Ag teacher returns from state workshop

Ike Trimble, vocational agriculture instructor at Post High School, returned last Friday from a four-day in-service education workshop for teachers of vocational agriculture held in San Antonio Aug. 7-10.

Trimble was accompanied by his wife, Joyce, their two sons, Glenn and Tim, and his mother, Mrs. Roy Underwood of Seminole.

The program was sponsored by the Texas Education Agency and had the theme of "Improving Instruction to Meet the Changing Needs in Vocational Agriculture."

The first general session was held Aug. 7 with George H. Hurt, director of agriculture education, as chairman.

There were a number of outstanding speakers on the program, including J. D. Nixon, president of the Vocational Agriculture Teachers of Texas; W. W. Jackson, president of the State Board of Education; J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education; Bobby Traweek, president of the Texas Young Farmers; Jerry Clark, president of the Texas Future Farmers of America; John F. Danek, of the public relations staff of General Motors Corp., and many others.

Following Tuesday afternoon's second general session, the various area meetings were held on Wednesday afternoon and Friday morning.

An awards breakfast was held at 7 a. m. Wednesday.

The annual membership meeting followed the breakfast, at which time five amendments to the organization's by-laws were voted on and various committee reports were given. Also on the program was M. D. Mobley, executive secretary for the American Vocational Association, Washington, D. C., who spoke on "Challenge of the Sixties in Vocational Agriculture."

All day Thursday was devoted to various workshops.

"Vocational Agriculture in Texas continues to grow and the future still looks bright," Trimble said upon his return from the workshop.

New pastor is assigned here to Holy Cross

The Rev. Raymond Cutshall has been newly assigned as assistant pastor at Holy Cross Catholic Church here, the Rev. James Erickson, pastor, announces.

Two Masses are being held Sundays, at 8 a. m. and 10 a. m., following Father Cutshall's assignment here. He is commuting from Slaton for the present.

Father Cutshall is a native of El Paso and his parents now reside in Amarillo. He has been ordained only a little more than a year, and was at Snyder for three months before being assigned to Holy Cross.

The church here has been without an assistant pastor since the Rev. Eugenio de Francisco was transferred out of the diocese earlier this year. Prior to Father Cutshall's assignment, Father Erickson and the Rev. Edward Clinton of Slaton had been alternating in holding one Sunday Mass.

Father Cutshall was here yesterday for two Masses on the Feast of the Holy Assumption, one at 8 a. m. and the other at 7 p. m.

Average value per farm on increase

COLLEGE STATION — The average value per farm in Texas increased from $48,378 to $64,950 between 1959 and 1962, according to C. H. Bates, economist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. In this same period, the average size of farms increased from 631 to 710 acres. This year the land on the average Texas farm is worth $59,302. Buildings are worth an additional $5,648. The average value for land and buildings is about $91 per acre, he said.

The rate of sales of farm land accelerated some during the last year also. The number of farm title transfers in Texas rose from 51.8 per 1,000 farms in 1960-61 to 58.2 in 1961-62.

A study by USDA's Economic Research Service shows the average value per acre of farm real estate reached a new high of $123 per acre in the U. S. in 1962, 5 per cent higher than in the previous year. The average farm has 336 acres, and is worth $41,400. About $32,800 of this is accounted for by land, and the balance, $8,600, by farm buildings, Bates said.

Alluvial soil is that deposited by water.

Farmers increase gross sales, but receive less net income

COLLEGE STATION — Farmers, like other businessmen, in recent years have increased their gross sales but have received less net income, reports C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

The nation's farmers have increased gross sales since 1945 by 46 per cent but their net income has declined more than 9 per cent. Bates adds. Gross income in 1945 was $25.7 billion and production expenses were $12.9 billion. Net income equaled $12.8 billion. By 1960, gross income was up to $37.9 billion but expenses had jumped to $26.3 billion, leaving a net of only $11.6 billion.

Farmers have sought to improve their situation, says Bates, by shifting the inputs or "mix" of production resources. They have substituted machinery for labor. In 1940, U. S. farmers spent $1.75 on machinery and buildings for each dollar spent on hired help. By 1960, they were spending $2.77 on these items for each dollar spent for hired labor.

Another effort to boost efficiency is reflected in the amounts spent for fertilizer and lime. By 1960, U. S. farmers were spending 4.8 times more on these items than was spent in 1940. This means a great increase in quantity since prices for fertilizer and lime have increased only 50 per cent.

Although comparable figures are not available on farmer expenditures for pesticides and herbicides, the trend has been sharply upward.

IS YOUR CHILD GETTING 15 MINUTES OF ORGANIZED ACTIVITY EVERY DAY AT SCHOOL?

You may think so. But you could be mistaken. The truth is that in many schools, vigorous physical education activities that develop strength, flexibility, agility and endurance are not scheduled as an integral part of the daily program.

And this is one reason why the physical fitness of our children has declined. In fact, recent pilot studies showed that almost half of the youngsters tested proved to be physically under par. Isn't this reason enough for more emphasis on an organized program of physical education?

Fortunately, a program has been developed that will get our children back in shape. It is a minimum program, and it can be carried out in any school— at very little cost and with a minimum of time.

All it takes is 15 minutes of vigorous activity every day during the physical education period. In schools that have adopted such a daily program, boys and girls have shown a remarkable improvement in their physical status.

Certainly, you want your child to develop his body as well as his mind. So, why not find out about the present physical education program in your child's school?

Take it up at your next PTA meeting. Insist that a full 15 minutes every day is spent in vigorous, body-building activities as part of a scheduled program.

Master Gland Key to Health

Why can some persons quickly and easily throw off every infection while others constantly wage a losing battle against one germ after another? Why do most individuals react with overwhelming success to a vaccine, while it has very little effect on other persons?

In his Minneapolis laboratory, Dr. Robert A. Good, March of Dimes research grantee in arthritis at University of Minnesota School of Medicine, checks an X-ray film.

Is there perhaps a master gland that triggers the immune reactions? "Yes, it's the thymus gland," says Dr. Robert A. Good, research professor of pediatrics at the University of Minnesota, and March of Dimes grantee. Dr. Good recently won the annual award medal of the American Society for Experimental Pathology, much of his work being done with National Foundation financial support.

Dr. Good presented new evidence greatly strengthening this theory about the thymus gland in a paper he delivered before the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology at Atlantic City. He detailed the results of experiments carried out in collaboration with other scientists, which, he said, provide evidence that the thymus is a key gland in the body's endless organ to protect itself against harmful substances. The thymus is located behind the breastbone in humans.

Much of Dr. Good's study was based on agammaglobulinemia, a rare disease occurring most often in children whose bodies fail to produce gamma globulin, the substance in the blood which forms antibodies to fight off invasion by germs and other foreign substances. Further study showed the association of other diseases with agammaglobulinemia, including a high incidence of rheumatoid arthritis and related diseases; leukemia and Hodgkin's disease (cancer of the lymph glands), and other disabilities suspected to result from malfunction of the immune system.

This led Dr. Good and his associates to the thymus as the important organ of immunity. The theory was tested by removing the thymus of rabbits less than five days old.

They proved later to be unable to form antibodies in any way and thus could not throw off disease. Secondly, Dr. Good found that these same animals would accept skin grafts from other rabbits. Normally, skin can be transplanted only between identical twins. By this means the doctor was able to show how the natural barriers to tissue transplantation can be knocked down merely by removal of the thymus in the newborn. This phenomenon, the Minnesota pediatrician believes, has a human parallel, namely agammaglobulinemia, where antibodies are usually absent. For example, one of the children with this disease now under study by Dr. Good's group has been carrying an intact skin graft for more than seven years—even though the skin had been taken from an unrelated donor.

Studies of this sort, Dr. Good pointed out, have been possible only during the last decade since modern treatment has enabled the survival of children with immunologic deficiency diseases, and new laboratory techniques made possible the accurate analysis of blood and tissue components. "We are gradually getting much closer to understanding the whole process of immunity and its relation to disease," Dr. Good said. "We now can see a real possibility of learning how to manipulate and overcome the natural barriers to transplantation of human organs, such as the kidney, as well as other tissues. "It's tempting to speculate that someday we may have thymus gland banks just as we now have blood banks and bone banks, in order to supply thymus tissues for persons whose immune response is believed to be low. This may also provide us with a means of altering an individual's immunologic pattern by implanting foreign thymus cells when the need arises."

The March of Dimes-supported scientist pointed out that further studies of animals artificially deprived of the ability to produce antibodies are urgently needed to provide insight into rheumatoid arthritis and other diseases which occur in patients with agammaglobulinemia. Fundamental research aimed at unraveling these disease mysteries is already under way with March of Dimes support at medical centers throughout the country, including Dr. Good's laboratory.

BEEF CATTLE PRICES

Many factors affect the price producers receive for beef cattle. The slaughter rate, however, is the most important single factor and exerts the greatest pressure on beef cattle prices, says John McHaney, extension economist.

The rate of slaughter is determined, he adds, by the size of the nation's cow herd at the beginning of the year, size of the calf crop, range conditions, number of cattle fed and marketed and liquidation of cattle numbers. Total production of red meat—beef, pork, lamb, and mutton—is also an important pricing factor, he says.

In order to show what happens to beef prices under a given set of conditions, McHaney has made a study of price changes over the past six years—1956-61 and has related them to the average prices received by Texas producers for all calves.

On Jan. 1, 1956 the nation's beef herd numbered 95.9 million head. A large calf crop was produced and one of the worst long-run droughts continued. A record number of 40.8 million cattle and calves was slaughtered. Calf prices dropped to an average of $12.40 per hundred-weight in December, 1956.

Greatly improved range conditions in 1957 slowed slaughter, especially in the late months of the year. The nation's cow herd was smaller and fewer calves were produced and total red meat production was down from the previous year by 4 per cent. Demand for restocking animals and for feeders was strong and high consumer income also helped push prices from $14.70 in January to $20.70 in December.

Cow numbers on Jan. 1, 1958 were again below year earlier figures and the nation's calf crop was also down. Cattle and calf slaughter was down 13.5 per cent from 1957; range conditions were the best in years; total red meat production was the lowest since 1954 and a build-up in cattle numbers started. Prices reached $26.60 in December (Average price for all calves).

Cattle and calf numbers stood at 93.3 million head on Jan. 1, 1959

—up 2.1 million from a year earlier. The build-up was gaining steam; slaughter was down 7 per cent but total beef and veal production was up slightly due to heavy fed cattle marketings in the latter part of the year. Total red meat production was second only to record 1956. Prices reacted to the pressure and dropped from $28.60 in March to $21.60 in December.

The price decline continued into 1960. The year started with 96.2 million head, up 2.9 million from 1959. Total red meat production was up 3.3 per cent and beef and veal 8 per cent. The number of cattle and calves on feed July 1 in 21 major states was up 4 per cent and total slaughter from August-November was up 4 per cent over the same period in 1959. Calf prices dropped to $18.50 in October but a mild reduction in fed cattle marketings in the last 2 months of 1960 and fairly good wheat grazing kept many cattle off the market. Prices reacted, and rose to $22 in December.

A revision downward of estimated cattle numbers in 1961 gave producers confidence; a pickup in economic activity upped the demand for beef and good wheat pastures created a strong demand for stockers, and this plus good range conditions, kept many cattle away from the packing plants. These factors, along with only a 1 per cent increase in red meat production, kept prices stable and above the previous year.

On Jan. 1, 1962, the nation's beef herd stood at 99.5 million head, up 2.4 million from a year earlier. Recent increases—numbers up for 4 consecutive years—says the economist, indicate that beef production records are due to be set within the next few years. The effect of increased supplies on prices cannot be specifically pinpointed but the price depressing force is certain. Cattle producers are advised to be alert to possible increases in pork production coinciding with larger beef supplies sometime during the next two years.

Based on expected slaughter rates, total red meat production, number of cattle on feed and marketing for the last half of the year, McHaney believes cattle prices may work to their low point for 1962 in October or November and probably will be below those of a year ago.

Like to fish for "whites"? Only a few short years ago the white bass (Lepomis chrysops or Roccus chrysops) was almost unknown to Texas anglers. But Mississippi River Valley fishermen had been familiar with this wonderful game fish for a long time.

In Texas, white bass apparently appeared first in Caddo Lake, then spread over the state.

Actually, these fish are direct descendants of the big saltwater striped bass. They adapted themselves to fresh-water conditions and thrived. Now they are found from the Great Lakes to Mexico, from Alabama through Texas.

Up to 5 pounds is claimed as a world's record for a white. However, no "official" record ever has been made.

This freshwater bass is a great scrapper. It strikes hard and keeps on scrapping until boated.

WHITES ARE easy to recognize. They are a silvery color on back and sides, yellow white on the belly. Black stripes that are rather indistinct relieve the unbroken silver on each side.

Distinguishing marks are the medium long mouth set horizontally in a scaly, rather conical head. White bass fins are distinctly separated. A fairly high back along with a flat perch-like body give white bass even more distinction.

White bass like still, deep water with a sandy, gravelly bottom. Usually the species is found in medium and large lakes and streams—seldom in small streams or tank ponds.

During February and March (and sometimes as late as April and May) the white bass in Texas move upstream looking for likely spawning grounds in shallow flowing water. Lake whites seek shallow stream inlets, while river whites prefer the sand bars.

Eggs are laid among rocks or weeds in very shallow water.

NO ATTEMPT IS made to protect these eggs when once deposited, nor even to build a nest. The female dumps her eggs apparently with no maternal feeling. When the job is done, she heads for deep water as fast as she can.

Females have been known to lay over half a million eggs at one time. Once hatched, the young remain in shallow water until strong, then migrate to deep water.

In Texas most white bass are found in big lakes such as Buchanan, Inks, Granite Shoals, Travis, Corpus Christi (Lake Mathis), Falcon (on the Mexican border) and of course Lake Caddo, their point of origin in Texas.

So common are white bass in most Texas lakes that it is not too far-fetched to claim that more than half of all game fish caught in the Lone Star State are of this species.

Schooling habits of the white bass, and the voracity with which it feeds make for fantastic catches when the whites are running. Hundreds can be caught from one big school once it is located.

HOW DO YOU locate a school of whites?

Most fishermen on the big lakes cruise about, watching for concentrations of feeding seagulls. Once such a flock is found, the fishermen hurry to that spot.

If bass are there the surface will be rippled where thousands upon thousands of gizzard shad are feeding. The white bass are just beneath, gobbling up the shad.

Often the bait is grabbed the instant the gold or silver spoon (such as a Dixie Jet), or an underwater spinning lure (like the Abu), starts flashing through the water.

Fishing then is fast and furious until the school moves on.

White bass may be found almost anywhere that food is plentiful.

ON WARM NIGHTS try fishing with small, live minnows. A Coleman lantern suspended over the water, from a boat or dock, will attract bugs. Fish are drawn to the area by the light and the bugs that fall into the water.

Small fish, crustaceans and insects form the major portion of the white bass diet. However, it doesn't take a biologist to inform Texas fishermen that this great game fish goes all out for gizzard shad.

White bass seldom live longer than four or five years. However, they grow fast. They reach a length of 12 inches, or longer, in two years from the date of hatching. Such fast growth, coupled with a short life span, makes for quick population turnovers.

However, they multiply so fast that strict bag limits are not necessary. So fish to your heart's content for whites.

Post man stays active well past usual retirement age

"Retirement" is a nice, well-rounded, ten-letter word, but it just doesn't fit into the vocabulary of 80-year-old T. A. Loyd of 205 West 14th St.

Mr. Loyd was officially retired more than 15 years ago after 30 years with Community Public Service Co., one-time owner of the water works system now owned by the City of Post.

But Mr. Loyd did not stay retired. He has almost completely rebuilt the four-room home he and the late Mrs. Loyd moved into when he retired and the residence is now an attractive rock structure. He also sees after more than 60 rent houses, some of them his own, and does other part-time work.

The big story behind the remodeling of the Loyd home is that Mr. Loyd and his wife, who died Jan. 18, 1960, did all the work themselves, with Mr. Loyd continuing the rebuilding after his wife's death.

All types of rock, native and foreign, have gone into the remodeling of the original frame house, which was known as "the old Yarrowborough place" when Mr. Loyd purchased it.

The rock construction, which also includes a backyard fence with a huge archway, is a result of Mr. Loyd's longtime hobby of rock-collecting. He prefers that it be called a sideline instead of a hobby, however, and denies being a "rock hound", since he puts the rocks he collects to practical use instead of letting them lay around and gather dust.

Mr. Loyd and his daughter, Mrs. Ray Farrar of Ontario, Calif., who is here visiting him, calculate that each of the thousands of rocks going into the construction of the house and backyard fence has been handled by Mr. Loyd a minimum of four times.

One of the newest additions to the house is a rock-walled den with a fireplace and rock chimney. Rocks from 12 states were used in building the den, with meteorites and pumice stones included. One natural rock formation on the wall of the den is in the shape of a gun holster. A toy pistol crammed into the "holster" adds to the "life-like" look of the formation.

The den is a popular place for dominoes with Mr. Loyd and his friends.

Mr. Loyd doesn't like to talk about his accomplishments, but his daughters are eager to tell of them.

"Papa came in from a full day's work and completed the roof on the den one night while it was raining," Mrs. Farrar said.

The front porch of the Loyd home has been converted into an extra room with a rock entranceway, and Mr. Loyd has put his talent and energy to work on other "rock jobs" at some of his rent houses during his "retirement."

Another outstanding example of his rock work may be seen at the Carson James home on West 10th Street.

Mr. Loyd and his children have stories about many of the rocks

RETURN FROM CAMP

Meredith and Marcia Newby, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. David Newby, are due to return today after spending two months at a summer camp at park Rapids, Mich. Mrs. Newby, Melinda and Steven let Tuesday to visit Mr. Newby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Newby, in Oklahoma and to meet the girls, who will arrive there by train.

ACTIVE AT 80 YEARS

T. A. Loyd, 80 years old and still "unretired," stands in the archway of the rock fence he built at his home at 205 West 14th St. The fence is only one item of Mr. Loyd's extensive rock construction work.—(Staff Photo) used in his construction work. One large wall rock in his home came from California and has a mastodon's footprint embedded in it. Somewhere in the maze of construction is a brick that was sent him from a Fort Worth brickyard, where he was superintendent for 10 years before moving to Post.

Mr. Loyd oversees about 60 rent houses owned by the L. R. Mason Estate, in addition to looking after his own rent property.

"We're real proud of our papa," Mrs. Farrar said. But Mr. Loyd shrugged it off. He doesn't see anything to make a fuss about merely because he has reached the age of 80 years without finding time to retire.

"Anyway," he said, "my wife deserves the credit for all this work around here. She not only helped me with it, but she designed it."

Post man nominated for Ex-Student post

Bryan Williams of Post has been nominated as District 8 representative of Texas Tech College Ex-Student Association Council.

Other nominees are: Mrs. W. O. Lockwood, Lorenzo; Edward Smith, Lorenzo, and Al Cooper, Ralls.

The names of the four candidates appear on ballots mailed this week to the 550 Texas Tech ex-students residing in this area, according to Wayne James, executive director of the Ex-Student Association. There are two positions to be filled for two-year terms.

The council is the governing body of the Ex-Student Association and meets annually at Homecoming.

Texas' Interstate Highway cost is running below the national average

AUSTIN — The cost per mile of building the Interstate Highway System in Texas is running some 40 per cent below the national average, the Texas Highway Department said today.

Figures compiled by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads show that Texas will complete its portion of the Interstate System at an estimated $610,000 per mile—as compared with the national average of approximately $1 million per mile.

(The Interstate System is a 41,000-mile nationwide network of super highways scheduled to be completed in 1972. Texas' portion of the system will total 3,027 miles.)

Comparison of the Texas cost with that of some of the other large states revealed these figures: California, $1.7 million per mile; Illinois, $1.3 million per mile; New York, $1.7 million per mile; Ohio, $1.7 million per mile; and Pennsylvania, $1.5 million per mile.

Since the beginning of the Interstate Program in 1956, Texas has consistently led the nation in miles open to traffic and work in progress. The latest quarterly report of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, dated August 3, reveals that Texas maintains this lead. Texas now has 1,018.5 Interstate miles open to traffic and 1,322 miles of work in progress.

(Texas also leads all other states in highway building under the Federal-aid primary and secondary systems. Since 1956, Texas has built 11,088 miles under these programs.)

What are the reasons behind Texas' low cost-per-mile in building its Interstate routes? State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer listed the following factors:

Advance planning by the Texas Highway Department in anticipation of Interstate needs. Texas "stockpiled" engineering plans and thus was able to get an early start on its building program. This planning also built a team of engineers experienced in Interstate-type work, which has resulted in lower engineering costs on this program.

A quick word of caution: Be sure to avoid unnecessary exposure to the insecticide. If you spill the concentrated material on your skin, wash it off immediately. And be sure to keep children and pets out of the yard until the spray dries.

Chiggers, by any name, can cause sleepless nights, itching misery

Call them red bugs. Call them harvest mites. Call them chiggers. By whatever name, they mean sleepless nights and ceaseless spasms of itching misery.

This is their season. It will last from now until cold weather cuts into their ranks. A few people have an apparent immunity to chigger attacks, but the vast majority of us are oh-so-susceptible.

They—the chiggers—have a special affinity for low, damp places covered with vegetation. Bermuda grass harbors them well, but for some unexplainable reason they are not usually found in carpet grass.

Just for the record, it's the larvae which do the damage, attaching themselves with their mouthparts and sucking blood until they become engorged and fall off. The fiery itching is caused by an anticoagulant material they inject into their host.

Although adult chiggers—large, red and velvety—are probably harmless to humans, their wayward offspring can be serious as well as annoying. Not that they spread any specific disease—at least not in this country—but their bites demand scratching which frequently causes secondary infections in the form of sores and boils.

To learn where chiggers are harboring, stand a piece of black cardboard on end where you suspect their presence. If after a few moments you see tiny yellowish or pinkish mites accumulating on the upper edge, you know it's time to check your supply of insecticide.

Chiggers attack lizards, snakes, birds, and rodents with the same vigor and resourcefulness they display in attacking humans. No distinction is drawn between man and lesser animal species, which is hardly complimentary to us Homo sapiens.

within 500 feet of present oil production back in 1911-12 when he contracted a well to 2,500 feet, 100 feet west of the city limits.

The second oil venture in the county was near Justiceburg in 1919. Moreland said, with the Post City Oil Development Co. spending $100,000 but also getting a failure.

First Garza production came in 1924 near Justiceburg on the J. M. Boren property and the well potentiated at 27 barrels per day. A few more wells were drilled in the same field. Field produced for eight years and was abandoned in 1932. Moreland said.

In 1932 four wells were drilled near Post by Mel Richards in the San Andres formation and potentiated at 25 barrels a day. Moreland said. He added that a refinery was built south of the Post city limits and refined gasoline, kerosene and some lubrication oils.

The big drilling in the Post area started at a moderate rate in 1945 and continued steadily for six years. Garza County now has upward of 1,500 wells. Moreland told Rotarians, with most all areas of the county having oil.

He said the county has nine producing zones. They are with year of discovery in parenthesis, San Andres (1924), Glorieta (1954), Clearfork (1958), Wolfcamp (1951), Sprayberry (1959), Pennsylvanian (1958), Strawn (1956), Mississippian (1957), and Ellenberger (1958).

Moreland reported the railroad commission's records show 72 pools (not fields) in Garza County with four consolidated, 11 abandoned, and 57 active.

He said 1961 Garza oil production totaled 5,726,823 barrels with 60,283,115 barrels of oil produced up to Jan. 1, 1962, in the county during its oil history.

The San Andres formation has 25 pools which have produced 46,619,820 barrels to date, Glorieta, 18 pools, 8,469,467 barrels; Clearfork, 1 pool, 138,355 barrels; Wolfcamp, 3 pools, 43,831 barrels; Sprayberry, 2 pools, 226,242 barrels; Pennsylvanian, 7 pools, 1,107,952; Strawn, 8 pools, 2,041,902 barrels; Mississippian, 1 pool, 16,450 barrels; and Ellenberger, 7 pools, 1,619,596 barrels.

Tax rate —

standing bond and time warrant debt, as of Jan. 1, 1962, of $198,917 which will be reduced to $160,958.50 by Jan. 1, 1963. During 1963 $37,958.50 of the debt will be retired and $5,717.50 in interest paid. The county proposes to spend from all county funds (not including hospital) next year $410,208.80, $65,310.23 less than the $475,519.03 of 1962.

The county anticipates a decrease of $65,233.08 in other receipts, other than ad valorem taxes next year, but the starting balance is expected to be up $17,907.62.

Judge Parker explained that an investment in securities this last year which had to go through the budget was one of the big factors in predicted decreased expenditures.

He also pointed out that in the precinct funds, less will be spent in 1963 for machinery as the precinct equipment is now in good shape.

The breakdown in the 95 cent county-wide levy includes .85 for jury operating funds, 10 cents for road and bridge equipment, 15 cents for road and bridge special, 45 cents for general, 5 cents per permanent improvements and 15 cents for hospital sinking fund.

The Precinct No. 2 rate will be 50 cents next year and precinct No. 3 will be 30 cents. Precincts 1 and 4 have no outstanding indebtedness.

The proposed budget shows that the Garza Memorial Hospital for 1963 is expected to again operate "in the black" without any tax fund help except should an emergency develop as did this year when $13,350 had to be spent for purchase of new x-ray equipment.

The hospital budget foresees an estimated cash income of $105,000 with a balance as of the start of the year of $6,106. Total disbursements are estimated at $108,900, which will leave a year-ending balance of $3,106.

The budget also shows that the hospital sinking fund balance will continue to climb through next year to $52,861.33 from $46,875.83 estimated at the close of 1962 despite payment of bond and interest.

All in all, after a study of the 45-page proposed budget the county and hospital appear to be in excellent financial shape.

Rain aids crops, water situation

The .23 of an inch of rain that fell here late Monday night helped thirsty cropland in the immediate Post area and eased the City of Post's water shortage threat.

Monday night's rain was not general, however. Only a sprinkle was reported in the Justiceburg area. A few miles northeast of town, on the other hand, up to half an inch was measured.

Some dryland cotton is suffering from hot, dry weather to the extent that it is beginning to shed, County Agent Syd Conner said.

Along with breaking a torrid heat spell, the rain Monday night also eased the water situation here. The city reservoir was "right at full" Tuesday morning after having dwindled alarmingly during the

44 candidates expected for Monday's first grid drill

14 lettermen returning; opening tilt is Sept. 7

Football drills for an anticipated 44 candidates for the 1962 Post High School football squad will begin Saturday morning, Aug. 20, Coach Harold Teal said.

Teal said equipment will be ready Saturday morning so practices can be taken for this week's football programs. All practices are to be held at the school house by 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

The principal workout bench day's practice will begin about 10 a. m. each day, and the public is invited to attend these evening practice sessions, the coach said.

The 44 boys expected to return for the first day's practice, lettermen from the 1961 team.

The 44 grid hopefuls will include 14 seniors, 8 juniors and 22 sophomores.

Colorado City is in the stage fishing derby by Labor Day.

Colorado City—A full-fledged fishing derby with prizes for all ages has been announced for Labor Day, Sept. 3, at Lake Colorado just southwest of this central-west Texas town.

The derby, under the joint sponsorship of the City Recreation Department, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Jaycees, will kick off at 8 a. m. Registrations will be open until 2 p. m., however, line for registering catches is long. Prize winners will be named.

Quarters for the derby will be at Park on the east shore of Lake, but registration stations, fishermen and catches will be at the following locations: Creek Camp, Cooper's, Hogue's Fishing Camp, Lake Camp, Mattie's Cafe, and the Fisherman's Club.

Prizes will be awarded in each of the age groups. The Midget group includes kids from one through six years of age. Kids from six through 11 will compete in the Junior division, while those 12 through 16 will vie in the Intermediate age group. All those over 18 will be in the Senior division. A special division for "expert" fishermen is in the planning stage.

The derby is planned for the end of the West Texas area, according to W. W. Wistrand, project chairman and City Recreation Director. "I want people to come from far and wide to join in the fun on Labor Day, and to see what good fishing and boating facilities we have," Mrs. Wistrand said.

Rodeo at Pampa begins Aug. 22

PAMPA — A combination of the world's greatest rodeo stock and the top cowboys of the rodeo game is promised by Wiley Reynolds, president of the Top 'O' Texas Rodeo Association.

The rodeo begins here Aug. 22 and continues through Aug. 25 with performances at 8 p. m.

Beutler Bros. of Elk City, Okla., have been engaged to supply the contest stock.

The large list of cowboy entries will include some of the RCA world champions of the past year.

A registered Quarter Horse Show will be held on Aug. 23-24 at 1 o'clock each afternoon.

Colorado newcomer on Tech's grid schedule

LUBBOCK — A newcomer, three Southwest Conference foes, and a long-time rival will be met in Jones Stadium here by Texas Tech's Red Raiders.

On the football card for the first time is University of Colorado, Big Eight champion and Orange Bowl participant. The Buffaloes will be Dad's Day opponent at 2 p. m. Nov. 17.

Both co-champions of the Southwest Conference, University of Texas and University of Arkansas, will be played here.

Texas' Longhorns collide with the Red Raiders at 7:30 p. m. Sept. 29, and the Razorbacks come to Lubbock for the finale, at 2 p. m. Nov. 24. Third SWC member performing in Lubbock will be Southern Methodist, a homecoming foe at 2 p. m.

New junior high coach on scene

Dwain Robertson of Mineola arrived in Post Tuesday morning to assume his new duties as junior high school coach here, Athletic Director Harold Teal announces.

Robertson, who is 28, was accompanied by his wife and their two children, a three-year-old daughter and a son, one and one-half years old.

The new coach is a graduate of East Texas State College at Commerce and has been at Mineola, a Class AA school, for the past two years. He will coach junior high school football and basketball. Teal said.

Play under way in Post softball loop

Post's new men's softball league, off to a late start, but with enthusiasm high among the players, got off the ground Tuesday night with a pair of games at the Babe Ruth League Park.

Two games are scheduled for tonight, with the first one scheduled for 7 o'clock, and there will be games every Tuesday and Thursday night for the remainder of the season.

In Tuesday night's opening game, Team No. 3 defeated Team No. 1 by a score of 9 to 3, and Team No. 2 walloped Team No. 4, 17 to 1.

Team No. 5, the other aggregation in the five-team league, sees its first action tonight against Team No. 4 in the 7 o'clock game. In the second game, Team No. 2 will play Team No. 3.

League President Jack Kennedy and secretary Frank Blanton explain that the teams are not yet named and have no sponsors, but that plans are being made for a full season next year, at which time sponsors will be obtained.

Managers of the teams are Garland Huddleston and Bob Smith, Team No. 1; Jackie Hays, Team

No. 2; Jack Kennedy, Team No. 3, and Frank Blanton, Team No. 4. The name of the manager of Team No. 5 was not immediately available.

The schedule calls for play to continue through Aug. 28, following which there will be a playoff for the championship, probably a three-out-of-five series, Blanton said.

About 75 men make up the rosters of the five teams in the league. In Tuesday night's opening games, Petey Hays was the winning pitcher and Lewis Ammons the loser in Team No. 3's win over Team No. 1, and in the second game, Jackie Hays was the winner and Wilbert Bigott the loser.

The standings:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Team No. 2	1	0	1.000
Team No. 3	1	0	1.000
Team No. 1	0	1	.000
Team No. 4	0	1	.000
Team No. 5	0	0	.000

Cotton Producer Institute elects officers, establishes committees

PHOENIX — Cotton Producers Institute trustees at their first lished committees to put expanded research and promotion funds to work for their fiber.

The 10-man group, elected earlier by producers participating in the voluntary plan from the Texas High Plains westward through California, named Russell Giffen, Fresno, Calif., chairman and J. Clyde Wilson, Buckeye, Ariz., vice chairman.

At an Aug. 7 meeting, the trustees also named an executive committee consisting of Keith Walden, Tucson, Ariz., chairman; J. Russell Kennedy, Bakersfield, Calif.; Roy Forkner, Lubbock, Tex.; Mr. Giffen and Mr. Wilson.

Boswell Stevens of Macon, Miss., chairman of the Special Beltwide Producers Committee that developed procedures under which the Institute was organized, was named an ex-officio member of the trustees. Clifford Kirkpatrick, Memphis, National Cotton Council field service director, was elected secretary.

The trustees took action to initiate immediately some of the Institute's promotion plans. In addition, Mr. Giffen said trustees will meet again in the immediate future to consider other specific research and promotion projects to be carried out on a grant or contract basis.

Use of Council facilities and staff for developing and supervising projects has been granted the Institute without charge by the Board of Directors of the Council. Thus, 100 per cent of every dollar of Institute funds will go for operating programs, the chairman explained.

The trustees heard the Institute has gained wide acceptance by growers in areas initiating the plan this year and that it is meeting with unqualified success.

John Valdez is award winner at baseball camp

Johnny Valdez is home from the Big State Boys Baseball Summer Camp at Meridian, Tex., where he won this summer's Sportsmanship Award.

Valdez, who will be a senior in Post High School, played shortstop on a team that was undefeated in 12 games at the camp. He had 19 hits in 54 at-bats for a batting average of .373 and drove in 10 runs.

Johnnie Carrigan, who conducts the summer camp, described the Post youth as "a tremendous shortstop; good hands; fast; hits well; well liked by all."

Valdez was a member of Post's American Legion Junior Baseball team, playing the infield and pitching. He also played on the Post Panther nine this summer.

Thanks to Brown Bros. Oil & Chemicals here, Antelope Stadium is enclosed by a brand-new cyclone-type fence.

The fence was furnished by Brown Bros., and labor in erecting it was provided by the oil firm's personnel.

"The fence is second to none in this area," Coach Harold Teal said. "On behalf of the athletic department, I wish to express our thanks to Brown Bros. for the fence."

It's the Law in TEXAS

GIFTS TO CHILDREN
People often make gifts to youngsters and sometimes save on income and death taxes as well. The giver may set aside money for children until they become of age or until they need it.

But such gifts may be complex. For remember, there are gift taxes on the subject of the gift, and income taxes on the income from it.

1. The parent or guardian may want to keep control of the money. If they keep too much control, they may not complete the gift and the unexpected tax savings will go out the window. The parents' control may allow them to take back the gift, and so it is not really a gift.

2. Property is hard for children to manage. They cannot very well make contracts or buy or sell the property. But it costs too much, as a rule, to set up a trust for each piece of property for each child.

And so to encourage gifts to children, the law has a simple way to make and administer gifts under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act. This law applies mainly to gifts and stock shares.

This law creates the "custodian" with powers much like those of a trustee or guardian. He is often a parent - donor who manages the stock. He may reinvest or sell the stock for the child.

The custodian must act as a "prudent person." He cannot lawfully buy and sell the stock for his own benefit, nor can he be negligent. The gift can only be used for the minor's benefit, and for his support and education. The custodian cannot mingle his own property with the child's. After the child becomes 21 the whole gift or what is left of it must go to him.

In rare cases, the law may let a giver revoke his gift, as when he gave it in contemplation of the minor's marriage which did not take place. He may also revoke the gift if it was made as a result of undue influence or fraud.

Other ways of giving to minors are also fairly inexpensive. For example, one may create a trust for children which has tax advantages.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Kent county jail to get medallion

The first jail in Kent County has been found worthy of a Texas Historical Building Medallion. John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, member of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, announced.

Historical Buildings medallions are awards presented by the State of Texas for structures of historical significance to the area in which they exist and to the State.

This is the first medallion award for Kent County. A total of 166 medallions have been awarded over the state since the program was inaugurated in March of this year.

The old Kent County jail is located in Claiborne which, until 1864, was the county seat of Kent County. It was built of red sandstone rock in 1894 and housed many early-day violators of the law and was considered one of the hardest to break out of in West Texas, according to D. J. Young of Jayton, judge of Kent County.

Judge Young said plans are to have the building repaired and preserved in its original state of use as a historical site.

The medallion will be presented for the jail at the Panhandle-South Plains Meeting of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee with County Historical Survey Committees in Amarillo on Aug. 18. Shepperd announced. Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo, acting lieutenant governor of Texas, will make the presentation.

The medallion is 14 inches in diameter. It is made of cast aluminum with Swedish steel effect. Red, white and blue stars and the words, 'State Historical Survey Committee' encircle a raised map of Texas.

There are 1,000 million in a billion.

Lubbock man is bond chairman

John Whitcomb, division manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Lubbock, has been appointed district chairman for the Texas Savings Bonds committee. This announcement was made recently by Ed Gossett, state bond head.

Whitcomb served as chairman of the recent Freedom Bond Drive in Lubbock County. In this new role as District 4 chairman, he will coordinate the bond selling activities of volunteers, banks, and others in the Lubbock district. This district includes Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Garza, Hockley, Kent, King, Lynn, Lubbock, Stonewall, Terry, and Yoakum counties.

"Whitcomb has an outstanding record as a civic and business leader, and will be a welcome addition to our growing list of patriotic Texans who devote time and effort to serving their country through the Savings Bonds program," Gossett said in making the announcement.

Texas tourism lagging; ad need is emphasized

AUSTIN —The decline of the Texas tourist industry slowed slightly but did not stop in 1961. The annual Tourist Industry Report compiled by the state's official tourist agency, the Texas Highway Department, revealed today that the number of tourists visiting Texas dropped for the fourth straight year.

Total visitors to Texas during 1961 were 8,408,000, a decline of some two per cent below the 8,600,000 who visited the state in 1960. Last year's guests spent only $440 million in the state as compared to 1960's total expenditures of $457 million.

The reason for the continued sag in the tourist advertising programs of other states, said Herbert C. Petry Jr., chairman of the Texas Highway Commission.

"Aggressive media advertising programs by other states continue to lure prospective visitors away from Texas—a state which has no funds as yet for media advertising," Petry said.

He pointed out that the 1961 drop was slightly less than the decline registered during several previous years, and said he believed it is due to two things:

1. The effect of the "collateral" tourist attraction program being waged by the Highway Department (operation of Tourist Bureaus, distribution of Travel Maps and Brochures);
2. The concerted efforts of many local tourist development groups and chambers of commerce, and the assistance of the newly created Texas Tourist Council, a private organization designed to supplement state tourist-attracting activities.

"Texans are waking up to the value of the tourist industry, and this encouraging new attitude is showing some results," Petry said.

"Texas is a world within itself," Petry said. "In its variety of attractions it has everything to offer tourists except winter sports. Yet the ranking of the tourist industry in Texas gives cause for grave concern.

"Nationally, the tourist industry ranks third — below only manufacturing and agriculture. But in Texas, it ranks only 13th. However, with the proper effort we can help this industry achieve its great potential," he said.

"But the state will never really take the offensive and begin to show a gain rather than a loss until it has funds for media advertising and can compete effectively with other states," he said.

Petry said he hopes that the forthcoming session of the Texas Legislature will make available funds to launch a media advertising campaign.

Petry pointed out that the tourist industry of 1961 was, despite its decline, a valuable source of revenue for the state. Tourist dollars accounted for an estimated $23 million in direct state taxes, and the money spent by tourists created and supported 84,000 jobs for Texans—16,000 jobs in the accommodations field; 59,000 in food; 5,000 in transportation; and 4,000 in miscellaneous industries.

Q. Has Congress passed the bill for World War I veterans' pensions?

A. Bills providing pensions for World War I veterans have been introduced in the current session of Congress but none as yet have been acted upon by either the house or the Senate. Of course, there is an over-all pension law that is administered by the VA.

Q. Does the VA provide homes for veterans who for one reason or another are penniless or incapable of earning a living?

A. There are domiciliarys for that purpose and entrance requirements are similar to entry into VA hospitals. Contact your nearest VA office.

Q. Where are the Veterans Affairs Offices of the State Department located?

A. To facilitate serving VA beneficiaries in certain foreign areas having unusually large concentrations of veterans and their beneficiaries, Veterans Affairs Offices are maintained at the American embassies in London, Paris, Rome, and Mexico City and at the American consulate general in Frankfurt, Germany.

Jack Hill grows first '62 maize

Garza County's first load of maize was brought into Caprock Grain Co. yesterday from the farm of Jack Hill in the Close City community.

The grain was harvested by Corner Howell off the Hill farm, at the first load weighed 147 pounds, with two other loads being brought in from the same farm for a total of 45,000 pounds.

Mr. Hill was awarded a Stetson hat by Caprock Grain Co. as a grower of the first load of grain.

Mike Mitchell of the grain company reported the moisture content of the first load as 22.07, with moisture content dropping to 17 on the other loads.

The grain is later than usual this year and is needing rain. Harvesting is expected to be in full swing by Oct. 1.

Pickup planned for stray dogs in city

Police Chief Elton Corley announced this week the dog wagon will start making the rounds of the city again picking up stray dogs.

"With school about to start, we need to get all the strays roaming the town picked up so they won't be a menace on the school yard," Corley explained.

He explained dogs picked up will be held three days at the city pound. Those claiming them have to have them vaccinated before the dogs will be released.

Windham-Bowen vows spoken in ceremony here Saturday

Agnes Windham, 3928 Collins, Fort Worth, became the bride of Jerrald Bowen of Wink, Friday night at 7 o'clock in the Baptist Church.

Rev. C. B. Hogue, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with a bouquet of white gladioli and pink daisies with palms and hydrangeas on either side. Windham is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Windham, former residents of Post. Mr. Bowen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Bowen of Brownwood.

Wearing a street length dress of white whipped cream tulle with a sweetheart neckline, short sleeves, and short skirt, the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Donald Windham. She wore a crown hat with a short tulle veil. Her ensemble was complemented with a single strand of pearls and gold hoop earrings which belonged to her mother. She carried a cascade of stephanotis centered with white cymbidium orchids atop a white Bible.

Miss Sanya Sullivan of Fort Worth, maid of honor, was the only attendant. She wore a street-length sheath dress of pink silk with scooped neckline and elbow length sleeves. She wore a matching overskirt and a hat of tulle, and dyed-to-match silk shoes. Miss Sullivan wore a single strand of pearls and small earrings, a gift from the bride, and carried a cascade of pink carnations.

The reception took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Windham, 601 West 6th St. A small table with the Bridal Book to register guests was decorated with an arrangement of pink carnations around a white taper. The reception table featured the maid-of-honor's bouquet. Traditional white wedding cake and fruit punch were served.

Miss Sharon and Karon Windham, twin nieces of the bride, were candeliers.

Those present at the 12 noon luncheon were: Miss Agnes Windham, Jerrald Bowen, Miss Sanya Sullivan of Fort Worth, Mrs. Dale Andress, Linda and Jimmy of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Auvy McBride, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Windham and family.

Boyd Bowen of Midland served his brother as groom. Ushers were Donnie Windham, nephew of the bride, and Frankie Gary, cousin of the groom.

Decorations carried out the chosen colors of two shades of pink and white with the centerpiece being an arrangement of pale pink roses.

For travel in Southwest Texas, the bride wore a rose silk sheath with white accessories.

BARBECUE BEANS WHET APPETITES

Those family appetites seem to be getting more and more voracious as the summer winds its way to a close. Regardless of the hot sticky weather, enthusiastic participation in outdoor activities produces increased appetites.

If you find it more and more difficult to produce warm weather meals to satisfy the hungry ones at supper, try this top-of-stove casserole of wonderfully tangy canned barbecue beans, spiced with bits of hard salami and a dash of mustard.

With this appetite-whetting (and nourishing) main dish, serve brightly colored mugs of beef broth and a tossed salad of raw vegetables for a change of pace. (Carrots, cauliflower, green onions, and lettuce mix together well.) Pass a large tray of mixed fruits and cheeses for dessert. A complimentary meal if ever you served one!

Barbecue Bean Casserole
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (1 pound) barbecue beans
1/4 cup hard salami, diced or cut in strips
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

In saucepan, cook onion in butter until tender. Add beans, salami, and mustard. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

My Turn

BY MRS. C.

Chita Falls certainly gave the Texas Press Association a welcome—112 degrees of heat one day while we were driving in to Falls last Thursday, announcing the temperature in being each song that was played. We first tuned in, the temperature was only 100, but as we nearer it kept going up and the time we arrived it was 107. Even driving in an air-conditioned car, one can start getting warmer and warmer when one is hearing the temperature rise. We were positively suffocated by the time we finally arrived. We'd come by cowboy wagon.

Really had VIP treatment attending our meeting. We had Sheppard Air Force Base air-conditioned buses and even got off the buses, they took us in all the air-conditioned things they could. Since Sheppard is one of the training centers, we were fortunate to be in the Atlas—like Mr. Glenn made trip in.

Had to wear little plastic helmet while looking the missiles (for safety's sake) and although we'd joined up.

Strategic Air Command has a base there, too, and we got to crawl through this restricted area. It is patrolled day by guards and at night men are both used. They are going to line the dog patrol to see to, but decided it too hot to bring the canines. This they announced in all buses while we stood out in burning hot weather.

Air Corps band was playing as we arrived at SAC headquarters. It was pretty easy to see that they thought of us as stood in full uniform out in 112-degree day playing. The Saints Go Marching. Rather an appropriate tune for the occasion, don't you think? Don't help but wonder what thought about not bringing the heat, too.

Wished you all could have with us to hear Mr. D. D. director of the Office of Space Agency (commonly referred to as NASA) from Washington, D. C. He talked for an hour on space program without a note of "ah" and gave me a little faith in our country. A few men of that calibre, we have to worry too much about country. He didn't even mention the program costs and I know how to make that feeling that they ought to pay taxes for this program when they wish.

As you can tell, we had fun and our minds enlightened all at the same time. It was even a day (Monday) and plow into work at Ye Ole Dis-

Grim headline for textile industry

The banner headline in The Greenville (S. C.) News last Friday was not a happy one for those connected with the textile industry.

It was over a special dispatch from Washington. Former Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens told the Senate Finance Committee that "excessive" cotton textile imports are making his company cut work schedules for 4,706 employees in eight plants, including 1,919 in three South Carolina mills.

Stevens is president of J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc., a competitor of Burlington Industries, which owns Postex Cotton Mills here.

Some plants were trimmed from five to four days of operations and others from six to five. Stevens testified the trade bill giving President Kennedy broad tariff-cutting powers must be tightened by the Senate to protect the mobilization base of defense—those essential industries, which are now being forced to open plants overseas to survive the cut-throat competition of low-wage foreign firms.

The heart of the problem, Stevens said, is that plants are being established overseas not only to preserve export markets, but also in many instances to supply the American market at a lower cost.

Total that up and it means American industry is now being forced by competition to "export American jobs overseas."

If carried too far on its present course, it is easy to see what can eventually happen to the highly competitive textile industry, already hard hit by intense foreign competition.

Stevens called it "a dangerous fact that half of the American woolen and worsted industry industry has been liquidated since World War II and the remainder could not supply all military and civilian clothing needed in another war."

Foreign firms taking over American markets cannot protect America in time of war, Stevens said, calling for amendments to strengthen the national security provisions of the bill. He said they are "desperately needed." He complained the Office of Emergency Planning has not yet ruled that rising imports of textiles from low-wage countries are endangering the mobilization base of the American textile industry. With such a finding President Kennedy could impose import quotas.

Stevens also complained that the tariff commission has not approved an extra fee on cotton textile imports to offset the government subsidy, which enables foreign mills to buy American cotton for 8½ cents per pound less than the domestic mills have to pay.

Both of these decisions had been expected in President Kennedy's 7-point textile program of May, 1961.

The Dispatch is calling attention to this testimony because it points up some of the important national problems of our textile industry. We are a small West Texas town, but the textile industry is mighty important to us all. It is essential that we know and understand the problems. Whatever influence we have in the political arena we should throw in support of our Post industry.

It is mighty easy for any business or industry to be choked to death in Washington these days. And what happens on such matters in Washington have real significance on the future of our fine Postex Plant here.—JC

Our 'history' deserves recognition

Garza County, naturally, congratulates neighboring Kent County on being one of the first, if not the first, in this area to receive a Historical Building Medallion for its old county jail building at Clairemont.

At the same time, historical-minded Garza countians probably are wondering if we can't get some building approved for a Medallion or some historical site approved for a marker. Both the Medallions and the markers come through the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, but it takes some "doing" on the part of local residents to have them approved and put in place.

The markers, in fact, cost several hundred dollars to install, but that isn't too much if a county has a historical site worthy of the recognition.

Now that County Judge J. E. Parker has appointed a Garza County Historical Survey Committee, perhaps we can get something done toward getting one of the Medallions or one of the more expensive markers.

Judge Parker has indicated to this newspaper that he is open to suggestions from civic clubs, women's clubs and other organizations as to suitable sites and/or buildings in Garza County which might qualify for such recognition.

One site that comes to the mind of this writer is the approximate place on the caprock, west of Post, where the town's founder, C. W. Post, conducted his widely publicized rain-making experiments. These experiments probably gained as much national recognition as any event occurring in Texas in the early part of this century. C. W. Post's rain-making experiments were the subject of articles in Harper's Magazine, then, as now, one of the nation's leading publications, and in numerous other periodicals and newspapers with nation-wide circulations.

Some of The Dispatch's readers may think of other sites equally as deserving of a historical marker, or of some old building that would qualify for a Historical Building Medallion. Any and all suggestions from individuals or from organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce, no doubt would be welcomed by Judge Parker and by members of the newly-appointed County Historical Survey Committee.

Garza County has had a colorful history in its relatively short fifty-odd years. Let's not pass up any chances of joining the bandwagon on these Medallions and markers.—CD

Annual warning—sounded early

The Post Dispatch's annual warning to motorists to be on the alert for the safety of all the children in traffic, now that the opening of the new school term is less than three weeks away, is sounded earlier than usual this year, for a very special reason.

During the days remaining between now and the time classes start, mother and, in many instances, dads, too, will be herding youngsters around town to get them fitted out for the coming term.

And no matter how careful their parents, the natural coltishness of the younger ones who are not yet as well disciplined as they may be some weeks after school starts, may cause them to dart into danger.

This is why local school authorities, traffic officials and police join in sounding the earlier-than-customary alert; why they seek to impress upon the car driver his adult responsibility for the welfare of the young.

"School's open" signs will begin to appear soon all over the area to remind motorists to be on the alert.—CD

Beware of any "free" offers

Good advice comes from the Better Business Bureau of Dallas to beware of free offers when dealing with magazine subscription salesmen or encyclopedia salesmen. "You may have to pay more than the item is worth in order to take advantage of the free offer," the Dallas BBB says.

One Dallas woman reported to the BBB that a salesman offered a national magazine subscription for "only 30 cents a week" and added that she would get two other magazines completely free. "When I tried to tell the salesman that I would be paying at least part of the cost of the 'free' magazines because the 30 cents a week was more than the newsstand price, he just got mad and abusive," she said.

Some encyclopedia salesmen offer the prospective customer a free set of encyclopedias, usually asking that the customer in return for the "free" set of books, give the company a testimonial letter and allow the use of their name for advertising purposes.

They say that's all there is to it, but most often, the customer also is required to buy supplemental services of the company and end up paying the full retail price of the encyclopedias.

We don't have as many magazine and encyclopedia salesmen calling on us here in Post as they do in Dallas, of course, and some of the salesmen in both places are bona fide sales representatives strictly on the up-and-up. But so many are not, that it pays to beware of any "free" offers.—CD

Olton, Springlake's loss heavy

One of the saddest tragedies that could befall a town has been experienced by Olton and by the neighboring town of Springlake, both in Lamb County.

Seven young people, all in their teens, were killed when a speeding passenger train struck their car at a crossing near Lubbock. The victims were all well known and members of loved and respected families in the two communities. They were en route to a church picnic when their car stalled on the tracks.

Youngsters such as these, who uphold the virtues of wholesome recreation and stand out as examples for other youth to follow, are our state and our country's greatest need. It is indeed heartbreaking to lose them in so sudden and tragic a manner. We share in the bereavement of their loved ones and the entire communities in which they lived.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

Our people loved the splendid rain Monday. And our people also welcomed the news that the county tax rate had been whittled from $1.80 to $1.70 on the same day. We have much to be thankful for here in Martin County. A few more oil wells and an increase in property valuations next year may result in another cut. But right now let's be grateful for the action of the Commissioner's Court. It is indeed refreshing to have men in our county government who are working for the best interest of the taxpayers.—Neal Estes in The Stanton Reporter.

A balanced economy these days is holding a mortgage in each hand.—Bob Jones in The Gaines County News.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

ONE OF THE Dispatch readers—a man who doesn't lose sight of the world news while keeping a weather eye peeled—wonders if the Russians putting two men into orbit Saturday had anything to do with the cool front that came in Monday morning. Could be.

The man up the street says the trouble with staying home from work is that you have to drink coffee on your own time.

IT ISN'T ONLY a small world, but it is getting smaller. Mrs. Ralph Welch, who with her husband and his brother and wife are just back from a two and one-half week vacation trip that included a visit to the World's Fair in Seattle, tells us something that convinces us that the world is getting smaller every day.

The four Welch's were at the big Seattle fair on the day that attendance reached the 58,000 mark. And where do you think the first folks they talked to at the Fair were from? Snyder, which is only a little more than 40 miles away from Post. The Welch's did not know the Snyder people before talking to them at the Fair, and Mrs. Welch said they considered it amazing that out of 58,000 people, they should carry on their first conversation with some Snyder folks—next door neighbors, so to speak.

BUT THAT WASN'T all. The Welch's went into one place to register as visitors to the Fair, and where do you think the couple just ahead of them were from? You guessed it—Snyder. And they weren't the same Snyder folks the Welch's had talked to on the other occasion.

But, there was another happening on the trip that made the Welch's think the world isn't so small, after all. They went by Cave Junction, Ore., to see their youngest son, Larry, but didn't get to see him. Larry, a fire-jumper with the U. S. Forestry Service, was away on a fire jump. The Post people did, however, get to see another son, Gary, who was in ROTC training at Tacoma, Wash. Still another son of the Welch's, Bernie, is with President Kennedy's Peace Corps in Punjab, India.

From the PEN of J. W. Richards of the Pageland (S. C.) Journal: "It develops that the oldest war for which our government is still giving pensions is that of 1812. Hurrah! The Revolution is paid for."

A small town is where you can chat for an hour over the phone even when you get the wrong number.

I HEARD ONE of the latest beatnik jokes during a recent coffee break. It's about three beatniks who were driving 90 MPH. The one in the back seat noticed that his door was rattling and slammed it shut.

"Hey, man," the driver asked, "who got in?"

The publisher just looked over our shoulder and read the beatnik joke. He immediately suggested that we hurry up and cut this week's column short.

SHORT AND SWEET: Rest experts say a normal person probably would die if he were forced to stay awake for 10 days. . . . Only about 12 per cent of the visitors who come to Washington, D. C., do so for business reasons. . . . Civilization has completed the full cycle. The University of Arizona has a committee on committees. . . . There's a town in England named "No Place." Population, 289. . . . Notice on a Washington bureaucrat's desk. "The secrecy of my job doesn't permit me to know what I'm doing."

My other reader has called my attention to these "Ten Commandments for Traffic Safety."

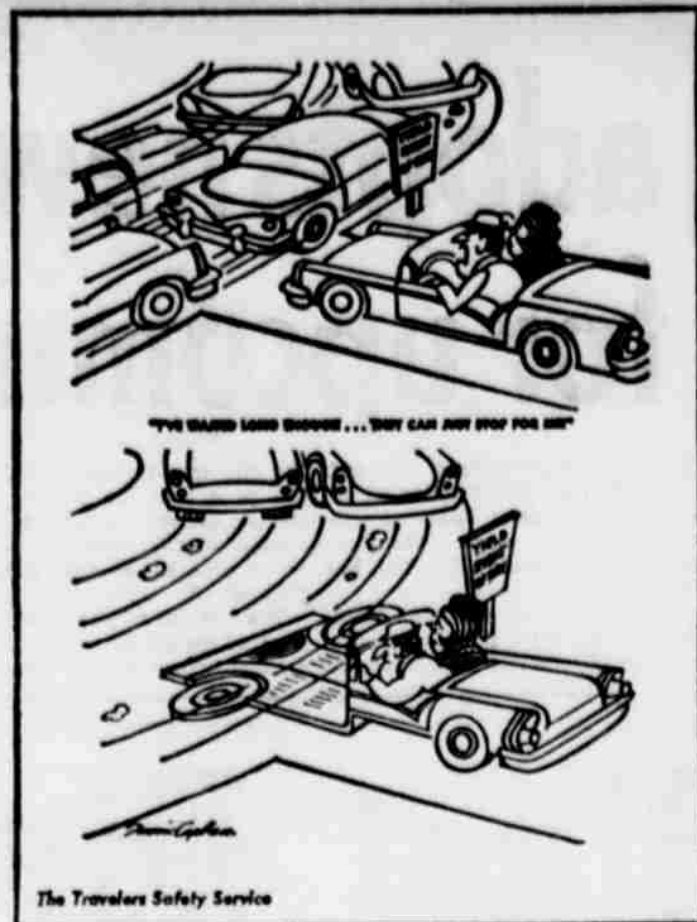

1. Thou shalt not murder by motor.
2. Thou shalt not mix alcohol with gasoline.
3. Thou shalt not exceed the speed limit.
4. Thou shalt not follow too closely.
5. Thou shalt not weave from lane to lane.
6. Thou shalt not fail to signal.
7. Thou shalt not be courteous to thy fellow motorist.
8. Thou shalt not lose thy temper.
9. Thou shalt favor the pedestrian and bicyclist.
10. Honor traffic laws that thy days may be long.

"Painted Eyes"

Today many women think they are modern and up to date when they dress a certain way. One of these fads that has swept through the country with some women has been eye painting. At first you were reminded of looking at a Siamese cat, according to some comments. Anyway you look at it, and regardless how one feels about it, the women can't be denied their right to paint their eyes if they so desire. Russian women may not have this right.

Anyhow, the main thing this scribe wants to get over is that this custom is old foggy. Many of our young people accuse adults of being old foggy. Painting the eyes began at least about 3,150 years ago (c850 B.C.). How OLD foggy could you get? Besides, this woman that painted her eyes didn't have a very good character. Her name was Jezebel. The story is interesting. She heard of a certain man coming (Jehu), "and she painted her eyes, and attired her head . . ." (2 Kings 9:30, American Standard Version). The story continues with her being killed by this man.

WORTH — With all legal aspects apparently settled, Texas Christian University will provide the next half-century of expansion for the city by purchasing from the City of Worth in the next few days adjacent Worth Hills Golf course.

Acquisition of the 106-acre tract almost double the present 138-acre campus in the city's southern suburbs.

Under the plan, the city may require some of the area within a limited time if needed for municipal purposes such as street expansion. However, indications are that most of the land will go to the university.

TCU will pay $6,500 per acre, or some $690,000 for the land.

With the funds, the city's Recreation Department plans to build two new municipal golf courses. One, a 27-hole layout, will be started at once near Lake Benbrook, south of the city.

"Purchase of Worth Hills for TCU's expansion is the culmination of a dream held for many decades by leaders of the city and university," said TCU Chancellor M. E. Sadler.

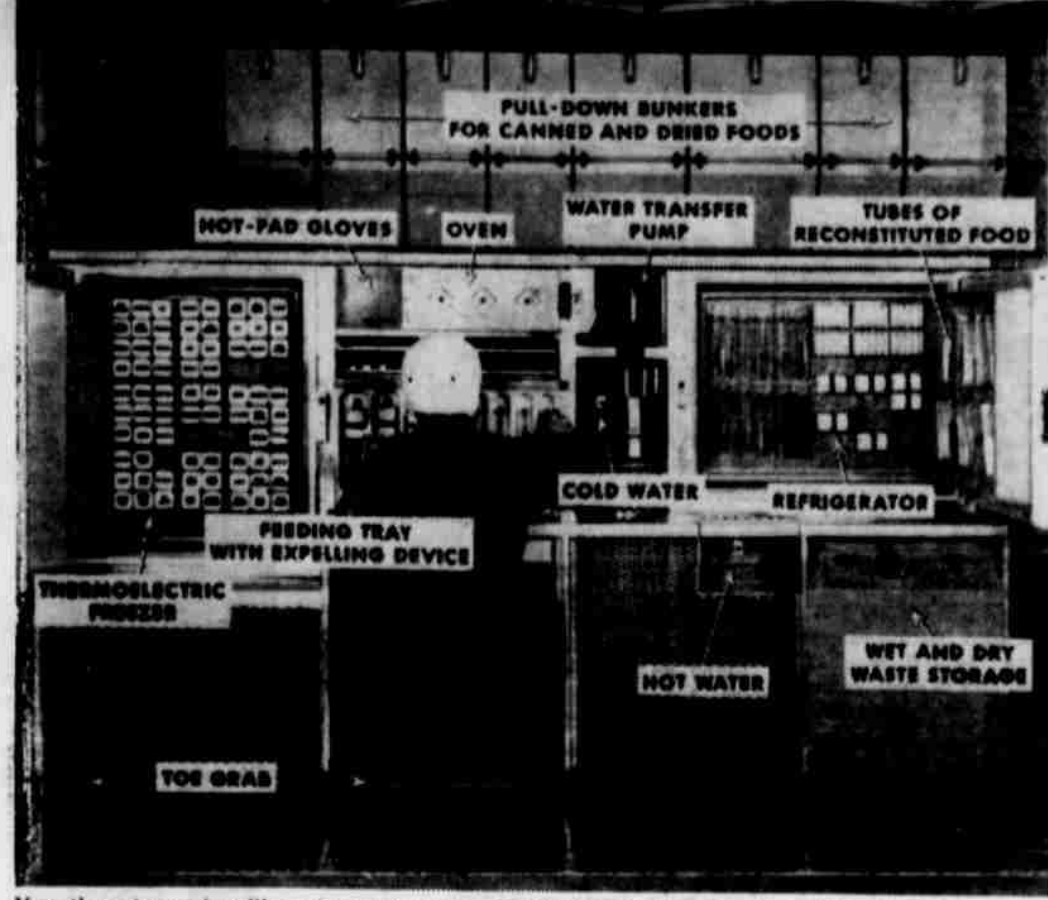

"As our present campus became more and more crowded, the need for additional growing room became acute. Purchase of the course, which will also provide fine new recreational facilities for the people, was the ideal solution.

"Although we cannot know what the future will bring, of course, I feel confident the university will now have room to develop and expand for the next 50 years."

Sale of the course for that purpose was approved by the voters of Fort Worth by more than 2-1 in a special election last September. Validity of the sale was upheld by State courts including the Texas

WHAT FIBER RANKS HIGHEST IN MEN'S SPORT SHIRTS?

COTTON IS CHOSEN NINE TO ONE.

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862, the same year that

IN TEXAS... the entire state waited, with hopes and prayers, for news of Terry's Texas Rangers, beloved for their courage, daring and skill as fighters. With Albert Sidney Johnston in Kentucky, in and out of Tennessee with Nathan Bedford Forrest, into Georgia with Fighting Joe Wheeler... where there was a battle to be won for the South, the Rangers were there!

And then, as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation—light, sparkling refreshment that adds a touch of Southwestern hospitality to any occasion. Texans have always enjoyed the good fellowship that goes with every glass.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

New amendment cited as big threat to city governments

Texas municipal officials have been advised that they "might as well close down everything but the city jail" if a proposed amendment to the Texas Constitution is adopted this fall.

George E. Murphy, president of the Texas Municipal League, told officials of the more than 600 member cities of the League that the so-called "trial de novo" amendment, to be voted on Nov. 6, Supreme Court recently.

Indications now are that TCU will take possession of the land next spring and construction of first buildings will start in the fall of 1963.

"They will be dormitories," Dr. Sadler said. "For the past three years, all living space on campus has been reserved months in advance. We now have long waiting lists."

Use of the land will be carefully planned to preserve the beauty of the section. One major installation eventually will be a graduate research building or complex in which the university's burgeoning research programs will be concentrated.

"could, as presently written, virtually destroy municipal government in Texas, except for certain of its police powers."

"There is no reason to believe that sponsors of the proposed amendment meant to cause havoc and mischief that could result for our cities if the proposal were adopted by vote of the majority this year," Murphy said. "On the basis of the opinion of our legal staff and the judgment of outstanding members of the Bar whom we have consulted, however, I must advise you that very grim consequences could result for cities and all local government if our State Constitution were amended in the manner proposed."

Murphy pointed out that the "trial de novo" procedures would mean that "even the most simple action or decision by any administrative agency or officer of municipal government could be subject to inexhaustible litigation in the courts. Our cities could, in effect, be placed under the control of the State Courts, rather than the locally-elected Councils."

As examples of the "mischief" that could be caused by the "trial de novo" procedure, Murphy listed the following:

1. City Councils might have their authority to enforce zoning regulations nullified, meaning that if an application were denied for permission to construct a commercial establishment in a residential area, applicants could, in effect, ignore the Council's ruling and involve property-owners and city officials in costly court proceedings.
2. If municipal health inspectors found insanitary conditions in a public eating place, they could not require a clean-up without a court battle which might last for a period of years.
3. Decisions to hire—or not hire—applicants for municipal employment could be taken to court. Municipal control over employment practices—including hiring, firing, promotion, salaries, etc.—could, in effect, be transferred from City Hall to the courtroom.
4. Even the granting of a dog license by city agencies could be made subject to review in the courts.

"The real loser from this change," Murphy said, "would be the local taxpayer. If he went to City Hall for a decision, neither the taxpayer nor the city government itself could be certain that the most simple administrative decision would be final. Every decision could be made subject to court review and the burden of proof could be imposed upon municipal government, rather than upon the individual instigating the suit."

"It is entirely conceivable that costs resulting from the 'trial de novo' procedure could force an increase of one-third to one-half in municipal budgets of many cities and require corresponding increases in tax rates."

Murphy emphasized that, "As worded, this amendment could mean the end of local self-government in Texas. It would place the effective control not only of our cities but of our school districts, water districts, flood control districts, and our counties entirely in the hands of the Legislature and could make Courts the Administrators of local government in Texas."

"If this amendment were to be adopted in its present form, it would have the incredible effect of making Texas the first and only political body in this country to abandon and destroy the system of checks and balances between the branches of government which is so indispensable to our freedom."

Something you should think about if you're about to buy a truck:

If all trucks were built the same way, cost the same to keep up, were worth the same at trade-in... then probably the price tag would be your only concern. It can't be, of course, because some trucks have more quality than others. And marks of quality are the real keys to low cost.

Chevrolet trucks, for example, have double-wall construction, which gives bodies and cabs more strength. Cabs are insulated against heat, cold and noise. A big part of road shock, which shortens truck life, is damped out by Chevrolet's suspension system; it also makes riding in the truck a pleasure. Pickup bodies and cabs are separated to eliminate stress between them.

Value such as this has induced more people to invest in Chevrolet trucks every year since 1937.

This can be a good time to buy a modern new Chevrolet truck

Late summer traditionally is the season for all-around savings on a new Chevrolet truck... selection is still good... deliveries are prompt... and Chevrolet dealers are doubly anxious to put you into a new vehicle in order to make way for next year's models. Coupled with the efficient performance a new Chevrolet truck will give you, it seems evident that you couldn't buy at a better time. Come in and take full advantage of it!

School board adopts new budget of $587,106 for upcoming year

The board of trustees of Post Independent School District, in a regular session Monday night, adopted the 1962-63 school year budget, signed up for a school accident insurance plan, employed new teachers, transferred another, and transacted other business.

The budget adopted for the new school year beginning Sept. 1 calls for expenditures of $587,106.20, which is an increase over the budget for the 1961-62 school year. Tax revenues will be down some $400 because of an estimated 95 per cent collection instead of 98 per cent as figured last year.

The new budget, on which a public hearing will be held Wednesday, is based on a total taxable valuation of $22,294,735 and a tax rate of $1.50 per $100 valuation—same as last year. Taxes on the total valuation are assessed at 40 per cent of true value by the school district.

The board voted to enter into a school accident insurance plan with American Bruckman Co., Inc., of San Antonio after hearing the plan explained by a representative of the company. The insurance will be handled through the Post Insurance Agency.

The trustees agreed that the insurance plan probably is the best ever entered into by the school. It covers students of all grades, with plan also covering senior high school football. The plan also offers full-time protection and coverage for faculty and school employees.

Upon the recommendation of R. T. Smith, the board voted to transfer Mrs. Walter Didway from her fifth grade teaching position to high school homemaking teacher, and to employ Mrs. Ansil Neal and Mrs. Anita Myers as new teachers, subject to assignment.

Mrs. Didway, who taught a fifth grade section during the second semester of the 1961-62 school term, will replace Miss Peggy Collins, who recently resigned as a homemaker teacher.

Mrs. O'Neal is the wife of the manager of Pioneer Natural Gas Company here and taught in Levelland schools for the past 12 years.

The other new teacher employed, Mrs. Myers, is the wife of Fred Myers, who is employed at the Post National Bank. For the past several months, Mrs. Myers has been employed in the city hall office.

The board hired two bus drivers, S. A. Nutt and R. B. Perrin, to replace William St. John and James W. Mallard Jr. St. John and Mallard were teachers here last year. St. John is on a year's leave of absence and Mallard resigned. The trustees tabled action on assignment of school buses to garages for repair work. Five local garages have asked for the bus repair work.

Also tabled was action on building pens for FFA members' hog projects. A tract of land south of the city was recently acquired for the pens, but the major part of the project will be the acquiring of right-of-way for, and the laying of, water pipe to the site, it was explained.

The policies of the school's physical education department for the coming school year were outlined to the board by Athletic Director Harold Teal. The trustees authorized board president E. R. (Buster) Moreland to borrow money on two new school buses to cover a deficit of some $7,000 created by purchase of the buses out of this year's revenue, which was not allocated.

County tax rate to be unchanged

Public hearing set for Aug. 28

Despite an estimated decrease of $186,130 in county property valuations, due to a drop in oil valuations, the proposed Garza County budget for 1963 will continue the same 95 cents tax rate per $100 valuations.

A public hearing on the new budget has been set by the commissioners' court for Aug. 28. Final action to adopt the budget will come at the conclusion of the public hearing.

County Judge J. E. Parker pointed out yesterday that the county's estimated $15,800,000 valuation for 1963 is based on only a 12½ per cent of true value of the taxable property.

Judge Parker said that while the proposed county tax levy will remain the same that taxpayers in commissioners' precincts No. 2 and 4 will pay approximately $20,000 less in taxes.

The final bonds in precinct No. 4 have been retired which will save taxpayers in that precinct about $15,000. The tax rate for bonded indebtedness in precinct 2 has been cut from 60 to 50 cents per $100 valuation.

The judge said final oil valuations are yet to be received by the county, but should be on hand for the public hearing late this month.

This is the first year that a combined Garza County and Garza Memorial Hospital budget has been made.

The proposed budget shows that $180,110 will be assessed county taxpayers on the county budget with an estimated 95 per cent tax collection of $171,095, plus collection of estimated $9,005 in delinquent taxes.

The county has a total net out- (See TAX RATE, Page 8)

Dallas rites held for victim of fall

Mrs. Joy Carolyn Arrington, 19, who died in a Snyder hospital at 11 a. m. Saturday from head injuries sustained in a fall from a car near Post about midnight Wednesday of last week, was buried in Dallas Tuesday following funeral services there.

Sheriff Fay Claborn said a 26-year-old Levelland man, driver of the car, reported after taking Mrs. Arrington to the Snyder hospital that she fell from the car while it was traveling about 45 miles an hour.

The Levelland man was brought here for questioning following the accident and taken to Lubbock by the sheriff for a polygraph examination. Results of the test indicated the driver was truthful in his account of the incident, the officer said.

Sheriff Claborn also said that two men in another car viewed the incident, which occurred on U. S. Hwy. 84 about seven miles south- (See FALL VICTIM, Page 8)

Big oil future seen for Garza

180 million barrels predicted

E. R. (Buster) Moreland, head of Brown Brothers, Et Al, operation here, predicted to Rotarians Tuesday that the more than 60 million barrels of oil produced to date in Garza County represents but a third of what finally will be recovered.

His guess on final oil recovery—180,000,000 barrels.

Speaking on the subject of "Oil in Garza County—Past, Present and Future," Moreland traced the county's oil development from the first oil effort by C. W. Post, founder of the town in 1911-12.

As for Garza's oil future, he explained a feasibility survey is now being made by a Dallas engineering firm to determine whether or not it will be feasible to flood the county's largest oil field, the Garza field.

He said he did not know whether salt water or fresh water would be recommended for any such recovery project. He said that mostly salt water is being used in such recoveries.

White River hearing Tuesday

A hearing on the petition for a writ of injunction against The White River Municipal Water District will be heard at 9 a. m. Tuesday by District Judge Victor H. Lindsey at Crosbytown.

The injunction is sought by Mrs. Allento Walker of Meadow and other original owners of some 1,900 acres of land recently condemned by the district as a portion of the White River dam site.

If Judge Lindsey denies the injunction, the district can proceed immediately to sign construction contracts for the big project. If he grants it, nobody is sure of what will happen next. But it would mean further delay, more land negotiations, etc.

Susanne will be welcomed tonight

Susanne Krause, 16-year-old Danish exchange student who arrived here yesterday afternoon to attend Post High School for the 1962-63 school year, will be given a real welcome tonight.
