

City submits application for federal aid on sewer project

The Post City Council, running through a crowded agenda in less than three hours Monday night, adopted a resolution to make application for a $21,000 federal grant for sewer system extensions, another resolution to enter into a contract for comprehensive plan of community zoning and planning, and set a city-wide clean-up week for May 15-20.

The council also appointed a tax equalization board, a member to the board of the White River

Municipal Water District, and a member to the city-county park board, subject to the appointees' willingness to serve.

In other action, the council tabled appointment of a new city health officer, gave City Supt. Henry Tate authority to proceed with plans for the city street paving program, and authorized City Attorney Carleton P. Webb to draw up an effective dog ordinance.

The city's application for a federal grant for sewer system extensions is made possible through their entering into a contract for community zoning and planning, Mayor Powell Shytles explained.

Engineer's estimates on cost of the proposed sewer system extensions is $70,000. The federal grant, if approved, would be for 30 per cent of that amount, or about $21,000.

As explained by City Supt. Tate, the sewer project would take care of all parts of town not now served by the sewer system and would include a lift station at the intersection of Broadway and the Lubbock Highway.

The city's engineer has estimated that construction costs would amount to $58,000; engineering and other fees, $6,000; legal costs, $1,000, and project contingency, $5,000.

In making the application for the public grant, the city cited as "justification for the project" that it would eliminate public health hazards.

The contract being entered into by the city on community planning and zoning is with Koch & Fowler and Graft, consulting engineers of Dallas.

The city's share of the planning and zoning cost will be approximately $7,400, which includes preliminary fees of some $1,000. The Texas State Health Department will match funds spent by the city exclusive of the preliminary fees.

In setting May 15-20 as Clean-up Week, the city council asks that all home and business owners have their premises cleaned off and the trash piled on the alleys by Wednesday, May 17, at which time it will be picked up and hauled away by city garbage trucks.

City Supt. Tate said this year the City of Post will be able to take care of the hauling and disposal of the Clean-up Week trash without having to call on outside firms for assistance.

Re-appointed to the tax equalization board, subject to their agreement to serve again, were T. L. Jones, J. Lee Bowen and Max Gordon.

James L. Minor was appointed to replace R. J. (Rube) Jennings as a member of the board of the White River Municipal Water District, and Julian F. Smith was named to the city-county park board to replace Mrs. John F. Lott, who resigned a few months ago.

Action on appointing a city health officer to replace Dr. James R. Matthews, who was elected to the city council in April, was tabled. Dr. Matthews also serves as county health officer.

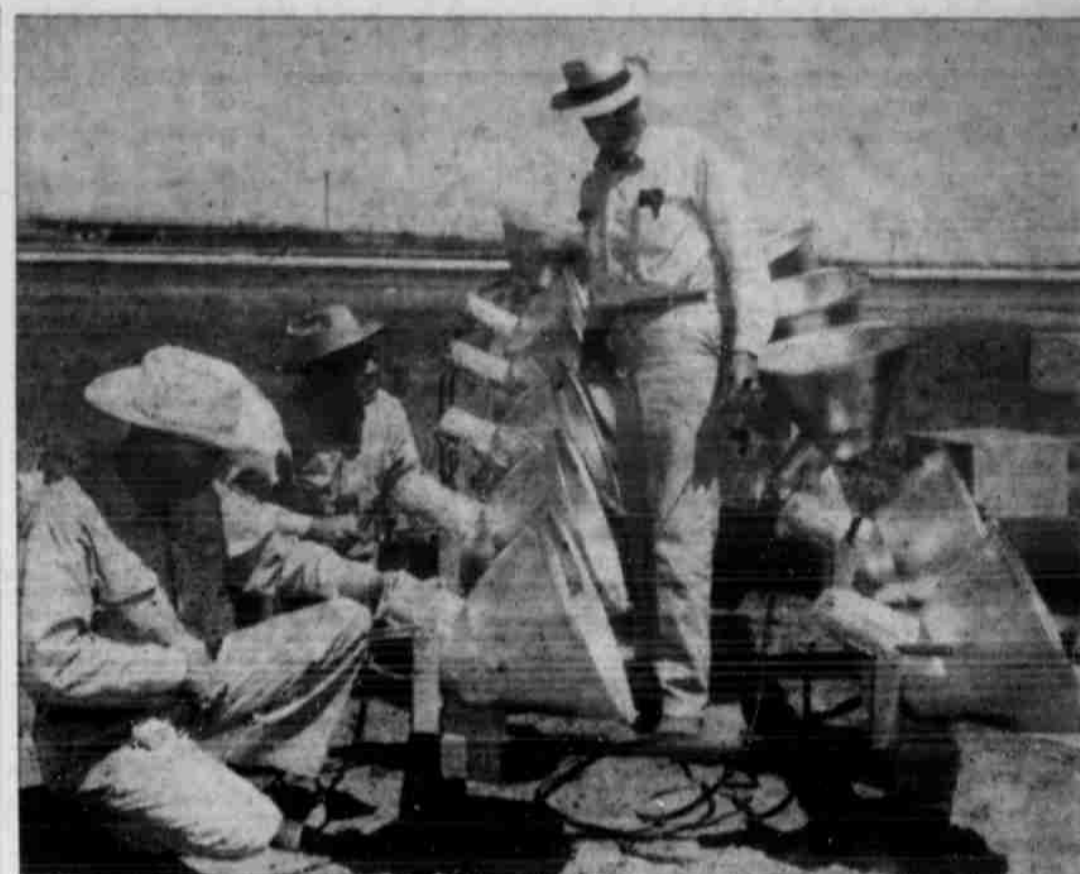

Mayor Shytles and the councilmen asked City Attorney Webb to draw up a new dog ordinance "with teeth in it."

Earlier, Webb had told the council that the present city dog ordinance is only a token one.

"In order to make a dog ordinance fully effective, you have to have one that is full and complete," Webb told the council.

Mayor Shytles said he had received numerous complaints about stray dogs, most of them from people whose flower beds had been torn up.

"We've built a new dog pound out near the city disposal plant, and it appears to me that it is time for the city to have a dog ordinance that can be enforced," Mayor Shytles said.

Thirty-Fourth Year

Post, Garza County, Texas, Thursday, May 4, 1961

Number 48

People were here 12,000 years ago, Lions told

We're not the first; we won't be the last

Archaeological discoveries in Garza County point to the existence of human life here 12,000 years ago, Frank "Chief" Runkles, president of the South Plains Archaeological Society told Post Lions at Tuesday night's meeting.

In Garza County alone, Runkles said, there have been found some 240 Indian campsites, 19,000 separate artifacts, 14 burial sites, and three locations of Indian writings.

Probably the most important archaeological discovery in Garza

County, Runkles told the Lions, is a game-butcher site uncovered near the Garza-Borden county line during the construction of the new highway between Post and Gail.

Runkles announced for the first time that a new type arrow head found at the site has been named the "Garza Point," having been found only in Garza County so far.

Runkles is also a member of the Garza chapter of the South Plains Archaeological Society, members of which have made virtually all of the discoveries in this county. He is also camp ranger at C. W. Post Memorial Boy Scout Camp.

Twenty-three Lions and visitors attended Tuesday night's meeting, which was held at Levi's Restaurant. Visitors were Charlie Colburn, Wayne Morris, Eddie Shaw, W. A. "Smokey" Hewett of Plainview, who is a candidate for district governor of Lions, and a representative of the Olton Lions Club who spoke on behalf of Hewett's candidacy.

Vandalism generally, and against churches in particular, makes us sick at heart, especially when it occurs right here in our own community. But that's what happened to the stained glass window in the front of the new Christian church before the first service, which is scheduled for Sunday, could be held. The window has been cracked in two or three places, apparently by kicks, and has been shot through once, probably by a BB gun. We noticed the damage to the window and asked about it while Bonnie Bouchier was giving us a peek at the beautiful new church sanctuary one morning this week. As it happened in the last two weeks, he told us.

Nothing new yet on the Present 3 petition to call a new election on legal liquor in that precinct except that it's still in circulation. It's been out 15 days now—half the time allowed to obtain the proper number of signatures.

On page 8 of today's Dispatch, you'll find a "full pager" from the Food Mart announcing the start of a big remodeling sale. The store has added more than 200 square feet of display space to the store by building onto the rear of the structure. The work took several weeks in now-completed. The sale, beginning today, is in way of celebration.

This is to introduce our readers to a new Post business on Main Street—the Popular Dry Goods store at 204 East Main, next to Wilson's Jewelry. Richard Isaacs, the young business man who is moving here from Lubbock to open a store. The store offers clothing, the entire family, shoes, western boots, luggage and jewelry. An announcement ad appears on page 11 of today's Dispatch. Richard is planning a Grand Opening. Watch for it.

Wigley also is pointing in this ad this week that it's re-located and wants to celebrate with its customers. Store Manager Jones says that the shelves have been "levelled off" for convenience for the customers, and space has been made available. (See POSTINGS, page 4)

Mullings rites held Saturday

Funeral services for L. E. Mullings, 71, who died Wednesday night last week, were conducted at 10 a. m. Saturday in Hudman Funeral Home chapel.

The Rev. C. B. Hogue, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiated. Burial was in Terrace Cemetery. Pallbearers were W. C. Graves, Eldon Smith, Floyd Hoyer, Homer Huddleston, Justin Hoyer and Monroe Williams.

Mullings a farmer, lived eight miles northeast of Post and had been a resident of Garza County for 21 years.

He was survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary, and four children: Frank and Marion of Garza, and Oscar of Cresswell, and four daughters, Mena, Mary and Alene Blair, both of Post, and Ruby Blair of the home of Gladys McGill of Albuquerque, N. M.

First Christians to meet Sunday in new church

First services will be held Sunday in the new First Christian Church building in the 800 block on West 13th Street.

The church's new pastor, the Rev. Bernard Ramsey of Tyler, will arrive Friday to assist in completing plans for the services and will fill the pulpit Sunday.

A date for dedication of the church and a formal open house will be made while the pastor is here, Mrs. Willard Kirkpatrick, a member of the committee, said yesterday.

Some of the church furniture is due this week, but is scheduled to arrive in time for Sunday's service, according to Thomas W. Gamblin, chairman of the church's pulpit committee.

The new church's Sunday School classrooms will also be ready for Sunday's services, Gamblin said.

May Queen event is Friday night

More than 90 girls will compete on the stage of the primary school auditorium Friday night for the title of 1961 May Queen of Post High School.

At one time this week, the entry list was just short of the one hundred mark, but a few dropouts have reduced it to about 90.

The contest is being sponsored by the senior class with the assistance of the class room mothers. There will be an admission charge of 50 cents per person. The funds will be used by the class to help finance a class trip to the Bar K Ranch near Austin.

The winner of the contest will be crowned May Queen by Mike Cornell, senior class president. There will be three out-of-town judges.

Each entry in the contest is being sponsored by a Post business firm.

Crops judging team is first in district

The crops judging team of the Post High School chapter of the Future Farmers of America placed first in the district at Brownfield last Thursday.

The team competed at Texas Tech Saturday, winning tenth place in the entire contest and third in the Area II part of the contest.

Members of the team are Wayne McKadin, David Lee and Robert Bevers.

Band scores high in area contest

The Post High School band rose to new heights Saturday by making a Division I rating in sight-reading and a Division II rating in concert at the University Interscholastic League contest in Brownfield.

The Division I score in sight-reading was the first superior rating ever made by a Post band. The band received a lovely plaque for earning this rating.

The only two bands to receive Division I ratings in both concert and sight-reading in Class AA were Abernathy and Olton.

In concert, Post outscored both the Slaton and Floydada bands, which received Division III. Slaton got a Division I rating and Floydada a Division II rating in sight-reading.

Ratings of other Class AA bands in concert and sight-reading, respectively, were: Morton, IV and V; Spur, I and II; Tahoka, III and II, and Muleshoe, I and II.

The Post band, under the direction of Robert Meisch, played their concert numbers at 10:30 a. m. Saturday. The numbers were "Emblem of Unity March," "Toccata for Band" and "Slavonic Folk" (See BAND SCORES, page 4)

Lucas enters hospital with leg infection

Harold Lucas, Post insurance man and a member of the City Council, was admitted to Garza Memorial Hospital Monday morning with a leg infection.

Lucas' ailment later was diagnosed as phlebitis—inflammation of a vein. It is indefinite today when he will be able to leave the hospital.

WISE OLD OWL HAS COMPETITORS

Final rites held Wednesday for Fred B. Robinson

Funeral services for Fred Brenning Robinson, who came to Post in 1907 and helped build many of the town's first business buildings, were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the First Baptist Church, of which he was a member.

Mr. Robinson, who would have been 77 years old on May 27, died early Monday afternoon in West Texas Hospital, Lubbock, where he had been a patient for three weeks.

He was born May 27, 1884, at Woodburn, Ky. In his early teens, he was converted by the nationally known Baptist preacher, the Rev. Mordecai Hamm, at Bowling Green, Ky.

He left Kentucky at the turn of the century, coming to what was then Oklahoma Territory and driving for a livery stable owned by his uncle, Elige Robinson, at Clinton, Okla. Elige Robinson later moved to Garza County and served for awhile as county sheriff.

Before moving to Post, Mr. Robinson went to Elida, N. M., where he worked a land claim he had filed upon. He came to Post about 1907 and worked for C. W. Post, the town's founder. Mr. Robinson assisted in construction of many of the town's stone buildings, some of which are still standing on the south side of Main Street.

After helping complete the construction of the Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway depot and the Algert Hotel, Mr. Robinson was employed in the construction of some 35 farm and ranch houses for the Double U Company.

Later, he worked for R. H. Collier at the latter's drug store, was in the restaurant business for awhile, and for 12 years was a foreman at the Postex Mill. In later years he had been engaged in farming and had extensive property holdings here and in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas.

In Post's early days, Mr. Robinson often accompanied Dr. A. C. Surman, pioneer Post physician, on sick calls, and on a number of occasions assisted Dr. Surman on surgery cases.

All his life, he had been interested in railroading, and periodically made trips to Slaton to visit the roundhouse and to chat with railroad men there, at Teague's Drug Store, and at other places frequented by the railroaders.

Mr. Robinson was a member of the widely-known Post Municipal (See FINAL RITES, page 4)

Elisabeth Tubbs, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Tubbs, is valedictorian of this year's 8th grade graduating class. Junior High Principal Glenn Whittenberg announced.

The salutatorian is Barbara Hahn daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hahn, and Teddy Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Scott, is the top ranking boy in the graduating class.

The above three students will help present the program at junior high school graduating exercises Friday night, May 19.

'Flower Box' town plan is proposed

The Chamber of Commerce's new retail committee is going to urge merchants to convert Post into the "Flower Box Town" of West Texas—or all of Texas for that matter.

Meeting at a luncheon session in Levi's Restaurant yesterday noon, the committee approved a plan to ask local merchants to set out flower boxes in front of their places of business and make the business section an unusual beauty spot.

A sub-committee composed of Powell Shytles, Tom Power and T. B. Odam, are going to work out details on the project.

Odam reported that Neosho, Mo., had such a project and gained wide recognition throughout the Midwest and won an All-American City rating with such a project.

Merchants could either plant the same flowers, or mix them up, Odam said. He said the Missouri merchants took real pride in their flowers and that there was no vandalism of the flowers, a point raised by local committee members.

Power said boxes could be of either redwood or concrete and would be outside the stores on the sidewalks.

Prices and designs of boxes will be secured and each merchant approached individually, Power said.

The retail Chamber committee named Miss Maxine Durrett to head the joint promotion efforts of Double Dollar Days and Howdy Days, with the Howdy Day kickoff set for June instead of May as considerable preparations will be necessary.

The committee also will sponsor a merchants luncheon to discuss credit problems next Thursday noon. Merchants will be contacted by the Chamber office for reservations.

Negro indicted on rape charge

A grand jury in Tahoka yesterday afternoon indicted Bennie Lee McIntyre, 18-year-old Negro farm hand, on a charge of rape.

McIntyre's trial has been set for Tuesday, May 16, in district court at Tahoka.

McIntyre gave himself up April 25 to Deputy Sheriff Elton Corley on US Highway 350 shortly after a white housewife had been raped in the Grassland community.

He is being held in the Lubbock jail pending trial.

District Attorney George Hansard of Lamesa said yesterday that McIntyre had given him a new signed statement Monday, but refused to reveal its contents at this time.

Rotarians presented with troop charter

The Post Rotary Club was presented with the charter of Boy Scout Troop 16 at the club's luncheon Tuesday noon by Dr. B. E. Young. The civic club has sponsored the Scout troop for many years.

Scoutmaster Bob West, a guest of the club, was presented with a certificate for the troop for 100 per cent subscriptions to Boys' Life.

The program was a color, sound movie of the International Boy Scout Jamboree at Colorado Springs last summer.

During Friday's pre-school day

Primary pupils to be given holiday

First grade pupils of Post Primary School will have a holiday Friday while the annual pre-school day program is being held for youngsters who will be starting to school for the first time next September.

First grade teachers will be on hand, however, to assist in the pre-school day program, according to Noel Clemmons, elementary school principal.

Letters have been sent to all parents who have pre-school age children that were listed on the recent census list. Those who have received letters are asked to meet at 10 a. m. in the rooms designated on each letter.

Parents of pre-school age children who did not receive a letter are asked to report with their children at the principal's office between 9 and 9:45 a. m., so they can be assigned to rooms.

After each classroom is organized, a panel discussion will be held by R. T. Smith, superintendent of schools; Principal Clemmons; the classroom teacher; James West, curriculum coordinator, and Mrs. Max Gordon, school nurse.

The children will be served lunch in the school cafeteria and will be dismissed at 12 o'clock noon.

TV and radio man collapses

D. D. (Dean) Cooper, owner of Sparks Radio & TV Service, was transferred Monday from Garza Memorial Hospital to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock after having apparently suffered a stroke at his place of business.

It was at first thought that Cooper had received an electrical shock from a television set that he had picked up and set on a counter. It was announced later, however, that he had been complaining of severe headaches and it is believed that he collapsed after having suffered a stroke. There was no evidence of him having received an electrical shock, it was said.

An unidentified customer was in the shop and summoned assistance when Cooper collapsed.

Tests were still being made at the Lubbock hospital yesterday, a relative here said, and results of the tests were expected to be made known today.

Former resident dies in Red Bluff, Calif.

Mrs. J. W. (Myrtle) Luman, 72, former Post resident, died April 26 in Red Bluff, Calif., with funeral services held Saturday in Red Bluff.

Mrs. Luman was a resident of Post for most of her life before moving to California several years ago. She was a sister-in-law of Mrs. B. W. Kennedy of Post.

Mrs. Luman is survived by her son, Billy Luman of Red Bluff, with whom she made her home, and one daughter, Mrs. Edith Smith, also of Red Bluff. She was preceded in death by her husband and two other children.

Sales tax seen as solution

Texas is on the verge of a sales tax—as the solution to its grave tax problems.

The lower branch of the Texas Legislature already has passed a two per cent retail sales tax on items costing over 25 cents and excluding a number of essentials such as food, medicine, and some farm supplies.

It is a good bet that the Senate will pass it too and that Governor Daniel—with great reluctance—will sign it.

The only really good things about the sales tax are that it will provide the tax money the state needs, and the people pay it as they go—as they buy items they want in the stores.

Over the weekend the state comptroller estimated that the sales tax measure, as passed by the House, would raise $263,000,000 during the next two years.

This would provide enough to put and keep Texas in the black for the first time since overproduction of oil became a problem several years ago. It would also leave enough for some type of a medical care program and for school aid (basically teacher salary hikes) for which there is now great pressure to enact down in Austin.

The fine points of the sales tax are still to come—as far as every business man understanding how he is affected. The Senate undoubtedly will make some changes, and in conference between the two houses different compromises may be hammered out.

Whether the Governor will sign it, or veto it, then remains to be seen, but if he is realistic he will sign it and get the No. 1 Texas headache—deficit financing—over with for the time being.

While the sales tax is starting to move through the legislature toward enactment, it is time for the people to start thinking about a different phase of the same subject—taxes.

The sales tax will raise a pile of dough—more money than Texas has had to spend in a long, long time. It is more than the state needs for present obligations, but one which many folks would like to see used on their pet projects.

Texas, for a number of years, has tried to stumble through its financial troubles by sticking on a nuisance tax here and a nuisance tax there—all irritating and raising a little money. With the big sales tax apparently coming on, isn't it time that the lawmakers also considered getting rid of some of the raft of nuisance taxes before they sit down to cut up the remainder of the big sales tax melon and spend it?

Right now—before the still-to-be sales tax revenue is definitely committed to any one or several spending projects is the only time that other nuisance taxes can be voted where they belong—into oblivion.

If there is any foot-dragging here, the sales tax melon will be all spent before the tax harvest is even gathered, and the complaint of the politicians at Austin will be: Sorry, folks, but we couldn't afford to cut that tax or we'd be back in the red again.

It is often said that a tax once on the books is never pushed off. That is usually true. It doesn't have to be in this case, however. Not if the tax-paying public acts fast. Let's trade a bit on these taxes. Let's get a few off the books before we start paying the new ones.

Let's wise up and start letting our lawmakers know where we stand.—JC.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

THE MONTH OF May came in damply Monday, with completely overcast skies holding a good promise of rain. It would never be more welcome. I heard one farmer say last week that he changed his tune several weeks ago from "It's too wet to plow" to "It's too dry to plant."

May will be an eventful month on the local scene. Before it fades into June, school will have been dismissed for the summer vacation period, and the cry "Play Ball!" will have been heard at the Little League and Babe Ruth League parks.

THANK GOODNESS, most of the deadlines have passed. One delinquent taxpayer not only met this year's deadline, but sent a letter to the Internal Revenue Service saying he had cheated on his income tax ten years ago and had not been able to get a good night's sleep since.

He enclosed $25 and added: "If I still can't sleep, I will send the balance."

It was strictly "no sale" the other day when a clerk tried to sell me one of the new "Flyin' Pizza" toys. If you haven't seen one, they're the latest craze among the youngsters. They consist of a small skillet and an imitation pizza. The trick is to become adept at using the skillet to pitch the pizza high and then catch it as it comes down. For a fellow who can't turn an egg in a skillet without scrambling it, buying a Flyin' Pizza toy would be a waste of time and money. Besides, I'm too far behind the times for such new-fangled toys. I decided long ago not to go on to anything else after failing to master the yo-yo.

A man sitting nearby, thinking she was asking about the alert and not the siren, said, "Thirty minutes."

Pride put quietly to work

Pride is a catching thing.

Put pride to work for a town and that town really benefits. And that is what Post, in a quiet way, has been doing.

Have you been out driving around the community on these nice Spring evenings? If you have, you have marveled at the blossoming gardens in so many parts of town.

One beauty spot in a neighborhood usually creates two or three more within as many years.

We guess you'd call the spread of flower growing and better lawn care "keeping up with the Joneses," because if Jones can do it, his neighbor will argue: "Doggone it, so can we."

Beautiful flowers, shrubs and lawns can do a whole lot to convert Post not only into a prettier town, but also into a more prideful town.

And once we Post folks get our pride to working for us there isn't anything we can't do—if we work together.

Of course, working together right now is one of our tender spots. There is too much pulling and tugging going on this way and that. But people are beginning to realize it now. We think there is a growing understanding that we all want the same things for our community—and the only way to get them is to work out a program which everyone can support, and then get with it.

But getting back to where this editorial started—the many flower gardens now in bloom here. We are not one of those who believe in any expansion of our current "organizationitis," which today is virtually "clubbing" America to death. But we would favor a practical sort of garden organization here—not one to hold teas and have a lot of fancy programs. We're thinking in terms of a clinical sort of garden organization in which our better gardeners share their knowledge with so many who are eager to learn and everybody gets their hands in the dirt and devotes his club work to practical efforts by which he or she learns a lot.

Probably the best way to do this would be to get some kind of a community gardening project organized. And when you think about this, one naturally turns to beautifying our new city-county park.

Maybe something along this line could be worked out—a park beautification project in which the folks who volunteered to work together also could learn together. And the end result would be to make the community a whole lot prettier.

And give it more pride.

People with staunch pride can do just about anything. That's what flowers and lawns can do here, just as they have given pride to lots of other towns across the nation.—JC

Full public cooperation needed

Please be prompt in returning your property rendition forms to the White River Municipal Water District.

Getting the tax rolls in shape is one of the prerequisites to obtaining the $4,000,000 loan for financing the big dam.

Taxes will be needed at the start while the dam is under construction to provide funds for interest payments and a sinking fund.

Just how heavy the tax requirements are going to be for the project hasn't been definitely determined. Meeting federal loan specifications means establishment of a sizable sinking fund. Just what these requirements may be if the district goes the state loan route is not definite as yet.

Of course there still remains the possibility that the bonds will be sold to private investors. That means that the district would get an interest rate of under the 4 per cent plus figure the state will require.

Any fractional reduction in the interest rate would mean the saving of thousands of dollars over the next 30 years or more in interest charges.

Remember, those rendition forms are due by May 15. Mail them back in promptly. Full public cooperation is needed in this phase of the project so that the district can move ahead to receiving the loan money and beginning site acquisition and dam construction.—JC

Many laurels well earned

The Dispatch on behalf of its many Garza readers wishes to congratulate Jimmy Minor and Mike Cornell, the valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, of Post High School's 1961 graduating class.

These two youngsters have led their class in many, many ways through their high school careers.

Not only are they top scholars, but they have been top athletes as well in football and basketball.

They have proven again that scholarship and athletics can mix, and mix well.

We wish them the best of everything as they close out their high school careers. They have earned their many honors.—JC

What our contemporaries are saying

Last week's big city daily newspapers reported to the world that Cuba's Fidel was mentally ill. Well, I've got some information for those boys. Almost everyone knew it already! Anyone that had watched television or heard newscasts—or read big city dailies—knew the character was mentally ill from the start. Anyone that wears four or five watches, rants and raves and puts on the stage show that Castro put on each time he mounted the speaker's platform had to have something wrong with him.—Marvin Tomme in The Rails Banner.

We never could understand why Daylight Saving Time is adopted in various parts of the country. If people want an extra hour of daylight, why don't they get up an hour earlier?—Harold Hudson in Ochiltree County Herald.

Reality is a poor substitute for fantasy, and usually more cumbersome and expensive to achieve. The aged, the ill and lame, may place a chair beside a window, and make endless journeys to ports of far-away places. By looking only at the sky and clouds, it is not difficult to imagine the thrust of mighty engines speeding toward strange air fields, the babble of an unknown language and the perfume of exotic market places. This kind of travel evades the exhausting problems of preparation and makes for comfortable sleeping in a familiar bed every night.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

Isn't it peculiar that middle age always starts a few years earlier for the other fellow?—James Roberts in The Andrews County News.

New Texas Tech meat lab to be dedicated on May 15

LUBBOCK—A two-fold research program on how stock farmers can obtain more beef dollars per acre will be emphasized May 15 at Texas Tech's annual Cattle Feeders Day.

Research reports this year will detail use of different silage crops and efforts to determine which crop gives the most dollar-income per acre, said Dr. Ralph Durham, Tech animal husbandry department head.

A highlight of the day-long program will be the dedication of Texas Tech's new $237,000 Meats Laboratory. The 8,486 square foot brick and tile facility is comparable to a small, but very modern, meat packing plant.

Chief speakers on the program will be John Pierce of Washington, D. C., deputy administrator for the Agricultural Marketing Service livestock division, and Bill Zmolek, Iowa State University cattle feeding specialist.

The dual grading system for beef carcasses will be Pierce's topic and Zmolek will discuss Corn Belt feeding practices. In other talks, Tech researchers will report on experiments involving silage and various feed additives.

"Our research this year has been two-fold," said Durham. "We wanted to determine (1) which silage gives the most economical gains and the best grading cattle, and (2) which silage produces the most dollars per acre when fed through beef cattle."

Also involved in the feeding tests of 96 Angus and Hereford steers are the results of implanting 12 milligrams of stilbestrol in half of the animals.

"This is to determine whether implanting would increase efficiency enough to overcome the decline in grade," Durham said. Previous Tech feeding-implanting research showed marbling was hurt by 36 mg.'s of stilbestrol. The lower dosage was used to see if a feeder can get some increase in gain without affecting carcass and grade.

Conducting these feeding tests are Dallas Powell, animal husbandry senior from Plains, and Wendell Kent, junior animal husbandry major from Sweetwater.

Two sheep feeding experiments using silage and Milo, but no implanting of stilbestrol, will be reported by Dr. Frank Hudson, assistant professor of animal husbandry, and students Jimmy Neal of Merkel and Charles Cobb of Lubbock.

Another beef cattle experiment to be reported May 15 will be a study of silage and high cottonseed meal rations as compared to cottonseed meal and hull rations treated in 1959-60 feeding experiments at Tech.

Complete carcass data will be available on each of the 96 steers used in the Tech feeding trials. Half of each carcass will be displayed along with cut-out data on each other half. A photo of each living animal will be exhibited to give viewers an idea of the animals' characteristics.

Tech's Feeders Day schedule calls for each of the 96 steers to be scored May 3 as a live animal for grade, beginning at 9 a. m. The public is invited. The animals will be slaughtered May 4 at Lubbock meat packing house, graded May 5 and prepared for exhibit.

More than 500 stock farmers and ranchers and meat packing representatives are expected for the annual event.

Texas royalty owners received $438 million from oil and gas production in 1959.

MISSISSIPPI'S HISTORICAL MUSEUM

National observance of the Civil War Centennial spotlights Mississippi's new Historical Museum in Jackson. In this former state capital, Mississippi succeeded from the Union in 1861. Dennis Ray Holman included on honor roll named at Boys Ranch

Dennis Ray Holman, a former Post boy and one of the 261 boys from all over the nation who make their home at Cal Farley's nationally famous Boys Ranch near Amarillo, was recently named to the Honor Roll of his class at the Boys Ranch School.

Dennis was one of 31 boys in the high school grades to achieve this honor. He is 15 years old and has been at the Ranch since last November.

As a Boys Rancher, Dennis adjusted quickly to the broad vocational, educational and recreational programs that are organized for all of the boys.

The former Post boy lives in a large Colorado-stone ranch house with his dorm parents and 35 other boys. Their home is one that has been donated to the Ranch and is of a type that is replacing the Army barracks the boys lived in for many years.

The Honor Roll group in the fully-accredited Boys Ranch

School represents 15 per cent of the total enrollment and is the largest number of boys ever to make all A's and B's on their report cards.

"Much of the credit for this many honor roll students must be given to the teachers and dorm parents of these boys," said Cal Farley, Ranch founder and president. "These men and women spend many hours during the nights and summer months to help the boys with their studies. They share the pride we all have in these honor roll students."

Farley founded Boys Ranch 25 years ago, the first in America and since then more than 1,200 boys who were formerly homeless, confused and in trouble have been cared for and educated at the Ranch. J. Edgar Hoover has termed the Ranch "a blueprint for crime prevention."

"Dennis is a fine young man and we are proud of his accomplishment," Farley said. "He is making the kind of citizen the people of Texas and Post can be proud of."

I Give You Texas . .

By BOYCE HOUSE

Gen. Robert E. Lee gives vivid descriptions, in his letters, of experiences in Texas a few years before the Civil War, when he commanded the string of forts which guarded the frontier from the Indians.

Writing to his wife from Camp Cooper concerning the Fourth of July, 1856, he said, "Mine was spent, after a march of thirty miles, on one of the branches of the Brazos, under my blanket, elevated on four sticks driven in the ground as a sun-shade. The sun was fiery hot, the atmosphere was like the blast from a hot-air furnace, the water salt, still my feelings for my country were as ardent, my faith in her future as true, and my hopes for her advancement as unabated as they would have been under better circumstances."

He traveled from Camp Cooper to Fort Ringgold on the Rio Grande, giving this account in a letter to his wife on Oct. 3, 1856: "I arrived here on the 28th after twenty-seven days of travel. The distance was greater than I had anticipated, being 730 miles. I was detained one day on the road by high water—had to swim my mules and get the wagon over by hand. My mare took me very comfortably, but all my wardrobe, from my socks up to my plume, was immersed in the muddy water—epaulets, sash, etc. . . .

"I am writing with much inconvenience from a stiff finger, caused by a puncture from a Spanish bayonet, while pitching my tent on the road, which struck the joint. Every branch and leaf in this country nearly are armed with a point, and some seem to poison the flesh."

Writing from Fort Brown, he told of visiting Matamoros, Mexico, for the first time: "The town looked neat, though much out at the elbow, and nothing apparently going on of interest. The plaza or square was enclosed and the trees and grass flourishing, for which I am told the city is indebted to Major William Chapman of the quartermaster's department, who made the improvement while it was in the occupation of the American army. The most attractive thing to me in town were the orange trees loaded with unripe fruit. The oleander was in full bloom, and there were some large date, fig and palm trees."

The letter was written near Christmas, 1856, and he said, "The time is approaching when I trust many of you will be assembled around the family hearth at dear Arlington for another Christmas. Though absent, my heart will be in the midst of you, and I shall enjoy in imagination and memory all that is going on. May nothing occur to mar or cloud the family fireside, and may each be able to look back with pride and pleasure

CROSBYTON FUND LACKING

The Crosbyton Cemetery Association has not reached the half-way mark in the annual campaign to secure funds for maintenance of the local cemetery, A. R. King, chairman, reported this week. By Tuesday approximately $600 had been turned in, and at least $1,500 is needed to properly maintain the grounds, the chairman said.

We noted in the Potomac Patter column of The Dallas News Sunday — written by Lee Walsh, women's editor of The Washington Star, that Mr. and Mrs. Herbert May—she's the former Mrs. Marjorie Merrisweather Post—will entertain the First Lady, Mrs. Jackie Kennedy, this weekend at a party following opening night of the Washington Opera Society's production of "Carmen". Walsh in the item referred to Mrs. May as "the Post, Texas, hostess-hieress" and said the party will be at the Anderson House. "Although Mrs. May and Mrs. Kennedy are of opposite political parties," Walsh noted, "they both belong to the large number of ballet lovers in the capital. Caroline Kennedy attends the Washington School of Ballet from which the ballet guild draws the talent."

Editor Charlie Didway showed us a copy of the April 27 Texas Tech Toreador, the school paper, and the reason was pretty obvious. Smack across the top of the front page was a story of the campus' "Little 500" time trials which carried the by-line of Walter Didway, Charlie's oldest son. Charlie explained that it was Walter's first byline in the school paper. Walter, who as his Army service behind him, is living in Slaton where his wife teaches school. Walter is working nights in Lubbock at a service station and is taking journalism courses at Texas Tech during the day. If Walter can give the newspaper profession the devotion and painstaking care which Charlie has, he is going to be a cracker-jack newspaper man—something in mighty short supply in this country these days.

W. L. Lowery, the state game warden, was over from Jayton yesterday to sign up six Garza County property owners for the purchase of some 1,850 bobwhite quail from the state at 50 cents apiece. The birds, six weeks old, will be delivered in June.

Three Post male golfers made a golfing day out of it Saturday at Lubbock. Starting at 8 o'clock in the morning the trio—Jim Hundley, Oscar Garner, and Charles Hopkins—played 36 holes at the Meadowbrook course and then when it became "too crowded" in 'mid-afternoon they shifted over to the country club course for a final 18—or 54 holes altogether. They finished about 7 p. m. Jim said he "got tired" riding a golf cart with Oscar and got out and walked the final nine. Charles walked the whole way—over 11 or 12 miles we'd guess—except for the first two or three holes "when he ran to get warm". They reported they shot better golf the more they played. Charles was around par for the entire 54.

Space communications may not be far away. At least we received a press release from General Telephone's Brownfield office yesterday announcing that General Telephone and Electronics Corporation has recommended to the Federal Communications Commission that the nation's communications companies be authorized to form a single jointly-owned Commercial Space Communications Co. The new enterprise would meet the rising demands of international communications by providing not only greatly expanded telephone service but also global television and high-speed business data transmission. The communications system, as envisioned by General Telephone, would consist of ground stations which would transmit high-frequency radio signals to satellites in outer space, which in turn would relay the signals to ground receiving stations located throughout the world. Only a single system is feasible for space instead of several very expensive space competitors, General declared.

Clint Herring, who basically collects stamps and coins as a hobby, was all smiles coming out of the postoffice yesterday afternoon. In his hand was a real collector's item—a $10 bill with "The First National Bank of Post City, Texas" printed on its face. It was a national bank note—we guess—and carried the signatures of J. T. Herd, cashier, and H. B. Herd, president of the local bank. It was the series of 1929. Herring arranged to purchase the note at a coin show in Lubbock Sunday. Irby G. Metcalf Jr., president of the bank, purchased a $5 bank note off a Slaton man two or three years ago. How much did Clint's $10 Post bill cost? He doesn't know. He hasn't gotten the collector's billing yet.

Director Meisch, as enthused as the band members over the high ratings earned Saturday, said, "The results of this one contest did more for the band than anything else during this or any other school year."

"In fact," he said, "the band members were so jubilant over the ratings that they're already pointing toward winning sweepstakes next year." That, Meisch explained, would mean Division I ratings in concert, sight-reading and marching.

"There is no doubt about it," the director said. "The kids' spirits are higher following Saturday's contest than they've ever been before."

The director said the band members were especially pleased over outscoring the Slaton band in concert. "The Slaton band had won the concert trophy in the Lamesa Band Festival, in which our band also participated," Meisch said.

The director said indications are that there will be some 80 members in next year's band. "So this year's youngsters apparently are not setting their sights too high in aiming toward a sweepstakes victory in 1962," he concluded.

Building permits rise by $52,700

Five building permits for construction totaling $52,700 have been issued since last week at the City Hall.

Three of the permits are for residences costing $17,000 each to be built by Tex-Sun Homes, Inc. One of the new homes is to be built for George Booher at 410 Osage Drive, Westgate Terrace. The other new homes are to be built at 203 Mohawk Drive, Westgate Terrace, and 403 Osage Ave., Westgate Terrace.

One of the new homes calls for 1,050 square feet, one for 1,200 square feet and the third for 1,350 square feet. Each is to include three bedrooms and two baths and will be of brick veneer construction.

G. I. Huffman was issued a permit to build a concrete block garage and store room onto Walter B. Holland's residence at 711 West Sixth, costing $1,000.

A permit was issued J. P. Manly for repainting of interior and exterior of a rent house at 311 North Avenue 5 at a cost of $700.

Gunshot victim is home from hospital

Aurora Mindiola, 17, was returned to her home here last Friday from a Lubbock hospital, where she had received treatment for a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the abdomen.

DEFERRED GRAZING

By Virgil Middleton, SCS

The time of year is here again when ranchers should be deciding which of their pastures should be deferred for the summer. Deferred grazing has proven to be very effective in improving any pasture, but especially necessary for allowing pastures to recuperate from close grazing, drought or other setbacks.

Even good condition grassland needs a rest from grazing during the growing season at least every three or four years. This enables the grass plants to become more vigorous and produce a seed crop. A rotational system by which one or more pastures is deferred each year is an effective way to improve grassland. Practices such as range seeding and brush control need to be followed by a period of rest to allow for the establishment of grass cover and vigor.

In this area of predominantly deep hardland and sandy mixed land types of range country, a deferment through the spring and summer gives the most noticeable benefits. The length of deferred periods should be a minimum of three months. A complete deferment of at least this long gives a chance to produce seed. In pastures which are grazed over lightly, the seedheads are usually the first part to be picked off by livestock.

Hospital Health Letters

GERMAN MEASLES

German Measles (Rubella, or "three-day measles") is a common illness, more frequently appearing in the Spring. Following exposure, the average incubation period is 16 days, with a range of 5 to 21 days. The rash is often preceded by feeling bad in general, sore throat, and burning of the eyes without redness (as often occurs with measles).

The typical German measles rash begins on the face and spreads to the whole body within one day.

and usually appears as discrete, raised red bumps which often vary in size from pinhead to pea size. The duration of the rash is one to three days.

Serious complications of German measles are very rare. Treatment usually consists of bed rest, abundant fluids, and fever control with aspirin. Perhaps one of the most important and widely known considerations of German measles is the serious effect which it can have on unborn babies of mothers who have German measles during the pregnancy. Therefore, it is strongly advised that children be allowed to have the disease and develop future immunity, since major complications are rare from German measles during childhood.

It is possible to temporarily prevent measles with Gamma Globulin but its use is restricted to the cases of pregnant women who have not previously had German measles and know of definite exposure to the illness.

About your health

It is a sad thing to disillusion those who cherish the myth of their "immunity" to poison ivy or oak or sumac, but the season of prevalence of these toxic plants is fast approaching, and forewarned is forearmed.

Botanical scientists say it is doubtful that anyone is absolutely immune to their poisonous substance. More and more authorities agree that susceptibility is a mere matter of degree, varying with the condition of the individual, the condition of the plant, and the circumstances of exposure.

Texas has its fair share of the 100-plus plants and plant products known to be capable of causing sometimes severe skin irritations. Among them are the parsnip, lady-slipper, cultivated primrose (especially when in flower), lily bulbs and stalks, stinging nettle, and vanilla beans.

But by far the most common cause of plant dermatitis in Texas and elsewhere in the United States is poison ivy, known to botanists by the tongue-twisting name of Rhus toxicodendron. A cousin—poison sumac, by name—is common to the swampy regions of eastern Texas, and can sometimes produce severe reactions.

For all practical purposes, poison ivy and poison oak are the same thing. Poison oak is simply any poison ivy that grows as a bush rather than a vine.

Poison ivy is an unusually inconsistent species of plant. Besides growing as a bush and a vine, the size of its berries and the outline of its leaves often vary widely. Its leaves are characteristically egg-shaped and pointed, but the edges may be smooth and unbroken or saw-toothed. Moreover, these variations might occur on a single plant, or the leaves on an entire plant may be similar.

But in one matter, poison ivy is almost invariably consistent—its leaves practically always grow in clusters of three.

Most researchers agree that actual physical contact with the plant juice either directly or indirectly is necessary before the poisoning agent can cause the typical blisters and skin inflammation.

Thus ivy poisoning is best prevented by learning to recognize the plant and avoiding it. And, of course, it is always prudent to wear protective clothing such as leggings and gloves when going into areas where poison plants are known to flourish. Once exposed, immediate washing with laundry soap and water helps to remove the resin.

this week!

When someone says, "Your Johnny's just like you," is it a compliment, or is it an accusation? Whether you like it or not, children do follow in their parents' footsteps.

Johnny learns that kindness and courtesy are virtues, because you are kind and courteous. He learns to love good books and music, because you love them. He learns, through your example, to speak truthfully.

And if going to church and church school regularly is also a part of your usual routine, Johnny will develop that habit just as he has these others.

Then it is a compliment when someone says, "Your Johnny's just like you," for you are doing all within your power to lead him in the right direction.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Cotton Congress to be held in Lubbock May 8-9

LUBBOCK — Leaders from all parts of the $22 billion U. S. cotton industry will speak before the annual meeting of the American Cotton Congress Monday and Tuesday, May 8 and 9.

The Congress, a sounding board for the cotton industry, is headed by Chairman Burriss C. Jackson, Lubbock, Tex.

The opening session of the Congress, on Monday morning, will include the keynote address by Jackson and a discussion of agricultural research problems by Rhea Blake, Memphis, Tenn., executive vice president of the National Cotton Council of America.

The second session that afternoon will feature Sterling Emens of Lubbock's First National Bank, discussing cotton financing; Frank Gray of the SCS in Lubbock, speaking on the growing of cotton; Dr. Harold Loden of Payson Farm, Plainview, discussing variety developments, and Wade Welch of the National Cotton Council, Memphis, telling of reduction potentials.

James T. Ralph, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, will speak at an evening session at the Lubbock Country Club.

The Tuesday morning session will include a talk on mechanization in cotton marketing by Dan Davis, Plains Cotton Cooperative Association, Lubbock; a discussion about markets and distribution by F. Marion Rhodes, president of the New York Cotton Exchange; a talk on use of cotton by mills by Robert W. Smith, president of Lowenstein Cotton & Storage Corp., Anderson, S. C., and a discussion of retail potentials for cotton goods and fabrics by Larry Aubuchen, purchasing department, Sears, Roebuck Co., Dallas.

The Congress will close with a noon luncheon meeting at which Edwin Martin, Assistant Secretary of State for Economic Affairs, Washington, will speak.

The American Cotton Congress is an informal organization representing a wide range of interests in the industry. Anyone interested in cotton is invited to attend the sessions. Headquarters will be at the Pioneer Hotel.

Iran plans to import 55,000 tons of chemical fertilizers.

Life's Darkest Moment A WENTY CLASSIC

Intelligent spending on pasture fertilization proves profitable

COLLEGE STATION—Every dollar intelligently spent on cultivated pasture fertilization will return from two to ten dollars, says George McBee, extension pasture specialist.

Pastures, like all other crops, require adequate plant food, and a soil test is the best means of determining these requirements. A ton of grass hay contains about 30 pounds of nitrogen, 10 pounds of phosphoric acid and 30 pounds of potassium, while a ton of legume hay contains about 25 per cent more of these elements, McBee says that it is not uncommon to double pasture and meadow yields through good fertilizer management.

The specialist warns against surface applications of nitrogen when there is not adequate soil moisture. Dry fertilizer containing nitrogen causes burning when applied to plants wet from dew or rain. With temporary pastures, it's best to band phosphate and potash into soil either at or ahead of planting, but in the case of permanent pastures they may be applied during renovation or cultivation.

Warm season grasses such as Bermuda or Dallgrass may be fertilized either in early spring or in the fall. In the spring, fertilizer should be applied just before the plants begin growth, while in the fall it should be applied during cultivation or renovation. McBee says 30 to 60 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre may be applied each time plants are grazed down, provided sufficient moisture is available for added plant growth. Cool season grasses such as fescue should be fertilized in early fall ahead of the growing season.

The specialist concludes by pointing out that properly fertilized pastures make it easier for stock to make economical gains, maintain body weight and avoid breeding or calving trouble.

GRAESMEYER TALKS BACK

"The idea that I am an Abolitionist is preposterous and entirely mistaken. I have been living in slave states for about forty years . . .

"Men are not apt to act diametrically and headlong against their interest and safety, neither. All I possess in the world is in South Texas. I am in favor of keeping our servile population in proper order and subjection. While we justly deprecate fanaticism in others, let us ourselves beware lest we fall into that fatal error." F. W. Graesmeyer. Vindication.

FULL PANTRY FOR TROOPS

The Steamship Texas, from New Orleans, arrived at Galveston bringing the following freight for the Commissary of Subsistence of the Confederate States Army at San Antonio:

Sixty barrels beef; 992 pounds; pork 296 lbs.; sugar; 154 tierces; bacon 253 lbs.; coffee; 12,550 lbs.; hard bread 170 lbs.; vinegar; 100 lbs.; rice; 73 lbs.; salt 1,261 lbs.; flour 157 lbs.; beans; 403 boxes; 135 boxes candles; 357 boxes soap; sundries to 8,500 lbs. These stores are consigned to Capt. Moore, C.S.A., Galveston.—Weekly Telegraph, Houston.

A CURE ALL

MRS. WINSLOW, as an experienced nurse and female physician, has a soothing syrup for children teething which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay all pain, and is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases. See advertisement in another column.—Weekly Telegraph, Houston.

A SECESSIONIST SPEAKS

When we look back over the past life and turn the pages of history in which the name of Houston appears most prominent, we exclaim how are the mighty fallen for it would be a palpable falsification of history to deny the once powerful influence once wielded by him, and the eminent abilities he has shown throughout his official career. But he is fallen. Those who once delighted to honor him have lost that confidence in his integrity which once controlled the people in his favor. Those who placed him in office now exhibit the least regret in consequence of his chosen doom—retirement.—San Augustine Express.

ORDINANCE VIOLATIONS

Marks, a slave, for driving contrary to a city ordinance, was arrested and whipped.

Peter, (harber) a slave, was arrested and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and the costs of prosecution for hiring his own time, contrary to certain provisions of city ordinances relating to negroes. He was dismissed on payment of the fine and costs by his master.—Weekly Telegraph, Houston.

$200 Reward—Strayed or were stolen from the R. R. Depot at Chappell Hill on Wednesday night four American horses of the following description: One large bay mare (no white marks); two grey fillies, one four year old, flea-bitten about the head and neck, with grey mane and tail. None of them branded. $25 apiece will be paid for their return to the undersigned, and $100 for the arrest of the thief. Thomas Affleck, Gay Hill, Washington, Texas.—Weekly Telegraph, Houston.

Thorough study of Election Code is necessary to correct defects

A thorough study of the voluminous Texas Election Code will be necessary to correct the many statutory defects, State Democratic Chairman J. E. Connally of Abilene declared today.

"An effective, practical revision of election laws can never be achieved by hasty patchwork methods," Connally pointed out.

While in Austin Tuesday, the Democratic official added his endorsement to legislative proposals for creation of an interim study committee to tackle election law problems and report its findings and recommendations to the next regular session.

Authorized by Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells and Rep. Brownrigg Dewey of Bryan, the proposals are in the House and Senate State Affairs Committees.

At a meeting in Austin on Dec. 3, the State Democratic Executive Committee authorized its Legal Sub-Committee to probe into the needs for election law revisions and make recommendations to this Session of the Legislature.

Reporting on this, Connally said the Sub-Committee unanimously agreed that the task is too great, and time too short, to complete needed revisions and corrections at this session.

"We are in hopes the study committee can be created in this Session so that work on this vital project can get underway," the SDEC Chairman stated.

The study committee would consist of five at-large members appointed by the Governor, and five each from the House and Senate, appointed by the Speaker and Lieutenant Governor. The Attorney General and Executive Director of the Texas Legislative Council would be ex-officio members.

Members-at-large would have to be persons experienced in the conduct of elections—such as precinct judges, or county clerks.

Connally pointed out that the present Election Code was adopted ten years ago.

"Since then numerous amendments have been added by the Legislature," he explained. "In many instances, this patchwork work has caused contradictions and confusion. It seems that revisions in the statutes have been made without reference or consideration of other laws affecting elections. As a result, some of the links in the election code chain

Senior Day is Friday event

Friday, April 28, the Seniors enjoyed a Senior Day at Lubbock. They spent the morning at Mackenzie Park and that evening they went to the Lindsey Theater.

Gayle Dillard, Patsy Thompson, Anne Morris, Kay Gordon, Beth Kemp, Jane Francis, Sue Tracy, Carolyn Moore, Billie Lou Hill, Denise Eubank, Margie Casteel, Mike Cornell, Kenith Smith, Gary Simpson, Ronnie Henderson, Royce Hart, Joe Bob Trammell, Homer Carter, Donnie Hays, Gregory Magallanez, Wendell Duncan, and Kenneth McFadin spent the morning and half the afternoon fighting, pinching each other, making war, pushing each other in the water, wrestling, fighting over blankets,

Reflections on '61 Senior Day

The Seniors have different opinions about the Senior Day. Some of them are:

Martha Goodie—I would have enjoyed it better if I had been up to par.

Emmer Jean Halford—It was wonderful.

Kenneth McFadin—I liked it.

Gregory Magallanez—It was all right.

Peggy Ramsey—It was a lot of fun, but I haven't recuperated yet.

Jane Francis—Tiresome, but fun.

Kay Gordon—It was a lot of fun and Kenith Smith is an idiot.

Sharon Moore—I enjoyed it a lot; we had a blast.

Carolyn Moore—I had a blast.

Patsy Thompson—I had a ball.

Anne Morris—I had a blast.

Denise Eubank—The most fun I've had in my life.

Margie Casteel—I had a lot of fun.

Mary Lois Jones—It was a lot of fun.

Danny Jones—I thought it was a ball.

Royce Hart—Thought it was a lot of fun.

Elaine Mitchell—I really enjoyed myself.

Gayle Dillard—I had a blast.

Billie Hill—We had a lot of fun.

Carolyn Moore—It was a blast!

The 8th graders had a lot of fun at the dance last Friday and I'm sure Mr. Stone enjoyed his frequent visits also.

Our newest couples seen around Post Junior High School are Laylan Bratcher and Shirley Doggett, Linda Gist and Lamar Jones and Buddy Howell and Betsy Shytles.

Mrs. Lobban gave a three-weeks test to the 7th grade April 25. It seemed most of the grades were in the 80's.

Our History notebooks are due for the last checking May 11. Better get to work, 7th graders!

The high magazine selling room, which is 7A, had their honor party April 27 at Tom's Place.

In Science, May 2-6, the whole week will be spent doing experiments, as Mrs. Wristen's 7A class has finished their book.

For History, the 7th grade wrote essays on "Good Citizenship".

What's this I hear about Carol Camp and Jerry Julian winking at each other in Mr. May's class? Now, now, let's pay attention to class, kids!

Mrs. Lobban gave her 7th grade Math classes a test on multiplication, division, addition and subtraction, and measuring angles—counting about the same as a six-weeks test.

There were only five students in 4th period P. E. class Monday. They played "Wolf Over the River," because there weren't enough to play anything else. They had fun.

Sadness mixes with gladness at thoughts of school term's end

Comments on the ending school term:

Donnie Hays—"I'll be glad when it's out."

Peggy Ramsey when asked if she'd be glad when school was out—"Are you kidding?"

Kenneth Williams—"Yep, I'll be glad when it's out."

Wendell Duncan—"Even though I've had a lot of fun this year, I'll be glad when it's out."

Judy Clary elected Queen

Reese Air Base scene of social

The first social ever held for the Senior Girl Scouts and the Explorer Boy Scouts was held Saturday night at Reese Air Force Base.

The boys had spent the day at Lubbock competing in different contests and taking tours.

For the sock hop that night, Girl Scouts were "imported" from Littlefield, Abilene, Levelland, Spur, Lubbock and Post. At 7 p. m., the girls all met at Monterey High School, where an Air Force bus was waiting to take them out to the base.

Approximately 100 girls and 150 boys attended the sock hop. That night, an Explorer Ball Queen was crowned. There were 17 Girl Scout troops there, but only 16 were represented in the contest.

Each troop picked a girl to represent them, and we're happy to say that Judy Clary won.

A four-piece band, "The Incidentals," played for the dance, and they were just wonderful.

Girls attending from Post were Jan Herring, Glenda Hutto, Melinda Newby, Marsha Smith, Kay Nunnally, Pat Odam, Judy Clary.

Shirley Isaacs—I don't know, Sandy Gary—Don't ask me! Coach Gregg—Dedication, as a poem.

Gayla Johnson—A boy.

Ann Greer—A cannibal. (An ode is a poem.)

Gossip Box

Why is it that Ceretha Jones is always at the ink well during Mrs. Baxter's last period class and Donnie Cornell is around the gym that period?

Mrs. Baxter can't possibly be without a pencil when she needs one because she has a new pencil over each ear!

Cheryl Pennell got her ankle slightly sprained in her 2nd period gym class. I guess you were playing a little rough, Right, Cheryl?

It seems that some of the sixth grade couples have broken up. They are: Sherry Woods and Jerry Sullivan, Belinda Lee and Donny Windham, Linda Hays and Larry Johnson, Jaynie Josey and Paul Walker, Cheryl Pennell and Ronnie Wilson. I sure hope everything turns out all right.

Mrs. Williams "tried" to draw a map Wednesday. Just joking! She's a very good artist.

In the 6th grade history class we are in map study. We had to draw the southern hemisphere. What artists we have!

We have a very good selection of books this year. There are many new books. So, Mrs. Walker advises you to come in and check a book out of the Post Junior High Library.

We have started basketball scrimmage in Coach Hahn's 6th grade girls gym class. We all think its lots of fun, and good experience too.

In Mr. Willson's sixth grade music class, Gregg Jones has worked up a little routine of many different steps. He looks like another Fred Astaire!

Some new couples seen around Post Junior High are: Deanna Adams and Walter Johnson, Gregg Jones and Brenda Haley, Dick Kennedy and Linda Altman, Johnny Jones and Sherry Gist, Jackie Wilson and Roy Long, and Sharon Nutt and Jack Wilber.

Contratulations Pamela, for being elected cheerleader. Pamela Stewart and Shirley Isaacs were the two high, but Pamela was elected.

It is spring-time now and lots of the students are bringing their teachers flowers.

What is going on between Linda Davis and Melvin Allen? How long did you stop wearing his ring? Linda? Was it four hours 16 minutes and 3/4 seconds?

Everyone had a big laugh when Beverly Avant got up to give a report in History sixth period. Wonder why, Beverly?

Student broadcast scheduled for May 13

An all Post High School student broadcast will be presented Saturday, May 13, by radio station KUKO.

The program, still in the process of being arranged, will include a number of special shows, all featuring Post High students.

Four girls, two teachers FHA group attends State Convention

On Thursday morning, April 27, those girls planning to attend the State FHA Convention left for Dallas.

Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Kuykendoll, Jane Maxey, Linda Kuykendoll, Shelia Morris and Danella Bateman arrived at the Hotel Travis about 4:30 p. m.

After supper, Mrs. Hill, Jane and Linda went to the State Music Hall in Fair Park to practice for the State Degree ceremony. Mrs. Kuykendoll, Shelia, and Danella went to register at the Baker Hotel which was State Convention headquarters.

The theme of the 1961 Convention was "FHA Stepping Stones to Better Homes."

Friday morning, the group attended the first general session, where the principal address was given by Mrs. Billie Davis, a Christian Education missionary to Latin America. Friday afternoon, the State Degree ceremony was held.

The night session's program was entitled "Those Wonderful Years, 1945-1961". This program was composed of skits by different areas. Three foreign exchange students who were sponsored by FHA chapters had a part on the program.

Saturday morning's meeting was the business session of the convention. The state officers for next year were installed.

The meeting was over at 12 a. m., and the group arrived home about 10 p. m.

Railroads are opposing curbs on freight rate reductions

AUSTIN—Concerted opposition to legislation before Congress which would prevent the railroads of the nation from reducing freight rates, and passing on the savings to the public, was announced here today by the railroads of Texas.

Top executives of all the ten major and most of a score of short lines operating in Texas planned an intensive campaign to alert Congress to the efforts of James R. Hoffa, Teamsters' Union president, to lobby through Congress bills which would eliminate rate making procedures enacted in 1958. The Hoffa-sponsored bills would require the railroads to hold their

Record printing of S&H catalog

LUBBOCK—C. E. Hyatt, Lubbock branch manager for The Sperry and Hutchinson Company today announced distribution here of the new S&H Green Stamp catalog reported to be the most widely-circulated business publication of the year.

The initial printing order of the S&H "Idea Book" was for 32 million copies.

The catalog contains most of the S&H line of 1,700 articles of merchandise, illustrated in color on 132 pages.

Hyatt pointed out two graphic statistics regarding the record-breaking catalog: about 15 million pounds of paper were used; stacked one on top of the other the 32 million catalogs would stand more than 50 miles high.

Hyatt said that S&H Green Stamps are now distributed by 90,000 retail stores and that half of all the families in America save them.

"S&H issues more stamps than the U. S. Post Office does," Hyatt said.

Letters to the Editor...

Dear Editor: Our clipping service has just delivered the article "Garza Brands on File with Cattleman Group" which appeared in your April 20 issue of the Post Dispatch. This is a well-written article, both from the standpoint of accuracy and reader interest. It is a subject which unfortunately is still somewhat confusing to some cattlemen, and we want to express our appreciation for your efforts in "keeping the record straight." We believe you would be hard put to find a topic of greater interest to the cattlemen at this time. Purely as a matter of interest, we would appreciate knowing your source of information for the article. Could you pass this information along to us. Once again, many thanks. If we can be of any service to you at any time, we will count on hearing from you. Sincerely, Ernest Duke, Assistant Secretary, Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn.

Registration set for Make-Ready School

Registration for the Make-Ready School—for children who will be five years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1961—will be held from 1 until 3:30 p. m. Friday, May 12. 'Operation Eichmann' Tower attraction for Friday and Saturday

On May 23, 1961, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion of Israel announced that after a 15-year search Adolf Eichmann, one-time chief of Hitler's "Murder Bureau", which liquidated 6,000,000 civilians during World War II, had been captured in Argentina and spirited to Israel for trial. The trial is now under way.

"Operation Eichmann," a recreation of the great man-hunt, whose spectacular conclusion brought international complications, comes to the screen of the Tewe Theatre Friday and Saturday of this week. Based on private research into a story classified by Israel as a state secret, "Operation Eichmann" went before the cameras eight months to the day after the ex-hatchetman was run to earth by Israeli agents.

College's annual cotton school is to begin June 5

COLLEGE STATION—For the 52nd consecutive year Texas A&M College offers its special summer cotton school.

Its purpose is to provide training for persons who expect to enter the cotton trade; for growers who desire to learn more about cotton marketing and for buyers who wish to review grade standards or become more familiar with the elements of quality in cotton.

The 1961 school will again be conducted by the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology during the six weeks between June 5 and July 14. Professor M. Ward will again be in charge of the school.

Ward says such important phases of the cotton industry as grading, stapling, and the determination of cotton properties and trade procedures will receive major attention. Most of the time will be spent in actual practice work and discussions covering techniques of classing. A few lectures by visiting specialists will cover phases of production, marketing and processing of cotton.

Detailed plans for the school may be obtained by writing W. M. Ward in care of the sponsoring department, College Station, Texas.

Food plots for wildlife suggested by Texas A&M Extension specialist

COLLEGE STATION — Most farmers and ranchers are interested in doing the best possible job of managing wildlife. Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist, points out that nature does a good job, but says man can be a big help.

Probably the most important principle of wildlife management is to preserve or encourage the growth of food and cover plants. Every wild creature's livelihood depends on certain types of plants or animals that feed on plants, and landowners can be good managers by making sure food and cover plants are provided, Cooper continues.

In many cases, specialized agriculture reduces the amount of food available for game animals. It is possible to offset some of this loss by providing food plot for wildlife. For deer and wild turkeys, small acreages of winter grains can be most helpful. Oats, wheat and similar winter crops offer attractive grazing for these animals. The food plots have even greater value when domestic livestock are excluded, the specialist explains.

Quail and dove will quickly take advantage of certain types of food plots. In the areas where they can be grown, Koba lespedeza, German millet and sesame produce seeds highly desirable for birds. Several small strips of these plants, located near permanent, low-growth woody vegetation, are quite valuable.

Even wild geese can be benefited by winter food crops in Texas. In some areas, Gulf rye grass produces excellent grazing for these birds. Any type of winter grazing, including oats, rye, wheat and similar crops, can be used to advantage.

Local county agents can provide information on important cultural recommendations for these crops. He can also help with recommendations on fertilization, time of planting and other important details, Cooper concludes.

SELLS BUTANE SERVICE

SPUR—Lynn Buzbee, owner of Buzbee Butane Service, has sold his interest in the gas company to Flash-O-Gas, Inc. Buzbee, who is a member of the board of directors of White River Municipal Water District, said he would remain with the company for an indefinite period.

COUNTY AGENTS' COLUMN

 COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

FERTILIZER TEST
 The first off-station fertilizer test conducted through the cooperation of the Experiment Station, Lubbock, the local county agents office, and the farm operator, was established on the Glenn Davis farm in the Graham community.

This farm is operated by Elvius Davis.
 The primary interest in this test is in checking nitrogen and phosphorus response. Three rates of potassium were also included to determine any possible response to potash.

Rates of 0 through 200 pounds of nitrogen (by 20 pound increments) were used in combination with 80 pounds of phosphorus to check nitrogen response. Phosphorus rates of 0, 20, 40, 80, and 120 pounds per acre were used with 120 pounds of nitrogen to check phosphorus response.

Nitrogen alone was used at 0, 20, 40, 80 and 120 pounds per acre.

One phosphorus rate of 0-80-0 was used alone in one plot.

Each rate is reapplied four times, using 24 treatments making 69 blocks 90 feet long in the test. The Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and South Plains Soil Fertility committee are supporting this work in materials and finances.

Cotton samples from all the treatments will be harvested to determine yield and samples taken to check grade, staple, and micronaire.

WEEKEND GUESTS
 Visiting over the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Josey were Mrs. Lee Craft, Martha, Dewey, and Debra of Lubbock.

Rural community judging begins

COLLEGE STATION—During the next six weeks, judging teams will score 24 communities in their search to find Texas' most progressive rural community. Progress made during the past year will be of prime importance in the final determination, said Reagan Brown, rural sociologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Brown added that such broad areas of improvement as increasing and managing farm income, improving health conditions, improving the farm and home, increasing social opportunities and participation in all phases of community life will be considered by the judging teams.

The sociologist said the past year had been the most successful in the 14-year history of the Extension Service conducted program. Awards on the district and state basis are currently being provided by 18 electric utility companies which operate in Texas, Brown added.

Build a stronger, richer life...
WORSHIP TOGETHER EVERY WEEK!

You know the hymn—"How firm a Foundation?" Of course you do. But it's more than a hymn. To many it is a way of life.

The foundation is faith. Faith that gives every day a shining new quality. Faith that provides a strong shelter in time of need. Faith that sustains you in sickness and trouble. Faith that makes life a great adventure, truly worth living.

You find faith as a member of a family, as a member of a community. Worshipping together every week, with those you love, with others who believe as you do—gives you strength to carry through with hope and courage.

You can build a stronger, richer life—on a firm foundation of faith. Worship together this week... every week!

The Post Dispatch

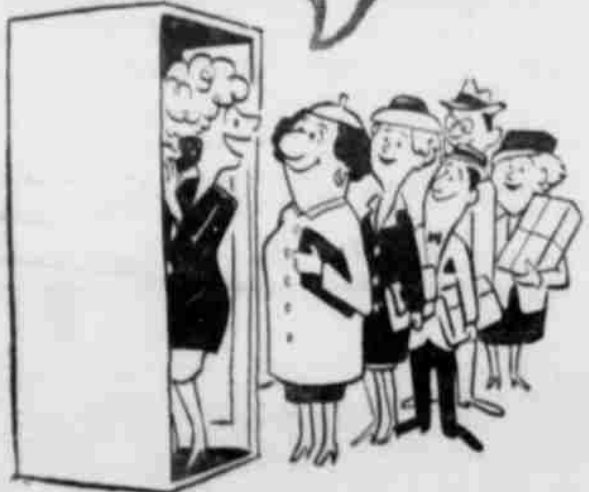

Bigger and Better

That's Our Motto Here At

The Post Dispatch

"The story's true. Bill says it's on page 1 of today's Dispatch."

"I can see that pretty headline in The Dispatch right now!"

Almost 100 Garza folks stop in at The Dispatch office each and every Thursday to buy their copy of The Dispatch. Hundreds of others buy them before the day is out at stores and cafes around Post. They can't wait until the Friday morning mail delivery to get their Dispatch — and the hometown news.

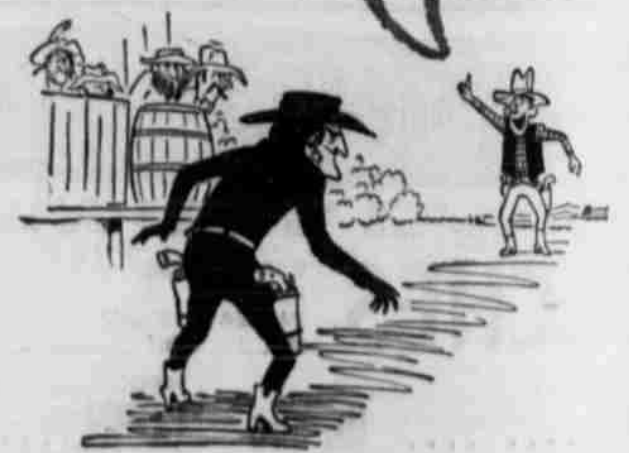

We here at The Dispatch are trying every day to make your newspaper a better one for you to read. Over the last few years we've added new pages—sports, editorial, and school—and a whole variety of new columns and features. For example, to our knowledge, we're the only Texas newspaper which has a high school and junior high staff to write all the school news, and gives an open page to such school news as a community service.

Right now we have the most complete rural area news coverage in the paper's history with seven paid correspondents writing the community news each week.

The Dispatch likes to do some "crusading" now and then in support of causes which we believe to be to this community's good.

When we say "bigger and better" is our motto, we mean not only for The Dispatch but for our town. The two go hand in hand.

"Be sure to spell my name J-O-N-E-S in The Dispatch, boys."

2,100 Families Read The Dispatch Each and Every Week

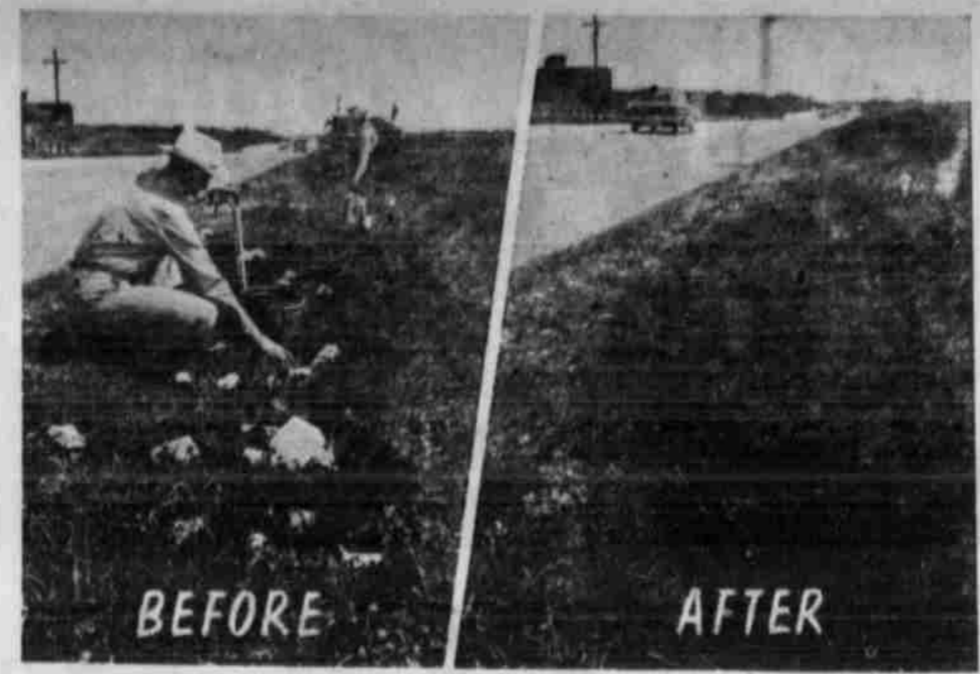

Our Paid Circulation figures prove that The Dispatch has wide Community acceptance as Garza's only prime News Media. The Dispatch in another month will quietly celebrate its 35th birthday with an All-Time high in Paid Circulation. We are invited into 2,100 homes each week — without give-aways or gimmicks — Because we provide thorough Hometown News Coverage.

Litter tossed on Texas highways and roadsides has to be hand-picked. No machine can do this chore. Last year the clean-up and mowing bill for 57,500 maintained miles of Texas highways totaled more than $7,000,000.

'Be a neatnik, not a litterbug,' urges Texas Highway Department

AUSTIN — The Texas Highway Department today launched a new slogan in its anti-litter campaign: "Be a neatnik, not a litterbug." This plea comes from Texas Highway Department maintenance crews all over the state as they haul mountains of cans, bottles, paper, decaying food, and other litter from Texas highway right of way. "Spring houseclean our Texas highways all year long by fighting that urge to toss litter from your car," they recommend. Throwing litter on highways and roadsides is prohibited by law. Last year 281 cases against litterthrowing were completed in Texas courts. Of this number, 269 were found guilty and were fined or punished by other means. Highway maintenance men point out that litter is local for the main part, coming from resident litterbugs and not from out-of-staters or from phantom travelers from "up the road." Surveys reveal that the litterbug is a local person, possibly a civic-minded citizen in all other phases of his life, but he fails to see the multiplication factor when he tosses out an empty cigarette package, wad of paper, or soft-drink bottle. He would not toss these objects down in his own yard, or in a friend's; but he will thoughtlessly take over the highway as his own private trash basket. Other evidence of the "resident litterbug" is sometimes a can-and-bottle trail. Maintenance foremen report that the biggest dead-soldier tossouts are about a drink away (by car) from the nearest local emporium. Cost of removal has been estimated at one-half cent per can. Maintenance crews join poet Richard Armour in his hurry-up order to science for an edible beer can. Maintenance men point out: No machine can pick up litter. It has to be hand-picked. That makes it an expensive operation. Last year the clean-up and mowing bill for 57,500 maintained miles of Texas highways totaled more than $7,000,000. This included picking up, hauling, and unloading rubbish.

SATURDAY VISITORS Saturday night visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Moreland were their daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Andrews and Joey of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Waldrip, Mike and Bruce.

Census shows 62 pct. of people own homes
WASHINGTON — Sixty-two out of every 100 U. S. householders own their homes, the Census Bureau reported Sunday. The 33,000,000 owner-occupied dwellings shown by the 1960 census represents the highest level of ownership since census studies in this field began in 1890. In 1950, about 23,600,000, or 55 per cent of all householders, owned their homes. Norwegian style sweaters at $15 were big sellers when Norway opened a trade exhibit in Tokyo, Japan.
