Highway Department slates open house

LUBBOCK — How does the Texas Highway Department use tiny glass beads to make your driving safer? Why do highway engineers cut circular holes in brand-new highways?

These are only two of the many fascinating aspects of highway engineering and maintenance that local citizens may explore on Friday, May 25.

On that day the Highway Department will hold "Open House" at the District office, as part of National Highway Week (May 20-26), announced District Engineer Oscar Crain.

Any interested resident of the area may visit the District Office at 601 Slaton Road, Lubbock, during the hours 8 a. m. to 3 p. m. and observe the daily functions of the public agency which is responsible for the care of a complex highway network of 4,000 miles in this District.

District Engineer Oscar Crain said the open house will show the public how the Highway Department operates on a normal working day.

"I would like to extend a most cordial invitation to the citizens of this area to visit our open house," he said. "Your neighbors who work for the Highway Department would like to show you through our facilities and demonstrate a few of the many tests and operations we conduct daily to care for the highways."

Visitors to the Open House will see examples of two-way radio communications; shops where new highway signs are made and old signs repaired; and the various machinery and laboratory testing apparatus used to determine the quality of new highways being constructed and to maintain existing roads in smooth riding condition.

Guest speakers, singers coming

Two guest speakers and an outstanding vocal trio are to be heard at the Church of God of Prophecy within the next few days, the Rev. Robert Patterson, pastor, announces.

Allen Davis of Cleveland, Tenn., general Sunday School secretary, will be guest speaker at the church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, May 27.

Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, also at 7:30, the Rev. Elwood Matthews, general youth secretary, will be guest speaker. Accompanying him will be the Nunery Trio, which will sing both nights and will also be heard over the local radio station.

The public is cordially invited to hear these guest speakers and singers, the pastor said.

'Burma is land of contrasts,' says visiting teacher from Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — After teaching for the past year and a half at the University of Rangoon, a Texas Tech faculty member has learned that Burma is "a land of contrasts."

Ray Billingsley is approaching the end of his two-year leave of absence from Tech, where he is associate professor of agricultural economics. He is currently visiting professor in Burma to organize and teach a similar course at the University of Rangoon, under the auspices of the Ford Foundation and the University of Chicago.

In a recent letter to friends at Tech, Billingsley told of the contrasts in the country.

"The Rangoon airport terminal building is the most modern in Asia, yet its trucks and buses are mostly war relics left after World War II," he said.

"Burma's rice surplus is so large it is the world's leading exporter of rice, yet the main import is food."

"The country is full of gold spired religious pagodas, containing golden Buddhas, yet the people are appallingly poor. The average per capita income is $50 a year." Despite the low income, Billingsley said, the country is rich in resources of iron, coal, oil, precious stones and other mine products.

A second-hand Ford or Chevrolet in Burma will cost $12,000 to $15,000, he said.

Referring to the artificial image of the American people, Billingsley said, "the image that most Burmese have of Americans is centered around the protocol-conscious embassy and military people, the movies and the sensational news concerning race incidents."

The Tech professor said American movies are very popular in Burma, and by and large create a good image, "but one could hardly call this image accurate or complete."

One observation Billingsley made was "how good American movies seem when they don't have to compete with television."

English language newspapers carry more American news than any other nation and racial news in America receives wide coverage.

"However, although the Burmese view of America is not complete, it is much more complete than the view that Americans have of Burma," Billingsley said.

Lauding such exchange programs as the one he is participating in, Billingsley said, "any help to improve technology or the educational system is a step in the right direction . . . and while experts are being brought into the country, it would be better if more Burmese could be trained to take over these jobs."

Billingsley, his wife and two sons will return to Lubbock in September.

Turman favors help for aged

House Speaker James A. "Jimmy" Turman, candidate for lieutenant governor, said this week that the State government must shoulder its share of responsibility in giving adequate care for its aged citizens.

"During the past seven or eight years, the State had made some progress in easing the financial burden of our senior citizens through gradual increases in grants," Turman said.

"The average assistance grant now has reached $54.52, which, of course, is insufficient for many of our elderly people, with their limited income from other sources and little opportunity for any added revenue from employment."

Turman said the people of Texas would have a chance in November to raise old age grants when a vote is taken on raising the constitutional ceiling $5,000,000. He said he favored the amendment and would work for its passage.

Turman said the problems of the aged were not to be taken lightly or solved with the passing of time. "The problem involves a million Texans, three-fourths of whom have passed 65, with the remaining one-fourth within one to five years of reaching 65," Turman pointed out.

Working for Texas

Meet a fellow Texan: Preston Smith. Preston Smith's story is in the best Texas and American tradition—a farm boy who worked his own way to an education and a place of honor in his business and community life.

Born in the heart of Texas, at Georgetown, he moved with his family to Dawson County in 1923 when he was 10 years old. He went to school at Sunset, Lamesa, and Texas Tech. In his adopted home town of Lubbock, with his wife Ima and their two children, he now carries out the full responsibilities of a typical Texas business and civic leader.

A steward at St. John's Methodist Church—member of the Salvation Army Board, the Kiwanis Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Texas Farm Bureau—these are some of the activities close to the heart of Preston Smith, citizen.

He did not stop there. In his daily pursuits Preston Smith came to realize that business and government are closely related in the American system—and that without good government we cannot have a favorable climate for good business. A man of direct action, Preston Smith went into the business of government. He served six years in the Texas House of Representatives and six in the Senate.

Senator Smith has supported sound statewide legislation for better schools, roads, welfare and conservation. He took the lead in establishing a permanent building program for state colleges. He had the integrity to support necessary state spending and the courage to oppose extravagance and waste. In government, as in business and at home, Preston Smith believes in meeting our obligations and paying our bills.

Having proved himself as one of the best-rounded, best-equipped, best-informed and most highly respected Texans in both his private and public careers, Preston Smith was a logical candidate to succeed Ben Ramsey as Lieutenant Governor of Texas.

Voters in 102 counties gave Preston the lead over four opponents in the First Democratic Primary. Now he is in the runoff. He got there without the support of any self-serving group or power bloc. His opponent has the endorsement of labor leaders and other special interests who want to dominate our state government.

Preston Smith asks only for the votes of individual Texans who want a Lieutenant Governor without any strings attached. He is depending on independent-minded Texans everywhere to vote for him on June 2.

Elect your independent candidate for Lieutenant Governor—

PRESTON SMITH

Jail was broken open last night and Taylor taken and hung.

The following was in the verdict of the Coroner's jury—"we the jury find that the deceased, J. C. Taylor, came to his death by being hung by the neck with a rope on the night of April 25, 1862, by about 40 or 50 citizens of Austin County, Texas, whose names we do not know."

Taylor had, up to this time, enjoyed the confidence of the community as an honest man.—THE AUSTIN INTELLIGENCER.

Polio Pioneers Blazing New Trail

In April, 1954, six-year-old Randy Kerr received the first shot launching the giant nationwide field trials of the Salk polio vaccine. Eight years later Randy presents a Salk Institute lapel button to Crystal Brown, 18, a March of Dimes Teen Age Program leader and delegate from Warwick, R. I. at the 32nd National 4-H Conference in Washington, D. C.

Young Randall Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Kerr, Oakton, Va., is growing up to the title he has held for eight years—the nation's No. 1 Polio Pioneer.

In April, 1954, he was the first of millions of young school children who participated in the giant March of Dimes-financed field trials which helped prove the safety and effectiveness of the Salk vaccine.

Now going-on-15, Randy is the official leader of today's teen-age Polio Pioneers who are out to build a laboratory wing of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies in San Diego, Calif. To be constructed with funds raised by teenagers representing many schools and youth organizations across the country, the laboratory wing will be an enduring tribute to the youth of America and the historic success of their partnership with science against polio.

"We were just kids when we first got our Polio Pioneer pins," says the mature Randy Kerr. "But now we're old enough to realize how much the protection they represented has meant to us and to children everywhere."

A top-notch student majoring in chemistry and math, Randy is completing his sophomore year at the Flint Hill School in Oakton. Like most teenagers, he is far more aware of the giant strides of modern science than many adults.

"Dr. Salk's idea of a center where great scientists can work together for better understanding of the processes of life makes sense," Randy says with youthful positiveness. "Things like heredity and all sorts of disease are complicated. They have to be studied from a lot of different viewpoints if we're going to get the scientific knowledge we need."

The Salk Institute for Biological Studies, scheduled to open in 1963, will be directed by Dr. Jonas Salk. He will be joined by many world-eminent scientists in biology, chemistry, virology, immunology and genetics, as well as others from such fields as physics and mathematics, to concentrate on finding answers to basic biological questions affecting life, health and disease.

As the No. 1 Polio Pioneer, Randy Kerr will help his teen-age cohorts make plans for fund-raising events to support the $15 million Salk Institute Building Fund. The fund is sponsored nationally by The National Foundation-March of Dimes, through which the American people totally supported Dr. Salk's polio research.

The starting date for the Salk Institute Building Fund campaign—June 1—coincides with Randy's fifteenth birthday.

"I can't think of a better way to celebrate," he says, "than by joining all the rest of the country's Polio Pioneers to thank Dr. Salk in this concrete way for the protection we've enjoyed. As tomorrow's adults, we can look forward to big dividends from our shares in the Salk Institute."

Letters to the Editor...

CONSIDER THE COST

How much will it cost to pay for the President's plan for hospital care for those over 65? What will this money buy? I have been trying to find the answers to these questions.

When I try to find what it will cost, I learn that nobody knows the answer. But when I ask, "What will it add to the Social Security taxes that people pay now," this is what I find:

It has been implied that it will cost each person paying these taxes only $12 a year. That is what it would take if you earned only $200 a month. Half of that would be deducted from your pay check, the other half paid by your employer for you—that is pay you never see.

If you earn $100 a week, it now costs $300 each year to pay your Social Security taxes. The President's plan would raise this to $351 for the first year.

These taxes would be increased later on.

What would this buy? It proposes to pay certain hospital, nursing home and home care costs for those over 65 who are covered by Social Security. If you receive this aid, you must pay the first $10 a day for your hospital room for nine days or the first $20 for diagnostic services if you don't stay in the hospital. After you have paid cash for the first $90 room rent, the government would pay the hospital or a nursing home, after transfer from the hospital. For the government to pay a hospital or nursing home for your care, the hospital or nursing home would have to be one which a government agency had approved and agreed to pay. Such an agency would have the right to inspect your records.

This plan would not pay for hospital care for those over 65 who are not covered by Social Security.

It would not pay for the care of those who need help when they are younger than 65. It would not let you choose.

What other choices are there? For those who need care and can not pay for it there is the Kerr-Mills program. In Texas this program is handled through Blue Cross. For those who can pay for what they need, or what they want, there are many plans. You may choose the method which suits you. Some voluntary insurance plans pay the hospital, some pay the hospital and doctor, some provide money for you to pay your own bills. With some programs you can pay while you are working, and be covered after you retire. You can find out what each of these will cost you. Then you can choose for yourself what you need, what you would like to have, and how you will spend your money.

It's the Law in TEXAS

HOW BINDING IS THAT CONTRACT?

You cannot get out of a contract just because you made a bad deal or because you changed your mind. Tough luck will not get you off the hook, unless you cover it in the contract.

A builder agreed to build a home for a certain price. Then his costs skyrocketed due to unexpected increases in labor and material costs. Could he get out of his contract? No. Unless the contract says what is to be done if there are unexpected costs, the contract is binding and the law will hold the builder to it. From the builder's standpoint, a good contract would provide that, in case of increased costs, the buyer would pay them.

Suppose you agree to sell 100 steers which you own for a certain price, and hoof and mouth disease kills off most of them. Scarcity may boost the cattle price. Since you can buy steers, even at sky-high prices, you will either have to do so and perform the contract, or pay the buyer damages for your failure to perform.

Things which the law says the parties should have thought about, such as increased costs or strikes, are no excuse for not going ahead with the contract unless the contract says that it is an excuse. An exception to this rule is where performance is prevented by an irresistible, superhuman cause—as where the citrus crop which was sold failed because of a severe freeze.

The law itself—without anything being said about it in the contract—excuses you from carrying out your contract if the law forbids the thing called for in the contract—for example, a building in violation of a zoning law.

Where the very thing contracted for is destroyed, as when the house to be sold burns down, the law excuses performance.

Contrary to popular opinion, death will not excuse performance, unless the contract calls for the personal services of the decedent, such as those of an author, actor, or lawyer.

And so the law will enforce most agreements against the estate of the decedent. This is true even if the contract calls for the payment of money over a long period of time, as in the case of a lease. The result may well be to impoverish the decedent's family. A good lease provision, from the lessee's standpoint, would be one giving his estate the right to cancel in the event of his death.

Where fraud exists, the innocent party who entered into the contract can, on learning of the fraud, cancel the contract and be excused from performing his part of the agreement.

Good Luck

You are a fine bunch of kids. Regards to all.

Editor's tribute goes to principal

By Carol Camp

Matthew Henry Buckham said, "A gentleman is one who thinks more of other people's feelings than of his own rights, and more of other people's rights than his own feelings."

To us, the students of Post Junior High, these words must have been said about our principal, Mr. Glenn Whittenberg.

Each day we see evidence of Mr. Whittenberg's being a true gentleman. He is always cheerful and unselfish in everything he does. No student who goes to him for help is ever turned down. He is a sympathetic listener and an unselfish person.

He consistently proves that youths are his primary interest and that his utmost purpose in life is helping young people.

The teachers in Junior High find Mr. Whittenberg an easy person to work with because he always lets them know what their duties are and keeps them informed of all changes.

If one of his teachers needs help in any way, he knows Mr. Whittenberg can be depended upon for advice. This makes for harmony and better teaching.

Mr. Whittenberg is active in his church and in the community, and we of Post Junior High School say, "Hats Off!"

More than a million dollars! That was the cost last year of removing litter from highway rights of way. Vandalism of signs and other highway property cost another $450,000. The Texas Highway Department urges Texans this year to help keep the state's "front yards" clean by disposing of travel trash in the proper receptacle.

7th grade writer recalls

Many happy memories in Junior High year

By Marcia Newby

Basketball was really the first and longest activity the 7th graders were engaged in. First there were the workouts and training rules that everybody had to break.

Then came the real stuff—the games. We'd leave after school, play and win our games and come home singing "Sippin' Cider Through a Straw," or "We Won, We Won, We Won by golly we won!" (which we always did of course.)

Then with basketball season over and training rules out, we all kind of went berserk.

Ah, the basketball hayride—what gaiety. There always has to be a flat tire to ruin the fun. Ruin the fun?

Our first big dance. Everybody came ready and waiting to dance in their fresh dresses and suits. But after twisting awhile, we kind of changed our minds. The second dance was just like the first dance except a larger 7th grade crowd. But then there was the third dance with the "Red Raider Band." The first number was rather shocking because of its loudness, but everybody had a dreamy time and a mind full of memories to keep. (Especially the empty pockets because of the 75 cents that was charged.)

With the last dance, in came baseball games. Everybody goes just to be with the crowd. And of course to watch the game. You usually get there at 6 and go home at 10 where you really get it from your parents.

That's right school hasn't been all homework but it hasn't been all peaches and cream either. There has been my funniest year and I'm sure, every other 7th grader.

Mark Twain's Story OF THE READING SPIDER

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri newspaper. One day he got a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his newspaper and asked if this was an omen of good luck or bad luck.

Twain wrote: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

You will find no spider webs across the doors of the merchants who advertise in your local newspaper.

City accepts bid for police auto

Acceptance of bids for a new police automobile and cooperation with the school district in the collection of back taxes were on the agenda at a special meeting of the Post city council Monday night.
 The council also set the date of the tax equalization board meeting and discussed the water situation.
 The bid of Caprock Chevrolet Co., one of two submitted, was accepted for the purchase of a second automobile for the police department.
 Mayor Powell Shytles appointed Dr. James R. Matthews and Harold Lucas to meet with the school board or the board's tax committee in regard to cooperation between the school district and city in collecting back taxes owed both bodies.

The city's tax equalization board will convene Wednesday, June 6, with one session scheduled before noon and another after noon. Mayor Shytles said yesterday he had not yet completed appointment of the tax equalization board.

City Supt. Henry Tate's report on the water situation was that it has improved, but may get worse with continued hot, dry weather. Two new wells drilled by the city on the Winder lease will pump between 50 and 60 gallons a minute each, and a third well is being drilled.

Also brightening the water outlook was the announcement that S. C. Storie, who furnishes the city water from a section of his land, has brought in some good wells there.

The two new water wells completed by the city are within 150 feet of the existing lines in the water field, the mayor said.

Thoroughfare plan told City, Rotary

New city planning recommendations for increasing downtown parking, routing of through traffic off Main street, and the closing of the avenue between the Post junior high and the elementary school were among those presented to the city and the Post Rotary Club Tuesday by the Fort Worth engineering firm of Fowler & Grate, Inc.

Dan Carr of the engineering firm for the Rotary program presented the third segment of the city planning study now being made by his firm—on Post thoroughfares.

Closing of the avenue between the schools was recommended to reduce hazards to students. Planning engineers recommended FM 1313 be brought into Post via a new route onto US-84 just north of the city-county lake.

Fire Chief Robert Cato reports that each signal once turned on will run automatically for three full minutes. As to who pushes the button on the storm alerts and take cover, storms should be reported to law enforcement radio. Each report will be checked by the sheriff's department and verified before a signal is given. Thus there will be no intentional hoaxes.

 alert system. We do not have phone service in all parts of the county and in case of some disasters that which we do have could be disrupted.

"To complete our alert system it is necessary that each section of our county have a two-way radio located where it can be contacted. We complied with the suggestion by our state Civil Defense Committee that we place one in each county commissioner's car or pickup. The cost to the county was reduced to a small amount because of the federal government participation. This is Garza County property as long as the rules and regulations are not violated. They are for business use and cannot be used for private convenience.

"We have been several years late installing this system as a completion of our county-city Civil Defense alert system, along with which we have just completed installing a siren. The city and county each pays 30 per cent of the cost and the federal government 40 per cent.

"The base radio station is also a city-county Civil Defense project. We did have it located in the courthouse, but it was necessary to move it due to the crowded condition of our courthouse. The city had the building recently occupied by the telephone company. We could lease this building for $1 per year. We felt this was the most economical course to take as it is immaterial as to the radio station's location, as it is strictly a matter of cooperation and can be used by all arms of the law enforcement departments.

"To have a radio station for each department would be a duplication of expenses to the taxpayer and would cost the city and county an extra $10,000. Under the present set-up, the Department of Public Safety has direct communications

 Area riding groups are being invited, as usual, but floats and decorated automobiles in the parade will be up to local business firms and organizations.

Summer library hours are announced here

The city library in the high school building will have its first week of summer hours next week in the afternoon because of vacation church schools in the mornings.

Librarian Lillie McRee said the summer hours for the library then will revert to the mornings for the remainder of the summer.

Next week the library will be open from 1 to 5 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. After next week summer library hours will be from 8 a. m. to noon on the same three days.

With our county sheriff, having installed a system in the sheriff's office recently.

"With radios in all law enforcement officers' cars and the system we now have, Garza County is as well equipped for communication for law enforcement and disaster alert as any county anywhere."

Minor loop needed for 130 'left out' boys as Little Leaguers prep for openers

Little League baseball season will open Tuesday night. May 24, in the meantime league officials are wondering what is to be done with an overflow of approximately 130 boys who are signed for the LL program.

At a meeting of league officers and team coaches Tuesday night, plans for organizing a minor league were discussed, but a corps of volunteer workers will be needed to operate the minor loop.

Parents and other adults willing to help with a minor league to take care of the hugh Little League overflow are asked to contact L. L. (Bud) Avant, league president, after 4:30 p. m. His telephone number is 3337.

These 130 boys were left over after roster assignments were completed for the six Little League teams.

Avant points out that since the Little League program is for all eligible boys who sign up, something should be done to see that these 130 youngsters not assigned to teams get to play.

At the Floydada Rodeo, Josey finished second in one go-round of calf roping.

Sims also was first in one calf roping go-round at Floydada and was second in best average on two head. Kirkpatrick was third in one go-round and third place average winner.

Wanted: Your Support

In the runoff primary Saturday, June 2, you voters of Precinct 2 will select your county commissioner to serve you and the county for the next four years.

If you want my views on any county problems I will be most happy to discuss them with you. I'm a strong believer in economy, in getting the most out of our tax dollar.

I have told you before that I believe two terms is enough for any man in any office and I pledge I will never seek more than two terms of serving you.

I earnestly ask for your vote and support. There are only a few days left of this campaign and your support during this time is most important.

Vast European market looming

New trade patterns in Europe could mean a vast market for United States cotton, according to the president of Cotton Council International.

R. Keith Walden, Tucson, Ariz., notes that the six countries that make up the European Common Market—Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, France, Germany, and Italy—have a combined population of 170 million. The United Kingdom, Greece, Turkey, and all the rest of Free Europe are expected to join eventually. This would mean a market of more than 335 million people.

Western European countries use about 7.5 million bales of cotton a year, compared with about 9 million for the United States, but the average American consumes about twice as much cotton as the average European.

The European goal is to match American cotton consumption standards. Achievement of 75 per cent of this goal would mean a potential market for 14 million bales by 1975.

Cotton Council International, counterpart of the National Cotton Council in the United States, has cooperative programs with cotton industry groups in 16 countries. Thirteen of these programs are in Europe, financed 50-50 by overseas industry groups and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, using Public Law 480 funds.

DAD'S GRADUATION

It wasn't Dad who burned the midnight oil . . . or crammed for exams . . . or struggled with term papers . . . or won a letter in baseball . . . or a prize in home economics.

Dad just wrote the checks . . . and the encouraging letters . . . and boasted to the office force about his "kids" in school.

But this is really Dad's graduation. For he planned this day many years ago. And all these years he has struggled to give his boy and girl the kind of an education he never had.

Something else he has given them—something he did have; a sound Christian faith, manifested in loyal devotion to his Church's worship and work.

Better than a diploma is Dad's reward today; the reverent, joyous certainty that, not only in their education, but equally in their spiritual development, he has recognized the needs of his children . . . and has seen them through.

Are you planning your children's future—every Sunday?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Everley Young plans to attend McMurry

July 27, 1944, Dr. and Mrs. E. Young became the proud parents of a blonde haired, blue eyed baby girl. They named me Everley Ruth. I was their second child, having a six-year-old brother, Gene. Four weeks after my birth I made my first trip—we went to Waco, N. M. for our vacation. When we went, we always stayed in the same cabins, so Dad named them after Gene and me. As far as I know, to this day our cabins are still above the doors of the small log cabins in Ruidoso.

When I was about five years old I went with my grandmother to Santa Monica, Calif., to visit my aunt and uncle and two cousins. We rode out on the train and stayed there two weeks. I never once got homesick until the minute I saw mother and daddy at the train station in Lubbock waiting for us. I said to my grandmother, "I'll never take another vacation without my mother and daddy."

In the summer of '52 my whole family took a trip to Minneapolis, Minn., to visit mother's brother and his family. I have never seen as many lakes as I did that summer in Minnesota. On the way home we passed field after field of wheat. It looked just like the plains of Texas, but daddy informed me that it was Kansas.

I have had the privilege of attending nearly all of the school buildings in Post. I started out in the old grade school, attended school in the new junior high building as a sixth grade student, went two years to the old high school, and shall graduate from the new high school.

Throughout high school I have participated in a great many school activities: Band, FHA, Student Council, English Club, National Honor Society. I was in the junior play, the senior play, and the speech play, which won second place in the district contest. I was drum major for the band for two years, playing first alto sax for four years and playing in the stage band for six years. I was chosen May Queen last year. This year I received the John Philip Sousa Award, read the will at the Jr.-Sr. Banquet, and held office in FHA.

My sophomore year was also the senior year for my brother at McMurry in Abilene. He invited me to several dances down there and I got acquainted and almost familiar with college life. In fact, I liked it so much that I plan to go there next year and major in elementary education.

My senior year has been one of mixed emotions. At first I was thrilled at the thought of being a senior and having just one more year in high school. But as the year rushed along, and I do mean rushed, I began to realize that this would also be the last time I would have such close association with many of my friends. This thought really began to dawn on me the day our class took a trip to Lubbock and were together as a class the whole day. Graduation will be the end for some things but it will also be the beginning of a new life, and I am really looking forward to the future.

the rest of my brothers and sisters were already out of school and had jobs. Mother's little girl was the only one still in school.

My memories of junior high days aren't very good ones, but most of them came with my "Fish" year. Finally in High School, I just couldn't believe it, neither could my mother. I don't know whether she hated to see me grow up or whether she hated it because it meant she was getting older. You know how mothers are about their birthdays.

There were so many outside activities and lots and lots of homework. You really had to stay busy to be able to make it to the bonfires and ballgames, the Jr.-Sr. plays, banquets and class parties, and all the other school functions. My Junior year seems to have been my most happy one, I don't know why. Maybe that's when I really started to grow up emotionally, of course, that's only a phase and I've already passed through that stage and into my second childhood. Nevertheless, I enjoy myself and have a lot of fun being the stupid, crazy idiot I am. (I use these adjectives because I've been called them plenty of times). I've had a lot of wonderful and unforgettable experiences from my school days that I wouldn't trade for anything (well, almost anything).

After I graduate, I'm only hoping of course, I plan to just goof off most of the summer and attend Jessie Lee's Beauty College in the fall. I just hope I don't change my mind a million times about my future career and waste a lot of valuable time.

who have helped me so, especially Mr. Baxter.

Leatrice Justice is to marry June 8

I was born on Sept. 13, 1943, to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Justice in Lubbock, Texas. I started my first year of school at Lubbock. My family then moved to Abilene, Texas. From the second grade to the ninth I went to Abilene schools. I have two other sisters younger than I. Linda is 12 and Lanita is 8.

In the eighth grade I won first in my class for selling the most magazines. In the ninth grade I won an art contest given for the benefit of T. B. patients. I received a check and dinner from the World's Athletic Champion, Bobby Morrow.

My family and I then moved to Post where I began my sophomore year. My sophomore year I won second place in an art and essay contest. I also entered interscholastic soloist and placed second.

In my junior year I stayed pretty busy with junior problems, Junior-Senior Prom, and junior play. My senior year I placed fourth in interscholastic league spelling in Slaton and first in Post. I was on the honor roll every time except once.

I was alternate shorthand student for interscholastic league shorthand. I placed sixth in interscholastic league essay writer.

I am a member of the Pleasant Valley Baptist Church and my hobbies are: Piano, writing songs, art and sewing.

My favorites are: Color, orchid; food, steak; car, Chevrolet; actor, Troy Donahue and actress, Debbie Reynolds.

I will graduate as one of the top ten of the senior class on May 25.

I plan to be married June 8 to Allen S. Johnson. My goals in life are: To be as good a cook as my mother; to possess the knowledge of math like my dad and to be a good commercial worker and wife. With all this ahead of me, I say goodbye to PHS. I wish to take this opportunity to say thank you to all the teachers for their patience and guidance through my school years.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

Money should be spent to prevent blindness rather than support it

Helen Keller, the world's most famous blind citizen, has said, "If one tenth of the money we now spend to support unnecessary blindness were spent to prevent it, society would be the gainer in terms of cold economy, not to mention considerations of the happiness of humanity."

Any such attempt at prevention must begin with accidental eye injuries incurred in the home, in the factory, and on the farm. Statistics indicate that the United States annually has over 300,000 accidents which involve damage to the eyes. This amounts to an accident every 30 seconds or 1000 accidents per 8-hour work day throughout the year.

It has also been estimated that the average period of disability for an eye injury is 15 weeks, in comparison with an average of five weeks for all accidents affecting other parts of the body, and that more eyes are lost from these accidents than are legs, hands and feet combined.

A national health survey has shown that occupational injuries are responsible for 20 per cent of all cases of blindness in one eye and eight per cent of all cases of blindness in both eyes.

The toll to national efficiency caused by industrial eye injuries is readily apparent in the annual loss of a staggering 53,760,000 man hours — the equivalent of 26,880 fulltime employees.

Accidents in the home, most of which could be prevented, account for another large percentage of eye injuries. National figures indicate that 18 per cent of all cases of blindness in one eye and five per cent of all cases of blindness in both eyes due to all causes were the result of accidents in the home. Finally, accidents as the result of play and games at school add to the grim total. More than a thousand children lose the sight of one or both eyes each year.

It is estimated that 95 per cent of these accidents are preventable, given adequate eye-testing, adequate illumination and if proper precaution were taken.

Lynda Taylor recalls happy Garnolia days

I was born May 5, 1944, in Post. We lived on a small farm about five miles East of Garnolia, where I spent my first school days. Seems I spent more time fighting with the boys at recess than I spent studying (which consisted of drawing little doggies and houses). My happiest days were spent in that small school. We got to eat candy, ice cream, and chew bubble gum. Boy was I shocked when I moved to Post in the 6th year of my education to find that such privileges were to be taken away from me.

My family is quite large, and we had our own baseball, football, and basketball teams. We sure had a lot of fun and suffered a great many minor injuries which were usually scratches from a brother or sister's fantastic play to make the winning score.

When we moved to Post, most of our fun was already over. I started to Post Junior High and

Leslie Acker enjoys senior year most

Dallas, Texas, was the place of my birth on Dec. 3, 1943. The first six years of my life were spent there. After about two months of the first grade in Dallas, I moved to Post with the rest of my family, of course. The first school I entered in Post was a shabby old building which had a long fire escape slide on the back side. I spent all my time sliding down this escape slide.

My class was moved to the new grade school in the first year. I don't recall much about the grade school years, only the black eye I received from standing in front of a baseball.

I enjoyed my junior high school years very much. The 8th grade was very enjoyable.

Upon entering high school, I was very afraid of my upperclassmen. I recovered. My sophomore year I played on the district champion basketball team. Although I was not a very valuable part of the team, I was thrilled to be on it.

Of all my high school years, I would have to say I have enjoyed my senior year the most. This year I was elected class president, football captain, vice president of the science and math club, to Who's Who, basketball sweetheart, and most athletic of the senior class. I was lucky enough to make all-district football, be chosen to the all-district acting team and be district medalist in golf this year.

I will always remember my senior year and all my classmates. I will also remember my teachers

Sly propaganda piece slips through

It was almost as bad last Thursday as if we had included a couple of boll weevils in our Cotton Week edition.

Right smack on our editorial page was a cartoon-packaged propaganda piece supporting Medicare, or the King-Anderson plan to provide medical care for the aged through a multi-billion dollar social security tax.

Exactly how that two-column cartoon piece arrived on the editorial page, which we reserve for this newspaper's own opinions, we don't know. But we can guess.

Lots of public relations firms—propaganda mills really—turn out neat pictures, cartoons, and features on popular subjects and mail them free to the nation's newspapers. Why for free? Because woven into the material some place is a free plug for the product of that public relations firm's client.

Around The Dispatch lately we've had to adjust for press breakdowns, special editions, employe operations, etc. That has meant that Editor Charles Didway hasn't had his allotted desk time to take care of all the editing. Part of the time he has been riding the big Intertype machine in the back shop "getting out the newspaper".

The mail got opened hurriedly by someone else (us probably) carelessly examined, etc. And thus—something The Dispatch editorially opposes found its way to a top spot on our own editorial page—a cartoon supporting President Kennedy's widely ballyhooed start to socialized medicine.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat sums up our harsh feelings about Medicare with the following comment: "More than 17,000,000 Americans over 65 are being cruelly deceived by the Administration's 'health care' bill. Congress, they are told, has a fool-proof, painless plan to take care of their medical expenses. . . . But the Administration's bill . . . is a start toward the system of cradle-to-grave medical care that Great Britain embarked on with disastrous effect. . . . If Congress and the American people buy the Administration's 'health care' bill, they will soon bitterly regret it. It's a pig in a poke—and a scrawny, sickly porker to boot."

One of the basic faults of our American democratic system is that the average voter doesn't pay enough attention to what's going on to get the kind of government he could have. Instead, he gets just about what he deserves for his lack of interest.

President Kennedy has made one of his major goals for this session of congress the enactment of the King-Anderson bill and unless the average American wakes up and considers what's going on, the whole country is not only going to take another step toward socialism, but a quick blast-off into orbit.

If anybody had their TVs on Sunday—some people still do we hear — they probably heard

Graduation is big stepping stone

This is not just the "last week of school."

For some 40-odd Post seniors who will step forward in caps and gowns to receive their high school diplomas tomorrow night at Antelope Stadium, it is much more important.

It's graduation week.

For some, this truly is "the last week of school." There won't be any more Saturday, like it or not, they will start a new life and less sheltered—as young adults seeking new careers and individual niches in the American way of life.

For others, the diploma will be sort of a passport for a much more important educational journey—on next year to college. There even greater preparations will be made for their careers.

The Dispatch notes with pride this graduation week that each year a higher and higher percentage of Post high graduates go on to college. For some, it is not easy. They work their way. But they go.

College opens their eyes to new horizons, gives them more individual depth, and raises their sights on what they want to be and achieve in life.

In this modern age, youth needs not only the desire, but the tools to succeed. College is almost essential these days for equipment purposes if those sights are very high.

Our young people are to be encouraged to go on to college campuses and more education. The P-TA extravaganza last Thursday night was an even bigger box office hit than it was a stage

What our contemporaries are saying

Roy Rathel says that when a baby is born at McAdoo, they hand it a basketball. If it does not drop the ball, the parents keep the child.—Pat Bennett in The Crosbyton Review.

Parents of handsome and intelligent children always believe in heredity.—James Roberts in the Andrews County News.

An optimist is a woman who starts slipping into her shoes when the preacher says, "And now by way of conclusion . . ."—Harold Hudson in Ochiltree County Herald.

Editor Penn Jones Jr. of the Midlothian Mirror has been physically attacked by a high school principal and a right-wing politician. His plant has been fire-bombed, apparently because he spoke out against the John Birch Society.

President Kennedy expound at great length in support of this legislation.

But he didn't tell you a few of the things we'd like to point out before we wind this piece up.

The King-Anderson medical care bill for the aged proposes for the unbelievable cost of only $1 per month added to your social security taxes all the financial problems of medical care for you when you reach 65 will be solved by "Uncle."

You don't have to pay into the pot for 30 years to start drawing either. If enacted, next year some 17,000,000 eligible Americans would start spending up to an estimated four billion dollars annually under the federal program.

Obviously, this can't be financed for a dollar a month via social security. The way social security taxes have been jumping the last few years, it's very probable that the medical care tax soon would jump to two, three, four, or five dollars a month.

Admitting that America needs a solution to the problem of high cost of medical care, especially for the old folks, what's so wrong with this Kennedy plan?

To us, of course, the staggering cost, funneled through federal bureaucracy at Washington, makes it impossible. It is simply "pie in the sky" the way it is being presented, a terrible hoax on a worried, anxious American public.

The proposed plan would reach only those qualified for social security. It wouldn't help many of those who need help.

There are some "added costs" advocates of the bill don't emphasize. For example, an aged patient would be required to pay $10 a day for the first nine days of hospitalization, and to qualify for out-patient benefits would have to pay another $20.

The worst about it is that it's "compulsory." You don't get a choice. You pay the tax.

Some important steps already have been taken to do something with the problem. Recently Blue Shield here in Texas began a new insurance program for people 65 and over. The cost to married couples with less than $4,000 yearly income is only $38.40 per person per year.

Another step is the Kerr-Mills plan whereby the federal government provides matching funds with the states to help only the elderly who need help paying medical care expenses. Texas has that, too, along with well over half the states. This is something that is workable, and which can be afforded.

One parting shot. A representative of 583 organizations which handle 90 per cent of all health insurance policies written in Canada and the United States testified before a congressional committee after carefully studying the Kennedy plan that by 1983, Kennedy's plan would cost the nation $5.4 billions per year which would necessitate social security taxes of 11 per cent of each worker's salary.

They're mighty expensive apples.—JC success because its purpose was to help some boy or girl who will step forward to receive a diploma tomorrow night to go on to college next year.

And for those who are diligent, and who dig for it, there are lots of available scholarships around the country drawing only dust because, unknowingly, no one applies for their benefits.

There are other ways to get to college, too. You can borrow your way through a college loan plan. Lots of schools have such loans for their deserving students. You pay back the loans in a variety of ways, usually after graduation.

For a number of years, a group of local citizens have been making student loans for college through a well organized loan foundation.

Or, you can work your way through.

What we would like to see in our high school here—and we think we'll have it in the not too distant future—is more supervision at the high school level of "the college dream." We mean a program whereby students can be counseled more on colleges, requirements and guided, if necessary, in proper applications.

To all the 1962 graduates, we offer our congratulations and our earnest hopes for far greater achievements ahead. We urge only that you set your sights high and throw all the zeal of your youth into striving to attain them. Don't develop a "security complex" but rejoice in the opportunities that are yours.

Please remember, it was opportunity which has made America—individual opportunity—and opportunity and security do NOT go hand in hand. You choose between.—JC

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch editorialized: "Those who use physical violence against free expression only show that they are afraid of it. Editor Jones is not afraid; he says he was whipped in both fights. 'But my newspaper was not.' The editor stands 5 feet 2 inches tall. His journalistic determination, stands about 9 feet tall."—H. M. Baggary in The Tullia Herald.

Beware of the New Frontiersman who offers to pick up your tab. May be more at stake than the steak you ate.—Neal Estes in The Stanton Reporter.

A friend says his pastor and doctor have held a conference and advised him to investigate the prices and terms of heat shields used on space ships.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

IT WON'T BE many days until June will be bustin' out all over—with the runoff election, Post Stampede Rodeo, baseball, a n d—we hope—all the rain that we haven't been getting up to now.

Along toward the end of the school term every year, school jokes seem to be even more numerous than they are at the beginning of the term. Here is one: Note from a pupil:

Dear Teacher
I am sorey I am brehind in my work. I will try to catch up in it in arithmetic, Spelling and English.

Love Jack
Their may be worts spelt rong.

AND HERE is another: A teacher wrotethis note to Johnny's mother: "John is a good student, but I must find some way to take his mind off the girls."

Johnny's mother sent back this reply: "If you find a way, let me know. I'm having the same trouble with his father."

That man up the street says the quickest way to kindle a fire is to rub two opposing opinions together.

I'VE JUST SEEN a newspaper filler that says among households with income of $5,000 or below, seven out of 10 save trading stamps. And that among households representing income of above $5,000 eight out of 10 save stamps.

As usual when I read a newspaper filler, I learned something I didn't know.

That newspaper filler about trading stamps set me to thinking about a story we ran in The Dispatch recently to the effect that at least one trading stamp company is now making it possible for communities to pool their trading stamps and turn them in for such items as fire engines. That is something else I didn't know. Which proves there is nothing like reading a newspaper to enrich your mind.

Television, now that's something else. I had a dream the other night after reading headlines in many papers until a very late hour while listening to TV. It was a mixed-up dream, but the headlines and news stories were mixed up, too. I dreamed that I took a trip to the moon with a two-dab man in a capsule made out of a fertilizer tank.

GETTING BACK to schools, one of my friends who clips and saves such things recently found a collection of grade-school boners, from which I invite you to consider these samples:

The President has the power to appoint and disappoint the members of his Cabinet.

The moon is more important than the sun because it shines at night.

Farmers rotate their crops so that they may get sun on all sides.

A hospital is where you go to get born.

A habit is something that you form years ago and keep doing it.

The main difference between a king and a president is that a king is the son of his father but a president isn't.

Another fellow clipped this ad from a downstate newspaper:

"Will the party who has been borrowing plumbing tools from our truck at Nuway Plumbing Co. at night time please call in the daytime at our office. Since you already have all of our best tools, we have decided to make you our partner."

T. L. JONES, Post's iceman for fifty years, was just in with the ice and said this hot weather isn't hurting his business.

We don't know how he got so far out in left field, but Cong. Graham Purcell of the 13th District of Texas sent us a letter addressed to "The Post Signal." The fact that we got the letter anyway goes to show that another of the many advantages of living in a small town is that the fellows at the post office know what to do even when the "signals" get mixed.

High school's 10 top-graded students write autobiographies

EDITOR'S NOTE: As has been customary at graduation time for several years, The Dispatch has invited for publication the autobiographies of the 10 top-graded seniors for its annual Graduation Edition.

Jimmy Bouchier plans attend University
 Born in Lubbock, Texas, on May 30, 1943, but I have lived all of my life, entering the schools in 1949.
 Participation in athletics began in junior high, from which I graduated salutatorian.
 When I was six years old, I started to school at Spur. I went to Spur for three years.
 When I was nine years old, I cut my left leg on a combine while playing with my cousins. Because of this, I missed about the first four weeks of the fourth grade. While I was out of school, we moved to Post, and when I started to school here, my teacher was Mrs. Raphael.
 My going through the rest of the Regional Science Fair in Lubbock, I won first in the Physical Science Division, placing third in the entire fair. I am graduating as valedictorian and I intend to continue my education at the University of Texas.

Jean Johnston liked senior year best
 On July 30, 1944, a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnston. They named her Emma Jean. I soon learned that this was to be my name and that I lived at Spur, Texas, on a farm. I also found that I had only one sister, Jo Ann, and no brothers.
 When I was six years old, I started to school at Spur. I went to Spur for three years.
 When I was nine years old, I cut my left leg on a combine while playing with my cousins. Because of this, I missed about the first four weeks of the fourth grade. While I was out of school, we moved to Post, and when I started to school here, my teacher was Mrs. Raphael.
 My going through the rest of elementary school and junior high was nothing special, except that in the sixth grade, I was chosen Halloween princess of my room.

 Like everyone else I was looking forward to my first year in high school, but when it came, I think everyone found it quite different from what we had expected.
 My freshman year, I joined FHA and I didn't do anything special my sophomore year. As my junior year rolled around, I found myself looking forward to the Junior-Senior banquet.
 My junior year in school, I was a member of the Library Club and the last semester, I was elected vice president of it. During this same year, I was a member of the Pep Squad.
 I think however, that my Senior year has been the best year of all. This year I am still a member of the Library Club. I also am on the Student Council, in the National Honor Society, assistant editor of the Paper Staff, was chosen most intelligent and now have the honor of being salutatorian. This is also my second year to be a winner of a scholastic award.
 At the present, I have no plans for the future, except that I plan to work when school dismisses and there is a possibility that I will go to college next year.

Melinda Newby sets Eastern college goal
 I was born June 28, 1944, in Oklahoma City, Okla. I went through the usual childhood experiences—two broken arms, one broken collarbone, mumps, measles, tonsils out, and glasses.
 As I remember, we moved to Hobbs, N. M., when I was three. That's when my life really began. I went to kindergarten a year before I started to school and developed a large crush on a small boy. The only days I didn't like were the ones we didn't get served refreshments.
 After we'd lived in Hobbs a couple of years, we moved to a farm between Hobbs and Lovington. I spent my happiest days there. My favorite job was feeding the pigs. I also liked to help Daddy bale the hay. My very favorite Christmas present was a pair of used silver spurs I got when I was eight. I wore the spurs, my hat, and my guns to school the next day.
 I spent my recesses at school playing baseball and marbles with the boys and my spare time selling Girl Scout Cookies. I was the only Girl Scout without boyfriend problems because I was the only one without a boyfriend.
 Then in the middle of the seventh grade we decided to move to Post. I remember on my first school day our car wouldn't start and my mother, my two sisters, and I had to walk downtown in the snow to eat breakfast and then had to walk to school.
 I don't remember much about Junior High, except that I had my appendix out when I was in the 8th grade and I didn't get to see Danny Thomas.
 I entered high school thinking how big and smart I was, but that feeling was quickly squashed on the first day by the Seniors. From then on, I had a completely wrong outlook towards high school.
 The things I remember most about my high school years were the hayrides, all the football and basketball games (especially those we won), the Junior-Senior banquets—and the parties afterwards, our class parties, the Junior and Senior plays, and our Senior Day.
 Next year I plan to go to a junior college in Massachusetts where I'll major in Art. After that I may go to Oklahoma University or Texas Tech.
 I had a lot of fun and good times in my high school years, and I know I'll always remember them. I hope that next year I can get serious and really work at college and make something of my life, because so far I haven't done what I could and should have.

Roger Camp plans to attend NMMI
 I was born the day my father left for overseas, May 24, 1944. It was ten months before I saw him for the first time.
 Time gradually passed on and it was time for me to begin grade school. After the first semester we moved into the new grade school building—everyone was happy.
 Several years later we again moved into the new junior high building. It was here that I first entered into athletic competition, football and basketball.
 During the Christmas holidays of my eighth grade year I was first introduced to the game of golf. This soon won out over football, baseball and basketball. Later that year, I graduated valedictorian of my class.
 Now came the time everyone had waited for—we were in high school. As I took harder courses and entered into more extra curricular activities, time really passed. Throughout the four years in high school, I was a member of the band, Spanish, English, Math and Science Clubs, the National Honor Society (president my senior year), the Lettermans Club, and the Golf team. Our golf team, of which I captained my senior year, won district three years in a row. My junior and senior years I received an academic sweater for being in the top ten per cent of Post High School. My senior years I came in third scholastically in my class.

 When I finish high school, I plan to attend New Mexico Military Institute and the University of Texas, majoring in some form of specialized business.

get on a big yellow bus each morning and spend all day at a place called school. From then on, I would run outside every morning and watch him get on the bus and leave. Then I would sit down on the grass and cry—not especially because my brother was leaving but because I wanted to go too.
 When I was five, my life-long ambition came true. My parents began to teach at the little country school where my brother went. The school was rather small so my mother and dad were the only teachers, my father being the principal.
 I enjoyed that year of school more than any since because I got to attend school all the time they were teaching. All I did all day was to play outside with the son of the lunchroom cook.
 My parents' first thought was for me to actually attend classes and begin the first grade at the age of five but after a few days of me in my mother's room, it was learned that I was not quite such an advanced student as was first thought. Then I got to play outside for the rest of the year.
 When I began again at the age of six I thought I would still have an easy life. But as it turned out, my mother whipped me more than any other person in the first, second or third grades, and I was miserable all year long. Those first two years were really murder! My only consolation was that my brother had it worse—he spent three years in my father's classes.
 My parents stopped teaching at Garnolia after those first two years and I had different teachers my third and fourth grades.
 I transferred to Post in the fifth grade where there were more people in any home room than in all of the country school.
 Post schools were a rude awakening for me because we had more lessons in a day than I had in a week out at Garnolia. At first I wanted to quit but finally I struggled through. Oh Boy, how I wished I was still sitting out on the grass crying because I couldn't go! I was happy then.
 One of my favorite experiences was when I applied for a job in the school lunchroom and received an excellent top-notch pastime—scrapping food off of trays into a huge garbage can—and me with a weak stomach.
 Finally I graduated from the eighth grade into high school. I really enjoyed high school. Teachers and upperclassmen always thought that I would grow out of being a typical freshman but now that I'm a senior it seems hopeless that I'll ever grow out of the clumsy, stumbling, freshman stage.

Finally though I'm about to enter college—then I really can be a legal freshman and can start over again.

Wayne Gamblin plans to go to college
 My name is Wayne Gamblin. I was born on Sept. 22, 1944, which makes me seventeen years of age now . . . not quite old enough for the draft as yet. The first six years of my life were spent in Lubbock, Texas, which I have really always considered home. In 1951 we moved to Dallas where my Dad attended Southern Methodist University Law School. During that time I started to school at the age of 'almost seven'. When I was in the third grade, my teacher decided it would be better for her nerves if I was moved into the fourth grade. While living in the same house the entire time, I attended five different schools. This was because the city developed so rapidly that new schools were constantly being built in our area.
 We moved to Post in 1955 and I have spent the past four years attending high school here, attending the First Christian Church, and working for the Radio Station, KUKO. My father is an Attorney and Certified Public Accountant, and my mother is a teacher.

This year I am finishing my high school career as seventh in my class. I have enjoyed these past four years in high as a whole, even though there have been a few rough spots. The thing I have enjoyed the most is working at the local radio station which, to say the least, is quite an experience!

As one of the other seniors said on "Senior Salute" the other day, "Those kids who have dropped out of school don't know what they have missed". I hope I can continue with at least four more years—in college, that is!

I don't think very many eventful things went on in my life from the time I was born until I was four. By the time I was four I noticed that my big brother would

Critical water shortage looms

For the second time within three weeks the City of Post today asks residents to turn off their lawn sprinklers and "help up conserve water."

The departure of a few days of weather has made the water situation grim again, and the city reservoir has lost seven feet of water within the last three days and is being full on Monday.

Water consumption soared above the million-gallon mark Monday—1,000,000 gallons to be exact. It was up to 1,091,000 gallons Tuesday and then vaulted to 1,252,000 gallons yesterday as the hot, dry weather continued unabated.

Supt. Henry Tate said that the 14-foot deep reservoir can be filled up again over the weekend and be full on Monday morning, "then we should have it made next week, at least."

When the reservoir isn't full on Monday morning, we're whipped to it with," Tate said.

Unless water is conserved today, there will be a reser drop by Friday that will mean lower pressure, the superintendent pointed out.

On the brighter side, the city has completed drilling two new water wells on the Winder Lease, is working on another on the same lease, and still another new well on the two wells already drilled.

tested to pump between 50 and 60 gallons of water per minute, each. If the other two are as good, tying in of these wells next week will give a big boost to the water supply.

Tate said Ted Hibbs, local manager for Southwestern Public Service Company, said surveys at the new well projects have been completed by his company and that they can be tied in "on a few hours' notice."

Tate said the four new wells—if the other two prove out—and new wells on the S. C. Storie place can be tied to the water system beginning Tuesday.

In the meantime, Tate said, continued cooperation on the part of the public in refraining from lawn watering and in otherwise conserving water "should pull us through."

Postings

By JIM CORNISH

Sometimes progress takes a little learning on everybody's part. And that's what is required today in Post. You don't send a good alerting system back to the factory because folks don't know the signals. You simply learn the signals.

It was unfortunate that the fire alarm was sounded last Thursday night when high winds and black storm clouds had most local folks jittery. The fire alarm sent lots of folks into storm cellars, while the firemen were out fighting the fire.

Next day one lady declared if the power of the press means anything, do something now. She meant well. Others said the same thing. But the truth is that the signals are easy to understand, if you know them—and even if you've never heard them before.

The new dual tone civil defense alerting system mounted on the courthouse lawn actually is a dual-tone siren with three quiet distinctive signals. First, the fire alarm, is an alternating high-low signal. We recognized it immediately last Thursday night—it just happened to come at a wrong time. Second, the alert signal (for storm in community area) is a high only tone. That means to be on your toes and ready. The third—take cover—is a wavering pitched signal alternating from high to low. There is no all-clear. That's up to you.

We recommend you clip the above paragraph from The Dispatch on the signals and stick it in your phone book or on a wall someplace handy where you can see it.

School trustees employ new band director Monday

The Post school board elected a band director, turned down an application for a coaching position, named a tax equalization board and tabled a motion for uniformity in requirements for extra-curricular activities at a special meeting Monday night.

Bruce Evans, a graduate of Snyder High School and Abilene Christian College, was elected band director to replace Bob Meisch, whose contract was not renewed by the school board.

Evans, while completing requirements for his master's degree at ACC was an assistant in the band program there and also served a year as director of the Rotan High School Band. He is married and has one child.

Supt. R. T. Smith said Evans will move to Post about Aug. 1 to begin his band program.

The coaching application turned down by the board was for a "B" team coaching position, with the board's rejection coming after a review of the applicant's teaching qualifications.

J. B. Potts, Leo M. Acker and Lowell Short were named to the tax equalization board, which will meet Monday night.

Dismissal denied on murder charge

District Judge Truett Smith has issued a Garza County district court order overruling the motion made by the defense counsel for deaf-mute Reymundo Flores here May 2 for dismissal of the murder charge against him on the grounds that counsel is unable to communicate with the defendant and the defendant is unable to confront the witnesses against him.

Flores is charged with the fatal shooting of Pearlene Stafford, 33-year-old Negro woman here last Nov. 18.

Judge Smith in his order said that "the court is of the opinion that his (Flores) parents and brother can communicate with defendant to some extent, and that they, together with any other interpreters that defendant or his counsel might request, shall be permitted to sit at the counsel table with defendant on the trial of this case."

"It is the further opinion of this court," Judge Smith wrote in his order, "that if counsel for defendant feel that the defendant is not trained in sign language sufficient to understand, with the aid of interpreters, the proceedings that may be had in this court in connection with this case, then they shall have a reasonable time to have a tutor who is familiar with and understands the sign language to advise with and instruct the defendant . . . and if counsel for defendant wish a continuance of this cause for the purpose stated, they should advise the court on or before June 15, that they do desire a continuance for such purposes and the court will then enter an order continuing the cause for a reasonable time."

Pat N. Walker, co-counsel for the defendant with Mago L. Alaniz of San Diego, Tex., told The Dispatch yesterday that their intentions at this time are to ask for such a continuance and to present expert witnesses on the teaching of sign language as to the time it would take to properly instruct the defendant, if he could be so instructed.

Phones 'silenced' by broken cable

A broken telephone cable—caused when a tank being moved tore it down—shortened out the entire automatic switchboard at the General Telephone dial plant here last Thursday noon and put every local phone out of order for a period of 20 to 30 minutes.

The 200 plus phone subscribers living in the southwest part of the city and served by the downed cable were put out of phone service for almost 24 hours before a construction crew from Lamesa could be rushed here and make all necessary repairs.

Don Osborn, who is in charge of General Telephone's plant department here, told The Dispatch that a tank being moved by the Jeff Graham Trucking Co. hit the cable as it crossed the highway in the 100 block of S. Ave. N, tearing up 160 yards of cable and two 30 foot poles.

Osborn, who was at lunch, needed 20 to 30 minutes to get back to the automatic dialing building and clear the board to restore service.

The cable torn down was a 200-pair cable serving 200 or more residential users. Other cables on the line were damaged, Osborn reported.
