This week marks the close of the 1958-59 school year here, with the graduation exercises on Friday night, the high school baccalaureate program for Sunday night and commencement exercises for Monday night.

Forty-three seniors are candidates for diplomas at Monday night's commencement exercises, which will be held in the high school auditorium.

The all-student production will include the salutatory by Frances Barron, class history by Victor Hudman Jr., and valedictory by Kay Gene Payne.

The Rev. C. B. Hogue, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at Sunday's program, also to be held in the high school auditorium. He will be assisted in the service by other local pastors.

E. O. Tackett, father of one of the graduates, will be the speaker at Friday night's 8th grade graduation in the grade school auditorium.

The processional and recessional will be played by the junior high band under the direction of Bob Meisch. Invocation will be by Leonard Tittle and benediction by the Rev. Eugene Matthews.

Students taking part in the program will be Pam McCrary, valedictorian; Christine Cornish, salutatorian, and Ronald Tallant, class historian.

Members of the class will be introduced by William R. Bennett, a member of the junior high school faculty, and Principal Herman F. Raphael will present the certificates of graduation into high school.

Schools to turn out noon Friday; report cards Monday

With the exception of getting report cards and checking in books, the 1958-59 school year will end at noon Friday.

Supt. R. T. Smith said today that parents of first grade children may pick their child up at 8 a. m. Friday, if they wish. Lunches will be served at the school lunchroom.

School buses will run Monday to get the students to school by 7 p. m. to check in books and get their report cards.

The superintendent said school buses being dismissed at noon Friday in order to give the teachers time to get report cards ready and attend to other year-end details.

Operators named for swim pool

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Runkles will operate the park swimming pool this summer. S. E. Camp, county park board chairman, announced today.

Camp said the pool will open next weekend, but that the date has not been definitely decided pending the return here of a son who is now attending Cisneros College at Cisco.

Runkles with his father, Frank Runkles, has operated the Boy Scout camp swimming pool for several summers.

The park pool has been given a new off-season face lifting with a decorative front, a new concrete sun bathing area, change in lighting area, and construction of walkways into the pool.

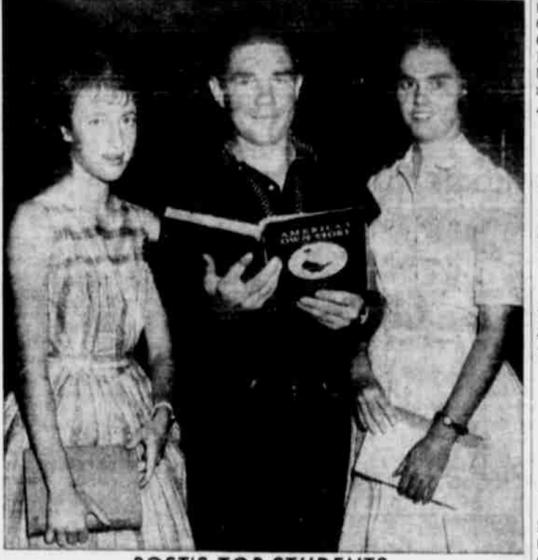

Child burned when coffee pot spilled

Six-year-old Penny Kuykendall, six-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Kuykendall, received second degree burns today morning when she was playing in her stroller and accidentally pulled the cord to the electric coffee pot, thus pulling the pot over on her.

Kuykendall reported today that Penny is improving rapidly.

Woman and son in hospital

Mrs. Charlie Brown and her 11-year-old son, Charlie Jr., were in improved condition in Garza Memorial Hospital late Wednesday from burns received in an explosion Tuesday afternoon at their farm home about six miles northwest of Post, just off the Lubbock highway.

Mrs. Brown's husband was also burned in the explosion, but not seriously enough to be hospitalized.

The explosion occurred about 4:30 o'clock while Brown was installing an air-conditioner in a living room window.

He was outside cleaning out the air-conditioner with a gas hose when the blast occurred. Mrs. Brown and her son were in the living room.

Mrs. Brown, who was ironing, and her son ran out the back door of the house. Their clothing did not catch fire. Brown, who rushed in the front door after the explosion, did not at first know that his wife and son had been burned.

Some of the furniture in the living room caught fire from the blast and after summoning a pump from a nearby oil field to finish extinguishing the flames, Brown brought his wife and son to the hospital.

Mrs. Brown was burned from her knees down on both legs. Her son was burned on the face and arms, and Brown was burned on the face and hands.

The blast is believed to have occurred when fumes from the hose being used to clean out the air-conditioner caught from the pilot flame on a wall heater.

Mrs. Brown said the top of a wool rug in the living room was badly scorched and that fire damage also occurred to the television set, a large chair and other furniture.

Too wet in spots For planting

Except in fields where it's still too wet, cotton planting was getting in full swing this week in Garza County, according to County Agent Lewis C. Herron.

The county agent said some fields, mostly irrigated ones which had been pre-watered, are still too wet in spots from the recent rains for planting.

Herron estimated today that about 10 per cent of the cotton had been planted.

Post has had no rain of any consequence since May 8 and 9, but areas west and northwest of town received up to one inch last Thursday.

More rain still is badly needed for replenishment of tank water on practically all farms and ranches, the county agent said.

Permits issued for highway building, laundry

Four building permits, including one for Wallace Simpson's new automatic laundry and another for a resident engineer's office and lab building for the state highway department, have been issued during the last week for $38,482 worth of new construction here.

This brings the 1959 construction total for Post to $349,157 as listed on permits issued to date.

Simpson, who is his own contractor, is constructing a 40 by 50 foot concrete tile building for his automatic laundry at 425 East Main, next to the K & K Food Mart which he operates.

The foundation already has been completed and the tile walls are going up. The building will have steel rafters and a glass front.

J. B. Simpson is the contractor for the state highway department's new resident engineer's office and lab building which will be located on state highway property on South Broadway between its present warehouse building and maintenance shops.

Estimated cost is $29,967. Other permits issued included one to L. H. Ingram, 806 West Seventh for 280 feet of redwood fence at an estimated cost of $420, and one to L. C. Johnson, 508 West Fifth street for a steel fence at his residence costing $73.

The new building will contain 2,000 square feet and will be a one-story structure of concrete block construction with a brick front. It will be air-conditioned. The building will provide larger office quarters for Resident Engineer Julian Smith and his staff of 15.

High school to go up on newly-acquired location

Post's new high school building will be constructed on South Sixth Street between Avenues K and L and the football stadium will be left where it is, trustees decided at a special meeting Tuesday night.

The vote was 6 to 1 to build the new high school on property recently purchased by the school board. Trustees E. R. Moreland, Quannah Maxey, Burney Francis, Clint Herring, J. E. Birdwell and Bobby Pierce voted in favor of building the high school on the newly acquired property, with Trustee Russell Wilks Jr. casting the only dissenting vote.

In a discussion on the high school location preceding the vote, Wilks said he was in favor of building the school at the present stadium site.

The new building will face north on South Sixth Street and will be constructed on Block 127 and part of Block 140, which are the two blocks the trustees recently voted to purchase from Postex Mills, Inc.

Mention that the high school be built at that location was made by Birdwell and seconded by Francis.

The vote came after each trustee had been asked to state his preference for a location. Not all of them stated a preference for the location finally decided upon, but a majority did. None of the trustees, however, stated a preference for building the school at the edge of town, which had been listed at a previous board meeting as one of the proposed sites.

The decision to build the high school on the newly acquired property, which will place it south of the grade school building, will allow Burchett Iron Works of Snyder to proceed immediately with plans for rebuilding the stadium, which is in the process of being torn down.

H. G. Burchett met with the board at Tuesday night's meeting and went over plans for the stadium project.

"We can have the new bleachers up and ready for your first game in September," Burchett told the trustees. "In fact," he added, "we expect to be sitting in them (See HIGH SCHOOL on page 8)

Postings

By JIM CORNISH

School is out tomorrow—and a lot of boys, girls, parents and teachers are looking forward eagerly to that summer vacation. The mothers, we guess, are a bit worn by helping youngsters with homework and would like to sleep a bit later in the morning. It's been a busy school year—and as Supt. Smith told high school students in the award assembly program "more learning" has taken place this year than ever before.

For the 33 high school graduates who walk down the aisle to their diplomas and their adult futures come Monday night, the end of the school year will mark an even greater period of change. Some of them can look forward to college, the rest to jobs or marriage. For the 88 youngsters who will receive their junior high diplomas tonight in graduation ceremonies, the future will mean they will be high schoolers come September.

Post's busy business and professional folk in today's Dispatch are congratulating the 1959 graduates on their accomplishments and wishing them well for the future. Today's "commencement edition" also is filled with stories and pictures of graduation, school awards, and so forth. It has been a good school year—but summer is here. For proof of that you have only to look to the sport page to see where the Little League and Pony Leagues kick off Monday night with a new season. Let's go out and support them too!

Books available to adults

The Post High School and junior high school libraries will be open again this summer as city-school libraries under a program inaugurated here three years ago. Librarians Mrs. Lillie McRee and Mrs. Noia Brister have announced.

Mrs. McRee said the high school library will be open from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. Tuesdays and Thursdays for adults and students wishing to check out books.

The junior high library, Mrs. Brister said, will be open for book checkouts from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m. every Tuesday afternoon.

The libraries are also operated during the school term under the program set up by the city and school board, with books available to adults of Post and Garza County as well as to students.

New Scout troop group is named

The troop committee for the new Boy Scout troop being sponsored by the Methodist Church, met Tuesday night and planned a June 5 barbecue for all interested boys of scouting age (11 to 14) and their parents.

Dr. John Carter is chairman of the troop committee.

Dr. B. E. Young, neighborhood scout commissioner for Post, said yesterday the Methodist Church will sponsor the Explorer Scout Post for boys 14 to 18, which lost its sponsor Jan. 1.

The new Methodist educational building will provide plenty of space for the troop and post meetings, one of the requirements of the sponsoring organization.

Post's only Boy Scout troop now organized is filled. It is sponsored by the Rotary club.

Court term to be resumed Monday

The new term of county criminal court will be resumed at 10 a. m. Monday, with 18 cases on the docket.

First to be tried will be Hosie Wynne, who faces nine separate liquor law violation charges. Most of the other cases are also for liquor law violations.

The term of court was recessed by County Judge J. E. Parker Wednesday of last week to give Defense Attorney Pat N. Walker additional time to prepare for the 18 cases listed.

$150,000 damage suit verdict is expected Friday

Trial of the $150,000 damage suit brought by Raymond R. G. Sampley against Valton Wheeler was still in progress in Garza County district court here this morning with a verdict possibly not coming until Friday.

The suit is the result of an accident on the farm to market road between Hackberry and Southland about 7:30 p. m. Sept. 19, 1958, when a car driven by Sampley hit the back of a trailer load of grain being pulled on a tractor by Wheeler.

Sampley is seeking compensation for injuries, hospital and doctor bills, and damage to his car. Jurors for the trial are Max Gordon, S. E. Camp, Donald Windham, Ronnie Sturdivan, T. D. Craft, Marshall Reno, Oscar Gray, Homer Huddleston, Malcolm Bull, Johnny Hopkins, R. B. Dodson, and Weaver Moreman.

District Judge Thuet Smith said the other seven damage suit and compensation cases due for trial at this term of the court will be set for later dates when he can work them into his schedule.

Child pinned by car in driveway

Joni Leigh Hays, 17-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hays, was injured, but apparently not seriously, about 5 p. m. yesterday when a car rolled back in the driveway at the Hays home, 213 West 14th street, and pinned her. She was taken to Garza Memorial Hospital and kept there overnight, but apparently suffered only bruises and skin burns.

Mrs. Hays said that the driveway is on an incline and that her older boys were playing in the yard. Apparently one of them climbed in the car while playing and threw it out of gear so it rolled back down the incline, pinning Joni Leigh but not running over her.

Last seat swapping in auditorium

We sat in Friday afternoon on the final general assembly in the Post High School auditorium—the annual awards assembly—which was concluded in a spirit of fun with the traditional "seat swapping ceremony."

The way the seat swapping deal works, the seniors, seated near the front, move to the back of the auditorium and the juniors, seated behind them, move up to take the front seats vacated by the seniors. The sophomores move into the seats left by the juniors, and the eager-beaver freshmen transfer to the seats vacated by the sophomores. It is symbolic of the fact that the members of the senior class are graduating from PHS, that the juniors will be taking their places next year, and that the sophomore and freshmen classes also are moving up a notch.

This seat swapping ceremony, we were told, has been going on from year to year at the high school's final general assembly. Incidentally, it more than likely was the last general assembly that will be held in the auditorium, since its remodeling into classrooms will get under way as soon as the school year closes.

All high school graduating classes, taken as a whole, are fine groups and this year's is no exception. That is one reason we hated to see them move to the back of the room and for a few minutes take seats that in a few days they will be leaving for good. Next year, it will be this year's junior class moving to the back of the auditorium and then out of high school forever, the next year this year's sophomore class, and so on.

Along about this time every year, members of graduating classes get filled to the brim with good advice from commencement speakers and other well-wishers, which is one reason we decided on a drastic departure from that general theme in this editorial and decided to write about the seat swapping ceremony.

However, like all others whose high school days are far behind them, we can't refrain from offering a few words of advice to this year's graduates. And, we can't think of better advice briefly put, than the words of the poet James Lowell, who said, "Not failure, but low aim is crime." If the graduates will remember this bit of advice and set their sights high when they go out into our atomic age world, then they will have committed no crime in failing.

Our heartiest congratulations to the 1959 graduating class at Post High School.—CD.

Irresponsibility at its worst

The Texas Legislature "goofed" terribly in voting its members a healthy pay raise while stalemating throughout the entire session on how to erase the $65,000,000 state deficit or raise new revenues to meet rising state expenses for the next two years.

This is irresponsibility at its worst. If the lawmakers can't find money to pay off the deficit or pay operating costs of government how can they expect the state to afford a salary boost for them? It doesn't make sense—certainly not to the voters, who in the end will decide.

What makes the situation almost laughable is that the lawmakers can't legislate pay hikes for themselves without the approval of the people. The legislators' pay increase will appear on the November, 1960, ballot as a constitutional amendment.

Unless the legislators show much more financial responsibility than they have to date, it will be voted down just as a bigger salary increase for the lawmakers was rejected by the people at the last general election.

Behind the problem of how to finance growing state government is the psychological one of coming to grips with a very unpleasant and unpopular task—voting more taxes.

No lawmaker really wants to assume the mantle of leadership and be saddled with the reputation of a "tax raiser."

That is the political kiss of death—and everyone at Austin well knows it.

As the lawmakers knew when they went to Austin in January to start the session, this wouldn't be easy. Time hasn't solved anything. It has only made matters worse. Now the state faces a special session—very probably two or three—before any kind of a solution can be hammered out—or down somebody's throats.

Angry tax problem leaders of the regular session have announced that they've "had it" and will let somebody else carry the ball for a while.

Too many legislators won their political campaigns last fall on the promise not to vote for this kind of tax, or that kind of one. There was enough of this negative promising in return for votes to make it virtually impossible at Austin to get a majority to vote for anything.

What can come out of the snarl now is anybody's guess—but it probably will be something akin to a sales tax, if Texas is to get the money to continue state operations in the manner to which Texans became accustomed in days of more oil and gas tax revenue.

But one thing is sure—a pay raise for our legislators is about the last thing in the minds of the taxpayers right now.—JC.

On stadium and press boxes

Good news in most everybody's word from the school board that a contract has been let for construction of new bleachers at Antioch Stadium and that a contract will be let soon for construction of a field house at the stadium.

Both the bleachers and the field house were in deplorable condition. We say "were," because they are in the process of being demolished to make way for the new installations. It was high time that something was done about the stadium. It was getting to be a disgrace to the school as well as to the community itself.

The contract for the new bleachers does not include provisions for a press box, which Supt. R. T. Smith informs us will be built by the school district independently of the bleacher contract. We hope they do a good job on it, because Post long has had the reputation among visiting newsmen, football scouts and broadcasters of having the slickest press box of any Class AA school in West Texas.

Speaking for the press, we can say that a swank, elaborate press box is not necessary, and we feel sure the football scouts and broadcasters feel the same way about it. But one should be built that has enough room to accommodate those needing to use it. The old press box has fallen way short in this respect, as well as in all others, for the last several years.—CD.

Healthy signs from Legion posts

As a note of cheer to those Americans who have been wondering what the world is coming to, we are happy to mention that patriotism—which globalist intellectuals have been decrying as a childish if not a downright dirty word—is looking up.

The eagerness of Alaska and Hawaii for statehood were healthy signs, and from the campuses of schools and colleges comes word that loyalty is coming back into fashion. The most impressive evidence, however, comes from The American Legion, the world's greatest veterans' organization, which—like others—had been declining in membership year by year since 1953. Today, well in advance of the half-way point in its 40th Anniversary Year, we learn that there are 21,000 more paid-up Legion members than at this time a year ago.

William C. Cole Post No. 290 is a good example of the membership increase. Not only has the local post's 1959 membership quota been met, but there has been a reawakening of interest in post activities among the Legionnaires.

In turning the corner, the Legion demonstrates, perhaps, that "life begins at 40." But more significantly, we think, it reflects the dynamic leadership of its under-40 national commander, Preston J. Moore, and his insistence that the 17,000 Legion posts, in crossroads hamlets and big cities alike, set an example of loyalty to God and country in terms of greater community service. The American Legion and the post that represents it in every community in the land looms large in the pleasant picture of a nation recovering its waning spirit.

Twenty-one thousand individuals out of a three million-member organization may not be very many. But the fact that there are 21,000 MORE Legionnaires, rather than 21,000 LESS, makes all the difference.—CD.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

EVEN THE WORST of some of today's hit tunes have a little good about them if we only know where to look for it. Take, for instance, "The Battle of New Orleans." It teaches you a little bit about an important date in American history.

One of the weekly newspapers we receive on exchange tells of the preacher who announced in its columns that a "rock and roll" program would be featured at the next Sunday's services. The two hymns, he said, would be "Rock of Ages" and "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder."

JAMES WEST, principal of the Post Elementary School, sent in a good write-up last week on the Pre-School Day activities of May 8, but it came in a little too late for us to use all of it. Since the part we left out sounded pretty important, we saved it for this week. Here it is:

All of the first grade teachers—Mrs. Elizabeth Shannon, Mrs. Lucile McBride, Mrs. Ada Buchanan, Miss Lola McWhirter, Miss Marie Lusk and Mrs. Mary Mallard—decided on the items listed below as things parents can do in preparing their child for school:

1. Call the child by his real name.
2. Get his birth certificate ready.
3. Let him be vaccinated early.
4. Have him dress and undress himself.
5. Encourage him to go to bed early.
6. Encourage good eating habits.
7. Encourage good bathroom habits and self-care.
8. Take him to Sunday School.
9. Talk about "Stop" and "Go" signs.
10. Encourage him to tie his shoes.
11. Invite children of his age to the home.
12. Let him select school clothes.
13. Encourage interest in books.
14. Provide experiences with clay, paints, paste, and scissors.

Our friend up the street says one of his most difficult tasks is to convince his wife that even a bargain costs money.

JESS AND CLAUDINE Michael are looking for a home for their three-year-old male chow, Tuffy. A few days ago, Tuffy, who has never been a vicious dog, bit a child in the new neighborhood to which the Michaels recently moved, and they're hopeful of finding him a new home where there aren't many children around. "It's either that or destroy him," Claudine told us Friday.

Fortunately, the child bitten by Tuffy wasn't hurt seriously, but the Michaels—who have two children of their own—don't want to take a chance of it happening again. Claudine said it was the first time, to her knowledge, that Tuffy had bitten anyone.

WE'VE BEEN around Tuffy some when he used to follow Claudine downtown when she was employed as woman's editor of The Dispatch. Although formidable in appearance, he always seemed an even-tempered dog to us, and we're naturally dog-shy—the kind of person a dog usually makes a grab for if he's the least bit vicious.

Anyone who'd like to own Tuffy and who'd give him a good home is asked to get in touch with Jess or Claudine by telephoning 789-J or 402.

BOTH RODEOS—Senior and Junior—will have "new looks" this year as far as producers are concerned. The new producer of the Post Stampede Rodeo July 8-11 will be L. D. Ward of Trinidad, Colo., while the Double R Rodeo Ranch, Fort Worth, will produce the Junior Rodeo, which is scheduled for July 29, 30, 31 and Aug. 1. It became necessary for the seniors to find a new producer when veteran Goat Mayo quit the rodeo business. Last year's Junior Rodeo was produced by Morris Stephens of Quitaque.

Obituary
An editor died after a lingering illness. His savings barely covered hospital and doctor bills, leaving nothing for funeral expenses. A friend, after soliciting funds all day, lacked only $1 of having enough. Wearily, he asked a stranger, "Could you give me a dollar to bury the editor?" The stranger pulled out a $5 bill, and said, "Here . . . bury five of them."

Sunday Stroll
A new minister drew one of his parishioners aside. "I sincerely trust," he said, "that nothing in the sermon offended your husband. I noticed he walked out right in the middle of it."
"Oh, my," laughed the woman, "you mustn't pay any attention to George. He's been walking in his sleep ever since he was a baby."

Who's Oppressed Now?

Remembering yesteryears

Five years ago

F. M. Reep Sr., is to assume his new duties as city marshal on Monday; two German Shepherd dogs owned by H. J. Dietrich of Post won second places Sunday in the Sanctioned Match and Puppy Sweepstakes; O. B. Kelley, one of Garza County's "rip-snorting" early day sheriffs—the first one, in fact—is here on an extended visit with the Tom Sims family; the first annual Citizenship Award in the high school went to Bobby Cowdrey and Tommie Williams.

Ten years ago

R. E. Shedd, commander of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post, announced yesterday that the annual Buddy Poppy sale will be held in downtown Post Saturday; despite the weather, the 1949 Post Stampede and Rodeo was launched with a gala parade in downtown Post before the opening performance last night; funeral services for B. F. Hagood, 79, a retired Garza County farmer, are tentatively set for tomorrow afternoon at the Calvary Baptist Church; the Post Independent Consolidated School Board met at the high school building Tuesday night to discuss an architect's sketch of the proposed new grade school building; preparations are being made for the annual Spur Cowboy Jubilee and Rodeo, scheduled for June 2, 3, and 4; the Post Millers with three victories and two defeats will face Brownfield Sunday in Snyder with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Strayhorn.

10 PHS honor students pen autobiographies

Annual school year feature
 Ed. Note: This week The Dispatch carries on with its custom of publishing the autobiographies of Post High School's 10 honor students. The custom began some 15 years ago and has been continued every year since.)

KAY JONES PAYNE
 I was born in Brownfield, Texas on July 29, 1941. I discovered I was the child of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Jones and already had one brother, Howard, age 2. I didn't take me long to find out it was to deal me much misery with his teasing.

ment, was named Marianne. I wanted to name her Sally Ann after Baldrige's bread.
 Soon after this, we moved to Post. People here couldn't seem to understand me then. When the new city directory came out, I was listed as Day Dean Jones.
 I started to school in the old red brick school building. Mother and Daddy had been on a trip, so I started a week later than the other kids. My first day at school ended in tragedy—I made all my D's backwards.
 Finally, I made it to high school. I was an eighth grader. Then, at mid-term, disaster fell. The new junior high building was completed and I was forced to leave high school for it. I managed to struggle on with graduation. Then, I was a freshman and in high school to stay. Since that time, the years have flown by. The last four years have been one big whirlwind of fun.
 In February of this year, I experienced the happiest day of my life—my wedding day. On the 14th, I married Jackie Payne.
 Now I am actually ready to graduate. And to add to the excitement of this, I am valedictorian. This I had been striving for ever since Howard graduated with that honor. I feel that my Mother and Daddy and teachers are more responsible for my good grades than I am. They encouraged me to study and expected me to make A's.

 I face graduation with mixed feelings. I will leave Post High with regret, but I am looking forward to the future with hope and anticipation.

ALICE FRANCES BARRON
 The whole business started on April 28, 1942. A bomb greater than that at Pearl Harbor landed—Me. I was born at Lamesa Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Jim F. Barron and was promptly named after both. I was the cutest kid you ever saw. Of course, things have changed now.
 For the next four years I lived about 18 miles from town. I spent time running my parents nuts, fighting off my big brother, James, and growing up in general.
 When I was four, a tragedy struck our home; my little sister Dianna, arrived. From then on there was no peace. I just couldn't resist pinching her!
 At the age of five, my mother decided it was about time for me to get smart. She borrowed some books, and off we went. It was a daily tussle, but it paid off the next year when I started to school at Welch in the second grade.

In February of 1949, our family jumped in the jalopy and moved to a farm about five miles west of Post. I was very disappointed in the place because there was no sand to play "cars" in.
 I started to school at Close City and found that the kids were a lot of fun. I spent most of my time playing baseball with the boys or thinking of ways to make them mad.
 When I started to the eighth grade, things really began to pop. I started to Post High School. I was really scared to death and came too close for comfort to getting a whipping the first day. Things finally began to settle down and at mid-term the eighth grade moved to the new Junior High building. We were the first class to graduate from that building in May of 1955.
 During this time, I spent my summers chasing rabbits and my brother in the cotton patch with my hoe.

When I started to high school, my brother started to Wayland College and I was left to "slop the hogs", which didn't exactly appeal to me. My high school days were crammed with games, parties, crushes, and the inevitable tests.
 In my Sophomore year, we dressed up like Negroes to serve at the Jr.-Sr. banquet but the next year we had the privilege to fix the banquet and go too. My junior year brought more important things such as the Jr. play and the Jr.-Sr. banquet.

 At the end of my junior year I was looking forward to a wonderful, complete senior year. However this was not meant to be. On July 3, 1958, my best friend, Barbara Kay Gary, was killed in an accident.
 In spite of everything, this last year has really been grand. I had a lot of fun preparing the senior play and attending the gorgeous banquet prepared for us by the juniors.
 About one day from now, we are to leave on the long anticipated senior trip. Then a few days later graduation; after we have staggered through final tests.
 Next fall I plan to enroll in Wayland Baptist College and major in Speech.

"I Think Spec Loves Me — But He Never Comes Right Out With Anything I Can Put My Finger Through!"

LINDA BARTLETT
 On Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 27, 1941, at approximately 8:30 a. m., the Durward Bartletts were presented a baby girl, which weighed about eight pounds. She was named Linda Kay Bartlett. I, Linda Kay, was born on the farm where I have lived all my life, with the exception of the six months in which we lived in California for my oldest sister's health.
 Before I started to school most of my time was spent on my tricycle, Daddy's tractor, and playing with animals. My favorite pets were Patsy, our dog, and our cat Fluff, which was as big as I was.
 When my sister, Beverly, started to school I was about three and I tried my best to do everything she did. Four years later much to my disappointment, my birthday fell on the wrong day and I didn't get to start to school until I was seven. But due to the knowledge I had picked up from Beverly I passed the first two grades my first year at Close City. So I wasn't behind my classmates any more.
 When I was eight, I became the proud sister of a baby brother, Jimmy, and then two years later Barbara, my youngest sister was born. Now I was no longer the baby of the family and did I feel big!

 After attending the Close City School from the first through the seventh grades, I began my eighth year at Post. After one semester in the new Junior High I graduated from the eighth grade and at last became a "Fish."
 During my freshman and sophomore years I spent most of my time studying and getting accustomed to the big upperclassmen. But my freshman and sophomore years were soon past and I became a big junior.
 In my junior year the activities really began. The highlights of my junior year were the Junior Play, in which I was happy to be a part, and the junior-senior banquet.
 Then my most memorable high school year began — my senior year. There were the money-making bake sales, the chili supper, and the Halloween carnival. And I will never forget the Senior Play, "Hillbilly Wedding", which we had so much fun presenting, the junior-senior banquet, and the senior trip to Colorado Springs. Yet to come are the baccalaureate ser-monies and the commencement exercises, which will always be remembered.

 In the summer of 1958 at the beginning of my senior year, I became engaged to Glenn Dale Wheatley and my greatest wish is to become a good wife and mother.

DON DAVIES
 I was born on Dec. 7, 1940, in a small house just inside the former city limits on the west side of town. The house has long since been gone, but it has now been replaced by many others. I was brought into this world by Dr. D. C. Williams and for the first several weeks my nurse was Mrs. Sara Harrison.
 While celebrating my first birthday we received the news that the Japanese had bombed Pearl Harbor and that cut short our celebration. On my second birthday we also had a limited celebration because of a two-foot snow which hindered my guests from attending my party. It seems as though there was always some kind of an unforeseen hindrance.
 AND NOW SCHOOL — I entered school on Sept. 2, 1947, and my mother tells me that I liked my first year very much. Some of my classmates who started to school with me and have continued on and are now graduating with me are Boyd Dodson, Sidney Hart, Billy Williams, Jerry Windham, Maritta Pennell Reed, Jimmy Short, Sammy Sanders, Herbie Hays, Ruth Ann Long, Marshall Ticer, Victor Hudman, and Kay Martin. I also remember that I always wanted to go back and swing after school. During my third year of school I suffered, what now is funny, but at the time was a very embarrassing situation. At the time I was riding a bicycle to school every morning and this particular day I got mixed up and came home to dinner during recess. You would never know that a bicycle could go as fast as mine did when I found out what I had done. But, you know, they would never have missed me if I hadn't told my teacher.

 In about the fourth grade I moved along with my class, into the new grade school and I continued on there for the next four years.

In the eighth grade I spent the first half of the year in the high school building and at mid-term I moved into the new junior high where I graduated into high school in the spring of 1955.
 In my high school career I have had many happy hours. I have always tried to cooperate with my fellow classmates in every way possible. During my four high school years I have been a member on there for the next four years. (See AUTOBIOGRAPHIES, Page 7)

Bible Thoughts
"Yes, We Believe The Bible"
 by RONNIE PARKER

The Bible is a revelation from God to man. It is supernatural communication of such things as man had never known and could not discover by natural means. It reveals Man's origin, God's character, the true relationship that should exist between God and man, how man can be saved from sin, and the immortality of the soul and future life.
 If the Bible does not contain God's revelation to man, then there is no divine communication of truth. If he has not here made known his will, then we know not the will of God. If God has not spoken here, then no man has ever heard His voice. We know not who or what we are, whence we came, why we are here, where we are going. Existence is an enigma, life a mystery, and death a leap into darkness.
 If the Bible is not inspired of God, it is a book of shameless, pretentious falsehoods. If the writers were not guided by Him, they were vile impostors, false pretenders and deceitful hypocrites—for the Bible claims to be inspired. "But men moved by the Holy Spirit spoke from God" (I Pet. 1:12).

Double ring ceremony unites Miss Ida Polk, Ivan Jones

A background of palm trees flanked by candelabra and arrangements of white gladioli formed the setting for the Friday evening wedding of Miss Ida Odell Polk of Fort Worth and Ivan Lee Jones of Post.

Dr. James N. Morgan, pastor, read the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p. m. at the North Fort Worth Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Polk of Rosebud and Mr. and Mrs. E. Z. Jones of Post.

Given in marriage by her brother, James R. Polk of Rosebud, the bride was attired in a floor-length dress of imported Chantilly lace and nylon over taffeta. The lace bodice featured a low scalloped neckline and long fitted sleeves. The bouffant skirt was designed with net and four inserts of lace extending to the floor. She wore a waist-length veil of illusion falling from a small crown and carried white glameillas on a white Bible. She also wore pearl jewelry.

Mrs. Lauren Phillips of Segwick, Kans., attended her twin sister as matron of honor. Mrs. Clarence Gunn of Post, niece of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Robert Hoes of Hurst, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore identically styled dresses in pastel shades and carried bouquets of pink gladioli.

Miss Nancy Halbert of Fort Worth was flower girl and Ronnie Hoes of Hurst, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Attending his brother as best man was Bernie Jones of Post. Cousins of the bridegroom, Ned Price of Hurst and Thomas Brown of Euless, were groomsmen and William Boyer and John Deets ushered and lighted candles.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Fellowship Hall where decorations in pink and white were carried out. Members of the houseparty were Misses Laura Tannahill, Jean Boswell, Joanne Tidwell and Mmes. Forrest Lykins, Harold Cheek of Dallas, Glenn Richardson and Thomas Brown of Euless.

For a wedding trip to Galveston, the bride chose a tailored dress of beige lace and black accessories. They are at home here where Jones is engaged in farming.

Mrs. Jones graduated from Decatur Baptist College and Baylor University and attended Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. Her husband attended school at Close City.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bates, Susie and Sheila, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Jones and Rita Fern, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gunn and Doreen, all of Post; Mrs. Lauren Phillips of Sedgwick, Kans., Mr. and Mrs. Troy McDaniel, Terri and Gary, of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. J. H.

Corner on Cotton

BY BOB COLLINS

More and more cotton farmers are using weather and temperature records to reduce planting risks . . . too, better weather forecasts are fast being developed . . . we know of one farming operation that makes maximum use of the forecast . . . first these farmers use the 30-day forecast to estimate amount of feed pastures will produce in early spring and make plans for land preparation, advancing or delaying cotton planting . . . also use forecast to decide about applying nitrogen or water and to estimate insect infestation as well as having a basis for hiring cotton pickers . . . figures show that the odds are 10 to 8 that the 30-day forecasts are helpful . . . five-day forecast is the most valuable, though . . . it is usually more accurate and allows enough time for making necessary adjustments in the farming program.

Doctor's Aid

A certain type of gauze made from cotton, of course, can be left in surgical wounds without danger . . . the body absorbs the cotton within a short time . . . big use is in stopping blood flow.

Differences Out

The government has announced differences for grade and staple for the support program . . . this year for the first time there are split grades for the "loan" . . . Middling one inch at average locations is 34.10 cents per pound for "A" cotton and 28.40 cents for "B" cotton.

Inventories Low

Cotton mill inventories of unsold cloth were the lowest in three years as February ended, a survey has just indicated . . . at the same time the backlog of orders rose to equal 12 weeks of production . . . up four weeks from February a year ago.

Crop Guess

Some of the folks in the USDA are guessing . . . that's what it is a guess . . . that the 1959 crop will be about 14.5 million bales . . . that's a 25 per cent increase . . . talk is that exports could double this year's . . . really sounds good, but who knows ???

Duster reported at Red Loflin offset

General American Oil Co.'s No. 1-27 Koonman, southwest offset to Red Loflin production, has been plugged and abandoned at 8,296 feet.

The operator indicated it may be used as a salt water disposal well at some later date.

The failure is located 10 miles southwest of Justinburg.

GUESTS OF CLABORNS

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Claborn Sr. were Irene Claborn of Lubbock, Howard McLaurin of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Claborn of Hale Center, and Mr. and Mrs. Fay Claborn and Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Williams, all of Post.

A Church Not Supported Weekly Is Weakly Supported

More than Beauty

This young woman is a person everyone likes and enjoys being near. Is it because of her beauty . . . perhaps in a small and unimportant way; but beauty alone can be deceitful and arrogant. This woman possesses something more, and of far greater value; for she has learned that a warm, friendly and sincere smile is a finer blessing than mere prettiness can ever be. A smile is the outward expression of the heart. It is love, gladness and a deep abiding serenity rolled into one. It is the light which shines in the night of sadness; the helping hand that lifts the weary; the understanding touch that soothes the troubled. Begin now to plant the seeds of future smiles in your life. Find the peace of mind that can be yours by regular attendance in your church. Enjoy in your heart the wonderful feeling of serenity by worshipping God in His House . . . and you will show through the warm and friendly smile on your face your thanks for His bountiful blessings.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

BARBARA SHYTTLES

I was born in Stamford, Texas, on April 7, 1941. My memory is a little foggy about the first few years of my life but I do remember following my grandfather around in a pair of high heel shoes. When I was three years old, however, the high heel shoes got burned up. I was playing with some matches, and dropped the matches in my doll buggy, because my finger got burned. Needless to say my room got burned down.

In the first grade I had eleven teachers in one year. They couldn't hire a teacher to stay, so substitute teachers taught throughout the year.

Through the second and third grades, I rode bicycles, stood in the corner for talking, and swung on the trapeze bars just like everybody else. I was very disturbed about getting the chicken pox that year. I had them during the Christmas holidays and didn't miss a day of school.

In the fourth grade, during a sandstorm, I moved to Post, Texas.

The fifth, sixth, and seventh grades must have been pretty dull. I was too old for dolls and too young to drive a car or date. My eighth grade year and freshman year things began to look up. Football games and being cheerleader made the year and all the rest special. Elvis Presley records were the thing at our Friday night slumber parties.

A major crisis called Algebra II developed my sophomore year. The Post-Looney game was a highlight of that year along with the football banquet.

Junior play was fun, and working on the Jr. Sr. banquet was fun too, until the crepe paper ceiling stretched and fell down.

The summers were mostly filled with rodeos, Methodist camps and assemblies, swimming, and making the "drag".

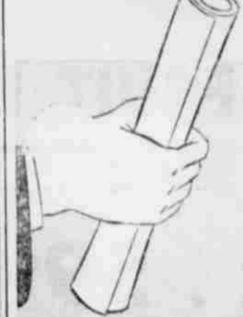

As I look back over my senior year, several different things come to my mind. The speech trip to Waco, the homecoming game and last pep rally, my second crisis, shorthand, and the Jr.-Sr. banquet, and all the wonderful days in PHS.

My thoughts now turn forward to the senior trip, graduation, and the future.

RUTH ANN LONG

I was born July 3, 1941, at Crowell, Texas, to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Long. What I lacked being born on the 4th was only a matter of a few hours. Daddy really wasn't too excited about me, after all he already had a boy, Don Wayne. I lived "down on the creek" at Thalia until I was two years old, and then we moved to Post. I had a normal childhood, growing up on our ranch about 12 miles from Post like all other tomboys. One day Mother decided it was time for me to get some book learning so she took me to the school. I thought this would be a picnic. It wasn't but it was too late then to back out. About the only distinction I had in elementary school was as "little Ruth Ann." When I was in the second grade I came just short of joining the angels as a result of being thrown from my horse and gaining a fractured skull.

Each year it seemed as though it would be an eternity until I graduated, but somehow I finally reached high school, and then things began to pick up. And now, here I am a Big Senior. How did I ever get in the top ten of the Class of 1959? Well, Daddy said he paid the teachers to give me a good grade because he felt sorry for me for being so dumb. Personally, I don't believe him.

KAY MARTIN

April, 1941, brought showers to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Martin—baby showers. They could probably have used rain more but, instead, they got me. I don't think they were too disappointed though, because now there was a play mate for five year old Joy.

We spent five exciting years on the farm, and then decided to move four miles to the city of Post. Did you know that there aren't horses, cows, chickens, and pigs in town? I didn't, and it took me quite a while to get used to it.

To help me get acquainted with the ways of the town, I was enrolled in the Post Grade School. In grade school, I proved a regular country girl; I was first baseman of the boys' fifth grade champion baseball team. I had to quit playing with them in the seventh grade because my hair grew too long to stick under the baseball cap. The next year was dull from the fact I wasn't on the team, but exciting from the idea that I was graduating from the eighth grade.

High school was reached at last! It wasn't as glamorous as I had imagined it, but there was something about it that made me spend the next four years of my life there.

As a poor freshman, I received the usual underclass treatment. Somehow, I managed to withstand the punishment for the next three years, and now, here I am on top. No longer a country girl nor underclassman, but now a young lady starting out to seek what life has to offer. I will start the search by attending college.

I could not have come this far alone. I have had the help of such wonderful people as my family, teachers at school and church, and many others. To each of them I would like to express my sincere "thanks", and I hope that I may prove worthy of their guidance.

VICTOR HUDMAN

I was born June 4, 1941. In December of that year the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor. This led to my moving to California when I was two years old. Daddy was in the Navy and stationed at San Diego, so we went out where he was.

After the war we came home to Post, where I started to grade school when I was six.

The next few years started slowly and ended with the most hectic pace I thought possible. I was soon to learn that this was slow compared to high school, however.

After graduating from junior high at the end of the eighth grade, I went into high school, which was harder than I had imagined it to be. Now, after four years, I have reached the coveted goal of being a member of a high school graduating class, along with the priceless memories that go with it.

JIMMY SHORT

"Merry Christmas!" This was the conversation of the day when I was born, that being Dec. 24, 1940. Weighing nine pounds and five ounces, I could hardly come down the chimney, so the Littlefield Memorial Hospital served as my "deliverer." My doctor was Mr. J. R. Coen, who has brought four Short kids into the world.

I didn't raise too much excitement around the Short house, as there were four ahead of me. I managed to cry my way into some attention, which I tried my best to hold continually.

My memories of Littlefield are very vague, since we moved to Post when I was only five. I do remember that I was definitely not in favor of moving, but I grew accustomed to Post, and soon learned to love it.

Amid much disappointment on my part and much encouragement on the part of my parents, I started attending the first grade at the old grade school. I enjoyed the first grade so thoroughly that I wanted to stay there all my life. I was not happy at all when they kept pushing me up to higher grades and piling more work on me.

My main problem in grade school was not being able to go where I wanted to, when I wanted to. Frequently, I would politely get up from my chair and trot out of the room to do what I wanted to, and not what my teacher wanted me to. After several—shall we say—"pats" in the right place, I managed to overcome my desires for independence.

When in the fourth grade, we moved over to the new grade school, where I spent two and a half years. Here I had the average number of girls to "claim", but my main interests were basketball and baseball. Our fifth grade team won the school championship that year, and from then on, we were despised by the eighth graders.

Finally reaching the eighth grade, I was privileged to graduate as valedictorian of my class from the new junior high.

At last, I was a full-fledged "high-schooler." My dreams quickly turned to illusions when I found out that it wasn't "all play and no work." However, I was determined to do my share of the work, so I pitched in and tried my best to do my best.

The next year I was elected president of my class, and also made the starting team on the varsity basketball squad, both of which I was very proud.

My junior year was just as much fun as the first two, if not more. That year, I served as president of the National Honor Society, and was elected Student Council president for the following year. I was also selected to the All-District basketball team.

A Senior! That word holds a magic sound that is heard only by those who are seniors for that all-too-short year. It hardly seems possible that I could have attended 12 years of school! This has been a most wonderful year—one that I shall never forget. My most treasured memories are those of the Jr.-Sr. Banquet, the Athletic Banquet, and the Senior Play. A dream came true when our team won co-championship of our district. I made All-District again and received honorable mention for All-State. I'll always be thankful for having competed in such a wonderful sport as basketball. I am looking forward to attending college, but I have not made up my mind which one to attend as yet.

I am thankful for my wonderful parents, who have made my education possible, and who have been so patient in guiding me along the right paths. I am also very grateful to my teachers and other friends who have offered their time and efforts to help me in times of disappointment. I hope that some day I will be able to repay them.

JANET STEPHENS

After being duly accepted as inevitable, my birth, on Nov. 2, 1940, in Post, was neither an occasion of great joy nor one of excitement—you see, I was the seventh child to make my entrance to the Stephens family.

No one ever paid much attention to me, except to fish me out of trash cans, mud puddles, or other similar fascinating locations. Every time I'd tag along anywhere, Pat and Bill would run off and leave me. After we moved to Lubbock when I was three, this usually resulted in Mother's having to get out and hunt me.

We lived across the street from Tech until we moved back to Post. Boy, was that a blast! To continue: Along about the time I was really enjoying my "Cokes" from the college boys, we moved back to Post. I was five and one-half at the time. Was I crushed!

Daddy moved us out on a farm in the Graham community. Everyone in the family was in school but me. Mother begged Daddy to start me, too, but she had me in her hair for another year.

I don't remember much about my first few years in school. I was always smaller than everyone else until about the fifth or sixth grade when I suddenly sprouted up about two inches taller than everyone else. Pat Dodson and I began playing on Graham's basketball team that year—we thought we were big deals! We also had been going to "Play Day" every year. I always beat everyone else—just because my legs were a foot longer than theirs. (My mother kept telling me I'd fatten up. What a laugh!).

Doing everything we could to get out of class, Pat and I finally managed to graduate. How in the world I was ever valedictorian, I'll never know.

Aside from shaking in my shoes and my knees knocking, I wasn't a bit scared to start school in Post. The high school didn't seem a big bigger than Grand Central Station after our one room at Graham. And the girls in fourth period gym (basketball team) just about scared me to death leaving me. Especially the Josey twins and Betty Sue Norman. They gave us fits nearly every day. I was afraid I couldn't make good grades in Post as easily as we did at Graham, and when our cards came out, I couldn't look at them. Being a sophomore or a Junior wasn't too different, except that when you're a junior, you know you have only a year to go. When I got to be a senior, I still felt as if I were just 16 and a sophomore. We've had loads of fun this year, with all the money-raising projects, basketball games, parties, and goof-offs. Looking ahead now, I'm suddenly afraid to graduate because the happiest and fullest years of my life were spent in high school—I'll miss it.

Drillstem tests hold promise of producers

Drillstem testing news was good this week from two deep tests in southern Garza County, but not so good from a third.

Both oil and salt water were recovered this week in a drillstem test of the Strawn formation at United States Smelting, Refining and Mining Company's No. 1 Lora N. Sims, two miles northeast of the Red Loflin pool in southern Garza County.

The three-hour test had developed gas at the surface in ten minutes with no estimate given as to volume. Recovery from the 7,923 to 7,975 Strawn zone was 45 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud, 1,150 feet of oil and 963 feet of salt water.

The hole has been deepened to 8,030 feet for another Strawn drillstem.

General American Oil Co. is drilling below 7,990 feet at its No. 1-677 Koonsman, one location south and the same distance east of the two-well southeast extension area to the Red Loflin pool after two four-hour drillstem tests of the Strawn recovered good oil shows in two sections of the Strawn.

The test, in section 677, block 97 H&TC survey surfaced gas in 10 minutes and returned 30 feet of mud, 3,740 feet of oil, 250 feet of gas-cut mud, and 150 feet of oil and gas-cut salt water, plus 60 feet of oil from below circulating sub. from 7,762 to 7,850 feet. In another test of the same length at 7,945 to 7,910 feet, gas surfaced in 22 minutes with 650 feet of oil and 500 feet of oil and gas-cut mud recovered.

Drillstems at General American's No. 1-J Slaughter in section 21, block 1, Jasper Hays survey, three-quarters of a mile east of the Southwest Lazy J.L. Pennsylvanian pool opener, brought bad news from a third.

A two-hour test of the Strawn at 8,006 to 8,073 feet returned 30 feet of mud, 150 feet of salt water and 30 feet of slightly gas-cut mud.

Another test of the same length at 8,070 to 8,173 feet returned 30 feet of salty mud and 7,121 feet of salt water.

Southwest Oil Corporation of Fort Worth announced it will drill a north offset to its recent 1 1/2-mile northwest outpost to the Rocker A San Andres pool as the No. 1 Spartan-CConnell, 330 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines of section 12, block 3, GH&H survey, a 3,500 foot test.

Treatment water wells discussed by speaker here

Brad Coty of the Coty Chemical Co. of Lubbock addressed the Permian Basin Waterworks and Sewerage Association in a dinner meeting in City Hall here Tuesday night on the subject of chemical treatment of water wells.

Use of chemicals, Coty pointed out, was the most important method of opening of wells to increase the water flow. He said acids were the most successful chemicals.

Chemical treatment doesn't need to boost water output a great deal to more than pay for itself, Coty said.

Chemicals, he concluded, are not a "cure all" but he said they are "a useful and economical means of making better water wells."

He said that lots of synthetic detergents are used in water wells, just as in households, to clear away plugging material. There are a few cases, he added, that alkali seltzer was dumped into water wells.

Some 85 were registered for the dinner session.

Mayor Powell Shytles made a short welcoming address and introduced the many Post guests invited to the association's meeting.

The next session of the organization is scheduled for June 16 in Slaton.

Rotary hears of city planning

The objectives and costs of city planning were explained to Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon by Guy L. McCraw of the Dallas engineering and planning firm of Homer A. Hunter Associates.

McCraw appeared before the city council two weeks ago to explain his firm's planning procedures.

In answer to a question as to cost, McCraw said a complete city plan for Post would cost approximately $9,800 of which a federal agency would pay half. The city would pay something like $1,500 a year for three years to pay its share.

"A realistic city cannot afford not to plan," McCraw declared.

He said such a city plan would start with a complete survey of the community, including a lot by lot determination of land usage, plus surveys of the business district, industrial potential, and municipal facilities. Such a city plan would include a long-range capital improvements program designed to keep the town abreast of its growth in a way the town could afford.

Mrs. Joan Stewart, our new Dispatch reporter and teletype setter operator, came to work Tuesday with the best snake story of the spring season. She and her husband, Eddie, who is a cowboy on the Slaughter Ranch, live in one of the homes on the big ranch property. When Joan got up Tuesday morning and went into the bathroom she was startled to find a rattlesnake curled up on the dressing table. Exit Joan.

Mrs. Carl Cederholm was pleased the other day to receive an airmailed gift from the Marshall Masons who are vacationing in Hawaii. What was it—a very attractive hula skirt of course.

Garza County stands to benefit substantially if Governor Daniel signs into law a bill passed by the Texas legislature at its recent regular session. The bill would take Terry and Yoakum from the present six-county 106th judicial district and along with Hockley and Cockeran counties out of the 72nd district at Lubbock would create a new judicial district, the 121st. This would give District Judge Truett Smith only four counties under his jurisdiction and enable him to devote more of his time to each of the four counties—Garza, Lynn, Dawson, and Gaines. For example with more time, Judge Smith wouldn't have to try to work seven Garza cases into his busy six-county schedule because one damage suit took up the week he had assigned for this session of the Garza district court.

Little League, Pony League play to open Monday

Post mayor to take part in pre-game ceremonies

With a pre-game ceremony scheduled, the Little League and Pony League baseball season will open Monday evening, May 25, Mayor Henderson, president of the city baseball organization, said.

Opening games will find Post High School's Yankees meeting the First National Bank's Dodgers in a Little League game, and the Bob Dyer Drug White Sox playing the Cubs in a Pony League contest. The Cubs are sponsored by Dickerson Printing and Texas Electric.

There will also be two games Monday evening. In the first, the Civic Club's Tigers will meet the Green Bros. Red Sox in a Little League game, and the Garza Tire Braves will square off against the Levi's Ranch Cafe Indians in a Pony League set.

Henderson said the brief pre-game ceremony will include throwing out the first ball by Mayor Powell.

According to the schedule released this week by league officials, games will be played on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings through July 14.

The first game each evening will be between Little League teams, with the Pony League games being played on the field soon after the younger boys have finished their game.

The first game each evening will get under way at about 7 o'clock, according to the league officials.

There has been one managerial change. Robert Wynne, who was to have managed the Braves of the Pony League, will be unable to pilot the team, and Sponsor Max Gordon was in the process this week of finding another manager.

METHODIST PASTOR IS GUEST SPEAKER

'Space Travel' theme highlight of band banquet held Saturday

"Space Travel" was the theme of the annual Post Antelope band banquet held Saturday night in the school cafeteria.

The banquet room was appropriately decorated with "little travelers from outer space" and other decorations to carry out the general theme.

The Rev. Eugene Matthews, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was the principal speaker. He told his audience that anything worthwhile is worth working for and that this certainly applies to a band. A successful band he said, requires sacrifices and hard work individually and teamwork collectively.

Boyd Dodson, band president, was master of ceremonies for the program, which included music by the "Sandsmen" from McMurry College, Abilene. Gene Young, a former member of the Post band, is a member of the McMurry group.

The meal was prepared by mothers of band members, who included Mrs. W. C. Carradine, Mrs. M. L. Pierce, Mrs. Isaacs, Mrs. Robert Cox and Mrs. Robert Meisch. Parents of band members also served the meal.

Band Director Bob Meisch credited the success of the banquet to the work of the various committees, which were:

Decorations: Sandra Martin, Beverly Young, Judy Clary, Daniela Bateman, Brenda Sullenger, Rodger Sullenger and Boyd Dodson.

Place Cards: Ruthell Martin, Frankie Howell, Linda Taylor and Raynora Young.

Tahoka names Jacobs as athletic director

TAHOKA — L. F. (Jake) Jacobs has been named director of athletics for the Tahoka schools following the resignation of Coach Bill Haralson, who has accepted the head coaching job at Childress High School.

Jacobs is high school boys' basketball coach and principal of North Elementary School. As athletic director, he will coordinate and direct the athletic and physical education programs in the schools.

PS in... SPORTS

By CHARLES DIDWAY

Area football and basketball coaches are doing a real "switcheroo" as the 1958-59 school year draws to a close. There are very few high schools on the South Plains that have not had changes in their coaching staffs—or will have by the time the 1959-60 term opens.

And, Post High School is one of several schools having an almost complete turn-over in their coaching staff. Three other District 3-AA high schools with almost as big a turn-over in coaches are Spur, Slaton and Tahoka, leaving only Floydada with about the same coaches as the ones with which they started the year.

It'll make next year's football and basketball campaigns more interesting—seeing what new coaching blood will do to some of the schools' athletic programs.

This season's Little League and Pony League play should be the most interesting since the youth baseball program was inaugurated here four years ago—with only a Little League operating that first season.

Having four hometown Pony League teams will make it much more interesting than only two, playing in a four-team out-of-town league, as has been the case the past two seasons.

As always, much of the success of the Little League and Pony League seasons will depend on the amount of help the youngsters get from the adults—such as umpiring, managing, score-keeping, etc. Also helping will be the response the fans make when the hat is passed at each game for cash contributions. That is the only way the leagues are able to keep on an even keel financially, since no admission is charged.

The third place trophy the Post High School girls' volleyball team won in the state tournament at Abilene was presented to the school Friday to be added to the trophy case collection. The presentation was made by two members of the team, Pat Wheatley and Kay Martin, at Friday's awards assembly, with Principal Glenn Whittenberg accepting the 14 earn letters for track work

Thirteen Post High School track lettermen, only three of whom are graduating, were named by Coach Frank Krhut at the high school's annual awards assembly Friday afternoon.

Seniors who lettered were Jerry Windham, Charles Morris and Billy Williams.

Lettermen who will return next year are Curtis Didway, Dan Rankin, Derwood Mayberry, Delwin Fluitt, Glendon Washburn, Wayne Hair, Scotty Pierce, Kenny Poole, Clarence Ivie and Tommy Boucher.

A student manager's letter was earned by Jerry Stone.

In announcing the awards, Krhut said the track squad had showed remarkable improvement over last season by running Floydada a close second for the team championship in the District 3-AA meet.

"We scored 48 points in the district meet as compared with only four or five points in the 1958 meet," the coach said.

He added that the trackmen's performances this year were especially good considering that they have no track on which to practice. All practice sessions were held on the football field, since the ground stayed too dry for a practice track to be dragged off.

The coach said the 10 returning lettermen are a good nucleus for a winning team next season.

Six of the boys lettering in track also lettered in football and basketball. They are Morris, Didway, Rankin, Mayberry, Pierce and Poole.

Marianne Jones was voted freshman cheerleader and Vonda Howell was chosen freshman majorette. Congratulations girls!

School colors were chosen last week and much to everyone's surprise when the votes were counted Black and White won by quite a majority. Well, you know us 8th graders!

Barton Henderson, 8th grader, caught a baby possum and was trying to feed it from a tiny bottle. He soon found out it would eat much better if it put its head down a pint milk carton spout and ate from there. Good Luck Barton!

Well kids, tomorrow is the day we've been waiting for. Junior High School students will be dismissed Friday noon and will come back Monday at 1 o'clock to receive their report cards.

Sunday afternoon the Presbyterian W.F. youth group went to Lubbock to play miniature golf and eat. We played at the Town and Country course which has 18 holes on each side of the walk. Roger Camp broke both the course records that had been made on each side. He walked out with seasonal passes to play miniature golf again and four show passes. What's your secret, Roger?

Post chapter of FFA wins publicity award

The Post chapter of Future Farmers of America won the publicity award at the Mesa District FFA banquet held Saturday in Lamesa, D. H. Koeninger, chapter advisor, announces.

Jimmy Hodges, Jerry Stone and Koeninger represented the Post chapter at the meeting, with Hodges attending as voting delegate from the Post chapter.

The morning was spent by the vocational agriculture teachers in passing on applicants for the State Farmer degree and in selecting award winners.

In the afternoon, the boys held a business meeting, at which they elected Larry Brewer of O'Donnell as candidate for area officer, and David Hill of Seminole as area officer nominee.

The FFA members also decided to revise their FFA constitution and appointed a committee to do the work. They decided to hold six district meetings next year.

Jerry Batson of Ackerly, district president, presided at the meeting.

At the banquet, it was announced that 21 boys had submitted application for the State Farmer degree and that all of them had been selected for the honor. It was also announced that two boys applying for the American Farmer degree had met the requirements.

All of the boys were sent on to the area convention to be held in Midland on May 29.

A rock 'n' roll group from Seagraves won the talent contest at the district banquet, and the Lamesa chapter's FFA sweetheart was selected to represent the district in the area contest.

Approximately 75 members and guests were present at the district affair.

Trends and outlook for 'King Cotton' are told

By speaker at fashion show, program

"You're cotton people, just like the rest of us on the South Plains," Wilmer Smith of New Home told a crowd of about 250 Friday night at the second annual All-Cotton Style Show and Program in the grade school auditorium.

Smith, who is vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., said "basically the livelihood of all of us in the Plains area is based on cotton."

In speaking on "Trends and Outlook for the Cotton Industry," Smith declared "King Cotton has made a counter-attack on synthetic fibers."

"Last year," he said, "cotton gained at the expense of synthetics."

Behind this successful counter-attack, he explained, is the fact that through research cotton can now do anything any other fabric can do.

He told of the work of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., in helping bring about a much better deal for light-spotted cotton for the 1959 and 1960 crops.

In pointing out the value of research, he said "some of the things just in front of us could revolutionize such events as the style show you are about to stage here."

"Reduction in the cost of production is one of the things likely to revolutionize the cotton industry," Smith declared.

"We're just at the break-through point in these far-reaching developments," he continued. "In the meantime," he went on, "the best thing we can do is buy cotton and support cotton."

Smith was introduced by County Agent Lewis C. Herron, and his talk followed two songs by the Post High School girls sextet. The singers—Alice Joy Nichols, Kay Martin, Sharon Jobe, Janene Haynie, Sandra Kennedy and Karen Potts — were accompanied at the piano by their director, Georgie M. Willson.

Miss Jessie Pearce, county home demonstration agent, presented a plaque to the county 4-H dress revue winner, Miss Beatrice Kiesel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kiesel. The dress revue winner is a Southland High School student.

Plaques to winners in the 4-H cotton production contest went to Jerry Ligon for the best dryland yield and to J. W. Payton for the best irrigated yield. Jerry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvus Davis of the Graham community and J. W. is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Payton of the Pleasant Valley community. The plaques were awarded by Herron.

The style show opened following the drawing for door prizes, presided over by Johnny Hopkins, manager of the Post Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring organization of the Cotton Week observance. The prizes—Garza sheets and pillow cases—were furnished by Postex Mills, Inc.

The fashion show was on a theme of "Fashions Around the Clock," with Mrs. Willard Kirkpatrick as narrator. Background piano music was played by Boyd Dodson.

Merchants participating in the fashion show were Hundley's Men's Wear, Dunlap's Department Store, Parsons Dress Shop, Maxine's Gift Shop, Marshall-Brown, Frangleigh Fashions, and Herring's.

Lone Star Agriculture

The Texas land boom—how long will it last?

By JOHN C. WHITE
 Commissioner of Agriculture

Texas farm land prices have been booming for 10 years, and the 6 per cent dollar-value increase shown from 1957 to 1958 indicates that the peak has not yet been reached.

What are the factors forcing a continued inflation of Texas land prices? A 25-county study to determine some of these factors was made last year, and the result was an interesting picture of what generally is happening in the Texas agricultural land market today.

The first and most obvious strengthening factor in the market both in Texas and elsewhere is the increasing population as opposed to the fixed amount of land available. This is a simple supply-demand situation which is intensified in our state because of its above-normal population increase.

Another major price-determining factor for land has to do with land characteristics, such as its fertility, soil texture, water supply, cover, wildlife and sub-surface minerals — such as oil. Most of these are agricultural characteristics, however, and the present market price of farm land generally is higher than can be justified by its value for crop or livestock production. For the answer as to why farm land prices are out of reason for farming purposes, most people concerned have named mineral activity. Mineral value in land for sale, however, is mostly speculative, because once minerals are found on a parcel of land, production begins and the land involved is practically frozen in ownership and is removed from the land market.

Next to being mineral-rich, perhaps the most fetching quality of land on today's market has to do with its location. During the past two decades, improved urban working conditions and reduced working hours have made it possible for city and townfolk to enter the farm land business. More than a few town dwellers have gone to the country in search of acreage and a profitable sideline in farming.

Also on the location value side of the picture is the tremendous conversion of agricultural land into a real estate gold mine. This has been especially true in Texas where every city of any size has sprawled its housing developments and industries over pastures or cotton patches.

All these market improvement factors combine to make one other total factor: More and more land is becoming tightly held and taken off the market altogether, ever lessening the amount of land available to a greater number of people. So long as our economy is sound, it seems inevitable that the value of useful or potentially useful land has only one way to go — up.

Tractor contest results not in Kenneth Thompson, Garza County FFA tractor driving champion, competed in the district tractor operating contest at Lubbock recently, but the outcome of the contest has not been announced pending the performances of two other county champions.

Because of weather conditions, only three boys showed up for the contest. Thinking weather conditions were too bad, two of the boys went home, but another place was found to hold the contest and Kenneth competed.

D. H. Koeninger, who is young Thompson's vocational ag teacher and FFA chapter advisor, said the judges were highly complimentary of the work done by the Post youth in the contest. Earl Rogers, local Ford tractor dealer and sponsor of the county contest, said it was the best showing a Post boy has ever made in the district contest.

Post High Highlights

By KIM PIERCE and MARGIE CASTEEL

This week the students will either be very happy or very unhappy! You guessed it — final exams! The kids in bookkeeping are coming to school early in the morning and working late in the afternoon to get their practice sets finished in time to take their exams. The kids in chemistry are really working hard to find their "unknown." (You should smell the chemicals they use! Ugh!)

The PHS sweepstakes choir was mighty happy last Thursday morning when they received their long-awaited choir jackets. It was worth it, though! They are really pretty. They even have the sweepstakes patch on the left sleeve.

Lucky seniors! They just have to go to school half the day on Tuesday and don't go back until Friday at 1. They take their exams on the mornings of Monday and Tuesday. Yes, they're happy!

Marca Dean Holland and Derwood Mayberry became engaged last Friday in typing class. Wasn't that romantic! Give him credit, kids — he tried to wait until Friday night. Best of luck, you two!

Kids, this is your last warning. Mrs. McRee wants her library books so she can begin the tedious job of taking inventory. If you have any other bills that need to be paid, pay 'em! You won't get to take your tests if you don't.

The PHS regular choir sounded real nice Tuesday when they sang at the Rotary Club's luncheon.

Citizenship award to Jimmy Minor

15 Post High students receive awards Friday

Fifteen Post High School students received scholarship awards Friday in the annual awards assembly in the high school auditorium.

The school's fifth annual citizenship award went to Jimmy Minor, a member of the sophomore class and son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Minor.

Other awards were presented as follows:

Commercial subjects, Ruth Ann Long; English, Bob Cato; speech and drama, Barbara Shytles; home economics, Shirley McBride; history and social studies, Kay Martin; library, Barbara Stanley; Spanish, Tommy Bouchier; mathematics, Victor Hudman Jr.; band, Boyd Dodson; choral music, Jimmy Short; science, Tom Drake; vocational agriculture, Curtis Steel.

The valedictorian and salutatorian medals went to Kay Jones Payne and Frances Barron, respectively.

Principal Glenn Whittenberg, who presented the medals to the students, said that some 50 students were nominated by faculty members for the citizenship award won by young Minor.

The scholarship award winners were selected by the heads of the various departments at the high school.

In a brief talk following the awards program, Supt. R. T. Smith told the student body that real progress has been made at the school this term. He said that both the academic and athletic programs showed a great deal of improvement.

"I believe that at least 20 per cent more learning took place this year than at any time in the past," the superintendent said.

"I believe we have come to the point where we're going to reap the highest in all fields," he continued.

The superintendent pointed out the value of a good academic background and closed by saying "you have been an above-average student body all year long."

The principal pointed out in his closing remarks that the awards assembly more than likely would be the final general assembly to be held in the auditorium, since work of converting it into classrooms will begin soon after the close of the term.

Livestock survey starting in area

Postmaster Harold Voss announces that rural mail carriers will begin distributing June 1, 1959 Livestock Survey Cards to patrons on their routes this week.

This mid-year livestock survey is the first of three which the Post Office and U. S. Agriculture Department cooperatively make each year. The June 1 survey provides basic information to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Austin for estimating the 1959 calf crop; what the spring pig crop actually numbered and a preview of farrowing intentions for the fall season.

Also, poultrymen will get information on number of chickens raised during the spring. Those chickens will be the coming fall and winter's laying flock.

To be sure this community is well represented in this survey, Postmaster Voss urges each patron receiving a card to fill it out and return to his mail box.

More changes are seen for farming and rural living

COLLEGE STATION—The old distinctions between farm and city are rapidly disappearing, said Reagan Brown, extension rural sociologist. Rural nonfarm people now outnumber farm people by a ratio of 5 to 3 and it appears certain that more nonfarm people will live in rural areas.

More than a third of farm operators work off their farms 100 days or more per year. In 1957, about 40 per cent of net income of farm families was from nonfarm sources, he said.

Family operated farms will increase in size since technological improvements are by no means complete. Agriculture, said Brown, appears to be only in the middle of revolutionary changes both in size and capital structure. Larger farms mean larger investments, not only for land and buildings but for all the machinery and non-agricultural supplies needed in modern farm production. Based on present trends, investment per commercial farm by 1975 may amount to over $80,000 in 1958 dollars compared to a little less than $40,000 now, he said.

Various new financial devices may be worked out to meet the need, some based upon methods now common in industry. One development already underway is the use of land-purchase contracts under which the title of the land remains with the seller until all or a specific percentage of payments have been made.

Commercial family farms will probably continue to be the dominant form of organization in American agriculture. Labor requirements have not increased with the size of farms except in some limited areas. For the bulk of farmers, efficient operation seems likely to require no greater labor force than has been needed in the past, he added.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cook, Mike and Regina and Stanley Smith of Levelland and Linda Jordan of Arch, N. M., attended the Southland baccalaureate sermon Sunday, and visited with Mrs. Cook's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ward. Other visitors were Mrs. Thelma Burkett and F. L. Ward.

Certain length of time is required for SS benefits

"You must have social security credits for a certain length of time in order to qualify for benefits," reminded John G. Hutton of the Lubbock Social Security office.

"Because at one time only six quarters of coverage were required, many persons erroneously believe that only six quarters of coverage are required to insure anyone now and in the future," Hutton said.

Usually, a person will be fully insured at the time of retirement age, total disability or death if at that time he has a quarter of coverage (earned at any time after 1936) for each two full calendar quarters after 1950. A person can never become fully insured with less than six quarters of coverage; and no matter when his date of birth, he will never need more than 40 quarters of coverage to be fully insured. A quarter of coverage corresponds generally with a calendar quarter of a year.

A special provision applies to persons who become disabled, reach retirement age or die before Oct. 1, 1960. In these cases a person is fully insured if he has quarters of coverage in all but four of the quarters after 1954.

Hutton invited anyone who has questions concerning the amount of work he needs to qualify to visit the social security office at Lubbock or see the representative who will be in Post on May 26, 1959, at 9:30 a. m. at the district courtroom.

Driving too fast is main cause of rural car wrecks

"More than half of all rural fatal accidents, in 1958, were caused by driving too fast for conditions. This fact alone takes a major problem of traffic accident prevention from the realms of engineering, licensing or laws and marks excessive speed as basically a human problem."

J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, made the above statement today as he sought community support for the statewide Slow Down and Live campaign which begins with Memorial Day and will end with Labor Day.

Musick said this period had been selected for the campaign, because it is during these months that vacation travel reaches its peak.

"Human problems of traffic control are the most difficult to solve, because there are no technical answers," the safety expert said. "However, the Slow Down and Live campaign is an attempt to make motorists more conscious of the inherent dangers of speed, especially excessive speed."

"Of course signs and slogans alone won't do the job, but they do help create a climate of safety-awareness that is vital to any accident prevention program," he said.

The annual Slow Down and Live campaign was initiated as a pilot operation in 11 northeastern states in 1953 and has since expanded to include Canada, Puerto Rico and all of the U. S.

If you go for steak with that deep-brown, crusty coat and char flavor, here's how: Sear one side by lowering grill close to coals for 2 or 3 minutes, then raise grill to finish same side; turn steak, sear second side, again raise grill and complete the cooking. No matter what, serve your steaks sputtering hot! And with a generous pat of butter melting atop.
