Audrey Snow's short story winner in creative writing contest here

Audrey Snow, 8th grade student, was first place winner in Read Magazine's creative writing contest among Post 7th and 8th grade students. Audrey's story, the first two paragraphs of which was given every student as a beginning for their story, follows:

A BLUE HANDKERCHIEF

Rising wind spread scurrying leaves past Julie's feet. At the corner, waiting for a car to pass, she dimly heard the chime of the clock by the bank. Seven o'clock. That meant there was still time if she hurried.

Across the corner, the sidewalk looked shadowy and deserted. Tucking the package more tightly under her arm, she stepped forward just as a hand gripped her shoulder. She whirled to see who was there.

"Hello Timothy," she said automatically. How many times, she thought angrily, had he met her on the street to ask her to go to the Freshman Tea?

"Hello Julie, I was just wondering if you would like to go to the Freshman Tea with me?" he said hurriedly.

He probably practiced that little speech for hours, she thought furiously.

"Of course, I would love to," she said in a well-modulated voice.

"Thanks, I'll be by your house at 7:30. We'll have to walk," he said in a high and happy voice.

"I've got to run, Tim. I have to mail this package for Mrs. Lockwood. Bye now," she said hurriedly.

"Bye," he said.

Timothy Trumbull, a freshman in high school, lived only two blocks from Julie Saunders who was also a freshman.

It's funny, thought Julie as she turned into Mrs. Lockwood's gate. Timothy has never really noticed me before.

"Julie!" screamed a voice which broke into her thoughts.

"Julie!" the voice bellowed again.

"I'm coming, Mrs. Lockwood," Julie murmured.

"Well it took you long enough just to walk to the post office and back," she growled.

"I'm sorry, I will try to hurry next time," she said in a guilty voice.

"There won't be a next time," Mrs. Lockwood growled.

"What do you mean?" Julie cried in shocked tones.

"You've been loitering every time I've sent you on an errand," she said her voice growing louder at each second.

"You can get out of my house," she yelled.

"Yes, Mrs. Lockwood," Julie said, sobbing as she went out the door.

She didn't even pay me for bringing her the package. If she only knew what it was for, I was going to buy her that blue handkerchief that she's always wanted, Julie thought.

As Julie turned onto her street, Kit Trumbull, Timothy's sister, rode up on her bike.

"Hello Julie," she said as she whizzed by.

"Hello Kit," she murmured.

That night as Julie was getting ready for the Freshman Tea, the telephone rang.

"Answer it would you Mom?" Julie holed.

No one answered.

"I'll answer it myself," she mumbled to herself as she ran down the stairs.

"Hello," she said as she picked up the receiver.

"Julie, this is Timothy. Some of the guys asked me to decorate the gym this afternoon. We haven't quite got finished. You'll have to walk over to the gym. It's only four blocks."

"It won't take me long to get there if I start early," she said.

"I've got to be going. I'll see you tonight," Timothy said.

"Bye," she said.

When Julie turned the corner she saw Kit on her bicycle coming toward her as fast as she could. Julie stepped out of the way but Kit did not go on. She stopped.

"Kit, is there anything wrong?" Julie asked.

"It's Mrs. Lockwood, she—" Kit stammered.

"You're all out of breath. Why don't you rest for awhile?" Julie inquired.

"There's not enough time, Mrs. Lockwood tripped over a board. Her face is white and she hasn't moved," Kit sobbed.

"We've got to hurry, Mrs. Lockwood is hurt," Kit cried.

"I'll take your bike and you run to the nearest neighbor and call the ambulance," Julie said.

Julie got on the bicycle and rode to Mrs. Lockwood's house. She stopped. She saw Mrs. Lockwood. She ran into the house and got some water, sponge, and things to apply a tourniquet. Mrs. Lockwood cut her leg on some glass when she fell.

After Julie applied the tourniquet she sponged Mrs. Lockwood's face.

A siren sounded. Julie looked up just as the ambulance turned the corner.

"Thank goodness," Julie cried to herself.

After Mrs. Lockwood was in the ambulance, one of the men told Julie she had saved Mrs. Lockwood's life. But she did lose lots of blood.

The next day Julie's picture was in the paper and there was a story underneath it telling how she saved Mrs. Lockwood's life.

Julie, Kit, and Timothy were walking to the hospital to see Mrs. Lockwood. They also brought her a present.

"You were wonderful Julie," Timothy said happily.

"But Kit helped. She was the one who told me. And she phoned for the ambulance. You were wonderful Kit," Julie said apologetically.

"Thank you, Julie," Kit said shyly.

"I believe I will phone the newspaper and tell them Kit helped, too," Julie said.

"They will probably scream 'freedom of the press' in your ear," Tim said laughing.

"I hate you Timothy," drawled Julie in a voice which meant she did not hate him at all.

"This is Mrs. Lockwood's room," Kit said.

"Mrs. Lockwood, we brought you a present," Kit said bouncing.

PHS News Notes

They were given in the Homemaking lab by Dr. Surman, Dr. Matthews, Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Gordon. The tests were very successful with only one girl fainting.

Also Monday, there was an assembly in the elementary auditorium. It was a one-act play presented by Mr. Carlyle and some of his

"Thank you," Mrs. Lockwood said, hardly above a whisper. "Julie, you saved my life and you may run errands for me if you want to. I'm sorry of what happened Friday evening."

"I'll be glad to run errands for you Mrs. Lockwood," Julie said half crying.

"Hey, come on, its almost twelve o'clock," Timothy cried.

"I'm hungry," Kit said.

"We'll see you, Mrs. Lockwood," Julie said.

"Thank you for the gift, children," said Mrs. Lockwood.

After they left Mrs. Lockwood opened the present. She gasped. A blue handkerchief! She held the handkerchief close to her heart and took on long, deep breath. She closed her eyes slowly, but forever.

The doctor came in shaking his head slowly.

"A bad heart," he said mournfully. "This was her third heart attack."

He walked out still shaking his head.

Homemaking students make field trip to local meat market

Sixth period Homemaking II class, taught by Miss Barnett, made a field trip to the meat market Thursday afternoon.

The girls saw a pig slaughtered and all agreed that it was very sickening! Then Bo Jackson showed us how they smoked hams in hickory dust. After that, Mr. Jackson took us into a refrigerate room where several beeves and pigs were hung. Most of the pigs had been scalded to help remove the hair better.

He led us into another cold room where pig and cow heads were.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Some segments of official Washington seem quite concerned as to the front put up all over the world. This could be a reason why there is so much interest in U.S. collaboration with the European Common Market.

C. W. Harder, Director, Office of International Economic Programs, Bureau of International Programs, Department of Commerce, before convention of the Corset and Brassiere Association of America.

At least this inference could be drawn from a recent speech by Eugene Braderman, director, Office of International Economic Programs, Bureau of International Programs, Department of Commerce, before convention of the Corset and Brassiere Association of America.

Mr. Braderman is all for cutting U.S. tariffs. He seems to feel the difference between U.S. and foreign wage scales is no serious consideration. He feels all such problems can be solved by "imaginative and enthusiastic selling."

As an example of "imaginative and enthusiastic selling" he stated that U.S. exports of bras and similar articles to Common Market nations increased from 18,500 dozen in 1956 to 88,400 dozen in 1961.

For an even more pointed example, he reported all exports of U.S. bras increased from 298,400 to 752,000 dozen.

This leads to interesting conjecture. Presumably, the U.S. is not exporting bras to Iron Curtain nations, and after deducting the amount shipped to Europe, there are still a lot.

This leads to speculation as to whether the U.S. government mental policy is now to teach Congo women to wear bras.

If so, this could perhaps account for the steady increase in federal employment. And perhaps, it could also explain in part why the men of the Congo have been so wild the past few months.

And while he seemed figure conscious in one direction, Mr. Braderman glossed over the fact that while America was exporting 752 thousand of the items, 2 million, 300 thousand were imported.

Let us grow that the U.S. has a corner on bureaucratic frivolity. It should be reported that while in solemn conclave in Brussels recently, the ministers of the Common Market appointed a committee to study bras. It was found the French product does not fit Dutch women, the Italian article does not fit French women, and German women cannot wear any from any other country. A spokesman reported it is essential to develop "an absolutely interchangeable bra."

It is not difficult to imagine a French bureaucrat in the Brussels meeting springing to his feet to cry out, "Alors, ma cherie, the Common Market must go forward with a common bra."

This column may seem ridiculous. It is. But it is factual. And perhaps better than anything else, it illustrates the fact that if Congress votes an alliance with the European Common Market, there is no phase of American life that will not be controlled, regulated, by U.S. bureaucrats working in concert with the bureaucrats of Europe. Bunker Hill and Valley Forge may yet prove out to have been in vain.

A GOOD BET
Summer temporary pastures are a good bet for stockmen. These pastures, properly fertilized and managed, will produce better quality forage than permanent pastures, advises Ted Trew, extension pasture specialist. This, he adds, means more beef and milk per acre.

CATTLE NEED SALT
Dairy cattle, like humans, need salt. They can develop a salt deficiency, points out Shannon Carpenter, area extension specialist, if their ration is salt short. Death is the final result of the continuous feeding of a salt deficient ration, he says.

OUR CITY ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Your present City Commission would like to show in detail some of the accomplishments of the last two or three years where tax money has been spent for permanent improvements.

1. We were badly in need of more room in our City Hall. The property on the corner (filling station) became available, which we purchased for $12,750. We then contracted to have it wrecked and tied in to the City Hall with a complete overhaul and face-lifting for the entire building, which we figured would last the City for at least 10 to 15 years to come. The contract for this was $22,500.
2. We then had to have a place for our Fire Department. We built a new building in the rear of the City Hall, size 46 by 54 feet, which for the first time gave the fire boys plenty of room for trucks and extra equipment. The cost of this Fire Hall was around $10,000.
- For the above expenditures, we are very proud and think they were well worth the price. All the above was paid for without a bond issue.
3. When the Telephone Company moved out, we bought that building and had it converted into a police and communications department at a cost of $8,500. We also paid cash for this building.
4. We purchased for the Fire Department a badly needed up-to-date fire truck at a cost of around $19,000, on a five-year terms. We have made two payments.
5. Then, for the Sanitation Department, for which, as you remember, we inaugurated a new plan for garbage pick-up, we had to have a new truck and garbage bed, which we bought and put into service. This gave the City Superintendent two complete rigs and he did an excellent job, for today we have a Sanitation Department second to none.
6. The City and County each year give the Park Board $2,500. The South Lake Park speaks for itself—thanks to a good Park Board.
7. The City took over the operation of our cemetery and pays two men to keep it attractive. Its appearance speaks for itself.

Then we have kept pace with our paving program, each year paving all we could get signed up. Each year, however, all property owners won't go along, so we have to force and levy against the property, but when the contract is complete, the City has to pay in full. The part that is charged to property owners may be paid in from 5 to 20 years.

Lions hear story of West Texas Boys Ranch

Morris H. Craig, director of the West Texas Boys Ranch at San Angelo, told Post Lions at their weekly dinner meeting in Levi's Restaurant Tuesday night that the Garza juvenile board "is a fine example of what a community can do to help itself."

"I feel confident that the problems of the youth in Post will not become too serious as long as the community continues its efforts to provide facilities and activities for its youth."

Giving a detailed explanation of the West Texas Boys Ranch, Craig said it is "as much a Post project as it is to any of the other 59 West Texas counties which it serves."

The ranch was organized in 1947 by West Texans for West Texans and depends solely on donations and contributions for its existence, he pointed out. "Our local governing body's representative in Post is James Minor," Craig said.

Craig explained the ranch accepts boys ages 8 to 14 and will keep them until they finish high school. "We will help them go on to college," he added. "We have two boys in college at the present time."

"At Boys Ranch we begin planning for a boy at the age of 14 in regards to a specific vocation. He not only will finish high school but will receive a certain amount of vocational training and experience."

"The ranch can serve 64 dependent, neglected, homeless, and delinquent boys. We are currently full but will have vacancies in June."

Craig pointed to the recent completion of two new dormitories which will house two sets of house parents and 32 boys in each unit. We also have completed a new chapel of which we are especially proud."

"We have five basic goals at the ranch," Craig said. "They are to teach boys respect for God, respect for self, respect for others, respect for work, and a sense of responsibility. If a boy can learn these five things he certainly will be able to get along with others and most likely he will continue to try to improve his station in life."

"Each of you," he told the Lions, "have a responsibility to your youth regardless of what it is—Boy Scout work, church work, or Boys Ranch. You do have a responsibility. Meet it."

He said the ranch will have formal dedication services on May 26. He explained each year "we have a field day at which time soil conservation work being done at the ranch is shown. We expect over a thousand people this year and we would like for you to come."

Guests at the dinner meeting included County Judge J. E. Parker, Minor, and Johnny Gray.

Next week, Ike Trimble will bring the club up to date on FFA activities here.

Lewis Herron is the new possessor of the club's "membership lamb."

Norm Cash's bat swings lustily in exhibition games

Books like 'money in bank' for Detroit '9'

Collect Cash Dividend of Bat," reads the headline of a training camp Detroit Tigers in this Spring News.

Joe Falls from the training camp at Detroit, the article follows: "He who claimed Norm never hit .361 a gain in the exhibition season; first baseman of the Detroit Tigers."

Norm Cash was as hot as the sun. He had collected of assorted sizes and in nine runs. Cash looked in the bank.

None of the hitting. They never do in sand and sweat.

They were an indication. Boss Bob Scheffing didn't lose the "stroke" in the American League title last season.

It was hitting to all fields, hitting with authority, but two singles and a perfect day against the Detroit Tigers.

Later, he knocked in the Reds—two of them, driving home off Toeve's hands himself a $200.

Norm Cash is the same as he grinned in putting on his 7-8ths chapeau.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

Then try to swing him onto the deck.

Usually this procedure will work with five or six pound fish.

BEST METHOD, however, is to slowly walk the length of the pier and lead the fish back into shallow water where you can get down on the beach. If you're night fishing, this is a bit difficult too.

Anyone who fishes from a pier often, really should have a long-handled gaff or net. Better yet—a drop-net.

A drop-net with a three-foot diameter hoop and deep bag will suffice for just about anything except a tarpon. Attach a stout bridle to the hoop and tie the bridle to a sufficient length of rope.

When the fish is whipped down, drop the net overboard. Let it sink below the depth of the fish. Work the fish in slowly . . . right over the net. Then haul the net in fast.

It's an easy operation that one man can perform. With a gaff hook it usually takes two people.

WHERE TO FISH from a pier troubles many anglers. Tendency of most fishermen is to hurry to the end of the T-head, then cast as far as possible.

Unless you know there are fish working in the deep water, casting far out from the T-head is a waste of time.

Instead, try reading the water for fish signs.

If there are several lines of breakers from the end of the pier, give that water a try. As the waves curl over and break, they churn up the bottom and free minute marine life. It's in this wave break that, during the summer along the Gulf coast, great numbers of speckled trout are taken. And in the fall, these same breakers yield redfish.

If you have a calm day when there are no waves breaking, look for signs of bait fish. Odds are heavy that game fish will be working right under the schools of bait.

There are two reasons for fishing from the side of the pier where the current is running away from it. First, you need less weight to keep the bait out from the pier. Second, the current will work in your favor in keeping the fish from swimming under the pier and around the pilings.

BUT REMEMBER this. When you hook your fish, you'll have more tension on your line since both the fish and the current will be pulling against you.

While this may initially stack the odds against you, in the end it will work in your favor. We say this because when a fish tires he will, invariably, try to swim with the current.

That way you're assured the fish will be well clear of the pilings. Furthermore, the current will keep the fish from drifting under the pier when you seek to gaff or net him.

Keeping your fish fresh and edible can be a problem for the pier angler.

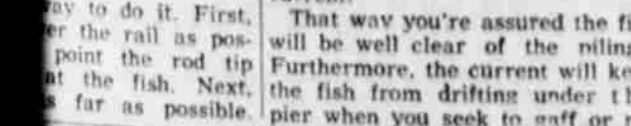

A fish will spoil fast if allowed to lie on the deck in the hot sun. So, if you have to keep him on deck, cover him with a wet towel. Or put him in the sack, tie a rope around the neck of the sack and lower the whole works into the water.

If you don't have a sack, bring along a stringer that's long enough to reach the water.

But—whether you lower the fish in a sack or on a stringer, don't allow it to sink to the bottom. There the crabs will mutilate your catch in short order.

It's the Law

Courts see that your intention or "will" as to property is carried out after you die. Before then you may revoke or change it any time.

The passing of property to heirs is one of man's oldest transactions. As far back as the Egyptian, Assyrian and Jewish civilizations, we have wills written and witnessed on papyrus, clay tablets, etc. In one will an early testator left some of his property to his wife and named a guardian for his children.

The Hammurabi code (2100 B. C.) permitted a father by deed to favor his son.

Under early Roman law the head of a house could tell the patrician assembly his wishes, but later Roman law favored a written will to keep the testator's plans secret until death. It also favored having a firm record of his wishes, not resting on memory.

By 1200 A. D. England, where we got our law of wills, was quite well advanced: The church courts (like our probate courts) supervised disposition of property according to a "testament" of how the testator wanted his property to go.

Church courts supervised personal property (movables like armor or personal effects); land was passed on by wills which the king's court handled. Hence today we speak of "last will and testament" since English courts came to pass on both real and personal property, so that one court could handle the whole estate.

English church courts had "executors" who carried out one's testament. To die "intestate" (without a testament) was almost like dying unconfessed. Sometimes the church in the interests of a man's soul could give some of the man's goods to others besides his family. Then, as now, some property had to be left to the surviving wife and children.

By the time of the American colonies, the laws were well settled, and law courts, rather than church courts, administered and distributed estates here.

Q — Are those who fought in the Mexican Border campaign against Villa in 1916 eligible for veterans benefits?

A — They are eligible to receive a burial flag at the time of death. Although other benefits have been proposed in Congress, no legislation for benefits has resulted.

Q — Must an eligible war orphan attend college to take advantage of the War Orphans Education Assistance act?

A — No. Vocational training and other subjects that will help toward a career are permitted. All subjects must be above the high school level, however.

Q — Can inductees and draftees entering service now secure GI life insurance?

A — No. GI insurance in a new form is no longer available.

Q — What is the maximum length of pre-bed care for patients at VA hospitals?

A — This has just been increased from 7 to 14 days. The VA hopes the step will enable its hospitals to treat even more patients, without increase in number of beds or staff members.

BUT NOT DIFFERENT

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

Here and there America is building modernistic churches.

No one's quite sure where the trend will lead... or whether it yet should be called a trend.

But the thousands who have worshipped in these contemporary sanctuaries seem certain of this: The new architecture hasn't changed the age-old faith. Christianity has known many forms of worship, many terms of expression. But there has always been Unity underlying diversity. Christians worship the same God and Lord; they revere the same Cross; they search the same Scriptures.

Through human architects who express their devotion in different forms, The Divine Architect is pointing all men to the spire of Faith.

Former resident dies in California; leukemia victim

News has been received here of the death of Mrs. Lorena McGlothin, 63, formerly of Post, March 18 in a San Diego, Calif. hospital.

Mrs. McGlothin, who lived in Post from 1938 until moving to California in 1942, had been a victim of leukemia for about 18 years. She was a resident of San Diego at the time of her death.

Born Lorena Elizabeth Gollehon on Feb. 11, 1899, near Carbon, Tex., she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gollehon. She moved to Lynn County with the family in 1920, and in 1926 was married to George McGlothin of Ranger.

The McGlothins lived for some time in San Antonio, where Mr. McGlothin died in 1938. Mrs. McGlothin then returned to Post, where she resided until June, 1942. She was preceded in death by a daughter in August, 1941, and her mother died in 1953.

Mrs. McGlothin had been a member of the Baptist Church since 1920.

She is survived by one son, Dwayne McGlothin, of San Diego; two sisters, Mrs. Clyde (Renell) Hodges of Gravette, Ark., and Mrs. Frank (Vivian) Bryan of Silem Springs, Ark.; her father, Walter Gollehon of Gravette, and two brothers, Milton Gollehon of Bellflower, Calif., and Burrett Gollehon of El Cajon, Calif. Another brother, Gilbert, died Feb. 12 of this year.

Sanitation is still seen as only sure care against pesky insects

Insects have bothered man since the beginning of recorded history. They have stung him, bitten him, destroyed his home and his food and, even worse, carried germs that brought sickness and death. Entomologists report that they can identify some 10,000 "public enemy" insects that do $4 billion damage annually.

For thousands of years man probably did little but swat and squash the insects to defend himself against them, but by 1000 B C Homer was writing about sulphur as a fumigant. Since that time insecticides have steadily improved. One, DDT was developed in 1942, and gave promise of providing the knockout punch against insect hordes. However, many insects, including flies, salt marsh mosquitoes, roaches, and lice quickly developed resistance to the chemical. Other insects including Mexican beetles, spider mites and many aphids were not affected by it.

Even today there is still only one sure defense against insects. A simple but complete program of community and home sanitation. Start this program at home by clearing the weeds from around the garage, stock ponds and fence corners. These are ideal breeding places for mosquitoes and flies.

Check your garbage cans for leaks and corrosion, replacing those that are worn or misshapen. Garbage cans should be washed weekly to keep them clean and dry.

Always replace the lid when depositing refuse. If the lid doesn't fit, fix it or get a new one.

Inspect the house and ground carefully for stagnant water catchers. Vases and flower pots inside the house are frequent offenders as the State Comptroller's office, including some big cities, the list may exceed the record-setting 2,594,254 who paid to go to the polls in the 1960 presidential election.

All poll tax payers who show up at the May 5 primaries will answer the big question: Do they want to keep the poll tax as a voting requirement?

Their answers on primary tickets of both parties should be a representative decision on the long-battled subject.

ANGELINA COUNTY Atty. Dan Brazil asked Attorney General Will Wilson whether a precinct chairman who is elected in a May primary can take office immediately.

He was told that even though a man becomes precinct chairman without a run-off, he must wait until the Saturday after his county run-off election before he assumes his new duties.

Attorney general also ruled that the "banking escheat" law calls for bankers to advertise for missing depositors in May of this year.

He also interpreted the criminal code to read that a justice of the peace cannot collect a $4 trial fee if the case at hand is dismissed.

BENEFITS OF the crackdown on egg grade violations in 1958 were reaped by Texas housewives. Number of below-quality or inedible eggs reported for the last quarter of 1961 was only 1.2 per cent.

Agriculture Commissioner John White said this incidence is "the lowest in history for Texas and probably as low a level as ever attained by any state."

When the Egg Law became effective in 1958, violations were uncovered at the rate of 16 per cent. State Department of Agriculture spent $39,902 in fiscal 1961 to see that the law was enforced.

At a meeting of the Texas Egg Advisory board, White commended the state's egg industry for its cooperation in the egg "clean-up."

Board includes G. F. Siebel of Burton; Marvin Gilbreath of Welmar; Jack Dubose of Gonzales; T. D. Craddock of Hamilton; Tom Boothe of San Antonio; D. W. Renaud of Seguin and F. Z. Beamblossom of Texas A&M.

DRESSED AS Ani-Wava, Lstonka, Tonkawa, Nees, Caddo, Kiwa, Sotso, Po-Hebeto-Quasho and Oglewanagi Indians, some 50 school children raided the Capitol.

Whooping it up for the Brenham Indian Festival to be held April 14, the youngsters danced and chanted to the beat of a giant drum for 30 minutes around the Capitol rotunda. Then they invaded Gov. Price Daniel's reception room to invite him to their April show.

Brian W. Schenk, Austin school teacher in charge of "Indian Affairs," said the children came from Dallas, Houston, Mexico, Denton, Port Arthur, San Antonio, Snyder, Lubbock and other points. They're members of an organization that's trying to preserve old Indian traditions. Some have visited tribes all over the Southwest.

SEATTLE WORLD'S FAIR officials have invited Governor Daniel to come to the fair on April 27. Billed as "Texas Day," the state will be saluted in a special program in which college, high school and other units can take part.

Schools that are interested in sending representatives should contact the governor's office. The Choralettes of Lamar High School in Houston already have been booked to sing April 26-29.

Palmetto polo touney to be at Sweetwater

It's My Turn

BY MRS. C

Gad, here it is 9:45 p. m. Tuesday night and I'm just getting started. My watch stopped at 1:10 p. m. and I haven't had time to wind it yet. But don't fret, I'll dash off something here real quick cause I'd hate to disappoint my loyal (?) readers.

Tuesdays are always a little rough at The Dispatch for all of us and this delightful spring weather isn't helping one single bit. I think we would all have liked to chuck everything out the door and gone fishing today.

I'm really up on the teenage gossip these days. Our house is headquarters for decorations for the Junior-Senior banquet so we've had our share of Junior girls in and out. They work real good "in" for a while and then "out" for a Coke break. I pity their future employers, cause these girls take a mighty long Coke break.

I was reading in the state capital news last week in The Dispatch a few items about the state board of education. A Penrose Metcalfe (who dat) of San Angelo questions the recent decision to change the drivers' training course from the 8th to the 9th grade. He says some West Texas principals want it kept in the 8th grade because most of their students drive by that time.

Well, if they are already driving by that time, why not move drivers' training down to the 6th grade and not take any chances. I just hope we don't start changing many laws to fit the law breakers. We could really get the whole state in a big fat mess.

I also read in the paper where our governor has declared an early week in April as Public Library Week. Too bad we can't celebrate it here in Post—have to keep those roads in good shape for those "too young" drivers.

Speaking of books (that's what they keep in libraries), may I recommend one of the funniest ones that has been on the market for some time. The name of it is "Me and the Liberal Arts" written by Dave Morrah, the man that writes all those clever German sketches in the Saturday Evening Post. It's a must—either buy it or borrow it. I borrowed.

Sherry Josey, treasurer; Frances Clemmons, recording secretary; Barbara Boren, corresponding secretary; Joan Stewart, extension officer, and Jeneice Reno, defense officer.

A successful "game night" and bake sale was reported during the business session. Proceeds from the last Friday and Saturday events will go to help finance a local child with surgery.

The program for the evening consisted of a tour of the Postex Cotton Mills.

39 Baptist youth and guests attend retreat over weekend

Thirty-nine Baptists youths and their guests attended a youth retreat last Friday and Saturday at the Plains Baptist Assembly grounds near Floydada.

The guest speaker was James Dunn, who is the Baptist Student Union director of West Texas State College at Canyon.

Sponsors for the retreat were: Mrs. L. G. Thuet Jr., Mrs. Floyd Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Lex Roby and Rev. C. B. Hogue.

Mrs. Winnie Henderson, Mrs. Evelyn Neff, Mrs. Leon Barnes and Mrs. Walter Johnson were the camp cooks.

The Women's Culture Club met Wednesday of last week in the home of Mrs. M. J. Malouf with Mrs. Don Dunbar and Mrs. Tillman Jones as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Ralph Welch, program director, introduced R. H. Tate, city superintendent, who spoke on water conservation.

James Minor, a member of the White River board, brought the club up to date on the development and problems of the White River project. He was introduced by Mrs. C. R. Thaxton.

A question and answer period followed each talk.

Mrs. Lee Davis, president, conducted the business meeting following the program.

She thanked each member for their cooperation for the successful "Tasting Bee" held recently.

Mrs. Davis was elected delegate and Mrs. E. S. Stewart, alternate, to the district convention to be held in Plainview April 9-10.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. Don Dunbar pouring.

Bungling way to raise funds

The U. S. Senate now has before it another huge postal hike bill, which, if passed into law, is sure to send magazine and newspaper subscriptions soaring.

Publishers will have no other choice. Actually, the biggest revenue boost on mail rates for newspapers, as well as magazines, is not a postal rate increase at all, but a "postal tax."

It would levy—without regard to actual handling cost—a one-cent per copy added charge on every newspaper and magazine mailed outside its county of publication.

For The Dispatch for example, this would mean a 52 cents per year increase in mailing costs for every subscription outside of Garza County at the rate of one cent per 52 weekly issues.

But for a daily newspaper—like the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and Dallas News—it would mean a postal hike annually of a whopping $3.65 per copy, or a penny a copy for all 365 daily issues in a year. You can rest assured, that all of this would have to be passed on to the subscribers.

For a big area paper like the Star-Telegram, for example, this would mean it would have to set up a complete distribution system without the use of the mails, or resign itself to being read only by rich ranchers and oilmen.

To us, this "tax" business is but a bungling way to try to raise funds for the "ever in the red" postal department.

We've taken hefty postal hikes before, all along the line, without wiping out the deficit. That is because a big postal rate hike is always accompanied by an equally big salary pay boost for all the postal employes which nullifies any gain from postal increases. That is what is going to happen this time, too. And it's no deep dark secret.

Like everything else, the post office and its employes can in many instances price themselves out of business, just like private enterprise, even if it is a government monopoly. Or, at least, it can price newspapers and magazines out of business.

The Dispatch will survive—even though this will mean a 40 per cent hike in our annual mailing costs. But we would not like to be in the shoes of the circulation manager of Life Magazine, Time, Ladies Home Journal or the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The proposed "surtax" will not destroy the freedom of the press, but it certainly will limit its range.—JC

Help keep Warm Springs open

Nothing less than heartwarming is the interest which has been shown in the effort to keep open the Texas Rehabilitation Center at Gonzales, also known as the Warm Springs Foundation.

It is to be hoped that from this interest will develop a long-range adequate financing program.

Closing the center would be tragic, not only for those directly concerned with its operation, but for the many crippled Texans for whom it offers the only hope of being able to take a useful place in society.

The announcement that financial difficulties would force the center to close was a shock to all who are familiar with the wonderful work it has done during the past 21 years. Those who are most familiar with this work are the 3,000 former patients. They have now taken the lead in attempting to raise the $100,000 needed now to keep the center open. A number of these former patients are residents of the Post area.

Also, the center has been a sharing agency in recent years in the Garza County Community Chest Fund, as well as in other similar fundraising organizations throughout the state.

Despite all this, however, this is not the first financial crisis experienced by the center. Lack of sufficient funds has forced it to operate at half capacity since 1959. At present there are 54 patients, and there is a waiting list of 125 who seek admittance.

Since the announcement that the center would be forced to close was made, there have been offers of help from many sources, including a personal contribution from Gov. Price Daniel. This response is a fine thing, but if the present deficit is overcome, there probably will be other crises in the future, unless some way to assure sustained financial support is worked out.

There is no question of the value of the center to the state of Texas. Many of those who because of its services are able to support themselves probably would otherwise be a burden on society. Texas as a whole needs more such hospitals. It can ill afford to lose one of the few that

What our contemporaries are saying

In a talk made at the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce banquet last week by Dr. Kenneth McFarland, one of the outstanding educators of the nation, the speaker maintained that frustration is one of the most over-riding characteristics of America today. "Instead of wringing our hands, we need to clench our fists. America needs to apologize to no one. It's time we started selling America to Americans instead of giving it away to others."—Frank Hill in The Lynn County News.

No wonder women outlive men; look how long they're girls.—Marvin Tomme in The Rails Banner.

The savants tell us that the year of the big population explosion is just ahead of us. The year of 1965 will see the big baby crop of the early Forties come of age and begin to have children of their own.—The Floyd County Hesperian.

When a man assumes that he understands a woman he has reached that station in life where he should be in a position to reverse his opinion without changing his general course.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

IT'S INTERESTING along about this time every year to watch the automobiles and see how many owners have and how many haven't purchased new license plates. Today (Monday), with the April 1 deadline less than a week away, the number of cars still bearing 1961 tags indicates that there'll be busy times the next few days in the office of County Tax Assessor-Collector T. H. Tipton.

April Fool's Day this year falls on a Sunday, which more than likely will contribute to a reduction in the number of April Fool's pranks.

THE FIRST WEEK in April, incidentally, will be a big one for the voters. The City Election is next Tuesday and the School Trustee Election is a week from Saturday.

The man up the street says that if at first you don't succeed, that makes you about average.

ONE OF OUR discerning readers has informed us that there should be no hovens in the word "teen-are." I looked it up and found that teenage—spelled without the hyphe—means brushwood used for fences and hedges. Next complaint?

All is not gloom in the Post Office Department, where officials are saving about one million dollars a year on signs and dedication plaques for new post office buildings, partly because the names Kennedy and Day take less space than did Eisenhower and Summerfield.

THE DEDICATION plaques used to measure about 22 by 16 inches; they were ordered individually and cost about $45 to $195. Now smaller plaques, 14 by 11 inches, are used; they are mass-produced and the cost has been cut to $7.95 each. One reason for the smaller size: The names of President Kennedy and Postmaster General Day go on all of them, and these names are shorter than those of their predecessors.

A surgeon, Dr. Roderick Ormandy of Duke University at Durham, N. C., started the cost cutting. He noticed a billboard-sized sign advertising a new post office and wrote to the President, suggesting this was being a little free with taxpayers' money.

HIS LETTER LED to a survey by Post Office officials, who found that signs were sometimes as big as 8 by 12 feet and cost an average of $400—one cost $900. A savings would really add up since 2,148 post offices were started last year. So officials started ordering the signs on a mass-production basis; now the standard sign costs $39.

And that is our lesson in economy for this week.

ONE OF THESE days some body's going to come up with a book on "How to Get Out of Doing It Yourself." He'll make a fortune.

Fourth graders in a New York school's classes for gifted children were asked by their teacher to complete a sentence beginning "Let's be as quiet as . . ." Here are some of the answers, as reported in the New York Times: . . . a leaf turning colors . . . a feather falling from a bird . . . time passing . . . an old hat sitting up in the attic . . . the first star coming out . . . the sun coming up in the morning . . . a tissue being crumpled . . . children sleeping . . . a soft rainfall . . . when you pray . . . a butterfly flying . . . a cool breeze.

THERE ARE two kinds of partygoers. One wants to leave early, one wants to stay late. Trouble is, they're usually married to each other.

Republic of Texas money signifies 'Be for Baker'

Facsimile $5 Republic of Texas banknotes, printed on parchment so crinkly and genuine looking that Sam Houston would have accepted it at face value without a second glance, made their appearance throughout the state this week as part of Sen. Robert Baker's race for Lieutenant Governor.
On the reverse side of the banknotes is printed, in appropriate formal language, the bearer's certificate of membership in the "Be for Baker Club," declaring that this is "the currency of good and progressive government in the State of Texas."
An announcement from Baker's Dallas headquarters said 100,000 of the unique banknotes will be distributed during the next six weeks being offered to Baker supporters through county campaign headquarters and chairmen throughout Texas.
Baker confidently predicted that he would be in the run-off election with "The candidate who has already committed himself to a state-wide special interest group," and that he would win the run-off.

3 councilmen to be elected next Tuesday

Interest in next week's city and school board elections was on the "light" side here this week, but, if the trend runs true to form, will pick up shortly before time for the balloting.

Bank advertises for 'Any old kind of two inch rain'

"Wanted: Any old kind of Two-Inch Rain."
That's the gist of the most unusual ad in this week's Dispatch. The big eight column by 14 inch request appears on page 14 and is a public service advertisement by The First National Bank.

It's easy to read. The "wanted" is in letters two and one-half inches high—biggest in The Dispatch shop. The "Two-Inch Rain" wording is almost as big.

"Anytime in the next two weeks," the ad reads.

"Apply with little thunder and lightning all over Post trade area."

In placing the advertisement, Irby G. Metcalf, bank president, accepted some unusual terms.

Publisher Jim Cornish told him, "Advertising doesn't cost it pays." If the ad doesn't get you a two-inch rain in two weeks, you won't get a bill. But if a two inch rain responds you pay in full.

Rites conducted here Saturday for C. R. Scott

Last rites for Charlie Robert Scott, 59, prominent farmer of the Pleasant Valley community, who died of a heart attack last Thursday night at his home, were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Scott, who had been a resident of the Pleasant Valley community since 1939 suffered the heart attack while he was packing fishing equipment in his automobile for a fishing trip he and friends had planned for the next day.

He was found by a hired hand, lying on the ground beside his automobile.

Mr. Scott was born in Alabama and was married to Miss Sitha Chapman at Fort Payne, Ala., on July 7, 1926. They moved to West Texas in 1929, living first in the Idalou vicinity and then in Lynn County before moving to Garza County.

Mr. Scott was a long-time member of the Baptist Church and had served as a deacon in the church for more than 20 years.

Officiating at the funeral services were the Revs. Joe Green of Slaton and A. T. Nixon and C. B. Hogue of Post.

Interment was in Terrace Cemetery under direction of Hudman Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Happy Bevers, C. C. Lee, Elmer Hitt, Buddy Hall, Henry Edwards and Clovis Robinson.

Named as honorary pallbearers were Robert Mock, Spence Bevers, Irby G. Metcalf Jr., J. B. Potts, Dillard Dunn, Carl Chilcoat, Gay-See C. R. SCOTT, Page 8

Area farms hit by grass fires

Grass fires early last Thursday afternoon hit three farms northwest of Post, with the W. A. Gray place, three miles northwest, believed to be the heaviest loser.

The fire swept across nearly 70 acres of Soil Bank land on the Gray farm and also burned grass on several other acres. It is believed that the Soil Bank land will have to be replanted, a member of the family said today.

The grass fires are reported to have originated from a passing railroad train.

The Post Volunteer Fire Department fought and brought under control the blazes at all three places.

Sculptor of Post statue in talk

The Italian sculptor, Mario Spaminato, who made the statue of C. W. Post in 1958 which was given to this community, gave an interesting explanation of how the statue was made and the steps necessary in such work to Post Rotarians at their weekly luncheon in City Hall Tuesday.

Mrs. Spaminato, who accompanied her husband here, also was a guest of the club and helped her husband, who operates an art foundry in Chicago, discuss his work.

Spaminato came to Post to clean the statue with an acid treatment, a job which needs to be performed every five years.

The original statue of Post's town founder was trucked to Spaminato's studio in Chicago from Battle Creek, Mich., so he could make a bronze copy using the hot wax method. The original statue was made in 1917.

Spaminato said the bronze used in the process is a semi-precious metal and can be finished in any desired color.

Mr. and Mrs. Spaminato were accompanied here from Levelland by Monta Moore, head of the Post estate properties in this area.

This edition of The Dispatch not only is full of news, but also full of newsy ads which every reader will want to read.

Post's April Double Dollar Days arrive Friday and Saturday and a number of local merchants have gone together for a whole page of eye-catching bargains over on page 11. Dunlap's has a whole half page of real $3 Days specials and Bob Collier Drug and Forrest Lumber have other ads filled with some mighty good buys.

Double Dollar Days come each month on the Friday and Saturday before the first Monday of the month. This weekend, a number of local merchants pick out lots of big traffic items and slash the prices to encourage everyone to come to Post and trade. You don't have to spend half a day and gas, oil, car depreciation, and maybe lunch money to get a big city bargain. You can get plenty of them right here in Post. Trade with your Post merchants who are willing to offer you bargains every month. The more shoppers who participate in Double Dollar Days—the more the merchants are encouraged to step up this beneficial local promotion. See you downtown tomorrow or Saturday!

Our congratulations to Ed Sawyers on his sixth business anniversary here which he is celebrating with a combination anniversary and expansion sale at his TV-Appliance Center. You'll find his big sale announcement over on page 8. See POSTINGS, Page 8
