While his horror-stricken mother looked on from a window of their home, 11-year-old Bobby Jack Smith was struck and killed by an automobile Monday after pulling his younger sister to safety.

The children had just left a school bus on the Ralls farm-to-market road in front of their about a mile and a half north of the scene of the accident, was admitted to Garza Memorial Hospital in a severe state of shock following the accident and was still hospitalized yesterday.

Sheriff L. E. (Fay) Claborn Jr., who investigated the accident along with highway patrolmen and other officers, said when Miss Hodges stopped some 130 feet from where her automobile struck the boy, the youngster's body was under the right front bumper. He apparently was killed instantly.

The accident occurred on a straight stretch of road, N. R. "Jiggs" King, driver of the bus had pulled over to the right to let the Smith children off. Their home was directly opposite on the other side of the road.

Highway patrolmen are continuing an investigation into the accident, County Attorney Carleton P. Webb said yesterday.

An aunt of the Smith boy told The Dispatch that Mrs. Smith said she saw Bobby Jack push his 9-year-old sister, Daisy Mae, to safety before he was struck by the car.

"She always watched from the window as the children got off the bus," the aunt said.

The road was slick and snow was falling, but melting as it fell, at the time of the accident.

About 10 other children were on (See YOUNGSTER, page 4)

Fund Established

A fund for the benefit of the O. W. (Weldon) Smith family, whose son and brother, Bobby Jack, was killed in a tragic school bus accident Monday, has been set up at the OK Food Store, 313 North Broadway. Anyone wishing to contribute may leave his donation at the store with owner Tom Harmon or any of the other store personnel.

home three miles north of Post. An older brother was getting off the bus when the accident occurred.

The youngster's death is believed to be the first school bus fatality in the county's history.

The automobile which struck the Smith child was driven by Carol Hodges, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hodges, who was also on her way home from school.

Darby rites will be at Batesville

Everett E. Darby Sr., 53, Post building contractor, who died early Monday in the Garza Memorial Hospital, was to be buried at Batesville this afternoon following funeral services there. An earlier service was held at 10 a. m. yesterday in the Hudman Funeral Home chapel.

Mr. Darby died a short while after being admitted to the hospital following a heart attack. He and his wife lived at 110 North Avenue N.

He had been a resident of Post since November of 1959, moving here from Boulder, Colo. He was the contractor on the new business buildings just west of the Alameda Hotel and on the extension to the Hudman Furniture Co. store.

Mr. Darby was born in Iowa, but his family moved to Baytown, Tex., when he was five months old. He was married in Houston in 1928 and moved to Boulder in 1951.

The Rev. Eugene Matthews, First Methodist pastor, officiated at the funeral services here yesterday morning. Special music included a song, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," by a quartet of H. E. Butler, the Rev. C. B. Hogue, Bob Baker and Wesley Scott, with Mrs. Phil Crenshaw at the piano, and also a hymn, "God Will Take Care of You."

Mr. Darby is survived by one brother, Martinez Darby of Lubbock; two sons, Everett E. Darby Jr. of Boulder and L. T. Jack N. Darby of the U. S. Navy at New London, Conn.; three sisters, James C. M. Jeffers and Ervin Boulton of Kingsville and Elva Stephan of Ovid, Mich., and four grandchildren. He was a brother-in-law of Ed Sawyers, owner of TV Appliances.

Final plans for big dam ready

Final plans and specifications for the White River dam and water pipelines in Post, Spur, Ralls, and Crosbyton have been completed by the district's engineering team and are expected to be approved tonight at the White River directors' February meeting in Dallas.

A set of plans and specifications was received by directors in each of the four towns Monday from Post Worth for prior study.

Completion of the plans will now make it possible to complete financing of the $4,000,000 project without delay.

Junior Rodeo group to meet Friday

Decision on whether or not to stage the annual Southwestern Rodeo Association Junior Rodeo here this summer is expected to be made at a Junior Rodeo Association stockholders' meeting Friday.

The meeting will be held at the County 4-H building, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. All stockholders and all others interested in the junior rodeo are urged to attend.

Postings

By JIM CORNISH

The usually reliable Associated Press reported a weather "whopper" on Post this week—but we can't yet discover just who reported it. The AP came out in their big West Texas weather story with a 15-inch snowfall for Post. Actually we had only 1½ to 2 inches of sleet, snow, and other kinds of assorted moisture Monday. It totaled up to but .51 inch of moisture on County Agent Lewis Herron's official gauge. The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, which usually channels area news into the AP wire service, said that newspaper didn't tell anybody Post had 15 inches of snow.

Although only one candidate had his hat in the ring for a city councilman's post yesterday with five other city and school trustee positions open, politics of the local "non-partisan" variety is beginning to warm up in Post this week, just like the weather. With the city filing deadline March 4 and the school district filing deadline March 2, there isn't much time left. The way it looks now a number of folks are seriously considering jumping in and getting their feet wet politically and they are picking up considerable support from other folks who are willing to actively get out and help them. If such turns out to be the case, the community is sure to benefit.

Wholesome community interest in city and school races is to be applauded. We don't know whether or not the city and school district fields will get a bit crowded in the next 10 days, but we certainly would urge folks to get interested, encourage men and women they would like to see run, and then support them if they do make the race. It can't help but be healthy for any town.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announced Tuesday night that the support price for (See POSTINGS, page 4)

Morrel funeral set for today

Funeral services for Mrs. C. D. Morrel, 69, who died of a heart attack Monday while visiting in Dallas, were to be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church, of which she had been a member for 40 years.

Mrs. Morrel, who with her husband lived at 121 North Avenue P, suffered a heart attack while visiting in the home of a sister in Dallas. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Methodist Hospital there.

She and Mr. Morrel were visiting in Dallas after being in Denton last week to attend funeral services for Mr. Morrel's mother.

Mrs. Morrel was born Johnnie Shepherd in Farmersville, Tex., May 3, 1891. She and Mr. Morrel were married in Post Dec. 21, 1910.

The Rev. Ed Herring, First Presbyterian pastor, is to officiate at the funeral services. Burial will be in Terrace Cemetery under direction of Mason Funeral Home.

Mrs. Morrel is also survived by one daughter, Mrs. Winston Wharton of Tahoka; four sisters, Mrs. Kate Thomas of Strickmorton, Mrs. W. E. Clendening and Mrs. C. C. Sibley, both of Dallas, and Miss Nina Shepherd of Kerrville, and one granddaughter, Ann Wharton, of Tahoka.

Pallbearers were Joe T. Smith of Lubbock, Glen Phillips of Dallas, Meldon Leslie of Tahoka, Jimmy Wharton of Tahoka, Delwin Flitt, Bryan J. Williams, Ronnie Boushler and Warren Yancy.

On college admissions

The Lubbock Baptist Association, in a meeting Monday in Tahoka, unanimously approved a resolution advocating admission to all Texas Baptist-supported colleges of "qualified students of all races."

The association, representing more than 20,000 church members in West Texas represents about 60 churches in a several-county area around Lubbock and including Post and Garza County.

The resolution as drafted was presented to the association by the Rev. C. B. Hogue, president of the Plains Baptist Assembly of which the Lubbock Baptist Association is a part. Rev. Hogue is pastor of the First Baptist Church here.

The resolution said the group

Candidates scarce as filing time shortens

With filing deadlines coming up next week, candidates for city and school posts were "few and far between" today.

The only candidate who had filed up to 4 p. m. yesterday was Dr. James R. Matthews, who came out as a candidate for one of the two city council posts to be filled.

The filing deadline for the city election is midnight Saturday, March 4.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, no can-

Lions plan big candy week sale

Post Lions are planning an all-out fund raising effort here during the state-wide Lions Candy Week, March 10-14.

Saturday, March 14, will be Candy Day.

The big Texas effort on the part of Lions throughout the state will be to raise funds for Texas blind and crippled children.

A 100 per cent participation is planned by the local club membership in the candy sale locally.

Plans for the sale were discussed Tuesday night at the Lions weekly dinner meeting. A committee composed of Bob Meisch, Dr. John Carter, and R. G. Wilkerson is in charge of the project.

Governor Price Daniel will declare it Lions Candy Week in Texas and Saturday, March 14, Lions Candy Day.

Travis Thomas was in charge of the program at the meeting. He gave members a safety quiz and papers were graded to see how good the Lions were in their driving habits.

Babe Ruth League meeting date set

A meeting of all sports fans interested in the Babe Ruth League has been set for 7:30 p. m. Monday, Feb. 27, in the First National Bank's community room.

Important business is on the agenda for this year's first Babe Ruth meeting, according to Chant D. Lee, league vice president.

1,434 counted in school district

Supt. R. T. Smith lists the scholastic population of the Post Independent School District at 1,434 following completion of the annual scholastic census.

The total is about the same as that compiled in last year's school census, Smith said.

Of the total figure, 1,359 are whites and 75 are Negroes. Ninety-nine of those enumerated are children who are six years old or who will be six before school starts next September.

The superintendent said that anywhere from 15 to 20 of the preschool age children more than likely were missed in the census.

The census figures also show that of the 1,359 white students, 690 are boys and 669 are girls.

Area Baptists favor drop of racial 'bar'

was in favor of admitting "qualified students of all races" to Texas Baptist-supported colleges "because of the interest of missions around the world, and from a Christian attitude toward all peoples of all races and creeds, and through respect for the primacy of the individual regardless of color or interest as a testimony of a positive witness of the gospel."

It was the third Baptist Association in the state to advocate integration of the state's Baptist institutions of higher learning.

Wayland Baptist College at Plainview for several years has admitted students of all races.

Any action, as advocated Monday, must come through the Education Commission of the General Baptist Convention of Texas.

Post Developments to be organized

Post Developments, Inc., a non-profit corporation formed to seek new business and industrial developments for this community, will be formally organized Friday night.

The meeting will be held at 3:30 p. m. in the Community Room of the First National Bank.

Irby G. Metcalf was named temporary chairman last Wednesday night of a group which met to discuss formation of Post Developments.

Officers and directors will be elected Friday night and by-laws presented for consideration and adoption.

Members would pay $100 annually into the organization with the provision they can be assessed $200 more annually should the money be needed in the search for industry. At least that is the present plan subject to approval at the Friday night meeting.

James funeral is held here Friday

Funeral services for Roy B. James, 69, a resident of Post since 1917, were conducted at 3:30 p. m. Friday at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Mr. James, who was a retired employee of Postex Mills, died at 2:10 p. m. last Thursday in Garza Memorial Hospital. He lived at 419 South Avenue H.

Mr. James had been a member of the Baptist Church since 1929. He was born April 27, 1891, in Nacogdoches County, the son of George Washington James and the former Miss Elizabeth DuBose.

The Rev. Graydon Howell, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, officiated at the services, assisted by the Rev. C. B. Hogue, First Baptist pastor.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under direction of Mason Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Laham Johnson, Charles Williams Sr., C. D. Nowell, Chester Keeton, Walter Caffey, Ozell Williams, Doyle Nelson and Edward Neff.

Mr. James is survived by his wife; six daughters, Mmes. Eugene Martin, High Martin, Barney Martin and Leroy Bilberry, a 11 of Post, Florene Berry of Buchanan Dam, and Weldon Allison of Trent; one son, Winston James of Post; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Jack Temple of Lamesa and Mrs. Rayford Bates of Seminole;

Four sisters, Mmes. Nina King and Mabel James, both of Post, Rosa James of Fort Worth and Minnie Wylie of Lubbock; three brothers, Carson James of Post and Jasper and Jody James, both of Woodville; 15 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Stolen truck is found in mud

A truck loaded with 75 hales of hay was stolen from its parking place on downtown Main Street here sometime Tuesday night, but the thief was too poor a driver to get far.

The highway patrol spotted it Wednesday morning in a ditch just off US-84 south of Southland mirrored deep in the mud.

Only ten hales of hay were still on the truck. Apparently the rest of the load toppled into the mud when the truck skidded in the mud.

The truck's driver, J. H. Price of Lockney, had parked the truck near the Garza Hotel where he spent the night and left the ignition keys in the truck. When he got up Wednesday morning to resume his journey, he found his truck gone—and reported it to the sheriff's office here.

Cubs' Blue and Gold banquet set tonight

Post Cub Scouts' annual Blue and Gold banquet will be held at 7 o'clock this evening in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

The banquet will be for the approximately 40 Cub Scouts and their parents, according to Malcolm T. Bull, Cubmaster.

The program will consist of skits presented by each of the five Cub dens.

Two highway patrolmen are assigned to Post

Area law enforcement will get another big—and long sought—boost April 1 when two Texas Highway patrolmen are assigned to Post.

Highway Patrolman Max Knox from Lubbock is one of the two patrolmen who will move to Post for the new assignment. The second officer has not as yet been announced by Capt. E. L. Posey, head of the highway patrol's regional office at Lubbock under whom the two will work.

Knox is married and has two children. He told The Dispatch yesterday he will begin house-hunting here soon.

Assignment of highway patrol officers to Post has been vigorously sought here for the past several years.

The Post Lions Club made it one of their community improvement projects last year, and received good cooperation from local units of government and community leaders in the project.

Girl Scouts plan big cookie sale

Post's six Girl Scout and Brownie troops next Thursday will begin the annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale here with a door to door canvass.

The girls will sell vanilla thin cookies and chocolate covered mint cookies at 50 cents per box.

This year the Caprock Girl Scout Council will receive 20½ cents profit from each box of cookies with the money set aside for the development of Camp Rio Blanco, which Post Girl Scouts have the privilege of attending.

Each troop also receives 8 cents per box for its troop fund from the cookie sale.

The sale is scheduled from Thursday, March 2, through Thursday, March 16.

New roof for building authorized as

3 improvement projects slated for Youth Center

Directors of the Garza County Youth Center launched what is hoped to be a three-phased improvement program for the center last night.

The board authorized a new eight-year-guaranteed roof for the building and accepted the $275 bid of the Forrest Lumber Co. for the job.

This action came after hearing reports that the roof is in such bad shape that a $90 estimate for a patch job would be a waste of money.

Man and woman of year named at C-C banquet

Ira Lee Duckworth and Mrs. J. L. (Bett) Stewart, a pair of pioneer Post residents who have given lifetimes of service to this community, were honored last Thursday night at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet as "Post's man and woman of the year."

O. J. Weakley, Duckworth's partner in the investment firm of Duckworth and Weakley since the pair retired five years ago as officers of the First National Bank, made the plaque presentation to Duckworth.

The plaque presentation to Mrs. Stewart was made by Mrs. J. R. Durrett, who extolled the "woman of the year" as "always a good neighbor" and cited Mrs. Stewart's personal project of visiting the community's shut-ins over the years to bring them comfort and cheer.

Duckworth, a resident of this county for over half a century and a graduate of Post High School in 1914, was termed "active through all his years for the betterment of Post" by Weakley.

Some 250 persons turned out for the banquet in the school cafeteria to applaud the "man and woman of the year" and to congratulate them for many minutes at the conclusion of the event.

After dining on baked ham, the big turnout heard a fast-moving and interesting speech by C. L. (See C-C BANQUET, page 4)

New coin Laundry is opened here

Post has a new help-yourself laundry this week with the opening of Scottie's Coin-o-matic Laundry at 326 West Eighth Street, across from the schools.

The new owners purchased what was formerly known as the Post Automatic Laundry, remodeled the building, and installed 20 of the latest Whirlpool coin-operated washers and six Huebsch gas dryers.

The new laundry will be operated from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. seven days a week with an attendant always on duty. Charles Seals is the laundry manager.

Scottie's Coin-o-matic Laundries also are in operation in this area at Tahoka, Slaton, and Crosbyton.

The announcement and for the opening appears on page 14.

Added gate appeal can save rodeoing

This newspaper doesn't want to see Post lose its Junior Rodeo.

Stockholders of the Junior Rodeo Association will meet at the 4-H building tomorrow night to decide what to do about 1961. If the answer is "no" this year, it will be hard to reorganize and come back.

The problem, as we understand it, is that some extensive repairs need to be made at the rodeo grounds if a summer show is to be conducted—repairs to stands and chutes and fences that will cost money.

It's money the Junior Rodeo Association doesn't have. That is because rodeoing is no longer a very profitable undertaking for the promoters.

So unless something strenuous is figured out, the rodeo can well go by the boards.

Rodeos are expensive to operate. Spread over four nights they seldom attract enough fans on the "middle nights" to make the enterprise total up into profit.

There are lots and lots of rodeos in West Texas each year and they are losing their appeal to a large number of folks who aren't dyed-in-the-wool rodeo fans.

That's why it's a struggle to "break even" these days, instead of going after the profit which can be used to keep up the capital improvements necessary from year to year.

Those are the harsh facts of life about rodeoing. Some people say rodeoing is on the way out as the western spectator sport. And it's all because of money.

What we have to suggest we hope will be considered for what it might be worth. We're no rodeo expert, but we are a rodeo fan and we want to see the Junior Rodeo stay in the town where it first originated after the war.

Here's what we have in mind:

If financing is the big problem let's renovate rodeoing just a bit to attract more dollars to the gate. If rodeoing must have a packed house to "make it" then let's concentrate upon gate appeal.

Other sports with the same money problem have taken a long look at themselves and done a "rebuilding job" with the gate in mind. And in some cases they have built a column, and well over into the black too.

Professional football did by changing the rules to make the game an exciting, high scoring spectator sport. Professional basketball did it by changing some rules to push the pros into the leadership of that sport by such rules as requiring the team with the ball to shoot in 24 seconds and banning zone defenses. That chopped out of the game what the spectators considered dull—the stall—and made it a whizz-bang game right down to the final gun.

For that matter professional baseball has done it too. They've speeded up the game to make it more appetizing and a number of club owners have added some extras like super scoreboards, hillbilly bands, and shorter fences to produce more homeruns.

Our suggestion is simple: rodeo can do the same, thus reviving interest at the gate.

If we accept this premise there are a whole raft of ideas one can list which might help. We'll leave it up to veteran rodeo promoters to figure out which are the most sensible, but we urge them to experiment.

Try some out. The ones which click keep, the ones which don't abandon after trial. Then try some more.

Just to start everybody thinking we'll list a few ideas for renovating the four-night junior rodeo show. Some may be worth considering, some may not, but here they are:

1. Cut out the "middle nights" as you can't draw big crowds four nights running. Maybe trim it to three nights, possibly even to two.

2. Take out some of the events for the smaller youngsters from the night program which lack crowd appeal and insert them instead into afternoon performances at which the admission price is trimmed to a very nominal fee with the gate appeal aimed at youngsters and parents.

3. Get a fast-paced two-hour show for each night performance which is heavy on the real rodeo thrill events and light on the less crowd appealing events.

4. Figure out a way to keep spectators informed of the competitive aspects of each event, such as what a performer needs in the way of time to win before he comes out of the chute. In other words add more competitive interest for the spectators by keeping them better informed on who is winning and who needs what to catch him. That way you tie the shows together and make folks want to come back the next night and see how their favorites come out. We know this isn't easy, but it will add more zest to the watching and build up the rooting aspects of rodeoing.

5. Get the show over so the fans can go home. Then announce the "after show" plans so those who want to can stay on. Be sure to get the best performers on the night show program as determined by past performance.

6. Put a different "special event" in each night's show, not a repeat.

We're firmly convinced that all rodeoing needs for financial survival is a better play to the box office. The choice here is really no choice at all. It's got to come, or small-time rodeo won't last much longer.

Post pioneered junior rodeoing. Post can well think of renovating the sport to pull bigger crowds. Or we can just give it up, forget it, and shrug it off as "changing times."—JC.

Post Developments, Inc. needs you

Industry hunting is a tough, hush hush business in which you make your own rules.

To do it successfully, the entire community needs to be well organized. Every pair of eyes and ears that can be enlisted help the cause. Every suggestion needs to be evaluated and checked out.

It costs money too, plenty of money.

Industry hunting isn't easy. Industries usually don't come to towns. Getting worthwhile leads is tough too. Influential friends in the right places can pass the word sometimes. Other times it's knowing where and how to look.

Once there is a lead, the work is just beginning.

The industry has to be evaluated with the benefits to Post kept uppermost in mind. What are its chances of success? What does Post have to offer? How far can Post afford to go to land such a prize? The best delegation needs to be sent to do the presentation after the facts are marshalled.

Speed is essential or somebody else will get there first. Expense money needs to be available at a moment's notice to send out the scout's wherever they must go. Sometimes land options need to be quickly secured should we strike gold—new industry gold, that is.

Hometown development opportunities are often as good to appraise and consider as the out-of-towners.

Oil — today and tomorrow

Since 1859, when Col. Edwin L. Drake drilled the first successful oil well, the oil industry of the United States has been a leader in advancing the living standard and the industrial production of our nation. The industry has overcome one problem after another and never failed to supply the country with the fuel needed in national emergencies—both armed forces and domestic users. Today it is producing oil in many foreign lands. It is estimated it will spend nearly $5 billion here and abroad for properties and oil and gas reserves in 1961.

Prospects and problems facing the industry in coming months are of interest because everyone is concerned in one way or another. As one oil man said, "The industry's appetite for growth exceeds our customers' present appetite for our products. But any businessman would prefer to struggle with the problems of abundance rather than the problems of scarcity."

From another oil company official comes a particularly significant statement: "Though 1961 demand for petroleum products will be between 2 and 3 per cent higher than in 1960, this yardstick alone cannot any longer, even if it ever did, adequately measure the economic health of the industry."

Another points out that scientific successes have carved out new uses for oil and should increase markets.

And, says Oil & Gas News: "The oil industry moved ahead of the general economy in the '60 slump and it appears to be leading in the '61 recovery."

The future security and prosperity of this nation depends in a large measure on a sound and progressing oil industry, and on conditions which encourage its expansion.—CD.

They have served so well

Selection last Thursday night of Mrs. J. L. (Betty) Stewart and Ira Lee Duckworth as "Post's woman and man of the year" will, we feel sure, meet with unanimous community approval.

Both have lived long and fruitful lives of community service.

It makes one "feel good" deep inside to see such fine folks receive the commendation of their fellows citizens.

Building a good hometown needs a lot of Betts and Ira Lees, busy each and every day the best they know how.

Post has them, just as other towns have them.

And their recognition is so fitting in the scheme of life.—JC.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

THESE COLUMNS don't come easy when you've been out of circulation for something like a week—laid low by a virus—and have had to miss out on just about everything that's happened.

Big events I missed last week while fighting off a flu attack included Thursday night's Chamber of Commerce banquet and the weekend's Junior High School Basketball Tournament, which wrapped up the cage season locally.

MEANWHILE, WINTER hangs on, and I'm glad to be back in circulation.

Just happened to remember what a short month February is. This week's paper is dated Feb. 23, but it'll be March before the next issue appears.

OUR OFFICE researcher, who over a long period of years has preferred to remain anonymous, comes up with some interesting facts and figures on the current telephone directory, which can hardly be called "the new telephone directory", since it was distributed last November when the change-over was made to the dial system. It seems that getting used to the new dial system has slowed our researcher's study of the new phone book.

The figures our researcher has come up with show that in the current phone directory the Smiths not only have caught up with the Joneses, but have gone around them. There are 14 Smiths listed to 11 Joneses. Topping both the Smiths and Joneses, however, are the Williamses, with 16 listings. Other numerous ones include Baker, 9; Martin, 9; Rogers, 9; Davis, 7; Kennedy, 7; Stone, 7; Johnson, 6; King, 6, and Pierce, 6.

THE MAN UP THE street wants to know if it's such a small world, why does it cost so much to run it?

The editor of the Titusville, Fla., Star-Advocate has summed up in a few words what many other editors have written lengthy editorials in trying to get across. The Florida editor puts it this way:

"Officials of governmental agencies, whether these be city, county, state or nation, contend they have many things that the 'people' would not be interested in; would not care to know; should not be told. They have the idea that discussions should be closed to the public, that final decisions are what count.

"These government officials forget one thing they forget the people, from whom they now wish to keep information, are their bosses. They forget that these same people have more than a right, they have a guarantee in writing known as the Bill of Rights, to know all that is going on and to draw their own conclusions."

All this space talk makes one wonder if we are entering a new era or a new error.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas Department of Health.

HENRY A. HOLLS, M.D. Commissioner of Health

Texas deaths during 1960 showed the most substantial increase in 25 years, according to provisional estimates compiled by the State Health Department's Records and Statistics Section.

Deaths for 1960 were seven per cent above the 1959 figures with comparative death rates of 821.2 per 100,000 population for 1960; and 782.9 deaths per 100,000 for 1959.

Over two-thirds of the increase in Texas deaths occurred during the first three months of 1960. This was during the peak period of last year's influenza outbreak.

Health Department statisticians point out that during the first three months last year, here were significant increases in the number of deaths from influenza, pneumonia, and heart diseases over the corresponding period during the previous year.

Because of the rapidly increasing number of elders in the State population, Texas authorities were not alarmed at the sharp rise in Texas deaths reflecting the overall trend for the entire United States during 1960, including the startling increases experienced during the early months.

Still the number-one killer, heart disease, accounted for 26,950 of the total 79,000 deaths in Texas during 1960.

In second place on the 1960 statistical sheets, was malignant neoplasms (cancer), which claimed over 11,000 Texas lives.

On the credit side was the noticeable drop in the motor vehicle accident death rate from 26.9 per 100,000 in 1959 to 24.5 per 100,000 population in 1960. All other accidents showed a slight rise in the death rate over the preceding year.

While the total number of live births for a single year was the second highest in history, the birth rate continued its slight decline over the past few years.

There were nearly 249,000 live births in 1960. However, there were 7,200 infant and 4,200 fetal deaths during the same period.

Public housing project at Crosbyton near end

CROSBYTON—Hubert Curry, chairman, announced this week that purchasing is nearing completion of all the property needed in the Crosbyton Public Housing Project.

Final approval of the PHA is expected within a few weeks, after which the project will be ready for construction bids.

Curry said, "It looks now as if construction can begin late this spring on the 26 public housing units allotted Crosbyton."

Imports are reversing textile industry gains

WILMINGTON, Del.—The rising flood of low-priced imports of textiles and textile products has wiped out the position of reasonable balance between supply and demand which the textile industry had just recently been able to achieve.

This was emphasized here by Spencer Love, chairman and president of Burlington Industries, who told the Company's annual meeting that Washington has "turned a deaf ear to pleas for fair play" on the part of the textile industry.

Noting that a new administration has taken over the management of government affairs, Love suggested to stockholders that "the times call for bold action which disregard many past concepts."

"It is estimated that about 13 million will be added to our work force during the next ten years. When we add to this projection the 5,500,000 workers unemployed now, with millions of others on short-time, the conclusion is inescapable that America's No. 1 domestic problem is to assure expanding job opportunities for American workers, and to counteract conditions that tend to take jobs away."

Maximum world trade which truly benefits those participating is desirable, he stated, but permitting unlimited access to American markets by technologically advanced foreign countries can only result in destructive exportation of American jobs.

"Much of our present trade policy was designed when Western Europe was our chief competitor," Love said. "Now many Oriental and Mediterranean areas are equally important. Wage, overhead and many raw material costs are vastly lower in these countries, and productivity techniques are in many cases equal to and sometimes even superior to our own.

The Burlington chief executive said world trade in manufactured items, unless quantitatively controlled, can disrupt world markets,

For Texas in 1961

General agriculture outlook is favorable

COLLEGE STATION—Domestic demands for agricultural products in Texas are expected to be good in 1961, says John McHaney, extension agricultural economist. Even if there should be a small change in consumer incomes, it will not affect the domestic market for farm products to any great extent.

If the recent economic declines are long-run and become more severe than is now expected, they could have a depressing effect on the domestic market for agricultural products, but this is not likely in 1961.

McHaney also says that the volume of agricultural exports during the present fiscal year, July 1, 1960 to June 30, 1961, will likely equal or exceed the record high established last year. Progress continues to be made in lowering trade barriers against farm products imported from the United States, and government programs continue to play a major role in the agricultural economy of the U. S.

Overall prices received by farmers in the U. S. and Texas in 1961 probably will not change much from those received in 1960, but prices received for individual commodities will change. The extent of these changes will depend on economic factors affecting such commodities.

Through the years, farm and ranch debts in the U. S. and Texas have continued to increase, but this debt is only about 13 per cent of the value of farm assets. Equities of farmers and other owners of farm assets are high in relation to farm debts, and this is favorable, the specialist continues.

The main problem confronting agriculture in Texas and the U. S. is that production is over-expanded in terms of available markets at prices that are satisfactory to many farmers and ranchers. Unless more effective programs are developed, farmers will continue to be confronted with a price-cost squeeze through the next several years, McHaney concludes.

BREAK THE GAS HABIT!

FALCON CAN GO UP TO 30 MILES ON ONE GALLON OF REGULAR GAS!

Falcon goes 4,000 miles between oil changes, too. Even parts, servicing, licensing and (in most states) insurance cost less. And as if that weren't enough, Falcon is America's lowest-priced* 6-passenger car . . . as much as $505† less than other compacts! Economy never looked so good . . . or so luxurious. That low Falcon price includes chic upholstered interiors, handy coat hooks, arm rests, foam-padded front seat, sun visors . . . all at not a penny's extra cost! And Falcon is so dependable. Judging by the fan mail, Falcon owners are the happiest, most carefree group on wheels. They also have more to look forward to: recent automotive resale figures show Falcon brings from $138 to $175 more in trade than other compacts in its class! With so much more of what you buy a compact for, is it any wonder Falcon is America's best-selling compact?

5 crop winners receive checks

First place winners in the U Lazy S Farms' 1960 crop year contest are Ray McClellan, irrigated division, and Jimmy Duggett, dryland division.

The winners were announced at a meeting of tenants of the U Lazy S Ranch at 2 p. m. last Thursday at the Garza 4-H Club building.

Second place winner in the irrigated division was Carter White. In the dryland division, Melvin Stewart won second place and Waggoner Johnson, third place.

John F. Lott of Lubbock, landlord of the farms, presented checks of $500 each to the first place winners, $300 each to the second place winners, and a $200 check to the third place winner.

The crop contest is based on profit per acre after all expenses are deducted.

The bookkeeping system for 1961 was discussed at the meeting and explained to the farmers by an auditor, Carter G. White, president.

Other tenants of the farms for 1961 are Grover Mason, Mrs. Lucille McBride, Noel K. White, Mack Ledbetter, A. O. Parrish, Harlan Morris, T. G. and J. L. Aten and R. A. and Vernon Lusk.

C-C banquet--

The address, entitled "The American Dream," was divided into three sections—images of the past present, and future.

HITS NEGATIVE THINKING Kay hit at the "negative thinking in America today" in which surveys show a majority of high school students as opposed to the "profit motive". He struck at the "distrust of everything and everybody" which appears to be everywhere in so many people's minds.

As for profit, he declared the average U. S. business man could liquidate their businesses and realize 6 per cent returns without the hardships and heartaches they encounter in their business operations.

Striking at the thought of many that "we're in bad shape," Kay pointed out that the U. S. today has 50 per cent of the world's wealth with only 6 per cent of the world's population, has 50 per cent of the world's students, 75 per cent of the world's automobiles, uses 60 per cent of the world's oil output and drinks 50 per cent of the world's coffee—enough in a year during coffee breaks to float 453 of our largest battleships.

FAMILY INCOME UP The average U. S. family income has jumped 24 per cent since 1949 and "we think we're in bad shape," he added.

Kay warned that there's a communist conspiracy that has engulfed 24 countries since 1929 and has set a target date of 1972 for the taking over of America.

As for the future, Kay contended that America must choose between "freedom or regimentation."

In conclusion, he declared that America's rebirth must start at its grassroots—by the people of each, for example, getting together, casting aside suspicions and distrust and together building a better town.

"Although," he added, "you already have a good one now."

"We must develop community teamwork. We must train competent leaders of America. We must serve our nation. There must of necessity be a rebirth of freedom."

INTRODUCES SPEAKER Mayor Powell Shytle introduced the speaker and presided as master of ceremonies for the banquet program.

Lee Ward, retiring Chamber president, praised the loyalty and cooperation of his board of directors and at the conclusion was presented with a plaque by the Chamber for his service to the community organization as its 1960 head.

Ward introduced all retiring Chamber directors, Claud Collier, Paul Jones, and L. W. Duncan, who with Ward leave the board at the start of a new Chamber year. He also introduced the new incoming directors, J. B. Potts, Arnold Parrish, Giles McCrary, DeWitt Caylor, and George Tillman as well as holdover directors, R. H. Tate, R. B. Dodson, James Minor and Walter Johnson, and honorary director, George (Scotty) Samson. Samson was unable to attend.

GAVEL PASSED At the end of the program, the gavel, symbolic of the Chamber presidency, was handed to Will Scarborough, new 1961 Chamber president, by Ward.

Scarborough announced formation of two new Chamber committees—an industrial committee and a greatly enlarged retail committee.

He pledged an even better year for the Chamber in 1961 with the chamber committees doing the Chamber's real job.

"I'm depending on them to get the job done," he declared.

The souvenir banquet programs, printed on Postex sheeting made from the first bale of 1960 Garza cotton, came in for plenty of acclaim from toastmaster, speaker, and banquet guests. The programs were through the courtesy of the Postex Mills.

3 check charges in JP's court

Ten charges were filed in Justice of the Peace D. C. Roberts' court during the last seven days—three of them for swindling by worthless check.

The three check charges were against C. L. Dart, Feb. 18, T. J. Miller, Feb. 15, filed by Mike Mitchell, and R. L. Durham, Feb. 15, filed by Mike Mitchell.

Miller paid fine and costs totaling $20.65 in the only one of the cases which had been heard up to yesterday.

The seven other cases with charge, date of filing, and costs and fine if paid are:

G. W. Bigham of Snyder, over width truck, Feb. 17, $25.50.

Olen Harper, drunk, Feb. 19, $44.65.

Paul Hernandez, drunk, Feb. 18, C. A. Benton, no lease signs displayed, Feb. 18, $18.50.

D. K. Morse, over-length truck, Feb. 16.

A. S. Johnson, loud and excessive muffler, Feb. 17, $16.50.

Jack Wallis, no driver's license, Feb. 15.

Youth center--

(Continued from page 1) man of the committee to proceed with the project with other members including Nathan Little, David Newby, Jim Cornish and other men who might wish to help.

A check of the $1,700 budget together with recent donations for improvements which totaled well over $200 resulted only $130 available for the rest room project after the roof is paid for.

Directors decided to proceed while going about plans for some benefit events to raise enough money to finish the restroom and paint the exterior of the building, low bid of which was $265 from Isaac Brown.

The directors set the date for Friday night, March 10 for a benefit dance and "42" party for adults in the center and decided to ask the teenagers for whom the center is regularly operated to take complete charge of the money raising affair for center improvements.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hatler, co-directors of the center, said they would call a meeting of the recently named teen directors of the center at this Saturday night's record hop to plan the event.

Also on the agenda for the teen board was a "work day" tentatively set for 10 a. m. Saturday, March 4, in which the young people will clean out the old store-room and haul what is not needed to the city dump and clean up the yard and parking lot of the center.

Cleaning the storeroom will enable work to be begun on the new restroom. The center now has only one small restroom.

Directors expressed the hope that by the time good exterior painting weather arrives funds can be secured to not only complete the restroom but to authorize exterior painting and repair of the building.

The three projects above were given top priority by the board at its last session when bids were sought.

The school trustees recently authorized the $60 a year rent money the youth board pays the schools as the owner of the property be left with the center to apply on roofing repair.

An unsolicited $100 donation from Brown Brothers, Et Al, also was received this month to apply on the cost of a new roof for the building.

Mrs. Jim Cornish reported to the board that an offer of a practically new $75 record turntable from the Hudman Funeral Home for only $35 had been gratefully accepted to put the center's record player equipment in good order and that other gifts for the record player made by a number of business men will be applied to other center improvements.

Center directors discussed the need for extending the youth center program through the summer months and decided informally to keep enough funds in the budget to provide for such a course of action.

The recent eighth grade party—a Valentine's party—was such a success that the board decided to have a Saint Patrick's Day dance for the eighth graders on Friday, March 17, from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m.

Missionary to present service at church here

The Rev. Lewis Elward Green, returned Nazarene missionary to Guatemala, will conduct a special missionary service at the Church of the Nazarene at 7:30 p. m.

Wednesday, March 1, the Rev. J. T. Crawford, pastor, has announced.

The Rev. Mr. Green is on a furlough in the United States, doing deputation work among churches of the denomination.

Mr. Green has been in charge of the Nazarene work in Guatemala since May, 1959, with headquarters at Coban.

Convenient kitchen storage key to saving cook's steps

By LETA SMITH
County HD Agent
Does work in your kitchen tire you? Convenient storage can save you lots of time and energy, so plan for better space inside your kitchen cupboard.

1. Storage in the right place saves time, stooping, stretching, steps, and all these together save you. To much lifting, stretching, stooping and bending is tiring.
- Here's a guidepost for kitchen storage:
1. Check to see if you are making the best possible use of your present cupboard space.
2. Get rid of all utensils and supplies you are not using.
3. Store utensils, dishes, and supplies at places where you first use them.
4. Store together the things you use together.
5. Stack together only things of the same size and kind.
6. Use the easy-to-reach and easy-to-see spaces for things you use most often.

You work in your kitchen at these places: mixing center, sink, and cooking center. Each of these centers needs storage and counter space. It is convenient to have nearby storage for containers used in refrigerating foods. The dishes you use for meals can be stored near the dining table or at the sink and those on which you serve hot foods can be stored at the cooking center. It is possible for the homemaker to have attractive and easy-to-do

Mrs. Arlie Ramage honored at shower

Mrs. Marshall Tipton and Mrs. R. H. Sappington served. Mrs. W. H. Childs registered the 25 guests who called between 3 and 5 o'clock. Hostesses for the occasion were: Mmes. D. H. Bartlett, Mike Custer, Chester Morris, Frank Boetick, A. T. Nixon, Bernie Jones, L. H. Peel, J. D. Tipton, W. H. Childs, R. H. Sappington, Marshall Tipton, Mack Ledbetter, and Delmer Cowdrey.

Douglas Buchanan home scene of family reunion

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Buchanan was the scene for a family reunion Sunday celebrating the birthday of Mrs. Buchanan's mother, Mrs. Ed Tharp. Guests for the occasion were Mrs. Tharp's other daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Magee of Crowell, Mr. and Mrs. Eck Gillespie of Stamford, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmo McClellan of Lubbock.

Grandchildren attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Franks and sons of Kermit, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Gillespie and sons of Stamford; Mrs. Tharp's sisters, Mrs. Sepora Truett of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. Will Teague of Abilene; her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Myers of Abilene; a nephew, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Harris and children of Abilene, and Lee Bedford of Lubbock.

Garza delegates to attend meet

The Garza County Unit of Texas State Teachers Association met last Wednesday afternoon in the junior high school library to elect delegates to the District XIII convention in Lubbock in March. Delegates from the local unit who will attend the evening dinner meeting Thursday, March 2, at Parkway Manor are Dean A. Robinson, N. R. King, and Herman Raphael. Also attending the meeting will be Mrs. Ella Norene Ryder and Mrs. Mary Lee Wristen. Mrs. Ryder will serve as a member of the resolutions committee throughout the convention. Mrs. Wristen, treasurer of the district, will attend the executive and other meetings during the two-day session.

Valentine decor at Merrymakers

Valentine decorations were used at last Friday's meeting of the Merrymakers Club, held at the home of Mrs. S. C. Storie Sr. The eight ladies present enjoyed a series of games, after which refreshments were served. Mrs. H. N. Crisp will be hostess for the Feb. 28 meeting. Attending were: Mmes. H. F. # Vet's Forum

Q. I am 18 years old, the daughter of a veteran who served in the armed forces in peacetime and who died of injuries sustained in maneuvers of an extra-hazardous nature. Doesn't a new law entitle me to training under the War Orphans Education program?

A. Yes. A law passed recently broadened the scope of the War Orphans Education program to include children of deceased veterans of peacetime service. The death of the peacetime veteran parent must have been caused by the actual performance of military or extra-hazardous duty. Eligible children must generally be between 18 and 23 years of age.

Q. As a widow of a World War II veteran, I am receiving death pension for myself and two children. I realize that, if I remarry, I am no longer eligible, but would the children still be eligible?

A. The children will be eligible in their own right until age 18, or, if in school, until age 21, unless they marry earlier.

Q. I went on VA's pension roll this year, under the new system effective July 1, 1960, and I understand I will receive an income questionnaire soon, which also will ask about my net worth. Will you explain this term for me, please?

A. Net worth for VA pension purposes is the market value of all the property you own except your home and personal belongings necessary for your day-to-day living, such as your automobile, clothing, household furniture, jewelry and the like — anything necessary for your day-to-day living.

Q. Does the VA have any sort of a Christmas gift certificate arrangement whereby I could give a patient friend the certificate and let him choose a gift himself, up to the value of the certificate?

A. Yes, only the certificates are coupons, sold in books. The Coupon Books are sold for as little as fifty cents, or as much as five dollars, for each book. The patient spends the coupons at his hospital canteen, picking out whatever pleases him. Just write a letter to the Manager of the VA hospital your friend is in. Tell him what you want.

Q. Are there any restrictions on GI insurance that would make the policy invalid if the veteran is engaged in a hazardous occupation?

A. There is no such restriction on GI insurance. The veteran may engage in any occupation, no matter how hazardous, without altering the terms of his policy or the amount of his premium.

Q. I understand that by a new law a World War II veteran now has until July 25, 1962, in which to file an application for a GI loan. Just what steps toward getting a loan have to be taken by that date?

A. By that date, a lender must at least have agreed to make the loan and must have requested VA's approval. The new law places no limitation on the time needed to complete the deal, once your lender has agreed and asked for VA's approval.

Q. My son, a disabled Korean Conflict veteran, has recently reached the stage where he needs constant aid and attention and we have decided he should return home to live with us. I understand he is eligible for additional disability payments because of his present condition. If I take care of him, will he be eligible for these payments, or must we employ someone to care for him?

A. It is not necessary that he employ an outsider to care for him. Any capable member of his family may provide these services.

Chile will use a $30 million American loan to rehabilitate its railways.

THE THEORY OF DOUBLE PROTECTION

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	I Peter	5	6-7
Monday	Psalms	28	1-3
Tuesday	John	14	1
Wednesday	Hebrews	2	17-18
Thursday	Matthew	26	41
Friday	Luke	6	47-48
Saturday	II Timothy	2	19

Somehow we don't think of the baby's bassinette as a "scientific development." But it is.

It has been designed to protect a child from exterior hazards—and from himself.

Religion isn't what we would call "scientific." But it, too, embraces this theory of double protection.

The man or woman who worships God faithfully is prepared for the unexpected crises in life. And his mature conscience is ready to cope with temptation.

This isn't to say that nothing ever goes wrong for the ardent church-goer. But he meets each outward or inward challenge with adequate spiritual resources.

There are impelling reasons why you need the Church and its undergirding strength. And for every one that is evident today, there are others you'll confront tomorrow.

Post 8th grade boys win tournament championship

Beat Tahoka in finals; frosh win consolation

Post's 8th graders and Tahoka's 8th graders won championships in the two boys' divisions of the Junior High School basketball tournament held here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Post 9th grade team won consolation honors in its division.

The Post 8th grade boys easily defeated Tahoka, 37 to 21, to win the championship trophy. They had a much harder time in their first game, however, winning by only four points—25-21—over Aspermont.

The Post 8th grade team lost to Floydada, 55 to 35, in its first game, then swamped Idalou, 44 to 26, Saturday afternoon to win the consolation title.

Floydada scored a 26 to 18 victory over Aspermont to take consolation honors in the 8th grade bracket.

In the championship win over Tahoka, Teddy Scott paced the Post offense with 13 points. Danny Pierce was close behind with 11 points. Other scorers were Benny Owen, 6; Butch Cross, 4; Billy Mitchell, 2, and Johnny Bilberry, 1. Others playing were Gary Hays, Ronald Simpson, Charlie Brown, Laylan Bratcher, Buddy Howell and Dicky Vardiman.

Against Aspermont, Mitchell was top scorer for Post with 7 points. Others scored as follows: Pierce, 4; Brown, 4; Scott, 3; Owen, 2; Hays, 2; Simpson, 2, and Cross, 1. Jackie Fluit pumped in 26 points in leading the Post freshmen to their consolation championship win over Idalou. Others scoring were: Wendell Johnson and Jake Baldrée, 5 points each, and Tom Clark and Danny Odom, 4 points each.

Fluit scored 22 points in the freshmen's 5-35 loss to Floydada in their first round game. Johnson scored 4 points, Odom and Baldrée, 3 each, Clark, 2, and Stone, 1.

Post independents in win over Brownfield

The Post Independents, with four players scoring in double figures, defeated the Pan-Am team of Brownfield, 74 to 50, in a practice game Sunday afternoon.

It was the second victory over the Brownfield cagers for the Post team.

Richard Souter led the scoring with 20 points. Jerry Hays and Shields hit 11 apiece and Herbie Hays, 10. Others scoring for Post were Forrest Claborn, 7; Jimmy Redman, 4; Donnie Hays, 2; Johnny Kemp, 6, and Petey Hays, 3.

9th grade girls win second; 8th cops consolation

Post's 9th grade girls' team won second place and the 8th grade girls took the consolation championship in their respective divisions of the Junior High basketball tournament here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The 9th grade team advanced to the finals with a decisive victory over Floydada, but lost to a strong Idalou sextet by 14 points.

Coach Billy Hahn's 8th grade girls, champions of their district, lost to Aspermont, 22 to 17, in their first game, but came back to drub Tahoka, 17 to 7, for the consolation crown.

In the loss to Aspermont, Pam Stewart scored 15 of Post's 17 points, with Vivian McWhirt getting the other two.

In their victory over Tahoka, Pam scored 8 points, Vivian, 6; Cindy Wilson, 2, and Cheryl Martin, 1.

'King, Queen' event attracts bowlers

Patterned after the popular new TV bowling show on Saturday nights—'Make That Spare'—Post Bowling Center Manager Billy Miller has inaugurated a "King and Queen of the Week" event here.

To enter, anybody—man or woman—bowls three games anytime during the week except for league play games.

The man and woman with the best score of the week meets the previous week's "king and queen of the week" respectively in special matches beginning at 9 p. m. each Wednesday night.

The men's winner each Wednesday night receives a $10 prize put up by the bowling center and the winning queen receives $5.

Last week's "king" was Allen Nichols who defeated Roy Stewart for the honor.

Types of farming in Texas is subject of new A&M bulletin

COLEGE STATION. — Soils, topography and climate are the three physical factors having the greatest effect on agricultural production in Texas. The size of the state, approximately 800 miles between its east and west and north and south extremities, produces wide variations of these factors, and makes possible the wide diversity of farm and ranch production.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has recently released a publication, B-964, 'Types of Farming in Texas' which points up some of the changes which have occurred in the state in recent years. The number of Texas farms has declined 40 per cent since 1937, the farm population is less than half, the average size of the farm unit has doubled and a substantial change in the scale of production and in methods of operation of crop and livestock enterprises has occurred, says C. A. Bonnen, Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, and author of the publication.

For the purposes of the study made by Bonnen, Texas was divided into 17 major areas. Each is discussed with emphasis on the changes which have and are taking place along with future possibilities. The major and minor crops, size and type of farms, land tenure and available markets for each area are included in the discussion.

Even since 1954, Bonnen says farms have become larger, more specialized and more dependent on off-farm sources of income. The average size is now 630 acres; the number of farms reporting cattle in 1959 decreased 25 per cent, milk cows 50 per cent, hogs 30 per cent, chickens 40 per cent, turkeys 50 per cent and cotton 35 per cent. Forty-three per cent of all farms had more off-farm than on-farm income in 1959 as compared with 38 per cent in 1954.

Copies of the publication are available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Order by number and title.

Regional cage tournament slated for Tech this week

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech's claim to the title of "Basketball Center of the Southwest" will be more firmly established this week.

At least 11 games will be played in the Coliseum on the Texas Tech campus Friday and Saturday. High school tournaments are scheduled for Region One in Conferences A, 2A, and 3A. Also Texas Tech's varsity and freshmen have games Friday night, and there is a possibility that a Conference 4A playoff game will be played here Saturday afternoon.

Conference 3A

Seminole plays Brownwood at 2 p. m. Friday, followed at 3:30 p. m. by Dumas and defending state champion Lamesa. The winners will play for the regional title at 4 p. m. Saturday.

Conference 2A

Exact participants are being decided this week. Winner of the Dimmit-Abernathy game will meet the Denver City-Port Stockton survivor at 11 a. m. Saturday. At 12:30 p. m. Saturday the Childress-Hamlin playoff winner will tangle with the Ballinger-Hamilton victor. Championship game will be played at 9 p. m.

Conference 1A

At 8 a. m. Saturday the winner of the Farwell-Idalou contest will meet the Plains-Coahoma victor. The 9:30 a. m. game pits the White Deer-Canadian survivor against the Iraan-Big Lake winner. Final game is set for 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

Red Raiders

Texas Tech's Red Raiders collide with the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs at 8 p. m. Friday after a preliminary between the Tech freshmen and the Ince Oilers at 6 p. m.

Gene Gibson, Texas Tech's assistant coach, is tournament director.

Track, field drills start

The weather, always a hazard to early track practice in West Texas, slowed drills this week for Coach Harold Teal's Post Antelope track and field squad.

Only five members of the squad are lettermen—Wendell Duncan, Ronnie Henderson, Jimmy Minor, Clarence Ivie and Tommy Douchler. Non-lettermen on the squad are Nuel Landreth, Leslie Acker, Harold Mason, DeWayne Capps, Larry Williams, Billy Shumard, Neal Francis, Bobby Hudman and Billy Jackson.

The first meet for the Antelopes will be March 4 at Brownfield. The rest of the meet schedule, as it now stands, is as follows:

March 11—Whirlwind Relays, Floydada.
March 18—Crosbyton Relays.
March 25—Hale Center Relays.
April 7—District 3AA Meet.
April 14—Region 1 Meet.

Teal said he might take the team to the Andrews track and field meet on March 31, and that there probably will be dual and triangular meets with nearby schools during the season.

The coach said he looks for Denver City to breeze to the district championship, with Stanton—a power last year in Class A—likely to give them the most competition.

Pin meet

The first annual men's city bowling tournament, sponsored by the Post City Bowling Association, is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, March 4-5, at the Post Bowling Center.

The entry deadline for the tourney events—which include singles, doubles, and team play—is midnight Saturday, Feb. 25. Entries are acceptable by mail only, accompanied by entry fees, to Nick Vukad, 103 North Ave. S.

First place trophies will be awarded all champions with the prize fees returned 100 per cent. Entry fees are $2.50 per man per event. The team bowling is scheduled for Saturday and the singles and doubles Sunday.

Charles G.—"Cooperation would solve all our problems."
 Patsy T.—"You're quite right, my freckles would be a nice tan if they would all get together."
 Mrs. Smith—"Now Pat say the poem you memorized."
 Pat C.—"Thirty days hath September, all the rest I don't remember."
 Janene H.—"Why didn't you shave before you came to take me to the dance?"
 Ray C.—"I did."
 Janene—"When?"
 Ray—"Just before I came over to wait for you."
 Mrs. Scott—"Sharon, do you talk all the time?"
 Sharon L.—"No ma'am. Sometimes people interrupt me."
 Beth K.—"Do you file your fingernails?"
 Jane F.—"No, I just throw them away after I cut them."
 Judy M. (at the board in Plane Geometry)—"Mr. Tittle, is this right?"
 Mr. Tittle—"Turn around, Judy, so I can see your figure."
 Mrs. Ryder—"Melinda, did you ever read 'To A Mouse'?"
 Melinda N.—"No, how do you get him to listen?"
 Lewis M.—"May I have just one more kiss before I go?"
 Jane M.—"Yes, but hurry, Dad will be home in an hour."
 Harold M.—"Betcha can't tell me the best way to hit a nail without hitting your finger."
 Jimmy M.—"Can, too. Hold the hammer with two hands."
 Danny J.—"I'm thinking of getting a car like yours. What is the most you've ever gotten out of it?"
 Jerry L.—"About seven times in one block."
 Wendell D.—"Darling, you are the breath of my life."
 Virginia Y.—"Well, why don't you hold your breath?"
 Richard Hart—"Do you use toothpaste?"
 Jacky Fluit—"What for? My teeth aren't loose!"
 Mrs. Fleming—"To student coming in late? You should have been here at 8:45."
 Richard Ray—"Why, what happened?"
 Beth K.—"You're too conceited about your looks."
 Mike C.—"Not at all. I don't think I'm half as good looking as I am."
 Mr. Baxter—"Why is your paper covered with quotation marks?"
 Kenneth S.—"Courtesy of the lad on my right, sir."
 Mr. Pollard—"If I lay four eggs here, and four eggs there, how many will I have?"
 Bobby Hudman—"I don't believe you can do it."

Lee W.—"I would like a book, please."
 Mrs. McRee—"Something light?"
 Lee W.—"That doesn't matter—I have my car with me."
 Donnie H.—"I just finished reading a book."
 Coach Souter—"Really? What was it?"
 Donnie—"What Ten Thousand Women Want Most."
 Coach Souter—"Did they spell my name right?"
 Mrs. Teal—"I see in the paper here where a woman was awarded $20,000 for the loss of a thumb. I didn't realize that a thumb was that valuable."
 Coach Teal—"It must have been the one she kept her husband under."
 Coach Clark—"What is a cannibal, Buddy?"
 Buddy M.—"I don't know."
 Coach—"Well, if you ate your father and mother, what would you be?"
 Buddy—"An orphan."
 Mr. Baxter—"Before we begin the examination, are there any questions?"
 Gary S.—"What's the name of this course?"

Seniors working on plans for Graduation Day

By Elaine Mitchell and Robbie Nutt
 Last week the seniors got together and decided upon the date of graduation and the color of their caps and gowns. They decided to wear white caps with black and gold tassels and white gowns. The caps and gowns will be paid for out of the Senior Class treasury.

8th grade party presents girls in dazzling array of fashions

By Meredith Newby
 Pam Stewart wore a red velvet and white chiffon dress to the party Friday night. The red top had a low back and cap sleeves and her outfit was completed with matching gold shoes and belt.

Adult class set in woodworking

There will be an adult woodworking class at the Post High School woodworking laboratory, beginning March 27 at 7 p. m., with a meeting to organize the class time and dates for classes if there are enough participants.

8th Grade Psalm

A man is my teacher,
 I shall not pass.
 He maketh me to sit in the classroom;
 He leadeth me to the blackboard.
 He handeth me the chalk.
 He guideth me in a straight path for my grades' sake.
 Yes, though I walk through the valley of knowledge
 I learneth not, for I am dumb.
 My notebook and pencils accompany me.
 He maketh me show my ignorance before my fellow students.
 He hath anointed my head with examples.
 My fountain pen runneth over,
 Surely English and Math shall follow me all the days of my life,
 And I shall dwell in the 8th grade forever!

ANCIENT POETRY

'The Senior's Story'
 By Janie Shepherd (Class of '50)
 We entered in these gloomy halls At such a tender age. They called us Freshmen then. Should it have been page? We opened up the books to learn And started on our way. The upper classmen we did respect As Freshmen do today. Another year began to pass. Students began to tire. We were called sophomores then. Should it have been squire? By now our school we dearly loved. Its song we dearly hold. We'll always hold so far above The colors black and gold. And time went marching right by Endured without a fight. They called us Juniors then. Should it have been knight? That year was full of fun you see With many things to do. Football was a great success. Our play and banquet too. And now the honor is all ours. The year of senior rings. Over all this school we love We rule as Queens and Kings. Soon we'll wear the caps and gowns One and all will graduate. Along life's way we'll go Guided by the hands of Fate. And now we of the class of '61 ask To be remembered on When at last tomorrow comes And all of us are gone.

Choir Personality is Jimmy Wells

By Carolyn Moore
 Our Choir Personality this month is Jimmy Wells. Jimmy sings bass in choir and does a good job of it, too. In fact, he is so good that he has sung several solos and is a member of the High School Quartet.

New Electronic Secretary Phone Answering Set takes messages 24 hours a day

You're always "in business" with an Electronic Secretary set on duty. Because this amazing device automatically answers the phone when you're out, takes messages for you day or night.

With an Electronic Secretary set connected to your phone, a prerecorded message of your own choosing informs the caller you're out . . . then invites him to leave his name, number and any message he wishes. The set records every word he says.

When you return, you play back the recording, learn who called and why. Result: no missed calls—no lost business.

Electronic Secretary answering sets are so helpful . . . so versatile . . . so valuable . . . that they are a must for every business, home, or office. They take sales orders, business reports, emergency calls, reservations, absentee reports, employee suggestions, complaints, maintenance reports—any call at all! "Answer Only" model delivers informative message.

Phone our Business Office today and learn how little it costs to rent this modern service.

We selected Denice Eubank as a voting delegate to represent the Post chapter at our area FHA meeting to be held on March 18. A nominating committee for our next year's officers was appointed. The committee consists of Nita Wilson, Gayle Dillard, Nancy Bingham, Sheila Morris, and Diane Maxey.

Sue Tracy was presented the medal she won in the Betty Crocker "Homemaker of Tomorrow" contest for being the high scorer in Post High School.

Merry Go Round

Only one thing makes a woman dangerous—a man!
The trouble with doing nothing is that you can't stop to rest.

The trouble with some marriages is that both husband and wife are in love with the same woman.

They say she carefully picks her friends.
Right there the story ceases: It never tells the awful truth. She picks her friends to pieces.

Use safety in home lighting

COLLEGE STATION - If you plan to remodel your porch or other entrances to your home, include safety in your plans, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer. The entrance or porch landing should be large enough to permit standing space on the latch side of the door. This usually requires a minimum area of about five by seven feet, the specialist points out. Be sure, if there are more than one or two steps, to provide for good visibility on the steps, landing and nearby outside area.

A well lighted yard and walkway is desirable for accident prevention, as well as for convenience. One or two yard lights, located near the driveway or on the corner of the house, will provide illumination for the entire area and will help provide night-time security, convenience and safety, Allen concludes.

"The Family Nobody Wanted" Drama Club play to be March 3

"The Family Nobody Wanted," a comedy in three acts, will be presented by the Drama Club of Post High School at 7:30 p. m. Friday, March 3, in the grade school auditorium.

The play is about Carl Doss, a Methodist minister, and his wife, Helen, who a dozen years ago adopted a baby boy. Now they have a dozen children, all adopted, although considered "unadoptable" because of mixed racial parentage. Mrs. Wesley Scott, speech instructor and director of the play, says that Life Magazine, The Christian Advocate and The Reader's Digest have all described with affection and approval the actual family about which this play is concerned.

"In the play," says Mrs. Scott, "you will find the family concerned with typical teen-age problems, some of them quite hilarious. Yet all through the play you'll experience warmth and a great human understanding. While much of the play is fictional, a part of it is true—part of it actually happened. We recommend it to you as offering an opportunity to see a play that is different, delightful and utterly worthwhile."

The author of the play is Helen Grigsby Doss.

Jerry Chancellor in Army project

WIESBADEN, Germany — Army Pte. Jerry D. Chancellor, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Chancellor, 318 W. 13th St., Post, Tex., participated with other personnel from the 5th Infantry Division in Exercise Winter Shield II at the Grafenwohr-Hohenfels training area in Germany. The exercise ended Feb. 8.

Winter Shield, an annual Seventh U. S. Army winter field training maneuver, involved 60,000 U. S. Army, German and French troops and marked the highpoint of a year's training for units in NATO's "Pyramid of Power."

Chancellor, who arrived overseas in December 1959, is a driver in the 23d Transportation Company of the division's 20th Transportation Battalion in Wiesbaden. He entered the Army in May 1959 and completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo.

Post soldier gets missile training

FORT BLISS—Army Pvt. Jack M. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jyles M. Hill, Route 2, Post, Tex., recently completed a Nike-Ajax and Nike-Hercules assembly training course at the Air Defense School, Fort Bliss, Tex.

During the course Hill was trained in the principles of assembling a missile motor installation and the joining of missiles and their booster clusters.

The Air Defense School, the largest military school in the nation, trains personnel to man and maintain the guided missile systems employed in the air defense of the U. S., by our armies overseas and by our allies of the NATO and SEATO nations.

The 18-year-old soldier entered the Army last June and completed basic combat training at Fort Ord, Calif.

He attended Post High School.

March plentiful foods for Texas match the ever-changing weather

COLLEGE STATION — Changeable weather calls for varied menus, and foods in the pantry that can be prepared into hearty winter fare or light springtime dishes.

Of such are the nine versatile items on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's March list of plentiful foods, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

With spring in the air, production of eggs and milk is increasing. So eggs and dairy foods of all kinds join the plentiful this month. Both belong in all diets in any weather.

Cabbage supplies remain large as fresh shipments join huge winter stocks. Fresh dates, for desserts or snacks, are in abundance. Serve them often.

Crops of rice and dry beans were large last fall and supplies of these basic and nutritious items qualify them for the "plentiful" tag. Among the dry beans, look especially for good buys on small red, red kidney and small white beans.

Peanuts and peanut products offer limitless menu possibilities. They're plentiful. Chopped peanuts in crisp salads are a pleasing combination. And have you tried peanut butter soup?

Completing the March list of plentiful foods for Texas shoppers are cranberry products and canned ripe olives. Both can provide added color and flavor to March meals.

Reorganization is set by Spur C-C

SPUR—The Spur Chamber of Commerce is to be reorganized at its annual membership banquet in March with new officers, new directors and a new name.

Hobert Lewis, banker, has been elected president by the organization's newly elected board of directors. Bill Bell was elected vice president and Fike Godfrey, secretary-treasurer.

Dates for the annual banquet had not been set this week pending selection of a speaker.

It has been decided to add the word "Area" to the present name of the Chamber of Commerce.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Stanford

AUSTIN—Legislature moved toward early show-downs as the House Revenue and Taxation Committee scheduled controversial bills in swift one-two-three order.

Coming up early on the committee calendar were three of the four measures in Gov. Price Daniel's special deficit-erasing program. Each renews controversies of last session. They are:

1. A new two-factor formula for figuring the franchise tax owed by interstate corporations based in Texas. At present the franchise tax is computed on the basis of receipts from sales in Texas.

"A firm which sells all its output in Texas," the governor points out, "pays at a 100 per cent rate. A Texas-based company selling all its products outside Texas pays none."

New formula would hit these interstate corporations. Governor Daniel calls it "closing a loophole." Industry spokesmen contend it would drive business from Texas.

2. A measure providing for enforcement of the escheat law. This is known as the abandoned property act, which was defeated in 1959 despite the governor's vigorous efforts.

Governor Daniel says he will call a special session if the bill isn't passed in regular session.

3. A temporary increase for one year of from 7 to 10 per cent on natural gas production. Governor Daniel says this is to fill the revenue gap while the natural gas severance beneficiary tax is being thrashed out in court.

A new tax bill introduced in the House would levy a two per cent tax on real estate transactions.

REFERENDUM STALLS

House members refused to take a beat-the-clock short cut toward getting a tax referendum on the ballot at the April 4 special election.

Rep. Wesley Roberts of Lamesa, sponsor of the bill, asked the House to instruct the State Affairs Committee to consider the bill immediately and report to the House.

Proposal was defeated 81-65, with the vote dividing approximately on the same line as the one by which Speaker James Turman was elected.

Referendum would, in effect, have given the public an opportunity to say which of three possible broad-based taxes they would prefer—payroll, income or sales. Bill would have to have final passage before the end of February for the question to be printed on the ballot. Without hurry-up procedures the schedule will not be met.

Now the matter is left entirely to the legislators to determine. As most ran on platforms that called for no sales or income tax, these two taxing methods doubtless can be eliminated from further consideration.

HORSE RACING ARGUED

Legalized horse racing is still a live issue after a committee hearing that ran into the small hours of the morning.

Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry of San Antonio is sponsor of the proposed constitutional amendment that would allow race tracks and pari-mutuel betting on a local option basis.

Opponents, mostly ministers and lay church leaders, called gambling a parasite on the economy, and a producer of fewer jobs for the money spent than is possible in any other business.

Supporters called it a clean, popular sport to which Texas climate is ideally suited. And, they declared, a painless revenue raiser.

RE-CUTTING THE PIE

Two congressional re-districting bills have been introduced, one of which could cause anguish howls from the neighborhood of the Potomac.

Rep. Ben Lewis of Dallas has introduced a proposal to give Dallas County the extra congressman due Texas and leave other districts as they are.

Rep. Malcolm McGregor has introduced a bill which gives Dallas two congressmen and re-carves all the other districts.

McGregor's proposal is based strictly on population, with no thought to personalities or politics.

In some instances it would result in two congressmen being put in one district. Some districts would be enlarged, some reduced.

RAISE PROPOSAL AXED

County school superintendents are a touchy subject with the Legislature.

County Superintendent George Corse has come back this session to work for a bill to abolish the county superintendent's office in counties with few or no pupils in county schools. Under this year's plan, abolishment would be on a local option vote. Supporters say it could save the state $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

In this same atmosphere is a bill by Rep. R. A. Bartram of New Braunfels. However it would raise salaries of assistant county superintendents. Money-hurting House members killed the bill.

OLD RULES RE-ADOPTED

Teacher pay raise advocates were disappointed when both House and Senate adopted the same rules of procedures as they used last session.

These rules prohibit passage of any new spending measure until the general appropriations bill is passed.

Last session passage of the general appropriations bill was virtually the last act before adjournment. Teacher raises and other new spending proposals died without ever coming to a vote.

ALSO RUNNING

Among other measures in the legislative churn are bills that would: exempt from state license fees farm trailers that farmers borrow from cotton gins and grain acquittal, and assure of the blot of a criminal record, of persons found to have been convicted of crimes for which they were innocent; set up statewide, rather than countywide, licensing of notaries public; provide for licensing and regulation by the State Health Department of persons engaged in the exterminating business; allocate $1,800,000 more for assistance to the needy aged and blind; raise the minimum age for receiving a drivers' license from 14 to 16.

I Give You Texas . . .

By BOYCE HOUSE

One of the most resounding phrases I ever heard in a political campaign goes back to a race for governor in Arkansas many years ago. The leading contender, as the contest began to shape up, was a big impressive-looking attorney who was considered by some as being a bit on the egotistical side. He hailed from a town on the bank of the Ouachita — (pronounced "Wash-a-taw")—river.

The field was large and one of the entries seemed to have filed for the sole purpose of seeing that the favorite was defeated. At any rate, this candidate devoted his speeches almost entirely to criticism and ridicule of the river-town aspirant whom he called "the proud peacock Napoleon of the Ouachita." (Another candidate was the victor.)

Sometimes, one wonders how some businessmen have been able to keep their doors open, they know—or practice—so little of good public relations.

For instance, a store in a large Texas city, a while back, had a window filled with shoes and a large sign, "Big Sale—Save up to Half." A small sign read, "Shoes on display not included in the sale."

One year after a big bowl game (not in Texas) the coach of one of the teams complained that he had been unable to obtain hotel rooms for two friends, whereupon the head of a leading hotel was quoted in the press as saying, "I doubt that Coach So-and-so has two friends."

For years I have lugged around heavy suitcases with two big handles, brass trimmings and bulky straps. At last the luggage industry has come out with a valise that is trimmed with plastic, has a single handle (the case zips open on the side) and has a light but sturdy framework. Filled, it weighs less than the old-time kind does, empty. And costs less, too.

Slowly, the world goes forward.

James Stephen Hogg was the first native Texan to be elected governor of Texas.

Progressive agricultural training in FFA strong in plan and design

By JOHN C. WHITE
Commissioner of Agriculture

It is highly encouraging to me to be given a part in preparing for the observance of Future Farmers of America Week, Feb. 18-25, dedicated to the recognition and support of our young people in agriculture.

Programs such as the progressive agricultural training carried on by the Future Farmers of America are soundly constructive in plan and design—an investment in the future of American agriculture and a renewed demonstration of confidence in this most basic of all American industries.

It is up to those of us who know the facts to give these young people of ours the proper perspective on our broad agricultural picture—to encourage them in the firm knowledge that assuredly there is a place and a bright future for them in the agricultural way of life. What happens in American agriculture must depend in large part upon youth in agriculture. It is our best investment and our top money crop.

Changes in American farming and ranching have taken place so rapidly in the post-war years that it has been difficult to see the whole picture at times. Agriculture has entered the age of technology along with many other of our nation's activities. Many of the traditional limitations of agriculture have been removed, particularly in the field of production. This, of course has given rise to new problems, mainly in the areas of distribution and marketing.

The agricultural climate of the past several years has given rise to a number of absurdities, and among them is a lurking suspicion even on the part of some people who ought to know better—that farming in America is "a dying" industry. But the facts and figures say otherwise: The total investment in the business of American agriculture today exceeds $208 billion.

This is almost three times the market value of all corporation stocks on the New York Exchange, or four-fifths of the value of current assets of all corporations in the United States. Agricultural industry employs 10 million people to supply food and another 10 million in the transport, process and marketing of agricultural products, as well as the seven and a half million workers on farms and ranches. What of the future? Our population is increasing total population, with the growing per capita demand for agricultural products could in the course of the next years place us in the position of being a nation of scarcity rather than one of abundance. This is one of the great challenges facing our young people in agriculture.

Population experts are now projecting the growth in population forecast a total of some 28 million people in the United States in 1975, nearly double the population of 1950.

Authoritative estimates of requirements for 230 million people show that prodigious increases in farm production are going to be necessary if our people are to continue to eat as well as they do today. These projected increases will call for 25 million quarts of milk, 20 billion eggs, 17.3 billion pounds of red meats, 1.1 billion pounds of chicken meat, 30.7 million more of fruits and vegetables a year.

There will always be frontiers and these are the new frontiers of American agriculture. These are the new frontiers challenging youth in agriculture.

THE LOCAL PAPER

Each city, town and village in a country like the United States should be represented by a live newspaper, and it would be well, not only for the people and the country, but also for the paper, to be represented by a paper which would be a credit to the State and a credit to the State newspaper press, and hence the importance of making the newspaper as perfect and potent as possible.

The duty of every citizen of a country is to contribute something toward improving and strengthening the local press. He can do this by subscribing and paying for his paper, by advertising in it, by recommending it to others, and in all these ways.

The country press as liberated and as well supplied as it should be, the country should not be flooded with the "trash in the shape of murder stories", as it is, which poison the minds of the people.

There is usually more moral indignation and circumspection manifested by editors of the country press than by those of the large metropolitan telephone directories.

Metropolitan telephone directories are mailed to subscribers last Wednesday, J. C. Oak of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, has announced.

The new directories contain 20 pages with almost 1,900 listings. The yellow pages contain 100 pages.

Only about 10 per cent of the food sold in the United States each year is canned.

There is no estimating the advantages to any town or village of a live local journal, and we doubt if there is to be found at the present time an editor who gets fully paid for the services he performs, and we put the responsibility where it belongs—namely on the people, whose business and duty it is first of all to support handsomely their own local paper.

The Bellville Countryman

cities, and a more healthy tone of mind and morals will generally be found to pervade them. They are more free from the reports of degrading vices and crimes and are never opened with that feeling of suspicion which attaches to the common flash literature of the day.

The country press may be improved. Each individual residing within the limits of its sphere and circulation may aid in its improvement. He may be on the lookout for interesting information and when this is obtained, communicate it to the editor. He may bring his own business before the public by an appropriate advertisement, or if he has beef, pork, or grain to sell, he may announce it through the local press.

He may give historical sketches of the past, and show the progress and changes going on at the present. He may help to make his local paper a source of instruction to strangers and of entertainment to his neighbors. Is he a manufacturer? Let him invite capital and influence by setting forth such natural advantages as the place may possess and indicate the routes by which it may be reached, its accessibility to the markets, etc.

Conservation work on area ranch receives GPSP boost

By BOBBY J. GRAY
Work Unit Conservationist
Post Work Unit
Duck Creek SCD

The U Lazy S Ranch, located in Garza and Borden Counties has stepped up the application of conservation practices on the ranch with the aid of the Great Plains Conservation Program.

John F. Lott, owner and manager of the ranch, became a cooperator with the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District in 1949, and with the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service technicians at Post worked out a range conservation plan for the ranch.

Lott used the assistance furnished through the Garza County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Program to apply practices such as farm ponds and brush control on the ranch. However, the limitation as to the amount of money that he could earn per year was not enough to carry out the needed practices Lott wanted to apply to the ranch.

In 1956 the Great Plains Conservation Program, public law 1021, was passed by Congress to help speed up the application of soil and water conservation practices in the Great Plains area. This program did not limit the amount of assistance one land owner could receive, so Lott put the U Lazy S Ranch in the program.

He revised his ranch plan to fit into the Great Plains Conservation Program. This program allowed him to schedule the work that was needed on the ranch into the years he planned to apply them. This plan consisted of several parts, one being that of constructing watering facilities for stock water.

Lott needed at least 20 more farm ponds for livestock water. To date he has constructed 13 of these ponds, making a total of about 65 ponds on the ranch.

These tanks will hold approximately 1,300 acre feet of water and afford permanent water for the ranch.

There are also windmills and water storage facilities scattered over the ranch, but by and large, the main water sources are earthen tanks.

Lott has seeded about 1,958 acres of the ranch to native grasses since 1958. The seeding was done in conjunction with either range pitting or root-plowing.

Another practice that has been carried out on the U Lazy S is cross-fencing the larger pastures for better management purposes. Lott and his son, Jack, figure that they can make better use of their grass if they are fixed up with cross-fencing to allow them to rest the pastures periodically.

With the water facilities evenly distributed and with smaller pastures, Jack says that their calf crop should increase.

Heavy mesquite has become one of the main concerns of the Lotts on this ranch. Approximately 25,000 acres of the ranch was heavily infested with mesquite and getting worse each year. Since entering the Great Plains Conservation Program, they have sprayed 23,628 acres of mesquite which cost them $1.45 an acre. They followed the spraying the second year with churning, using D-4 and D-6 caterpillars. This operation costs about $1.05 per acre, making the total cost of clearing the mesquite run about $2.50 per acre. Jack says that the spraying and clearing will last from 6 to 10 years, depending on the moisture conditions we have in this period.

The spraying is followed with a deferment period of about four months to allow the grasses to make a recovery without having competition from the mesquites or weeds or close grazing. These practices have increased the carrying capacity of the ranch about 30 to 35 per cent.

Jack stated that without the assistance of the Great Plains Conservation Program it would have taken them about three times as long to apply the conservation practices that they have to date on this ranch.

Letters to the Editor...

Dear Editor:
The 1961 March of Dimes is now completed. Once again the American people have pooled their dimes and dollars through a national voluntary health agency to attack some of their mutual health problems.

A quick check of tear sheets and clips indicates clearly that the weekly press of the nation has been in the forefront of the American people's fight to prevent arthritis and polio. In fact, the tear sheets show that the weekly press support of these aims has been just about the best in the 23-year history of the March of Dimes.

This is my personal note of appreciation to you for your splendid services in the January campaign. This is to say "thank you" on behalf of the literally millions of people who will benefit, directly or indirectly, from the funds contributed to the March of Dimes.

Sincerely,
George P. Voss

Planning is required in farming as in industry, for best returns

COLLEGE STATION — Modern farming is a competitive business and the individual operator should keep this in mind when planning his enterprises, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist. In order to obtain maximum profits, operators of commercial farms should study every available means of boosting returns.

The first step in this plan-for-profit program is to weigh the price prospects for the farm's major cash enterprises and determine how seasonal price variations will affect potential returns. The decision of whether or not a greater volume of individual output will result in maximum net profit must be made, Bates explains.

Generally, higher production per acre or per animal should mean higher profits but greater risk is involved in seeking the very highest yields for some crops. It is therefore wise to count the extra cost and consider this risk before aiming at the top production figure.

Regardless of the price situation, however, the greatest emphasis should be toward the highest degree of efficiency—cutting labor and other unit costs, the specialist continues. This can be accomplished by taking advantage of the latest technological advances. Replacement of hand labor with machines and the use of proven fertilizers and insecticides are ways of putting this technology to work.

In short, every opportunity must be taken to assure lower production costs per unit, says Bates. This requires a strong desire on the part of the operator to improve his decision-making skills. More brainwork is an essential ingredient.

The county agricultural agent is ready to help with any of these problems. If you have a plan to increase profits, talk it over with him. This is another example of taking advantage of modern technology, Bates concludes.
