Post Ready To Salute Cotton

By CHARLES DIDWAY
King Cotton will hold the spotlight here next week with the crowning events coming Thursday in the form of open house at Postex Mills, Inc., and a Cotton Carnival in the grade school auditorium, at which Sterling Emmons, vice president in charge of the cotton department of Lubbock First National Bank will be the speaker.

While all the activity of National Cotton Week, May 18-24, will be jam-packed into one day and night here, the theme will predominate throughout the week, with displays in store windows and members of the Chamber of Commerce's agriculture committee busy on last-minute plans for Thursday's events.

Some Replanting Will Be Necessary Following Rains

Much of Garza County's cotton crop, already off to a late start, will have to be replanted following Monday night's heavy rain, County Agent Lewis C. Herron said.

Theme of the style show will be "Vacation in Cotton Time." Each of the winning models in four style show divisions will be awarded a plaque.

Not much more than 25 per cent of the crop had been planted when the downpour hit, but that already in the ground and some just coming up will have to be replanted, the agent said.

Other plaques to be presented Thursday night will go to the 4-H Club dress revue winner, to the 4-H cotton yield contest winner, to the county's outstanding cotton farmer and to the merchant whose show windows have the best cotton display.

The rain was heaviest in the Graham community area southwest of Post, where it measured up to two inches. In Post, the measurement was 1.39 inches.

Miss Jessie Pearce, county home demonstration agent who is in charge of plans for the Cotton Carnival, said the style show will be presented in four scenes—"Tick-See COTTON WEEK, Page 8"

The rain was beneficial in putting more moisture in the ground and running water in stock tanks, which were getting low, Herron said.

Some hail was reported over the weekend and Monday night, but there apparently was no damage from it, according to the agent.

Proposed High School Would Cost $742,500

By JIM CORNISH
A $859,128 school construction "package" — major item of which would be a new high school capable of handling an enrollment of almost 500 students—was recommended here Tuesday night to Post Independent School District trustees by two building experts from the Texas Education Agency.

The high school, which would occupy a 25-acre site and include 20 classrooms, laboratories, shop facilities, a combination cafeteria and auditorium, a gymnasium, and all other necessary facilities, would cost an estimated $742,500.

Tuition Charge Of $159.58 Is Set For Transfer Students

The Post school trustees Tuesday night set a $159.58 tuition charge for transfer students for the 1958-59 school year and heard a report that all property within the city has been reevaluated by tax engineers "at a considerable gain" but that rural properties in the school district, as yet uncompleted, are showing a loss in valuation.

The board also accepted the resignations of five teachers from the system for next year and approved the employment of two new teachers for the fall term.

After considerable discussion, the board set the tuition charge for transfer students at $159.58 for next year. The tuition charge this year was $155.34.

The $159.58 is the cost per student on the basis of average daily attendance as computed by Supt. R. K. Green from anticipated expenses for the next school year using the pupil attendance for the first eight months of the present school year.

The average daily attendance cost per student for the present school year was $168.96 but is coming down due to climbing enrollments.

The district has some 36 transfer students this year, most of them from the Close City district.

Ray Clayton of the Pritchard and Abbott tax engineering firm which is now reevaluating all city and school district property for the school and city, reported that his firm had figured the "100 per cent value" of property in the city of Post — except for passenger automobiles — at $7,644,130. He said this was "a considerable gain" figuring present tax valuations based on 33 per cent of this 100 per cent value.

Clayton said that his firm hopes to wind up its rural valuations in the school districts in two weeks "if we can get the weather."

He said however up to now he See TUITION FEE, Page 8

Cotton Event To Be All-Out Affair

Next week will be National Cotton Week and according to plans of the local Chamber of Commerce the week is going to be appropriately observed locally.

A Chamber-sponsored Cotton Carnival event is scheduled for the grade school auditorium which will include selection of Post's 1958 Maid of Cotton, an all-cotton style show staged through the cooperation of local merchants, and the presentation of plaques to three Garza County cotton winners.

On that same day—Thursday, May 22—the Postex Cotton Mills will hold an all-day public open house with free door prizes consisting of various cotton products manufactured by the Burlington Industries of which Postex is a part.

Merchants' windows downtown will feature cotton displays with prizes for the best windows. This will be a real all-out event to focus the community's attention on cotton and its importance to our town and area.

In conjunction with the Post observance of National Cotton Week, The Dispatch is planning a Cotton Week edition next Thursday to emphasize through stories, pictures, and advertisements the importance of our cotton-based agricultural economy here.

The Dispatch each year for the last several years has published an appropriate Oil Week edition in October. So we feel it is fitting to begin a Cotton Week edition in the spring to salute the other principal segment of this area's economy.

The Cotton Week plans of the Chamber is one of the new all-out Chamber promotional efforts this year. The more cooperation each of us can give the Chamber in the program the more successful Cotton Week will be.

Make your plans now to participate. Don't miss a trip through the Postex Mills next Thursday—such a jaunt will amaze you if you haven't been through the mills recently. And then next Thursday night be sure and attend the Cotton Carnival program.

We can only hope that 1958's Cotton Week observance here is but the start of one of the Chamber's biggest and best annual promotions which will grow through the years ahead.—JC

City Takes Step On Housing Project

In passing a resolution setting forth the need for public housing in Post, the city council has taken the first step toward participation in the Public Housing Administration's low-cost housing program, but there still are a number of steps to be taken before the ball could get rolling on such a program here.

The city won't be obligated to participate in the program until it has signed a contract with the PHA, and future developments, now that the initial step has been taken, will determine whether or not the city decides to go along on the project.

To our way of thinking, the city council has accomplished something worthwhile in recognizing the need for public housing, which in the main amounts to slum clearance. It's when we shut our eyes to such needs that things go from bad to worse. There is an excellent chance of the city going all the way in the program, and the consensus of the councilmen at their May meeting seemed to be "Why not?"

Lengthy discussion at the council meeting brought out that not only would the PHA low-cost housing do a world of good toward eliminating housing eyecores, but would also ease the housing shortage without injuring already-established rent-house owners. The Post Housing Authority, which would have all the say-so on the local level, would see to that, with certain regulations governing tenants of the PHA homes.

It was also a far-sighted move on the part of the council when they verbally decided that if they participated in the project to be satisfied with nothing less than fifty housing units. As Mayor James L. Minor pointed out, participation would mean setting up and maintaining an office here for PHA personnel while the project is under way, and "if we're going to be required to do that, we might as well get all we can out of the program."

The city council's resolution is certainly good news at this time when many Post families still live in cold and unhealthy substandard homes. It is good to know that Post is a city with local government that is responsive to the needs of its people.—CD

Vandalism Costs Millions Annually

Vandalism in any form is costly, with the amount of the cost depending upon the property vandalized and the extent of the vandalism. At Ralls, some 30 miles to the north, juvenile vandals have taken a staggering toll of property, with the Jaycees' public swimming pool having been damaged to the extent that it probably cannot be opened for the year.

Ralls, of course, is not alone in such outbreaks of vandalism. We have them here, and they have them elsewhere. Sometimes one community is hit just a little harder than another, and in this instance it appears that Ralls has had more than its share of senseless sabotage by juvenile delinquents.

As far as the swimming pool is concerned, it could just as easily have happened here. There has been vandalism at the pool, but fortunately, not as damaging as that at the Ralls pool. It's bad when young people tear up something that was built for their own benefit.

And, since the young people usually draw all the blame for such depredations, it is only fair to mention that vandalism isn't entirely confined to juveniles. When it is committed by older people, it is doubly deplorable. Juveniles can't even be blamed for the origin of the word "vandalism." It is derived from "Vandals," a race of barbarians which invaded Rome in the fifth century destroying monuments of art and literature. It is very doubtful that there were any juveniles among this band of invaders.

Today, nearly 15 centuries after the Vandals hit Rome, towns and cities are "sacked" by vandals to the extent of millions of dollars annually. It's a part of the crime picture and can't be worked out over night, but where juveniles are concerned, parents can do much—more than anyone else—to reduce the appalling toll of willful destruction of private and public property.—CD

Federal Census Speed-Up Proposed

According to an Associated Press story from Washington, they're thinking up there about introducing legislation for the taking of the federal census every five years instead of every ten. That's one piece of legislation that we hope doesn't die in some kind of a committee or get chewed up in some sort of a hopper.

As far as spacing is concerned, the United States is about as far behind on counting noses as it is on anything we can think of. They've been taking the census every ten years since the first one in 1790. Since everything else has speeded up, why not speed up the census?

Chambers of Commerce throughout the land would be glad to see a census taken every five years. The way population is changing, federal census figures are out of date a year after they are released, to say nothing of the way they misrepresent things ten years after they're made public. Practically every city in the United States has come up with new population figures since the last federal census in 1950, but these new figures are estimates—based on a number of things. In Post, for instance, we've figured out our current population through a utilities meter ratio and have posted highway signs with the new figures. Dozens of other Texas towns have used the same procedure. It'd be much better, though, and much more accurate to have the government do it for us—every five years instead of every ten.

Splitting the time between taking federal censuses would cost the government more money, of course, since it's a big operation, but it'd pay off better—we think—than some of the other operations they're spending the taxpayers' money for. It's been eight years since the last census. We're ready to stand up and be counted again in 1960 and then again in 1965—we hope.—CD

What Our Contemporaries Are Saying

History may perhaps be writing its most grotesque chapter in which a nation of free men sell themselves into bondage under mass hypnosis produced by the mollifying voice of a welfare state. An even more pathetic aspect of the blundering leadership is left in a field of complacency harvested by the satisfaction that security may be obtained in some manner other than working for it.—Matador Tribune.

Ever notice that it's the girl with the best looking legs that sees the mouse first?—The Andrews County News.

We nominate for the biggest jerk in town the father who gives his son a $3,000 car to run around in at night, then fails to give him gasoline money, thus forcing him to steal gas from other cars and gasoline storage tanks.—The Ralls Banner.

It will cost about $5,000 to repair damage done to the Jaycees Swimming Pool by youthful vandals. Nobody has that kind of money. The city doesn't have it, and Jaycees haven't. It took all available resources to build the pool in the first place. Fences have been broken down, all types of junk sunk in the pool, and the tile copying has been removed. Latest act in the long parade of juvenile idiocy is the dumping of dead fish in the pool. We are convinced the work and sacrifice that has gone into providing this pool for youngsters is pure waste. We hereby recommend that the city bulldozer be put to work covering up this focal point of vandalism, and that those of us who have invested so much work and money on the project content ourselves with the fact that we're wiser for the experience.—The Ralls Banner.

Writing in National Review, Russell Kirk, the distinguished teacher and writer, finds this central fallacy in the federal-aid-to-education plan: "It isn't money that we need for the improvement of instruction in science, or in anything else. For already we spend far more on schools than any nation ever has before in all history—far more, per capita, than the Russians do. Our trouble is that we are not obtaining value for our expenditures." As Dr. Kirk sees it, too much money goes for non-essential frills, and not enough for real education.

Skating is the perfect exercise for a French Premier, in the view of former Premier Mendes-France—because it teaches him how to fall.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

STILL THE TOPIC of conversation, but dying down some, are the high winds of last Thursday night, which almost wrecked the circus playing here, blew down signs and caused other damage. Some folks who have been here a long time say it was one of the hardest "blows" in the town's history. It lasted for more than an hour and sent many people to storm shelters.

Harold Lucas and Mrs. James Dietrich of the Post Insurance Agency tell us that the Junior Fire Marshals organized here a few months ago are going to help in this spring's annual city-wide clean-up drive. They said the Junior Fire Marshals will be around in a few days with more information on the part they are going to play in helping make Post a cleaner and healthier city.

OVERHEARD IN A government building coffee bar: "Gee, I'd better get back to the office or I'll be late for quitting time."

It's getting to where we never know here at The Dispatch office what the mail is going to bring. A letter to the fashion editor announces that the two latest stocking shades are Rocket Red and Moon Mad, and the red stockings have peaked, rocket shaped heels.

SINCE WE KNEW our seniors would be there, we tuned in Saturday night on the "Louisiana Hayride," and sat through two or three hours of country music, rock 'n' roll, and -gospel singing. It was rather late in the program before the Post High School bunch was recognized — they were one of several groups of senior classes attending the program.

Finally, the announcer said, "We want to welcome the senior class from Post, Texas," and then a woman singer interrupted her routine to say that she also wanted to welcome the Post seniors — that she knew they'd be there because she remembered them having ordered tickets for the program in advance.

BEFORE IT WAS over, the Post seniors were even mentioned on the commercial. Plugging doughnuts, the announcer said he didn't have any to demonstrate because the seniors from Post, Texas, had eaten them all. We knew right then that that was our seniors, all right!

"What's the matter with you?" the irate wife demanded. "Monday you liked beans, Tuesday you liked beans, Wednesday you liked beans, now Thursday, all of a sudden, you don't like beans."

ONE MAY EVENT we didn't count on when we were listing them along at the last of April was the National Cotton Week observance. It hadn't been planned then, but all of a sudden the committee got busy and came up with an outstanding program for next Thursday, May 22.

Less than a week after the National Cotton Week observance, the annual Post Stampede Rodeo will be in full swing. Since every committee, including advertising and publicity, is working a little harder this year, the four-night rodeo is expected to be one of the best ever held here.

MANAGERS PHIL BOUCHIER and Hinton Fluitt were talking Friday about plans for the Post Antelope Band to play during the rodeo performances, and Hinton said Director Bob Meisch was eager to go along with the idea. We were reading in Sunday's Abilene paper about the Baird Rodeo and noticed that the Baird and Cross Plains bands played for every performance. Some of the other rodeos also are featuring band music. Let's hope we get to hear our band while the rodeo is under way here.

The Lubbock television station went all out to help make the event a success, and their closed circuit telecast made it possible for everyone to see the show, which had been one of the biggest worries of sponsors up until the time KDUB-TV announced that they'd see to it.

A GIRL BOUGHT a ticket in a lottery and insisted on number 51, which turned out to be the winning number. When asked by the reporter why she picked 51, she said: "Well, for seven nights I dreamed of the number 7, and seven times seven being 51, I bought the ticket."

High Winds Injure Circus Worker, Destroy Big Top

G. Kelly and Miller Brown got off to a miserably slow start this year, but trouble didn't strike until they came to Thursday.

Most of the most hardy youngsters turned out for the performance, which was held in the rain. The circus had in itself the circus, but the heavy rains had battered heavy rains on the week of their Texas week.

The wind which did the damage Thursday night—and there was no more injury than there was.

Several workmen were injured, but only one had to be hospitalized for the night with a rib injury. He was released next morning. The crowd inside the big tent. Half the crowd already had departed before the abbreviated performance ended due to storm fears.

Some of the major circus acts, including the big elephant act, most of the trapeze acts, and others, were cut out. The performance lasted less than an hour.

And a good thing, too.

Twenty minutes after the crowd had left the mud of the Stampede parking lot where the circus was set up, the gusty winds, estimated up to 60 miles an hour, ripped down the main circus tent atop the working crew which was frantically trying to get it down.

The wild animals in their cages, took the storm, without apparent fear. The circus horses bolted when the tent came down but were quickly rounded up.

The elephant herd was not upset although some of the elephants were being used to pull out the stakes of the "big top" in an effort to get it down before it was blown down.

The elephants remained quiet. The circus crew was up at 6 o'clock Friday morning to clean up the debris and pack the show away for the 140 mile trek to Lovington, N.M., where the circus was scheduled for Saturday and Sunday performances.

Until a new top for the big tent could be obtained—and nobody knew for sure when that would be—the circus people planned to go "on with the show" using only sidewalls and no top at all.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

TDA Has Expanded Regulation, Control For Farm Industries

By JOHN C. WHITE
Commissioner of Agriculture

During recent years the Texas Department of Agriculture has been able to expand regulation and control for farm industries needing such attention and to provide services and benefits where none or few previously existed.

To the average consumer whose own benefits from the state's farm regulatory agency are largely hidden in the quality of agricultural products he buys and in the farm-city economy exchange from which he profits, the foregoing statement probably brings to mind a brilliant image of "more tax dollars spent".

Such is definitely not the case, for by far the major portion of programs formulated and put into effect by the Texas Department of Agriculture during this decade have been done so on a primarily self-supporting basis.

To have accomplished this is not necessarily a new story—but it is a practical one, placing the major cost of the program upon those who derive the most service from it.

For example, in the case of the Texas egg law passed by the last regular session of the legislature and now being administered by the TDA, labelling and licensing provisions requiring small fees from egg industry men provide the bulk of funds needed to finance inspection and regulation. The egg industry involved cooperates unhesitatingly, deriving benefit and protection far in excess of their own cost.

The same is true of numerous other departmental programs, such as seed registration and certification, nursery inspection and herbicide regulation.

In addition to expand self-supporting programs, other administration - inaugurated services such as market news and market expansion provide extensive benefits to farmers and consumers alike at a minimum cost which is shared by the federal government.

The over-all result is that the Texas Department of Agriculture in its over-all operation is more nearly independent of state tax money than ever while more and more Texans are realizing its services.

Tech School Accepted By National Group

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech's School of Business Administration has been accepted for membership in the American Assn. of Collegiate Schools of Business, Dean George Heather announced.

Membership means that Tech's educational training in business administration ranks with the nation's leading colleges and schools in that field, in the eyes of the association, Dean Heather said.

Heather stated that "although the association isn't an accrediting agency technically, it is the one specific professional organization serving that purpose unofficially for collegiate schools of business."

He emphasized that Tech's School of Business Administration already had accreditation in the Southern Assn. of Colleges and secondary Schools before applying for membership in AACSB.

Student Initiated Into Honor Group

Leonard Short of Post was one of the top Texas Tech students initiated into Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic society, at 6 p. m. Tuesday in the college's Union ballroom.

Short, a junior electrical engineering major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Short.

To qualify for Phi Kappa Phi, seniors must be in the upper 8 per cent of the graduating class, of their school and juniors must be in the upper 2 per cent of their class.

Three faculty members were initiated into the society. They were Dr. William B. Gates, graduate school dean; Prof. Charles V. Bollen, electrical engineering department head, and Doris Nesbitt, associate professor of home economics education.

Graduate students initiated were Samuel T. Donaldson of Plainview and William R. Thompson of Arlington.

Why people who love CONVERTIBLES buy FORD

Only Ford lets you choose from a steel-top convertible or a fabric-top beauty. Who else but Ford... world's largest convertible maker... could offer you two different kinds of convertibles. There's the fabric-top Ford Sunliner and the steel-top Ford Skyliner. They're both styled and powered in the Thunderbird tradition.

Nowhere else can you find so much convertible for so little money. Take the Ford Sunliner for example. A comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices shows it's America's lowest-priced convertible. As for the Skyliner, it's the world's only 2-in-1 fine car... a snug steel-top and a breezy convertible. Just touch a button. The all-steel top vanishes into the rear deck... and you're sitting pretty in the smartest convertible ever.

So if you're the sun-worshipping type, better see your Ford Dealer and get all the reasons why Ford outsells its nearest competitor in convertibles by a whopping 2-to-1 margin!

March, April Water Use Establishes New Record

With water consumption mounting daily, Monday's rain was all that kept the booster pump from being turned on for the first time this year, City Supt. R. H. Tate said today. "We were ready to turn it on when the rains came," Tate said. April's water consumption totaled 19,791,000 gallons to set a new record for that month despite the spring rains, the superintendent said. During the month of March, 18,575,000 gallons of water flowed through the mains. Water consumption in April was up by 2,439,000 gallons over the 17,352,000 gallons pumped in April of 1957. Two years ago, the April figure was 17,752,000 gallons. The 18,575,000 gallons used in March also set a new record for that month. In March of 1957, consumption totaled 17,346,000 gallons, and two years ago it was 17,244,000 gallons. The most water ever used here in a single month was in July of 1954 when 33,530,000 gallons were pumped. Tate said pumps on the 16 wells in use ran a total of 10,800 hours during April, with all but one of the pumps being operated every day. The pumping total in March was 10,152 hours. The city superintendent said pumps have been ordered for four new wells which are to be tied in to the water works system. Pipe has already been laid to connect these new wells, and their addition will give the city 20 pumping units for this summer's peak use. "Whether that will be enough remains to be seen," Tate said.

Permit Issued For $21,000 Residence

The largest building permit issued in Post since the building permit ordinance went into effect in March has been issued to Tom Bouchier, contractor for construction of a new residence costing an estimated $21,000 for Bryan Williams & Son in the Westgate Addition. The building permit issued by Miss Kate Lowrie, city clerk, specifies a brick veneer house with composition roof and central heating and cooling. It is to be built on Lot 8 and the west half of Lot 7 in the Westgate Addition. Other permits issued during the past week went to Nick Vukad for a storm cellar and to Mrs. Lucy M. King for repairs and remodeling of a house. Vukad's 8x12-foot storm cellar of partial concrete construction will cost an estimated $250. It is to be built on Lot 3, First Addition. Estimated cost of repairs and remodeling of Mrs. King's house is $1,000. It is on Lot 4, Block 55. The three permits brought the total here to $76,377.25 for the two months the building permit ordinance has been in effect.

Shell Abandons Its No. 1-E Slaughter

Shell Oil Co. has plugged its 1-E Slaughter, a one location offset to a recent Strawn discovery, after drilling it through the Ellenburger to a depth of 9,080 feet. The test reported fair oil shows in both Strawn and Ellenburger but Shell did not consider them commercial. Paul C. Teas, Dallas independent, has filed his application to drill the No. 2-B J. B. Slaughter, as reported by The Dispatch last week as coming up. Pan-American's No. 1-A John F. Lott, a proposed 9,300-foot wildcat on the big ranch, is drilling in lime and shale at 4,752 feet. No tests have been run or cores cut to date. Shell's No. 1-C D. Slaughter, a development in the one-well Happy-Strawn pool, also located on the ranch, is drilling below 5,200 feet in lime.

Those visiting her that day were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gossett of Bowie, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gossett, Mrs. Pearl Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Stone, Mrs. Vera Mae Gossett and Sonny, Mrs. Jimmy Stanford and Jimmy and Mrs. Glenn Davis.

Football Outlook Is Brighter, Club Told

Prospects are bright for an improved football team at Post High School next season, Coach Frank Krhut told members of the Lions Club at Tuesday night's meeting. The coach told the Lions that next year's Antelope squad will be heavier and more experienced. Fielding what probably was the lightest Class AA grid team in Texas last season, the Post eleven failed to register a victory. Insurance Board Advises City How To Lower Its Key Fire Rate

Suggestions Are Result Of Check

Changes in the waterworks distribution system and employment of a full-paid fireman would result in lowering of Post's key fire insurance rate by 15 cents, it has been announced by the State Board of Fire Insurance following an inspection here.

Mayor James L. Minor and City Supt. R. H. Tate were also advised by George C. Hawley, chief engineer, Town Rating Unit, that Post's present fire limits ordinance is old and out of date.

The engineer wrote the city officials as follows:

"At the present time there are charges totaling 9 cents in your key rate which can be avoided by following out a program of changes in your waterworks distribution system, as outlined on the enclosed map. We understand that part of the plan as shown on the map has already been planned by your city and some of the material is on the ground.

"Be sure to continue the removal of the two-way fire hydrants in your mercantile district, as we believe there are about five of these hydrants left. This is quite essential, because by the next inspection if there are any of them left we will have to place a penalty in your key rate.

"Your fire department is now in good condition, and be sure that the two firemen and fire marshal are sent to College Station to the training school which opens on July 19.

"At the present time you are penalized 10 cents in your key rate for fire department wholly volunteer and this charge may be reduced to 4 cents by the employment of a full paid fireman on duty in the fire station 24 hours a day, sleeping there and devoting his entire time to the service as a fireman, with his place to be taken as relief fireman on days off and vacation period."

The letter also stated that the fire departments old Seagrave Ford pumper should be replaced "as it is now barely able to comply with the test requirements and, probably, on the next inspection, credit for the same will have to be removed. . . we urge that steps be taken to replace it with a new standard triple combination 500 GPM pumper and the old truck can then be converted into a 500-gallon booster tank truck."

The city officials were told in the letter that the present fire limits ordinance is old and out of date. The engineer enclosed a copy of the State Board of Insurance's advisory ordinance, indicating with it a secondary zone requirement. The engineer also enclosed a blank to be used in making a further survey of the combustible roofs in the city's residential area. This survey is to be made by firemen, Mayor Minor told the city council at the May 5 meeting.

The mayor and council agreed at the meeting that some of the recommended improvements can be made, but that others will have to wait because of a lack of funds.

Danes in Copenhagen see a reduction of the country's basic workweek from 48 hours to 45 hours as virtually certain.

Former Post Man Takes New Job

H. C. Hoover, vocational agriculture instructor in the Crosbyton school system for the last 12 years, has accepted the same position at Shallowater. He replaces a vocational agriculture teacher who is to move to Post.

Hoover, a former resident of Post, and Mrs. Hoover and sons will move to Crosbyton shortly after July 1 to assume his new duties.

VA Questions And Answers

Q. I recently notice press reports saying down payments are no longer required for G. I. loans. Does this mean the private lender cannot ask the veterans to make a down payment?

A. No. The Government regulation requiring a minimum two per cent down payment has been rescinded, but the lender is free to require whatever down payment he believes is indicated.

Q. I'm a Korea veteran drawing compensation for service-connected disability. Is there a limit on what I can earn and still get my compensation payments?

A. There is no limit. No matter how much you earn, your service-connected compensation will not be reduced. The ceiling on income applies only to pensions, paid to veterans for total and permanent nonservice-connected disabilities.

Q. We've recently had a happy event at our house and I want to name my new son a beneficiary of my GI insurance. How do I go about it?

A. Get a "Change of Beneficiary" form at any VA office. Fill it out, putting down your son's name as beneficiary, and send it to the VA District Office where you pay your premiums. Or, you may simply write the District Office a letter, naming your son as beneficiary.

Q. I'm planning to start school this fall under the Korean GI Bill. How do I find out whether the course I want to take is GI-approved?

A. Your VA Regional Office keeps a list of GI-approved courses. Consult them. This information is not available at VA headquarters in Washington, D. C.

DOUBLE DATE

Love and marriage—one of the thresholds of life. Approaching it are the happy strides of youth. Beyond it, joy for some, sorrow for others.

And how long the world has searched for a formula that would test the quality of love . . . a standard that would assure happiness in marriage.

Until finally, with remarkable wisdom, we've begun to realize that it all depends on the individuals themselves.

But, of course, there are two individuals! How can we provide both with the qualities of character that will enrich their marriage?

The Church believes the answer lies in continuous religious training and wholesome boy and girl activities. With deep concern for the individual, the couple, and the community, it is building the character of America's youth . . . safeguarding for tomorrow as well as today the sanctity of marriage, home and family.

Have you a son or daughter? Have they a church?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

AT REESE AIR FORCE BASE SATURDAY

Missile Testing Equipment Will Be Feature Of Armed Forces Day

An exhibit of Air Force missile testing equipment, to include unmanned aircraft flights and display of drone aircraft and interceptor missiles, will be one of the feature attractions of Reese's open house during Armed Forces Day on Saturday.

The aircraft and missiles will arrive from Holloman Air Force Base, N. M., the Air Force's Missile Development Center.

The radio controlled planes, two F-80 jets and two B-17 bombers, will fly into Reese at 8 a. m. They will be displayed on the flightline before and after demonstrating a pilotless takeoff, flight, and landing.

The drone aircraft, the Q-2, and two air-to-air missiles, the Navy "Sidewinder" and the Air Force "Falcon", will be displayed. The missiles are used at Holloman against radio-controlled aircraft targets to test their effectiveness in intercepting potential enemy planes.

The missile testing service is available to Army, Navy, and Air Force organizations involved in missile research.

The pilotless aircraft perform all the flying maneuvers conducted by manned planes. Designated as the QF-80 drone and the DT-33 director, and the QB-17 drone and the DB-17 director, the drones are maneuvered through radio waves and beacons sent out by electronic equipment located in the nose of the director aircraft.

The bomber and jet aircraft are being furnished by the 3225th Drone Squadron, a tenant unit at Holloman. The squadron is one of four such, with its headquarters, the 3205th Drone Group, located at Eglin AFB, Fla. The 3225th has flown a total of 690 missions, more than the other units combined, and were the first to fly multiple drone formations with a single automatic control system.

The Sidewinder air-to-air missile is a nine-foot, 155 pound rocket, utilizing an infra-red guidance system, that is fired from carrier aircraft. The Falcon, utilized for the same purpose, is a six and one-half foot, 100 pound, solid fuel rocket using a radar homing guidance device.

School Building—

Of this anticipated enrollment increase over half—or 218 students—will come in the four high school grades, 9th through 12th.

There will be a boost of 124 students in the first five grades and 70 students in junior high enrollment, as projected by the two state men.

Roberts told the board that if present-sized classes are maintained, 24 additional classrooms will be needed within six years to handle the increased enrollment.

Sixteen of these would be in high school, three for junior high, and the remainder for grade school.

Dropouts Considered
Roberts explained that his projection of student enrollments took into account the dropouts which have occurred here as each class moved up through the 12 grades.

On the projected enrollment presented, the big problem comes in high school where an enrollment of 494 students is anticipated in six years as compared to only 276 students today.

The two state men were sharply critical of high school facilities here at present and its detrimental effect on the high school educational program.

Roberts told the board that "your high school program definitely is limited."

Raps Laboratories
"If you had invited the accrediting group up from our agency in Austin they might have taken away your high school accreditation because of your science laboratories," Roberts said.

"You have several thousand dollars worth of lab equipment, but it is not worth a dime to you because the science lab has no water, electric, or gas connections so that the equipment can be used," he declared.

"Your home economics room is definitely below par," Roberts added.

He cited many library deficiencies and said that while "it might have been all right in 1925 or 1938, it isn't today in 1958."

Classrooms Too Small
Roberts told the board that present high school classrooms are "much too small" for the number of students in present high school classes.

He said his agency recommends 35 square feet of classroom space per pupil for primary rooms, 30 square feet for elementary rooms, and 25 square feet for high school classrooms. He said these were minimums.

That means that for a class of 25 a classroom in high school should have 625 square feet of space. Local classrooms fall far short of that size.

"The more space you have to work in, the less is your discipline problem," Roberts said.

Roberts said he had been a teacher and school administrator for many years before taking his present position as consultant with the state agency.

Reviews Deficiencies
Guice, the architectural consultant, reviewed room by room the many deficiencies he had found in an all-day inspection of the high school building.

The most common complaints for the rooms were inadequate lighting, poor ventilation, bad acoustics, inadequate control of sunshine glare, and cramped space.

The math room, for example, he said was lit by "one light bulb" and entrance was through the library.

He declared the halls were dark and needed more lighting, that locker rooms should be used for student lockers to cut down on hall confusion, that the superintendent's office, principal's office, and teachers' lounge were inadequate in size and on other counts.

He said electric wiring in the building was inadequate to meet national fire safety regulations and provides a definite fire hazard. He said drinking fountains in the halls were not adequate to meet state health standards, and only one of three he tried worked.

"Real Fire Hazard"
The visual aid room on the second floor was described as "a real fire hazard". The flooring is poor in the whole building and all windows need replaced. Parking facilities are inadequate and should be paved.

These were but a few of his criticisms. He said the football stadium and fieldhouse for teams' dressing is simply "rotting away."

The gymnasium he found inadequate for either basketball or intramural activities.

He cited some deficiencies in both the junior high and grade school buildings.

To sum it up, Guice said that "to continue to use the high school building for a high school is beyond any hope."

Building Is "Fair"
He said the building structurally was not in a serious condition and that with repairs it could be utilized for the student overflow from the grade school and junior high buildings.

To completely renovate the high school building — meaning gutting out its interior and putting in new lighting, plumbing, light control, ventilation, plumbing, light control, and converting the auditorium into five additional classrooms would cost an estimated $4 to $4.25 per square foot or between $74,000 to $79,000.

He said doing all this "you'd still end up with an old building."

Guice then recommended a 10-year remodeling program which would cost $1.50 to $1.65 per square foot—or between $21,000 to $23,628.

Makes Suggestions
This would include new lighting, new tile floors, more ventilation, light control, painting, moving lockers out of halls into "locker rooms", new windows, and new drinking fountains. He said this would "put the building in shape to handle the student overflow from the grade school and junior high with only the addition of one or two more classrooms."

On the football stadium, Guice said a concrete stadium to seat 1,500 fans would cost $94,000 and a new fieldhouse $38,000 for a total of $132,000. The alternative would be a steel stadium costing only $35,000 as compared for $84,000 for concrete, the same $38,000 fieldhouse, for a total cost of the stadium of $73,000. The $73,000 was included in the "package" total presented at the start of this story.

Auditorium Not Included
The new high school would not include a community sized auditorium. This would cost an additional $130,000 if desired, he estimated.

The high school he proposed "would not be an elaborate plant," he said but would be adequate and of masonry construction and should be so constructed that classroom partitions could be changed thus enabling the new building to keep pace with educational developments.

The two said a new school building today is "outmoded" educationally in five years and must be built so that it can be changed when desired to keep pace with new concepts.

Roberts said the state educational agency will be glad to aid the board in drawing up a set of educational specifications for an architect for such a new building and to advise the board on such plans, bond problems, and other considerations arising in such school construction.

He promised a written report at a later date.

C. Of C. Posts—

Lee said the board asked Hopkins to step into the breach as Chamber manager and that Hopkins accepted the post at the directors' request. Lee said whether the managerial position will be a salaried one is yet to be determined and a decision won't be made until a checkup of the Chamber's financial condition.

Hopkins announced that the Chamber is employing Kay Gene Jones, a high school junior, as a Chamber office employee for the summer months and that she will assume the position at the close of the spring school term, thus permitting the Chamber office to be kept open daily throughout the week.

At present, the new Chamber officers and directors are concentrating upon making the Chamber's Cotton Week promotion May 22 a success.

Propose Transfer
The board also voted to transfer colored high school students of Post to the Slaton colored high school, if an acceptable arrangement can be worked out with the Slaton schools. A trustee delegation will confer soon with Slaton school officials on the plan.

The transfer was suggested at the April meeting as the local colored high school will fall far short of state teacher requirements, if continued.

The trustees accepted the resignation of Mrs. Beulah White as luncheon supervisor at the end of the present term and voted to reemploy for next year all present cooks on the luncheon staff—Mrs. Jewell Steel, Mrs. N. A. Lusby, Mrs. Ann Gray, and Mrs. Lillie Beauchamp. The board told Smith that he could select a new supervisor after looking into the luncheon needs.

The board voted to spend up to $200 for fertilizer for the football field and practice field. Smith said Football Coach Frank Kriut told him he would apply the fertilizer himself.

Hire Two Teachers
The board on the recommendation of R. T. Smith, superintendent, voted to employ J. Kerwin Baxter and Mrs. Mary Helen Baxter as new teachers.

Mr. Baxter, who will be graduated from Howard Payne University later this month with a bachelor's degree, will teach either science or math. Mrs. Baxter, now a commercial teacher in the Santa Anna high school and a 1956 graduate of Howard Payne, will become a grade school instructor here.

The board approved payment of $939.23 to William A. Clifford, Lubbock tax attorney, for collection of $6,261.58 in back school taxes from October through April 14. He is to receive 15 per cent of such collections as his fee.

Name Tax Board
The board at its May meeting announced that the board of equalization this year will consist of Leo Acker, Jim Sexton, and J. A. Probst.

The board of equalization will meet Friday, June 13, at 1 p. m., to consider any complaints on oil valuations, but hearings for any objections to the new revaluation of property will be set at a later date.

The board accepted the resignations of Raul Solis, high school Spanish teacher; Janie Ellsworth, fifth grade instructor; Leta Smith, junior high artcrafts instructor; Henry Ernest, high school English teacher, and Frank Banta, science teacher now on a leave of absence to obtain his master's degree.

The board also voted to transfer colored high school students of Post to the Slaton colored high school, if an acceptable arrangement can be worked out with the Slaton schools. A trustee delegation will confer soon with Slaton school officials on the plan.

Tuition Fee—

Clayton told the board that 100 per cent value for the rural property is not what the property would sell for but only about a third of that, explaining that irrigated land is valued around $100 an acre, dryland above the Cap at from $40 to $60 an acre, and dryland below the Cap at from $20 to $35.

City property, however, is valued at its present sale value, he said.

Several board members expressed themselves as believing this was not being quite fair. Clayton said it was generally the way it is done.

The city and school district will take the 100 per cent value of the tax engineers and determine taxable valuations by a percentage of this 100 per cent valuation. The board has not set this figure, but it is being considered at one-third of real value but may go higher.

The visits to Lubbock and Post are, however, completely non-military—the only stop on the entire tour of that kind, according to A. B. Slagle of Lubbock, a member of that city's International Affairs Committee.

Those who are scheduled to be here and the organizations they represent include the following:

Best Cowboy Wins In Two Riding Events At Haskell

Jimmy Moore Is Double Winner

Jimmy Moore of Post walked off with top money in two events—the bareback bronc and saddle bronc events—to climax the third night of the 5th annual Rice Springs Roundup and Rodeo at Haskell Saturday night.

Moore, a top winner for several years, garnered 173 points in winning the bareback bronc riding event and carded 166 points from the judges to grab the saddle bronc riding championship.

The Post rider topped his nearest competitor by five points in the bareback bronc riding event, with Jimmy Brock of Dimmitt posting 168 points for runner-up laurels. Corky Berry of Tulia had 166 points for third place while Bud Helms of Andrews had 161, Cecil Richardson of Abilene had 158 and Jim Sealey of Snyder had 157 points for fourth, fifth and sixth places.

Following close on the heels of Moore in the saddle bronc riding contest were Ed Workman of Olton with 165 points, John Solt of Artesia, N. M., with 164 points, and Skip Wyatt of Spur with 163 points.

A Crosby cowboy, Red Whatley, won the championship calf roping title when he posted time of 70.5 seconds on four head of stock. Mack Baggett of Abilene was second with a total time of 71.8 seconds.

Post cowboys competing in the roping were Noel White and R. E. Josey.

In Brahma bull riding, only three contestants turned in qualified rides out of 45 competing. First was Ed Workman of Olton, with 175 points; Don Workman,

Sponsors and managers for this season's Little League teams will be the same as last year, according to League President Lee Ward. The teams, their sponsors and managers will be as follows:

Dodgers, First National Bank, V. L. (Punk) Peel; Tigers, Civic Clubs V. F. (Bing) Bingham; Red Sox, Brown Brothers, Walter B. Holland; Yankees, Postex Mills, Inc., J. P. Parnell.

The Little League, operating here for the third season, will open play on May 27. Four games will be played each week—one on Tuesdays, one on Thursdays and two on Saturdays.

"We are looking forward to our best season yet, and with the continued cooperation of the fans can make it just that," the league president said.

Raider High Jumper Is Coliseum Relays Entry

LUBBOCK — W. L. Thornton, high jumper from Aspermont, will compete in the Coliseum Relays at Los Angeles Saturday.

Only five other jumpers in the nation have been invited to the Relays. Thornton's best has been a 6-8 3/4-inch jump to win the Texas Relays, where he was the only Southwest Conference man to take an individual event.

Coach Delmer Brown is accompanying Thornton.

Olton, 172, and Jimmy Brock, Dimmitt, 161.

Winners in the wild mare race were Leroy Medford, Haskell, first; Johnny Reid, Rochester, second, and Buzzy Crenshaw, Stamford, third.

In the girls' barrel racing event, Melinda Bartlett of Anson won with a winning time of 21.3 seconds. Brenda Whiteaker of Abilene was second, with 21.5; Jerrie Shirley of Rochester, third with 21.8, and Maxine Rogers of Colorado City, fourth with 22.4.

Golf Tournament Set For Sunday

The best foursome of A, B, C and D players will be determined Sunday afternoon in a tournament at the Caprock Golf Course, D. H. Bartlett, manager, has announced.

Known as an "am-am" tournament for want of a better description, the competition will be over 18 holes, Bartlett said.

Golfers classified as "A" players will draw to determine the "B", "C" and "D" members of their teams.

Merchandise prizes will be awarded the winning team and the runner-up, Bartlett said.

The manager says the course is in better shape than it has been since it was built. "We are getting more grass in the fairways, and it just looks and plays better all the way around," he said.

High School Hi-Lites

By FRANCES DIETRICH

Hi, kids! The school was really buzzing Monday morning with news of the senior trip.

The baccalaureate services will be Sunday night in the high school auditorium at 8. Rev. C. B. Hogue will bring the message. The junior class will sing "He", "I Believe", and "Whispering Hope".

The band will have a concert Sunday afternoon in the grade school auditorium. They will play "Mexican Overture", "Burst of Trumpets", "Pizzato", "Under Paris Skies", "Mendelssohn's Concerto in G Minor", and other numbers. They are hoping for a large crowd.

The cheerleaders for next year's football season were elected last week. Barbara Shytles will be senior head cheerleader; Kay Martin, senior; Sharron Woods, junior; Anne Morris, sophomore; and Judy Morris.

Cage Letters Won By 13 Members Of Red Raider Squad

LUBBOCK — All 13 players who completed the 1957-58 season for Texas Tech have been recommended for varsity basketball letters, according to Coach Polk Robison.

"We felt that everyone contributed to the best of his ability in Texas Tech's debut in the Southwest Conference," Coach Robison said.

Of the group, forward Bobby Wilson of Lipan is the lone senior. He earned his third letter.

Juniors winning their second letter were guard Gerald Myers of Borger, guard Charlie Lynch of Sudan, forward Wade Wolfe of Lubbock, center Leon Hill of Sudan, and forward Chuck Key of Lubbock.

Awarded their first letters were seven sophomores, guard Robert Echols of Amarillo, forward Dale McKeehan of Sweetwater, forward Gene Arrington of Amarillo, center Pat Noakes of Fort Worth, forward Don Apple of Aledo, guard Sidney Seligman of San Antonio, and forward James Wiley of Lubbock.

Gib Weaver of Kilgore will receive a trainer's award and Royce Elam of Megargel the manager's award.

Coach Gene Gibson also announced the names of 11 freshmen numerical winners — Scott Mack of Lubbock, Steve Lee of Cotton Center.

Antelopes should be hard to beat.

Others who have been working out in spring practice besides the lettermen are Charles Tubbs, Marshall Ticer, Derwood Mayberry, Kenney Poole, Jimmy Minor and Herbie Hays.

The football player rushed into his ancient history class 15 minutes late. "I hate to be late!" he panted to a class mate. "I need the sleep." That joke isn't in keeping with coaches Krhut and Parfort, but then it didn't happen in youngsters to better scholastic effort, but then it didn't happen in Post anyway!

Any baseball team could use a man who plays every position perfectly, never strikes out and never makes an error; but he won't lay down his hot dog and come out of the grandstand.

The Post Antelopes are winding up spring basketball practice under the watchful eye of Coach Al Parsons, who predicts better things for the 1958-59 team. He has had a dozen boys out—six of them lettermen—as a nucleus for next year's quintet.

The district won't be so large next season, with Lockney and Abernathy moving out, and from here it looks as if the 'Lopes have a good chance at the district title. Of course, there's still Floydada, Tahoka, Spur and Slaton to have something to say about that.

Post is lighter hit by graduation than any of the other four teams in the loop, losing only Wayne Runkles and Noel Don Norman. One of the lettermen back is Jimmy Short, an all-district selection this season. Others who lettered and who have been out for the spring drills are junior Sidney Hart and sophomores Dan Rankin, Seattle Pierce, Curtis Didway and Forrest Claborn.

Post had a better team last season than its 4-8 conference record would indicate — inexperience being the main drawback. Next season, with the two junior lettermen performing as seniors and the four sophomore lettermen as juniors, the Don Perkins of Irving, Harold Hudgens of Ballinger, Carlyle Smith of Grand Prairie, Howard Jones of Post, Jim Johns of Dallas, Don Davis of Justin, Dusty Ham of Amarillo, H. A. Hanks of Sundown, and Reese Brown of Mathis.

IS PROVING MONEY-MAKER ON HIGH PLAINS

From Now Until June 15 Is Said Best Planting Time For Sesame

PARIS — It's planting time for Sesame, the easy to grow, weather resistant crop which last year sometimes out-distanced cotton as a money-maker on the High Plains and on the Texas Blacklands.

"We now have six years of growing experience for Sesame which indicates that the best planting time for the crop is in the period from now to June 15," reports Robert L. Parker, executive vice president of Texas Sesame Growers Inc. "Most experienced growers plant between May 10 and June 1, usually following the planting of cotton with the planting of their Sesame."

Parker estimated that on the basis of marketing agreements already made by farmers with his organization, between 15,000 and 20,000 acres will be planted to Sesame in Texas this year—with the largest acreage being on the irrigated High Plains.

During 1957, Parker said, Sesame continued to make gains as an increasingly important crop in the Southwest. Where the unseasonable weather lowered the quality of cotton and maize, the quality of Sesame remained good. Where the profits on cotton and maize lagged, the price of Sesame remained high. 7,000,000 pounds of seed brought the farmers of Texas a total of $717,000—an average of 10.43 cents per pound.

Parker said that Sesame is a relatively easy crop to plant, grow and harvest. The only equipment needed to plant Sesame in addition to standard planting equipment is a vegetable seed planter box. He suggested a planting rate of one pound per acre for dryland and two pounds per acre for irrigated land. Planting should be from one to two inches deep.

Regarding preparation and planting, Parker commented: "Plant Sesame on fertile, well drained land. Clean the seedbed before planting. Plant after the soil is warm—and after cotton is planted."

LUBBOCK — West Texas recreation and youth leaders will hold a one-day institute Saturday at Texas Tech.

The conference, first of a series planned in the state, will be led by Dr. Ramon Kirellis of Tech and Earle Meadow, state consultant on community recreation and a former Olympic pole vault champion.

The morning session in the Union building will be devoted to a keynote address by Lubbock County Attorney Bill Gillespie and a panel representing youth agencies, churches, Parent Teacher Assns., correctional institutions and business.

Sessions Saturday afternoon will include demonstrations and talks on pre-beginner swimming lessons, arts and crafts, dramatics, trampolines techniques, organized games and sports, and leadership techniques.

The West Texas Recreation and Youth Services Council, which is conference sponsor, will hold a dinner and business meeting at 6:30 p. m. Saturday at a place to be announced, Kirellis said.

Extra Farm Expenses Should Be Recorded, Advises Specialist

COLLEGE STATION — Unpredictable Texas weather has brought heavy rains low soil temperatures making it necessary for many farmers to replant this spring.

Two management precautions should be observed by such farmers who want to make maximum profits, points out C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

First, he advises, take time to find good quality seed. Don't stake the rest of your season's investment on questionable seed stock. Purchase seed bearing the certified blue tag, giving assurance of highest quality.

The next suggestion Bates gives is keep records of these added expenses. These abnormal expenditures may be deducted on income tax, but verification may be necessary. Keep an account of such expenses in a record book. Too, invoices may be kept to provide a "double check."

Spend some time on your farm records every week, advises Bates, and make certain no deductible expense items are overlooked.

HENRY A. HOLLE, M. D., Commissioner of Health

Five years ago this spring the thought uppermost in people's mind's was, "If only there was a vaccine for polio..."

Today we have that vaccine, one of the most effective ever produced against a major communicable disease. Yet thousands of people—forgetting their anxiety of five years ago—have failed to take advantage of it for themselves or their pre-school children.

In ages between five and 20 response to the vaccine has been good, showing the influence of school-sponsored vaccinations. Among children under five, the response has been fairly good. It has been less than fair among persons between 20 and 40.

Does the vaccine really prevent paralysis in cases of polio? Here is last year's record: There were 734 cases reported—both paralytic and non-paralytic. Of that number, paralysis developed in 62 per cent of those with no vaccination; in 47 per cent of those with only one shot; in 37 per cent of those with two shots; and in only 22 per cent of those who had had all three shots.

In other words, in all cases of polio reported last year, paralysis developed in three out of five cases without any shots, but in only one out of five cases in persons with all three shots.

Despite a continuing barrage of publicity concerning adult vulnerability to polio, many adults apparently must still be convinced. The truth is that about 16 of every 100 cases of polio in Texas hits at people 15 and over. And when it does hit it hits with greater impact. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reports that three out of four respirator patients today are 20 or older.

Another misconception is that a child can be too young to be vaccinated. This is a judgment for

OPTOMETRY: The Art and Science of Visual Care

Oh, but I DO have my glasses on!

Today, this is becoming a fairly common statement. Many people are being fitted with CONTACT lenses, with perfect success, eliminating heavy spectacles. In many instances, much better vision is achieved with contacts.

Progress in this field of vision care has been tremendous even in the last two years. Use of contacts now may be possible for you even if unsuccessful before.

Not all optometrists fit contact lenses. Those who do not will refer the work to those with special training.

County Agent Lists 'Rose Jar' Recipe

By JESSIE PEARCE

So many people have asked me for the recipe for the "Rose Jar" that I decided to put it in my column for this week. This way all of you who are interested in preserving rose petals will have the needed information.

One dram each of:
Oil of Bergamont
Rose Geranium
Peppermint
Sandalwood
Sweet Lavender
One teaspoon powdered orris root

Two teaspoons sachet powder (Violet or heliotrope)

One teaspoon each of:
Ground Cinnamon
Ground Cloves
Ground Allspice
Gather rose petals each day and put in a shallow tray in a cool dry place to dry. A suit box lid is suitable for this. Two weeks after the last petals are added, the above recipe is added. The liquid may be put on with an eye dropper and the dry material sprinkled on. Fill jars with the petals. They will retain their odor for ten years or more.

The above recipe is adequate for about 16 loose cups of petals.

In speaking of roses, keep a close watch on your bushes at this time of year. The damp weather may be causing black spot to spread rapidly. Many people are complaining that their roses are not opening. Thrips are causing them not to open. A good rose dust used regularly will control most insects and diseases of roses. This should be used once a week or immediately after each rain. It is much easier to prevent insect and disease damage than to stop it once it is started. A dust or spray that contains Captan 50, DDT, sulphur and lindane will control the diseases and insects quite well. Check the label on the container to see that it contains these ingredients. Dusts may contain ferate rather than Captan 50.

John Rogers is in the veteran's hospital at Big Spring recovering from a relapse of flu and pneumonia. He was admitted last week, and it is being reported he is doing nicely.

the individual physician to make. Before the vaccine, children age five to nine years were polio's principal targets. But last year it struck hardest at children age one year.

As far as the picture in Texas is concerned, we need a higher level of protection among persons 20 to 40 years old, and among children under five.

Texas has an estimated population of 6,230,000 persons between 6 months and 40 years of age—the age recommended for polio vaccinations. It would require more than 18 million doses of vaccine to fully protect that number of people. But as of April this year, total vaccine shipments into Texas totalled 10.5 million.

Protection against polio is one of the biggest bargains you can buy today. If you haven't had your shots yet, it's time you started them.

Returns Best From Fertilized Pastures

By JESSIE PEARCE

COLLEGE STATION — "Cows were standing knee deep in grass and starving to death" is an expression often used to describe many Texas pastures.

This "starvation" is due to the fact that the grass does not contain enough minerals for good growth because of low mineral soils, points out Bill Bennett, director of the Texas A&M College Soil Testing Laboratory.

Several minerals necessary for good growth are often deficient but the main ones are calcium, phosphorus and potassium, says Bennett.

Calcium can be applied in the form of limestone, he points out. Money spent for limestone is one of the best investments a livestock man can make if the soil is deficient in calcium, and it can be applied anytime during the year.

Phosphorus and potassium can be supplied in the form of chemical fertilizers, says Bennett. Common grades, such as 5-10-5 or 10-20-10, can be used advantageously in supplying the phosphorus and potassium which is needed for good growth of high quality forage and for good livestock gains.

The quantity of lime and fertilizer needed to supply these necessary nutrients is variable, depending on the soil, notes Bennett. He suggests a soil test for determining this quantity. The spring sampling rush is over, and soil samples that are taken now can be processed in a very short time and returned in plenty of time for the limestone and fertilizer to be applied this spring to take advantage of the spring rainfall and good growing conditions.

Bennett suggests contacting the local county agent for information on taking a soil sample and submitting it for testing.

52 Post Seniors Enjoy Class Trip Through The Southland

By FRANCES DIETRICH

Wednesday morning, May 7, at 3:30, 52 members of the 1957-58 senior class; two class sponsors, N. R. King, and Mrs. Wesley Scott; eight parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Norman, Mrs. Iven Clary, Mrs. Alvin Young, Mrs. Earl Hodges, and Lonnie Peel; and R. K. Green, superintendent of schools left on two chartered buses for a tour of Louisiana and Mississippi. Loyd Holt and Buddy Hatton were the very good-natured bus drivers.

We stopped for breakfast in Abilene, ate a picnic lunch at a park near Terrell, and arrived in Shreveport, La., about 5 in the evening. After sight-seeing and shopping for about two hours, we met at the bus station where several seniors as well as sponsors rode the mechanical toy horse. We then went to Ruston, La., where we ate supper, went swimming in the motel swimming pool, played at the play ground, and made it to bed about 1 in the morning.

Thursday morning the boys and, after much persuasion, several sponsors came out in their Bermuda shorts and long socks. After breakfast, we boarded the buses at 9 and before noon crossed the well known muddy Mississippi River, and were in Vicksburg, Miss., where we ate lunch, went shopping, and went through an old steamboat. Then we toured the Vicksburg National Military Park where the famous Battle of Vicksburg was fought during the Civil War.

We went on to Jackson, Miss., and then to Hattiesburg, where after supper, we divided into groups. Some went to a show and some toured the city, while others went bowling. When we returned to the motel about midnight everyone went swimming after some were thrown in the pool.

After very few hours sleep, we again boarded the buses and went to Gulfport. We were very happy to find that the beautiful Alamo Plaza Motel where we had reservations was directly across the highway from the Gulf of Mexico. Behind it were many huge and beautiful trees. Many of these trees were magnolias in full bloom, which is a very beautiful sight. As soon as we got our rooms we jumped into our bathing suits and headed for the beach and the Gulf. After swimming and sun bathing we ate a delicious lunch of sea foods. After lunch, we walked along the beach, took pictures, and played shuffle board and miniature golf until 2 when we went to Biloxi to the docks and rode the Pan American Clipper to Ship Island about 25 miles out in the Gulf. While there, we went through an old Spanish-built fort, played on the beach and in the Gulf, and caught crabs and shellfish. Some of the boys enjoyed playing their first slot machines. We threatened to "bump off" our sponsors because the island was neutral territory. After another hour and a half of rockin' and rollin' on the ship, we got back to Biloxi and then on to Gulfport.

All in fun, we presented our bus driver with a trophy proclaiming him to be the world's worst driver. Saturday morning after even fewer hours of sleep we enjoyed a beautiful drive along the coast and across the Mississippi River to New Orleans. We drove through the city, saw the Jackson Memorial Park, the well-known Bourbon and Canal Streets, and bought many souvenirs. Then we headed in the rain toward Shreveport, La. As soon as we arrived in Shreveport, we went to the motel and on to the "Louisiana Hayride" where we enjoyed hearing and seeing many favorite western performers. About midnight we ate supper and again several went swimming at the motel.

Sunday morning, even more tired than any of the other mornings, we loaded on the buses and headed home. We ate breakfast in Marshall. We stopped in Dallas for lunch and several did their last-minute Mother's Day shopping. After much singing and fun in every way, we arrived back in Post. As we neared the school we were very happy to see so many parents and friends waiting to meet us. We were especially happy to see the sign made by some friends saying "Welcome Home, Seniors". As our class song states, we have added to our many wonderful "Moments to Remember".

George Slept Here...

He pulled off the highway and asked if he could take a little snooze.

We pride ourselves that Phillips 66 Stations are first-rate service stations. We're even glad to make them sleeping stations in an emergency. So George took his snooze.

Good thing he did because, dog-tired and drowsy, he might have fallen asleep at the wheel while driving.

This little incident suggests, in a small way, the hospitable attitude of Phillips 66 Service men generally. Ask any regular patron of Phillips 66 Stations and he'll tell you that Phillips Dealers go out of their way to treat you and your car right — perform many a service you wouldn't expect to get elsewhere.

Better yet, drive in and see for yourself what "Hospitality on the Highway" means.

Desert Plant Life Collections Made

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech student botanists have collected specimens of wild desert plant life in the Big Bend country that eventually will help add the missing chapters in knowledge about West Texas flora.

Chester Rowell, Tech taxonomist and assistant professor of biology, said examples of the plant specimens will be permanently preserved and placed in the Tech biology department's herbarium—a reference "library" of plants—for future research.

"There's been little or no research on flora of the Panhandle or South Plains," he said. The three-day field collection of flora took place in the Black Gap State Wildlife Management area of the Chihuahuan Desert.

MECHANICAL REFRIGERATION ONE OF THEM

Modern Methods In Homemaking Being Learned By State 4-H'ers

CHICAGO — Use of mechanical refrigeration by farm families jumped from 63 to 90 per cent in six years, according to the USDA, and undoubtedly this has been a factor in more extensive use of the freezing method to preserve home grown foods.

Among the young homemakers who utilize this process are the Texas 4-H Club members enrolled in the 4-H Frozen Foods project, the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work points out. Under the guidance of local leaders the 4-H'ers learn to plan balanced meals as well as to select and process meats, vegetables, fruits, breads, pastries and the like.

Another project that helps to enhance family living is the 4-H

Home Improvement program. Individual enterprises range from modernizing and redecorating an entire house to reupholstering a single chair.

Both 4-H programs provide opportunities for club members to demonstrate and exhibit their skills as well as to develop leadership qualities. The 4-H'ers also are in line for awards based on over-all club activities and excellence in project work.

Awards include $400 college scholarships, expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago and gold-filled medals of honor. The frozen foods' awards are provided by the Whirlpool Corporation. Awards in the home improvement program are made possible by the Sears - Roebuck Foundation.

Texas claimed a national winner in the frozen foods program last year. She is Patricia Madison, Rising Star. The state winner in the home improvement program was George Ann Hitchcock, May.

Information regarding enrollment in the projects may be obtained from local 4-H leaders or the County Extension office. The Co-operative Extension Service directs the work.
