Land Bank announces reduction of interest rate to borrowers

The Federal Land Bank of Houston has announced that effective Jan. 1, 1963, it will reduce temporarily to 5 per cent the interest rate on all outstanding loans which presently bear a rate in excess of 5 per cent.

The contract rate on new loans will continue to be 5½ per cent, but interest on loans closed on and after Dec. 1, 1962, will be billed temporarily at 5 per cent until further notice by the bank.

In making the announcement, Hal Weatherford, president of the bank, said that of its $260 million of loans outstanding, more than $100 million bear contract rates in excess of 5 per cent and that the savings to Texas farmers and ranchers by this action will be more than a half million dollars in 1963 alone.

Weatherford said this is the 4th time that the bank has voluntarily reduced the interest on its outstanding loans.

The Houston bank makes long-term farm and ranch loans through 73 Federal Land Bank Association located throughout Texas. The one serving this area is the Federal Land Bank Association of Tahoka. The office in Post is open every Wednesday. Ross Smith is the manager and the other officers are Fred McGinty of Tahoka, president; Avery Moore Jr. of Post, vice president; Vernon Willhoit of Tahoka, J. D. McCampbell of Post and L. A. Crime climb in state is slight AUSTIN — Major crime in Texas was way below the 5 per cent nationwide increase for the first nine months of 1962, according to an FBI report. A survey of crime in 12 representative cities showed an increase of only 0.29 per cent over the same period last year.

In what amounts to a cream course in state operation, Connally is conferring with officials of state agencies and members of the legislature.

Most of the mail flowing toward his desk already is addressed to "Governor" Connally.

CHRISTMAS AND TRAGEDY—Christmas is the happiest time of the year for most of us, according to the Texas Safety Association.

However, it always is marked by tragedies that can be prevented, TSA warns.

Carelessness around flammable trimmings such as Christmas wrappings and tree decorations will spoil the holiday for some families, says a TSA note of caution.

Simple safety precautions can make yours a safe and joyous Christmas, the safety association adds.

BATTLE SURE — The issue of drawing new boundaries for Texas' legislative and congressional districts appears headed for star billing when the lawmakers convene in January.

In an Associated Press poll of Texas lawmakers, 71 per cent who replied said they thought redistricting would be in the top 10 issues of the session.

Thirty-seven per cent said it would be one of the top five controversies.

NEW BUILDING—State officials have dedicated another state office building representing the sixth mammoth edifice in the fast-expanding Capitol complex.

Gov. Price Daniel told a gathering of state officials and contractors who worked on the building that the building is dedicated to "continued integrity in good government in our state."

The $3,400,000, five-story John H. Reagan State Office Building will be occupied next spring.

It will house the Game and Fish Commission, Department of Agriculture, Department of Public Welfare, Finance Commission, Building Commission, Board of Pardons, Board of Plumbing Examiners and Board of Registration for Professional Engineers.

GRAZING HAZARD

Prussic acid can reach a high level following the first frost of the year. Certain chemical changes take place in the plants that are wilted and the poison works quickly, killing a short time after the animal has eaten it. Don't allow animals to graze on wet pasture following a freeze and make certain silage is free from prussic acid on frosty mornings. Usually silage is free of the poison, but if in doubt, have it tested by a veterinarian.

Children Thrive on Compassion In March of Dimes Arthritis Fight

"We study the child, not the laboratory report."
When Dr. Jane Borges, director of the March of Dimes-financed Arthritis Special Treatment Center at the Home for Crippled Children in Pittsburgh, Pa., says this, she isn't trying to put the laboratories out of business.

But she is trying—and succeeding—in putting children stricken with rheumatoid arthritis back in the important business of leading nearly normal lives.

Juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, which afflicts 30,000 youngsters in the United States, is a cruel disease which comes and goes like a thief in the night. Seemingly healthy children suddenly contract high fever, swollen and aching joints, rash, anemia, and severe involvement of body organs. Many suffer deformities of the limbs. Total or partial disability often occurs.

Despite continuing research, neither the cause of juvenile rheumatoid arthritis nor the reason for its unpredictable cycle of recurrence is yet known.

Prevent Side-Effects
What Dr. Borges and a growing number of experts in the treatment of rheumatic diseases do believe they know is how to prevent much of the permanent physical, mental and social scarring which has been agonizing by-products of this disease for so long a time.

Rejecting old theories of prolonged bed rest and virtual isolation, these innovators have introduced the rheumatoid arthritis child to programs of intensive therapy and close contact with children of the same age group. They encourage regular school attendance.

At the same time, education of the family in all aspects of the illness is begun early by the physicians with diligent follow-up by the social worker.

Successful Results
In most cases, successful results have been achieved. At the March of Dimes-supported center in Pittsburgh, for example, Dr. Borges last September admitted a 12-year-old girl who could not move her shoulders, elbows, or arms. She contracted rheumatoid arthritis at age six and had been in and out of hospitals since that time. When she was at home, she was rarely taken outside and saw other children only infrequently. She was painfully shy, took little interest in her studies.

Today, nearly a year later, this same girl is still confined to a wheel chair. She must attend many of her classes at the Home's branch of the Pittsburgh school system while in traction. Other complications persist.

However, daily baths in the Hubbard tank, used so successfully by polio victims, and twice-daily physical therapy have restored the use of her arms and hands. Occupational therapy—she is just now finishing a throw rug—has restored movement to her once-frozen shoulders. The challenge of competition with her schoolmates has transformed her into an excellent student.

Child in Pain
In another case, a six-year-old girl, after four years of operations and assorted treatment, was unable to adjust to school and playmates because of intermittent pain and the childhood awareness that she was the only child with a brace.

Placed among children with similar problems, she was exposed to the physical and social therapies of Dr. Borges' program. She went back home six months later "a different child... obedient... getting along happily with brothers, sisters and playmates," according to a grateful mother.

Dr. Borges, a trim, vibrant woman, views her work at the March of Dimes-financed center and its results this way: "The laboratory reports on these children, after we have worked with them for a time, are still the same. The disease is still there.

"But the individual is not the same person we saw in the beginning."

"By also treating the emotional and environmental problems associated with juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, not just the physical ones, we are often able to change attitudes of despair to ones of cheerfulness and hope."

A prominent Canadian physician and specialist in juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, Dr. William M. Gibson, recently described the ideal treatment setting as "an area where personnel acquainted with the problem of arthritis in children are present every time the patient is seen."

Arthritis Special Treatment Centers, supported by local chapters of The National Foundation with March of Dimes funds, are already providing this service in Pittsburgh through Dr. Borges, and through her colleagues in many other American cities.

Additional centers are planned—centers of hope where parents can read the future in their children's faces, not in the laboratory reports.

COTTON REFERENDUM
Dec. 11 is the date for a referendum on whether or not to keep cotton marketing quotas for the 1963 upland cotton crop. If the quotas are approved, penalties will be in effect for overplanting cotton allotments and price supports will be set at 65 to 90 per cent of parity. If quotas are not approved by a two-thirds majority of those voting, allotments will still apply but no overproducing and supports will be only 50 per cent of parity.

March of Dimes Helps Youngster With 'Assist' from Coincidence

Kathy Anderson is too young at 18 months to understand coincidence. This is the story of how it tipped the balance in a life-and-death battle for her—hopefully, in favor of life.

The first child of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson of Grundy, Va., Kathy was born in December, 1960 with spina bifida—a severe birth defect in which the spinal column fails to close completely. Its cause is unknown and there are too few specialists in its treatment.

Mrs. Anderson had been sent home, uncertain of her baby's future, while Kathy remained in the hospital. The doctors were undecided on the next move.

Helpful Neighbor Phones
Ten days passed. Then the Andersons' telephone rang. It was a neighbor who had just read a magazine story about Linda Breeze of Columbus, Ohio, the 1961 March of Dimes Poster Girl.

The article, in the monthly publication of the Loyal Order of Moose, told how Linda, also a spina bifida victim, had undergone an operation at Children's Hospital in Columbus, and was now making steady progress under a program of treatment and rehabilitation at the March of Dimes-financed Clinical Study Center there.

Mrs. Anderson, whose father-in-law is a Moose member, read the article for herself and promptly called her family physician, Dr. Thomas McDonald. They agreed on an immediate call to the Breeze family, 200 miles away.

Mrs. Breeze confirmed the story. She also praised the skills of Dr. Martin P. Sayers "who had performed the operation on Linda and of Dr. William O. Robertson, director of the March of Dimes-supported Center."

With Dr. McDonald making the arrangements, Kathy was soon taken to Columbus for surgery by Dr. Sayers. The operation was successful, but Kathy then began to develop hydrocephalus, or water on the brain, which frequently accompanies the open spine condition. Dr. Sayers inserted a plastic tube which drains the excess fluid from Kathy's head into her body to be absorbed. Kathy went back home to Grundy in February of 1961 after spending a month at Children's Hospital, but she's been a regular visitor since.

Faithfully each month from March through October, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson drove 650 miles, round trip, between Grundy and Columbus, leaving home at midnight to reach Children's Hospital at 8 a. m. and returning the same afternoon.

Kathy Checked Closely
This enabled Dr. Robertson and all the other members of the Clinical Study Center's medical team to keep a close check on Kathy in the important early months and to act promptly on any changes in her condition.

Now that the critical stage is past, the Andersons must make that long auto trip only once every three months. But it doesn't seem so long to them now because it leads to hope for Kathy's future.

Despite her continued improvement, Kathy's problems are far from over. Says Dr. Robertson: "Kathy is a cheerful little girl who seems to be responding well to much of the treatment we are prescribing for her. However, like most children with severe birth defects of the central nervous system, she has complications which we can't fully correct because we don't know enough about them yet."

Centers Fight Crippling
The expert medical team at the March of Dimes-supported center in Columbus and those in more than 50 other centers are working to improve diagnosis, treatment and rehabilitation techniques to help make possible nearly normal lives for the victims of crippling birth defects, arthritis and polio.

Jim and Barbara Anderson can only hope that the work of Dr. Robertson and his associates will bring a promising future to Kathy. But they can personally endorse his diagnosis of their daughter's disposition.

"She's a lively, happy baby who loves to have people around her," says Mrs. Anderson. "We try to keep her from getting spoiled but it's not easy. What can you do with four grandparents who have only one grandchild to fuss over?"

The United States ranks fourth in world population with 160 million people.

Congratulations to the 7th and 8th grade girls and boys for winning their games with Frenship Monday night!

Is it true Mr. Davis is mixing up a little algebra with his science?

Did Clint Johnson really say that Donna Mathis was the prettiest girl in 8-A? Speak up, Clint!

Why are Roger North and Deanna Adams always fighting?

Everyone was really upset over that Language rule test. Could it be because no one studied?

Mr. Davis really wants his home-room, 8-B, to win the attendance contest because the threatens to put two or three names down, although he is really kidding.

Can't you just see the man's game tonight. Well if you want to, be sure to see it. You shouldn't miss it!

Could it be that Judy Ardis has a crush on a certain 6th grader? Who is it Judy?

Well, everyone around school is getting in the Christmas Spirit, for soon Christmas will be rolling around!

We are glad to have Beverly Avant back in school. Hope your leg gets well soon, Beverly!

The 8-A boys were slow but they finally got up the Christmas design in Mrs. Gamblin's room, but it really turned out nice and pretty.

Is that medicine ball giving us girls muscles in our arms?

Have you heard about Mr. Davis?

CHEVROLET... on the road every day!

ITS RELIABILITY COMES FROM ITS QUALITY

A nutshell description of Chevrolet trucks could be "Trucks That Work". It's not exactly earthshaking but it says a mouthful. It's what Chevrolet trucks are best known for—their reliability. Ready to work, day after day, whenever you are.

You can't build trucks that perform like this if you don't put quality into engine, chassis and body. Chevrolet does: double-wall construction, insulated cab, select-wood body floor, chain-supported tailgate, ladder-type frame, the careful attention to upholstery and finish. It's this kind of quality that makes any Chevrolet truck—from pickup to heavyweight tandem—worth more on the average at trade-in!

Courthouse photo book published

BROWNWOOD — "Courthouses of Texas," a 260-page book showing photographs of the courthouses in the 254 counties of the state has just been published here.

Photographs of all the courthouses were made over a five-year period by Clark Coursey, former Brownwood newspaper publisher, who has been editor of the monthly magazine, "County Progress," for the past 20 years. The magazine is the official publication of the County Judges and Commissioner's Association of Texas.

Coursey did not keep a record of the miles traveled to snap pictures of the 254 courthouses, but said it totaled many thousands. Of the book itself, thought to be the first complete collection of courthouse pictures in the history of the state, Coursey said: "It won't be rated as a work of art, but it could be classified as a feat of perseverance."

San Benito rites held Wednesday for Mr. Wardlow

W. R. Wardlow, 87, a former longtime resident of Garza County, died Monday night in a San Benito hospital after having been in ill health for several years.

Mr. Wardlow lived in Garza County from 1915 until the 1930's, when he and Mrs. Wardlow moved to San Benito for the benefit of their health. His first wife, Sarah, died there and Mr. Wardlow re-married. His second wife died about a month ago.

Following his second wife's death, Mr. Wardlow went to live with his son, Leonard, at Flagstaff, Ariz., but the climate did not agree with him and he was returned to San Benito.

After coming to Garza County, the Wardlows first lived on a farm where the Storie Gin is now located. They later sold their place there and bought the farm now owned by Allen Cash, just on top of the caprock.

Besides seven children of their own—six sons and one daughter—the Wardlows reared two nephews, Walter Mathis of Tahoka and Jack Mathis of Southland.

The daughter and two sons preceded Mr. Wardlow in death. Survivors include four sons, Charlie and Leonard of Flagstaff and Marvin and T. J. of San Benito, 13 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Mr. Wardlow was a member of the Methodist Church and a devout Christian.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in San Benito.

Fire Department bill is $9,034

The city council Monday night approved payment to the Post Volunteer Fire Department of $9,034 for the year Dec. 1, 1961, to Dec. 1, 1962.

The bill, presented at the council's regular December meeting, was for fire calls made during the year and attendance payments and also included $100 for the fireman's annual feed or banquet.

The bill included $3,172 for 63 calls inside the city limits and $5,252 for 58 calls outside the city limits. The unusually large amount for calls outside the city was the result of the numerous grass fires earlier this year, which for a period of a few weeks had the firemen going almost day and night.

The regular attendance item on the bill amounted to $510, which is pay for attending meetings of the department.

The police department report made at the meeting by Police Chief Elton Corley disclosed that 75 arrests were made during November and that police court fines totaled $1,308.

The arrests were: Drunk, 51; vagrancy, 3; gambling, 2; fighting, 6; drunk in public, 4; and traffic violations, 10.

Pastor finds 'need' in Post

The Rev. Joel Pistone, pastor of the Mexican Baptist Church here, spoke about his native Argentina before Post Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon in City Hall.

His concluding observation—about Texas and this community—was probably the most newsworthy, however.

"I never thought," he said, "when I was planning to come that I would find such a need in a Christian nation as I have found in our community here. You know what it is like 'in the other part of town.'"

Describing the various provinces and cities of Argentina, Rev. Pistone explained that almost the entire population of that country comes from Spanish and other Eust Corley when he (Moriarty) asked him to do so.

"The Indian population now is almost nothing."

One of the other three heard by the council said Webb was one of the two persons who signed the police chief's bond.

Webb, who was present at the meeting, then told the council that he had refused to file charges against Corley because he had "learned long ago that if I filed charges against a peace officer every time someone wanted me to, I wouldn't have time for anything else."

Webb also told the council he had informed a grand jury that he was not going to file charges against peace officers every time he was asked to and that the grand jury had concurred.

"Unless the charge is a serious one," Webb said, "there is no use of anyone coming to me to file it. They can go file it themselves."

Webb admitted signing Corley's bond after drawing it up for him. "We draw up bonds in my office all the time," Webb said. "I voluntarily signed Corley's bond because I knew he wasn't going anywhere. Any other city or county official could have done the same."

Floydada blows Post Antelopes

Floydada Whirlwinds almost blew Post Antelopes off the board last night in scoring an early victory after the Post Does won by three points, 62-59, to Floydada girls team.

Conference games were played at Floydada.

Whirlwinds, with one of their teams in years, were defeated after taking a 23-point lead, upping it to 24 through the third quarter.

Wilbert Bigott said his team played its worst game of the season thus far in absorbing the lopsided defeat. "Neither our offense nor our defense came close to clicking," the coach said.

David Nichols scored 12 points to top Post's offensive effort. Teddy Scott and Danny Pierce scored 7 each; Wendell Johnson, 2, and Danny Odom, 1. Keith Teague, with 18, led the Whirlwind scoring, with three others hitting in double figures.

Coach Van Kountz' Post Does, up against the best team they've played so far this season, almost caught up in the fourth quarter when they outscored their opponents, 14 to 8.

But the damage had been done in the first half with Floydada taking a substantial lead because of what Coach Kountz described as "numerous mistakes" on the part of his team.

Floydada led 21-15 at the end of the first quarter, 42-30 at the half and 54-45 going into the fourth quarter. At one time in the third period, Floydada was out in front by 15 points.

Nita Wilson of Post was the game's high scorer with 38 points. Janith Short's 11 and Barbara Craig's 10 accounted for the Does' other 21 points. Jan Alexander scored 30 points for the winners.

Post held an 8-5 first quarter lead over Ira, but fell behind in the second quarter to trail, 19-11, at halftime. Ira held a 33-19 lead going into the fourth period. Moreau was high point man for Post with 19. Buddy Howell scored 11; Harper, 8, and Brown, 2. Others playing were Mary Ann Stone, Darla Pierce, Willa Mitchell, Shirley Isaacs, Delores Strofer, Sandy Gary and Yvonne Moreland. Sappington and Pennell each scored 18 points in Post's 45-26 win.

over the Sands "B" team girls. Thompson chipped in with 9.

In the locals' 55-45 loss to Ira, Sappington was high scorer for Post with 23. Thompson had 11; Pennell, 10, and Stone, 1.

Does win 11th game at Tahoka; Antelopes lose

Post High School basketball teams broke even in a pair of non-conference games at Tahoka Friday night, the Does rolling to a 53-18 victory and the Antelopes losing, 61-46.

It was the 11th victory against only one defeat for Coach Van Kountz' girls team, while for Coach Wilbert Bigott's Antelopes it was their third setback against four victories.

The Does led 12-9 at the end of the first quarter, 30-13 at halftime and 44-17 at the end of the third period. Coach Kountz moved two of his guards, Cheryl Martin and Dee Ann Walker to forward positions for the fourth quarter, in which the Tahoka girls scored only one point.

Nita Wilson's 22 points paced the Post attack. Janith Short scored 10; Barbara Craig, 8; Janie Carradine, 6; Martin, 5, and Walker, 2. McNeely, with 5 points, was top scorer for the losers.

Tahoka led all the way in the boys' game, posting leads of 13-4, 35-29 and 42-32 at the quarter-marks.

David Nichols, with 17, topped the Antelope scorers. Pat Cornell scored 10 points; Danny Pierce, 6; Danny Odom and Teddy Scott, 5 each; Wendell Johnson, 2, and Butch Cross, 1.

HAMLIN REPLACES ROSCOE ON POST '63 GRID SLATE

The Hamlin Pied Pipers have replaced the Roscoe Plowboys on the Post Antelopes' 1963 football schedule. Athletic Director Harold Teal announced today.

Hamlin was scheduled after Roscoe cancelled its game with Post because of a district realignment. Aspermont is moving up from Class B to Class A and will be in Roscoe's district, making it necessary for the Plowboys' schedule to be revamped.

Teal said Hamlin was scheduled under a one-year contract and will play here, giving Post six home games in 1963 instead of five, since the Antelopes were to have played at Roscoe.

Hamlin is in District 6AA, which this season was one of the toughest AA loops in the state. Winters, the 6AA champion, is still in the playoffs after beating Denver City, 21-12, Friday in a quarter-finals game. Hamlin's district also includes Stamford, Ballinger, Haskell and Anson. Hamlin lost to Winters by only one touchdown, 14-6.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

One of a million carolers. And on Christmas Eve she will bring comfort, reassurance, joy to many.
Mrs. J. is blind. She has never seen the carolers... but eagerly she listens for their arrival.
Mr. H. is an invalid. His nurse invites the boys and girls in and serves them cocoa. Mr. H. loves their happy smiles as well as their joyous voices.
Little Paul R. broke his leg last Saturday. That's why he's not caroling this year. But they'll be around to sing "Silent Night" under his window. That one is Paul's favorite.
When you hear the carolers on Christmas Eve, pause and consider the Love that inspires their singing. That Love was born in a Bethlehem stable one holy night centuries ago.

To the farmer, soil is a precious mixture of mineral and organic matter, air and water on which life depends. He considers soil the medium through which he earns his living and produces food and fiber for the world, and also believes that its wise use is basic to the economy of the nation, says Lynn Pittard, soil and water conservation specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

SMOKE FLAVORINGS

Smoke flavorings and artificial smoke flavorings can now be used in the processing of certain federally inspected meat products, according to a recent amendment to the Federal Meat Inspection regulations. Products containing the smoke flavorings must be plainly marked and identified to insure that the products are not offered for sale under any false or deceptive labeling.

High School Library keeps pace of growth

(Editor's Note: The following article on the progress of the Post High School Library was contributed by Mrs. Lillie McRee, librarian.)

Citizens who have lived in Post for the past 20 years can realize and appreciate the progress and improvements that have been made during this period. Prior to 1950, we did not have paved streets in the residential districts, and there was a time when we did not have street lights, city sewer system and garbage pick-ups, etc.

There was a time when Post had one small school to take care of educational needs, then two schools were needed (grade and high school), then three, but now four modern school buildings are needed to provide the educational facilities for Post children. Post citizens are proud of the present school facilities with modern and adequate furnishings, heating, lighting, etc.

Prior to 1950, Post High School had an enrollment of 150 to 175 students in grades 8 through 12. At the present time the high school enrollment is 225 students grades 9 through 12. Needless to say, the faculty is double in number and many subjects have been added in recent years.

Presbyterians elect officers

Elected as elders of the First Presbyterian Church at a congregational meeting Sunday following the morning worship service were David Newby, Julian Smith and Jim Cornish.

Howard McCampbell and Gene Grice were elected to three-year terms as deacons, and Jim Boren and Mike Mitchell were named to one-year terms as deacons to fill vacancies left by Smith and Cornish.

Tom Power and Mrs. Irby Metcalf were re-elected as church trustees and Giles McCrary was elected as the third trustee, all for one year terms.

Four representatives from the committee for next year were Mrs. David Newby, Mrs. Harry Tubbs, Shelley Camp, and Mrs. Mike Mitchell.

Prior to 1950, the Post High School Library was confined to one room, much too small for the inadequate book collection at that time. Only one small light hung from the ceiling in a dark room with smudgy windows across the north side hidden by shrubs. There was one heater which gave off a little heat. The librarian and assistants were forced to wear coats, scarves and gloves while giving library service on cold days.

The students and teachers were served through a small window in the wall between the study hall and library. In those days the library collection consisted of old textbooks, a few donated books and a few books bought each year, along with an old basic collection. There was no library budget, nor were any funds appropriated for library books and supplies. Each year the P-TA donated $100 each to grade school and high school libraries.

DURING THIS PERIOD the school as well as the libraries needed help—but not so today. The libraries have improved and grown along with the city and schools. Since 1950 the high school library has had a budget of $500 appropriated each year by the school board, along with the library fund in the principal's office, which is accumulated from fines, penalties, etc.

For the years 1961-62 and 1962-63, the library has a budget of $750 for books and materials, along with the library fund for supplies and student needs. At this time all book and periodical orders have been paid and $100 remains in the budget, which will be used to pay on a set of new encyclopedias next spring as soon as they are off the press.

All library supplies for the coming year and bill for rebinding books and magazines have been paid out of the library fund in the principal's office, leaving a balance of $56.76 and six months in which this fund will likely increase.

The library has not been overdrawn at any time nor has it been without funds since 1950 when a budget was first set up. Since the administrators and school board have done an excellent job in appropriating funds and planning a library program in which all pupils and teachers participate, we all have reasons to be happy with the high school library situation at this time. Yes, we all work toward and look forward to progress and improvement in library along with the same in the city and schools.

THE POST CITY LIBRARY has also progressed and grown along with other things. In 1957 this library began with 500 donated books, and the City paid for the first bill of supplies needed for processing books, $12. Since that time, the fines and penalties have paid for all supplies—a few books have been re-bound.

Since June 1962, the City Library has some 1,300 books belonging to the library and 417 state books under its supervision, making some 1,700 books along with the use of the large high school collection. Fines and penalties totaling $20 have been collected since June 1, 1962. This is being used to buy supplies for the coming year and to pay for four re-bound books. Prior to June 1962, the city had 30 membership cards by families and clubs. Fifteen families have taken out membership cards since June. Many families make use of the library through the students.

The Post City-High School Library will average 75-100 books per day on the two-weeks basis, and from 20 to 25 books on two-weeks basis each school day from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. This does not include materials used each period of the day by classes on the regular library schedule.

The Woman's Culture Club is working on several state and federal projects which give points to their club. Since library gifts or donations is one of the projects, they asked about presenting a book or books to the high school library. This courtesy is greatly appreciated, as all worthwhile gifts are appreciated by libraries. This shows that they are interested and working for the progress and culture of the community.

Executive Board of P-TA meets

The executive board of the Parent-Teacher Association met Monday night at the Reddy Room at 8 o'clock.

Details were completed for the Christmas program and the projects for the year were discussed.

The board elected a nominating committee and two alternates. They are Herb Smith, chairman, Mrs. Sally Luttrell, Mrs. Ed Kelly Sims, Mrs. V. L. Peel, Jack Alexander, and alternates, Don Marth and Mrs. Virgil Bilbo. The nominating committee will present a slate of officers for the 1963-64 year at the February meeting.

Those attending the board meeting were: Phil Crenshaw, president, Harold Lucas, Mrs. George Booher, Mrs. Lucas, Mrs. Jim Rogers, Darrell Stone, Mrs. Rufus Gerner, Mrs. William Robinson, Mrs. Jim Cornish and Mrs. B. D. Litton. Mrs. Litton served coffee and cookies.

I'm sure all the parents of teenagers involved in the Senior play were glad to welcome the young ones home again after an absence of several weeks. A decent balanced diet ought to do wonders for them after all the hamburgers, french fries and catsup consumed while at play practice. We always managed to meet the elder Miss C going out as we were coming in or we just sat down at the table when a horn would sound from the driveway, and with a gulp she was gone.

We took a short jaunt around one side of town before our annual family Christmas tree shopping excursion Monday. We were almost down to leftovers, but this is a family affair for us and we had to wait till the elder Miss C could join us (the play, you know) and I'm sure we'll end up thinking it is the prettiest tree we have ever had.

But back to the jaunt about town. Christmas lights and decorations are springing up all over. The Sunset Drive area is particularly pretty with luminaires lining the walks and drives of several of the houses that way. I'd like to see the whole town of Post lit up with luminaires some Christmas Eve. It would be beautiful and could really put our town on the map. Osage Avenue looks mighty pretty with several lamp posts decked out in greenery and lights, light trims around many of the windows, Glenn Whittenberg's Santa Claus and reindeer, and the Jack Kennedys (the Post Mill's Jack Kennedys—not to be confused with THE Jack Kennedys or the other Post Jack Kennedys) have a lovely big star outlined in colored lights on their house. Down around our corner, the Jess Cornell house looks quite gay and festive.

The Joe Marshalls have decked their lamp post rather cleverly with packages. They are in on the luminaire idea along with the Mike Mitchells and Charley Luttrells.

The Misses C's are having a group in this weekend to make plans for the Nativity scene. I hope I get left on the animal committee—that is the most fun of all. We all hope L. P. Kennedy will have some Shetland ponies in town so we can borrow one again. We'll let you all know what animals we'll have on hand so your kiddies can start anticipating.

The last of our hoarded country butter was consumed tonight by all of us. (Yes, I shared) If we sound extravagant, it's because we have another whole pound of the "higher priced spread" in our refrigerator. This one, believe it or not, arrived airmail from Richmond, Va. Harry Tubbs delivered it to me at the Dispatch office as a gift from an uncle of his that owns a dairy in south-land. After reading the column he airmailed a pound of delightful stuff to me. My most humble thanks to you, Mr. James Rennie.

When I was smugly showing the butter off in the backshop, one of our wise hands suggested that maybe I ought to write a column about money and see what might happen. If you'll remember, I referred to Fort Knox in the original better column. Looks like Cong. Mahon could run it over to the White House and show it to the man in charge. I've never asked our congressman to do anything else for me.

By the way, before we leave the butter completely, I've a chance for two (not one, but two) pounds of country butter. All someone has to do is buy an upright freezer (slightly used) for his wife for Christmas and I've got it made. Just look on the classified page and you'll find this "for sale" ad on what looks like a darn good buy in the freezer line.

See you all next Wednesday at George Willson's Christmas Cantata. I know we can all count on that being worth squeezing in amid all the rush of Christmas time.

Election law changes upcoming

One of the best-remembered changes of the upcoming session of the Texas Legislature will be the elimination of the state's poll tax and the substitution of a voter registration system instead.

The Dispatch long has been looking forward to the day. We have never believed in being taxed for a very fundamental American right—the right to vote.

The Legislature's election law study committee at Austin Saturday recommended a no-exemptions registration system for voters. Under its proposal every voter would have to register every year, including all the oldsters. The registration would be handled by the county tax assessor-collector's office from Oct. 1 through Jan. 31. A voter would not register his party affiliation but his choice of a primary ballot each year would determine whether he was a Democrat or a Republican for that particular political reason. His registration certificate would be stamped at the primary to prevent him from voting in both primaries, or the runoff primary of the opposite party.

This is all good—as far as it goes. But knowing how difficult it is to get the momentum up for state law changes, we'd like to see the lawmakers go even further.

As to the registration, we can see no reason to limit it to a four months period. We think the books should be open the year around.

What's more we'd like to see the state take over the operation of primary elections as well as general elections. The present system burdens the candidates with the primary costs.

In fact, you could easily go as far—under such a state-operated primary—as to do away with the registration certificate business. Registration books could be set up by voting precinct and on primary or election days those books could be taken to the voting places and voters checked off as they vote.

Will property tax be repealed?

If the 1963 Texas Legislature thinks it isn't going to have something big and controversial to wrangle over when it enters the "arena" in January, then it has another think coming.

The Texas Commission on State and Local Tax Policy has strongly recommended, in its report to the governor and Legislature, the abolition of the state's oldest tax—ad valorem. It urges that the lawmakers submit a repeal constitutional amendment to the voters at an election in 1964.

The study commission's statement that the state property tax as now administered is inequitable will meet with agreement from many, whether enough of them to secure submission and adoption of the amendment remains to be seen. Where would the state get the $40,000,000 annually now raised by ad valorem is the big question posed by the recommendation. The tax study group suggests that the revenue be replaced with bond issues and new tax sources. It does not say what new sources.

It hasn't been too long ago that the property tax was the basic source of state revenue. In 1915 it accounted for 75 per cent of the state's tax income; last year only 4 per cent. Its yield was sharply reduced by the homestead exemption, adopted during the Depression, and again in 1957

Christmas spirit pervades area

From what we've seen and from what we've heard from travelers, West Texas towns have "done themselves proud" this year in decorating for the Christmas season.

North and south, east and west, towns and cities in this area of the state are bright with the Christmas glow that only lighting and decorations can bring to the eye. In every instance, these decorations are the result of community pride and cooperation.

In every one of the towns, one will see something either a whole lot or just a little bit different from what he saw in another town's Christmas decorations scheme. Many area towns held Christ-

Holiday fire safety is urged

Fire Chief Robert Cato of the Post Volunteer Fire Department this week joins the National Board of Fire Underwriters in urging fire safety during the Christmas holidays.

"The Christmas season should be a merry time for all," the fire chief said. "Do not allow a fire tragedy to mar the happiness of your Christmas. Ordinary care with fire will help."

The fire chief pointed out that three-fourths of all fires in the United States are caused by carelessness. "Elimination of fires caused by carelessness," he said, "is one of the finest gifts Americans can give themselves."

What our contemporaries are saying

Why is it that when a woman tells her doctor she is all tired out, the first thing he does is look at her tongue?—The Hamilton Herald-News.

Opportunity's knuckles must be sore from unresponsive knocking on doors where everybody is gone for coffee or in homes where the entire

Some states have the requirement that as long as you vote in the last general election you remain eligible to vote until you miss the next one. Then you must re-register. This reduces all the registration chores to those who have moved between elections and does away with the voting certificate business entirely. Change of party affiliations could be registered in advance of any election day.

If the state operated the primaries, as well as the general elections, one set of election officials could conduct both primaries in one set of polling places. This may sound unusual to many Texans, but most other states do it this way at a considerable saving of expense.

We don't pretend to know all the "ins" and "outs" about safeguarding elections so they can't be stolen. Obviously such safeguards do not now exist in Texas because ballot thievery is turned up someplace just about every time the voters go to the polls.

Maybe the registration certificate is necessary. But we can't see how that proves much of anything unless registrations are checked out regularly. An operating two-party system is the best safeguard we know to preventing voting abuses. With registrations on the books, workers for either party can check those registration lists pretty carefully.

We would like to see the public become better informed on proposed election law changes and the voters' own preferences find their way to the legislators' offices in Austin before the legislation decides.

It's better to do it right the first time. The state's new sales tax is a prime example of how not to legislate. The people never understood that one until it was law and then they regretted it. And the people—you and I—after all have only ourselves to blame. Let's don't botch voter registration, too.—JC by a constitutional reduction of the ad valorem rate from a maximum of 77 cents per $100 valuation to 42 cents.

Today there are half a dozen other state taxes that produce more revenue than ad valorem. They are the retail sales tax, crude oil production tax, gasoline tax, motor vehicle registration tax, cigarette tax and beer, liquor and wine tax. Would any of these levies have to be increased to $40,000,000 a year? There would be strong opposition to a substantial rate increase on any of them.

If the property tax repeal proposal were submitted by the Legislature in 1963 and approved by the people in 1964, it still could not go into effect until 1968, because of obligations already made under the property tax. That is one difficulty in considering replacement sources. It is hard to foresee what the state's fiscal situation will be five years in the future, and thereby what the wisest decision as to $40,000,000 of replacement tax sources might be at that time. Experience has shown us that it cannot be anticipated even two years ahead.

This will by no means be the least item of the Legislature's already formidable fiscal problem for 1963.—CD mas parades to kick off their yuletide season.

Post is unique this year among area towns in Christmas season gimmicks in that it installed a downtown loudspeaker system over which Christmas music is being played. Another feature that was somewhat different was the Christmas caroling Friday evening just after the community's Main Street tree was lighted.

All this Christmas planning and work not only benefits the towns that do it, but also helps spread the spirit of the season among hometowners, as well as the weary traveler passing through on a holiday trip.—CD

Fire care during the holidays should extend into all areas, the fire chief said. These include the stores along Main Street, which will be crowded with shoppers during the holiday; the home, where there will be the traditional Christmas tree, gift wrappings, etc., and schools, churches and other public places planning to hold Christmas tree events.

"Ordinary care with fire will help assure a safe Christmas season," the fire chief said. "It's no fun to hear the sound of the fire siren at any time of the year, least of all at Christmas time."—CD

Have you ever noticed how unimportant your job is when you ask for a raise and how important it suddenly becomes when you want a day off?—Harold Hudson in The Ochiltree County Herald.

YOU'D THINK that since it is so close to Christmas, some of the radio stations would present more carols and less of that silly "First Family" business. Not all radio stations are guilty of over-doing the First Family album—some, in fact, won't touch it—and they're to be commended.

GOING THE ROUNDS several years ago was a re-print of an old-time sale bill, such as one never sees anymore. It contains so much that was typical of early-day American life that it bears re-printing ever so often. So, here it is again:

"Having sold my farm and am leaving for Oregon Territory by ox team, will offer on March 1, 1849, all my personal property, to-wit:

"All ox teams except two teams, Buck and Ben and Tom and Terry; 2 milk cows; one gray mare and colt; one pair oxen and yoke; 2 ox carts; 1 iron plow with wooden mole-board; 800 feet of poplar weather boards; 1,200 3-foot rails;

"One 60-gallon soap kettle; 85 sugar troughs, made of white ash timber; 10 gallons of maple syrup; 2 spinning wheels; 30 pounds of mutton tallow; 1 large loom made by Jerry Wilson; 300 poles; 100 split hoops; 100 empty barrels;

"One 32-gallon barrel of Johnson-Miller whisky, 7 years old; 20 gallons of apple brandy; 40-gallon copper still; 4 sides of oak-tanned leather; 1 dozen reel hooks, 3 scythes and cradles; 1 dozen wooden pitchforks; one-half interest in tan yard;

"One 32-calibre rifle bullet molds and powder horn, made by Ben Miller; 50 gallons of soft soap; hams, bacon and lard; 40 gallons of sorghum molasses; 6 head of fox hounds, all soft-mouthed except one.

"At the same time I will sell my 6 Negro slaves—2 men, 36 and 50 years old; 2 boys, 12 and 18 years old; 2 mulatto wenchens, 40 and 30 years old. Will sell together to some party, as I will not separate them.

"Terms of Sale: Cash in hand or note to draw 4 per cent interest, with Bob McConnell as security.

"My home is two miles south of Versailles, Ky., on McCann's Ferry Pike. Sale will begin at 8 o'clock a. m. Plenty of drink and eat. Signed: J. L. Moss."

December, Look Magazine says, is when people come in different sizes, none of which you know.

DECEMBER IS ALSO that time of year when the youngsters can't seem to make up their minds what they want most for Christmas. At Saturday night's Texas Tech-Florida basketball game, a little girl sitting behind us exclaimed, "That's what I want for Christmas!" after watching Tech's trampoline artists perform at halftime. We heard the little girl's parents remind her that she'd already turned in her order for a doll, but she was still wanting a trampoline when they left the Coliseum.

My No. 2 son and one of his pals did me the honor of accompanying me to the basketball game. When the Florida 'Gators took the court for their pre-game warm-up, my son observed that each of them carried a basketball. Suddenly remembering that he is studying sociology this year, I said, "Yes, and do you realize that the price of one of those basketballs would be enough to feed a starving Florida swamp family for at least a week?" However, the way my No. 2 son turned and looked at me, I doubt that my sociological observation went over with the bang I'd anticipated.

"Who will drive this car away for $50?" read a sign in a used car sales room.

Pondering the situation from the outside for a few minutes, a man walked in saying, "I'll take a chance. Where's the money?"

STORAGE METHODS
Time to think about next cotton plant seed. Some reports Fred C. Elliott, specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, have advised in storage seed of quality. Others will do the harvest moves into bins.

Those who have not yet saved seed, Elliott suggests a house cleaning job for bin facilities. Cottonseed, if not stored only in that have been cleaned of waste material such as trash, feed sacks or debris which furnish quarters for insects. It is a practice to "sweep down" the walls and clean the bin to remove hidden insects. Use builder's molding to cracks to eliminate seed contact, he explains. Waste seed and other materials and near bins should be cleaned.

Those who have stored seed, suggests that regular checks of the seed and facilities to insure insect pests haven't in. Insects, he adds, are likely to become a problem percentage of the seed if stored in bins harbored insects at the time of seed placement. A specialist says several methods recommended for use in bins and the storage bins before stored. Others may be used as a dust to treat the seed when they are placed in storage while other insecticides can be used to fumigate cottonseed which may have become infested with stored grain pests.

Seed treated with chemical dust should not be crushed or used for feed, emphasizes Elliott. Use caution, he adds, in fumigating cottonseed which will be used for planting purposes. Under certain conditions fumigants may lower the germination of the seed. Studies indicate that germination of seeds fumigated at high temperatures—80 degree F. or above and at high moisture content—11 per cent or above may be reduced. Because the use of chemicals involve hazards, Elliott suggests that the local county agent be contacted for complete details on what and how to use recommended insecticides.

BALE GROUPING AIDS IN BETTER GINNING

The simple process of grouping unginning bales of cotton according to their moisture and trash content is suggested by B. G. Reeves, extension cotton ginning and mechanization specialist, as an aid to better ginning and improved quality. This is especially true during periods of damp weather, explains Reeves.

Here's an example. A bale of fairly dry cotton goes to the gin which can be processed into a low middling grade with a 31-32 inch staple without too much difficulty. But, what happens when this fair-

Livestock, people population even

AUSTIN — Texas has as many head of livestock as it does people. According to an estimate by the Texas Animal Health Commission, the livestock population is 10,000,000.

The State Health Department estimated that the people population reached 10,000,000 last summer. ly dry cotton is ginned behind a bale with a much higher moisture content? Reeves says a low middling plus grade could result but with a drop in staple length to 15-16 of an inch. There could also be a loss of 19 pounds in weight as a result of the over-drying. Currently, he says, the price of LM 31-32 inch and LM plus 15-16 inch are the same, 29.11 cents per pound. However, the 19 pound loss in weight means a loss of $5.53 in the bale's value. A higher grade but an actual loss in bale value.

The same kind of loss results from the ginning of a damp bale of cotton following a dry one.

It makes good sense, points out Reeves, to gin several bales of damp cotton after the heat and machinery have been properly set to handle it most efficiently. When the ginning of such a grouping has been completed, adjustments can then be made easily and quickly to handle dry cotton.

By following this simple process, Reeves says, everyone concerned is better served—farmer, ginner and spinner.

FOR HUNTING ENTHUSIASTS

Do you like to hunt—but dislike the "gamey" flavor of wildlife?

The quality of game meat depends largely on how the game is handled from the time of kill until served, according to a bulletin written jointly by Extension Service specialists in wildlife conservation and foods and nutrition at Texas A&M College.

The publication, B-987, "Wild Game—Care—Cooking," describes the proper care of small game, big game, and game birds in the field, in camp and at home. Methods of cooking big game are given along with ideas for tenderizing mature and tough game.

Small game cookery and care is outlined in the bulletin. Tips on freezing and storing all types of game are included along with a section devoted to methods of cooking many kinds of game birds of the state.

Copies of this helpful publication may be obtained at your county Extension Service office or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station.

Letters to the Editor...

APPRECIATES HELP

Dear Editor: While science opens the way to land man on the moon, half the people on earth still do not have enough to eat.

SEAT BELT PROJECT

Dear Mr. Cornish: The Woman's Culture Club of Post would like to commend your paper for running the very impressive advertisement "Seat Belts Make the Critical Difference." The encouragement of the purchasing of seat belts by everyone in our community is one of the local projects of the club. It is also a project of our General and State Federations of Women's Clubs. The Program Goal of the General Federation of Women's Clubs is TWO MILLION AND TWO IN '62!

As a club, we have been wondering how to be effective in the promotion of this project; how to cause us as a community to become aware of the need for this item in our cars. (We, who are writing this letter, have not purchased ours as yet.)

Your advertisement in the Dec. 6 issue of the paper is exactly what we as a club wish to endorse. Thank you very much for the public-spirited advertisement which should be taken as a warning for every car owner in our city, state and nation.

May we add that this item could be the best Christmas present we could buy for ourselves and our families.

Best wishes for a Happy Holiday Season and the New Year to you and your staff.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. E. S. Stewart
President, Woman's Culture Club
Mrs. C. R. Thaxton

FARM SAFETY

Farm-accident fatalities are not declining in proportion to the decline in farm population, according to studies made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In calling attention to the report, the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council said, "We can no longer take safety for granted because the ever-increasing use of machinery, electricity, chemicals and other labor saving devices and materials make training in safety a must for farm people. The safety record of agriculture can stand a lot of improving and it is up to those in the industry to do something about it."

COCKROACH CONTROL

The USDA has isolated a natural attractant from the female American cockroach. They see the discovery as a possible means of controlling the pests by using it in combination with insecticides, and chemical sterilizing agents. But due to the small amount obtainable from each roach the natural extract does not appear to be economical for commercial use. However, chemists are working on the development of a low cost synthetic.

Rites conducted here Tuesday for pioneer rancher

Funeral services for Samuel David (Dave) Sims, 72, a Garza County rancher since 1912, who died at 9:30 a. m. Monday in Scott & White Hospital at Temple, were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Sims, who lived at 411 Osage, had been ill for about six weeks and in the hospital for two weeks suffering from a circulatory disorder.

He was a native of Kent County, where he was born March 18, 1890. He was married to Miss Alma Taylor on Sept. 28, 1910, at Clairmont. They moved to Garza County in 1912 and lived at various places, including the Pleasant Valley community, from where they moved to Post 14 years ago. They moved into their new home at 411 Osage on Sept. 1.

Mayor Powell Shytles of Post introduced the speaker. New officers of the association took over their duties at the meeting.

Ginnings near 6,000 bales as harvest here picks up speed

All that's needed is plenty of more sunshine and Garza's seven cotton gins should all be on a round-the-clock basis with choked gin yards by late next week.

An incomplete survey of the gins by The Dispatch late Wednesday afternoon showed the county's ginning total had climbed to an estimated 5,732 bales for the season—or some 1,428 bales during the last seven days.

At least two of the gins already are on a night shift basis. The Basinger gin at Southland went on 24 hour shift Monday and the Hackberry gin "caught up" with the rush Tuesday night by working late and were scheduled to keep on ginning last night.

The Pleasant Valley and Storie Gins couldn't be raised by phone in the survey, so are unreported.

County Agent Syd Conner said Wednesday that the entire area got sharp freezes both Monday and Tuesday nights. The temperature dropped to a low of 25 above here Monday night and on down to 18 Tuesday night.

He reported the low Tuesday night was 16 above at a test plot halfway up the cap west of Post.

temperatures are recorded. It was probably a few degrees colder than that on the plains above the cap.

The county agent said the cotton grade is "holding up pretty good" and that the "turnout is a little better than last year."

"We made a lot of cotton with the late freeze, but about everybody was glad to see it come this week," he commented.

Planter's Gin in Post reported compared to 404 bales last Wednesday. The Graham Co-op Gin had 760 bales yesterday as compared to 507 the week before. The Close City Co-op Gin had 455 bales as against 300 the week before; the Basinger Gin at Southland, 1,655 as against 1,294 and the Hackberry Gin 1,600 bales as against 1,364 the week before.

The Storie Gin count was 426 a week ago and the Pleasant Valley Gin's was 691.

Special board meeting set

Late basketball hours result in complaints

Too much late basketball on school nights boiled up at the December school trustees meeting Monday night and resulted in an agreement to hold a special trustee's session in January to delve into "the basketball problem."

Coaches will be called in for that one and the entire program examined.

Dr. John E. Carter topped off the flurry with the comment, "While we're at it let's overhaul the grade school athletic program and take a good look at the schools' P. E. (physical education) program."

Board members told of parental complaints about getting youngsters back from junior high games at 10:30 p. m. on school nights. Then they have to study after that to keep up with their homework assignments or have their grades suffer, it was pointed out.

The main complaint was the lateness of the hour for getting home from out-of-town games on school nights, some of the trustees said.

Supt. R. T. Smith told trustees that schedule commitments already have been made for the current winter season and if they planned any restrictions they should be worked out in advance of drawing up of schedules for the next year.

He urged trustees to have the coaches in so that the program could be thoroughly explained.

"We've lots of basketball," he said, "but no one team plays over two games a week except during tournaments."

Trustees approved a 10 by 14 foot laundry room addition to the field house for an automatic washer and dryer being presented the athletic department by the Post's 46-56 Club. Trustees set a limit of $500 on the cost of the addition. Trustee Ronnie Bouchier volunteered to draw up the plans.

The board also approved the employment of Mrs. Bill Hogue as secretary for both the primary and elementary schools at a salary of $100 a month.

The basement of Wilke's Supplies store looked like one of Santa Claus' own North Pole workshops Tuesday night as Post Lions and members of the Mu Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi put in a full evening repairing and painting old toys to be given to needy children here on Christmas.

Wilke Wilkerson today is appealing with a mighty loud "please" for more community assistance. "We have lots of toys repaired, painted, and ready to make a lot of youngsters happy Christmas morning, but we need more toys, more old bikes, and even more old parts for bikes and toys we can use in repairing others," he declared. He asked those with toys, bikes, or toy or bike parts who want to give them to call him at the store, or at home after hours. "We'll pick them up," he declared.

Wilke also urged that any resident knowing of needy families to report them together with any pertinent information about them, such as number and ages of children, so they can be visited for Christmas. "We have some," said Wilke, "but we need more. We know many have been overlooked so far." He asked that such families be reported to him, Dr. John Carter, or to the Chamber office.

Usable old clothes also will be welcomed for such families and will be picked up, he declared.

Louie Burkes is named as Chamber director here

Louie Burkes, manager of the Postex Cotton Mills, has been appointed to the board of directors of the Post Chamber of Commerce to fill the vacancy left by the recent death of Odean Cummings.

He will serve for the next two years. Burkes also is president of the Post Rotary Club. His appointment was unanimously approved by directors at their regular semi-monthly meeting last week.

Directors also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Joan Stewart, effective last Friday, as office secretary of the Chamber. Mrs. Stewart, who has served in the post for the last three years, moved with her husband, Eddie, to a ranch near Canadian, Tex., over the weekend where her husband is employed.

Mrs. Virginia Bolin has been employed by Chamber directors as a temporary office secretary until a permanent office secretary can be selected.

J. B. Potts, Chamber president, also announced that Chamber members will receive their ballots in early January for election of new directors for the 1963 club year.

Presbyterians to build church

Members of the First Presbyterian Church at a Christmas dinner in City Hall last night pledged $20,000 for the construction of their new church—the amount necessary to get work under way by next April 1.

The new church, estimated to cost approximately $80,000, will be built on property owned by the church at 10th Street and Avenue S, facing south on 10th. Final architectural plans are expected here by the first of the week, Bryan J. Williams, chairman of the building committee, told the 50 persons attending the dinner.
