Spring Byington, Lily Ruskin Essentially The Same Person

It's difficult to separate Spring Byington, the actress—who will be in Post Saturday for the C. W. Post statue unveiling program — from her television role of Lily Ruskin in "December Bride"—because they are, essentially, the same person.

Spring understands Lily with the amused sympathy that comes from similar background and shared experience, and she has passed that understanding and affection along to the television public, which has kept "December Bride" in the top-rating list since the show's debut four seasons ago.

Lily is a mother and a mother-in-law. So is Spring. Lily lives with her married daughter. So did Spring, at one time. Like Spring, Lily is charming, attractive, intelligent—and just slightly zany. Both are cheery and warm-hearted, following a philosophy of living for the present.

Nearing her unofficial golden anniversary in show-business, Spring Byington is a veteran of 30 stage plays, more than 75 motion pictures and a score of radio shows. She went into television in the Fall of 1954, when the successful radio version of "December Bride," in which she had played the title role, made the transition to the TV screen.

Spring was born in Colorado Springs, Colo., on Oct. 17. It is typical of the lady that she omits the year—not for the sake of vanity, but because she firmly believes that chronological age is an unimportant measurement. "It's not the number of years one has lived, but the youth of the spirit that counts," Spring says.

Spring's father, Edwin Byington, was an educator who taught English at the University of Colorado and at Colorado College. When Spring was five years old, her father died, leaving Helene Byington with two small daughters and a very limited income. The gallant lady, from whom Spring inherited many qualities of courage and initiative, discovered that she had earned enough credits during her part-time studies on the campus (where the family lived) to qualify as a pre-medical student. She continued her education and earned a degree at the Boston School of Medicine, a most noteworthy achievement in those early days when society looked askance at women in the professions.

Dr. Byington practiced first in Toronto, but returned to Denver where Spring spent her school years. At the beginning of her sophomore year in high school, Spring and her mother had a serious talk about the future. Mrs. Byington encouraged her daughter to plan for an independent career. Spring thought she'd like to be an actress, so her mother helped her implement that ambition by joining the Elitch Gardens Stock Company in Denver, a group that produced such stars as Frederic March and Peter Cookson. Spring made her theatrical debut there, at the age of 14, in a series of minor roles.

At 18, Spring joined seven other budding actors in producing a French play, financed with the $500 inheritance of one member of the troupe. They landed a few bookings in the Midwest, but the show folded in a small town near Kansas City. Spring had a difficult decision to make. She could give up and go home—or she could take what was left of her tiny nest egg and continue her floundering theatrical career. She chose the latter, and after a few lean weeks Spring found a spot in a small road company, touring the eastern United States and Canada.

After her mother's death, Spring went to South America with another troupe, married the company's manager and for five years she lived in Buenos Aires, where her two daughters were born. The marriage was not a happy one and the couple separated. Spring returned with the youngsters to the United States—and to the stage.

Some time later, she was introduced to George S. Kaufman, Marc Connelly and Winthrop Ames of the New York theater. Ames starred the actress in "Beggars on Horseback," which launched her successful Broadway career. Subsequently, she appeared in "When Ladies Meet," "Once in a Lifetime" and "The Merchant of Venice."

It was in 1932 when the late producer-writer, Stuart Walker, persuaded Spring to try motion pictures, and she made her screen debut in "Little Women." Hollywood was to be a temporary address for the actress—35 years and 73 movies ago! She scored so heavily in that first film that she has since worked for almost every studio in movietown. There followed success in the radio version of "December Bride," and even greater triumph in the television series, which began its fourth season this Fall for the same sponsor.

Spring lives in a modest, Spanish-style home in the Hollywood Hills. Nearby is the home of her daughter, Phyllis (Mrs. William Baxley), her son-in-law and two granddaughters, Sam, 18, and Chris, 8. Spring's other daughter, Lois (Mrs. Larry Dunn) lives in Santa Barbara, Calif. Lois and her husband have a 16-year-old son, Alvin. Busy as her life is with a weekly

FROM THE DIARY OF OUR DESTINY

And very early in the morning the first day of the week... at the rising of the sun...

Thus begins the most amazing account of human experience ever written. And so simply, with just a notation of time: the hour, the day, the very moment!
But like a church bell sounding its call to worship, that simple notation of time has become the clarion of a New Life.
So deeply has it penetrated our pre-occupation with the routine of every-day existence that millions gather at sunrise to greet the dawn of each Easter Day.
What has given such meaning to one moment in time?
Its PROMISE: Christ is risen. The One Who said, because I live, ye shall live also—He lives!
This tremendous moment, for all who worship Him in faith, became the first entry in the Diary of our Destiny.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

(Church located on side of town 50 West 14th St.)

Thanks, So Much Mrs. Merriweather Post

We, the business men and townspeople of Post, want to take this opportunity of saying "Thank You" for the very generous interest you have taken in our town—the town your father, C. W. Post, founded 50 years ago.

By your gift of the life-size statue of your father which will be unveiled Saturday afternoon on the courthouse lawn, we know you regard Post, Texas, as your town too. And we are glad.

We enjoyed so much having you as our honored guest last September for our Golden Jubilee. And we appreciate the community party you are bringing to us and our town with Danny Thomas and Spring Byington.

The statue of your father will stand as the symbol of the town's cherished past—and as a challenge to its future.

No Serious Injuries In Auto Collision

Two women and five children escaped serious injury in a two-car collision Tuesday morning two miles west of Close City.

The most seriously injured of the victims was Mrs. George Leggett, who was still in Garza Memorial Hospital Wednesday with a leg injury. She was the driver of an automobile which struck a car occupied by Mrs. Evelyn Copple and five children.

Mrs. Copple and the children were brought to the hospital here, but were released after treatment.

Deputy Sheriff J. W. (Red) Floyd, who investigated the accident, said Mrs. Copple's automobile was knocked over on its top after being struck by Mrs. Leggett's car at a farm road intersection. The accident occurred about 8:30 o'clock.

The officer said Mrs. Leggett was given a ticket for failure to yield right-of-way and Mrs. Copple one for having no driver's license.

at the same time, TV stars Danny Thomas and Spring Byington are slated for a joint interview. They are both due to arrive in Lubbock Friday.

By the way, Lubbock Mayor Lennis Baker and Lubbock Chamber of Commerce Manager W. D. (Dub) Rogers will be on hand at the municipal airport in Lubbock this afternoon to greet Mrs. Post and her party and Mayor Worgess and his wife, as well as a local delegation headed by Mayor Minor.

platform was not injured.

At the present time seven rigs are going on the Slaughter Ranch in the two counties.

No additional drilling in either the U-Lazy-S pool in Borden County or in the Teas dual field in Garza County is expected as five wells in each field are now down or going down and additional wells would cutback production allowed for the first 18 months to the current eight drilling days.

That means new drilling will center around wells offsetting new pool operators such as the Shell's Slaughter 1-D, and possibly the Shell 1-E, if that wildcat now drilling seven miles west of the 1-D also becomes a dual producer from the Pennsylvania and Ellenburger as have all recent drilling ventures on the ranch. Drilling began last week on the 1-E.

Shell's wildcat, the Slaughter 1-D, will make a producer in the Pennsylvania, although not as prolific as one as the 1-C, M. L. Pierce, Shell superintendent, told The Dispatch this week.

The 1-D is now being tested in the Ellenburger, below the Pennsylvania, after pipe was set through the Pennsylvania to seal it off for testing of the prospective deeper pay.

No new drilling tests in the Slaughter area were begun this week.

Shell is not drilling testing its C-3 offset but cored the Pennsylvania and results assured them of a producer in that zone.

Shell also has gone in on its Ellenburger discovery well in the U-Lazy-S field in northern Borden County and completed it as a dual producer from Pennsylvania as well as the Ellenburger.

On potential test the well flowed 247 barrels of 41-gravity oil in 24 hours through 6-4 inch choke from the Pennsylvania. It was completed last year in the Ellenburger for a daily flowing potential of 189 barrels daily.

The ranch's Teas field in Garza County has been extended a half mile south with the completion of Paul C. Teas No. 1-B Slaughter. Producing from casing perforations opposite Pennsylvania at 8,046-96 and 8,069-66 feet, the well flowed 710.53 barrels of 34.4 gravity oil per day. The Ellenburger for the well is producing 288.25 of oil daily plus one-half of one per cent water on one-half inch choke from 8,289-348 feet.

The Kerr-McGee well in the U-Lazy-S field in Borden County now is being completed also as a dual producer.

James Simms, superintendent for Teas, reported the Teas' J. B. Slaughter No. 2 (Spraberry producer) which is being deepened to the Pennsylvania and Ellenburger is now drilling at 4,958 in a side hole. A tool was lost in the hole earlier in the week. Drillers will probably need two weeks to reach the Pennsylvania formation, for and marked a cowboy route to Garza County—where Post City was established. Later Post wrote Mr. Smith that he had followed his directions precisely—and had found a place to locate a new town.

The story went on: "He looked over this area but feared for a water supply. Smith drew him a map

Elmer Butler, Stanley Butler, R. H. Tate, Georgie M. Willson, Bob Baker, Jack Lancaster and Ray N. Smith, Mary Gale Young and Mrs. L. G. Thuet Jr. formed the duet.

The Rev. C. B. Hogue, pastor, was narrator, and Shelby Baucum, director of music and education for the church, directed the choir. He also had charge of producing the program.

At the Church of the Nazarene, Easter will be stressed by a 11 departments Sunday. The Rev. Cecil Stowe, pastor, will preach on "Sunrise in the Easter Garden" at the morning services, and "The Voice of Easter" at the evening services. "Come to church and hear again the story of the resurrection" is the church's invitation to Sunday's services.

"Good Morning" will be the title of the Easter sermon at the 11 o'clock service at the First Presbyterian Church. The anthem by the youth choir will be "The Day of Resurrection."

The Lord's Supper is to be observed at the Presbyterian Church at 7:30 o'clock this evening. The communion sermon will be "In the Upper Room." This will be the Easter Communion service, the Rev. Clinton Edwards, pastor, announces.

Revivals are to begin Sunday at the Calvary and First Baptist churches, and one is already underway at the Assembly of God church.

Rockefeller Center in the center of Manhattan measures about 13 acres.

Simms said the Sidney Johnson No. 1, near Southland, is drilling ahead at 4,166 feet. This is a "tight hole" with no announcement being made of any testing results.

Two other rigs also are drilling in the Southland area.

Baker of Lubbock will be interviewed together. On Friday night of TV station KDUB of Lubbock.

These sets will be placed in various junior high school classrooms, some in the junior high school gymnasium, others in the junior high library, and some in the lunchroom. If the weather is favorable there will be six sets hooked up on the lawn in front of the grade school.

KDUB officials pointed out this week that the closed circuit TV plan doesn't mean that the show will be televised through the channel 13 station, but rather that the 50 sets will be simply wired into the circuit which will be operated through the station's mobile unit.

You can't stay home and see the show on your home set. Only the 50 sets at the schools will pick up the sound and picture.

Both Danny Thomas and Spring Byington will make brief personal appearances in the classrooms and gym and library where the TV sets have been set up for the overflow crowd to view the show, according to word received from their agents.

This will enable everyone to personally see the two famous TV personalities as well as see the show, even though there aren't enough seats in the auditorium to accommodate the crowd.

The day's events actually will start at 12:30 p. m. when Mrs. Post will give a buffet luncheon in the school lunchroom for her traveling party and special guests, who will include Post pioneers who received plaques at the Golden Jubilee.

Mrs. Post and her party of almost 30 are scheduled to fly into Lubbock's municipal airport in two chartered DC-3's at 3:30 p. m. today where they will be met by a Post welcoming committee headed by Mayor James Minor.

Mayor and Mrs. Russell V. Worgess from Battle Creek, Mich., will arrive in Lubbock by commercial airliner at 4:17 p. m. today. The Post welcoming committee and Mayor Minor will remain at the airport to greet the couple.

Mrs. Post and her party will tour both the Levelland and Post areas Friday in a chartered bus, but that schedule has been rearranged this week.

The new schedule calls for the party to tour the Levelland area in the morning and come to the Post area in the afternoon. The bus will stop at the Post Stampede area about 3 to 3:30 p. m. where cowboys of the Double U will put on a roping and branding demonstration. Some dozen to 15 steers will be branded.

The demonstration is to show Mrs. Post's guests some "typical ranch activities."

The public is invited to attend the roping and branding if it so desires.

Mayor Minor announced today that a barbecue will be held on the J. E. Birdwell ranch east of Post at 5 p. m. Friday in honor of Mayor Worgess.

At the same time Mrs. Minor will be hostess to a coffee in the Minor home honoring Mrs. Worgess and others. Mrs. Post will be invited to the coffee.

Danny Thomas' TV Show Enables Him To 'Stay At Home'

Traveling Around Brought To Halt

Danny Thomas, who headlines a free show here at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, finally discovered a way to stay home. He dreamed up a television show format about a man who COULDN'T stay home—and playing that role every week has kept him closer to his own hearthside than he's ever been in his life before.

"The Danny Thomas Show" is actually based on 14 years of Danny's own career, when he was so busy traveling around between theater and night-club engagements that he was an infrequent guest in his own house. Many of the "fictional" incidents that have intrigued audiences with their wistful humor are events that actually took place in the Thomas household. "I was away so much," Danny recalls, "that when I brought clothes home as gifts, they were always two sizes too small for the kids."

Inspired By St. Jude
But there was a time when Danny Thomas wasn't sure he'd ever travel across the street as a professional entertainer. He became so discouraged at one period that he had almost resolved to give up his dream of a showbusiness future—but the inspiration of St. Jude, Patron of the Hopeless, and his own basic determination combined to make this the turning point in his career.

Danny was born on Jan. 6, 1919—attended by a veterinarian—in Deerfield, Mich. His parents, Charles and Margaret Jacobs, both immigrants from Syria (now Lebanon) named him Muzyad Yaghoob, which in Arabic means "extraordinary." The name was Anglicized to Amos Jacobs, and although he took his present stage name (a combination of the first names of two of his brothers) when his night-club career began to show signs of growing success, Danny Thomas is still legally Amos Jacobs—a name of which he is deeply proud.

Was Fifth Child
Danny was the fifth child in a family of nine boys and one girl. When a girl was born after him, Danny relates, there was so much wailing from his Lebanese father that his mother never let such a thing happen again. She had three more boys in a row!

Because of financial strain in the large family, Danny was raised by an aunt and uncle, Julia and Tony Simon. They always lived with or close to the Jacobs clan, however, and Danny learned early the importance of family unity. It is still a deep-rooted philosophy.

Both families moved to Toledo, Ohio, and it was here that Danny first glimpsed the excitement of show business. He worked as a candy butcher in local burlesque theaters. At the same time, his father was instructing him in the playing of two odd European musical instruments, the miz wiz and the noy, and while he was still very young Danny began to make appearances at banquets, playing and singing.

His salary—sometimes as much as six dollars—went home to the family, all except the first week's pay, with which he purchased his first pair of long pants.

Liked School Musicals
When Danny enrolled at Woodward High School (he claims he enrolled as a sophomore because he was too old to be a freshman) he quickly became involved with school musicals, writing, directing and performing. The enthusiasm of his classmates and teachers filled him with youthful confidence in his future as an entertainer—but he was to learn that booking agents were not as quick as his friends to recognize talent.

In his late teens, Danny hitched a ride to Detroit to begin his career in earnest. By then a more than fair imitator, as well as musician, he got his first job in a Detroit radio station, portraying Al Jolson. Other radio parts followed, including that of emcee on a kiddie program. Working with him was a pretty, dark-haired Italian youngster named Rosemarie, aged 14. He took her home on the streetcar every night for three years before it occurred to him that she was no longer a little girl who needed a protector. Danny learned this lesson fast when Rosemarie turned down his escort service one night for a real date with someone else. They were married on Jan. 15, 1936, and on Nov. 21, 1937, their first child, Margaret, was born.

Faced With Doubts
It was just before Margaret's birth that Danny was faced with his first doubts and indecision about his career. He had been discharged from a job as master-of-ceremonies at the Palm Beach Club, radio offers weren't coming his way, and there was an immediate need for hospital money. The responsibilities of a family man weighed heavily, and Danny wondered if he was meant to go on in the entertainment world, or was he meant to get the star dust out of his eyes and take a job with more security?

Remembering a pamphlet containing the story of St. Jude that had been given him by a stagehand during an engagement at the Michigan theater, Danny read it again, thoroughly, and then walked to Saints Peter and Paul Church and laid his case before the Patron of the Hopeless. He asked for guidance.

Almost immediately, job offers in radio and nightclubs indicated that his future had been decided, and that it lay in show business. By 1940, Danny was in Chicago and booked at the 5100 Club, then a built-over automobile showroom. Within three years, he was making ten times his original salary, and headed for New York's La Martinique.

His New York opening was a great success, and when Danny left the first La Martinique engagement in 1944, he was destined for big things in radio and in motion pictures. At this point, his agent suggested a USO tour. The pay was just enough to keep his wife and children (by now there was Theresa, born Nov. 9, 1942) in food and shelter.

Crankcase Crisis!

It seems this nice old lady drove into a Phillips Station to fill up with Flite-Fuel. When the attendant checked the dipstick, he found she had only about a quart of oil left in her car. When he pointed this out, she replied: "Fine... as soon as I use that up, I'll be in some more!"

Of course the Phillips Dealer explained that she needed five quarts of oil for adequate lubrication!

Now that spring is here, it's time to think about the oil in your crankcase. If you are still using "cheap grade" oil, it's time to change it. But why use cheap when one will do? Better switch to Phillips 66 Top Artic which gives you the effects of 10w, 20 and 30 grade oils. Compared to old-fashioned oils Top Artic Motor Oil can actually double engine life. Drive it today for your spring change-over.

Superintendent Of Santa Fe Railroad Is Rotary Speaker

W. A. J. Carter, superintendent of the Slaton division of the Santa Fe railroad, told Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon that the nation's railroads today feel that "they are not free to compete."

He said that strict federal regulations of railroads began when they were a transportation monopoly, but with the development of other means of transportation regulations need to be eased so that the railroads can compete "rate-wise."

"Such would be beneficial not only to the railroads but to the public as well," Carter said.

Carter pointed with pride to the results of the Santa Fe's safety program, pointing out it had jumped to first among the class I railroads of the country the first two months this year. In the last two months he said the 1,200 mile Slaton division with almost 1,200 employees had had not a single work accident—an all-time record.

Carter discussed the railroad's many problems but said he was optimistic over the future for railroads this section of the country because of the "great growth possibilities of the Southwest."

Pointing to passenger service on short hauls as a losing proposition, Carter told Rotarians that two passenger trains on the Slaton division are each losing about $8,000 monthly.

Prior to the Santa Fe official talk, five Post youngsters sang two railroad songs, "I've Been Working on the Railroad" and "The Atchison, Topeka and the Santa Fe," and Larry Lusby sang the Santa Fe safety song. The five youngsters were Patti Peel, Tom Hill, Don Collier, Larry Cummings and Mike Parsons.

The Movie Marquee

Those who watched last week's Academy Awards program probably will agree that it must have been some bridge they built over the River Kwai!

Most everyone we've talked to watch the awards program, and we've heard of two or three instances where youngsters gathered for Academy Awards TV-watching parties.

The motion picture industry did itself proud in sponsoring the two-hour program on television and undoubtedly made a lot of new friends.

There'll be a special "Easter Fun Show" matinee for the kiddies Friday afternoon at the Tower Theatre. A box of candy will be given to every child attending the show, in addition to 10 BIG prizes. "Don't forget the time and date," reminds theatre manager Johnny Hopkins, "the show opens at 2 p. m. Friday. There's no school, of course, on that day because of the Easter holidays.

On the screen at the Easter Fun Show will be two features, Huntz Hall and the Bowery Boys in "In the Money," and "Forty Guns," starring Barbara Stanwyck and Barry Sullivan.

Baby Contest winners will be announced from the stage of the Tower Theatre at 9 o'clock Friday night.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, a very funny movie, "Operation Mad Ball," will be on the Tower screen. It's the picture that's built for a laugh-time! "No tears, no teachings no troubles," says the press book. It's just an all-out fun-and-frolic that's aimed right at the family and friends!—CD

LODGE VISITORS PRESENTED SHEETS — Garza sheets are being presented by Bobby Pierce, worshipful master of Post's Masonic Lodge, to Miss Peggy Sales (left) and Miss Julia Rogers. The girls, who are senior students at Masonic Home High School, spoke Thursday night at the annual roll call meeting at the lodge here. Masonic Home Students Heard At Lodge Meeting

Two senior students from Masonic Home High School in Fort Worth spoke last Thursday night at the annual roll call meeting of the Post Masonic Lodge.

Seventy-nine were present for the meeting and were served supper by members of the Order of Eastern Star.

The visiting girls, Misses Julia Rogers and Peggy Sales, were each presented $25 as gifts of appreciation from the lodge, and a set of Garza sheets through the courtesy of R. J. Jennings, president of Postex Mills, Inc.

Miss Rogers, who is 18, spoke on "What Masonic Home Is Doing for Us."

Highlights of her talk were: Masonic Home for orphans of Master Masons was founded by the Grand Lodge of Texas in 1902.

Masonic Home furnishes comfortable housing for all children and provides three well-balanced meals a day.

The home is located on a 206-acre tract of land, which along with housing contains a completely equipped hospital. Good schools are located here, all accredited by the Texas Education Agency and Southern Assn. of High Schools and Colleges. Students from this school are accepted at any college in the state.

Along with food, clothing and housing goes all the personal care and attention that any child would receive in a normal home. Masonic homes accept children at the age of three and keep them until they are able to provide for themselves.

It is the theory of the home that if the children receive the love and attention they need, they will grow up to be well-balanced, good citizens of our society.

Students have a very close association with their teachers, are provided the best in television and movies for entertainment, the best magazines and newspapers are available to them.

Students are given expert guidance in community living.

HOW MANY OF THESE MUSTS WILL YOUR NEXT WAGON HAVE?

- 1. STYLING THAT WILL STAY IN STYLE
Ford Station Wagon styling is Thunderbird-inspired. So you know it's going to be in style for a long time to come. And Ford offers you six different body styles to choose from.
- 2. ALL-NEW V-8 ENGINE
Ford V-8 power is all-Thunderbird, too... with new Precision Fuel Injection that pays off in still better gas mileage. And it can be yours in all Fords (including the lowest-priced wagon of the low-price three).
- 3. MOST MODERN "SIX"
The Ford Mileage Maker Six is the most modern and most economical Six in its field. It's the 1958 version of the engine that scored most miles per gallon in last year's Mobilgas Economy Run.
- 4. SINGLE-CONTROL LIFTGATE
Loading and unloading is a cinch with Ford's single-control latch. Just a flick of the wrist and both lift-gate and tailgate open. You can close both gates with one hand, too.
- 5. GENUINE FOAM-RUBBER CUSHIONS IN FRONT SEATS OF ALL MODELS
Only Ford wagons offer you the added luxury of genuine foam-rubber front seat cushioning in every model. And all Ford wagon seats are scientifically contoured over non-sag springs for greater riding comfort.
- 6. LOWEST PRICE POSSIBLE
Because Ford sells nearly half again as many station wagons as its nearest competitor, Ford can sell these fine wagons at half the line-car price.
- 7. TRADITIONALLY MOST WANTED AT RESALE TIME
Ford Station Wagons, dollar for dollar, have traditionally commanded top prices on the used car lots. Another reason why your investment in a Ford wagon holds up better.

Battle Creek Mayor Long Active In Civic Affairs

Russell V. Worgess, 39-year-old mayor of Battle Creek, Mich., who will be a special guest Saturday at the unveiling of the C. W. Post statue, has long been active in civic affairs. He served as city commissioner and head of the city's public safety department before being elected mayor.

In the insurance business, he has held every office in the Battle Creek Assn. of Insurance Agents, and is on the Michigan board.

He was born on a farm near Lapeer, Mich., Jan. 7, 1919, started to school there, and completed junior high school and high school in Battle Creek. He had two and a half years at Battle Creek College, majoring in pre-law, and later he attended the Argubright Business School. After eight months at Argubright's, he joined his father in the insurance business.

When World War II came, Worgess enlisted in the reserves of the Signal Corps. He studied radio, radar and electronics and, instead of being sent overseas, was transferred to Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill., to teach radar and electronics for a year after being called to active service. Before being discharged at the end of the war, he was stationed at fields in Florida, Texas (El Paso), Virginia and Kentucky, and at a replacement depot in North Carolina. Back in Battle Creek, "Rusa" joined his father, Percy, and brother, Donald, in the Worgess Insurance Agency. In November of 1946, he was married to Miss Charlotte Day.

The Worgesses have three children, Brian, Douglas and Jennifer. Both Mr. and Mrs. Worgess are members of the First Presbyterian Church. He is a Mason, an Elk and a member of the Loyal Order of Moose. He also belongs to the American Legion, the Amvets and the Kiwanis Club.

Worgess admits only one hobby, fishing. He likes casting, but he also goes for still fishing, including fishing through the ice. The Worgesses have a summer home on the north side of Fine Lake, to which they repair at the end of the school year. Mrs. Worgess used to be quite a golfer, but she has been too busy in recent years with her brood of three.

Church of Christ?

unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus. All scripture is given by inspiration of God . . . that the man of God may be perfect thoroughly furnished unto all good works." II Timothy 3:16, 17

The church of Christ was built upon the rock or foundation of Jesus as the Son of God. "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Christ Jesus." I Corinthians 3:11

Wherever Christ is preached and men believe in Him, repent, and are baptized (immersed) into Him, Christians are made. Galatians 3:27. Then God adds them to the church which is the denominational body of Christ. Acts 2:47

The church of Christ is pleading for primitive Christianity, the restoration of the apostolic church, and the unity of all Christians. Jesus said, "The seed is the Word of God." Luke 8:11. When this seed is sown today, it will bear the same fruit that it produced in the first century of Christianity.

Many have asked this question through the ages since it was established over 1900 years ago. Where shall we go to find the answer? To the Bible, God's Word, of course!

The Bible teaches that the church of Christ is the body of Christ, the body of persons who are saved by Christ. Ephesians 1:22 - 5:23. It is the kingdom of Christ which was established on the day of Pentecost fifty days after Jesus' resurrection. The Lord added three thousand people to His church on this birthday, and He has been adding those who obey His will ever since. "He became the author of eternal salvation to all who obey Him." Hebrews 5:9

This divine organism is not a denomination or federation of human organizations. It was established several generations before the oldest denominations. It is non-denominational and Christ-centered by its very nature. It has neither Catholic nor Protestant. It has no earthly headquarters and is not controlled by an ecclesiastical hierarchy. Every member is a priest under Christ, the high priest. I Peter 2:9

Jesus Christ built this church as He promised. "Upon this rock I will build my church." Matthew 16:18. He is the only head of His church. "And He (Christ) is the head of the body, the church . . . that in all things He might have the preeminence." Colossians 1:18

Jesus has "all authority" in heaven and on earth. Matthew 28:18. He makes known His will through the Holy Scriptures which are able to make men "wise
