

PHS Students Above State Norm, Recent Tests Show

Post High School administrators and other faculty members are pleased with the overall outcome of a series of achievement tests given the more than 250 high school students, Principal Glenn Whittenberg said today.

The principal issued the following statement in connection with the test results: "We use the High School Fundamentals Evaluation Test published by the Steck Company. This test was developed in Texas for use by Texas high school children. The norms established were obtained by several administrations of the tests in some of the better schools of Texas. Adamson High School of Dallas, San Marcos High School and several other well recognized schools of the state were in the study. When our students go above the norm established in these schools then it means that our students have better grasps of high school fundamentals than the students on whom the norms were based. "In our freshman class this year there were 69 students who exceeded the norm and only 20 who fell below it. The class average was five points above or one year and one-fourth above the norm established for the freshman standard. "The sophomore class had 42 students above and 29 below the norm. The class average was 3.8 points or one year above the norm for sophomore students. "The junior class had 29 students that made above the norm and 13 that fell below. The class average was 4.5 points above norm or one year and one month above the students on whom the norm were based. "The senior class had 28 students above the norm and 24 below it. The class average was two points above the norm or about one-half year ahead. "I know that these tests are not conclusive proof, due to the conditions under which our tests had to be given, but it is a strong indication that your students here at Post are on a par with other students of the state. "This indicates that students from Post High School can do college work as well as students from any other high school. We have students doing good work in West Texas State College, McMurry, Texas Tech, Southern Methodist University, Texas University, Oklahoma University, Abilene Christian College, Texas Christian University, San Angelo Junior College, Howard Payne College and Tulane University. We received a letter from Tulane University today stating that our salutorian of last year (Kenneth Mills) attained the honor roll of the School of Engineering at Tulane for the first semester. "It is true that we have students that go to college and fail to make the grade, but isn't it possible that other high schools have just as high a percentage as ours? "We invite the parents of our students to come to the school and see the test results attained by their children."

Citizens Are To Establish Law Enforcement Group

Meeting Is Tonight

Gov. Price Daniel's call for an allot traffic safety crusade in a state-wide radio address yesterday morning has brought the creation of at least a temporary Garza County Citizens' Traffic Enforcement committee with Bryan J. Williams as temporary chairman. The 40-member group named by Williams will meet in the county courtroom at 7:15 p. m. tonight in an effort to perfect a permanent Citizens Traffic or Law Enforcement Commission. Williams was named temporary chairman Wednesday morning at a citizens safety meeting called at Governor Daniel's request by County Judge Pat Walker. There was a lot of plain speaking at the citizens safety session on the need for additional law enforcement in Post and for some solid public support for community law and order. Named to the 40-member committee which will meet tonight are Mrs. T. L. Jones, Mrs. Pat Walker, Mrs. Walter Boren, Mrs. Tom Power, Mrs. Willard Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Bill Edwards, Mrs. David Newby, Mrs. Max Gordon, Mrs. Leo Acker, Mrs. A. C. Surman, Mrs. Preston Mathis, Mrs. Victor Hudman, Mrs. James Kennedy, Mrs. Arnold Parrish, Mrs. Dowe Mayfield, Mrs. Madge Webb; Mrs. Inez Harteil, Mayor James Minor, J. E. Birdwell, Chant Lee, Irby Metcalf, R. J. Jennings, Dean Robinson, Jim Cornish, Harry Porter, the Rev. Clinton Edwards, County Judge Pat Walker, Clint Herring, Highway Engineer Julian Smith, James Brewer, N. R. King, R. F. Smith, new superintendent of Post schools after July 1, Warren Yancey, County Attorney Carl Webb, Ozell Williams and Eddie Warren. County Hale-Aikin Committee Completes Report

No Plan Proposed For School Consolidation

Further consolidation of Garza County schools was not proposed Tuesday night by the county's Hale-Aikin school study committee as it completed its report to the state with a near six-hour session in the Post junior high library. Committee members from each of the four school districts remaining in the county reported no plans now for any further consolidations or proposed any. Dean A. Robinson, chairman of the Hale-Aikin committee, said that when he took over his present post as county superintendent 24 years ago there were 13 common school districts and three independent school districts in the county. During this period 12 have been consolidated—six with the Post independent school district, three with the Southland school district, and three with the Justiceburg district.

Today there are three independent school districts (Post, Southland and Close City) and one common school district, Justiceburg. The county committee in hammering out its official answers to the 169 questions on all phases of school problems asked by the state kept two secretaries, Sam Ellis of Southland and Jack Lancaster, busy writing down the answers. Numerous recommendations for changes were made. Among others, the committee voted a recommendation that the state raise its minimum salaries for teachers from $3,204 to $3,600. Post already is paying $500 over the state minimum. The suggestion came from the Southland group. As an incentive to young people to enter the teaching profession, the committee by a 9 to 6 vote recommended $4,000 minimum salaries for teachers and $10,000 maximums. This was not a recommendation. See HALE-AIKIN, Page 8

Funeral Services Set Thursday For Ernest Braddock

Funeral services for Ernest R. Braddock, 63, a retired farmer and resident of Garza County since 1915, were to be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Braddock, his right wrist slashed with a razor, was found dead about 6 o'clock Monday morning on the floor of a bedroom in his home at 409 West 15th St.

Members of the family said Mr. Braddock was despondent over ill health. He had been under the care of a physician for the last year, with his condition rapidly becoming worse within the last month or so.

His wife, who was in another part of the house, called a neighbor after she looked into the bedroom and saw her husband lying on the floor. Acting Coroner Justice of the Peace D. C. Roberts and a local physician were called, along with Sheriff Carl Rains. Roberts said Mr. Braddock apparently had been dead about 30 minutes when he conducted the inquest.

The sheriff said a straight razor lay near the body and that a chest drawer from which it had been taken was still open.

Mr. Braddock moved to Garza County from Fannin County. He farmed in the Grassland community and in and around Post before retiring six years ago. He and Mrs. Braddock were married in Post on Oct. 30, 1915.

Mr. Braddock is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Ben Briggs of Post and Mrs. Sam Hostetter after funeral services in the Post Church of Christ.

Mrs. Johnson, the wife of Constable J. A. Johnson, died about 6 o'clock Sunday morning at their home here at 805 West 11th St.

She became suddenly ill about 3 o'clock that morning, and her husband and sister, Mrs. M. L. Ellis of Anton, were up with her at that time. Mrs. Ellis remained up with her until about 5 o'clock, at which time Mrs. Johnson said she felt much better and believed she could go back to sleep.

Mrs. Johnson had been in failing health for about 10 years, but her condition had improved to the extent that she was again doing her own housework prior to her sudden stroke of illness Monday.

She was born Feb. 27, 1888, in Delta County, and she and Mr. Johnson were married in Oklahoma in 1914. They lived at Plainview before moving here.

Besides her husband, she is survived by Mrs. Johnson, the wife of Constable J. A. Johnson, the wife of Constable J. A. Johnson, the wife of Constable J. A. Johnson. See JOHNSON RITES, Page 8

Rooftop Burglar Hits Store Here

A burglar who squeezed through an 18 by 10-inch ventilator opening on the roof robbed Wacker's Store Monday night of $16.23 and a flashlight and two batteries. He also damaged the cash register to the extent of about $75 by prying it open with a screw driver.

Manager Ronnie Sturdivan said the $16.23 lost in the break-in was a lay-way change fund in the cash register. Except for the flashlight and batteries no other merchandise was reported missing.

Sheriff Carl Rains and Deputy J. W. (Red) Floyd, who investigated the break-in, said they found a flashlight on the roof, evidently left there by the intruder before he went down through the ventilator.

The burglar or burglars made their exit through a back door, which they left wide open, the manager said.

WR Directors Defer Action On Loan Application Change

The board of directors of White River Municipal Water District voted here last Thursday night to defer action on a proposed amendment of its loan application for construction of the White River dam and other municipal water facilities for the cities of Post, Spur, Ralls and Crosbyton. Earlier in the week, representatives of the board were told in Fort Worth by the regional office of the Federal Housing and Home Financing Assn. that they should split up their loan application so as to apply for $1,500,000 from the FH&HA, $1,500,000 from private bonding companies and $1,000,000 from the Texas Water Development Board.

The Fort Worth regional office suggested that this be done instead of asking the FH&HA for the entire $4,000,000 required for the project.

The board decided to defer action on amending its loan application until officials in the four cities have had time to study and submit information requested by the government lending agency on questionnaires already submitted, and until the engineers on the project have had time to complete a study of proposed water contracts with oil companies.

Man's Ankle Broken In Automobile Accident

Wayne Parrish of the Graham community suffered a broken left ankle Saturday night when he lost control of the 1951 Oldsmobile he was driving and turned over on a farm-to-market road two miles south of Graham.

The ankle was broken in two places. Sheriff Carl Rains reported the car was a total loss. Parrish was alone in the car.

Shell Producer Completed

Oil Spotlight Is Held By Wildcats

Completion of another wildcat test as a new Shell producer and possible location of two more new wildcats in the immediate future was the principal oil news this week from the big Slaughter ranch spread nine miles south of Post.

Some nine wells near, or on the big ranch are in the news despite the fact that cutting of Texas production days to eight has seriously curtailed in-field oil drilling all across the Lone Star state.

Wildcatting remains attractive despite the eight drilling days as dry holes can be written off and wildcat strikes can be pumped at full potential for 18 months until the sixth well has been drilled in the field. Shell's latest strike is its Slaughter No. 1-D, some two miles west of the Texas-Strawn and Ellenburger field and west of the Slaughter ranch house.

The new Pennsylvania discovery potential flowing 225 barrels of oil plus eight per cent basic sediment per day on 19-84 inch choke.

Production is from the Pennsylvania lime section, topped at 7,962 feet, with perforations effected from 7,858-74, 7,992-99 and 8,650-60. The well was treated with 1,000 See OIL SPOTLIGHT, Page 4

Housing Plan Merits Careful Study

A first look at the proposition to seek a public housing project for Post shows the plan merits careful consideration and close study.

Here are several strong points in favor of seeking such a project:

1. Post certainly can use good housing for the below-average income family.
2. The entire cost of construction would be paid by the federal government.
3. The city would have no financial obligation.
4. All control over the project would be vested in a Post Housing Authority with Post citizens doing the deciding.
5. Outside of meeting federal requirements in the need and construction phases, Uncle Sam would exercise no real strings attached when the project is placed in operation.
6. Public housing would not be in competition with private housing as rentals for such units would be well below those of standard housing units here and would simply replace sub-standard housing now causing a severe blight to various areas of the community and to outlying areas beyond the city limits—"the flats" being the prime example.

In any such project of course there is a certain amount of difficulty and red tape.

But public housing, after 20 years appears here to stay, and Post might as well have enough units here for its needs. Some 106 Texas communities—ranging from large to very small—have successful operating projects today.

The governmental experts say the success of such units lies purely and simply in good local management. Finding capable local businessmen to sit on a Post Housing Authority should be no particular problem.—JC

Fire Department Asks And Is Asked

The Post Volunteer Fire Department which renders outstanding service the year around in protection of life and property is asking the City Council for some sort of a fire alarm system that will make it possible for firemen in all parts of the city to hear the alarm when it sounds. As it is now, the single siren cannot be heard on windy nights in certain areas—and windy nights are when the fire danger is greatest.

The firemen are also asking, through the sheriff's department, that curiosity-seekers refrain from interfering with the firemen's work when there is a fire. They ask that traffic not clutter the streets either ahead of or behind the fire truck when it is speeding to a blaze. And, that spectators keep their automobiles and themselves out of the way at the scene of a fire.

We hope the firemen get what they want along these lines. Both are important to protection of life and property. At the same time, however, we hope the fire department sees fit to give this newspaper something for which it has asked—the code you need to know to find out from the telephone operator the location of a fire. In trying to cover all the news, we need to know where the fire is, and if we have to go in a round-about way to find out, we're often too late for a picture—if one is in order—or even for a first-hand report on the blaze.

We happen to know that this courtesy is extended newspapers in other towns and cities, and we see no reason why it shouldn't be done here. We can assure the fire department that we do not want this information merely in order to join other fire truck chasers out of idle curiosity. We want it in order to be able to compile accurate fire reports for our newspaper, and to take pictures when necessary.

We hope the fire department doesn't wait too much longer to let us know one way or the other—whether we are or whether we aren't going to get it.—CD

Bonds Refinancing Represents Saving

Refinancing of the water works bond issue to effect a net savings in interest of $84,907.50 for the city of Post is no small accomplishment.

Mayor James Minor and the council deserve the commendations of all thinking citizens for bringing the project to such a successful conclusion.

We as citizens are too prone to criticize our public officials when they do something we don't like or fail to do something we want done, and at the same time overlook any words of appreciation for actions of real initiative and merit.

The role of the public official in any community—whether his job be on the county court, the board of school trustees, or the city council—is usually one of all criticism instead of any praise.

It is no wonder that there is no over-eagerness to seek these "high pay jobs" when election times roll around.

In this age of rising prices on every hand—with rising governmental costs a difficult trend to halt—an action by your city officials to effect an $84,907.50 saving is one to be received with rejoicing in the streets.

The Dispatch applauds Mayor Minor and the council for their bond refinancing as a job well done. And we hope you other interested folks will stop them and give them the pats on the backs they so richly deserve.—JC

Slam-Bang Political Races Fading

Come shed a tear for the old slam-bang political races, which appear to be passing from the scene. It used to be along about this time of an election year campaigning was in full swing with full slates of candidates, and candidate cards thicker than flies around a molasses barrel.

Now, with the May 5 filing deadline only a little more than a week away, it appears that Garza County will come up with nothing more than a lukewarm political campaign and primary elections of about the same temperature.

The big factor, of course, in this taming-down of election year activities is the constitutional amendment passed a few years ago which gives office holders four-year instead of two-year terms. That was and is a good thing for the office holder, but it certainly took the vim and vigor from our biennial election campaigns. We still have an election every two years, but the number of offices to be voted on is only half as large as it was before the constitutional amendment went into effect.

Four candidates for county and precinct offices to be voted on this year in Garza County are unopposed. There are two candidates in three of the other four races, and three in the fourth. This editorial is not meant to "drum up" opposition for those office holders who have not yet drawn an opponent. It is merely calling attention to the way interest in political campaigns are dying down.

Of course, we could be wrong. Before the May 5 filing deadline there could be a few more hats thrown in the ring, and plenty of activity could develop in the contested races between now and the date of the first primary in July.—CD

School Banquets Enjoyable Affairs

Since there are so many uncomplimentary things being said about today's high schools, we'd like to do a switcheroo by observing that it reflects a healthy attitude therein when large numbers of students, faculty members, trustees and just plain guests turn out for such affairs as Friday night's junior-senior banquet.

Nor is the junior-senior banquet in a class by itself as far as interest and attendance are concerned. Athletic banquets, FFA and FHA dinners, and other school functions also draw large crowds.

We can't remember ever having attended one of these banquets that wasn't an enjoyable affair. The decorations, the program, the menu... they all reflect a great deal of planning and preparations on the parts of sponsors, other faculty advisors and students.

Since today's high school students throughout the land are coming in for more than their share of criticism nowadays, we'd like to call attention to these inspiring school banquets as a point in their favor.—CD

A Calendar Of Fact And Opinion

A study made in 1954 by the Committee for Economic Development, which is composed of 150 leading businessmen and educators, came to the conclusion that it is in the national interest of the United States to reduce our tariffs and other barriers to foreign trade on a gradual and selective basis. A Committee spokesman says that this need is even more compelling now than it was then, a major reason being the Soviet economic offensive.

Dr. John R. Heller, director of the National Cancer Institute, states that research scientists are on the verge of major breakthroughs in the war against cancer. One may be a vaccine producing immunization.

If Administration proposals are accepted by Congress, federal employees will receive pay increases aggregating well over $1 billion a year. The largest part will go to officers and enlisted men in the military services.

Damon Stetson of the New York Times reports that "The automobile industry is facing a period of crucial decisions." There are three main reasons why: the growing popularity of the small economy car, a trend which may force the Big Three to enter this field, lagging new-car sales; the wage and other demands which Walter Reuther's UAW will make on the companies during new contract negotiations.

George F. Kennan, considered by many to be the foremost American authority on Soviet affairs, writes: "Kruschev has now offended and estranged from the central political process, one by one, the intelligentsia, the industrial managers and a portion of the officers corps of the armed services. He has now achieved the pinnacle of power which he apparently wanted, but I suspect that he is rather isolated up there, and that the winds around him are becoming increasingly chilly."

More than 50 per cent of all the stocks listed on the "Big Board" of the New York Stock Exchange have paid cash dividends every three months without exception—in war and peace, good times or bad—for a decade or longer.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

THE MONTH WILL be May before another issue of The Dispatch appears, and what a month it will be on the local scene. There'll be school closing activities, the Post Stampede Rodeo, the Jaycees' teenage driving Road-o, and a half-dozen or so other events, including such holidays as Mother's Day and Memorial Day.

May is always a busy month, with this event conflicting with that event, and sometimes as many as three or four in one night. But everyone always seems to get through the month, which just goes to show that there's never any need to get frantic about such things—which we often do.

BOB HOPE IS one of our favorite comedians, but even so, we're about fed up with seeing him as guest star on so many TV programs and hearing so much about his trip to Russia.

We've waited a long time for the ultimate in names. And now there are no further nominations. Lola Mason was lately named Miss Frozen Rabbit Meat for 1957.

LITTLE MARY'S father had denied her a pleasure that she had expected. That night when she said her prayers, she concluded with this petition: "And please don't give Papa any more children. He don't know how to treat the ones he's got now."

Over the weekend, we heard a touching story that reminded us of a TV play we saw one Christmas—"The Day They Gave Babies Away." The story we heard had to do with the Cal Casteels' colie, Miss Flicker, who was poisoned, and the eight puppies she left motherless.

WITH THE EIGHT puppies on their hands, the younger Casteel children set about to find homes for them over the weekend, and got Harry Porter, KRWS manager, to broadcast an appeal to people wanting to "adopt" one of the month-old pups. Within a day or two, homes had been found for all the dogs, with one family out in the country taking two of them.

Cal Casteel said the family had brought Miss Flicker with them when they moved here from downstate that they were sorry to lose her. It hit the boys especially hard, since like all boys, they had become attached to their dog. But such things as that don't move dog poisoners—in fact, few things which touch a real human being's heart fails to do the same for the inveterate dog poisoner.

ONE OF THE MANY fellows who will be busy most of the time now that the rodeo and horse show season is at hand is Novis Rodgers. In addition to serving as cutting horse chairman for our own Stampede Rodeo, Novis will be busy judging horses at a number of other outstanding shows throughout the country. He told us the other day that he has been invited to judge the horse show at the Tennessee State Fair in Memphis, and that since he's never been in Memphis he thinks he'll accept the invitation.

Our office expert on international affairs says disarmament is like a party. Nobody wants to arrive until everyone else is there.

THE BIG PUBLIC fanfare hasn't broken yet, but let travel for U. S. airline passengers is just around the corner, according to the editor of "Changing Times," the Kiplinger Magazine. In less than a year and a half nearly one-third of all U. S. passengers will be flying in jet planes.

Some of the men are taking the bull by the horns and wearing straw hats before Straw Hat Day is officially proclaimed. We are one of them. The wife, who always buys our hats, came in the office the other day, yanked off our battered felt and clamped a new straw hat on our head. She was out the door and gone before we could get up full steam on our protest that it was too early in the season for a straw hat.

WE DIDN'T DO much better after we got home from the office. She spiked our argument that it was too early for a straw by informing us that it was too late in the season to plunk down the money for a new felt, that our old one looked like something the dogs had tugged in, and that it was childish to wait on Straw Hat Day before wearing one. Women, of course, go by style standards, but the men aren't supposed to.

Cooperation Plus!
Here's one for the books. There are over 200 committee members who have been appointed to assist in staging Crosbyton's huge 50th anniversary celebration and historical pageant in September. To date, not one single person has refused to accept his assignment. That, dear readers, is the classic example of cooperation. Of course, with so many assignments being made a few people landed on more than one committee. In cases where this happened, and both jobs are time consuming, the steering committee will be glad to relieve you of one of your jobs—if you insist. As plans begin to shape up, we can see that Crosbyton is going to stage a real event this fall. — "Trends" in The Crosbyton Review.

Just Move Over!
Now that April is here, quite a number of citizens are throwing dirt over their shoulders. There are no statistics on how many storm cellars were dug last year following the tornado, but just guessing there are probably as many as 30 or 40 more in Tahoka than there were this time in 1957. Nearly everyone who doesn't have one has a neighbor who does. In fact, a lot of skeptics were reformed last May 24. The rest of us just hope you'll "move over." — "Standing on the Corner" in The Lynn County News.

A Hamlin spinster was outlining to a prospective worker the kind of fellow she wanted to help her about the place.

Second Childhood?
Speaking of age, this year's usual siege of so-called childhood diseases seems to be immune to no age group. This last week, Mrs. Scotty Fletcher, who just recently became a grandmother, was off from work at The News office with the measles. Maybe it's Katy's second childhood. — The McCamey News.

The superior way, we believe, to solve the problem would be to put the birch limb and the woodshed back into use. In my boyhood days it wasn't necessary to go to prison to wear stripes—we were sent to the woodshed to acquire them.—"Snooter Knows" in The Stanton Reporter.

HEAVY MACHINERY PACKS CERTAIN SOILS
Prevention Is Best Way To Deal With Soil Compaction Problem

COLLEGE STATION — Excessive use of heavy machinery in farming operations tends to pack certain types of soil into unproductive hardpans or to form hard layers of soil just below plow depth, says Jack Barton, extension soil and water conservation specialist. This condition cuts the soil's ability to absorb water at the surface as well as slows the permeation into the subsoil. Too, adds Barton, in some cases normal root development of planted crops is restricted.

About Your HEALTH

Damage Estimated
 Only by constant fighting has mankind been able to hold his precarious own against the insect hordes that bite and sting him, destroy his food and clothing and home, and sometimes inflict horrible death. Well over a million different insect species have been described from throughout the world, and the list continues to grow at the rate of 6-7,000 new species discovered every year. This country is inhabited by approximately 600 injurious species. Some of these are proven vectors of human diseases. The vast majority of insects are neutral or indifferent where man is concerned, apparently content to let humanity go its way and demanding the same privilege. Others are highly beneficial, feeding on noxious weeds or troublesome insects, or pollinating crops. At least 50 different seed and fruit crops would be barren without insect pollinizers.

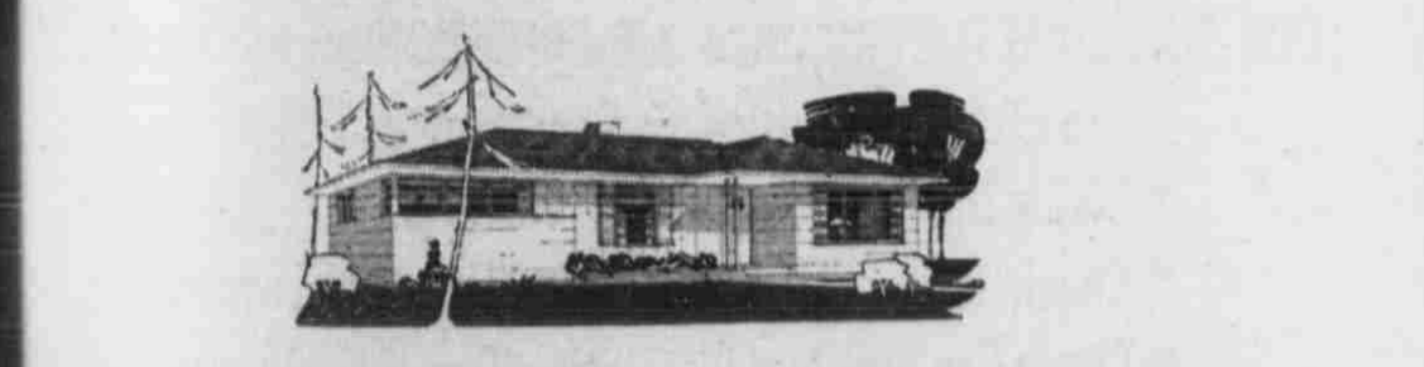

Chemical Treating Of Planting Seed Is Good Insurance

COLLEGE STATION — Planting high quality seed which have been treated to protect them from soil-borne diseases is one of the best steps a farmer can take for getting his crop off to a good start, advises Lee Coffey, extension agronomist. Farmers do not have to wait until the last minute to treat the seed, he points out. Storage is no problem as long as the seed is stored under dry conditions and recommended dosages are used. In fact, early treating is sometimes advisable because it helps avoid the last minute rush and gives the chemical extra time to work, he adds. Farmers will have several approved chemicals to choose from when treating seed this year, says Coffey. The effectiveness of these chemicals is essentially the same and each will do the job if they are used according to instructions. Special care must be taken when treating legume seed so the chemical will not kill the inoculant, cautions Coffey. Chemical treatment should be done at least two weeks before planting and then the seed should be planted as soon as possible after inoculation. It is especially important to treat seed which is to be planted early, he says. Treating helps protect the seed and seedling from seed- and soil-borne diseases that may attack when soil conditions are not favorable for immediate germination. In general, points out Coffey, planting seed purchased through seed stores has already been treated. But to make sure, he advises checking the tag on the bag.

School Bond Vote Called At Tahoka

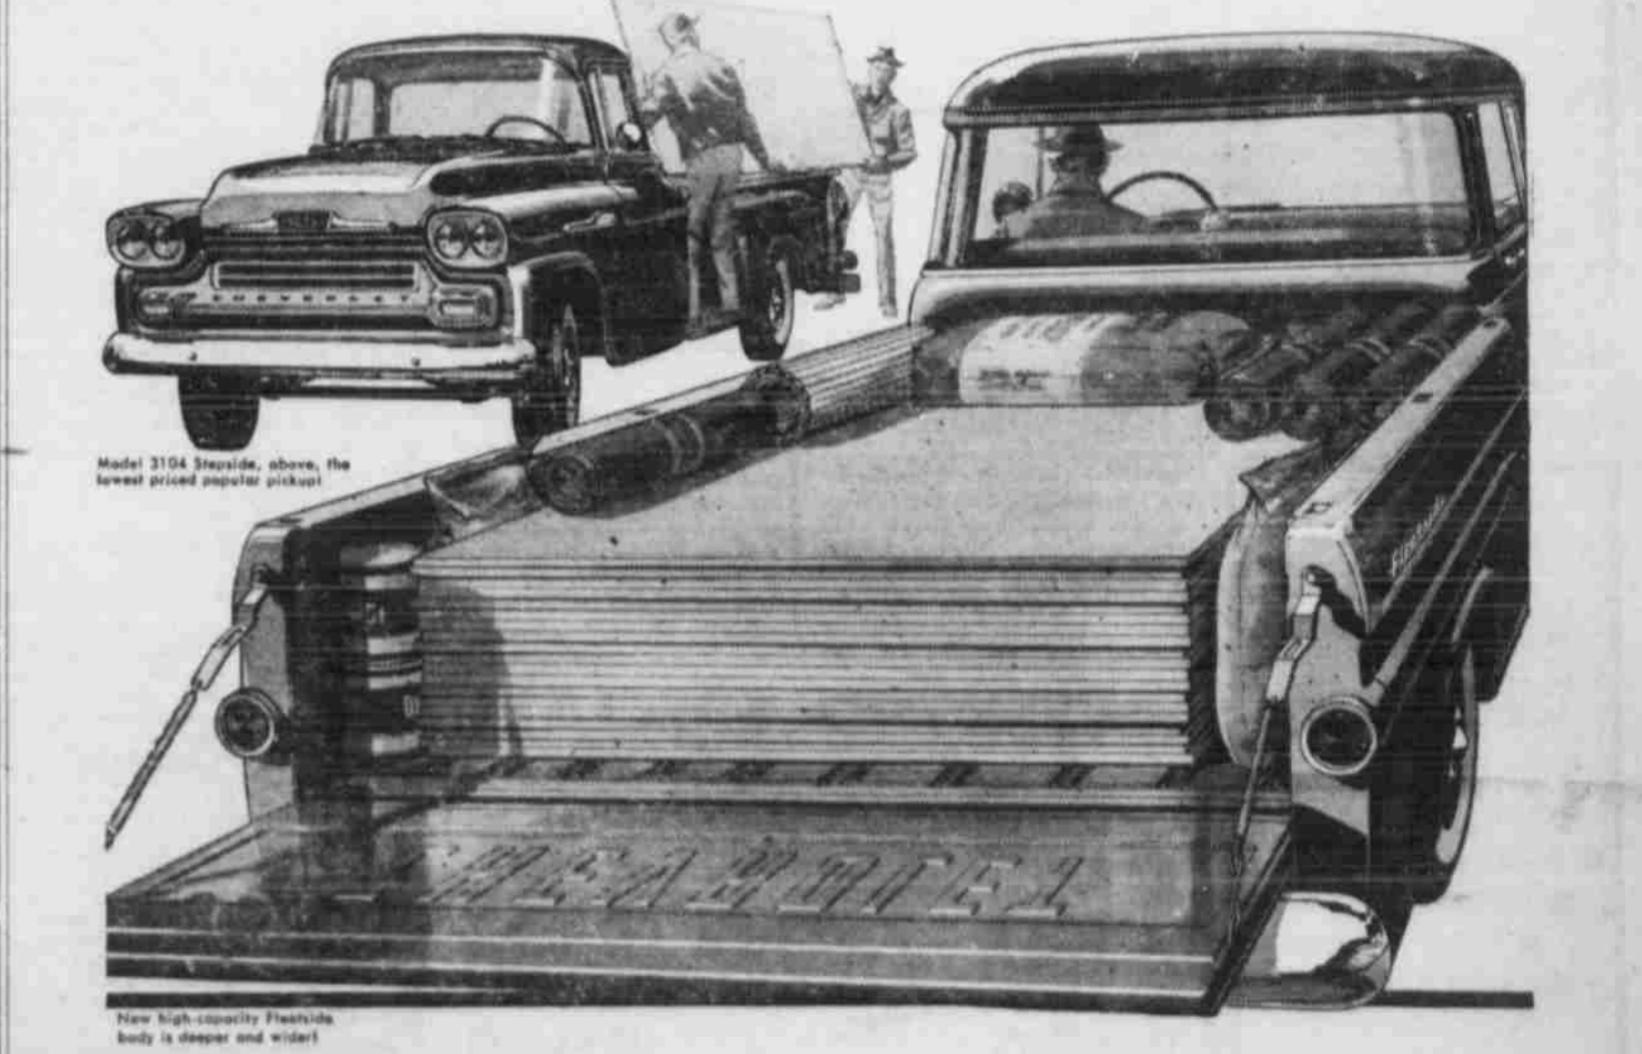

TAHOKA—An election has been called in the Tahoka School District for May 3 on a proposal to issue $200,000 in bonds for construction of a gymnasium, four classrooms and remodeling of Dunbar, the city's Negro school. The proposed new gym would have a game floor 50 by 90 feet, but would convert into two practice courts. The structure would seat 975 people. The building would also contain four large dressing rooms, coach's office, foyer and concession stands. The four classrooms will be added to the South Elementary School.

Post Cotton Week Promotion Planned

The Chamber of Commerce is planning a National Cotton Week promotion for Post May 19-24. The project will be worked out by the Chamber's agricultural committee headed by George (Scotty) Samson. The Chamber directors at their meeting Wednesday decided to undertake the Cotton Week promotion and turned the project to Samson's committee to handle. Several suggestions were made including an open house at the Postex Mill and a Cotton style show. Ballots will go out today to Chamber members on the already announced poll on whether or not the membership wants a trained Chamber manager employed. Chamber directors yesterday also discussed the health menace caused by flooded highway ditches in the flats area and decided to have the Chamber roads and highways committee look into the feasibility of draining the ditches before they develop a serious mosquito problem. Chant Lee, Chamber vice president, presided at the directors meeting in the absence of Ralph Kirkpatrick who this week moved to Lubbock.

Wet Grounds And Dust Hold Sway

More wet weather and dust storms have been combining the past few days to further delay cropland preparation in Garza County. Wednesday's blowing dust was helping dry the ground, but still proving a hindrance to farm work. Rainfall up to Wednesday totaled 5.95 inches for 1958 - 1.59 inches above the normal for the first four months. Through April of 1957, however, rainfall had totaled 9 inches. January's moisture this year amounted to 1.22 inches, as compared with a .55 of an inch normal for the month. February's rain was .92 of an inch, .08 of an inch below the February normal. In March, moisture amounted to 1.55 inches, or .77 of an inch above the .78 normal. The April normal is 2.03 inches, with 2.22 inches having already been measured this month.

Oil Spotlight -

Hole was bottomed at 8,810 feet in barren Ellenburger and plugged back to 8,365 feet for completion. Pan American Oil Co. has staked but not yet announced a new wildcat location on the ranch five miles west of the Paul C. Teas' No. 1 Teas-Strawn field and in section 401. Rumors in oil circles here are that Cities Service also is planning to drill a Slaughter Ranch wildcat in the future, but there is no hint yet as to its location. It probably will be on farmout acreage. Being watched with interest of the Slaughter Ranch is Continental Oil Company's No. 1 Kirkpatrick in section 5, block 2, GH&H Survey. This is an Ellenburger prospect located some three and one-half miles northeast of the Teas' Strawn pool on the Slaughter ranch. Tested natural on the s.w.a.b through perforations at 8,416 to 8,452 feet, it yielded 61 barrels of new oil in 24 hours, with recovery averaging two barrels of oil. Yet to be tested is the Strawn, which yielded gas, plus heavily oil-cut mud on a drillstem test at 7,865 to 7,895. Shell Oil Company not only has completed its No. 1-D Slaughter as a new wildcat field opener on the Slaughter, but also this last week completed a quarter-mile south extension and third Pennsylvania lease on the No. 2-C Slaughter. It gauged 310 barrels of 34.4 gravity oil daily through 12-64 inch choke and perforations from 8,080 to 8,117 feet after 1,000 gallons of acid. Shell Oil's other drilling test on the big ranch - the No. 1-E Slaughter was drilling below 7,300 feet and is expected to reach the Pen-

Many Drivers Are Failing To Comply With Accident Law

Fail To Submit Mishap Reports

The Texas Department of Public Safety revealed today that drivers are failing to comply with the law when they become involved in an accident, announced Capt. E. L. Posey, commanding officer, District 5A, Texas Highway Patrol.

Of all drivers involved in accidents throughout Texas during the calendar year 1957, only 68 per cent reported their accidents. As an example, Captain Posey pointed out in his own district, consisting of 29 Northwest Texas counties, there were 4,057 drivers involved in accidents. Yet, only 2,869 reported their accidents as compared with the 2,545 accidents investigated by the Texas Highway Patrol.

On a state-wide basis, the Texas Highway Patrol investigated 25,238 accidents with 39,255 drivers involved in rural accidents.

Throughout the entire state last year, 261,083 traffic accidents occurred, injuring 122,185 persons and taking 2,339 lives.

Captain Posey pointed out the need for drivers to be acquainted with the law and the necessity of obeying it. "Drivers are required to submit an accident report to Austin within ten days after an accident occurs if there is death, injury or damage of $25 or more," said the captain. "In event of death or injury, the accident must also be reported immediately in rural areas to the nearest Texas Highway Patrol office of sheriff's department," he added.

"Failure to do so," said Captain Posey, "renders a person guilty of misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not less than $1 nor more than $200 upon conviction."

Industry, Labor Stand To Lose From Consolidation Of Farms

By JOHN C. WHITE
Commissioner of Agriculture
A North Dakota economist figures that for every farm which consolidates with a neighbor, industry and labor will lose some 2½ million dollars over a 100-year period.

E. N. Dornacker of Mayville, N. D., has this theory: the present trend of combining two or more farms into one large one means more land farmed with less equipment, fewer materials and fewer farm hands. "Each time a farmer is forced to leave the farm, industry loses a customer and labor gains a competitor for a job," says Dornacker. "And the neighbors who buy the land will destroy the buildings and operate it from their own farm", he adds.

Here is a partial list of the business which industry will lose in the next 100 years from each farm, he says: The sale of 10 tractors, 10 drills, 15 harrows, 10 combines, 10 discs, 5 plows, 10 cultivators, 5 corn planters, 12 fertilizer attachments, 19 trucks or pickups, 5 weed sprayers, 200 batteries, 40 tractor and 60 truck tires, 5 manure spreaders, 15 hog feeders, 20 water tanks, $50,000 in parts, $5,000 in tools, 1,000 gallons of paint, 1,000 pounds nails, $15,000 in lumber, 600,000 gallons fuel oil, etc.

The total of these and other items would amount to $2½ million over the 100-year period, Dornacker claims.

Of course, his argument has a few holes in it. Actually, two small farms combined into one large one would eventually call for additional machinery over what the buyer owned at the time of consolidation. And the more hours a machine is run to handle a larger acreage, the quicker it will wear out. In addition, larger farms call for more farm buildings—but not as many as two separate farms.

Even so, underneath all the smoke of Dornacker's theory smolders some fire of truth. It can be more economical to maintain one

RUSSIA CAN'T GARBLE THIS MESSAGE

Behind the iron curtain is a powerful transmitter which tries to garble the messages which come from the free world.

We like to think that no one can garble the prayer of a little child to his God. But sometimes, right here in a free Christian land, we jam the wave-lengths of faith with examples of doubt and indifference. Even parents occasionally stifle the spiritual yearnings of their own children!

One of our freedoms is FREEDOM OF WORSHIP. In the sight of God, and before the eyes of a growing generation of free Americans, what shall we do with this freedom?

There has never been a day when Christian sincerity in the community, Christian example in the family, and Christian devotion in the individual were more essential for the preservation of our spiritual heritage to another generation!

Come to Church—join the Church—support the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Former Post Resident Dies In Auburn, Nebr.

Friends here have received word of the death March 24 in an Omaha Nebr., hospital of Glenn A. Leonard, former theatre operator and civic leader here.

Mr. Leonard, who was 63, came to Post in 1936 from Carlsbad, N. M., and managed the Garza Theater until moving in 1940 to Auburn, Nebr., where he lived at the time of his death.

During the four years he lived in Post, Mr. Leonard was at various times president of the Chamber of Commerce, president of the Rotary Club and a steward in the First Methodist Church.

At Auburn, he was co-owner and manager of the State Theater. He was a leader in business and civic organizations there.

He was born Dec. 7, 1894, near Fairbury, Nebr., and grew to manhood in that community. On Aug. 4, 1917, he was united in marriage to Viola Bartlett at Beatrice.

The Leonards farmed in the Fairbury vicinity until 1930, when he entered the theater management business with his father-in-law, C. W. Bartlett.

Besides his business affiliations, Mr. Leonard was a member of the Methodist Church, Masonic Lodge, and Order of Eastern Star.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Max Leonard of Auburn; two granddaughters, Susan and Sally of Auburn; a brother, Ernest of Fairbury, and two sisters, Mrs. Iva Ackman of Fairbury and Mrs. Inez Solel of Anaheim, Calif.

Funeral services were held March 25 at 2 p. m. at the First Methodist Church in Auburn. Following services there, the body was taken to Fairbury for services and interment.

NEW TEACHERS — James West (top) and D. H. Koeninger, both of Shallowater, have been employed by the board of trustees as faculty members here for 1958-59. West will be grade school principal and Koeninger will teach vocational agriculture in the high school.

Research Publications Available Now On Cotton Seedling Disease

COLLEGE STATION — Cotton seedling disease during the 1952-56 period caused an annual reduction of 2.17 per cent of the potential Texas cotton crop—a loss of about $13,000,000 each year.

This loss does not include the cost of having to replant, damaged root systems in remaining stands and reduced efficiency in machine harvesting caused by skips, say research plant pathologists of the Texas A&M College Station.

Seedling disease may be subdivided into seed rot, pre-emergence damping-off, post-emergence damping off and seedling root-rot phases.

Seed rot may be controlled by proper treatment of seed with any of the approved seed treatment materials. But seed treatment alone has little, if any, effect on pre-emergence of post-emergence damping-off or seedling root rot. The zone of protection covered by the seed protectant is too limited to prevent infection after the seedling ruptures the seed coat.

But efforts have been made to protect the seedling from the seed zone to the soil surface by mixing fungicides in the soil that covers the seed. Research for evaluating such a procedure was initiated in 1953. Tests conducted in 1954, 1955 and 1956 provided valuable information on various fungicides and mixtures of fungicides and how to apply them to get the desired placement in the covering soil.

This method of mixing fungicides in the covering soil at planting can be used as an aid for cotton seedling disease control, and when it is used in conjunction with good seed treatment, even more significant results can be obtained.

Information on this problem as well as results of tests and recommendations may be obtained by ordering Progress Report 2001 and 2003 and L-383 from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

The committee had quite a discussion on teacher incentives before voting to recommend that a state study be made of realistic ways to adjust teachers' salaries to performance or merit.

Textbooks Inadequate
The committee felt state-provided textbooks are neither adequate in number nor quality.

Need For Facilities
Several educational needs for county schools were found by the committee including the general need for vocational facilities and courses, science laboratories for post high school, a guidance program for post schools and a better approach to meeting the needs of gifted children.

School Tax Collections
School tax collections in the county are good — ranging from

Per Pupil Costs
Per pupil costs in the Post schools is $302, as compared with $296 in the Southland schools.

As for educational television, the committee suggested that the state have a study group to keep abreast of educational TV so that a workable program at the state level can be started when feasible.

Attending the Tuesday night session were A. T. Nixon, W. H. Childs, Marshall Tipton, Mrs. David Newby, Mrs. Giles McCrary, Mrs. Bryan J. Williams, Lancaster, Jim Cornish, Chant Lee, Lowell Short, Clint Herring, Ellis, Callaway, H. R. Dabbs, Herman Kiesel, Dillard Dunn, Clarence Basinger, Harley Martin, Robinson, Mason Justice, Mrs. Pearl Nance, Bandy Cash, Charles W. Denison, and Mrs. Warren Yancey.

Urge State Pay
The committee urged that the state pay for driver education, an educational phase now borne entirely by the respective school districts.

County Judge Walker after the radio talk by Daniel told the citizen safety group that he "agrees with the governor but it will cost some money."

He pointed out that two years ago the legislature authorized a 50 per cent increase in the strength of the highway patrol and schools were opened to train new patrolmen.

He pointed out that patrolmen are paid only $300 a month and work up to 14 hours a day, seven days a week.

The judge said he wanted the citizens committee to work on the traffic safety problem and to seek enforcement and education.

Sheriff Carl Rains said driver training in the Post high school had reduced the traffic problem here 50 per cent for the age group taught to drive in the school course.

The sheriff said what is needed is public support to put a law enforcement program over.

Bryan Williams said auto insurance rates are due to jump 30 per cent Aug. 1 because insurance companies last year lost $7,000,000 in automobile insurance due to the high rate of accidents and damage.

Judge Walker offered the possibility that the county commissioner's court might make some funds available to such a citizens group to conduct a worthwhile traffic safety educational campaign.

Mrs. Walter Boren suggested that reestablishment of respect for law and order be attempted through the operation of the justice of the peace court here.

Harry Porter, radio station manager, said there was plenty of education given free by radio stations and newspapers but that what he felt was needed was simply a "get tough policy".

Jim Cornish of The Dispatch said he felt the public were frustrated as to how to seek law enforcement help because the community has such limited law enforcement personnel, and that the public will support respect for the law if it feels it can obtain enforcement.

Mayor James Minor said he disagreed with Cornish and that "what we need to do is to get the public behind our law enforcement officers."

R. J. Jennings commented that regardless of what the mayor said he thought the city needed more law enforcement personnel. Both Mrs. T. L. Jones and Mrs. Boren declared that people need to take a firm stand for more enforcement.

The meeting ended with the naming of Williams as temporary chairman to work out plans for an organizational meeting of a citizens council.

toll, Governor Daniel in his 15 radio address Wednesday called for a five-point statewide safety crusade.

The Garza safety citizen's group called by Judge Walker listened to the governor's address by radio in the courtroom.

The governor called for (1) cooperation of all state officials (2) organization of county and city traffic safety councils, (3) an educational campaign to reach the public through schools and news media, (4) engineering improvements on Texas highways to reduce hazards, and (5) more rigid enforcement and punishment of traffic law violators, especially speeders and drunken drivers.

The governor pointed out that 34 per cent of fatal traffic accidents in Texas last year involved drivers who had been drinking and that 15,000 Texans were convicted of drunken driving in 1957.

The objective of the statewide safety campaign, Governor Daniel said, will be to cut traffic deaths 10 per cent from last year's total in Texas—thus saving some 254 lives.

He said already for the first three months of 1958, traffic deaths are 11 per cent under those of the corresponding quarter in 1957—thus putting the objective well within reach.

County Judge Walker after the radio talk by Daniel told the citizen safety group that he "agrees with the governor but it will cost some money."

Annual Junior-Senior Event

Tech Educator Is Banquet Speaker

Taking his cue from the affair's "Candy Land" theme, Dr. S. M. Kennedy of Texas Tech told students at Friday night's junior-senior banquet that "lots of things fill a vast amount of space, but don't amount to much."

He used as an example the manufacture of peppermint candy and cotton candy. "An awfully small amount of candy will go an awfully long ways," he told members of the two classes.

"When you get down to things that really count, you must pack much into little," the speaker continued. "Some students try to get through college on bushel after bushel of cotton candy. Others try to concentrate it like a candy bar."

"Instead of expecting a candy land atmosphere in college, students should enter with the intention of becoming as highly trained as they can," said Dr. Kennedy.

"Two of the things we like to see a student leave college with are a good character and cultural awareness," Dr. Kennedy, who is assistant dean of arts and sciences and a professor in government at the college, stressed the importance of foreign languages as "one of the most practical things you can learn."

"No matter how big a man is in his own neighborhood, he doesn't amount to much in another neighborhood if he cannot speak their language and make himself understood," he said.

The banquet was held in the school lunchroom, which was decorated in keeping with the candy land theme. Table decorations carried out the motif.

Following the invocation by Glenn Whittenberg, high school principal, John T. Brown, junior class president, made the welcome address, and the response was by Don Greer, senior class president.

The high school girls sextet of Doris Eitenberger, Janene Haynie, Sandra Martin, Sharon Jobe, Alice Joy Nichols and Kay Martin sang "Sugar Time" and "Lollipop" accompanied by George M. Willson. Senior class member Butch Wilson helped the sextet out in its "Lollipop" number.

The class prophecy was read by Lucy Trammell and the class will be by Benny Clary.

The junior class sang "Moments to Remember" to close the program.

The meal was prepared by the lunchroom staff and served by sophomore girls.

ed by the Senate may be successful led the directors to vote to hold up a while on amending their loan application.

The Community Facilities Act, referred to as the Fulbright Bill at Thursday night's meeting, will now go to the House of Representatives. Speakers at the meeting here were of the opinion that the House will pass the bill, but that President Eisenhower will veto it.

The Community Facilities Act would establish a $1 billion revolving fund for loans to states, counties and cities, school districts and other political subdivisions. The money would be made available for 50-year loans at 3½ per cent interest for construction of water works systems and other public projects.

Reese McNeill of Spur pointed out at the meeting here that if the Fulbright bill should pass "we'd be stuck on the $1,500,000 on which the private bonding companies represented here tonight want to charge us a higher rate of interest."

"Let's make hay slowly and let time work for us," McNeill said. The interest rate proposed by the bonding companies figures out at 4.33787 per cent. It would begin at the bonding company's rate of 4½ per cent, advance to 4¾ per cent after 10 years, drop to 4¼ per cent in 1963 with the government loan entering the picture, and then go to the 4.33787 per cent rate in 1993 when the state loan enters the picture.

The consensus of the board was that this average rate of interest is too high to assure support of the measure by voters of the four towns.

Others also spoke in favor of the board biding its time on amending its loan application. These speakers included the board's attorney, Lloyd A. Wicks Sr. of Ralls, Director Lynn Buzbee of Spur, Director Marvin McLaughlin of Ralls and Director R. J. (Rube) Jennings.

Before making a decision to wait a while before amending the application, the board had heard Eugene Vinyard, one of the bonding company representatives read a proposed contract between the companies and the board. Those present were also furnished copies of the contract.

The directors heard Joe Carter, secretary of the Texas Water Board, tell of its operations. He said the state program was designed for such things as lower interest rates on water projects, but that the state board was not supposed to get into the lending business if projects can be financed through commercial channels at reasonable rates.

Carter said the top limit on any project considered by the board is $5,000,000, and that the board's loan cannot exceed one-third of the total cost.

He commended the White River board for having its project in such good shape. "You've apparently done everything that needs to be done before applying to us for a loan," he said.

"We're very much interested in helping the water situation of the state," Carter concluded.

Also present and speaking briefly was Jim Nichols of the engineering firm of Freese & Nichols, which has been helping shape the White River project since its inception. Nichols told the board that no commitments have yet been received from oil companies that they will purchase water from the White River supply if and when it becomes a reality.

Also present at Thursday night's meeting was Marvin Shurbert of Petersburg, a member of the State Water Board.

Floydada, district champions, scored 13 points against regional competition. Lockney was only one behind, with 12, Abernathy scored five points and Tahoka two points.

Right now the Moving Hand is writing in the Book of Time what kind of hunting we'll have next Fall.

Farmers and ranchers hold the key to successful wildlife harvests. If you doubt this, just remember that almost 90 per cent of the hunting area in Texas is private domain. Actually, some of this is under state ownership, but grazing rights are leased. So, after all, the farmer or the rancher is the one in charge.

Our wildlife must have its habitat, just like we must have our homes. If that habitat is not available, then wildlife suffers, whether the weather is good or bad.

Naturally the weather plays a very important part in every year's wildlife crop. No more so, however, than the area that is the natural home of our birds and animals.

Added Income for Farmers — Although land owners and sportsmen have made great strides in providing proper ecology, there is a consistent uphill battle to keep the work going.

Recently biologists of the Game and Fish Commission reported on 1957 activities in planting multiflora roses for quail cover. They had passed out to landowners almost 50,000 of these little bushes, bought with the money which you paid for the privilege of hunting.

Land owners accepted the plants and put them in the ground. Then, far too many landowners lost interest and a goodly number of the plants died.

This is just one example of what happens when someone doesn't care. . . or doesn't realize the income possibilities that might result from just a little attention.

However, some landowners have discovered that hunting privileges constitute a cash crop. This is particularly true in the Hill Country of Texas, home of most of our white tail deer. Unfortunately, however, some of the agricultural areas have not responded so well.

One of the most successful quail areas in Texas is a quail management project adjacent to Crooks Lake in Lamar County. Here Warden Reb Burks has brought about the planting of many multiflora roses to supplement natural cover around the lake. Food producing plants like dove weed and lespedeza add to the inducement for quail to multiply.

A Good Club Project

This is one of the most important projects that local sportsmen's clubs can adopt. If club members will work closely with land owners, mutual understanding can be had. Landowners will soon come to realize that cotton and corn aren't the only crops he can produce.

Of course you don't have to belong to a club to talk this over with your farmer friend. Sell him on the idea of improving his range land, and providing more cover.

Almost any conservation practice that is good for wildlife is good for the land. The reverse also is true.

Shooting the 22 Rifle

First powder burning gun to be owned by most boys is a 22 rifle.

A few weeks ago I was on Lake Travis, near Austin. I heard the constant popping of a 22 rifle. I ran my boat into a cove, and sure enough there was a father teaching his son how to shoot his Christmas 22.

A half-dozen cans had been placed far back against a soft bank so the bullets wouldn't ricochet. The boy was joyfully pumping lead bullets into the can, from a very neat little Noble 22 rifle.

My wife and I sat in the boat and watched them as long as we could stand it. Then we joined the dad-boy team in a discussion of the new gun.

It was a little slide action gun, made by the Noble Mfg. Co., of Haydenville, Mass. The boy handed it over and we both shot it several times. Although it had been years since I had shot a 22, it came back to me quickly. Soon I was gleefully knocking those cans around. Finally my wife suggested that we move on before we burned up all the boy's ammunition.

We commented on what a wonderful thing this father was doing for his boy. That young fellow will grow up to be a good shot and a true hunter. Besides that, his dad was teaching him how to be careful. And that's mighty important.

Care Is Necessary

caution. They should be synonymous. Although the 22 is a small gun it is a pretty powerful little rifle. It should be handled with the utmost care. Certainly it should not be shot over an open lake, or where the bullets might hit rocks and bounce off.

Another very bad practice, and which many of us are guilty of doing, with 22 rifles or pistols, is shooting at glass bottles. Broken glass is a real hazard, whether it be on the beach, the bottom of the lake or at the roadside.

Best place to shoot a 22 for plinking is in a creek bottom where you have the permission of the land owner. Also be sure there are no cows around. Farmers are funny that way. They just don't want their best milk cow perforated with bullet holes.

Handy Gadget for Boats — Even a short cruise on the water whips up a mighty thirst. Exhilarating air does it, I guess. Anyway, that's why most boaters shove off well prepared with refreshments.

Where to park that opened bottle of soft drink, or that partially full can of beer, or that glass of iced or hot coffee, hot chocolate, or what have you—poses a problem once the boat is in motion.

Aladdin Laboratories of Minneapolis have solved that one, and cleverly too. They call it the Bar-Bouy. It's a free-swinging metal basket that holds the drink (bottle, can or glass). The basket suspends from a bracket attached to the inside of the boat. Gravity keeps the basket upright. Two mounting clips are provided so that the usefulness of the detachable Bar-Bouy is not limited to one part of the boat only.

The senior class met and voted to ask the junior class to sing "His Hands", and "I Believe" at the Baccalaureate service. They also decided to attend church together the Sunday of baccalaureate.

The senior class voted to have the baccalaureate service and graduation in the high school auditorium. They asked Mrs. Ray Smith to play the piano for graduation, and Rev. Hoyle to bring the message for baccalaureate.

The choir went to high schools at New Home, Wilson, and O'Donnell recently. The junior high girls' sextet and boys' quartet and the high school girls' sextet and boys' quartet sang several special numbers. The choir sang "Praises to Thee", "You'll Never Walk Alone", "Sit Down, Servant", "Oklahoma", "Sing Praises", "Rolling Down to Jordan", and several other songs.

Keep More of Your Marbles In the Home Game

After all ... here's where you get to take your turn at shooting

Our big-city neighbors offer invitations to us every day to put our marbles in their bigger and fancier rings . . . so they can take out more for themselves.

But the game that OUR winnings have to come out of . . . is the HOME game. And . . . the more of our marbles we put into THIS game, the more WE get a chance to take out.

Maybe you've noticed the city folks bragging about how much trade volume they take away from the small towns like ours in their "trade area" . . . getting our marbles into their pockets for keeps.

Trading at home . . . and making it more attractive for our neighbors to trade here . . . is the direct and positive route to better jobs, better property values . . . better schools, better living . . . a better community for US to live in.

It Pays to Buy
where you Live

Post Hale-Aikin Group Completes Its Study of Local School Needs

Hale-Aikin committee to school needs wound up early last Friday morning in a five-hour session on state aid, and teacher salaries.

The major recommendation of the committee was in the teacher incentives.

The committee after considerable deliberation decided that "salaries important than some other in teacher recruitment" the state's teacher salary schedule need only include a salary.

Sound Bases

Committee members agreed that "experience" degree held" are not upon which the state should be built.

Establishment of a tie between teachers' performance and their salaries has been a problem in the teaching profession for many years, the committee went on to say.

The committee in direct relation to the salary to teach. Committee members suggested the state consider the needs of teachers by adjusting the salary schedule and perhaps the reclassification of teachers in determining teaching incentive.

In words, the committee found the incentive need in the teaching profession. Under the present salary schedule where salary is geared to number of years of teaching and degrees held, the salary does not have a real incentive to produce.

The committee pointed out that the very capable teachers in the profession each year are not challenged and their incentive goals in the financial facts about the school district included in the report.

Per Pupil Cost

The tax rate for maintenance is $1.1563 and $3036 for the district are not the maximum that could be levied for school purposes.

$5,100 in additional revenue for maintenance and $1,350 for bonds could be raised by raising the levy to the legal limit.

A total of 97.3 per cent of the district's school taxes are being collected. The total amount of delinquent school taxes for this district are only $20,888.05.

The bonded indebtedness for the district is a very low 3.32 per cent of the district total property valuations.

Property is assessed at approximately 33 per cent of true value throughout the district.

Per Pupil Cost

The per pupil cost of the Post Independent School district schools is $302 a year.

In the last five years the school district has gained 348 pupils in scholastic population and 240 in average daily attendance (ADA is figure used as state aid base).

An increase of 395 pupils is predicted for the next five years.

In the last five years $293,000 has been spent on new construction in the district ($275,000 for new junior high and $18,000 for moving in and remodeling colored school).

Per pupil cost of construction of the junior high was $650 and of the colored school was $580.

The Texas Education Agency, which offers its services to school district to help with building plans, is going to be called in soon by the school trustees to advise on high school needs.

The committee after considering the expansion needs for the next five years concluded the schools could raise sufficient district funds for operation by boosting valuations about 10 per cent.

New Highway Map For Texas Travel Is Now Available

AUSTIN — It's here! It's new! It's free! The Texas Highway Department today released the big new 1958 Official Highway Travel Map. Maps may be obtained by writing the Texas Highway Department, Austin 14, Texas, or at the Highway District Offices and Travel Information Bureaus. County tax offices have map cards available for requesting copies of the map.

The Official Highway Travel Map is used by all state and governmental agencies in Texas for determining highway distances, mileages, zones, and like information. The same map is used by Texas tourists seeking roads to recreational and historical attractions throughout the state. The reverse side of the map reflects in full color some of the outstanding scenic and recreational facilities in Texas.

Texas' new 1958 travel map is the answer to today's demand for more and more travel information. The steady growth of Texas from a state with a population of slightly over seven million just ten years ago to its present estimated population of more than nine million is reflected by the information shown.

The number of cities and towns indicated on the 1948 map was 567. Today, there are 1,812—an increase of 1,245. State and U. S. highways have been increased by 3,026 miles, and farm-to-market roads from 620 miles to 17,126 miles—a 16,506-mile increase. The map reflects a total of 43,292 miles of highways.

Roadside parks, long cherished by Texas highway users, were not shown on the 1948 map. Today, 1,026 roadside parks are pinpointed as pleasant stopping places. Divided highways also show a startling jump in the ten-year period. In 1948 there were 110 miles of divided roads shown. Now there are 1,007 miles marked on the map with the black bands and red center indicating divided highway miles.

Wild Game Of Texas Subject Of New Extension Bulletin

COLLEGE STATION — Almost three-fourths of Texas' 170 million acres of land are forests and grasslands. The soil, vegetation and climatic conditions vary in different regions, providing suitable habitat for a variety of native wildlife species.

Deer, pronghorn antelope, elk, bighorn sheep, bear, peccary or javelina and tree squirrels are considered game animals in Texas. White-tailed deer and tree squirrels, more plentiful than any other game, are distributed more widely and are the most important ones.

The deer population of Texas is approximately 750,000. The principal kinds are the white-tailed and the black-tailed, or mule deer. The white-tailed, with its varieties, including the flagtail, is distributed most widely and is the greatest in number.

The pronghorn antelope is one of the most picturesque and swiftest of big game. It is a deer-like animal, suggesting a cross between a deer and a goat.

Bighorn sheep and black bear are few in number in Texas, and only a few elk are to be found. Most of them are in the Guadalupe Mountains of Culberson County. The native elk vanished before 1900, but in 1928, 44 elk were imported and have increased to a population of 300 to 500.

Principal game birds of Texas include ducks, woodcock, brant, geese, snipe, plover, many species of shore birds, wild pigeons, chachalacas, prairie chickens, wild turkey, quail and doves.

Detailed information on these birds and others and on the principal game animals including some of their habits, characteristics and where they are most plentiful may be obtained by ordering B-150, "Wild Game of Texas" from local county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

State Capital NEWS

AUSTIN — Unemployment or no unemployment, most people this side of the Rio Grande aren't willing to bend their backs to pull onions at 50 cents an hour.

So say Texas farmers. Their crops are going to rot in the fields, they add, if the U. S. Labor Department doesn't relax restrictions on importing Mexican nationals.

Spokesmen for organized labor have demanded a ban on importing labor because of climbing unemployment. But farmers say that idle aircraft mechanics, no matter how numerous, are no help in getting the crops in. According to the farmers, abundant rainfall gives the promise of the best harvests in years—if they can get field hands.

Labor Dept. has put a limit of 26,500 braceros to be used in Texas during April and May. It's about one-fifth the number used this time last year. Rio Grande Valley growers say they could use the whole bunch in their area.

Under Labor Dept. regulations, workers cannot be imported until the TEC certifies the jobs cannot be filled with American citizens. Valley growers recently asked for braceros to harvest vegetables. TEC certified to a shortage of workers in the area and, even after a state wide canvass, was unable to fill the demand.

But the federal suggested recruiting in other states before bringing in Mexicans. Farm groups protested to every regulatory official in reach. Texas crop and weather conditions are such, they say, that when they need laborers, they need them then and there. Neither, they point out, do they have time or money to run all over the country looking for workers.

Though federal officials catch the brunt of their criticism, farmers put part of the blame for their labor problems on the increasingly fastidious nature of Mrs. Housewife. She won't have dirty old carrot tops any more, say the farmers. She wants clean, topped carrots — packaged in plastic. It means more work.

All-Out For Safety Gov. Price Daniel has started "the greatest highway safety campaign in the history of the state." County judges, mayors, police chiefs, sheriffs, prosecuting attorneys and school superintendents are being asked to hold meetings and organize local campaigns. Awards will be given to the local officials and news reporting agencies which do the best job of promoting traffic safety.

Anti-Ad Ban Upheld A new law prohibiting price advertising of eye-glasses is constitutional, says the Texas Supreme Court. Passed by the last legislature, the law says "ophthalmic dispensers" (which the court says means optometrists, too) may not mention "bait, discounts, premiums, prices, gifts" in their ads.

The Movie Marquee

"Summer Love," "The Tarnished Angels" and "Escapade in Japan"—in that order—comprise the fare for moviegoers here during the next seven days.

Tower Theatre manager Johnny Hopkins highly recommends "Summer Love," which shows Friday and Saturday. "It is a happy picture that should please everyone's taste, whether young or old," says Johnny.

"Summer Love" is a musical loaded with popular songs, pretty girls, colorful scenery and a pleasant story of teen-age romance; the type of romance that everyone experiences in their high school days and cherishes as a memory in later years. The picture stars John Saxon, Judy Meredith, John Wilder, Jill St. John, George Winston and song-star Molly Bee, whom you've no doubt seen and heard on the Tennessee Ernie Ford program.

"The Tarnished Angels", which shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday is based on William Faulkner's novel, "Pylon." It was on Hollywood's "too-hot-to-handle" list for three decades, but has finally reached the screen and with only minor deletions of its basic realism which, in times past, precluded movie production.

Rock Hudson, Robert Stack and Dorothy Malone, the brilliant three of "Written on the Wind", are starred with Jack Carson in "The Tarnished Angels."

"Escapade in Japan" is a thriller, scheduled for next Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Plentiful Foods List For May Is Scanty

COLLEGE STATION — The smallest plentiful foods list in a decade has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for May. Only two general food categories are in heavy enough supply to make the May list—dairy products and spring vegetables.

The announcement points out that there is a special reason for featuring milk and other dairy foods during May. Current production is running ahead of last year's record levels and output is expected to increase around one billion pounds. Too, prices are at seasonal lows and favorable to heavy consumption.
