

Planning and zoning commission to prepare Post 'master plan'

Post woman admits thefts, others "passed it" at Big Spring liquor store

Trio held after $311 check stolen from local postoffice

Three women are being held for investigation of forgery at Big Spring after one of them, Helen Doris Milo, Post Negro, admitted to a signed statement to stealing a $311 check from the postoffice of Mrs. Willard Kirkpatrick.

Some $197 of the money received in passing the check at a Big Spring liquor store Tuesday is still missing.

Helen Doris Milo in a signed statement given Sheriff Carl Rains here yesterday morning said she had taken the check from Mrs. Kirkpatrick's box at the local postoffice June 12.

They purchased some $59 worth of whiskey, about $50 in clothes, and had $31 on them when arrested a short time later in Big Spring.

A planning and zoning commission authorized to draw up and recommend for adoption a master plan for the future development of the city of Post was created by a unanimous vote of the city council Monday night.

Mayor Powell Shytle said the three members of the new commission will be announced within a few days.

Action on the planning and zoning commission came by the adoption of an ordinance creating the planning and zoning commission and prescribing its powers and duties.

The zoning commission has been "in the works" for a number of weeks. The city also has discussed with a city planning firm the possibility of making a thorough survey of this community with the objective of working out a master plan for future community growth.

The ordinance creating the planning and zoning commission sets up a three-member commission to be appointed by the mayor subject to confirmation by the city council. Members would serve for one year terms.

The ordinance says the commission "shall have the power and it shall be its duty to make and recommend for adoption a master plan, as a whole or in parts, for the future development and redevelopment of the municipality and its environs and shall prepare a comprehensive plan for zoning the city."

Once such a plan is adopted a five-member board of adjustment would be named by the council to hear any complaints or to consider any future requests for changes in the community's master zoning plan.

The planning and zoning commission has only the power to recommend a master plan for adoption. The council itself will have to adopt it.

Post Independent School district trustees at a special meeting Monday night authorized the Labbock architectural firm of Atcheson, Atkinson & Cartwright to complete preliminary plans for the new high school building.

The announcement of the trustees' action was given The Dispatch by Supt. R. T. Smith. The Dispatch was not notified of the special session.

Smith said Architect Atmar Atkinson met with the trustees and the authorization came on the plans following completion of the trustees' decisions on various phases of construction and design.

Trustees hired Mrs. Florence King, wife of N. R. King, high school teacher, as the sophomore English teacher for the next school year, Smith said.

The board also decided, Smith reported, to replace the steam line, which was not included in the original contract for the remodeling of the high school auditorium. When the remodeling got under way the steam line was found to be too deficient to retain.

Loans also were up this year from $2,185,000 last year in June to $2,962,996.56.

Irby G. Metcalf, Jr., bank president, said the very favorable trend as revealed in deposits is due to the cotton crop made last year, the improving oil situation, the continued expansion of the Post Mills, and the general growth of the town.

The bank's statement as of June 10 showed total assets of $7,356,973.55.

Tate told The Dispatch that the city had purchased some 1,400 pounds of the dust and "dusted" everywhere inside the expanded city limits Monday night.

This included the "flats" area and the rest of the area newly annexed.

City council clears way for summer paving program

The city council Monday night at a special meeting accepted the paving bid of J. H. (Bud) Chas-cain & Sons of Snyder and unanimously adopted a paving ordinance to clear the way for some 15 to 20 blocks of additional city paving this summer.

The ordinance and legal notice on the paving appears on page 12 of today's Dispatch.

The council received one other bid which was eight cents a front foot lower, but this bid was not accompanied by a bid bond as required.

The curb and guttering and paving costs will run $3.70 per front foot, the council indicated.

Mayor Powell Shytle told the councilmen that he would confer with Dusty Kemper, General Telephone official, within the next week or ten days concerning the company's dial phone rate proposal.

Shytle said he wanted to go over in detail with Kemper exactly what the utility firm would agree to do in rural improvements around Post. The mayor (See CITY COUNCIL on page 8)

Bank deposits at the First National Bank of Post hit a new record high for a June call last week with deposits totaling $6,696,735.99.

This is a gain of $1,287,000 over deposits at the time of the June 23, 1958, call.

Loans also were up this year from $2,185,000 last year in June to $2,962,996.56.

Uranium mining to be resumed here

Garza county's uranium mining operations have been resumed.

A full announcement by the new firm which has taken over the holdings of the Garza Mining Co. developed by C. L. (Brownie) Brownlow has been promised within the next few days.

The firm has abandoned the open pit type of mining operations tried by Brownlow and has converted to the drilling of only high grade uranium deposits.

Several thousand tons of deposits are expected to be worked within the next six months.

It will not lead to a large industry here, but should provide some added payroll for the community.

The ore will be hauled to Grants, N. M., for sale to the government.

The uranium story isn't all we need to write by any means, but all the full details are available in all we have to go with for it. One of the new uranium developers dropped in the office last week and told us that uranium was discovered in Garza county five years too late in the big national scramble, or enough might have been uncovered to have landed some of the big mills now clustered around Grants. The reason, we are told, why the smaller uranium producers are now in some demand is that the government contracts with the big mills at Grants are for a certain percentage production to be confined to other independent producers. The companies have all the uranium they want these days, but they can't run those mills at capacity, according to contract, unless they get a bunch of ore from the "little guys" of the industry. C. L. Brownie Brownlow, who did a wonderful job of development and exploration here, was in business here 15 months ago the "wrong time." Today the independent producer has a chance to make a little money, the way it used to.

One thing is sure. The bloom of the uranium boom and what it means here now isn't expected to be very big. So don't get any ideas.

We often asked these days, "What's the White River dam program?" We know the local people here that some question the dam right now is struggling through all the legal entanglements necessary to get water control from oil companies to buy the water to water flood Garza county. The federal government requires the signed contracts before releasing $1,000,000 in dam construction funds and the other $1,000,000 loan from the state hinges on the dam.

Two more liquor charges filed

Two more liquor charges have been filed here by state and county enforcement officers.

Carl Rains arrested Linwood Simmons about daylight Monday morning southeast of Post Mills on the Snyder highway and charged him with unlawful transportation of whiskey, beer, and wine.

Another arrest was against Wynne on June 10 by state control officers. He was charged with unlawful possession of whiskey for purposes of sale and a fine of $750 was set by Judge J. E. Parker.

Milo planting now well along—

Cotton replanted on 9,000 acres in county

An estimated 9,000 acres of Garza County cotton has been replanted as a result of the damaging weather of two weeks ago.

County Agent Lewis Herron said today that all of the replanting, most of it across the northern portion of the county, has been completed.

Hail, washing caused by heavy rains, and sand burning necessitated the replanting. "It wasn't just hail," Herron said. Garza's cotton prospects, as a result of the big replanting of nearly a fourth of the county's cotton acreage, dropped from excellent to good, because an early freeze could get the replanted cotton.

Herron said cotton prospects could jump back again from good to excellent with a late fall. The county agent also reported (See REPLANTING on page 8)

General American gets 2nd producer in field

General American Oil Co. of Texas has added a second Strawn producer in the recently designated Cain (Strawn) field of south central Garza County with the completion of its No. 1-677 Koonsman.

Southeast offset to the field opener, the new oiler was potentiated on a 24-hour test for 328.93 barrels of 41.2 gravity oil plus seven per cent water flowing through a 24-64 inch choke.

Production is from perforations at 7,859-871 feet after treatment with 500 gallons of acid. The new oiler spots at 330 feet from north and west lines of Section 677, Block 97, H&TC survey, nine miles southwest of Justiceburg on a 640 acre lease.

The Cain field opener also produces from the Ellenberger, but no attempt was made to complete the No. 1-677 from this zone.

Other good Garza oil news comes from Southern Minerals Corporation's wildcat, the No. 1 J. B. Slaughter which is coring deeper in the Strawn after oil was recovered on a drillstem test of that horizon from 7,665 to 7,681 feet. (See Second Producer on page 8)

Permits Issued For 2 more homes, 3 room additions

Building permits totaling $28,200 and including two new homes were issued here this week to bring the 1959 total to $463,767.

A permit was issued to Postex Cotton Mills to move in a new ready-built house with asbestos siding, frame construction, composition roof, central heating and two baths.

Estimated cost of the 1,900 square foot residence was $14,500. It will be located in Mill Village. The second new home permit went to A. D. Rippetoe, who will build a 1,285 square foot house of frame construction, composition roof, asbestos siding and concrete foundation at 109 South Avenue R. Estimated cost is $11,600.

Three other permits also were issued for additions to present dwellings.

Julio Valdez will add a 12 by 24 foot room to his residence in the Clarence Hart addition at an estimated cost of $1,000. Alberto Pantoja will build a 20 by 10 foot room addition to his home at 611 North Avenue F at an estimated cost of $300.

J. C. Taylor is building an 8 by 16 foot addition to his present residence at 307 South Broadway at an estimated cost of $800. It will be of frame and stucco construction with concrete foundation and composition roof.

Need is growing for paved alleys

Post has grown, and is growing, to the extent that the paving of downtown alleys is a "must" if the business district is to keep pace with development in other parts of town.

The paving of alleys has been kicked around, so to speak, for a number of years, but only in the last few weeks has there been enough of a noise made about it to indicate that something finally may develop.

The city council a few weeks ago enlisted the aid of the Chamber of Commerce in putting out "feelers" to see if downtown business men would be willing to pay for the alley paving, on which the cost would be kept to a bare minimum on account of no curbing and gutters being necessary. Response, thus far, to these "feelers" hasn't been satisfactory—not because there are some who think alley paving would be a needless expense, but because there has been such a little amount of interest shown.

Mayor Powell Shytle and the city councilmen first began thinking seriously about the alley paving when they made up their minds several weeks ago to step up the garbage collection program and put it on a monthly charge basis. They point out that garbage collection in downtown Post could be done more satisfactorily and much more efficiently if the alleys were paved.

The paving would be one of the best things that could happen toward making Post a cleaner and more attractive place in which to live and do business.

Another advantage, the city council point out, is that paved alleys would go a long way toward solving our downtown parking problem. It often has been suggested that business men and downtown employes park their automobiles at the rear of their places of business, but the condition some of the unpaved alleys are in now—and they're worse, of course, during inclement weather—discourages alley parking in most instances. But few of these people who bring their cars downtown every morning would object to parking them on a paved alley.

Our city street paving has been making headway, although here, too, there are too many unpaved blocks scattered around. City street paving, in fact, has quite a ways to go, considering the number of new residential districts, but it's still miles ahead of our downtown alley paving, which has yet to start.—CD.

A philosophy that needs to spread

Chambers of Commerce perform many valuable services for our enterprises and communities. In the area of general policy, they invariably stand for state and local rights, and for a limited and economical central government.

The Brownfield Chamber of Commerce along this line has asked that Chambers of Commerce throughout Texas form groups and meet at regular intervals to discuss the problems of government—local, state and national.

"Keep your state and national representatives and senators informed of your stand on legislative matters," the Brownfield organization asks.

After a recent meeting, the citizens of Brownfield and Terry County adopted the "Terry County Philosophy," which, briefly, is "faith in the time-proven principles of free democracy."

We have, the avowers say, the finest of all types of government, but we are letting complacency threaten its ruin. We must guard against time-servers in that government.

The individual—every individual—must make his voice heard in elections. Our safety rests entirely on the wisdom of the electorate in choosing only the fit.

In conclusion, the philosophy rejects both bureaucratic control and socialism. And, "finally we herewith affirm our rights and privilege under the right-to-work law and all the philosophies in the theory of free enterprise and the integrity of the individual."

Essentially, this has been the philosophy of free America since the beginning. What is important in the Brownfield document is the citizens realization that it is being ignored under the pressure of selfish individuals and self-interested blocs.

If, as the traditional American believes, his philosophy deserves to survive, he has to attend to the survival himself.

Politics is the business of the citizen. Whenever the citizen fails to realize his duty and do it, he will, and deserves to, come under the subjugation of Hitlers, Mussolinis and Krushchevs.

Brownfield is pointing the way. This movement deserves and needs to spread. The citizens of Post and Garza County would do well to think on Terry County's philosophy.—CD.

Don't be too busy to help

Post has been growing rapidly for the last few years, but now is beginning to build at the same fast tempo in an effort to keep pace with this growth.

New construction will hit well over the million dollar mark in 1959 if the new high school gets started before the year is out. This will include dozens of new homes at all prices and sizes, business construction, school expansions, and church additions.

It's too easy for those of us living here to overlook the importance of this burst of construction. But it is not being overlooked anywhere else. The word is out that Post is a town "on the move" and a lot of people are beginning to get interested in helping with this growth.

For example two ready-mix firms moved into town at the same time, unbeknown to each other, and then discovered that a third had also been planning to locate here as well.

This community has felt the housing pinch for years. There aren't enough rentals and the dozens of new homes which have been built in the last three years haven't loosened this pinch a bit. Too many folks have been moving in.

A growing town always has its "growing pains" because growth costs money. A good example will be the extension of utility services, such as water and sewer, into the recently annexed areas of the city. It simply can't be done overnight.

While the schools are well along on a major expansion program, the city is also on the move with a new garbage collection plan, a new fire truck to offer improved fire protection, plans to move out with water and sewer into the newly annexed areas as fast as possible, and is considering hiring a planning firm to come up with a scientifically developed city plan. Also in the works is a public housing project which may produce up to 100 dwelling units for lower income families.

The city-county park development is now well under way to provide a much expanded park program for both community and county.

Before too long you may be hearing talk of the need for a courthouse addition, a hospital expansion, and impetus for a new city hall.

Looming just ahead is the conversion from dream to reality of the White River dam. That is sure to bring new growth and new problems. Post is well into its community expansion plans on many fronts. We can't do it all at once, but adding up what's underway right now comes to something mighty impressive.

During this period the community is in greater need of real leadership and cooperation than ever before. There is a job to do for every community-minded citizen who is available and qualified.

When you're called upon, don't be "too busy" to help your hometown.—JC.

How subsidy hike will hurt

A real threat to the American textile industry—and thus to Post's own Postex Mills—is the government plan to boost its subsidy of cotton from six to eight cents per pound in order to sell it to foreign mills.

This will further reduce the price which the foreign textile manufacturer pays for American-grown cotton, which today is considerably under the price the American textile mills pay for the same cotton.

J. Craig Smith, former president of the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute, points out that such a policy, if continued indefinitely, can result in the exodus of the American textile industry to overseas bases.

"If it were a known fact that our industry would continue at this disadvantage in respect to our raw material over a long period of years, the industry right now would be leaving this country like rats off a sinking ship," he declared.

Smith said the American textile industry expects something to be done to correct the injustice.

The government plans to increase the export subsidy on American cotton from six to eight cents per pound August 1, 1959. This means that the American cloth manufacturer will pay the government support price on cotton grown in the United States while the foreign mill owner can buy it eight cents per pound cheaper. Domestic mills cannot buy cotton grown outside this country because of an import quota which allows only a small quantity of foreign-grown cotton to enter this country each year.

According to government estimates, American mills are expected to consume around 8.5 million bales of cotton this year.

With the cost of the cotton 50 per cent of the selling price of a textile firm's cloth products, thus the eight-cent subsidy is equal to 25 per cent of the cotton cost.

Thus it doesn't take a mathematical expert to figure that the foreigner can have a 12½ per cent lower selling price on his goods than the domestic mill.

With foreign cotton manufacturers paying much lower wage rates, the government's policy can "wreck" the American textile industry unless the government definitely limits how much of this American-grown, foreign-manufactured cotton can come back into the United States in the form of yarn, cloth and garments.

In the long run, this government policy will defeat the purpose of the cotton subsidy which is to reduce the surplus of raw cotton in the United States. Obviously no reduction in raw cotton surplus will take place if the subsidized cotton exports are permitted to displace bales of cotton which would otherwise be used in American mills.

America's textile industry merits some protection if it is to be forced to competing with foreign textiles made from American cotton sold abroad at prices substantially under what American mills must pay for the same cotton.

While the West Texas cotton farmer will be pleased to see the cotton subsidies hiked, he and the rest of us should want American textile mills protected.—JC.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

DAVID NELSON of Lubbock, the South Plains entrant in the National Spelling Bee, shouldn't feel badly about missing the word "geography." We consider ourselves a pretty good speller and we'd never even heard of the word until reading in Thursday's Lubbock paper that David had missed it.

At that, David and all the other National Spelling Bee contestants are head and shoulders above the average youngster when it comes to spelling. One of our newspaper friends was telling us awhile back that he ran an ad in his paper looking for a boy who wanted to learn the printing trade and who was a pretty good speller. He said the first answer he received was from a 14-year-old boy who wrote as follows: "I c in yore paper where you want sumbody to learn the printing trade, I would have to be payed $1.40 a hour."

OUR FRIEND UP the street says money may talk, but today's dollar doesn't have cents enough to say very much.

Something is threatening to happen in Cuba that we hope never happens here. Cuba's revolutionary regime is considering a $1 tax on each name, each adjective and each picture appearing on the society pages of newspapers. In addition, society page pictures would be taxed $10 a square inch, and each mention of a title of nobility would cost $100.

IT'S ALMOST too far-fetched even to be dwelled upon, but just suppose such taxes existed in this country. They'd either wipe out the society pages altogether or bankrupt most of the newspapers. One thing we wouldn't have to worry about, thank goodness, would be the $100 fine proposed for each mention of a title of nobility.

The young man and the young lady walking in opposite directions bumped into each other as they turned a corner. Backing up they both apologized and started again. Both dodged the same way and d bumped again. Backing up for the second time, the young man tipped his hat and remarked, "Just once more, honey, then I've really got to go."

THEY'RE TELLING the story (in other states) that two business men from Alaska came to Texas on a business deal. As the conference progressed, it was obvious that it wasn't coming off in a manner satisfactory to the Alaskans. Finally, in exasperation, one Alaskan said to the Texan, "If you can't be decent about the deal, we'll split Alaska in two and make Texas the third largest state."

Well, Texas may have been eclipsed in size by Alaska and we don't have the coconut palms and hula dancers of Hawaii—but we can still boast of a number of notable "firsts" in farm production, according to a news release from the office of John C. White, commissioner of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

DESPITE DROUGHTS, boll weevils, pink bollworms and a host of other insects—and not even to mention governmental order plagues—the Lone Star State is unchallenged as the leading producer of cotton, raising nearly 38 per cent of the nation's supply, in grain sorghums with a whopping 44 per cent of all grown in the country; in mohair production, clipping 95 per cent of the nation's goats, to mention a few.

Neither do Texas farmers hang back in vegetables for the fresh market. In 1958, Texas led the nation in production of beets, winter cabbage, winter carrots, early fall carrots, winter cauliflower, spring honey dew melons, early spring onions, summer onions, spinach and watermelons.

IF THAT ISN'T enough, we also rank first in producing in cattle, rice, sorghum forage, hay and wool. And, just for good measure, we've also got more sheep, lambs, horses and mules than any of the other 49 states.

These are just a few of the things that make Texas what it always has been and always will be—the undisputed champ among states. So if anyone ever asks you what we're going to do about Alaska, the answer is "Nothing—it won't be necessary."

Plans under way in cattle states for ultimate elimination of brucellosis

Ultimate eradication of the dread livestock brucellosis disease is possible if new plans — already in limited trials — will be successful when available to Texas and other cattle states this summer.

The new anti-brucellosis tactic being initiated by Federal-state cooperation involves tagging range cattle as they go to market and sampling blood as a routine during slaughter, thereby maintaining area status information on the disease of eventual elimination.

As planned, the animals to be shipped to market will be identified by tags showing state, county and herd of origin. This will provide the means for routine retesting as required for brucellosis-free certification. When blood tests reveal reactors among the cattle, it will then be possible to trace and eliminate the infection in herds of origin.

Trials for the past three years in eight states showed that slaughterhouse testing of dry and cull cows effectively discloses the brucellosis status of a range area and that the coding system is the most practical of several satisfactory ones tried.

This is how the recertification plan works:

When blood testing for three years representing at least 15 per cent of the breeding cows in a particular range area shows that more than one per cent of the animals and 5 per cent of the herds have brucellosis, that area can be approved for recertification for three years. Other requirements to be met include vaccination of heifer calves and semi-annual milk-ring testing of all dairy herds.

When slaughterhouse blood tests reveal reactors, federal-state officials will assist owners by helping to free their herds of brucellosis. The method thus provides constant vigilance on the brucellosis status of a range area.

Individual states will work out details of their own procedures, but, in general, tagging is to be done by ranches or other designated persons as cattle move from ranch to market. The thin and pliable but tough plastic tag will be glued over an animal's ribs and must stay put long enough for the animal to reach the most distant market.

Blood collection procedures will be worked out cooperatively by local, state and federal officials with individual plant managements to meet each slaughterhouse situation, but the procedure should be quite simple.

Cooperation of range cattlemen will be a major factor in the success of this plan, but from an industry which has so long been anxious to stamp out costly and troublesome brucellosis, this cooperation is virtually assured.

New law extends number who can succeed governor

Wherever you live in Texas, after Aug. 12, a potential successor to the office of Governor will be living near you.

A new law, passed by the 56th Legislature and signed by Gov. Price Daniel, becomes effective on that date. It extends by 13 the number of persons who can legally succeed the governor without a special election. Most of the 13 live outside Austin.

The purpose is to assure the state a chief executive in case of calamitous occurrence, such as a atomic attack.

Previously the only legally designated successors to the governor were the lieutenant governor and president pro tempore of the Senate. Added to those now are the speaker of the House, the Attorney General, and the chief justices of the 11 courts of civil appeals in their numerical order.

"Enactment of this law is a significant milestone in Texas' survival preparedness program," said James H. Garner, acting state coordinator of civil defense and disaster relief. "Continuity of government at all levels is basic to civil defense, and the short line of succession to the governorship here has been a matter of serious concern."

The civil appeals judges represent an extra safety margin since they are scattered geographically over the state. Their courts are located at Galveston, Fort Worth, Austin, San Antonio, Dallas, Texas, Amarillo, El Paso, Waco, and Eastland.

Separate price support rates for split grades

Light spotted cotton to be worth more to area farmers

Light spotted cotton on the Texas High Plains is going to be worth several million dollars more to farmers this year.

Separate price support rates for split grades are a feature of the 1959 cotton law and represents attainment of one of the major goals of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Just recognition for light spots was one of the first goals adopted by officers and staff members of the PCG more than three years ago. "It took nearly three years of hard work negotiating with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, other producer organizations, and leaders throughout the cotton industry as well as with Congressmen and Senators before the PCG saw light spotted cotton recognized for its true value," W. O. Fortenberry, president, said.

price protection on light spots other than the full spotted loan.

"The loan difference between spotted and white cotton has been widening rapidly the past several years. In 1956 the difference between a bale of Middling inch white cotton and a Middling inch spotted or light spotted bale was 440 points or $22 per bale. In 1957 this difference had widened to 575 points or $28.75 per bale, and in 1958 had widened still further to 725 points or $36.25 per bale," according to George W. Pfeiffenberger, executive vice president of the PCG.

"SINCE ALL spinning records and experience show that light spotted cotton is practically equal to white cotton in value and the physical difference in classing is often quite small, this difference of $36.25 per bale has become ridiculous," Pfeiffenberger stressed.

RECORDS SHOW that the Texas High Plains crop sometimes averages as much as 50 per cent light spot during the crop year. Previously the Commodity Credit Corporation did not recognize light spots as a separate grade. A producer putting light spotted cotton into the government loan received only the value for full or heavy spotted cotton. The cotton trade has at times given substantial premiums for light spots over the full spot, which accounted for the fact that light spotted cotton was nearly always the first cotton from the Plains to move into trade channels. However, the producer had no real Recognition of light spots in the government loan this year guarantees the farmer a loan on light spotted cotton 355 points above the spotted loan price. This would be the same as a premium of 355 points for his light spotted cotton this year, whereas last year he had no guarantee in the loan and his actual sales depended on what the market was at the time the cotton was sold.

An indication of how much actual money this might mean to the High Plains area can be obtained by considering the amount of light spots in production during previous years. For example in 1956 light spotted cotton accounted for 47 per cent of the High Plains crop, in 1957 light spots accounted for 50 per cent of the crop. Last year, 1958, there were about 500,000 bales or 25 percent of the crop that was light spotted.

MIDDLING 31 - 32 inch cotton last year was worth 26.81 cents a pound in the loan if it was light spot or spotted, whereas Middling 31 - 32 inch white cotton brought 34.06 in the loan.

This year Middling 31 - 32 inch light spotted cotton is worth 29.48 cents a pound to the "A" farmer, a difference of 2.67 cents per pound above 1958. This is about $13.35 a bale and multiplied times 500,000 bales — the amount of light spotted cotton produced last year — equals approximately $6,675,000.

Cotton mills have found that light spotted cotton is practically identical with white cotton for most purposes and since it will still be considerable cheaper than white cotton, it has every opportunity

Bible Thoughts
"The Suffering of the Cross"
by RONNIE PARKER

Nearly two thousand years have come and gone since the son of man died without the gates of the city of Jerusalem, but humanity has never forgotten that scene. We can still see the terrible scene as the mob cried for his blood: "Crucify him... Crucify him." We can see the procession move out of Pilate's courtyard and down the narrow cobble streets of Jerusalem. We see the holy one fainting and falling under the weight of the cross, and finally they come to Calvary.

The sacrifice is now ready to be offered. Christ is laid upon the implement of torture. His arms are stretched along the crossbeams and at the center of the open palms the nail is driven. Then another nail is driven through the quivering flesh of his feet.

And withal not a groan or cry. Is it possible at this moment of inconceivable agony that his voice was lifted, not in a scream of pain, but in a prayer of Divine compassion for his murderers—yes and for all who in their sinful lives crucify him afresh forever—"Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do?"

Corner on Cotton

BY BOB COLLINS

What's cotton's future? . . . from where we sit, cotton has the brightest future one can imagine . . . there have been great increases in yield recently . . . it doesn't take nearly as many man-hours to grow a bale as it did just 10 years ago . . . but best of all, there have been significant breakthroughs in the new types of clothing . . . wash and wear, for instance . . . all of this, coupled with the increasing population of the world and the rising living standards indicate markets for cotton greater than anybody dreamed of a few years ago . . . of course, things are not all rosy . . . synthetic fibers and fiber substitutes are competing with cotton pricewise, but apparently nothing can really compete with cotton for comfort and utility . . . yes, cotton has a bright future if it isn't strangled by restrictions . . . and this nearly happened last year with the severe acreage reductions that would have gone into effect except for last hour legislation . . . we can assure cotton's future by recognizing supply and demand as a law that cannot be repealed nor can it be circumvented for long, even by Uncle Sam.

How Big??

Got any idea how many people make their living from U. S. Cotton? . . . about 12 million folks receive their principal source of income from the fiber . . . and there are well over three-quarters of a million cotton farms in the U. S. . . . and more than 6,000 gins.

Where Does It Go??

No doubt about it, American men and boys are cotton's best customers . . . trousers and shirts account for 1.3 million bales every year . . . sheets use about half a million.

No Flies Here

A red cotton string is helping meat packers, farmers and dairymen get rid of flies . . . seems that flies are attracted by the color red . . . now researchers take a red cotton string, dip it in a contact poison (parathion) and hang it up . . . the flies land on their favorite color and drop dead.

ABILENE — A choral workshop sponsored by the music department of McMurry College, will be held on the college campus June 22-26. Invitations are currently being sent to several hundred choral directors and high school and college choral students in the Northwest Texas and New Mexico areas.

Considerate

At the side of the road a woman looked helplessly at a flat tire. A passerby stopped to help her. After the tire was changed, the woman said, "Please let the jack down easy. My husband is sleeping in the back seat."

Wall of a Story

Lady-next-door: "I hear you have a new baby brother."
Little Boy: "Yes, I do."
Lady: "What's his name?"
Little Boy: "We don't know. He hasn't stopped crying long enough to tell us."

No Mathematician

Little Johnny's father found him shaking his pet rabbit and demanding, "Five and five, how much is that?"
"What's the meaning of this?" the father demanded.
"My teacher says that rabbits multiply rapidly, but this dumb bunny can't even add."

A Church Not Supported Weekly Is Weakly Supported

SUMMER PARTY

These three young ladies are enjoying one of the most wonderful pleasures of summer . . . sitting in the cool shade and eating their fill of ice cream. They have little concern for the tremendous problems of the world . . . they are far more interested in the sweet, delicious flavor of vanilla, pineapple or maybe pistachio.

Reflect for a moment how few children in the world know the pleasure of this simple summer relaxation. Our children take this for granted for they are living in a nation that was founded on freedom. They have no fear of the government. They are not educated to believe that the state is supreme and that the individual is nothing. And above all, they are raised in a home that is blessed with love and knows the need for God. Let us never forget the blessings of religious freedom. Go to church tomorrow and take your children.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Drive on 'filthy mail' making big headway

A disclosure that one of the nation's biggest "filthy factories" has closed its doors, together with news of the roundup of some of the country's biggest dirty mail merchants, featured a new exclusive progress report on the anti-obscenity campaign released from Washington today.

The report, in the form of a press summary, was furnished to local Postmaster Harold Voss by Postmaster General Arthur E. Sumnerfield.

Another highlight of the report concerns the jailing of the operator of a filthy-by-mail "club," furnishing the ultimate in obscene services.

"Evidence that the Postmaster General's drive against mail obscenity is catching on continues to mount," the local postmaster commented in releasing the report. "Complaints from all over the nation indicate an increasing awareness by parents of this grave threat to our children, as well as a desire to do something about it."

HERE ARE HIGHLIGHTS on recent progress by the Post Office Department in its anti-obscenity campaign, plus further details on the cases mentioned above.

1. Complaints about obscene mail are expected to be up about 100 per cent this year, soaring beyond 100,000. Most of them involve unwelcome solicitations of youngsters.

2. Postal inspectors are now hot in the trail of dozens of dealers in smut and a number of important cases are pending with U. S. courts. Investigations by postal inspectors into all types of obscene activities now are running at the rate of thousands annually. In addition to stepped-up investigations, the Postmaster General's campaign has produced in recent days notable indictments, convictions and raids, the local postmaster disclosed. They include:

1. IN SEVERAL New York raids multi-million dollar mail order "filthy factories," flooding the nation's homes with solicitations, as well as obscene and pornographic films, pictures and circulars, was smashed following investigations by postal inspectors. One of the nation's largest and oldest-established filthy dealers was indicted and is awaiting trial.

2. In Detroit, a Federal Grand Jury handed down one of the first major indictments under new law which permits prosecution of dirty mail dealers at the point where mail is received, rather than at the point of origin. Three West Coast dealers were indicted. One of the three was indicted on charges involving mailing of indecent advertising to a 15-year old boy and the others were also indicted on charges involving obscenity solicitations.

3. A married couple was sentenced recently in Federal Court at Sacramento, Calif., to 10 years' imprisonment for the mailing of obscene material. This was the first conviction under the recent law. They were originally arrested in California on a warrant issued by the U. S. Attorney at Boise, Idaho.

4. AT LOS ANGELES, one of the nation's "obscenity empires," mailing out thousands of salacious circulars every month, closed down and filed "out-of-business" papers with the Post Office Department.

5. In another Los Angeles case, one of the most bizarre investigations in history led to a six-month jail sentence for 70-year-old Albert J. Amateau. Amateau had long eluded prosecution by a clever system in the operation of a dirty mail club.

Members of his "Certified Buyers Register," after paying an entrance fee and filing an application, complete with "references," were furnished codes as a guideline to the particular kind of filth they desired from among a large selection of extreme obscenity.

IN ADDITION to these crack-downs, the local postmaster noted that the Post Office Department has been receiving continuing active support from the nation's most influential organizations for the anti-obscenity campaign.

At the recent National Convention in Denver of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, resolutions were adopted vigorously supporting the campaign and calling on P-TA groups at local levels all over the country to support anti-smut activities.

Support has come also from such groups as major national organizations of professional and business women, as well as many national Catholic, Jewish and Protestant organizations.

AND HUNDREDS of the nation's newspapers and magazines, as well as many radio and TV stations, also have joined in the all out effort to eradicate smut from the U. S. mails, the postmaster noted.

"These instances of progress in the campaign against obscenity show that we can eradicate this half billion dollar breeding ground for juvenile delinquency," he added.

"However," he added, "this is only the beginning. This battle is not over. We have only begun the fight. We must still have the cooperation of the people of this community. Every citizen should report the receipt of any filthy mail, or advertisements for filthy mail, to me, promptly, and I will take it from there."

About Your HEALTH

Tetanus, often called lockjaw, is still prevalent in the United States. Figures for 1958 show that there were 447 cases of the disease in the country from Jan. 1 to Nov. 1. Twenty-five of these cases occurred in Texas.

The history of tetanus goes way back. This disease was clinically described by Hippocrates and Aretaeus very accurately.

In 1855 Nicolaier produced the disease experimentally in animals. He did this by inoculating them with garden soil.

Four years later, Kitasato isolated the bacilli in pure culture. He went on to produce a tetanus toxin in 1890 and the antitoxin a year later.

For the past five years the incidence of the disease has been holding its own in Texas, fluctuating only little. The disease is caused by the introduction of the tetanus bacilli into the body through a wound.

The bacilli in turn produce a toxin which reacts in much the same manner as a poison on certain bodily functions.

It is characterized by stiffness of the jaw and neck muscles. Before the development of antitoxin, about 80 per cent of all afflicted persons died.

The disease was more prevalent then because of few paved roads and sidewalks, besides the abundance of horses and other animals before the coming of automobiles. Today, soils, street dust, and animal excreta are still the principal reservoirs.

Since 1941 the U. S. Armed Forces have protected their men with tetanus toxoid. During World War II there were only 12 cases of tetanus in the Army and Air Force. Six had not received the toxoid shots and two had received the toxoid, but not an emergency booster. Out of 600,000 battle wounds, only one case developed tetanus.

Meanwhile in the Navy there were two deaths from four cases. Only one had not been fully immunized. Compared to high tetanus rates of other warring nations, low incidence among allied troops proves the benefits of tetanus toxoid.

In contrast to the antitoxin the toxoid does not contain horse serum, a decided advantage for allergic people.

Active protection can be obtained from inoculations of the tetanus toxoid with a booster shot at regular intervals as suggested by your physician. Anyone who is subject to incur an open injury such as construction workers and farmers should protect themselves. And certainly little children running around barefoot need the protection of tetanus toxoid.

Vet's Forum

Q. The firm I work for is transferring me to another city and therefore I must sell my GI house. Will it be possible for me to get my GI loan entitlement back, so I may apply for another loan?

A. Yes. It is possible to have GI loan entitlement restored, in cases where the sale is for compelling reasons. VA, however, must be released of all liability on the present loan.

Q. I have a dental condition resulting from combat wounds, but for which I am not entitled to receive compensation. Is there any deadline in my case for applying for outpatient dental treatment?

A. No. Veterans whose noncompensable dental conditions resulted from combat wounds may apply at any time and receive a number of treatments as are needed.

Q. I am studying for my doctorate degree under the Korean GI Bill. How many hours of classroom work does the VA consider to be full time?

A. For graduate studies, there is not set number of hours. VA accepts the word of your school whether you are on a full-time or part-time basis.

Q. I was recently examined by a doctor in connection with reinstating my GI insurance, but neglected to send the examination report to VA. Will the report be acceptable if it is sent in late?

A. The report should have been sent immediately after the examination. If the delay has been more than five days, you must submit a statement that you are in a good health as when examined. If the delay has been more than 31 days, VA cannot accept your late report. You must take another examination.

Rotarians see films of West Texas hunts

Nolan Von Roeder of Snyder showed Rotarians Tuesday some very interesting films he made during West Texas coyote and bobcat hunts with rabbit whistles used to call in the game.

Von Roeder told Rotarians that foxes can be called, but that they are not nearly as smart as coyotes. He brought along a bobcat he had killed that morning—"just in case I had to prove anything," he explained.

Mr. and Mrs. Hinton Fluitt and J. E. Birdwell, friends of Von Roeder's, were special guests for the luncheon.

City council--

Shytle said that since the firm actually was given a phone boost a few months ago it has an "interim rate" in effect. He commented he would like to write in to any dial phone agreement a period of time during which the phone company would agree not to seek another boost.

Councilmen commented that the rates asked by General Telephone appear to be "reasonable".

In concluding the discussion, Mayor Shytle said, "I think we can get this out of the way before too long."

The phone company promised dial phones by November, 1960, if a prompt agreement is reached.

The council in another action authorized Tate to purchase some new street signs, stop signs, and other markers which are needed.

Harold Lucas was named to replace Lee Bowen on the city's equalization board. Bowen would be out of town when the city board met to hear complaints, Mayor Shytle explained.

The council reappointed Henry Tate as City Superintendent, Mrs. Tommie Woods as secretary, and Mrs. Wynelle Holland as deputy secretary.

It also authorized Mayor Shytle to work out necessary salary adjustments as effective July 1, the council wants Superintendent Tate in the office more and has asked Tate to delegate authority for water department operations to Pete Maddox, street department to Pat Blacklock, and garbage collection to Joe Mayberry.

Tate reported to the council that the city's new garbage truck started on its rounds Monday and that the old truck has been put in the garage for repairs. Tate said it will take several weeks to determine the cost and timing of a complete city trash pickup. Mayor Shytle indicated the proposed garbage ordinance would not be passed until the city knows exactly what it can accomplish in this field and how much it will cost.

The mayor told councilmen that another policy or ordinance the city needs is one on the extension of water and sewer service to subdivisions. He pointed out that Snyder and Abilene require the developer to pay for utility extensions as well as curb and guttering. He said the city superintendent would come up with a proposal soon on this matter.

"We need a cleanup policy and need to stay with it," Shytle said. "The city could break itself in a hurry if we tried to do all that is now wanted. That $12,000 worth of pipe we bought recently could be used overnight if we listened to all the propositions."

City Attorney Carleton P. Webb brought out that 87 per cent of the cities in the League of Texas Municipalities require developers to pay all the costs.

upon obtaining the federal loan. So the proposition is one of waiting to get the complicated business worked out. It will take some time. First any field for water flooding has to be "untitled"—all operators agreeing to the project—before any contract could be signed. There is lots of legal work involved. The White River directors met again tonight at Spur. Let's hope there is some encouraging news to report from the "water flooding front."

City Superintendent Henry Tate is just about as close to being Post's city manager as it is possible to be without Post being a "home rule city." Tate was designed as city superintendent with overall supervision last year and only this week was busy working on plans to delegate some of his authority in the various city departments, at the council's request, so he can be available more of the time at city hall for consultation with the citizens "customers." Henry has plenty of experience in municipal operations and what's more has that vital "get along" ability so necessary in such a position. Speaking of "home rule cities," Post will have the opportunity come 1960 to become a home rule city if the federal census comes up with at least a 5,000 population—minimum requirement in Texas for home rule. The citizens then would have to vote for home rule and approve a charter—but such a system would offer numerous advantages.

DOG POISONER AT WORK

Dear Editor: Yesterday a little black dog died and a little girl's heart was broken all because of some heartless person spreading poison. It could have been anyone's dog or even a child. I think they should be caught and punished to the full extent of the law but people seem to have a way of getting by with this and to go on to do it again. Someday I hope the one that did this has to feel their heart break like this little girl's did. NELL RINKER

State Capital NEWS

AUSTIN — When tax bills finally were passed by both the Texas House and the Senate, it was not dollars, but ideas that delayed agreement.

House bill was designed to raise about $150,000,000 over the next two years; Senate bill, about $160,000,000. Big difference was in where the money would come from. House bill was divided evenly between selective sales taxes and taxes on natural resources and corporation franchises.

Senate, which heard a long string of witnesses on the dangers of shutting prosperity-making industries out of Texas, changed the ratio. In its version, natural gas and corporations pay about 18 per cent of the tab, selective sales taxes, 82 per cent.

Senate voted a 15-15 tie on its bill, with Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey breaking the tie in favor of the bill.

Named to a free conference committee to adjust differences were Sens. R. A. Weinert, Seguin, Dorsey Hardeman, San Angelo; Charles F. Herring, Austin; Jimmy Phillips, Angleton; Bruce Reagan, Corpus Christi, Asst. Reps. V. L. Ramsey, Beckville; W. T. Oliver, Port Neches; Don Kennard, Fort Worth; Alonzo Jamison, Denton; George Cook, Odessa.

Corporations — Senate, raise $10,500,000 by hiking the franchise tax from $2.25 to $2.75 per $1,000 capitalization. House, raise $12,000,000 by a new two-factor tax on interstate corporations.

Natural Gas — Senate, raise $8,000,000 by increasing the production tax from 7 to 8 per cent. House, raise $38,500,000 by lowering production tax to 5 per cent and adding a 5 per cent severance beneficiary tax.

Motor Vehicle Sales — Both houses agreed on increasing sales tax from 1.1 to 1.5 per cent to bring in an additional $7,000,000 to $8,000,000.

Cigarettes — Senate, raise $31,500,000 by boosting tax 3 cents a pack. House, raise $10,500,000 (estimated) by a 1 cent a pack increase.

Utilities — Senate, increase the tax on water, gas and electric utilities by 20 per cent, for an estimated $2,600,000. House, increase all other utilities to the telephone company rate of 2.3 per cent, for an estimated $8,000,000.

Alcoholic Beverages — Senate, increase liquor tax from $1.40 to $1.65 a gallon, to raise $2,000,000. House, increase it to $2.25 a gallon for $7,000,000.

Wine, Senate increased tax by 20 per cent, for $201,000. House doubled it for $1,000,000.

Senate also tripled fees for selling beer and wine, doubled permits for liquor selling, for an estimated $1,500,000. House bill does not include this.

Tobacco Products — Senate, would tax all such products, except snuff, by 12.5 per cent, to raise $5,400,000. House tax is twice this.

Sulphur — Senate voted to retain present rate. House would reduce from $1.40 to $1.03 per ton. There is disagreement as to whether production increase would offset the tax increase in total revenue received.

Theater Admissions — Both Senate and House loped this by about $120,000 a year.

Sound Equipment — Senate added a 2.2 per cent sales tax on radios, televisions, hi-fi and stereo phonographs for an estimated $3,200,000.

Boats — Senate added 1.5 per cent sales tax on boats and motors for an estimated $5,000,000.

PROPERTY BILL NIXED—For the second time this year, the House of Representatives has refused to sweep unclaimed property into the State Treasury.

The vote of 66-68 killed efforts in the Special Session. Vote that closed the bill earlier in the regular session was almost as close.

Gov. Price Daniel had urged the measure as a means of raising an estimated $25,000,000 for the State's ailing general fund. It would have required banks, oil and gas companies, insurance companies and others to turn over to the state any property belonging to persons who have been missing for more than seven years.

Bank lobbyists were blamed by Daniel for defeat of the bill. He said they must accept responsibility for the state's having to raise, through new taxes, the $25,000,000 the bill would have produced.

Bankers have contended the escheat procedure would undermine depositors' confidence in the safety of their deposits.

LICENSE PLAN STUDIED — Economy forces are taking a good look at whether or not the state's licensing practices might be unnecessarily expensive.

Historically the state has issued licenses annually. There's now some thinking that a lot of the licenses could just as easily be issued permanently, subject to cancellation for cause. Fees would still be collected annually, but a lot of time and money possibly could be saved by not having to type out and mail a new document each year.

Such a procedure was authorized by the Legislature in regular session for insurance companies.

Some licenses probably could not be adapted to the permanent policy. Among these would be drivers licenses, hunting and fishing licenses, and auto inspection stick-

SHORT SNORTS — Radar traps must be test-checked for accuracy before a speeding ticket is valid, the Court of Criminal Appeals has held. Gov. and Mrs. Ben Ramsey's new daughter, Mariben, born June 8, officially became "princess of the senate" in record time. By unanimous vote, the honor was bestowed when she was just one day old.

Trio held--

The Post woman, while admitting stealing the check said she had no part in "passing the check."

Sheriff Rains took the Milo and Cleaver women to Snyder and Big Spring police had held the Spears woman there following her arrest, Sheriff Rains said, because they found some marijuana in her purse.

The trio was arrested through a checkup call made to Paul Jones, local Piggly Wiggly manager, by the Piggly Wiggly manager at Snyder when the women tried to pass the check at his store. He told them to return in a little while after he had checked here. He called Jones who called Brown Brothers officials and was told the check was missing.

Jones then notified Sheriff Rains of the call and Rains got out an alert to law enforcement agencies in the West Texas area. The trio was apprehended a few hours later in Big Spring.

Game wardens are always bothered by accident toll

AUSTIN — A game warden's life has its excitement and dangers and he is sometimes a man to be envied. But, according to the Director of Law Enforcement, Game and Fish Commission, many times this man to be envied has his moments of sorrow, moments that no one would want to share.

Each year hundreds of persons, including many innocent children, are victims of one type of accident or another. "Our lakes, streams, rivers, bays, and beaches take their toll of sportsmen, swimmers, and boatmen every year," said the Director, "usually because of carelessness."

Wardens stationed at or near these lakes and other waters many times aid in rescuing victims of accidents and carelessness. They also help in the search for the less fortunate with grappling hooks.

"The lifeless body of a small child, who only the day before played in the school yard, is not a pretty sight," continued the Director, "but this is a sight seen often by wardens."

Since its opening, Lake Houston has taken the lives of 37 persons, ten of these children, according to Warden Martin Peterson of Humble.

"If these people had been wearing some sort of life preserver," said the Director, "many of them would be walking the streets and playing in the school yards today."

The Humble warden said, "It tears my heart out to see a drowned child without a preserver — a child that had faith in someone who was supposed to be looking after him."

White Sox second place with 25-9 win over Cubs

The White Sox slammed past the Cubs into second place in the Pony League standings with a thorough 25-9 triumph.

Scoring in every one of the six innings played, the Sox warmed up with one in the first and then plated four in the second, an eight-run cluster in the third, two in the fourth, three in the fifth and finished off with seven more in the sixth to lock it up tight.

The Cubs jumped into the lead in the first scoring three times. They added three more in the second and three in the third. Even

New record set for 'big inning'

A new record for most runs scored in one inning was set by the White Sox Thursday night when they crossed the plate 22 times in the first inning of a Pony League game with the Braves and went on from there to win by a score of 28 to 6.

Wally Shumate, the Braves' starting pitcher, was the victim of the White Sox onslaught. Jackie Curb and Perez also took turns on the mound before the game was called after the fifth inning because of the 15-run lead rule.

Manager Ben Howell's improving White Sox scored their 22 first-inning runs on 12 hits, including three triples by Soto, David Lee got a triple and a double, Reed, Hair, Odom and Mitchell singles, and Scott two doubles.

Reed, the White Sox starter, and Lee held the Braves well in check by yielding only four hits, all singles. The losers' five runs came in the third inning.

After their 22-run first inning, the Sox scored four in the second and two in the third.

The loss was the sixth in a row for the Braves against no victories. The victory evened the White Sox record to 3-3.

In the Dark Past
Two travelers were discussing foreign cities. Said the first one, "London is most certainly the foggiest city in the world."
"Oh, no, it's not," said the second globetrotter. "I've seen a place much foggy than London."
"Where was it?" queried his friend.

"By golly," came the reply, "it was so foggy I can't remember where it was."

The winners scored three more in the fifth and added one in the sixth for good measure. The losers scored two runs in each of the last two innings.

Lead-off batter Dickie Vardiman and Mike Matthews drew walks from Yankee hurler Butch Cross to open the game and came home on Bernie Owen's double after Donnie Cornell had been put out by the first baseman unassisted. Braddock's single scored Owen.

Cornell, the starter for the Tigers, set the Yankees down in order in the first and third innings, but the mill team broke the scoring ice in the fourth on Charles Landtloop's home run.

Cornell's two-bagger scored Vardiman, who had singled, and Matthews, who had walked, in the top of the fifth, and Cornell scored on a fielder's choice.

Three bases on balls, Ayala's triple and Pierce's double accounted for two Yankees runs in the fifth.

The Tigers' final run came on a double by Pierce, followed by a two-base error.

Social security law change cited

LUBBOCK — One provision of the 1958 amendments to the Social Security Act enables some newly married wives of men receiving social security benefits to qualify immediately for benefits on the husband's social security account.

In announcing this change in the law, John G. Hutton of the Lubbock Social Security Office, pointed out that before the 1958 amendments to the law, a new wife had to wait three years before she could receive benefits as the wife of a man getting social security retirement benefits. Under the old law this three-year waiting period was waived only if the couple became the parents of a child.

Now, if the wife was eligible for widow's, parent's, or childhood disability benefits for the month before her marriage, she can qualify for wife's benefits immediately, providing she meets the other requirements for entitlement.

These other requirements include (1) being age 62 or more, (2) having in her care a child entitled to social security benefits, and (3) not being entitled to a higher benefit on her own social security record.

A representative of the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Post on June 23, 1959 at 9:30 a.m. at the District Courtroom and will be glad to assist in all matters pertaining to Social Security.

Tigers '9' roars to first victory; Yankees victims

Manager Gene Matthews' Tigers, sponsored by Multiple Well Service, won their first game of the season Thursday night by downing Postex Mills' Yankees, 7 to 5, in a Little League game.

The Tigers scored three runs in the top of the first and had a shut-out going until the Yankees came up with a singleton in the bottom of the fourth.

The winners scored three more in the fifth and added one in the sixth for good measure. The losers scored two runs in each of the last two innings.

Lead-off batter Dickie Vardiman and Mike Matthews drew walks from Yankee hurler Butch Cross to open the game and came home on Bernie Owen's double after Donnie Cornell had been put out by the first baseman unassisted. Braddock's single scored Owen.

Cornell, the starter for the Tigers, set the Yankees down in order in the first and third innings, but the mill team broke the scoring ice in the fourth on Charles Landtloop's home run.

Cornell's two-bagger scored Vardiman, who had singled, and Matthews, who had walked, in the top of the fifth, and Cornell scored on a fielder's choice.

Three bases on balls, Ayala's triple and Pierce's double accounted for two Yankees runs in the fifth.

The Tigers' final run came on a double by Pierce, followed by a two-base error.

Indians keep win streak alive in extra innings

The unbeaten Levi Restaurant Indians had to go two extra innings and choke off a pair of dangerous Cub rallies Saturday night before pulling out a 15-13 decision over the second-place challengers to maintain their Pony League lead.

A victory for the Cubs would have knotted the two clubs at the top of the standings.

The Cubs looked like they were going to pull the game out of the fire when they rallied for three runs in the bottom of the eighth to get two aboard with only one away. But catcher Valdez came in as the third Indian pitcher at this crucial point and choked off the rally with his fast curve.

He retired the Cubs in order in the ninth after the Indians shoved across the winning runs on a walk, a hit batsman, and a pair of singles in the top half of the second extra inning.

Sullivan, Indian first sacker, hit the only homerun of the night, with one aboard in the top of the seventh.

Wayne Gamblin, Cub shortstop, was the leading hitter for the night with five hits — two triples and three singles — in six trips.

The Indians, scoring four times in the first, twice in the second, three times in the third and twice in the fourth, jumped out into the lead in the first inning and were never caught until the Cubs' last ditch three-run rally in the bottom of the seventh, highlighted by Gamblin's second triple.

The First National Bank Dodgers climbed into a tie for the Pony League lead Saturday night when they scored three times or more in every inning to hand the previously unbeaten Brown Brothers' Red Sox their first loss in League play, 17-10.

Each team rapped out nine hits with Ybarra getting the route for the winners, Demmings, who highlighted the Red Sox big six-run second inning with a homerun, and Harper divided mound duties for the losers.

Shortstop Johnson of the Dodgers slammed a roundtripper in the winners' five-run second and Third Sacker Hays hit another homer for the Dodgers in the fifth.

Long, Red Sox third baseman, hit a double and a triple in four trips to the plate. Centerfielder Harper collected a single and a double and twice got on base by errors in four trips for the losers.

Simple health rules make summer heat more bearable

According to the calendar, summer doesn't start until next week. But according to the weather, summer has been here for quite some time now.

For those of us who must battle the heat, a few simple health rules will go a long way in making the hot Texas summer a little more bearable.

First of all, avoid heavy meals, they are difficult to digest in hot weather. Fewer protein foods such as eggs, fish and meat should be eaten, with more emphasis on fruits and vegetables.

Perspiration causes much fluid loss during the day and must be replaced. Fruit juices — two or three glasses per day — make a pleasant way to make up the loss. But don't gulp down large amounts of ice water when overheated.

The body also loses salt through perspiration, so that if your work or exercise causes you to sweat profusely salt should be replaced with salt tablets — about one every half hour with a glass of water.

Parents can place extra salt in the children's diet with salted nuts or crackers plus a little added salt during meals.

Clothing plays an important role in keeping cool. Loose, light clothing is highly recommended for summertime wear. Normal body temperatures are dependent on the evaporation of sweat.

Clothes which inhibit evaporation should be avoided. Also, it is well to remember that white or light colors are cooler than dark, since they do not absorb hot sun rays so readily.

It's smart to get some exercise all year round. But it can easily be overdone in the summer. Long periods of hard yard work or active game of tennis should be confined to the cooler parts of the day.

Swimming is one of the best summer sports, provided the proper safety rules are followed — including not swimming alone, getting chilled, waiting at least an hour after meals, and avoiding tiredness.

It is important to keep up your physical condition during the summer months by adequate sleep and a good idea to have your annual check-up before indulging in any strenuous summer activities.

3-way state board action aids teacher program

AUSTIN — The State Board of Education has taken three-way action to improve the training and certification of teachers for Texas public schools.

Similarly, the move was based on three things:

Recommendations of a special board committee after a one-year study, four years' experience under the 1955 teacher certification law, and in part upon recommendation of the State Board of Examiners for Teacher Education, an advisory professional group.

The continuing increase in student population, accompanied by a shortage of qualified teachers which required the issuance of 4,300 emergency teaching permits last school year, focused the spotlight on the role of certification in meeting this emergency.

The education board did these things:

1. Effective immediately, established more practical regulations for issuance and renewal of emergency teaching permits, and placed certification of out-of-state applicants in the hands of the Texas Education Agency instead of teacher training colleges.
2. Asked the State Board of Examiners for Teacher Education to consider immediately possible changes in:
 - (a) The number of professional courses required for a teaching certificate; (b) conversion of certified teachers to other teaching fields, (c) an accelerated program in teacher education for the exceptionally able students, and (d) certification requirements for persons already holding college degrees.
3. Called for extended study of several other problems in this field.

The special board committee praised as "basically sound" the teacher certification program set up under a 1955 law and said it found many strong points. However, experience now indicates a need for revisions, it reported.

The committee, headed by R. W. Byram of Austin, emphasized the "great importance to the Texas public school system" of having teachers prepared under present state standards.

These include a balanced program of approximately 40 percent liberal arts, 40 percent subject matter courses he will teach, and 20 percent professional education courses — including one-fourth devoted to student teaching in the subject field.

Emergency permits are issued to persons who do not qualify for a regular teaching certificate. The permits are for one-year periods, renewable indefinitely, and are issued when a school superintendent certifies that the person is the best available for the teaching vacancy.

One stumbling block has been the requirement that the emergency applicant remove one-fourth of his training deficiencies each year. Conditions have changed and this requirement has become too big a burden, the committee pointed out.

New regulations now allow the Journalism scholarship won by Abernathy youth

Don Jones, already the "right hand man" of a weekly publisher in his home town, is the winner of the 1959 journalism scholarship award of the West Texas Press association.

Jones has just graduated from Abernathy High School, and holds an important post at the weekly newspaper. He is getting a thorough background in journalism through a community newspapering — something that has proved highly beneficial to many successful newspapermen in years past.

The Hale County graduate will receive his $400 scholarship to help his studies in journalism at Texas Tech. He will enter college this fall.

Jones expressed his pleasure at having received the award. He said "To me, journalism is a most interesting profession. It seems

Real ghost story back to screen

Vincent Price, one of the busiest stars in the country today, jumps at the chance to star in "House of Wax," which opened at the Tower Theatre, "beauty of the screen." Price represents pure entertainment in "House of Wax." The film is a William Castle-Robb White production for Allied Artists.

"House of Wax," marks the return to the screen of the classic ghost story — an area of entertainment that has been neglected for too long.

"Youngsters today have never seen a real ghost story on the screen," Price avers. "And that's why, because they haven't been allowed to thrill to pictures as a kid, they like 'The Cat and the Canary,' 'Seven Keys to Baldpate' and 'The Monster.' — ventures that delighted and entertained their parents.

"There is a big difference between a ghost story and what today passes for a horror picture. The ghost comes out of the lagoon. There are no four-headed zombies or human-devouring plants in a ghost story. In the latter category, the producers, writer, director and actors strive for sheer shock: the unreal and unwholesome. It is a delightful form of entertainment, and one that has been exploited or explored for too long a time."

When not busy before cameras on Broadway, Price tours the nation to speak on the appreciation of art, on which he is one of this country's top experts. Following his lectures, he meets informally with his audiences to try to find just what kind of film fare they prefer. And they tell him.

Bill Bennett at Tech Institute

LUBBOCK — Science teachers from high schools throughout the state and nation are participating in a Chemistry Teachers Institute at Texas Tech.

Directed by Dr. Wesley W. Wendlandt, Texas Tech research chemist, the institute is sponsored by Tech and the National Science Foundation and will end July 18.

The program is designed to help high school science teachers get additional education in chemistry and to improve the quality of science teaching in secondary schools, Wendlandt said. Their living expenses are paid during the institute.

The teachers will earn six-credit hours in chemistry at Tech. The institute will include lectures each morning by leaders in each of the fields of inorganic, organic, analytical, nuclear and bio-chemistry and afternoon lab sessions.

Teachers participating in the Tech chemistry institute include: Post — William R. Bennett.

At The Review he is a Linotype operator, pressman, floorman, and staff writer. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ward Jones, and he has two brothers and three sisters.

Runner-up and first alternate for the scholarship is Bob Bowers of Levelland. In third place was Leslie Whiteley of Ballinger.

W. H. Graham of Farwell, chairman of the scholarship committee for WTPA, expressed his pleasure with the applicants this year. "It is the largest group we have ever had," he said.

Competition for the award was plenty stiff among the 12 seniors who entered. There were six boys and six girls in the field this year. "All the judges have commented on the quality of the work," says Graham, "and we think it is a high honor for Don Jones to win."

The scholarship was begun four years ago by WTPA, of which The Post Dispatch is a member, to promote journalism as a college study and career. The award is based on scholastic achievement, demonstrated ability in journalism and a bonafide interest in newspapering as a career.

Helping to select the winners this year were Graham; Wally Garets, Texas Tech; Ailene Parten, Wayland; Bill Lee, West Texas State; and H. M. Baggarty, The Tulia Herald.

Rising plastic bag death toll cited by safety head

AUSTIN — "Thin plastic coverings—such as laundry bags, vegetable bags and dry goods wrappings—were responsible for more than 20 deaths during the first quarter of this year."

J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association made the above statement today, in his Austin office, as he discussed one of the newest hazards to appear in the American home.

Musick said that no accurate statistics have been compiled that would as yet give a true picture, but that a poll of 48 state health departments were recently made by the National Safety Council and revealed that as many as 100 children may die during 1959 in mishaps involving plastic coverings.

"News reports alone, in recent months, have given sufficient evidence that thin plastics are a menace when left within easy reach of small children," Musick said.

He explained that the danger lies in the fact that thin plastic will cling to the skin, sometimes causing infants to suffocate.

"Static electricity, similar to that on a comb after having been run through hair, is generated on the thin plastic in handling. Any youngster getting the bag close to his face is likely to have it literally grab him through an electrical attraction.

"Also, in at least two cases, children have died from chewing off bits of plastic which lodged in the windpipe.

"Another hazard, especially among older and stronger children, is created if the child puts the bag over his head. Before long he is breathing deadly carbon dioxide. The dizziness, inability to react promptly and muscle spasms occur with more rapid breathing. Before the victim realized it, he is too weakened to tear the plastic from his face."

The safety expert said the remedy for such accidents is merely one of common sense and that once parents are told that these particular plastics are dangerous, most of them will simply keep the plastics away from small children, just as they would a poisonous insecticide or medicine.

Helping to select the winners this year were Graham; Wally Garets, Texas Tech; Ailene Parten, Wayland; Bill Lee, West Texas State; and H. M. Baggarty, The Tulia Herald.

Summer's heat hard on laying hens, plenty of water needed

COLLEGE STATION — Maintaining a high rate of egg production and liveability during summer weather is a major problem for every poultryman, said Ben Wormell, extension poultry husbandman. At temperatures up to 90 degrees, the hen can maintain its normal body temperature and a good rate of egg lay. As the temperature goes above 90 degrees, the hen tries to control its body temperature by drinking additional amounts of water, he said.

Studies reported by the U. S. D. A. show that when the air temperature was 65 degrees, about 2 pounds of water was consumed for each pound of feed, and at 95 degrees, 4.7 pounds of water was consumed for each pound of feed, said Wormell. This indicates a need for a generous supply of clean cool water readily available for hens during the summer.

During periods of extreme heat stress, the body temperature of the hen will rise and if the hen's temperature reaches 112 to 114 degrees, the hen will die from heat prostration, the specialist said.

Poultrymen have learned to construct the poultry house to provide shade and air movement for the hens comfort. Grass planted around the poultry house will absorb much of the sun's heat and prevent it from being radiated into the laying house. This grass should be kept mowed, said Wormell, so that it does not obstruct free air movement through the floor line ventilators of the house. A continuous ridge roll ventilator, at least a foot and a half wide, provides an outlet through which the bank of hot air under the roof can escape.

A fogging system can be used to cool the hens and in emergency periods the hens may be sprayed with a garden hose, using a fine spray nozzle. The use of the wet pad and fan cooling method has been tried, but more information is needed before general recommendations can be made.

In hot weather each poultryman must take advantage of all good management practices within his control. It is necessary to provide maximum comfort for the laying hens to keep mortality to a minimum and maintain a good rate of egg production, added Wormell.

D. 1959, at which time and place all persons, firms, corporations, or estates owning or claiming any such abutting property, or any interest therein, and their agents or attorneys, and persons interested in said proceedings, shall be notified to appear and to be heard in person, or by counsel, and may offer evidence; and said hearing may be adjourned from day to day and from time to time and kept open, until all evidence and protests have been duly offered and heard; and the City Superintendent of the City of Post, Texas, is hereby directed to give notice of said hearing by publication of Notice in some newspaper of general circulation in the City of Post, Texas; said Notice shall be published at least Three (3) times in said newspaper before the date set for said hearing, the first of which publications shall be at least Ten (10) days prior to the date of said hearing, and such notice by publication shall be valid and sufficient, without any further form or character of notice. However, said City Superintendent may, in addition to the contents of the Notice of said hearing, as required by law and the Charter of the said City, which shall be for all purposes valid and sufficient in itself, included in any one or all of the publications of said Notice such further data and information regarding such proposed improvements and assessments as the City Superintendent may deem proper and such general statement in connection therewith as the City Superintendent may desire, to acquaint those to whom the Notice is directed with the facts and matters concerning said improvements, assessments and hearing.

SECTION 4. The written statement and report of the City Superintendent heretofore filed with the City Council showing the estimated total cost of all the improvements on each of said streets or units within the limits above defined, showing the amounts per front foot proposed to be assessed against the abutting property and the real and true owners thereof on each of said streets and units for said improvements, showing the total estimated cost of said improvements on each of said tracts or units proposed to be assessed against and paid for by the abutting property and the real and true owners thereof, and showing other matters relative thereto having been received and examined by the City Council, said reports are hereby in all things approved and adopted; and it is hereby found and determined by the City Council that the estimated amounts of cost of said improvements as above described on each of said tracts or units are as follows:

- Subgrade $0.65 per front foot.
- Base $0.65 per front foot.
- Topping $0.90 per front foot.

No assessment shall be made against any abutting property or to real and true owners thereof for costs in excess of the benefits to such property in the enhanced value thereof by means of such improvements, the amount of such assessments shall constitute a first and prior lien upon all such parties and a personal liability of the true and real owners thereof, whether correctly named or not and shall be payable in installments as follows:

When the improvements herein ordered for any street unit herein designated have been completed and accepted by the City of Post, the amount of the assessment against each property abutting thereon and the real and true owners thereof shall be and become payable in Four (4) equal annual installments due respectively 1, 2, 3, and 4 years from date of acceptance by the City, together with interest on every installment from said date until paid at the rate of Seven per cent (7%) per annum, payable annually; provided, however, that the owners of any of said property shall have the privilege of paying all or any of said installments at any time before maturity thereof, by paying the total amount of principal of such installment, together with the interest accrued thereon to the date of payment. Further, if default be made in the payment of any of said installments of principal or interest as the same matures, then at the option of the City of Post or its assigns, the entire amount of the assessment upon which default is made, together with reasonable attorneys fees and all collection costs incurred shall be and become immediately due and payable.

SECTION 6. Following such hearing as above provided, assessments will be levied against said abutting property, and the real and true owners thereof for that portion of the costs of said improvements hereinabove determined to be payable by said abutting property and the real and true owners thereof, which assessments shall be a first and prior lien upon said abutting property and a personal liability and charge against the real and true owners thereof. In levying said assessments, if the name of the owner be unknown, it shall be sufficient to so state the fact, and if said abutting property be owned by an estate or by any firm or corporation, it shall be sufficient to so state the fact, and it shall be unnecessary to give the correct name of any such owner and no error or mistake in attempting to name such owner or in describing any of said property shall invalidate any assessment or certificate issued in evidence thereof; but nevertheless, the real and true owners of said abutting property shall be liable and the assessment against said abutting property shall be valid whether or not such owner be named, or correctly named, or said property correctly described therein.

SECTION 7. Each portion of said streets hereinabove described and designated by Unit numbers constitutes a separate and independent Unit of the improvements and shall be improved and the improvements constructed therein as separate and independent from each and every other Unit of said streets, and the assessments to be levied for said improvement in each unit or portion of said streets shall be altogether separate and distinct and independent of and from the assessments to be levied in every other of said units and portions of said streets, and, in making and levying said assessments against the property abutting upon one of said Units, no matter or circumstance in connection with any other of said units shall be considered or have any effect upon the other, all as fully and to the same extent as if separate proceedings and contracts had been had and executed with reference to the improvements to be made in each of said units.

SECTION 8. The Mayor and the City Secretary are hereby authorized and empowered upon the completion of each block to issue warrants which shall be general obligations of the City of Post, payable to the Contractor in Six (6) equal annual installments, the first of said installments to become due and payable One (1) year after date for One-sixth (1/6th) of the total price and a similar installment due respectively 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 years after date; said warrants may be paid off in full at any interest paying date; said warrants shall bear interest from date of issuance at the rate of Five per cent (5%) per annum, payable semi-annually.

In order to secure the payment of said warrants and to set up a fund for retiring the same, the City of Post, in addition to levying the assessment as herein provided for, shall secure from the property owners of any exempt property abutting said project a Mechanic and Materialman's Lien securing notes to be executed by the property owners for the cost of the construction of the improvements as hereinabove designated. The City Secretary shall establish a separate fund known as Post Paving Fund No. 2, into which fund all money collected from property owners by virtue of payment of Mechanic and Materialman's Liens or payment of assessments herein levied shall be deposited and shall be kept separate and apart from any other fund of the City and the amounts deposited in said fund shall be applied solely to the retirement of the warrants as herein specified. The amount of warrants herein issued shall not be in excess of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00).

In the event collections in said paving fund are not sufficient at the time of the due date of said warrants to retire any of the warrants then due, sufficient money shall be transferred from the general funds of the City of Post to complete said payment. The City Council further approves the contract on the terms and at the prices submitted by J. H. Chastain and Sons, the Contractor and contract documents by and between the City of Post and J. H. Chastain and Sons, the Contractor, be and the same are approved and the Mayor is hereby authorized and directed to execute the same on behalf of the City of Post.

It is contemplated that additional blocks within the City of Post will be paved at some future date, and said paving may be provided for in a future ordinance designating said blocks as long as the cost thereof does not exceed the amount of warrants authorized by this ordinance, and Notice of Intention to pave shall be given by the City Secretary as outlined herein and liens of assessments fixed in the same manner after hearing.

Form of said warrants to be substantially as follows:

$1,320 worth of rainwater is stored underground

HALFWAY — Water valued at $1,320 was stored underground through the recharge well at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway in one week recently. Dr. T. C. Longnecker, foundation director, placed this value on the 22 acre feet recharged from the 25 acre playa lake following recent rains which totaled 3.85 inches. The estimated value was based upon the additional yield obtained when one acre foot of irrigation water is applied to cotton. The intake rate of 800 gallons per minute was maintained for the entire week. Every 24 hours the pump was operated for 30 to 40 minutes and well back flushed to dislodge and clogging the underground formation.

Care stressed in choosing gifts for father, says agent

By Jessie Pearce
With Father's Day coming this weekend, many families are still trying to decide what to buy Dad, and probably many of them will end up buying clothing. Be sure that you use good judgement and do careful selection when buying this gift. The buying guides for a gift will be good for all men's clothing, too.

There is interesting variety found in men's clothing for this summer. Many new blends of fabrics, new colors and new styles are available to choose from. These new things may also create new problems in fit, care and cleaning.

Look for colors that complement the individual's coloring and personality, are appropriate for the occasion, and harmonize with slacks or suits. Ask for fabrics that have the qualities you need or want. Cottons have many new finishes, rayons have been improved, blends of synthetics wear well, are washable and dry quickly, but may not be comfortable to some wearers, because of limited absorbency. Wools come in many weights, are durable and of fast color, but subject to moth damage.

Learn to judge quality by examining cut and construction, stitching, buttonhole construction, and "built-in" ease over shoulders and points of strain.

Labels should tell you what to expect as to fiber content, care needed, color fastness and shrinkage. Be sure to read the label before you buy and save it for laundry information later on.

that I attended recently, one ed upon the additional yield obtained when one acre foot of irrigation water is applied to cotton. The intake rate of 800 gallons per minute was maintained for the entire week. Every 24 hours the pump was operated for 30 to 40 minutes and well back flushed to dislodge and clogging the underground formation.

Approximately 150 acre feet of irrigation water is used annually on the quarter section of 130 acres where the recharge well is located. The 22 acre feet of water recharged from the 3 days of operation would thus represent 15 percent of the annual irrigation water requirements for this quarter section.

The 25 acre lake bottom will be planted in grain sorghum as part of the lake land reclamation research at the Foundation.

Okra production termed feasible

COLLEGE STATION—Okra production is commercially important in certain areas of Texas. It is a close relative of cotton and requires about the same cultural practices and climatic conditions. A soil which produces high yields of cotton is suitable for okra.

Okra production is discussed in a new leaflet, "Growing Okra in Texas", released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Several hundred acres are grown annually for the fresh or frozen market from the Lower Rio Grande Valley in the south to the High Plains in the northwest. The same good practices of soil rota-

Clemson Spineless and Louisiana Green Velvet are the most popular and best-adapted varieties for Texas. Both varieties are highly productive over long periods. Perkins Dwarf Green Long Pod is the preferred dwarf variety.

Texas dairymen should raise own replacements

COLLEGE STATION — "It will pay Texas dairymen to raise their own replacements", says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman. This, he said, is one of the most important undertakings in a herd improvement program. However, because many Texas dairymen have followed a policy of buying rather than raising their replacements, the supply of young dairy females in the state is often short of demand.

The first three or four weeks of the calf's life is the critical period, said Meekma, and regardless of the feeding schedule followed, the fundamentals of a successful calf-raising program are the same during this period. For the first four or five days the mother cow's colostrum milk should be fed the calf — one pound of colostrum per day for each eight to ten pounds of body weight. Thereafter, the calf may be shifted to limited full milk feeding or to a milk replacer said Meekma. If limited whole milk is fed, it should not exceed one pound of milk to each eight to ten pounds of body weight, and milk from low-testing cows (3 to 4 percent fat) should be used, not to exceed seven pounds for the small dairy breeds and nine for the large.

At two weeks of age, begin feeding a top-quality hay (legume preferred) and a good calf starter containing 20 to 24 percent protein and not more than 10 percent fiber. At 60 to 90 days of age, the milk or milk replacer can be gradually discontinued as the calves will be consuming sufficient hay and starter for proper growth and development, the husbandman said.

Hay should be fed free-choice at all times, but starter should be limited to five pounds daily. Keep clean, fresh water and a mineral mixture containing equal parts of steamed bonemeal and salt before the calves at all times. Caution should be taken to prevent overfeeding of the starter.

It is also advisable to feed some grain (two to five pounds) between the ages of six to ten months. The regular dairy herd grain mix is usually satisfactory, Meekma said.

New industry is welcomed to Texas

AUSTIN — The Texas Legislature paused in its deliberations over sparing industry from undue taxation to welcome a brand new industry to the Lone Star State.

By action of Representative Max Smith of San Marcos, the solons adopted a resolution citing Luling's watermelon-on-a-stick confection plant now being readied for hte 1959 melon crop.

"The North Star State of Minnesota," stated the resolution, "has made a great and lasting contribution to the Lone Star State of Texas, more particularly to the City of Luling, and to the watermelon growers."

"This has been made possible" it went on, "through the resourcefulness and inventiveness of one

NEW DOG STAR

Shaggy, above, is the star of Walt Disney's new fantasy, "The Shaggy Dog," which opens Sunday at the Tower theater. Shaggy has been in Hollywood only a few months but this mop-pawed English sheep dog, owned by Mrs. Addie Anderson, a highway department clerk, appears headed for real dog stardom.

New kind of Disney fantasy, 'Shaggy Dog,' coming to Tower

A NEW KIND OF Walt Disney fantasy, this one tailored for hilarity, is "The Shaggy Dog," which opens at the Tower Theatre Sunday for a four-day run through Wednesday.

The story of a modern teenage boy, turned by old-fashioned magic into a part-time Bratislavian sheep dog, is Walt's first live-action picture set in the present day.

"The Shaggy Dog" brings Fred MacMurray back to comedy after an absence of five years. It also introduces a new screen personality for whom Hollywood is predicting over-night stardom — Shaggy, the mop-pawed, hairy-eyed English sheep dog playing the title role of the teen-ager in canine form.

In the picture he drives a hot rod, talks over the telephone, rounds up a gang of spies, and rescues a girl from drowning, among other things that you would naturally expect of a dog that a teenage boy had been turned into.

Tommy Kirk, who had the key role in Disney's "Old Yeller," plays the hapless lad whose misadventures confuse a whole town. And Kevin Corcoran, teamed with him in "Old Yeller," again plays his little brother, a boy who is delighted to have a dog in the family.

Fred MacMurray plays the boys' bewildered father, a retired mailman who hates dogs, and Jean Hagen, for three years the wife of Danny Thomas on television, comes out of a brief retirement to play their rattle-brained mother.

"The Shaggy Dog" marks the motion picture debut of Annette Funicello, the shapely, black-eyed 16-year-old who for three years appeared as the darling of Disney's Mickey Mouse Club on TV. Annette plays Tommy's home-town girl friend, with Tim Considine, another graduate of the Mickey Mouse Club, cast as his rival.

The story is based on "The Hound of Florence," a touching novel of medieval days by Felix Salten, who wrote "Bambi" and "Perri." But in the hands of writer-associate producer Bill Walsh and his script collaborator, Lillie Hayward, it has come out a sparkling, up-to-date shaggy dog story retaining practically nothing of the original beyond the shape-shifting of boy-into-pooch and the magic Borgia ring by means of which the trick is done.

rod, talks over the telephone, rounds up a gang of spies, and rescues a girl from drowning, among other things that you would naturally expect of a dog that a teenage boy had been turned into.

Tommy Kirk, who had the key role in Disney's "Old Yeller," plays the hapless lad whose misadventures confuse a whole town. And Kevin Corcoran, teamed with him in "Old Yeller," again plays his little brother, a boy who is delighted to have a dog in the family.

Fred MacMurray plays the boys' bewildered father, a retired mailman who hates dogs, and Jean Hagen, for three years the wife of Danny Thomas on television, comes out of a brief retirement to play their rattle-brained mother.

"The Shaggy Dog" marks the motion picture debut of Annette Funicello, the shapely, black-eyed 16-year-old who for three years appeared as the darling of Disney's Mickey Mouse Club on TV. Annette plays Tommy's home-town girl friend, with Tim Considine, another graduate of the Mickey Mouse Club, cast as his rival.

The story is based on "The Hound of Florence," a touching novel of medieval days by Felix Salten, who wrote "Bambi" and "Perri." But in the hands of writer-associate producer Bill Walsh and his script collaborator, Lillie Hayward, it has come out a sparkling, up-to-date shaggy dog story retaining practically nothing of the original beyond the shape-shifting of boy-into-pooch and the magic Borgia ring by means of which the trick is done.

Fresh plums top list of plentiful foods

COLLEGE STATION — Fresh plums top the July list of plentiful foods in the Southwest, as California's new crop is estimated at 64 per cent more than last year.

Peaches, lemons and limes are other fruits on the list. Eggs will continue plentiful, as will ice cream and small-sized turkeys. Summer vegetables will show up in wide array throughout the area.

Peanut butter and vegetable fats and oils complete the July list of plentifuls, as announced by the USDA's Southwest Food Distribution Division, Dallas. Each item is expected to be in heavier-than-normal supply and menu planners usually will find it economical to rely heavily on these foods.
