THINGS ARE HAPPENING almost too fast for us to keep up with them. It makes us think of a song written by an amateur songwriter in Brownfield when we were there several years ago-"Slow Man in a Fast World."

THIS IS RODEO week-all week long, unless the weather has something to say about it, and it's been speaking in a rather loud voice lately. School closing exercises are set for next week; the Little League baseball season gets under way Tuesday, followed by opening of the Pony League on May 28, and as continue to build up for the Golden Jubilee celebration.

IF THE PACE keeps up, "Slow Man in a Fast World" will be the theme song of more than one of us.

TAKING ONE THING at a time, however, helps slow the pace-so, welcome to the rudes, podner, and let's forget until they get here the other things that are coming up.

THE TROUBLE WITH some of us is that we are prescribing for the yesterday we understand, rather than the today we do not.

LET'S NOT LET IT DIE . . .

It is time to "view with alarm" the fact that interest in the Garza County Community Chest has dropped so low that officers fear it may be impossible to keep it going for another year.

It isn't a matter of the Chest quota not being attained, since all three annual fund campaigns have met with success. It's simply a matter of lack of interest on the parts of organizations and individuals in the administration of the program.

During recent weeks, two meetings have been called for the purpose of electing directors and amending the constitution. Three persons showed up at one of the meetings, four at the other. Clubs and other groups asked to name representatives to attend these meetings apparently have taken no action-with few exceptions.

There have been, of course, conflicting meetings, as there always are, most any night of the week you choose to name. But, if we're to keep the Community Chest operating, those of us who are supposed to attend the Chest meetings need to put in an appearance to help get the ball rolling again.

There is little or no argument as to the merits of the Community Chest. We're all agreed that it is much better to have one fund drive for the nine or ten participating agencies than to have that number of individual fund-raising campaigns. It saves time for the solicitor, it saves time for the contributor, and it works out better all the way around.

Chest officers haven't entirely given up getting new directors elected and carrying out other business essential to continued operation of the program, but they'll never be able to do it at meetings no better attended than the last two. Clubs and other groups wishing to see the Community Chest continued for at least another year are urged to appoint their representatives and to impress on them the importance of attending the meetings. Those of us not named as representatives, but who need to attend, should make special efforts to do so. Let's not let such a worthwhile program die from apathy.

Time was when people thought a great deal about flood control, thinking that it required huge multipurpose dams costing an incredible sum of tax money. One authority says that bigscale flood control, in case after case, can be better effected at vastly lower cost, by small upstream dams. And the whole theory of upstream flood prevention can be expressed in a phrase-catch the raindrops where they fall. The big dams perhaps are wanted for other purposes than flood control.-Mitchellville, Iowa, Index.

Roger W. Babson Writes This Week:

Not Farming As Well As They Know How Has Meant Hard Times For Many Of The Farmers

BABSON PARK, Mass.-Many farmers write to me complaining about the cost-price squeeze. They are discouraged because for them the bottom seems to have fallen out of the farm market. I sympathize with these people, but I suspect that many of them have come upon hard times because they are not farming as well as they know how. Also, many of them are not keeping abreast of new ideas and new crops.

Trend Is Toward More Mechanization

Tremendous changes have taken place in farming during my lifetime. When I was a boy, horses and mules furnished practically all the power on farms. Even as recently as 1910, there was almost no mechanization on farms. In that year the total farm population was 32,076,960. By 1950, this had dwindled to 25,058,000, a decline of 21.9%. Most observers estimate the present farm population to be only 20,000,000. Thus farmers and their families now account for only 11 .-5% of our total population compared with 34.9%

I predict that machines will continue to displace men on American farms. Hence, the smaller commercial farms will be hard put to survive. However, I do not believe farmers should be despairing of the future. A good living can still be made on the farm by those who open their eyes to progress. Obviously, the trend is toward new crops and greater mechanization, and there is no sense in bucking that trend.

Over-Production Is A Temporary Problem

Right now farmers are the victims of their own umusual ability to coax record yields-permore from the soil. Better seed, improved fertilisation and brigation, and more efficient spreading, cultivating, and harvesting machinery have increased production. During the war our farmers rose magnificiently to the challenge to provide food and feed for our allies, and now they are temporarily in trouble.

Future Of Agriculture At present we are growing at least 5% more farm products than we can sell. In an effort to keep our farm surpluses from becoming too burdensome, the government spends huge sums on price support programs, the soil bank, and foreign distribution schemes. All these measures have helped to some extent, but they are by no means cure-alls. I am disturbed by the fact that too many farmers take undue advantage of this government help by deliberately overproducing. However, I am firmly convinced that this overproduction is a temporary problem.

Research Holds The Answers Research has performed wonders for all other industries. I forecast that it will also perform wonders for agriculture. Chemistry, industry, and agriculture, working together, gave us hybrid corn and varieties of the soybean which would grow in our country. This combination sponsored the research that produced a new dwarf variety of castorbean said to yield as much as 2,700 pounds per acre if the soil is properly irrigated and fertilized with nitrogen. Also, a new combine harvester-huller has been developed which will gather tall or short castorbeans without waste. I predict a profitable future for castorbeans, with output reaching as high as 350,000 crop acres.

A stimulating flow of new research ideas has emerged from the recent annual Chemurgic Conference of the Council for Agricultural and Chemurgic Research. This organization and others like it are facing up to the real farm problem, which is not over-production but underutilization

Industrial Uses For Farm Products

We should be proud of the progress agriculture has made in our country. But there is still much to learn about soils, irrigation, and weather. Crops such as castorbeans and sesame seed will become big business before long and I forecast that other big new cash crops are coming. But I want now to call special attention to the need for putting more farm products and residues to work in industry.

President Eisenhower is alert to this need. Some months ago, he appointed a Commission on Increased Industrial Use of Agricultural Products. Its report should be made public within the next mouth. I urge farmers to study it carnfully and to follow it up with action. Over the long pull, I am bullish about farming in this

Getting Out On The Limb

By EDDIE the editor

SUDDEN THOUGHT: Life's greatest tragedy is the murder of a beautiful theory by a gang of brutal facts.

I don't know of a more effective highway sign than the one on the side of a highway patrol car.

NOTICING IN last week's Girl Scout column, written by Mrs. Katharine Trammell, that mothers are asked to pick up jackets, sweaters, head scarfs, etc., left at the Girl Scout Little House by their forgetful daughters, reminds me that many places have large stocks of articles left behind by their owners.

There probably isn't a restaurant in Post where, during the last few years, there hasn't been left behind enough coats and hats to start a second-hand haberdashery shop. A few of these articles are reclaimed by the owners, but most of them are never called for, a restaurant owner tells me.

All of which brings up the point that the State Bar of Texas in one of its columns, mailed this newspaper weekly, deals with the subject, "Finders Keepers?" Here's what it says:

" 'Finders keepers, losers weepers.' Is this old rhyme true or false? Lawyers say it is not always strictly accurate under the law. It is sometimes rather difficult to define the rights of afinder in court.

"There are some rather fine distinctions and exceptions to the 'finders keepers' maxim that have plagued the courts-and findersfor generations. In the first place, the finder is not entitled to keep the property unless the owner is not known and cannot be located. Neither may he keep it unless the object is truly 'lost,' and not merely_'mislaid.'

"In general, property is legally 'lost' when parted with involuntarily-through accident, heglect, forgetfulness or any other unintentional circumstance. Property is not lost in the legal sense when voluntarily left by the owner, intending to pick it up later-even though he fails to do so. Such property is 'mislaid.

"Thus, if one loses a watch on the street by having the clasp break, not knowing where or when it was dropped, it is legally 'lost' The same is true of a fountain pen falling through a hole in one's pocket unobserved. In such cases, the finder owns what he has found against all but the true owner.

"On the other hand, a package left on the seat of a bus is 'mistaid' rather than lost. In one southern state, a pocketbook left in a barbershop by a customer was held to have been 'left,' not 'lost.' The barber was arrested and convicted of larceny when he spent the money that was in it. "Under the law the finder of either lost or mislaid property should make a 'reasonable effort' to find the real owner.

"When articles are left on a train or bus in a public hotel room, or even when dropped on a shop floor, under circumstances indicating that the true owner will later return to claim them, such items are not considered lost. The proper custodian to hold them for the owners would be the proprietor or other person in charge.

"Remaining unclaimed, the property goes to this custodian, sometimes to the finder. The distinction here appears to be whether the place it is found is private or semi-private, or a place used by the general public."

Of course, jackets, sweaters and head scarfs left at the Girl Scout Little House aren't going to bring on such entaglements. It was used merely because it was something that set me to thinking about this legal column, "It's the Law in Texas." Besides, look how much space I was able to kill with it!

THE QUIZ SHOW has become one of the phenomena of the times. Television is now crowded with programs in which contestants can win all manners of prizes if they are able to answer enough questions correctly.

The Citizens Committee for The Hoover Report also has produced a quir. It involves billions of dallars-some of which comes out of your own pockets. It is called the 'Big Budget" quiz-and here are the questions and answers.

L How much is the government's proposed budget for fiscal 1958? The answer: $71,800,000,000. 2. How long would it take you. an individual citizen, to spend this sum at the rate of $100,000 a day? The answer: Nearly 2,000

Time Is Short!

We're startled to realize no action has been taken on the enabling legislation for the state aid to totally disabled Texans which the people approved last summer. For such vital appropriations legislation to get squeezed in the last-minute jam is another eloquent argument for annual sessions. Surely the legislature doesn't intend to continue slighting this pitiable group after requesting and receiving such a direct decision from the voters; but time is short.-The Texas Observer-

The storm tests and strengthens the fibre of the tree as tribulations temper life and character. Happiness often grows from the same soil that nourished unhappiness and a noble act may spring fron, a less admirable beginning. Often our pity is wasted in the wilderness of human understanding; there are no windows in the chamber of private thoughts. Suffering thrives in a climate of silence and includes the sheltered lives enduring the vexing bed sores of monotony.-"Trail Dust" in Matador Tribune.

The long-dry tanks and ponds of Texas farms and ranchesmost of which are now filled with water from recent rainscan be restocked with game fish-Sens. Ralph Yarborough and Lyndon Johnson have announced.

The two Texas senators said they had been informed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service that "fish for restocking are available and orders can be filled without delay."

This is the procedure for securing fish, as outlined to the Texas senators by the Fish and Wildlife Service:

1. The land owner makes application for the fish from the federal fish hatchery nearest him, There are five federal hatcheries in Texas, at Austin, Fort Worth, San Marcos, Burnet and Uvalde.

2. The application is sent by the hatchery to a regional office at Albuquerque, N. M., for pro-

Mercury sets the pace at 1957 Indianapolis 500-mile race

"THE HONOR ALWAYS GOES to the car that, in our opinion, vs the biggest advance in styling and performance."_ TONY HULMAN, Chairman of the Board, Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

sets the pace in size and style

sets a record for low-cost luxury

The choice of Mercury to pace the Indianapolis Classic dramatizes the fact that The Big M is the new yardstick of your money's worth.

IN SIZE, Mercury brings you the biggest size increase in the industry_more room and comfort in every important dimension.

IN STYLING, only Mercury offers Dream-Car Design_ completely different styling, shared with no other car. IN RIDE, only Mercury offers you Floating Ride... the most effective combination of bump-smothering features ever put between you and the road.

IN PERFORMANCE, Mercury leads with the highest standard compression in its field, highest torque for regular production engines, highest optional hp.

Yet The Big M is priced just an easy step above the low-priced three. No wonder Mercury is setting the pace everywhere for style, size, performance, luxuryand value! Why not stop in at our showroom today?

Former Resident Is Buried At Snyder

Monday in Green Hill Baptist Church at Snyder for Thomas Calvin Black, former Post resident, in the Cogdell Memorial Hospital at Snyder following a long illness. Burial was in Hillside Memorial Gardens at Snyder.

Mr. Black, who was 62 years old, was a resident of Post for a number of years before moving away in 1940. He had been a resident of Snyder for about 11 years.

The Rev. W. L. Cass officiated at the funeral, assisted by the Rev. Jack Dean. Hymns were "In the Garden," "Shall We Gather at the River?" and "Rock of Ages."

Mr. Black is survived by his wife; three daughters, Mmes. Murrie Crowley of Post, Claude B. Edgar of Hawthorne, Calif., and Sadie Pollard of Snyder; one siser, Mrs. L. B. Smallwood of Hamlin; one brother, Roy Black of Crawford, and seven grandchild-

Post Man's Parents Owners Of Tourist Court Hit By Blast

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Simpson, owners of the Camp-O-Tel courts in Lubbock, where the tourist court office was destroyed by an explosion at midnight Saturday, are the parents of Wallace Simpson of Post.

The Post couple and their sons, Richard and Ronald, drove to Lubbock Sunday morning after receiving word of the blast.

Ollie Vaughn, manager of the courts, which are located at 2311 19th St., was seriously injured in the explosion. Leaking gas was blamed for the blast.

Simpsons were asleep in a bedroom on the east side of their home next to the office when the explosion occurred. They escaped injury, but two doors and all the windows on the east side of their home were torn from their frames and blown into their home. The living room was wrecked when a huge chunk of concrete weighing several hundred pounds ripped through a window and buried in an opposite wall.

New Chevralet station wagons have Body by Fisher, of course, Above, the Bol Air 4-door Towns

They're eager-beaver beauties ... these Chevrolet wagons!

Talk about hard-working wagons! Chevrolet offers you the handsomest line-up of all. Whether you hanker for a wagon for do-it-yourself projects, to tote outdoor gear, or as an all-round family car-here are eager beavers to see.

There are two-door and four-door models, with six- or nine-passenger capacities. They convert in a flash to take up to half a ton of cargo. The tailgate opens first, so there are lots of loads you can slip in without having to open the topgate.

Being Chevrolets, they have the performance, too; up to 245* V8 horsepower that's frisky, smooth and quiet. The one you choose will be a joy to handle with its steady way of going, its easier steering and alert response. See your wagon at your Chevrolet dealer's soon!

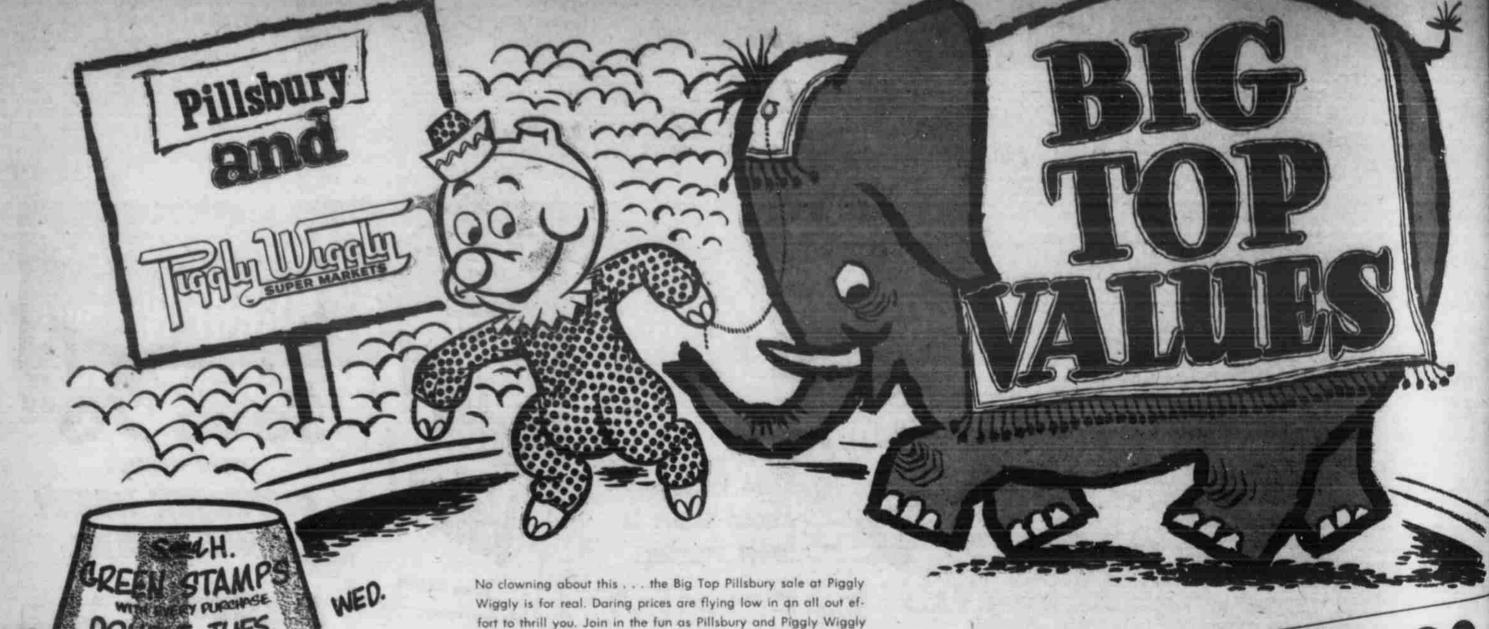

GET A WINNING DEAL OR THE CHAMPION!

*Optional at extra cost. 270-h.p. high performance V8 engine also available at extra cost.
