Charlene Baker Is Contest Winner

Charlene Baker, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Baker, was named "Miss Post of 1957" at a bathing beauty contest at the municipal swimming pool Saturday night.

Miss Baker, a senior at Post High School, will represent Post in a district bathing beauty contest to be held at the pool later this month. She was sponsored by Bob Collier Drug.

Second place winner was Doris Eilenburger, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Eilenburger, and third place went to Shirley Wallace, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Wallace. Miss Eilenburger was sponsored by Short Hardware and Miss Wallace by Bill's Grill.

The other three finalists in the field of 13 entrants and their sponsors were: Linda Bilberry, G. F. Wacker Store; Ann Porterfield, Parsons Dress Shop; Melanie Thompson, Evelyn's Beauty Shop.

The other seven contestants and their sponsors were: Joyce Josey, Franleigh Fashions; Marica Dean Holland, Dunlap's; Gwen Cople, First National Bank; Barbara Wheatley, Post Dispatch; Leslie Nichols, Fashion Cleaners; Patsy Payne, Dairy Mart, and Carolyn Hudman, Judy's Cafe. Approximately 300 spectators saw the contest, which was directed by Frances Craig, instructor at the pool, and judged by four out-of-town judges.

The winner was crowned by Mayor James L. Minor and presented a bouquet by Miss Craig.

Preceding the contest, a diving exhibition was presented by Pat Cornell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Cornell of Post, and two Lubbock divers, Jim Lowe and Bill Gambill. The Lubbock duo also put on an exhibition of clown diving.

Miss Craig said plans for the district contest will be announced soon.

Spur Groups Vote To Back WR Bond Issue

The three Spur members of the White River water district board of directors and the city council of Spur came out unanimously Tuesday night in support of the $4,000,000 bonds to be voted upon Aug. 17 to construct a White River water supply dam and pipelines to the four towns of Post, Crosbyton, Spur and Rails.

The supporting actions came after 10 days of lively discussions of the White River bonds by citizens at Spur in which a number of Spur community leaders have opposed the project.

The directors of the White River Water District held a special dinner meeting at Spur Tuesday night to discuss the project with the Spur city council members.

It was following this discussion session, at which many features of the White River project were explained, that the Spur directors and the city council of Spur took action in support of the bonds.

White River district directors then attended a public meeting in the Spur grade school auditorium to answer questions about the project.

The turnout at the public meeting was disappointingly small with the attendance undoubtedly cut by a thunderstorm which hit Spur just a few minutes before meeting time.

At the dinner meeting with the city councilmen district directors from both Crosbyton and Post expressed their opinions that the water bonds will carry in their respective towns.

Opposition to the water bonds at Spur appears to be based upon the feeling that the properties of the four towns won't be equalized, with a disadvantage to Spur, and the desire to have water purchasing pledges signed by the oil

July Rains Spotty In Garza County

July rainfall, the first of which fell on the 20th totaled 1.57 inches in Post, according to County Agent Lewis C. Herron's rain gauge.

The rains have been spotty, helping cotton and feed where they fell, but lack of moisture in many sections of the county is hurting feed, with cotton also beginning to feel the effects.

Good rains fell Tuesday southwest of Post, in the Grassland community, east of Post in the Verben community, and in the north part of the county. Only .61 of an inch was measured here, however.

Last Thursday's rain totaled an inch in Post, but didn't extend very far in any direction from the city.

The July rainfall of 1.57 brings the 1957 total to date to 20.27 inches, which is very close to normal for the entire year.

The county agent said bollworms and leafworms are becoming numerous in many fields of cotton.

It will proceed north to Main, turning east at the courthouse and marching down Main Street to just west of the railroad crossing. There, it will turn west, come back up Main to the courthouse, then south to the starting point.

First, second and third place trophies will be awarded the three top riding groups. The first, second and third place floats will receive cash prizes of $15, $10 and $5, respectively. A $10 first prize will be paid the best-decorated automobile.

Town Founder's Daughter To Be Here For Event

Jubilee Plans 'Jelling'

"Plans for Post's Golden Jubilee celebration are getting into high gear," Paul Haagen, representative for John B. Rogers Producing Co., said today following meetings with several committees.

Meanwhile, Monta Moore, manager of the Post-Montgomery Estate announced that Mrs. Marjorie Post, daughter of C. W. Post, the town's founder, will arrive here early Sunday night, Sept. 15, and remain until the celebration ends on the 17th.

Moore said Mrs. Post will officiate at ceremonies dedicating a platform on which a life-size statue of her father will be erected at a later date. She plans to have a replica made of her father's statue in Battle Creek, Mich. It will be erected on the east side of the courthouse lawn here.

Haagen announced today the schedule of special days for the four-day celebration. Opening day, Saturday, Sept. 14, will be Pioneer Day, honoring old-timers and pioneer families. There will be a street parade in the afternoon, and it will also be the opening night of the pageant, which will have a cast of 350 local people.

Sunday will be "Faith of Our Fathers" Day, with no pageant to be held that night. Monday will be Belles and Brush" Day, at which time judging of beard and costume contests will be held, with the pageant being resumed that night. Tuesday will be Youth Day, with activities dedicated to the youth of the community. It will also be the date of the C. W. Post statue

1957-58 School Budget Of $389,131 Proposed

The Post Consolidated Independent School District's estimated budget for the 1957-58 school year has been set at $389,131, an increase of more than $55,000 over the 1956-57 budget.

The proposed budget is expected to be approved at the next meeting of the school board, which will be Monday night, Aug. 11.

The new budget is based on an assessed valuation of approximately $16,000,000, which is an increase of almost $3,000,000 over last year's valuation of $13,190,810.

The biggest increase is in instructional costs. The new budget calls for $243,774 as compared with expenditures of $199,953.35 for the platform dedication, with the pageant being concluded that night.

The pageant, depicting the history of the area from pioneer days to the present, will be held at Post Stampede Rodeo arena. Haagen said the entire celebration See JUBILEE PLANS, Page 8

New Line Boosts Electric Power Here

"Post is a powerful place—twice as powerful as it used to be," Ted R. Hibbs, manager for Southwestern Public Service Company, said today.

That was Hibbs' way of announcing that construction crews had completed a second transmission line to serve the Post area electrically.

The new transmission circuit runs from Slaton to Post, and is a 69,000 volt line. Half of the line is new H-F frame construction, while the other half was the rebuilding, and strengthening, of an existing line.

It is now possible for Post to receive electric power on two different transmission circuits of 69,000 volt lines. Power can be fed into the community from the west, through Southwestern's Terry County interchange station near Brownfield as well as over the new line.

A part of the new transmission line construction was the building of additional facilities at the Post interchange station. An interchange station, as the name implies, is a point at which voltage is changed. Here in Post, the voltage is changed from 69,000 volts, at which it is carried on the trans-

Robert Meisch, manager of the Post Swimming Pool, has announced that even though Miss Frances Craig, present lifeguard, has resigned, there will be competent lifeguards on duty at all times until the close of the pool. The morning swimming classes will be discontinued but the Thursday morning women's swimming classes will now be under the direction of Miss Carolyn Hudman who has completed her course in Red Cross life saving.

Dub Craig will take his sister's place as lifeguard along with Jerry Windham who was employed earlier. "Dub has spent as much of his life in the water as Frances," according to Meisch. Craig completed his Red Cross life saving course some time ago.

Health Department Expecting Rush For Pre-School Birth Certificates

"School days, school days, all around the state," may stray somewhat from the original song, but it means that come September, around 263,000 little Texans will be going off to school for the first time.

In anticipation of this the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health is girding itself for the annual last minute onslaught of thousands of requests for birth certificate photostats.

It seems that each year the situation repeats itself. Most school districts require proof of birth in the form of a birth certificate or photostat for students entering school for the first time in the first grade.

Harried mothers all too often forget about this requirement until middle August. By then the Bureau of Vital Statistics is flooded with thousands of similar requests for photostat copies resulting in a delay in the receiving of the copy for two weeks or more.

In efforts to speed up the process, the bureau each year hires extra help and works overtime, in addition to using certain speed-up techniques to aid in the location of the original certificates kept on permanent file at the Department of Health.

Most of the requests will be for six-year-old children. Knowing this, vital statistics personnel arrange the record books containing the 217,470 certificates of birth for the year 1951 and part of the "stacks" for 1950 so that access will be easier and quicker.

The removal and replacement of the certificates for photostating is done at the "stacks" by the extra personnel instead of at the photostat machine by the technicians in the usual manner.

In this way a staggering pile-up of record books is avoided and the issuance of birth certificate photostats is greatly speeded.

State Registrar Don Carrol asks that requests for photostat copies be made as soon as possible to avoid the rush. Contact your local health department or send the request to the Bureau of Vital Statistics, State Health Department, Austin, Texas.

Be certain to include the child's name, name of both parents, and the date and place of birth. Enclose $1 with your request. Cash is requested.

Write tonight to be sure to get your photostat on time.

Blowing Fuses Show Circuit Check Needed

Blowing fuses, flickering lights and shrinking TV pictures when additional electrical appliances are turned on are signs that circuits are overloaded. For safety's sake, call in an electrician and ask his advice on what should be done. Don't play handy-man, warns W. L. Ulich, Extension Service engineer, with something that can be as dangerous as electricity. Safety Week, July 21-27, might be a good time to do some checking.

When Benjamin Franklin was president of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania he remarked: "Fear God and your enemies will fear you." Lafayette was bald-headed; he wore a wig.

Farm Exports For Fiscal Year Head Toward New High

COLLEGE STATION (S p l)—United States farm exports for the current fiscal year are soaring to a record level. Four straight years of export increases find 1956-57 values approaching 4 1/2 billion dollars—a full billion ahead of last year. Several factors help this favorable situation. Competitive pricing of CCC-owned cotton and other products has done a lot for our export market and a generally strong financial position is now enjoyed by most of our best customers. Extension Economist Alvin Wooten says here is also a growing desire abroad for the high quality products in U.S. stocks. He stresses the fact that considerable progress has been made toward easing barriers against imports from this country.

MY PRIVATE MOVIE

There was a day last summer that I keep tucked away in the back of my mind, like a miniature mental movie all my own. Sometimes, when other days aren't quite as bright as this one was, I take it out and reel off a private showing.

It was a Sunday. We'd been to church, Lee and the three children and I. Then we went home and packed up a big picnic lunch and took it down to the creek. It was one of those perfect summer days poets have written about. Everything tasted better than it could possibly have been. When we'd finished eating, the kids sailed their boats while Lee and I stretched out on the grass and looked up at the blue silk sky, all dotted with fleecy white clouds.

We didn't say anything, but I know that we were both thanking God for all the blessings he'd bestowed on us. I know that we were feeling, just then, particularly at peace with ourselves, and with the universe. I was thinking, too, of our kids as they'd come out of Sunday School that morning, with their bright faces glowing, and I gave a silent vote of gratitude to my parents for having raised me in the Church. Now I was able, in turn, to pass on this priceless heritage to my own children.

In this high pressure, jet-propelled age we're living in, we need so much to guide our children in the right way. Without the aid of the Church I, for one, would be at a total loss—and that afternoon I realized it, with particular emphasis.

I suppose, when you come right down to it, we really didn't do so much, that Sunday. But it was a day that left me with a feeling of family unity, of togetherness... I shall never forget.

Sometimes, when things are "at sixes and sevens," a parent needs to take time out to remember just how precious a family is. Whenever I find myself in danger of forgetting—I just dust off my movie and live that Sunday all over again, to myself.

companies in advance of the bond election.

Spur councilmen explained that not too long ago valuations there were hiked by the school district in some instances well above market value and that unless a complete fresh start is made on property valuations by the water district, Spur property owners feel they will have to pay more than their share of the tax load.

White River directors explained that the report circulating in Spur that the method of equalization would be merely to boost present city tax rolls was incorrect and that an equalization board already is at work making a completely fresh start on the equalization problem.

Each town has one member on the four-man equalization board, except Spur, which as yet has not been able to secure a qualified man to serve.

The equalization plan for the district calls for each member to fairly assess the true market value of each property in their respective towns and then the entire board will sample valuations on properties in each of the four towns to determine if they have been fairly equalized. A percentage of this true market figure then will be used to determine the valuations.

Directors also pointed out that the bond election comes first and that oil companies cannot be asked for water communities until they can be shown voters are ready to actually create a water supply which can be sold them.

Directors emphasized at the dinner session and public meeting that the water district bonds cannot be sold unless (1) the oil companies agree to purchase surplus water which would provide about a third of the water sales, (2) the federal government agrees to buy $1,500,000 second lien bonds, (3) all four towns involved not only vote the bonds but then approve water contracts at municipal elections following, and (4) the assessed valuation of the district is equally distributed and large enough to provide a satisfactory bonds to valuation ratio.

Spur councilmen were told that unless the four towns voted approval of water contracts following the bond election the bonds could not be sold because investors would not buy them.

As one councilman declared, "This gives us a loophole. It will give us time to see if the equalization comes out all right."

Some 8,000 pamphlets giving questions and answers about the bond election were distributed at the dinner meeting to delegations of the four towns for distribution to voters in the next two weeks.

Ransom Gallaway, representative of the bonding firms who would market the water bonds if voted, told directors and Spur councilmen at the dinner session that the government "will tear this proposition apart" before buying any of the water bonds and so will private investors. "If it isn't found sound in every detail the bonds can't be sold, he explained. He said voters can't approve the issue 100 per cent without a worry because the bonds simply can't be sold to create a debt unless all the "ifs" left in the propositions are favorably resolved.

Attending the meetings from Post were Tom Boucher, president of the water district board, Dr. A. C. Surman and R. J. (Rube) Jennings, directors, Mayor James Minor, Powell Shytle, George Samson, Walter Duckworth, and Dispatch Publisher Jim Cornish.

mission line, to 4,150 volts, the voltage used on the local distribution system.

As an additional part of the construction program for the Post area, a new distribution substation was located at the interchange station. The capacity of this distribution station was doubled, and will meet Post's power needs for many years to come.

In addition to the distribution substation for the city itself, there are four other distribution substations in the immediate Post area to serve the industrial customers of the region such as the mill and the oil field.

The Post construction project was a part of the $12,000,000 construction program for 1957 through which Southwestern Public Service Company is keeping ahead of the electric power needs of its 45,000 square mile service area. Eight per cent of the company's equipment is less than 10 years old as a result of the rapid growth in Post and other communities that it serves.

School Budget—

less than $2,000—from $25,066.25 in 1956-57 to $27,050 for the coming school year.

Auxiliary services expenses show a jump of from $13,849.92 to $22,676 in the proposed budget. The bulk of this increase is in transportation expenses, which are estimated at $22,676 for 1957-58—almost double the $7,260 spent during the 1956-57 school year.

The added transportation costs come about through consolidation of the Graham, Garnolia and Grassburg districts with the Post district.

Total capital outlay, which includes remodeling of buildings, furniture and equipment, etc., drops to $10,871 in the new budget from $16,829.09 spent during the current school year.

The proposed budget for the new school year lists total debt service at $45,435 as compared with $42,039.10 during 1956-57.

Total state funds during the coming school year will be $159,527. Last year, these funds amounted to $129,353.41. The county available fund will furnish $3,446 during 1957-58 as compared with $1,845.35 in 1956-57.

Total local funds during the 1957-58 school year will be $180,720, an increase of almost $18,000 over the 1956-57 total of $162,725.55.

Average enrollment for the new school year is estimated at 1,100. The 1956-57 average enrollment was 1,024. Per capita cost for the new school year is estimated at $302 as compared with a 1956-57 per capita cost of $268.

The 1957-58 tax rate will be $1.46, the same as last year. Of this amount, $1.15 will go for maintenance and .305 for bonded indebtedness. Last year, $1.13 went for maintenance and .33 for bonds.

tion is being planned on the basis of being financially sustained. Souvenirs will be available and all profits from their sale, as well as from the sale of hats, badges, etc., will be retained by the local committee to help defray costs of the event.

"The John B. Rogers Producing Company," Haagen explained, "does not share in any of the profits. We are on a flat fee basis for renting of costumes, lighting, scenery, personnel and other services necessary to stage the celebration."

Membership badges are now on sale at Jubilee headquarters for $1 each, or may be purchased from members of the promotions committees, which are headed by Walter Duckworth and Mrs. Irene Rodgers.

The badges make their owners members of the organization, entitling them to be eligible for beard and costume judging on the third day of the celebration. The women's part of this activity will include a style show of pioneer costumes, with prizes being offered. For the men, there will be several divisions of a beard contest.

Junior shaving permits and "Little Miss Centennial Belle" buttons are on sale for 25 cents each for children, who wish to wear badges similar to those worn by Mom and Pop. Also on sale at Jubilee headquarters are official hats, both toppers and derbies, and sunbonnets.

Winnie Tuffing, chairman of the Centennial Belles committee, has urged women to start getting pioneer dresses ready, since certain days of the week will be set aside for their wear, beginning soon.

It was also announced that the beard-growing contest is open to every male of Garza County, not just those within the Post city limits.

Lubbock SW Beats Slaton Pony League Playoffs

Behind the scenes, James Ellis, Lubbock manager, had fanned. Both crossed the plate on Ellis' single.

Lubbock went ahead in the bottom of the fifth on a double by Sims, who stole second, advanced to third on a sacrifice bunt, then scored on Mitchell's sacrifice fly.

Shortly before Lubbock scored its winning run, the Lubbock manager gave notice of protesting the game after alleging that the Slaton manager had gone to the mound three times in one inning against Pony League rules.

Slaton got only five hits off Ellis, who fanned nine. Lubbock managed only six safeties off James Wright, Slaton hurler, who struck out six.

By winning the area playoffs here, the Lubbock team qualified for the district Pony League playoffs later in the week at Monahans.

Large crowds attended all the playoff games here. The tournament, originally scheduled to get under way Thursday, was postponed to Friday because of wet grounds, with play continuing through Monday night's single championship contest.

Leo M. Acker, Post-Tahoka Pony League official, directed the tournament in an efficient manner, with capable assistance from a number of committees. Considering that this was the first season for the league to operate, it was a credit for Post to be designated as the site of the area playoffs.

Following are the playoff scores:

Friday
Lubbock SW 13, Slaton 6
Littlefield 7, Floydada 2
Slaton 14, Floydada 1
Post-Tahoka 17, Crosbyton 1

Saturday
Lubbock SW 9, Littlefield 3

Lubbock SW 16, Post-Tahoka 0

Sunday

Antelope Counted In Panhandle Area

AUSTIN (Sp.)—The total count of antelope in the Panhandle area of Texas this year showed a decrease over a similar count last year, but more bucks are present, according to the director of law enforcement of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

The count was made by Pilot Warden Frank Hamer, Jr., and biologist Bob Van Cleave. They flew 57 hours in making the check and counted 1,964 antelope. On a similar count last year, Hamer checked 1,822.

This showed a decrease of 299, with 205 antelope killed on the Panhandle hunt in 1956.

"In 1956 there were 563 bucks counted in the area," Hamer said. "There were 205 taken on the hunt, leaving 358. This year there were 415 adult buck antelope counted, giving a gain of 61 bucks since October of 1956."

The count showed 838 does and 307 fawns, all in good condition. Hamer believed many of the Texas antelope might have been driven across the line into New Mexico by recent aerial spraying for grasshoppers just prior to the count.

Prospects for a limited hunt this fall are promising at this time.

Post - Tahoka All-Stars Eliminated By Slaton

The Post-Tahoka All-Stars, competing for their first year in tournament play, were eliminated from the Area C Pony League playoffs here Sunday evening when they lost a heart-breaking 8-7 decision to the Slaton All-Stars.

The previous evening, the Post-Tahoka team has been lambasted by Lubbock Southwest, 16-0, in the double elimination tournament. They had opened tournament play by drubbing the Crosbyton All-Stars, 17-1, Friday evening.

In their elimination loss to Slaton, the Post-Tahoka team, managed by Louis Mills, got off to a 3-2 first inning lead, but couldn't hold on. Slaton bounced back for four runs in the bottom of the second to go ahead, 6-3.

Slaton scored two more runs in the bottom of the fourth, then choked off a Post-Tahoka rally in the fifth, which produced two runs and pulled the locals within one run of knotting the count. In the top of the seventh, James Wright, who had relieved Gary Ward in the fifth, struck out Felix Bustoz, Leslie Acker and Bobby Beard to end the game.

Beard went all the way on the mound for the Post-Tahoka team to absorb the loss. Ward, who had relieved starter Johnny Clack in the third, was the winning pitcher.

Bustoz, with three hits in four trips, was the leading batter for the losers, who collected a total of 12 hits, one more than Slaton managed.

In their first loss, Saturday evening to Lubbock Southwest, the Post-Tahoka team ran head-on into a one-hit masterpiece spun by James Ellis.

Ellis had a no-hitter until Bobby Beard rapped a clean single with two out in the bottom of the sixth. The game was called at that point because of the 15-run rule.

The Lubbock right-hander faced only 21 men, striking out 12. The only baserunners for Post-Tahoka were Mike Cornell, who was hit by the pitcher in the third; Leslie Acker, who reached first on an error in the sixth, and Beard, who followed with his no-hit spoiling single.

The Lubbock team raked three Post-Tahoka pitchers for 19 hits. Felix Bustoz, the starter and loser, retired only one man of the first seven to face him. He was relieved by Beard, who pitched one and one-third innings before yielding the mound duties to Robert Hood at the start of the third.

Leslie Acker gave up only five hits in hurling the distance in the Post-Tahoka team's 17-1 victory over Crosbyton. His teammates collected nine hits off two Crosbyton pitchers, with the game being called after four and one-half innings by the 15-run rule.

Jim Green, Post-Tahoka first baseman, cleared the center field fence with a grand slam homer in the second inning when the locals scored five runs. After Robert Hood went out trying to steal second, Richard Stice smashed a solo homer out of the park.

It's The Same Proposition

If You Approved the White River Water District Last October You Will Vote For The Bond Issue Saturday, August 17.

The Same Water Rate!

Before the confirmation election last October 27, setting up the White River Water District, the taxpayers of Crosbyton, Ralls, Post and Spur were informed in a printed brochure that water from the proposed reservoir would cost the cities 30c per 1,000 gallons. Added to this would be the cost of distribution. This still remains the maximum rate that would be charged to the cities if the bond issue is approved August 17. There has been no change in this figure since the first estimates were made.

Tax Rate The Same!

You were told that the average home owner in the four cities would pay a tax of approximately $11.25 per year, less than $1.00 per month. This figure remains about the same. If 30c per 1,000 gallons is charged for water, the tax rate will be 12 cents on the $100 valuation. Valuations will be about 80 per cent of actual value. For instance, if you have a $10,000 home it will be valued at approximately $8,000. With a tax rate of 12 cents, your annual tax would be $9.60. The engineer estimates this tax can be done away with completely in four or five years.

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENS

You are probably wondering how the above is possible, since the bond issue is $4,000,000 rather than the first estimate of $2,500,000. The answer is simple — your directors have found a source of revenue which will take care of the increase in cost of the project. Oil companies operating in Garza and Kent Counties have been contacted, and they have said they will contract to buy enough water from the White River Reservoir if it is built to make the payments on that $1,500,000 additional cost. The oil companies would use this water to flood their wells to make them produce more, a common practice in oil fields where water is available. With these oil companies contracting for the surplus water in the lake, it puts the proposition right back where it was last October as far as the four cities are concerned—it will cost the cities no more than we first anticipated.

An Ironclad Guarantee!

Voters have an ironclad guarantee that the project won't cost them any more than $2,500,000. Their guarantee is that the bond companies have said flatly that they cannot buy more than $2,500,000 of the bonds. If something should happen and the contracts with the companies are not signed, then the dam cannot be built even though the bonds have been approved, simply because the bonds cannot be sold. This is about as good a guarantee as a voter could have in seeing that his interests are protected.

Let's Give Them A Chance!

Let's give the directors of the White River Water District a chance to build the White River Dam and reservoir, and the supply lines to the four cities. They can do nothing unless we approve the bond issue. If the bond issue is approved, then they can go to the oil companies with contracts. If the contracts are secured, the directors can then go to a government agency to sell the remaining $1,500,000 in bonds. Should the directors fail in securing these contracts and selling the additional bonds, then the dam will not be built. Let's give them a chance and VOTE FOR the bonds August 17.

HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT SAYS

Freezing High On The Preferred List For Preservation Of Food

By JESSIE PEARCE Home Demonstration Agent

Let's talk about food preservation. Now is the time that the gardens are beginning to bear and fruit is coming on the local markets.

Freezing is high on the preferred method list of many people, so let's start with that method. Vegetables must be blanched to keep for a long period of time. Blanching is heating in boiling water or steam. I recommend boiling water. Blanch a small amount of vegetables at a time so that the water will not be cooled below the boiling point when the vegetable is immersed. Length of blanching time depends on the vegetable and the degree of maturity. Check the book that came with your freezer, or get a frozen foods bulletin from me, for the proper blanching time. Cool immediately after removing from the boiling water. Ice water is preferable, but running water is acceptable for this. The vegetable should be completely cooled before packaging. Drain thoroughly and package in a moisture, vapor proof package and freeze the freezer as the food freezes so slowly that it loses quality. A good rule of thumb to follow is to freeze in any 24-hour period no more pounds or food than the cubic foot capacity of your freezer. In other words, if you have an 18-foot freezer, 18 pounds of prepared food is all that you should freeze in one 24-hour period.

For freezing fruits, you merely peel, slice, add sugar or sugar syrup, an anti-darkening agent for the low acid fruits such as peaches, package and freeze. In using syrup pack, place a crumpled piece of waxed paper on top of the fruit to keep it under the syrup until it freezes. You may buy ascorbic acid, citric acid or one of the commercial preparations for your anti-darkening agent. Any of them used properly will do an equally good job. Follow the directions on the package of the commercial mixtures, or the directions in your freezer book for the ascorbic or citric acid.

The Department of Agriculture has tested several new one-step methods for canning many vegetables. Among those now approved are beans and peas. This method has shortened the preparation time in canning these vegetables by packing them cold, adding boiling water and sealing. The methods must be followed correctly and the correct processing time allowed to be sure that the food keeps. I have bulletins in the office that give the processing times missions study book. The revival meeting at the Baptist Church here will begin Sunday, Aug. 11, and continue through Aug. 18. The Rev. H. P. Bishop of Lubbock will be the speaker. Services will be at 10 a. m. prayer services at 7:30 and evening worship at 8 o'clock. We cordially invite you to attend these services.

The following people met in the Walter Brown home Sunday afternoon for a singing: The Rev. and Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. A. M. Smith and daughters, Mrs. Thurman Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Will Teaff, James Barron, Edith Youngblood, Oneita and Rita Fern Jones, Frances and Diana Barron. Mr. Brown has been an invalid for over two years.

for these vegetables. I have requests from time to time about testing pressure cooker gauges. I do have a test gauge and will be glad to test your cooker gauge for you. If you have any doubts about the gauge on your cooker, have it tested before you start your summer canning work. It is much better to be safe than sorry. You may want to get your neighbors together and have "a testing party" and check all of the gauges. Just contact me and we will arrange a time and place for this.

Whether you freeze, can, or preserve, you can assure your family of an adequate food supply for the next year if you use first quality products, process and store them correctly. Call me or drop me a card at the office if you want any bulletins of help on your summer canning or freezing projects.

Root-Plowing, Reseeding Makes Gains In District

The new-to-this-area range practice of root-plowing and reseeding has proved its worth on 70 acres of drought-stricken range owned by John T. Sims, 12 miles north of Post just off the Ralls Highway. The brush control practice apparently has eliminated mesquite growth from Sims' land and, at the same time, has provided a cover of desirable grasses. Alex Ringhoffer, conservationist for the Post Work Unit of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District, explains that the theory of root-plowing and reseeding is one of increasing effective rainfall by elimination of water-hungry brush, increasing the water intake rate of soils, seeding adapted grasses, and range management in the form of deferment and proper stocking. "The root-plow is a long knife-like blade, weighing from three to five tons, which is pulled through the soil at a depth ranging from 12 to 16 inches. The root-plow varies in width from seven to 14 feet and is equipped with a minimum of three fins welded to the moldboard at an angle. These fins ride the roots to the surface of the soil, giving better kill and seed-bed preparation than other methods. The reseeding is done along with the plowing operation. The seed is broadcast by utilizing the tractor exhaust or by using a cyclone-type seeder. The seed is broadcast on the surface of the soil, and good stands have resulted following sufficient moisture. Another operation that may be necessary following the root-plowing and reseeding is weed control by aerial spray. Ringhoffer explains that root-plowing and reseeding is comparatively new to this area, but that it has proved highly successful on range land in South Texas, where the rainfall is comparable to that of the local area. Cooperators of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District other than Sims who have done root-plowing and reseeding include Giles McCrary, John Lott, Charlie Bird, Charles P. Witt, Jim Barron, Dee Coleman, O. G. Hamilton and Ralph Welch. "Approximately one thousand acres of range land have been root-plowed and reseeded in the district," Ringhoffer said. The principal grass used in reseeding in this area is blue panicum. However, reseeding with native grasses such as blue grama, sideoats gramma, cottontop, cane bluestem and switchgrass has been very successful in other areas. Additional information concerning this type of brush control or any other conservation practices may be had by contacting the local Soil Conservation Service technicians. field Thursday for Mrs. Mattie Johnson. Proper Range Management Essential Part Of Successful Ranch Program

COLLEGE STATION (S p l.)—Proper range management is an essential part of any successful ranching program. The points to stress now for proper range management are feed reserves, deferred grazing and brush control, according to G. O. Hoffman and A. H. Walker, extension range specialists. No chemical weed control can now be used effectively, for the weeds are too large and mature. A feed reserve means the difference between profit and loss, advise the specialists. Excess forage should be stored for future use during winter and drought periods. Deferred grazing should be practiced even if it is getting dry. Good deep-rooted grass will still make considerable growth on the subsoil moisture. The specialists then give a summary of the reports of several county agents in regard to brush control, grass growth and chemical weed control. Karnes County reports show that grasses, for the first time in several years, are showing up on much root plowed ground. In Brown County, chemical treatment has proved effective in tree control. The trunk base treatment gave practically 100 per cent kill on mesquites and yucca. In Young County, brush treated areas have produced twice as much grass as untreated ones, even under drought conditions. Spraying to control brush has been found to be an economical method to provide additional grass. Grass work is being carried on in Goliad. Good grass growth has been noted on soil where fumonox powder applications were made to control post and blackjack oak in February, 1955. Chemicals made the difference between dead, harmless weeds and green ones as much as six feet tall in Shelby County. The chemical used last May was 2,4-D at a material cost of 80 cents per acre. In Scurry County, thistles were controlled satisfactorily in blue panicgrass with 3/4 pounds of 2,4-D ester applied with an airplane.

Cotton Industry Is Behind ACPA Plan For Lower Market Prices

LUBBOCK (Spl.)—There is no doubt that all segments of the cotton industry are behind the American Cotton Producers Association plan of lower market prices to make cotton competitive with compensatory payments to maintain the farmers income," George W. Pfeiffenberger, executive vice-president of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., said his week on his return from Washington, D. C.

Pfeiffenberger has been in Washington attending meetings of the House Committee on Agriculture in connection with the ACPA bill.

"The political pot is still stewing, sometimes at a simmer, sometimes at a boil with final results still very much in doubt," Pfeiffenberger said.

"The Department of Agriculture is opposed to all new legislation except its own plan, which is to give the Secretary full authority to set support prices anywhere from 0 to 90 per cent of parity or at best between 60 and 90 per cent, and without any increase in acreage.

"There is much opposition to this and the split in the farm bloc over other commodities it appears as if a stalemate is the order of the day and that no new legislation will be forthcoming in this session of Congress.

"It is not completely hopeless, however, as strong efforts are being exerted and a combined bill may yet be expected which would develop into action, if not now, at an early date in the next session," Pfeiffenberger explained.

The status of cotton legislation will be discussed Aug. 12 at the American Cotton Congress's one-day meeting in Lubbock by Pfeiffenberger.

Fleahoppers And Bollworms Are Invading Cotton Fields

Heavy infestations of fleahoppers and from medium to heavy infestations of bollworms are reported in Garza County in the Extension Service's current Cotton Insect Situation release.

The release, compiled by reports from county agents and other agricultural observers, includes the following information:

"Varying amounts of rain fell throughout the area during the past week. In many localities the rains have been sufficient to maintain satisfactory growth and fruiting of cotton. Where hard rains fell, populations of thrips and fleahoppers were reduced, but continuing showers will furnish ideal conditions for bollworm activity. While some insect infestations have been sufficient to require control, no general heavy infestations have developed.

"Thrips were reported in light infestations throughout the area. While many plantings of cotton showed excessive shed of tiny squares, thrips infestations were generally too light to indicate such shed resulted from their feeding.

"Fleahoppers occurred in light to medium infestations in some fields in all counties. Heavy infestations were reported in Briscoe, Floyd, Garza, and Howard counties.

"Lygus bugs were present in light infestations on most cotton. Medium to heavy infestations were reported in some fields in Crosby and Lynn counties. Populations have decreased in scattered fields, even where no insecticide applications have been made.

"Bollworms were present in an increasing number of fields. While infestations were light in a majority of plantings of cotton, the worms were present in sufficient numbers to require control in a limited number of fields. Medium to heavy infestations were reported in Crosby, Garza, Howard, Lamb, Mitchell, and Yoakum counties. Increased bollworm activity may be expected if showers continue. Cotton should be checked frequently for the bollworm, and control effected as soon as damaging infestations appear. Small worms are easily killed and control at this stage greatly reduces farm damage.

"Garden webworms were reported on cotton in scattered fields in Bailey, Lynn, and Terry counties. Heavy infestations were present in fields which had heavy weed growth in Bailey County.

"Cabbage loopers are present in light infestations on most cotton. No damaging infestations were reported.

"We strongly urge everyone to consult the Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects for recommended insecticides and dosages. Guides are available at county agent's offices."
