Cotton cushioning is cool in summertime

Ever wonder why cotton-cushioned furniture is so cool and comfortable in the summertime?

It is because cotton is a "live" fiber, with millions of tiny air cells to provide good circulation, an especially important consideration for summer furniture.

You will also find this true of sofas, chairs, and mattresses filled with cotton, which explains why it is the most widely-used padding material in the world today.

We've Been Serving Garza's Cotton Farmers For 43 Years

We are proud this National Cotton Week to point out we've been ginning Garza County cotton since 1919 when the first gin of ours was located opposite the cotton mill. That plant was destroyed by fire in the late 1930's.

Then we purchased a gin at our present location. It was partially destroyed by fire in 1951—but was completely rebuilt and modernized. Last year we again completed an expensive new modernization program to make the gin "up to the minute." When the 1962 ginning season rolls around this fall—you can count on us. We'll be ready again for your cotton.

Cotton research showing way

would be needed annually for replacement pads. Selling appeals of pads are sanitation, comfort, and mattress protection.

Dress and sport trousers use 229,000 bales, with cotton accounting for less than 60 per cent of the materials. Give cotton trousers shape - holding, wrinkle - resistant characteristics of wool, plus controlled sheen of man-made fibers. This could strengthen its present market and result in 170,000-bale gain from competitors.

Linings for tailored clothing consume the equivalent of 107,000 bales of cotton, yet rayon dominates the market. Tailors, however, like cotton because it is easy to cut and sew. A 100,000-bale market could be opened if research could provide a fabric with slipperiness and controlled sheen and one that could be priced competitively.

Blankets use about 66,000 bales and cotton blankets have a big launderability advantage. But traditional napped cotton blankets lack warmth and appearance qualities consumers want, or think they want. Develop yarns which give cotton blankets warmth, bulk, resilience, and related qualities and promote the new product adequately. Gain potential would be 160,000 bales.

IN 1961, The equivalent of 310,000 bales of cotton was consumed

Cotton packaging needs improving

Four practices to give the American cotton bale a package which will survive at domestic and foreign mills in reasonably good condition are outlined by R Herschel McRae of the National Cotton Council's production and marketing division.

These practices call for: (1) using close weave bagging, (2) tucking bagging on bale heads, (3) patching both sides of export bales, and (4) changing sampling methods at foreign ports.

To achieve maximum results from these practices, management in all segments of the industry must place more emphasis on improving handling and marketing operations, Mr. McRae stresses.

He says if the industry will follow these practices that American bale packages will compare favorably with those of other countries. The industry, however, must take positive action on all the practices to be entirely effective.

The suggestions, he explains, involve adjustments that can be accomplished with the industry's present framework of packing, handling, and marketing.

June Livestock Survey cards to be sent out

Postmaster Harold Voss reminds rural patrons of the Post post office to be on the lookout for June Livestock Survey cards. Next week, mail carriers will leave survey cards in a sample of boxes along their routes.

"USDA bases livestock and poultry estimates on replies to this survey," Voss explains. "It's important for everyone who gets a card to fill it out and return it to the carrier. This way, USDA gets a representative sample of the area's livestock and poultry holdings."

Survey cards will be forwarded to Cary D. Palmer, State Agricultural Statistician in Austin. After adding and analyzing these cards, USDA statisticians are able to estimate the State's milk production, calf and pig crops, lamb and wool crops, and the number of hens and pullets.

Information from this survey will guide livestock and poultry producers in making important business decisions", Voss concludes.

Confirmation here set for Saturday

The Most Rev. John L. Morkovsky, bishop of the Diocese of Amarillo, will be at Holy Cross Catholic Church here at 3 p. m. Saturday to confer the Sacrament of Confirmation on a class of approximately 20.

Confirmation classes have been under way for some time at the church here, whose present minister is Rev. L. Eugenio de Francisco.

Sunday, 11 children made their First Communion at the church. The First Communion class has been taught by Mrs. Leon Grochowsky of Slaton, assisted by Eulalia Sanchez and Mary Perez, also of Slaton.

Following the Confirmation ceremony here Saturday, Bishop Morkovsky will go to Slaton for Confirmation at Our Lady of Guadalupe Church, whose pastor is the Rev. James Erickson.

Facts About Texas Cotton

(CLIP AND SAVE FOR FUTURE REFERENCE)

National Cotton Crop—14,315,328 bales; Texas Crop—4,797,343 bales. Because of the relatively strong position of their cotton in the market over the past two years, cotton producers in Garza County and elsewhere on the High Plains will have a higher support price for their cotton in 1962. The reason for this is that the differences between the higher and lower grades in the market place. Although High Plains farmers have taken a slight cut in acreage for 1962, production prospects are still bright. Most cotton observers feel that the new skip-row planting regulations will more than off-set the reduction in acres and that with even an "average" year farmers could conceivably top the all-time record high of 2,344,803 bales produced in 1961.

Letters to the Editor...

NO VOTE IS 'LOST'

Dear Editor:

I was very much dismayed to learn that according to "It's My Turn" column in the Dispatch of May 10, I had "thrown away" my vote in the Governor's race this past Saturday.

It is a sad thing when you support a candidate and believe that he is the best-suited man for the job and then have someone tell you that because he loses you have "thrown away" your vote.

In my point of view, no one in the United States ever throws away a vote; they may lose it, but never throw it away.

In case you may be wondering who I voted for, it was Marshall Formby, and I would do it again. I am not a member of the John Birchers.

I hope that Mrs. C. did not mean the article as it sounded. I enjoy the paper very much, tho I do not agree with you on many things, but this is what makes our country great.

Tho I am not a Bircher, I want to say a few things on the Red menace. I believe that it is just as bad as a rattlesnake in a baby bed with a curious child. I hope and pray that the people of our country never fall for soft soap line of the ones who say that we should disarm, admit Red China to the U. N., or to halt atomic testing, and many other points that we hear every day on radio and TV and read in the newspapers.

Yours for a better and bigger America and Texas.

B. L. Thomas
Rt. 1, Post

(ED. NOTE: Mrs. C's comment on Mr. Thomas' letter will be found in her "It's My Turn" column on the woman's page. Such letters as Mr. Thomas' are welcomed by the Dispatch and, when signed by the writer, always receive our prompt attention.)

Senator Smith ran first in 103 counties in the first primary, more than any other candidate.

"I will continue to stress the same points I stressed in the first primary," the candidate said.

These points included: Simplification of the sales tax; correction of the auto insurance merit plans providing better schools; correction of inequities in the legal rights of Texas women; a vigorous soil and water conservation program; proper small loan regulation; an adequate welfare program; and the assurance of economical government operation.

Senator Smith, who is a theater owner and has other business interests in Lubbock, said he would also continue to speak for strengthening and maintaining the Democratic Party leadership in Texas.

Carol Camp

Junior High editor is subject of write-up

By Marcia Newby
Carol Camp, born Aug. 29, 1948, rates third in her class. She has the honor of being historian. She lives at 709 West Main with her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Camp, and older brother, Roger, a senior.
Carol has been an ever-faithful editor of the Post Junior High news staff. It takes quite a person to be able to make it to school by 8 o'clock in the morning.
Some of Carol's favorites are: Book, "Gone With the Wind," car, Red Corvette; food, Hydrox cookies and fried okra; pastime, basketball; sport, basketball and swimming.

CONTEST PLANS

Plans are complete for the second annual National Stubble Mulching and Judging Contest. The activities will be held near Wichita Falls, June 27-29 under the sponsorship of Radio Station KWFT and soil conservation districts in that area of Texas and Oklahoma, according to Jack Barton, soil and water conservation specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He said that Texas county agents could supply detailed information of the program.

Georgia grew cotton in 1734.

Carol participated fully during basketball season. She played as a leading forward and scored many of the team's points.
Carol is also a good member of the High School Choir. She has attended many of the towns and trips.

7B students go on class trip

By Marcia Newby
7-B went on a class trip last Saturday. They met at the Junior High School and left there in individual cars.

Upon reaching the park, they searched for a nice picnic spot to eat their well-awaited-for sack lunches.
After playing ball and eating, everybody enjoyed themselves in the amusement park.
When everybody was flat-broke and getting rather tired, we got together and started home.
At approximately 3 o'clock, the trip ended and everybody was taken home.
The sponsors that went were Mrs. Clemmons, Mrs. Lobban, Mrs. Wristen, Mrs. Hutchins, Mrs. Bobby Pierce, Mrs. Bill Woods, Mrs. Donald Windham, and Mrs. R. E. Josey.

Area group visits at Purina Research Farm

Two men from Post, Jack Lott and Bob Macy, were among the approximately 350 farmers from this section who visited the Purina Research Farm at Gray Summit, Mo., recently.
They spent a day seeing the company's research laboratories and general office.
Thousands of farmers from all sections of the United States and many foreign countries visit the Purina farm each year to see results of experiments conducted in livestock and poultry feeding and management. The 778-acre farm is devoted entirely to farm research products.

BROADER REGULATIONS
Broadened regulations made effective recently bring under surveillance of the U. S. Department of Agriculture practically all chemicals and devices intended for destroying or repelling pests. An amendment to regulations for enforcing the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act requires fully adequate labeling of several classes of chemicals which were not previously under the jurisdiction of the USDA.

Some long, some short

6th graders are studying poetry

By Danny Markham
In the 6th grade we are reciting poetry. Every Tuesday we recite a poem that has at least 10 lines. We do this until we have said 50 lines of poetry.

Some of these poems tell stories of humans, birds and beasts. Another type of poem is the nonsense poem. Some of these poems are long and some are short but most of the poems are very interesting.
One of the longest poems, in fact the longest poem, recited was "The Raven", recited by Sammy Harper, which was written by Edgar Allan Poe, and it has 100 lines. The second longest poem recited was "Creation," recited by Gary Foster, which was written by James Weldon Johnson, and it has 91 lines.

Poetry is very interesting and I think you will like it, too, so try reading a poem every day.

Dance big attraction Friday at Teen Town

By Marcia Newby
A dance was held at Teen Town last Friday.

One dollar was charged per person. The "Red Raider Band" was the big attraction of the evening.
Although the first song was rather a shock because it seemed so loud, we enjoyed the band. The drummer was asked to play a solo toward the middle of the dance. He was really marvelous.

The dance started about 8 o'clock and broke up about 11.

Post student is among initiates

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech's chapter of Phi Kappa Phi honor society recently initiated 128 students from the six schools at its annual spring banquet.

Those initiated included Jimmy Short of Post, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Short.

Phi Kappa Phi is a national honorary scholastic society which includes the top 12 per cent of the junior and senior classes, in addition to graduate students and faculty members.

SUNDAY GUESTS

Guests in the Lawrence Hall home Sunday were the Rev. and Mrs. Lee Hembree and children and Miss Edith Shifflett, all of Snyder. The Rev. Hembree is pastor of the local Church of God although he resides in Snyder.

Wash and wear cottons big saver

Starching, sprinkling, and heavy ironing are outmoded if you clothe your family in the new 100 per cent cotton wash and wear fabrics. They have been chemically treated to eliminate these tiresome washday chores.

Machine washing and tumble drying are recommended for these cottons. They may be laundered at normal washing temperatures, even in the same load with untreated cottons.

If shirts or other garments are soiled at collars and cuffs, these areas should be rubbed with soap or detergent before the clothes are placed in the machine.

If a tumble dryer is not available, treated cottons should be removed from the machine after the final rinse and hung to drip dry. If they do go through the spin cycle, they should be rewet after extracting. They should be hung on non-rusting hangers, and collars, cuffs, and seams should be straightened and smoothed out as much as possible.

BAPTIST CHURCH SCHOOL

Vacation Bible School will be held at the First Baptist Church beginning May 28 and continuing for a week. Classes will convene at 8:30 a. m. and be dismissed at 12:30. Commencement will be held Friday at 7:30, June 1, the first day of the school.

Touched-up pressing may be desired. Use a steam iron or dry iron with a medium warm temperature setting.

Vacation clothes advice —divided and conquer

Vacation-bound? Then it's only natural that you'll be thinking of what outfit will be appropriate where, which fabrics will look well and look smart on arrival.

The National Cotton Council suggests that a good rule to follow in planning your vacation wardrobe is "divide and conquer." Whether you're planning a long weekend or a full-fledged vacation in the sun, divide your wardrobe into sports and dress categories that multiply into a dozen different combinations. That's what you'll conquer the old question of what to take and you'll ease the packing problem, too.

Build your capsule wardrobe around basic elements like pants and skirts — then add a variety of tops for spice. The same slim pants that look trim and tailored with a tunic to feminine when teamed with a ruffled kookie overblouse—or nautical with a signal-flag pullover.

Pants go to all extremes this summer—from short shorts to low-riding hipsters. But perhaps the biggest news in pants is the cabin boy or deck pants—which end just above the knee cap. You'll see crazy pants and more solids or subtly-patterned versions in long pants that end at the ankle or just above.

Skirts are slim or free-swinging, and they're no longer known simply as skirts. They're apt to be referred to as flares, kilts, wrap-arounds, dirndls, pleaters, or proportioneds.

Choose pants and skirts that are most becoming to you individually and concentrate on a basic color scheme. Summer's color spectrum ranges from misty pastels to stark white—giving you plenty of leeway to mix and match colors to your own tastes.

The most popular coordinated sports sets are in cotton duck, sailcloth, denim, and cotton knits. They're updated by splashy colors, novelty prints, or the Americana theme.

Also firmly established as a seaside fashion is the short play dress hailed as "the best thing to up-stage the knee since Bermuda shorts." It's skirted or culotted, open-armed, and easy-waisted. Favored fabrics for play dresses are crisp white cotton duck and pique.

In choosing your outfits for summer fun, play it cool—with cotton sportswear that's strictly carefree and comfortable.

Research is pushed to halt boll rots

Yield losses due to boll rots have cost cotton producers an estimated $50 million to $60 million annually in the past five years, J. D. Hays, Huntsville, Ala., chairman of the National Cotton Council's Committee on Production and Marketing, points out.

He says the Council is sponsoring research at the Delta Branch Experiment Station, Stoneville, Miss., in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, to find out what causes boll rots and how to control them.

It will involve determining the limits of plant growth characteristics and environmental conditions within which serious damage from boll rotting occurs. Cultural methods and other pre-harvest treatments then could be prescribed.

WAGGONER CARR

"Thank You, fellow Texans, for the wonderful support you gave my candidacy for ATTORNEY GENERAL in the first primary." —Waggoner Carr

Election returns tell the story of public confidence in Waggoner Carr's qualifications and his stand for clean, progressive government:

- 43.7% voted for Carr in a field of six candidates.
- Twice as many voted for Carr as for his opponent in the runoff.
- 212 out of 254 counties were carried by Carr on May 5.

YOUR vote is needed to crown the victory and make WAGGONER CARR your next Attorney General.

Fabrics named by city origin

Many cotton fabrics get their names from cities where they were first produced.

From Nimes, France, once famous for its serge—serge de Nimes—comes "denim" Chambria, France, is the home of chambray, and madras was first made in Madras, India. Calico comes from Calicut.

Osnaburg, a heavy cotton fabric, takes its name from Osnabruck, Germany, and the ancient city of Damascus lends its name to damask.

France, was a papal city and the fabric produced there was called "popeline." Today this cloth is known as poplin.

Corde du roi, meaning "rope of the king," was so expensive in the olden days, Avignon, France that only royalty could afford it. Now it's available and more luxurious than ever before. We call it "corduroy."

Seersucker comes from the Persian word "shirushakar," meaning milk and sugar.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD

Lake Travis is that long one in the Highland Lakes chain that stretches from Austin far back into the Hill Country of Central Texas.

Lake Buchanan looks bigger on the map because it's wider, with a sort of tadpole shape.

But—Lake Travis is stretched out more like an earthworm and it's really BIG in the statistics department.

Mansfield Dam, which backs up 42,000 surface acres of Lake Travis water, is 270 feet tall and 6,810 feet long. The huge lake is 65 miles long—but never gets much over three miles wide.

Travis, like a worm in action, is no straight line. Travel the length of it in a boat, and at one time or another your bow will be headed in every direction of the compass. And no telling what kind of water activity you'll see around the next bend.

It could be any recreation from boating and skiing to fishing and skin diving. For that matter there's a variety of outdoors sports ashore too, ranging from horseback riding on the dude ranches to barbecuing in the public parks.

ONE OF THE newest attractions is Highland Lakes Marina, located at Volente (Dodd City). This is a showplace of gaily colored steel and aluminum docks, specially designed to satisfy every whim of boaters.

The Marina can accommodate 125 boats. It is located at the mouth of Big Sandy and is constructed so as to provide a break-water and insure a calm surface even when the lake outside is rough.

Facilities include a swimming pool, cake, fishing lounge, fuel dock and a ship's store.

Stairway leading to the slips is mounted on pneumatic-tired wheels. As the docks ride up and down with Travis' changing lake level, only the elevation of the stairs is affected.

The Marina is just one example of a massive development on the lake.

Realtors are advertising everything from lots and small cabins to luxury homes. And business is brisk. Construction of private dwellings goes right along.

SKI CLUBS HAVE their headquarters in the area. So do rod and gun clubs and sailboat clubs.

Commercial enterprises near the lake include everything from modest tackle and bait shops to plush fishing docks.

Fishing, incidentally, draws untold thousands to Lake Travis. Here the sporty-class anglers go for the black bass almost exclusively—with artificial lures, of course.

Minnow fishermen like bass, too, but they wouldn't throw back a crappie or a catfish.

Trotliners bring home big cats, frequently.

White bass fishing is a science all its own. Find the whites schooling, or searching for swift water at spawning time and you can take your limit in short order.

Fishing docks on Lake Travis always have customers. These are the patient anglers who will sit all night, probing the depths for whatever may be biting.

Then there's the barefoot boy with the cane pole... with a can of worms. He will bring home the bream.

Boating, with its allied sport—skiing—is getting more popular every year. Boats by the hundreds, from eight-foot prams and sailboats to the 77-foot pleasure craft Celia (with the Marina as home port), may be seen on the lake almost every day.

SKIING IS A booming outdoor pleasure on spacious Lake Travis. A few more pleasurable occupations should be listed to complete the picture.

Hunting in the Hill Country, through which the lake runs, is fabulous. The entire area is famous for deer and wild turkey.

Sightseeing is always magnificent. The hills are bright with flowers in the spring and with flaming foliage in the autumn.

Golfing—not now, but one or two of the fancy resorts have plans ready to build courses.

All this recreation is accessible via a number of good highways.

Good all-weather roads connect with Highway 81, the Ft. Worth-San Antonio route; 281, which links Wichita Falls, Corpus Christi and the Valley; 290, the East-West route through Austin and Houston; and 71, a diagonal highway that runs alongside the Highland Lakes from Llano to Palacios on the Gulf.

Like the great outdoors? Try the Lake Travis area, sometime!

Some advice on buying his pants

The husband may wear the pants but the wife often buys them, and here's some advice from the National Cotton Council on selecting some of the new cotton trousers that are becoming so popular for leisure hours.

Cotton twill, chino cloth, and cord are popular, the Council points out, and they have that neat appearance and well-tailored fit.

To be sure the fine fit is there for keeps, look for a label stating the fabric has been pre-shrunk. Then there should be no raw seam edges. Seams should be pressed flat, eliminating bulk and making alterations easier.

Other desirable characteristics: deep and roomy pockets of sturdy cotton drill, double-stitched for added strength; waistband lining cut on the bias, meeting at the center back for easy alteration and sleek fit; pre-shrunk pocket and waistband linings, since shrinkage at these points will ruin the fit.

Be sure about waist and leg measurements. To determine the length, measure from the crotch seam to the cuff—not from waist to cuff.

MOSQUITO CAMPAIGN

OWNERS SEEKING LOST CHIHUAHUA

A dark brown chihuahua dog is the first canine reported lost on the Post-Gail road, which was opened to traffic some two years ago.

The dog, which answers to the name of "Sissy," is owned by the Tom Brogdens of Cotton Center. She is described as a constant companion of the Brogden children.

The dog was lost last Friday. A reward is offered for her recovery. The finder is asked to call collect Tom Brogden, UP 9-2567, Cotton Center, or write him on Star Route, Hale Center.

Cubs, Braves win openers in Babe Ruth league play

Total of 55 runs cross plate in two contests

With the first game, in which the Cubs swamped the Pirates and the Indians and the Braves pried the lid off the Babe Ruth League here.

League play will continue with games tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday night, after which there won't be any more games until May 26, because of closing week activities in the schools.

Among those helping to get play off to a good start Tuesday night was an umpire staff of Carl Jones, Jim Kennedy, Bobby Heaton, Bob Sinner and Frank Blanton. Jones and Blanton were the plate umpires—Jones in the first game and Blanton in the second.

After a one-run first inning, the Cubs blasted the lid off things in the second inning with a 13-run outburst to roll to their opening night victory over the Pirates, who picked up a single run in the fourth frame of the abbreviated game.

The Braves also got off to a quick start in their win over the Indians. They scored three runs in the first, five in the second, ten in the third and seven in the fourth in scoring their 25-12 win.

Freddie Colazzo was the winning pitcher and Bobby Dean the loser in the Pirate-Indian game.

This week's Saturday Evening Post

'Stormin' Norman' is featured in magazine

"Stormin' Norman" Cash, the Detroit Tigers' slugging first baseman from Justiceburg, is the subject of a several-thousand word article in this week's Saturday Evening Post.

"Detroit's Ready Cash" is the title of the article, which was written by Joe Falls. Pictures accompanying the story include a full-page one of the Garza County boy who made big headlines in baseball last year and is making them again this year.

"There is no mistaking Cash for a bookkeeper or a banker or even a sports writer," Falls wrote. "He is a baseball player and acts like one. He has such standard hobbies as hunting, fishing and golf. On the road he kills time by going to the movies, watching television or just lounging around talking with his quiet, folksy roommate Frank Lary."

"A solidly built six-footer of 190 pounds," the article continues, "he bounces when he walks. It is almost a swagger and gives him an air of self-confidence, which he happens to have in abundance."

"SOME OF THE rival Yankees have gone so far as to term him 'cocky'—a strong rap in the trade. However, if this were really true, Norm would not be the well-liked individual that he is in his own clubhouse."

Falls in Justiceburg and Post who have known Norman all his life, but who have not seen him play baseball, will learn many things they didn't know from reading the article in this week's Saturday Evening Post.

"In addition to having become a sensational hitter, Norm Cash is a crowd-pleasing type of ball-player. He performs with the pride of a professional, the determination of a collegian and the exuberance of a small boy. When he gets an important hit, he claps his hands in elation; when he makes an important play, he jumps for joy."

Falls' article on Cash also has something to say about the Detroit first baseman being "ganged-up on" by some American League hurlers:

"WHEN CASH got off to his great spring start last year, pitchers began testing him with their own psychological weapon, the 'brush-back' pitch. Norm was hit on the arms, the back and the legs, and narrowly missed being hit on the head."

No more spring grid practice for junior highs

Spring football training will continue in the top class—AAAA—but will be banned in the junior high schools as the result of a Texas Interscholastic League referendum just announced.

The controversial spring training result left things as they were—spring football training in Class AAAA, but not in Classes AAA, AA, A and B and six and eight-man football.

The schools voted 508 to 322 to ban spring training in the junior high schools. They also voted to limit basketball, both boys and girls, to a set period, thus cutting out the "year around" basketball that has been going on in some schools in Texas.

Ruidoso Downs is ready for season

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N. M.—Inactivity apparently is a word that can't be found in the vocabulary of a horseman.

Less than three days after the wind-up of Sunland Park's spring meeting, racing secretary Russ Sanders announced more than 700 horses on the grounds and vans continuing to stream in by the minute as Ruidoso Downs suddenly became a veritable beehive in preparation for the May 18 inaugural of its 55-day meeting.

When the maximum stable population of 1,200 head has been reached, patrons of Gene Hensley's pari-mutuel playground among the pines will have Sanders' iron-clad guarantee that they'll be rooting for the finest and fastest thoroughbred and quarter horse racing stacy in Ruidoso Downs' 16-year history.

QUAIL AVAILABLE

Hatchery raised bobwhite quail, by agreement with the Texas Game and Fish Commission, are available to 4-H Clubs and FFA Chapters for quail management demonstrations, reports Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist. Details on the program are available from game wardens or conservation officers and from local county agents, Cooper said.

One Cleveland pitcher, Gary Bell, is quoted in the article as having told Norm after the season, "We had to find out if you were 'for real.'" The answer obviously was yes.

The article tells something of Norman's early days at Justiceburg on the farm of his father, Bandy Cash, where, Norm is quoted as saying, "I can remember driving a tractor from the time I was ten. Some days I'd drive it ten or twelve hours."

WHILE IT IS no secret to folks in Garza County, it no doubt is news to baseball fans in other parts of the nation that the reason Norm did not play baseball until he went to college is because Post High School did not have a baseball program.

"There was no baseball team," Falls writes, "but he played well enough on the football team to win a scholarship to San Angelo Junior College. . . . The junior college didn't have a baseball team either, but Norm and some of the other students formed an independent team in a local league."

The article closes with: "Back home in Texas, where Norm and his wife live during the off-season on the ranch of her father, S. D. Harper, Cash maintains a herd of cattle in partnership with his father-in-law. Norm aims eventually to have his own ranch. If he can keep on hitting those little round white balls the way he has been doing, eventually will be very soon."

Made Of Cotton

How many times we see this statement attached to articles and clothing we buy in our stores.

Cotton today is being re-discovered for many uses. For example, it has already gained wide acceptance for year-around wear by fashion conscious men and women.

Cotton's markets expand as new uses are found and greater acceptance received. We can do our part in aiding our local "Cotton economy" by "buying cotton" whenever possible.

Our salute to this area's cotton farmers this National Cotton Week.

PATRIOTISM

Last Sunday morning the streets of Houston were filled with conflicting rumors. A bombardment of Galveston was expected before night. Our readers are aware that Armstrong and Brothers have a new four-story, iron front building on the Strand; one of the finest there. Both brothers are in the service. William was here and Thadden at the Island. We saw the first in the telegraph office here. We asked to look at the message he was sending down. It read as follows: "Hoist the Southern flag on the top of the building and let her rip. How many vessels?"

"What do you say about it?" said the writer to Col. Tin Walker yesterday. He replied, "A! I am worth in the world in Galveston. I hope it will be destroyed before the enemy get it. I set down yesterday and knocked a hole in the bottom of my cistern. They shall not have as much as a cup of water from me to save them."

We could relate a hundred remarks like these to show the spirit of the gallant men of Galveston who are joined with us—THE HOUSTON TELEGRAPH.

MARTIAL LAW

Gen. Hebert has proclaimed Martial Law over the counties of Orange, Chambers, Galveston, Hidalgo, Harris, Brazoria, Matagorda, Calhoun, Refugio, San Patricio, Nueces, and Cameron. The General among other things says:

"Any attempt to depreciate the currency of the Confederate States is an act of hostility, will be treated as such and visited with summary punishment." — THE LIBERTY GAZETTE.

At an estate sale of Negroes in this place on Tuesday last, five negroes (not all likely) sold for the round sum of $7,040, as follows: One boy about 18 (not likely) brought $1,520; one boy about 12 (likely) brought $1,510; one woman about 40 (and crippled) brought $7,000; one man about 60, brought $1,205; one man about 21 (likely) brought $2,105—THE TYLER REPORTER.

Men's apparel tops U. S. cotton usage

Apparel and home furnishings account for more than 80 per cent of the total baleage of cotton consumed in this country, according to the National Cotton Council. Men's, youths', and boys' apparel account for more than 2.5 million bales or approximately 30 per cent of the total consumption home furnishings and piece goods. 2.25 million or 28 per cent; women's, misses', and juniors' apparel, about a million bales or more than 14 per cent; and children's wear, 700,000 bales or 9 per cent. Cotton's share of the total textile market in these groups: men's—73 per cent; women's wear—43 per cent; children's wear—77 per cent; and home furnishings—48 per cent.

CONTROL TOWER

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Clearance, weather information, assigned altitudes and airways, landing instructions... we take these for granted. We simply fly from point to point, our progress and safety undergirded by an intricate web of scientific communication.

Perhaps that's why, today, so many assume that some celestial system ought to assure everyone comfort, success and happiness.

But the control tower can operate only because every pilot respects its purpose and has faith in its instructions.

Our moral progress and our spiritual security are the constant concern of the Church. Its worship and guidance undergird the lives of all who respect its Purpose, and have faith in the truths of God which it teaches.

Boll weevil has bit off more than he can chew

The boll weevil may find he's biting off more than he can chew as he continues to plague cotton growers.

Scientists at Texas A&M for example, have found that an organic compound, when introduced through the plant's root system, moves into cotton squares.

When the boll weevil comes out from the square, it may be his last meal.

Using the systemic approach, which doesn't have practical field value yet, Claude L. Welch, director of the National Cotton Experiment Station at State College, Miss., the laboratory is investigating many approaches, including the male sterility technique.

"Researchers have come up with a strain of weevils that never diapause. They can be reared in the laboratory, but they couldn't survive in the field," Mr. Welch says. "This illustrates one of many possibilities of using some genetic deficiency to change the offspring of normal weevils so they can't survive."

Such eradication schemes mean rearing and releasing a population large enough to dominate the field population. This would be almost impossible with large field populations. It is a different matter if the population is reduced to only a few.

"This could turn out to be the real significance of such developments as diapause control, automatic early control, and possibly the systemic approach. These are capable of knocking the population to a level near the threshold of eradication—a fact that multiplies our chances for a feasible technique to completely eradicate the pest," Welch observes.

The industry also is stepping up the attack on other cotton pests. This includes support for projects to develop a mass rearing technique for the bollworm and to increase the effectiveness of insecticide application techniques.

First historical park established by the U. S. government was the Morristown National Park in New Jersey.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Down Texas way they pride themselves on thinking in terms of bigness.

Thus, it is perhaps not surprising that veteran Congressman from those parts, Wright Patman, asked a mighty big question of the State Department. In fact, it could be called the $100 billion dollar question as it tied in quite directly with the taxing away of U.S. tax dollars on foreign give away.

Congressman Patman heads the Joint Congressional Economic Committee which has been looking into the U.S. liberality with nations in the communist bloc.

Somewhat to their astonishment, these committee members found that the Communist dictator of Poland, Gomulka, while on one hand has been receiving some $400 million in food and industrial equipment from U.S. he has with other hand been giving largesse to other communist nations.

Specifically, it was found by the Congressmen that he gave some $100 million in aid for Yugoslavia, Ghana, North Vietnam.

In addition, the joint committee found that the Polish communist boss is supplying Red China, Yugoslavia and Cuba with industrial plants and heavy machine tools which appear suspiciously similar to this type of equipment that Poland got in the United States.

On questioning the State

Dept. members of Congress found nothing very tangible in the way of an answer. It was developed in 1957 it was decided to aid communist Poland to somehow build some friendly ties with the communists.

This seems to tie in with a trend of the past few years in official circles to divide the world's communists into two groups. One group are hostile murdering atheists, the other group merely unfriendly murdering atheists.

Now the Congressman expressed interest in just how the State Dept. has set up safeguards to make sure that what the U.S. gives the merely unfriendly murdering atheists is not trans-shipped to the hostile murdering atheists.

State Dept. had a ready answer for this one. There are no safeguards on this matter, but Communist Gomulka has given his word that nothing of this sort will be permitted.

So there the matter rests. Naturally, everyone knows there is nothing more binding than a communist's promise.

Perhaps this simple faith of the State Dept. will spread throughout government with far reaching consequences.

Perhaps in time even the Internal Revenue Service will accept everyone's word without question, eliminating thousands upon thousands of man hours now spent in working out and examining tax returns. Thus, it is wrong to be critical. Who can tell but what State Dept. working hand in hand with the merely unfriendly murdering atheist echelon of world communism is creating a world of greater sweetness and light.

Vet's Forum

Q. Will the VA pay for ambulance transportation to and from a VA hospital?

A. Only if prior authorization is obtained from the hospital. A veteran or a private physician may apply to the hospital by mail or phone for this authorization if (a) the veteran has a service-connected condition or (b) if a non-service-connected veteran can't pay the cost of the travel.

Q. A discharge or dismissal from service by sentence of a General Court Martial bars veterans from benefits administered by the VA. Recently after a Navy veteran had been discharged by sentence of a General Court-Martial, the Navy Board for Correction of Naval Records held that his record should be corrected to show his separation was under honorable conditions. What about cases like this?

A. A recent decision of the VA General Counsel held that the action of the Board for Correction of Naval Records has the status of a special act of Congress for the veteran's relief, making the veteran eligible for VA benefits to which he is otherwise entitled.

Q. Because I pay my National Service Life Insurance premiums by allotment, I have not applied for the total disability income pro-month if I am disabled before the age of 60. Can I get the TDIP rider, and if so, how?

A. Yes, you can, and without a physical examination if you are under age 40. Application forms and assistance are available at any VA office or from your Service Personnel Officer.

Talk about the 'twist' —cotton really has it

Only cotton has the "twist." Under a microscope, a single mature cotton fiber looks like a flattened tube with spiral convolutions. It is from 1,000 to 3,000 times as long as it is thick. Various kinds of cotton fiber differ in diameter and number of twists—the more twists the better it spins.

Twist gives cotton its elasticity and superior spinning qualities. No other fiber has this characteristic.

The nation's clubwomen can have a front-row seat for showings of the latest fashions in fine cotton fabrics, thanks to a loan wardrobe program offered by the National Cotton Council.

A collection of 40 wardrobes, containing around-the-clock, around-the-calendar garments, is available to women's clubs and organizations for style show use. Organizations borrowing the wardrobes are furnished with everything needed to stage a do-it-yourself style show—commentaries, program booklets, news stories, and pattern numbers of each garment. They also receive descriptive educational material on cotton fabrics and finishes.

Each wardrobe consists of 25 garments which include four children's outfits and women's wear ranging from a bathing suit to a full-length coat, a formal, a rain-

ORAL POLIO VACCINE
 Immunization against Poliomyelitis virus can now be given in medicine taken by mouth for all three types of paralytic poliomyelitis. Each type must be given separately, with six weeks intervals between Type I, Type III, and Type II in that order. Four weeks after each type is given some immunity to that particular type has resulted in the person who has taken the vaccine by mouth. This means that within 22 weeks immunization against all three types of paralytic polio may be accomplished by use of the oral vaccine. Exactly how long immunization will persist once established has not been yet determined. Booster doses should be given every two to four years, or sooner in case of an epidemic. Immunization is postponed during those conditions. Other virus infections may interfere with the desired response to the oral vaccine. The following is the schedule for immunization of infants between six weeks and three months of age.

 The first dose is Type I immediately.
 The second dose is Type III six weeks after the first dose.
 The third dose is Type II six weeks after the second dose.
 The fourth dose is Type I, II, and III six months or longer after the third dose.
 The vaccine must be kept in the freezer compartment of a refrigerator. It is usually given in a sugar-syrup base.
 Since it takes 22 weeks to develop full immunity using the oral vaccine it is still advisable for previously immunized people to receive their booster doses of Salk vaccine by injection. Also those who have conditions making the oral vaccine not most desirable should receive the injections.
 The Salk type injection has been proven by widespread usage over a long period of time. It is entirely possible that some people will prefer to maintain immunity by yearly single injections rather than to go through a full immunization schedule of oral vaccine with booster doses every two years.
 Either method should be satisfactory if used as directed.

Building permits nearing $150,000

City building permits through May 1 were nearing the $150,000 mark, with no new permits having been issued since that date.
 The total construction figure to date is $148,960, according to records at City Hall.
 The last two permits issued were both on May 1. One went to C. B. Bilberry for an addition to his present residence and the other to B. J. Lofton for construction of a five-room frame house.
 The Bilberry addition is to be 16 by 24 feet, costing approximately $1,400. George Huffman is the contractor.
 The Lofton house, costing an estimated $2,000, is to be a 30 by 40-foot structure on North Avenue H.
 On the last day of April, a permit was issued the Church of Christ for a 16 by 28-foot addition to the church's educational building at 309 West 10th. The addition, which will cost an estimated $3,000, is to be of brick veneer with a built-up roof. M. C. Walters is the contractor.

Broilers continue to be a good food bargain, he said.

Chamber budget includes funds to seek industry

J. B. Potts, Post Chamber president, told Rotarians Tuesday noon that an $8,000 operating budget has been drawn up for the organization for 1962 which includes $1,000 for new business and industrial development.
 He explained that the organization hasn't had any funds before which could be used to pay expenses of those who could be sent to run down leads on new industry.

Potts, in a talk on the Chamber of Commerce activities, said the directors this year are aiming to keep "set expenses" below 50 per cent of the total budget, whereas such fixed expenses have been running as high as 75 per cent in past years.
 He pointed out that members now receive monthly financial reports from the Chamber together with reports of new members and any dropouts during the preceding month.

Potts urged Chamber members to give directors their opinions on whether or not to hold a Fourth of July barbecue again this year and whether to have a large Main street Christmas tree as the big item on downtown Christmas decorations.
 He explained that 3,000 persons were fed at the last July 4th barbecue, but directors wanted to be sure this was the proper event for the organization before proceeding with plans for such a 1962 event.
 He asked for a show of hands among Rotarians as to whether they wanted a big Main street Christmas tree this year. Not a hand went up for the tree.
 "That's a pretty good indication," Potts commented.
 He traced the Chamber's financial history, showing the big drop in organization income from $11,159 in 1960 down to only $8,097 last year.
 Potts made a strong appeal for "real membership cooperation" in Chamber work this year. "If we work together we will realize real community growth," he declared. "And what helps us all helps us individually too."

School Board

Meisch's retention as band director. Moreland also read a letter from Meisch applying for the position.
 Trustees had voted at their March meeting not to extend Meisch a new contract.
 Since the vacancy has not been filled for the 1962-63 school year, Meisch re-applied for the post Monday.

Dr. John C. Carter made the motion to rehire Meisch. Lee Ward seconded it. Moreland told trustees he wasn't going to vote on it. Boucher, Pierce, Wilks and Malcolm Bull voted against the motion. Carter and Ward for it.

In other actions, the board: Discussed appointment of the school district's board of equalization.
 Voted to renew contract with Dan Cockrum to furnish new typewriters again to the typing classes for $25 for each machine, plus trade-in. This is a continuation of an agreement whereby the classes have new typewriters each year.
 Discussed turning over student insurance to some local insurance agency and let students make their claims through that agency instead of through school.

Authorized another summer driver training course in which students would pay $20 for the instruction and school would furnish gasoline and car upkeep.

years. Action came after a requested pay scale survey of other area schools showed the average district of comparable size as paying $5,256.
 Asked Supt. R. T. Smith to set up a record system whereby the maintenance and servicing cost of each of the district's ten school buses be kept individually. This action came after trustees studied a report from Smith which showed that with two months still to go on the current school year, the district already has paid a total of $6,841.58 for the maintenance of the bus fleet. This was broken down as $3,725.86 for parts, $2,432.57 for labor, and $683.15 for washing, greasing, and flats.

Trustees agreed this was too much but decided the bus fleet wasn't large enough to set up a school bus shop and hire and equip its own mechanic. Individual bus records will be studied to replace buses which indicate excessive maintenance costs.
TABLED UNTIL next meeting the employment of a new auditor for the district to replace the late Harold P. Wines of Ballinger.
 Accepted the resignations of Mr. and Mrs. Kerwin Baxter and Mrs. Jean Teal as teachers. Mr. and Mrs. Baxter have accepted teaching positions in the schools at Floydada, which is their former home. Mrs. Teal indicated she felt she should devote her full time to her family. Mr. Baxter teaches high school science and Mrs. Baxter both math and English. They have been here four years.
 Voted to elect Mrs. Beth Walker as junior high librarian and Mrs. Carolyn Black as a junior high teacher, upon Smith's recommendations. Trustees tabled action until next meeting upon an applicant for a position as high school teacher and "B" team coach. Trustees wanted to look further into his college record.
 Miss Sandra Feather, a first grade teacher who has an educational minor in Spanish, was approved to teach the non-English speaking class this summer. Smith reported over 20 already have signed up for the course.

PCG program boosts high plains cotton

The Plains Cotton Growers, soon to begin its seventh year, was formed in 1956 for the purpose of representing the cotton industry on the High Plains. It covers 23 counties with Lubbock in the center. It is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of a farmer and a businessman from each of these 23 counties. Its present officers are: Roy Fortenberry, president, Wilbur Smith, vice president, and Roy Fortenberry, secretary-treasurer.

The organization is supported primarily by producers who pay a fee per bale on their production through their ginners. The ginners pay 1 cent per bale as his contribution and handles the collection from the farmer. In addition to this oil mills, compresses, gin merchants, banks and general businesses have memberships on size.

The program of the Plains Cotton Growers is primarily one of research, promotion and service. For research it is supporting projects at the various experiment stations in the area relating to cotton breeding, mechanization, soil conservation, water conservation, weed control, and harvesting methods. Grants at Texas Tech provide for cotton fiber and plant spinning tests. The goal is to increase the quality of the cotton grown on the Plains, to evaluate this quality through fiber and spinning tests, and to give this information to the entire cotton industry both at home and abroad.

THE educational side a cotton quality improvement program conducted in cooperation with experiment stations and the extension service. This involves the use of recommendations on varieties and practices and the mailing of 20,000 booklets and giant posters several times during the season to call attention to recommended practices for cotton. In addition to a direct mail from the huge producer organization, utilizes radio, television, local and area newspapers for dissemination of pertinent information.

The service program includes gathering of statistics on the quality of the cotton in the area and distribution of this information to cotton merchants, cotton mills, and other branches of the industry throughout the world. The organization provides legislative representation for the High Plains cotton producer in matters relating to agriculture and cotton in particular.

The total budget for the year 1961-62 to cover these research, promotion and service items is $262,000. This is indicative of the splendid support earned by the PCG from the cotton producers and allied members of the industry on the Plains.

The organization is now slightly over six years old and during this time can point to numerous definite accomplishments. Some of these are as follows:

VIGILANCE ON THE part of cotton acreage has resulted in an adjustment of acreage on the Plains which was lost back in 1956. A grant of some $45,000 to the U. S. D. A. to humidify the cotton classing offices in Lubbock, Lamesa, and Brownfield has resulted in more uniform classing under standard conditions.

Grants totalling nearly $80,000 to the Texas Tech College for improvements in and operation of the cotton spinning pilot plant have given this area quite a lead in the industry with respect to evaluation of cotton quality and the development of recommendations to cotton merchants and mills towards the use of our cottons, both 100 per cent and in blends. It is also a good yardstick to measure the progress made in the improvement of Plains cotton.

Probably the most outstanding accomplishment has been the leading part the PCG played in Congress to get light spotted cotton recognized in the government loan schedule. This was not a program to increase loan rates, but simply to put light spotted cotton in its proper perspective to other qualities. In the past, light spotted cotton was recognized in classing, but not recognized in the loan schedule, and was thrown into the same price category as full spotted cotton. The PCG fiber and spinning tests brought out proof that light spotted cotton was a much better quality than spotted, and resulted in it being so recognized in the price support program. Light spots are now supported half way between white and full spotted, adding several million dollars annually to the economy of the Plains area.

The PCG also conducts a worldwide program of advertising in a national cotton trade newspaper and other cotton publications. This program, directed primarily towards cotton mills and merchants, has resulted in the receipt of comments and inquiries from every cotton consuming country in the world.

ANOTHER PCG program which has caused considerable discussion in the cotton industry is the development and promotion of a full-weight, highly serviceable, all-cotton cover for cotton bales. The initial phase of this project was carried out last season with the distribution of approximately 6,000 of the patterns on the High Plains. This program will be continued again this season with the ultimate goal of creating a new market for the equivalent of 350,000 bales of cotton and improving the appearance of the American cotton bale.

With the continued cooperation and support of cotton producers, ginners, merchants and allied industry the Plains Cotton Growers and the High Plains cotton industry can maintain and improve upon the place of prominence they now hold in the giant world of cotton.

It's the Law in TEXAS

INDEPENDENT CONTRACTORS
Now and then you may hire someone to do some special work for you. In case someone is hurt are you legally responsible? It depends on how you "hire" him. Was he an "independent contractor"? An "employee" or an "agent"?

As a rule an independent contractor has an independent calling like that of a plumber, electrician, house painter and the like. Your agreement with him calls for certain results. You do not tell him how to work. As a rule, you are not legally to blame for any harm he may do. He is an "independent" contractor and not an employe or agent.

But what about an employee or an agent? You, the employer or principal, controls and directs how the worker does his job. You are therefore responsible for it, and largely for any harm that may grow out of his work.

But how can you tell the difference between an independent contractor and an agent or employe?

You look for facts that show or do not show control, direction, or independence. Suppose you "hire" an independent contractor to paint your house white. Accidentally his worker splatters some paint on your neighbor's green shutter. He is to blame through lack of due care, not you. But you would be responsible if you employed a directed these painters yourself.

Why this difference? You have no control over the way the independent contractor does the work. Since he owns and manages his enterprise, he is legally responsible for what he does.

But you still may have some legal responsibility for an independent contractor's work, as for example, if you hire someone whose work may cause an injury. Thus in one such case the contractor dug in the street. A pedestrian fell into the hole and was hurt! He could sue both the owner and the contractor.

One cannot always pass on all the responsibility to the contractor if in itself your project is dangerous — like blasting in a populous place.

In such cases you have an extra duty to make sure to get skilful and responsible independent contractors to do such work.

A man got an independent trucker to haul lumber. The trucker crashed into a car on the highway. The injured party sued both him and the lumber company and won. As a rule only the independent trucking contractor would have had to pay, but here the lumber company should have known that this trucker was reckless.

When you call in a plumber, repairman, or other independent contractor you must make your place safe for him to work in. You must tell him of any traps and hidden dangers (not obvious ones). Otherwise you may be liable to the contractor for any injuries to him or his workers.

Farmers and ranchers told profits depend mainly on use of resources

COLLEGE STATION — Many Texas farmers and ranchers are asking how they can make more profit. Cecil Parker, extension farm management specialist, points out that before a profit can be made, something must be produced. This production requires land, labor, capital and management.

Since any one producer has a fixed supply of one or more of these resources, the amount he can produce over a short period of time is limited. Over a longer period, however, the supply of resources may be increased, thus increasing potential crop and livestock production.

Profits now and in the future depend on how well the producer uses his available resources, says Parker. Maximum utilization of resources requires careful study and analysis, and thus a complete inventory of each resource.

An inventory of all the land you control is a good place to start, says Parker. A knowledge of the various types, capabilities and acreages of each is necessary in planning cropping systems. Make and keep a yearly plan for each field, showing rotations, crop grown, fertilizer used, cultural practices and yields. This will prove to be very valuable.

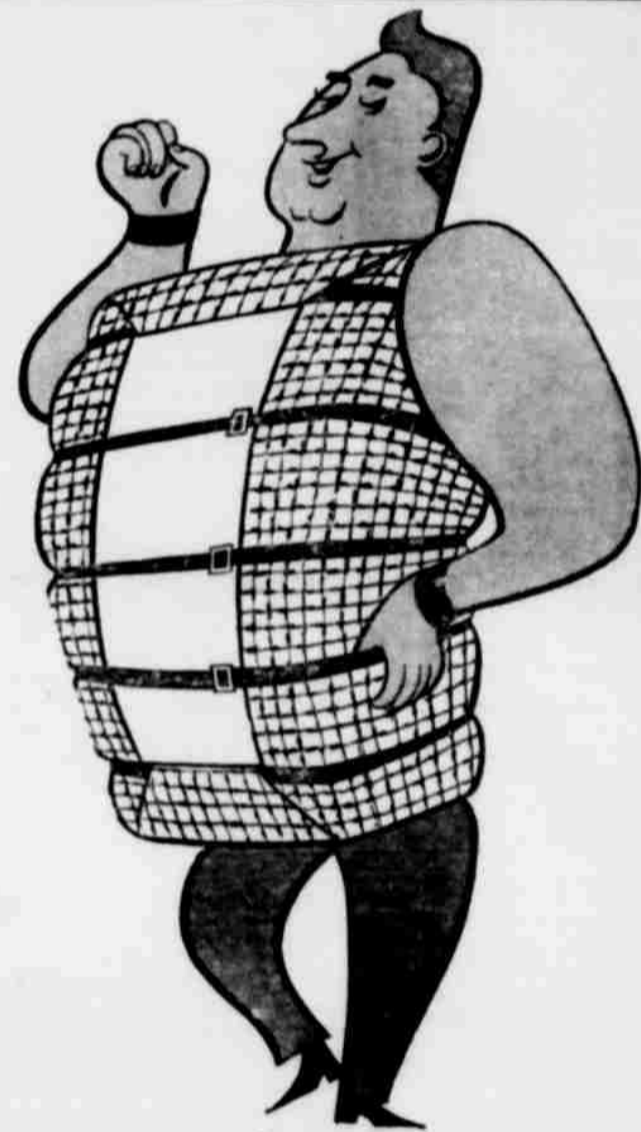

It is also important to study your labor requirements for the year's operation. Know the capabilities of both family and hired labor. Once labor is committed to the farming operation for a year the cost will remain the same whether it is used to the best advantage or not.

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862 . . . the same year that

IN TEXAS . . . the entire state waited, with hopes and prayers, for news of Terry's Texas Rangers, beloved for their courage, daring and skill as fighters. With Albert Sidney Johnston in Kentucky, in and out of Tennessee with Nathan Bedford Forrest, into Georgia with Fighting Joe Wheeler . . . where there was a battle to be won for the South, the Rangers were there!

And then, as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation—light, sparkling refreshment that adds a touch of Southwestern hospitality to any occasion. Texans have always enjoyed the good fellowship that goes with every glass.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

Cotton showing future strength

Although cotton suffered competitive losses in 1961, the industry has some "proven evidences of strength" upon which it can draw in making plans for the future.

These, according to the chief economist of the National Cotton Council, are: (1) cotton's long-time performance in the domestic market, (2) an expanding market overseas, and (3) the fact the United States seriously needs to foster exports.

Dr. M. K. Horne Jr., Memphis, notes that in the five years from 1955 to 1960 cotton began holding its own against the entire field of competing fibers and materials and that this was something that had never happened before.

"Nothing happened in 1961," he emphasizes, "to indicate that we cannot restore and continue this record of rising competitive strength."

THE WORLD economy, he explains, is growing, is industrializing, and cotton is the leading material of its biggest industry. Western Europe, where relatively little cotton is grown, is "taking bold new steps to go on to much higher economic levels by the stimulus of a common market."

The United States, he observes, now has the great problem of defending its currency and therefore must encourage exports. In most years, cotton is the biggest single export commodity. Cotton earned $937 million in foreign exchange in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1961, and $826 million in the preceding year.

"In the over-all struggle for a balance of international payments, which will check the outflow of gold and the threat to the dollar, these export sales of nearly a billion dollars a year are vital."

On the domestic market, the economist points out that cotton lost ground to the man-made fibers in 1961 after holding its own for a five-year period.

"In seeking causes," Dr. Horne continues, "we always look to three main forces—research, promotion, and price."

In two years' time, he adds, rayon's relative price came down 6.5 cents against Middling one and one-sixteenth-inch cotton and 8.5 cents against Low Middling one and one-thirty-second, inch cotton. These changes were the combined result of price declines for rayon and price increases for cotton.

Rayon manufacturers, he explains, have lowered their prices to compete with imports of rayon staple and to gain the advantage of much bigger volume at the expense of cotton, foreign rayon producers, and others.

LOWER PRODUCTION costs, he believes, have enabled rayon manufacturers to cut prices. He notes that through the years when cotton costs and many production costs have risen, prices of purified wood pulp and chemicals for producing rayon have declined. Furthermore, the industry has lowered costs by increasing production to approximately 100 per cent of capacity.

Reviewing export trends, the economist raises a warning signal that cotton production in some foreign countries is beginning to show a stronger upward tendency. Some 15 foreign countries have shown total increases of 700,000 bales in each of the latest three seasons. Influencing this trend had been a rise in world cotton prices, accompanied by price weakness in food crops and other raw materials, and increasing yields per acre in foreign countries.

From 1952 to 1958, average yields per acre in the United States increased 66 per cent, while in 15 foreign countries the reported increase totaled 21 per cent. But over the three seasons from 1958 to 1961, U. S. yields have had a net decline, while the foreign yields are said to have increased 17 per cent.

Atlanta editor in cotton eulogy

"What a royal plant it is," wrote Atlanta editor Henry W. Grady of cotton.

"The world awaits in attendance on its growth; the shower that falls whispering on its leaves is heard around the world; the sun that shines on it is tempered by the prayers of all the people; the frost that chills it and the dew that descends from the stars are noted; and the trespass of a little worm on its green leaf is more to England than the advance of a hostile army on her Asian outposts.

"It is gold from the instant it puts forth its tiny shoot. Its fiber is current in every bank, and when, loosing its fleeces from the sun, it floats a sunny banner that glorifies the fields of the humblest farmer, that man is marshaled under a flag that will compel the allegiances of the world."

Thought About Farmers

. . . This National Cotton Week

Many years ago, most Americans lived on farms. They raised their own food—from beef to beans—and enough extra to feed one or two people who didn't live on the farm.

Today, less than 9 per cent of the American people live on the farm, but now each farmer feeds himself and 22 others.

With this non-farm "family" increasing and the cost of his production necessities rising at a rate unparalleled in industry, the farmer will have to operate more efficiently or get out.

Farmers have met this ultimatum better than any other segment of our economy, yet they are the targets of hordes of critics who don't appreciate their contributions or understand their problems.

Should farmers falter and surpluses dwindle into shortages, the situation would become grim. Consumers, who up to now have "never had it so good," would be singing a "worried song."

The percentage of farmers in our population is small, but the percentage of Americans who depend on them is large—an even 100 per cent.

My Turn

BY MRS. C
I'm most flattered this week by the cause of a letter to the editor. It means that someone is listening to me. I hope you will all be backing a winner. I just might frame my letter in and around the cotton here in this week's Dispatch.

Thomas made his point quite clearly and I certainly have to agree with him. I've given up voting since time ago cause I seldom vote for a winner. I just might frame my letter in and around the cotton here in this week's Dispatch.

Someone writing a column, a letter to the editor sort of thing under the heading of fan and I just might frame my hope not last) one.

There has been a lot of discussion town as to the "success" of the new civil defense wardens. I vote for one for send-back and hiring our local "Humor Man" to ride up and down the streets ringing his bell. Let's hear the siren until one Miss C's rushed into our downtown and wanted to know what we thought of the following. As soon as we stepped we could faintly hear covering tones. But getting to the "Good Humor Man", I hear his little bell tinkling away with the air conditioning and all the doors

Lumber Company certainly a good bet by not using their ladies shovels (and shorter handled) last Mother's Day. How mighty glad they didn't see Mr. C would have emptied and I like what I bet.

I thought shovel handles ought to lean on. Come to think of it, ours is a little uncomfortable for that purpose—hits me head occasionally. Maybe good I'll just rate one be-

Our annual salute to cotton

The Post area this week celebrates National Cotton Week with plenty for which to be thankful.

In 1961, Garza farmers jammed the gins with their biggest cotton crop in history. That's economic income where it counts. The Postex Cotton Mills continue to step up both production and payroll. That payroll is the economic heart of the community.

Here cotton truly is king.

Texas has some 80,916 cotton farms—counting in all Billie Sol's disputed acres—which accounted for $686,488,000 in cotton for the year ending last June 30. In dollar value, cotton lint and seed accounted for 39.1 per cent of the total farm marketings of Texas for this crop year.

From the National Cotton Council comes a significant export angle. In the season ending June 30, 1961, cotton earned $937 million for this country in foreign exchange. It earned $826 million the year before.

"In the over-all struggle for a balance of international payments, which will check the outflow of gold and threat to the dollar, these export sales of nearly a billion dollars a year are vital," says Dr. M. K. Horne, Jr., chief economist of the National Cotton Council.

This underlines cotton's traditional role in world trade.

Value of the U. S. cotton crop at the farm level in 1960 amounted to almost $2.4 billion.

The Dispatch today comes forth with its biggest and best Cotton Week Edition ever to help celebrate cotton week. It is filled with pictures and stories about cotton and with many advertising tributes to our cotton farmers and mill employees from a large variety of business firms.

Also featured are some cotton specials for cotton week in the ads of several of the merchants.

The Dispatch joins with all in saluting our cotton farmers and our Postex workers for the fine job they are doing.—JC

For reduction of 'litter-bugging'

Many concerned citizens and highway engineers feel that an education program and strict law enforcement of the anti-litter law are necessary to stop the litterbug. They feel the only solution to the problem is toward education of the public through mass media and through programs sponsored by the Texas Highway Department, civic clubs and other organizations.

We can think of a more practical approach to the problem—one which we're surprised hasn't already been put into effect, considering what it is costing the highway department in Texas and in other states to remove litter from the highways.

Why don't automobile manufacturers include as one of the many new features they come up with from year to year a built-in, removable receptacle that could be emptied regularly by the car owner, or, better still, by service station attendants when the motorist stops at the station to have his car serviced. As accommodating as our service station attendants are, we're sure they wouldn't mind rendering this additional service.

We believe the car receptacle method would go a long, long way toward reducing the amount of litter tossed from automobiles into our streets and highways. Most motorists would refrain from throwing cans, bottles, candy wrappers, paper cups, etc., from their automobiles onto the highway if they just had some place in the car to put the refuse until it could be conveniently emptied.

Until such a time as auto manufacturers got around to including such receptacles as a part of their product, motorists could furnish their own receptacles.

Along such lines, we think, the education program aimed at eliminating highway littering should start.

The Texas Highway Department reports that almost two million dollars—funds that could have built 72 miles of farm-to-market roads or 24 miles of two-lane primary highways—had to be spent by the Department to remove litter from the highways and repair vandalism damage last year.

This is much like a man throwing trash in his own yard and then paying someone to pick it up, for Texas motorists are covering the "front yards" of their state with a trail of trash and then "footing the bill" to have it cleaned up.

Highway engineers are constantly seeking new methods or machines that will help to remove the mess from our highways, but so far the only satisfactory method has proved to be the man with the stick.

Why not give the car receptacle idea a try?—CD

A big 'Thank You' to Post firemen

Post's weary volunteer firemen, who answered some twenty alarms in the week between May 5 and May 12, are due a rousing vote of thanks from the community and the county.

Also deserving of thanks are the employers of many of these men, who willingly allow them time off for their firemen duties when the siren sounds.

Many of the other firemen are self-employed and their leaving their places of business is no less a sacrifice than that of an employee leaving his job to help put out a fire and safeguard the community.

The firemen, from the fire chief right on down to the newest member of the fire department, have done an excellent job in these busy days—and nights. Making their task easier than it otherwise would be is the fact that the City now owns three fire trucks, which makes it possible for two of the pumpers to make runs to the out-of-town grass fires that have been plaguing the area during this siege of hot, dry weather.

There is little doubt in anyone's mind that destruction from the fires would have been much greater if the firemen had been able to take only one truck outside the city limits.

These firemen, who receive a very nominal sum for each "run" in their strenuous volunteer work, deserve a pat on the back from every citizen of Garza County.—CD

All glad to see rodeo revival

The Post Stampede Rodeo, still billed as "The Fastest Show in the West" after a three-year lay-off, is returning to the local scene this year, and its return is hailed not only by amateur rodeo performers and fans of the Post area, but also by those throughout the Southwest.

Ever since the end of World War II and for a number of years before that, the Post Stampede Rodeo was generally looked upon throughout this section of the nation as one of the outstanding amateur rodeos.

Although discontinuing the annual four-day show a few years back, the Post Stampede organization has remained active and proof of that is seen in the comprehensive plans already made for this year's rodeo, which begins Wednesday, June 13, and continues through Saturday, June 16.

Stockholders of Post Stampede, Inc., have a sizeable investment in their rodeo plant here, and they certainly can't be blamed for wanting to revive their annual show.

There are added attractions this year, including two horse shows; prize money adds up to $4,500, and a record-breaking number of contestants are expected. Altogether, it adds up to indications that this revival show of Post Stampede, Inc., will be one of the biggest ever.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

We noticed in our last election that a number of voters lost their votes because they did not file them properly. In a number of cases all candidates were scratched . . . this is fine if it were done intentionally, but we believe the voter just didn't take time out to read the ballot carefully. Actually the system now in vogue seems to be the simplest—scratch the ones you don't want to vote for—but evidently a number of voters got confused.—James Hill in The Knox County Herald.

Often a man remains a stranger by being unwilling to relinquish enough conversation time for adequate introductions.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

The fellow who falls down usually gets up quicker than the one that sits down. — Marvin Tomme in The Rails Banner.

When parents try to control their grown-up children it is a sign that the parents have not grown up.—The Lamb County Leader.

Texans have finally grasped the idea that they are only denying themselves self-government in retaining the antiquated poll tax. The recent primary vote confirms that.—Pat Bennett in The Crosbyton Review.

It's real nice to be named ESTES and know the law ain't after you. — Neal Estes in The Stanton Reporter.

An old-timer is one that can remember when we read about the affairs of state in Washington instead of the state of affairs.—Marvin Tomme in The Rails Banner.

A pioneer cowboy watching a typical western television production would experience about the same bewilderment as a child watching the antics of people from outer space.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

SOMETHING I'VE been looking for ever since the first primary election May 5 appeared in Sunday's newspapers — a county-by-county tabulation of the vote for governor. I always find it interesting to check Texas' 254 counties and learn in which counties "this" candidate won and in which counties "that" candidate lost.

The Texas Election Bureau's final returns showed that Connally, the front-runner, carried 131 counties. Yarborough, second, carried 51 counties, principally along the Gulf Coast and in East Texas.

DESPITE HIS fifth place finish, Marshall Formby carried 53 counties, including Garza. All but two of these counties were in his home West Texas region. Formby and Connally tied for the lead in one county, Cottle, with 408 votes apiece.

Gov. Price Daniel, once the state's greatest vote getter, carried only 10 counties in seeking an unprecedented fourth term. Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, fourth place finisher, carried only six counties, and former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker carried four in his sixth and last-place finish.

DID YOU EVER think that if all the cars in the U. S. were painted pink, we would have a pink-car nation?

Someone pulled a "fast one" on us late Friday afternoon in testing the new civil defense alerting system just installed on the courthouse lawn. Information given us to put in last week's paper was that there would be three test signals—the first an alert, the second a take cover, and the third the signal that will be used for fires. So, imagine our surprise a few minutes later when a fourth—and unannounced — signal beamed forth. Now what I want to know is what was it?—an all-clear signal?

CONGRATULATIONS TO Judge Clary for being selected as the Texas Chiropractic Association's "Miss Posture" in this district, and best wishes for her success in the state contest. Congratulations also to our Nr. 2 son's roommate, Kenny Poole and Kenny's girl friend, Linda Wilks, on being named as "Mr. and Miss South Plains College" for 1961-62.

My friend up the street says more cigarette lighters would work if they took their feet off the desk.

ONE OF OUR readers, who evidently likes to play around with words, informs me that she recently came across the word "facetious" in this column. "Do you know," she asked, "that facetious is probably the only word in the English language that contains the vowels in order?" I didn't know that, but by George, it does. See for yourself: FACETIOUS.

Here is another one of those inspirational little messages I sometimes come across in hunting material for this column:

TEN COMMANDMENTS OF BUSINESS

Love your work—it pays. Handle the hardest job first each day.

Do not be afraid of criticism—criticize yourself often. Be glad and rejoice in the other fellow's success—study his methods.

Do not be misled by dislikes. Acid ruins the finest fabric. Be enthusiastic—it's contagious.

Be fair, and do at least one decent act every day in the year. Honor the chief. There must be a head to everything.

Have confidence in yourself, and make yourself fit. Harmonize your work. Let sunshine radiate and penetrate.

HEALTH CARE for the AGED

ONE OF THE WORST FEARS OF AMERICANS IS THE INCREASING COST OF HEALTH CARE: 9 OUT OF 10 WILL BE HOSPITALIZED BEFORE DEATH; 2 OUT OF 3 WILL BE IN HOSPITAL TWO OR MORE TIMES; AVERAGE DAILY HOSPITAL COSTS HAVE RISEN FROM $9 IN 1946 TO $22 IN 1960.

FEW FAMILIES CAN AFFORD THE INCREASING COST OF PROPERLY RAISING AND EDUCATING THEIR CHILDREN AND AT THE SAME TIME CARRY THE FULL BURDEN OF COSTLY HEALTH CARE FOR THEIR PARENTS...

ALTHOUGH ALMOST 75,000,000 WORKERS CONTRIBUTE TO THE SOCIAL SECURITY TRUST FUNDS UNDER SOCIAL SECURITY, HEALTH INSURANCE IS NOT NOW PROVIDED UNDER PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S PROPOSED NEW PROGRAM. A WORKER'S CONTRIBUTION OF ABOUT $1 A MONTH UNDER SOCIAL SECURITY WILL PROVIDE IMMEDIATE HEALTH CARE FOR PARENTS OVER 65 NOW ELIGIBLE FOR SOCIAL SECURITY WHILE BUILDING HEALTH INSURANCE PROTECTION FOR HIS OWN RETIREMENT AT THAT AGE.

THE KINS-ANDERSON BILL WILL GUARANTEE BY LAW AN INDIVIDUAL'S RIGHT TO CHOOSE HIS OWN DOCTOR OR HOSPITAL.

New cotton blanket much warmer than wool, lighter, more washable

Cotton blanket—claimed by its manufacturers to be warm as wool, lighter in weight than competing materials, and fully launderable—now being produced in limited quantities.

The blanket has a waffle weave construction similar to knitted underwear and if this type replaces all others, cotton could gain 150,000 bales in the market, according to McCord, Memphis, director of market research, National Cotton Council. He adds that the blanket, so far, have not been marketed in consumer use.

Boys Ranch gets fire department

AMARILLO—A seven-year drive by the Panhandle Firemen's Association to get fire protection for the nearly 300 boys at Cal Farley's nationally famous Boys Ranch came to a climax Saturday when the new fire station was dedicated during the Association's semi-annual meeting at the Ranch.

Approximately 1,200 firemen of the Panhandle and South Plains joined hands to present the Ranch with a 500-gallon pumper truck and a 300-gallon booster fire truck.

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Hafner of Chillicothe donated the funds for the fire station, which has been completed.

Cotton exports aid trade balance

Cotton exports are a major earning power in maintaining this country's balance of payments, Dr. M. K. Horne, chief economist of the National Cotton Council, says.

"The nation again is very dependent on the foreign exchange earnings of cotton, which provided much of the income necessary for economic development in our early years."

Cotton and cotton product exports earn more than a billion dollars in foreign exchange each year. In the last five seasons, the cotton industry sold a yearly average of six million bales of cotton abroad.

Foreign cotton consumption has been rising faster than foreign production, Dr. Horne notes, due to rapidly rising foreign populations, economic growth, and promotion of cotton in major consuming countries.

The Old Timer
"An old timer is a fellow who remembers when folks rested on Sunday instead of Monday."

Cotton traced back to 3000 BC

There are trees which grow wild in India the "fruit of which is a wool exceeding in beauty and goodness that of sheep," Herodotus (484-425 B. C.) wrote of the cotton plant.

Cotton, however, had been known long before Herodotus was born. Samples of the fiber in Indian tombs date it back to 3,000 B. C., and it is mentioned in a Hindu hymn 15 centuries before Christ.

In ancient China, cotton was grown as an ornamental plant and Marco Polo found the Chinese wearing cotton garments when he visited their country several centuries later.

The Arabs carried cotton in their caravans and the word "cotton" comes from their "qutun" or "kuntun."

Prehistoric Pueblo ruins in Arizona, however, have provided us with the most ancient cotton fabrics in existence.

Ruffle look in cotton fashions

Like coffee and cream, ruffles and little girls go together. At least that's the way designers of children's cotton fashions look at it this summer, reports the National Cotton Council.

Everywhere young sportswear is ruffled. There are ruffles around collars and hems, rippling down fronts and up backs.

This frothy look is found in unfitted chambray beach dresses terminating at the hem in a sea of ruffles. Bright printed swimsuits have ruffled skirts and bloomers topped with frilly matching jackets.

Like her big sister, the sub-sub-deb this season bares her waist in hip-hugging pants, some with bell-bottoms. But on top are color coordinated shirts, cropped short and punctuated with the season's ruffle trademark. These appear most frequently in seersuckers, terrys, and ducks.

Undoubtedly the most popular fabric for the grammar school set is gingham, in bold bright checks and small, pastel checks, often trimmed with embroidery, or used for detailing on solid colored play clothes.

Women's whim dictated shape of handkerchiefs

A woman's whim dictated a shape in handkerchiefs which has prevailed since the 18th Century.

Marie Antoinette complained to Louis XVI about the many shapes of handkerchiefs. The king decreed, therefore, that "the length of the handkerchief shall equal its width."

Cotton accounts for about 93 per cent of the total fibers consumed in handkerchiefs in the United States, with more than 23,000 bales a year being used.

RELAXED—A smooth summer look for patio or poolside is created in wonderfully cool easy-care cotton. The collarless overblouse in an avant garde print is mated with solid white pants by Jack Winter.

Bible Thoughts "Prerequisites to Baptism"

By HERB SMITH

HEAR or Learn. One must first learn about God, Christ, and the Word before he can obey it. In every Bible example of baptism, there is recorded an act of teaching and learning. See Acts 2:37; Acts 8:30-40.

BELIEVE. This is only natural, but yet a commandment of God. Man won't obey a commandment unless he believes it. Mark 16:15-16; Acts 8:12; Heb. 11:6.

REPENT. Turning from and quitting sin. Before man can be saved from sin, he must quit sin—must repent, Luke 13:3, and it is done before baptism. Acts 2:38. If man is saved when he believes, when does he repent? He can't possibly repent until he believes. A non-believer WONT repent.

CONFESSION. Before the preacher would baptize the eunuch, the eunuch had to confess "I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God." Acts 8:36-37. This confession corresponds with Matt. 10:32-33. Confession is "unto (toward) salvation." Rom 10:9-10.

We must properly study the Bible (2 Tim. 2:15) and obey all (James 2:10) which means that we cannot take any one verse, obey it and be saved. We must study and obey all the Bible verses related to a theme.

Juvenile jail breakers are caught after stealing, wrecking 4 cars

Found way out of county jail

Two juveniles who went on a stealing and wrecking spree breaking out of the county jail here about 1 o'clock Sunday morning are back in custody, Sheriff L. E. (Fay) Claborn Jr. said yesterday.

One of the juveniles, a 15-year-old boy, is being held in Temple. The other, a 14-year-old Mexican boy, is in custody at Abilene, where he was arrested after wrecking a car stolen in Post.

Three other cars were stolen and wrecked before the pair left here after the automobile wrecked at Abilene.

Claborn said the two boys used an angle-iron from a bunk to pound a foot-square hole in the plastered wall of the jail on the third floor of the courthouse. The juveniles were locked up in women's cell, which is the only cell in the county has in which to lock its juvenile prisoners.

A Negro juvenile locked up in cell with the other two boys got into the break.

The hole the prisoners pounded in the wall of the jail gave them access to the deputy's room. From there, they made their way to the jail by throwing inside nightgowns on the doors.

Chief Elton Corley, who led the investigation of the car thefts during the break, said the pair believed to have stolen their car from its parking place on West 7th.

After running this car into a tree and abandoning it at South Avenue and 8th, the two stole Dr. John Carter's automobile from his home at 1008 West 10th.

They switched from Dr. Carter's car after ramming it into the rear of Bob Sinner's automobile at West 11th. In the process, they stole Dr. Carter's call bag and they had carried with them from the jail to Sinner's car. Evidently unable to drive Sinner's automobile because of damage it had received in the collision, they abandoned it at 916 West 12th, where they stole a car owned by Mrs. A. D. Simpson of Denton, who was at that address visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopkins.

The Simpson automobile was the one wrecked in Abilene by the 14-year-old fugitive just before his capture on a pick-up put out by the sheriff's department.

Sheriff Claborn, who with Highway Patrolman Henry Harden worked on the car thefts simultaneously with the jail break, said the switch from the Carter to the Sinner automobile took place right across the street from the Spencer Kuykendall home. The sheriff said Mrs. Kuykendall reported seeing the driver of the Carter car running from it toward the Sinner car.

The 14-year-old Abilene boy was being held on a car theft charge at the time of the jail break. The Post boy was being held after having violated a probation imposed a few weeks ago after he had been picked up on a house-breaking charge.

Sheriff Claborn said that since the Post juvenile already had violated his probation, he will be taken directly from Temple to the Gatesville reformatory. The Abilene boy, also a probation violator, will also be taken to Gatesville, officers here said.

Abilene officers told officers here that the Abilene boy had stopped in Roscoe and stolen a set of license plates, which he transferred to Mrs. Simpson's car on his flight from Post.

Sprinklers on again Cool days ease water shortage

You can turn that lawn sprinkler back on now—until further notice.

City Supt. Henry Tate said yesterday that the few days of cool weather have temporarily eased Post's pressing water problem.

Yesterday morning, the reservoir was short of being full by only a foot, Tate said.

Tuesday's water consumption was 751,000 gallons, a drop of 118,000 gallons from the 869,000 gallons used Monday. Both Monday and Tuesday marks are well below the 1,200,000-gallon daily average that prevailed during the hot weather.

The water level in the reservoir gained about one and one-half feet Tuesday.

"You can start watering now and keep it up until further notice, which probably will be shortly after the sun comes out again, unless we get some rain," the city superintendent said.

Tate, on behalf of the City of Post, expressed appreciation of the public's cooperation in helping conserve water following the appeal in last week's Dispatch.

City Councilman Roy Baker dies here Wednesday

City Councilman Roy Baker of 111 West 4th St. died at 5:30 p. m. yesterday in Garza Memorial Hospital, where he had been re-admitted Tuesday.

Mr. Baker, who had lived in Post since about 1922, broke his jaw in a fall at his home Oct. 26 and had been hospitalized or confined to his home most of the time since.

He was taken home from Garza Memorial Hospital about two weeks ago after having been in the hospital for four weeks. He was re-admitted to the hospital Tuesday after developing pneumonia.

Funeral services are to be held at 3:30 p. m. Friday at the Church of Christ. Burial will be in Terrace Cemetery under direction of Mason Funeral Home.

Mr. Baker, who was born in Pennsylvania, moved to Post from Kansas. He was in the grocery business here until retiring in 1947.

He was married to Miss Voda Edmondson here in February of 1926. Mr. Baker was a veteran of the first World War.

He had been a member of the city council since the city adopted the aldermanic form of government a few years ago. Prior to that, he had served several years on the city commission.

Besides his wife, Voda, Mr. Baker is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Young and Mrs. Margie Dietrich, both of Post, and two brothers, Lew Baker of Post and John Wesley Baker of Minneapolis, Minn.

Postings

By JIM CORNISH

The Dispatch today proudly presents its best National Cotton Week Edition containing many special news stories and pictures on cotton secured from the National Cotton Council, a special page 1 six and feature from our own Postex Mills, and dozens of special "cotton week ads" calling attention to the importance of our cotton industry—both in the fields and at the mill.

You'll even notice the little one, two and three-line "fillers" used to fill up the bottom of most of the news columns are all about cotton this week.

Mayor Powell Shytle has issued a proclamation designating this week as Cotton Week and calling "on all of our people to join in this tribute to one of our most essential industries."

The Chamber of Commerce secured and distributed to merchants cotton week attention getters for their store windows.

Why do Post schools have so many coaches? This is an often-asked question around town and one about which there is an amazing amount of misunderstanding. Our local coaches aren't hired just to coach but to carry a full teacher load as well. For their classroom efforts they are paid the regular teaching scale for which they qualify. Regular teachers have five hours of classroom duties daily. The coaches have four teaching hours in the classroom and the fifth in physical education to get the athletic program under way.

They are paid so much extra for all their coaching work. Athletic Director Harold Teal supplies these figures for coaching pay. The first See POSTINGS, page 8

$36,000 said delinquent Trustees ponder back tax suits

Post school trustees at their May meeting Monday night decided to look into the proposition of joining with the city and the county in suits to collect delinquent taxes with a committee named to confer with city and county officials on such action.

In the other action of a four-hour session, which did not adjourn until after midnight, trustees voted down 4 to 2, with one abstaining, a motion to rehire Robert Meisch as the schools' band director.

The board will hold a special meeting next Monday night to interview an applicant for the band post and consider another item or two of business.

Ira (Dad) Greenfield, the school district's tax collector-assessor, reported to the trustees at the opening of the meeting that he has received payment of $2,985.47 in delinquent taxes since trustees sent a letter to all delinquent taxpayers last month.

HE SAID OF 355 letters mailed, 103 were acknowledged and 59 of those recipients paid some or all of their back taxes. Ten letters were returned marked "address unknown."

Greenfield termed this a "good response" and predicted some more would be into his office with payment in the near future.

He told trustees that the district has over $36,000 in delinquent taxes, which can be broken down as $15,406 for property within old city townsite, $5,464 on land outside old townsite, and $15,888.80 for royalties and personal property.

Only $3,075 in back taxes are on lots within the city which trustees call "dead property."

On a motion by Lee Ward to name a committee to look into joint tax collection suits with city and county, E. R. (Buster) Moreland, board president, named Ronnie Boucher, Bobby Pierce, and Russell Wilks to such a committee.

Trustees indicated they did not want to lose anything to the state under the new escheat law which becomes effective July 2.

THE ACTION against rehiring Meisch as band director came after a long discussion and after Moreland had read five letters from district residents, most of them parents of band students, urging See SCHOOL BOARD, page 8

The 8th grade graduating exercise is to be held Thursday night, May 24, in the primary school auditorium.

Bernard S. Ramsey, minister of the First Christian Church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday night.

Phil Crowshaw will be principal speaker at the 8th grade graduation exercises, with the class valedictorian, salutatorian and third ranking student also on the program.

SANDEE CROSS IS STAR'S 'FILL-IN'

When you see leading lady Pat Neal riding horseback in the coming movie, "Hud Bannon," it won't be Pat Neal. It will be Sandee Cross, 20-year-old Justiceburg girl.

Sandee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Cross, has been signed to "fill in" for Miss Neal in the film's horseback riding roles.

Filming of "Hud Bannon", which also stars Paul Newman, is to begin next week in the Claude and Goodnight area between Clarendon and Amarillo.

Sandee, a graduate of Post High School and a former student at Tarleton State College, is scheduled to report May 21 for her work in the film. The Justiceburg girl is an accomplished rider and has performed in the barrel race in the Post Junior Rodeo and in other rodeos.

Reactions varied on alarm tryout

Post's test alert of its new civil defense siren signals last Friday met with mixed reaction here, but Fire Chief Robert Cato said all the reports he received were good, except from the business district itself.

He said all reports he had received from outlying residential areas were good. But he added that the sound of the alerting system "lifted over" the business district.

Merchants reported they couldn't hear it from inside their stores. County Judge J. E. Parker commented he didn't think the test was too successful.

Cato said there never will be an alerting system that everybody can hear, but that the new one will be even more effective in the "dead of night" the most dangerous disaster time, because of the lack of day noises both inside the home and outside.
