

Teen Talk Translators Needed For Events in March of Dimes

What's a gym jam? A Salk hop? A sock shuffle? Do you give up? Want a translation?

All three are names of dances that will be held by teenagers across the country this January in honor of the 25th Anniversary March of Dimes.

The authority for this information is a blonde, hazel-eyed beauty who is national chairman for the Teen Age Program (TAP) for the National Foundation-March of Dimes.

She's Suzie Willett, 18, Wilmington, Del., a freshman at Russell Sage College, Troy, N.Y., where she is studying nursing. She became a March of Dimes volunteer several years ago because she "wanted to help people."

An enthusiastic worker, she traveled the state of Delaware and showed high school students how they could help carry out the March of Dimes programs to fight birth defects, arthritis and polio—a trio of cripples of concern to young people as well as to older age groups.

Is Top Tap

This fall and winter, as the top TAP, she's been corresponding and talking with teens all over the country, advising them how they can make themselves useful in March of Dimes activities in their home towns.

"Just about all the teens I've met in my travels for the March of Dimes really want to do something constructive," Suzie says. "Most of them join TAP groups because this gives them an opportunity to contribute to the life of their community."

"There have been several national surveys which show that Dr. Jonas Salk, who developed the killed-virus polio vaccine solely with March of Dimes support, is a hero to teens. It's easy to see why. Dr. Salk is a dedicated man, absorbed in his humanitarian work. Teens are very idealistic and they gladly give their respect to anyone who earns it."

"I'm going to be a nurse because I want a career that involves doing something necessary and useful. I've worked as a hospital volunteer and I know that I'll be happy helping patients who can't help themselves."

Suzie Willett, 18, Wilmington, Del., is national chairman of the Teen Age Program (TAP) for the 25th Anniversary March of Dimes held, as always, during the month of January.

popular benefits for the 1963 March of Dimes:

• Dances head the list, ranging from informal sock hops to Silver Anniversary Balls, glittering events which call for formal gowns and gardenias.

• Street sales—there seems to be an endless supply of items which TAPs plan to sell. These include tiny plastic Rainbow Crutches, balloons, lollipops, peanuts, donuts and carnations, among dozens of other products.

• Auctions—club members auction off their services to the highest bidder for a day or an afternoon, working as secretaries, baby sitters, shoe shiners and the like.

"I'm thrilled that TAPs are so willing to pitch in and work for the March of Dimes," Suzie says. "This just proves one thing I've felt for some time—most of today's teens are idealistic, and they are searching for ways to express their idealism."

Popular Events Planned

From telephone and letter surveys among TAPs all over the country, Suzie reports that the following TAP activities are shaping up as the most

MAKE YOUR CHOICE

Seat belts can mean the difference. Here's why: When your car stops short in a collision—or sometimes even in a panic stop—your body shoots forward. Your head may strike the windshield or dash. Seat belts can save you by maintaining the critical distance between your head and the nearest obstruction.

Figures prove it. The National Safety Council says that seat belts in every car, used at all times, by driver and passengers, could save at least 5,000 lives a year, reduce serious auto injuries 1/3.

SEAT BELTS SAVE LIVES! GET THEM AND USE THEM!

About Your Health

AUSTIN — It's been a great year for public health.

The waning year will go into history as the one when Texas' population passed 10 million. That mark was reached July 27, and has grown by about 400 each day since.

More than 245,000 live births will have been registered before the year finally ends next Monday, compared with 78,000 deaths. That's a healthy 3 to 1 ratio, and indicates a natural population increase of 167,000.

Local health department coverage was extended into four new counties during 1962. Three of every four Texans now live in the protective environments of such units.

Other health events were equally significant. There was an ominous rise in polio cases in the spring and summer, but it was quickly checked after more than six million Texans of all ages swallowed vaccine-impregnated sugar cubes and thus received the long-lasting protection the vaccine confers.

State Health Department engineers entered contractual agreements with 25 cities for comprehensive city planning. Included are studies of land use, thoroughfares, community facilities, sub-division regulations, zoning—all designed to guide cities in their orderly growth over two or more decades.

To encourage improvements in collection and disposal of city wastes, representatives of 110 cities were taught landfill techniques and equipment usage.

And 1962 was the year which brought to Texas full authority to license and supervise the use of radioisotopes within state boundaries. The authority had previously been held exclusively by the Federal Atomic Energy Commission.

Water supplies in 19 Texas communities earned health department approval after meeting necessary standards to qualify, and 120,000 individual water samples were analyzed in the department's continuing efforts to assure wholesome supplies.

As the year draws to a close, the names of 4,932 city water and waste disposal plant operators appear on the rolls of those who have been trained, tested and certified for competency.

Almost 70,000 indigent youngsters were examined in "well-child" conferences around the state, and 10,000 patients were seen in cancer detection centers. Vaccines and serums were furnished in record quantities for medically indigent patients.

Twenty-five hospital construction projects were authorized where needed.

Stars and Bars was the name given the first Confederate flag, adopted in 1861 by the Confederate concention in Montgomery, Ala.

Only once has the speaker of the house ever become president, when James K. Polk was elected in 1844.

MAN to MAN

A lot of young men have their careers pretty well mapped out by the time they enlist in the Army. That way they can choose the Army job training they want and—if they qualify for it—get the technical knowledge they need for the job they want, either in the Army or in civilian life.

But there are also a lot of young men who aren't sure what career they want when they finish high school. And for them, too, the Army has an enlistment option that's pretty hard to beat.

It's called RAU—Regular Army Unassigned. When a man enlists for RAU, the Army takes all kinds of information about his education, his aptitudes, and his own desires. This wealth of information is carefully studied and processed. Then that man is given the Army training and job which are best for him, within the established Army requirements. In other words, the Army makes every possible effort to get the right man in the right job. That's because putting the right man in the right job is best for the man himself, best for the Army, and best for the country.

Pair of Mother's Helpers

Paula McEe, 5, and brother Bobby, 4, Washington, D. C., can be mother's little helpers with the family wash today thanks in great part to medical care financed by The National Foundation-March of Dimes. Bobby has paralytic polio and Paula was born with an open spine and water on the brain. She is now a patient of the March of Dimes-supported Birth Defects Special Treatment Center at Children's Hospital, Washington. Now marking its 25th anniversary, The National Foundation's nationwide program is dedicated to aiding victims of crippling birth defects, arthritis and polio through the best in scientific research and medical care.

Letters to the Editor...

ON VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

Dear Mr. Didway:
 Thanks for the editorial on our VA and FFA program in Post High School. We appreciate the support that you have given us throughout the year.

I feel obligated to make a few comments on Mr. Bouchier's Rotary speech comments concerning vocational agriculture.

First, let me say that what Mr. Bouchier said was the truth—as far as it went—but I feel that when both sides of a question are not brought out, then we only have a half-truth.

We in agriculture recognize the need for a change. Our program needs to be broadened and I feel that this will come on both a state and national level within a few years. Any changes in our teaching program bring along with it changes in our teacher training institutions—all of which take time.

Teachers of vocational agriculture are not tied down to a state-wide program of teaching the same thing in all schools but are given a rather free hand in coming up with a program to fit the needs of our community.

We no longer expect each student graduating from Ag to go into farming. For those boys planning to go into farming, we hope that we have given him enough material that he may become a more scientific farmer than those before him. But, for those students not planning on becoming farmers, we hope to have given them enough basic agriculture so that they may go out and fill the many vacancies in agriculture related jobs—known as agribusiness jobs. These would include the fields of agriculture engineering, soil conservation, range management, irrigation, tractor and machinery sales, grain and cotton buying, selling, and storage, fertilizer sales, and on and on. When we stop and remember that nearly 40 per cent of all the people in the U. S. make a living from these agribusiness jobs—of which farming is a part—then we can more easily see the need for courses in agriculture.

In addition, vocational agriculture was among the first to recognize the need for adult education.

In recent years in Texas, we have made a great deal of progress in this field. Through our Young Farmer Organization and the variety of short courses offered through the Texas Education Agency, I look for this field to expand greatly.

The FFA organization was originally set up for boys planning on becoming farmers. Here again, we recognize the fact that this is no longer true, but feel that the leadership training, character development, and cooperative activities gained make this program worthwhile for any boy—no matter what walk of life he may go into.

Agriculture has its many problems. We feel that developing leadership abilities of our young men is one way that we can help solve these problems.

Most of us were rather proud of those surpluses during the Cuban conflict. Had war broken out, it is estimated that these surpluses would have been gone at the end of one year.

Agriculture and farming in particular, is one field in which the Russians would love to swap with us. I believe that courses in vocational agriculture have helped make this so. I'm for keeping it that way.

Concerning the "feeding of a hog three times a day", I can't say what feeding a lamb, calf, or hog three times a day won't get... but I do know what feeding one will get....

It will get a boy interested in a school subject and often in school itself.

It will get a boy to accept responsibility early in life.

It will get a boy started to keeping accurate records of expenses, feed conversion, etc.

Perhaps, most important of all, it will teach a boy that he gets out of a project just about what he puts into it.

In closing, let me say that we don't turn out too many Blue Ribbon hogs, but we do turn out our share of Blue Ribbon boys.

Respectfully yours,
 Ike Trimble

Post Petersburg Cage action here to resume Friday

A week's layoff because of Christmas holidays, Post High boys and girls basketball return to action here Friday in non-conference games at Petersburg.

The Petersburg teams have had good marks thus far this season and will furnish stiff competition for Coach Wilbert Bigott's boys and Coach Van Kountz' girls.

Post Junior High teams return to action until Monday, Jan. 7, when they play away here. There will be four 7th grade boys and girls and four of the Post Junior High are "riding high" in conference competition and will be out

DOE 'B' TEAM ENJOYING GOOD SEASON

Does win, Antelopes lose Post cagers divide with Tahoka teams

The Post High School Does won their 15th game in 17 starts here to 40-18 at halftime and to 60-32 at the end of the third quarter.

Nita Wilson, with 31 points, was high scorer for Post. Barbara Craig had her best scoring night of the season thus far with a 26-point out-over the Tahoka girls, boosted it to 40-18 at halftime and to 60-32 at the end of the third quarter.

Nita Wilson, with 31 points, was high scorer for Post. Barbara Craig had her best scoring night of the season thus far with a 26-point out-

The Antelopes lost to the Tahoka Bulldogs, 39-36, after blowing a 10-point halftime lead. The defeat left Coach Wilbert Bigott's Antelopes with a 6-7 mark on the season.

Coach Van Kountz' Does jumped off to an 18-7 first-quarter lead

Phillips 66ers, Raiders to play Friday, Dec. 28

LUBBOCK — Two persons Texas Tech's Raiders have missed a lot will return to the Lubbock Coliseum Friday night, Dec. 28, but Coach Gene Gison isn't particularly inspired by the prospect of seeing 6-10 Harold Hudgens and 5-10 Del Ray Mounts in action again.

This season the Raiders' famed Mutt and Jeff duo are playing for the Phillips 66ers, who will meet Texas Tech in the Coliseum Friday night. Game time is 8 p. m.

Since Texas Tech has dismissed for the holidays, there will be plenty of room for fans to see the game. Reserved seats are $2; general admission, $1.50. Texas Tech students will be admitted by showing their identification cards.

Texas Tech's ticket office will be open every day except Dec. 24, 25, 31, and Jan. 1 to sell tickets to the Phillips game and the remainder of Texas Tech's home schedule. Texas A&M will meet the Red Raiders here Jan. 5.

College students visit dam site

Steve Luce of Vernon, the contractor building the earthen dam on the White River, guided 60 students and four faculty members from the Civil Engineering Department at Texas Tech over the project Saturday.

Of special interest to the students were the three levels of well points for de-watering the core-wall pit. Some of these were placed Saturday while the students looked on. A 48-inch pipe for carrying water to the filter plant had been jacked into shale by the skilled use of explosives earlier.

Also attracting high interest from the students was a ranch house dating from near the turn of the century, which has been converted into a cafeteria.

Prof. C. C. Kebo and E. W. LeFevre and their students of soil mechanics took back samples of many sands, clays and rocks for laboratory study.

Arrangements for the inspection trip were made by Sid Saunders, of Midland, program chairman for the Student Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Cotton Bowl Rodeo to be Dec. 27-31

DALLAS — The Cotton Bowl Rodeo in the State Fair Coliseum here Dec. 27-31, will have 19 world champions of the past and present among its 296 contestants. Between them, they have accounted for 47 world championships in the various events over the past dozen years.

The champions who will compete here include the almost legendary Jim Shoulders of Henryetta, Okla., the rodeo's all-time top title-holder, with 16 championships to his credit. Three 1962 champions will also be on hand—Tom Nesmith of Bethel, Okla., this year's all-around world champion cowboy and the steer wrestling champion as well; Dean Oliver of Boise, Idaho, the calf roping champion, and Ralph Buell of Sheridan, Wyo., the champion bareback bronc rider.

The cowboys will compete in bareback bronc riding, steer wrestling, saddle bronc riding, calf roping and Brahma bull riding against some of the toughest rodeo stock in the country, furnished by Beutler Bros. of Elk City, Okla., and Harry Knight & Company, of Fowler, Colo., two of the great names in the stock contractor business.

The 1962 "Bucking Horse of the Year", Big John, will be among the broncs, as will Snappy John, chosen as the top bareback bronc at the National Finals Rodeo at Los Angeles earlier this year. There's also a mean old bull named "Nitro", who hasn't been ridden by anybody this year.

The Cotton Bowl Rodeo, which is sponsored by the State Fair of Texas, will have seven performances. They will be at 8 p. m. each night Dec. 27 through 31, with matinees at 2 p. m. Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 29 and 30. Tickets will be available at the State Fair Coliseum. Prices are $2 and $3 for reserved seats and $5 for box seats.

men with outdoor wives, we tell you about guns sized for the little woman.

Over the last few years, we have taken to the field in the gun her husband so fully gave her — and later cried for his own use. So, that mama wants to use the papa has to make other arrangements.

There are that when that selected for the wife, friend paid more attention to his than to her needs.

instance, he may have given a beautiful .30-06 rifle. She shot the .30-06 okay. But, like most, it is too much of a gun for a little woman.

There are calibers just as good and not nearly so rough on the shoulders. So this year if you're willing to buy a new gun, get a nice light .243. It's the nearest to an all-around for all game in the United States.

COURSE there is the .243.

A nice light gun. But is just what appealed to the public's fancy.

—something about cartridges that shoot them.

.243 was developed by Winchester; the .244 by Remington. Actually, they are virtually the same. Both are flat shooting, hard hitting bullets. They are ideal for deer and antelope. In the hands of a good shot they are adequate for game found in the United States.

Though the .243 was developed by Winchester, all the major arms companies make guns of this caliber. Winchester, of course, has its .243, which is a bolt action. It makes the model 100, a semi-automatic, and the model 88, a bolt action, of this caliber.

Remington produces it in the 700 series in the bolt action and no doubt shortly will be making it in the 740 and 750 models which are semi-auto and bolt action.

WHITE Each new year is like a new-fallen snow — unmarked until errant footsteps destroy its gleaming splendor. But short-lived is that spell of peace and perfection. Soon the newness is trampled out, the same old trails show themselves again.

NEW Tearing the last page off the calendar can change the year. But, it cannot change the MAN. We'll make of each new year just what we have made of the old ones — unless we direct our lives anew toward God and neighbor, unless we re-evaluate destiny and self.

YEAR In this New Year don't expect a blanket of perfection to hide the old failures. But seek the better Way. The Church helps men discover new trails . . . and follow them with new hope . . . to a new vision of life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
