin on the cross. He called on all to believe in the Lord Jesus. They believed and Peter asked: "Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized . . . and he commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord." (Acts 10:47-48) Faith in Christ leads one to obey Christ, to "repent and be baptized" for the forgiveness of sins. (Acts 2:38) Jesus said: "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved . . ." (Mark 16:16)

Millions today, like Cornelius, are generous, and morally "good," but they need Christ. Even at his best, man is still a sinner. If you have not obeyed the gospel of Christ as Cornelius did, you need the blood of Christ to save you from your sins (1 John 1:7). You need to believe in Christ as God's Son, repent of your sins, and be baptized into Christ for the forgiveness of your sins. When you obey Christ in baptism, God will add you to the undenominational church of Christ. We urge you to become a Christian today!

Are you willing to follow this wonderful example of Cornelius? Here are five facts you need to face:

1. Man is lost without Christ and cannot save himself. Romans 8:10, Jeremiah 10:23
2. Christ alone can save man. John 14:6
3. Christ died on the cross to make salvation available to all. Matthew 11:28, 29, 1st John 1:7
4. Man must believe in Christ as God's Son and obey the commands of Christ. Mark 16:15-16, Acts 2:16, "He became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey Him." Hebrews 5:9
5. You can be just an undenominational Christian like the Disciples.

Are you willing to follow in the footsteps of Cornelius, do the things commanded by God, do the things that we did—that is, hear, believe, and obey the Gospel—it will make you a child of God, a member of heaven's family, while on earth you dwell.

UNCLE LUKE IS A SKEPTIC

To be truthful about it, Uncle Luke is plumb "ornery" about a lot of things. He rants at the blasted "airplanes" that scare his chickens... he fusses about the way women dress nowadays... he's never been to a picture show... and one of his pet hates is those "lx" "x" "7" squawk boxes" somebody around the house is always turning on while he's trying to read his newspaper. Oh yes! Uncle Luke likes his newspaper... dots on it, in fact. Says it's the only way a feller could tell what's really going on in this crazy world nowadays.

Thank goodness we don't have to put up with many folks like Uncle Luke... but if you have an advertisement message and want to be sure Uncle Luke sees it... put it in The Post Dispatch.
