MRS. MCKINLEY DIES MONDAY AFTER LINGERING ILLNESS

Funeral services for Mrs. Bryan McKinley were conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Southside Baptist Church in the presence of a throng of sorrowing relatives and friends.

Mrs. McKinley died Monday afternoon as she was being brought home from a Lubbock hospital, where she had been for several weeks.

When told that she had no chance for recovery, Mrs. McKinley asked that she be brought home for the end, which came on the way to O'Donnell.

Mrs. McKinley was converted in early childhood and became a member of the Baptist church. She has been a loyal wife and a tender mother.

The Index joins with many other friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.

BALL GAMES OF INTEREST TO LOCAL FANS THIS WEEK

The Volunteer Fire Department's crack baseball team has had a rather hectic time of it the last few days, and the two games through which they have battled this week left them right in the same old place—sometimes they win and then again they lose.

With Randell Gibson and Van McKee pitching and J.D. Fairley catching, the fire boys' team played a fast game with New More last Sunday afternoon, winning the top-of-war by a score of 8-5.

The above-named battery had less luck Tuesday afternoon when a cheery team strolled down from high school and took the fire boys on for a session. But alas and alack! the well known hook and ladder brigade representatives seems to have left a fair rabbit's foot at home.

Well the firemen can't win all the time; they say so themselves. And we solemnly warn occasionally say we can get a game when they want it.

O'DONNELL EAST AND WEST ROAD TO BE WIDENED

At a meeting of the Commissioners Court held at Tahoka last week, a petition was granted calling for the widening of a public road extending east and west through O'Donnell.

Waldo McLauren, commissioner of the O'Donnell precinct, reports that nearly all the land owners along the route have already donated the necessary land and have set the fence back twenty feet on each side, making the road 80 feet wide, and he anticipates no trouble in widening the remaining land owners to do likewise.

School's Out

THANKS, MR. SPIKES!

Every once in a while, when it seems to us that the way of newspaper folks, like transgressors, is indeed hard, somebody comes along and hands an appreciated, even though undeserved, bouquet which causes us to decide that life ain't such a bad thing after all.

TONSOR SHOP RECEIVING PAINT JOB THIS WEEK

That epidemic of spring fever which takes the form of extensive repairs, renovations, and other disruptions has struck "Tonsor" in a big way this week, and the barber shop is in the midst of a general tear up.

Maybe if Tonsor and Guy Bradley will combine on the painting business, still more excitement could be created.

ATTEND BANQUET TUESDAY EVENING IN LUBBOCK

Messrs. Oran Davis, Pat Curtis, and Dick Tunn represented local Red & White dealers at a banquet in their honor Tuesday evening, which for the pleasant occasion being held in the dining room of the Methodist church at Lubbock.

SUPT. MCAFEE SOON TO MAKE HOME HERE

Superintendent-elect L. F. McAfee, who is in O'Donnell over the week-end, looking after various matters connected with the school for the ensuing year and making arrangements for establishing his home here.

L. T. BREWER AND FAMILY TO MOVE TO TAHOKA

L. T. Brewer and family of Joe Bailey are to move to Tahoka very soon. They will occupy the former George F. Brewer home here and Seth will reside with them.—Lynn County News.

MARRIAGE OF COUPLE SOLEMNIZED SATURDAY

A wedding of much interest to this territory took place Saturday at Lovington, N. M., when Miss Stella Hester, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hester, became the bride of Ray Hurst.

Yows were taken in the presence of only a few friends, who accompanied the bridal party on the trip to Lovington.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hurst are well-known throughout this section, and are numbered among the most popular young people of their community.

It is generally understood that the happy pair will make a home at the Snellgrove farm.

OLD SETTLERS' REUNION HELD WEDNESDAY

A number of O'Donnell citizens attended the Old Settlers' reunion and barbeque which was held in Rock Canyon Wednesday. Members are required to have been residents of Dawson county twenty or more years ago.

This is an annual affair, and one which promises to grow in favor with each passing year.

Mrs. Marshall Whitsett, accompanied by Miss Opal Jenkins, went to Munday the first of the week to attend commencement exercises of a niece.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rochell have returned from Mineral Wells and will make their home in O'Donnell.

Rev. C. A. Duncan returned Monday night from an extended trip through New Mexico and parts of Colorado.

O'DONNELL PEOPLE ATTEND W. T. C. C. AT LUBBOCK

Lubbock was the mecca for O'Donnell people last week as it was for the rest of West Texas, everybody, his dog, and his wife crowding into that city to attend the thirteenth annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

In spite of the heat wave which swept over the South Plains, convention spirits were in full and complete evidence, with the gates of the city thrown open to the visitors.

Real old western hospitality reigned supreme as delegates from Ft. Worth, and Mineral Wells on one side to Amarillo and Oklahoma on the other poured in for a period of fun and business.

Though no official delegation was sent from O'Donnell, a number of citizens were in attendance at various times, some for the day-time programs, and others for the entertainments scheduled for the evening.

Sweetwater won a stiff race for the 1932 convention, and plans for that occasion are already being laid.

CROWDS THROUG STREETS HERE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The largest Saturday afternoon crowd recorded in several months kept the walks and streets in a pleasant hubbub last Saturday afternoon and practically every merchant in town reports one of the best days since before Christmas.

Most of the crockers had special prices on a number of articles, and dry goods stores also had attractive prices on merchandise, all of which seems to be of interest to the general public and his wife.

The stationer and dust tendered sidewalk 'visiting' rather unpleasant, but neighbors from the districts of the trade territory congregated along the walks and exchanged crop, chicken, garden, and other news.

One gratifying theme of conversation was the stationer's taste in wearing time and again that 'our living is going to be raised at home this year.'

Long may the bean vines wave! And hip, hip, hooray for the little red hen! Also for old Jersey and her family. Let's have more of all 'em, because as one farmer expressed it Saturday, they 'taste a darn sight better than this cotton.'

MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES TO BE INTERESTING

Memorial Day services, which will be held at the high school auditorium Sunday, May 31, under the auspices of the Fern Allen post of the American Legion, will be among the most impressive ever held here.

George Dupree will deliver the principal address, commander Bradley announced Tuesday, and other numbers on the program will be of interest to the public.

The program as announced by the post commander will be as follows: Star Spangled Banner, assembly; invocation by Rev. Allen, pastor of the First Baptist Church; Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, Edward Clayton; duet, "Poppies," Mmes. Garner and Shook; "In Planders' Fields," Kathryn Veazy; Response, Miss Margaret Garland; prayer, Rev. C. Duncan, pastor of the Methodist Church; introduction of speaker, master of ceremonies; address, Mr. George Dupree; benediction, post chaplain, Drew Hobby; taps, Wray Guye.

LOCAL CHAPTER O. E. S. PLANS MEMORIAL SERVICE

The O'Donnell chapter of the O. E. S. is planning an elaborate Memorial Service which will be held at the hall beginning promptly at eight o'clock on Monday evening, May 25.

As this is one of the most impressive and beautiful of all Eastern Star ceremonies, all members are urged to be present.

LYNN SCHOOL CENSUS SHOWS 3,583 SCHOLASTICS IN COUNTY

Lynn County has lost almost 200 scholastics during the past year, according to figures furnished us by County Superintendent H. P. Cave-ness. There were 3,776 scholastics in Lynn County when the school census was taken in March, 1930, whereas there were only 3,583 in March of this year. In fact, there were not quite that many, for quite a few of the scholastics in the O'Donnell districts reside in Dawson county and a few in the Pride and West Point districts reside in Terry county.

Of the 24 districts in the county, seven of them register gains over last year. The greatest gain is shown at Lakeview, where the number climbed from 119 to 155. The greatest loss is shown at Wilson, where the number decreased from 127 to 100.

Below we give the number of scholastics by districts for this year and last year:

WEATHER MAN CONTINUES TO SERVE SURPRISES

The weather man, or whoever is in charge of dispensing weather in this part of the country, looked at the calendar all wrong early Tuesday morning when he predicted a rain.

At least, that's the charitable viewpoint. Those of us who had packed away the remainder of the winter wardrobe seem to be of the opinion that the brisk norther which appeared in the wee sma' hours is just another dirty Irish trick, and that we ought to call for a new deal.

Having been in the newspaper game too long, we hesitate to express our opinion other than the statement that we're having plenty of weather, and that summer sure was short.

A sprinkle lasted about two minutes in O'Donnell, but a good shower was reported at Tredway. Lamesa and Southland also being on the lucky list, and the rest of the scattered sections of the South Plains Monday.

A sprinkle lasted about two minutes in O'Donnell, but a good shower was reported at Tredway. Lamesa and Southland also being on the lucky list, and the rest of the scattered sections of the South Plains Monday.

This part of the country would be immensely benefited by a good rain just now. The high winds which have persisted in the past several days have dried out the fields until many farmers are pessimistic over getting a stand of either feed or cotton. Several fields have been damaged by wind and sand, though these areas are not large. The entire outlook for the year would present a brighter aspect through a certain of that aforesaid skyjuice which used to fall here in such quantities.

GOVERNOR STERLING'S BAD HABIT

Almost all great men have had some characteristic peculiarity which had aided in setting them apart from other men. Some of them have been absentminded to the nth degree; others have affected eccentricities in speech, in dress, in manner. Governor Sterling, in his peculiar manner, recently has been discovered, is a bad habit.

Texas' new and popular Governor, it appears, has a habit of contracting a speaking-engagement and consulting his appointment calendar after the promise is made.

The result has been that telegram, instead of Mr. Sterling, puts in an appearance before all manner of conventions and gatherings.

The latest protest against that fault of the Governor's, issues from the "Plainsman," of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche. The Plainsman disavows any personal pique; in fact, he intimates he enjoys the hastily summoned substitute speaker more than he'd enjoyed anything the Governor might have said. Nevertheless, the incident may have cost Mr. Sterling a vote.

There are many people who still get a kick out of hearing and seeing their state's chief executive. They will tolerate many inconveniences and go to much trouble to make the meeting which is to be addressed by that notable. Then, when a telegram of regret is read, they become angry.

Governor Sterling is a conscientious and worthy servant of the people. He is far too good to make a sacrifice upon the altar of one, rather little, bad habit. His political sponsors and advisers should provide him a manager of the speaking-calendar.

Let it not be said again that the Governor disappointed assembled citizens of Texas with a telegram of regrets.

IN A NUTSHELL

Thirty years ago the population of the United States was 81,000,000, and the average person contributed $19.39 in taxes to support government.

In 1928, the last year for which complete official statistics are available, the population was 120,000,000 and the per capita tax had increased to $106.20. And now senators are figuring how to raise income tax rates to cover the $500,000,000 treasury deficit that followed the last congress.

Here is the tax situation in a nutshell. It should give the public something to think about.

MEMBERS PREPARING FOR THE END

GOLDEN TEXT—And he took bread and gave thanks, and brake it, and gave unto them, saying: This is my body which is given for you: this do in remembrance of me.
LESSON TEXT—Luka 22:17-24.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Wants Us to Remember Him.
QUESTION—How We Can Remember Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Feasting of the Lord's Supper.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Feasting of the Lord's Supper.

1. The Last Passover (vv. 1-18).
a. The Passover prepared (vv. 7-13).
i. Peter and John went to prepare the Passover (v. 8). As the time had arrived for the killing of the Passover, Jesus commanded these disciples to make ready for it.
ii. The disciples' inquiry (v. 9). They inquired of Jesus as to where they should prepare the Passover. The true disciple is not only ready to do the Lord's bidding, but anxious to know exactly his will.
iii. The Master's strange directions (vv. 10-12). They were to go into the city where they would meet a man bearing a pitcher of water. The usual custom was for the women to carry the water. This unusual occurrence would make it easier for them to find the man. He assured them that they would find the man, and a large upper room furnished.
iv. The obedience of the disciples (v. 13). They did as Jesus directed them. They did not stop to question the sanity of the command but, as true disciples, obeyed.
v. The Passover eaten (vv. 14-18).
a. By whom (v. 14). Those who sat down to this last Passover Feast were the Master and the twelve apostles.
b. Jesus' words unto the disciples (vv. 15-18).
i. "I have desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer" (v. 15). He greatly desired to show them the meaning of the passion through which he was to go.
ii. "I will not any more eat thereof until it be fulfilled, the kingdom of God" (v. 16). His death was the antitypical fulfillment of the Passover.
iii. "Take this cup and divide it among yourselves" (v. 17, 18). By the taking of the cup the disciples were partaking of his shed blood. Drinking anew in the kingdom of God does not mean that in heaven this service will be renewed, but that it was symbolic of the heavenly reality.
iv. The Feast of the New Covenant Instituted (vv. 19, 20). This feast took place at the close of the paschal supper.
1. The bread a symbol of Christ's body (v. 19). As bread nourishes and strengthens our bodies, so Christ is food to our spiritual nature. Unless our souls feed upon Christ, we shall perish.
2. The cup a symbol of Christ's blood (v. 20). This was symbolic of the atonement which was made by the shedding of his blood on Calvary's cross. He said, "This cup is the new testament in my blood which was shed for you," indicating that each one must personally accept the atonement made by the shedding of his blood.

III. The Wicked Behavior at the Feast (vv. 21-27).

1. The treachery of Judas (vv. 21-23).
a. The time of its manifestation (v. 21). It was while they were eating the last Passover that Jesus made the announcement of the betrayal, perhaps that Judas might be given an opportunity at this last moment to repent.
b. The betrayal was by the detestable counsel of God (v. 22 Cf. Acts 2:23). Nothing takes place by chance. Even the sinful acts of wicked men come within the permissive province of God. This does not, however, lessen the guilt of sinners, for Jesus said, "We onto the man by whom he is betrayed."
c. The sorrowful question (v. 23). The disciples did not seem to suspect one another but made the question a personal one.
2. The selfish ambition of the disciples (vv. 24-27). In this tragic hour the disciples were so concerned with the thought of position that they were striving among themselves as to who should be the greatest.

IV. The Apostles' Places in the Kingdom (vv. 28-30).

Jesus assured them that those who appointed with him in his trials would be appointed a place in the Kingdom which would entitle them to eat and drink at his table and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

In the Redeemer's Debt

For us, who are deep in the Redeemer's debt, who have had much forgiveness, who every day are bankrupt debtors to the measureless mercy of infinite love—for us, your patroness will suffice.—C. H. Spurgeon.

Great Things From God

Do not expect great things from God. He is a great God; he is in the habit of doing great things. Let us expect the great things God will do for us.—John 1:12.

WHERE THE PEOPLE GO DURING HARD TIMES

Claud Callam, in the Star-Telegram, has the following explanation of why during good times you can't rent houses, and why during the dull times there are so many vacant ones: "When times are hard and there are lots of vacant houses and apartments, people wonder where the former tenants have gone, but it is not a difficult question. The vacant living quarters were formerly occupied by newly married couples and they have moved in on the wife's parents. When the hard times come, the son-in-law finds it impossible to pay the rent. It is all he can do to meet the payments on the car, so he sends his wife over to make the arrangements for them to move in on her people. It seems queer that the government allows a deduction on the income tax for a dependent child, but allows nothing for a dependent son-in-law."

SECOND ANNUAL COWBOY REUNION TO MEET IN JUNE

STAMFORD, TEX., May 19.—Invitations to the second annual Texas Cowboy Reunion to be staged in this city, June 25, 26, and 27, are being broadcast to all who saw actual service on the range of West Texas prior to 1895. All who fall in that classification will be honor guests of the three-day program.

In addition to the get-together meetings that will be held for the pioneers during the reunion there will be numerous entertainment features including cowboy contests each afternoon and evening, square dancing, chuck wagons and numerous, etc., old fiddlers' contests; a group of other attractions.

On the evening of June 26, all who qualify for membership in the old-timers organization will be guests at a chuck wagon supper, where a variety of early day dishes will be served.

Arrangements for the entertainment of the pioneers is in charge of a committee headed by Col. R. L. Penick, who settled in Jones County in 1880.

According to A. C. Cooper, vice-president of the reunion association, the entertainment program to be staged for the particular benefit of the pioneers of the range will be of interest and pleasure to everyone and he is expecting several thousand people here for the affair in addition to those who will be the honorees.

Only cowboys, who are actually engaged in ranch work will be allowed to compete in the rodeo contests. Last year there were 98 contestants in the program and W. G. Swenson, president of the organization, is expecting more than that number this year. The rodeo will be directed by "Scandalous John" Selmon, foreman of the S. M. S. Flat-top ranch, located near Stamford, well known among the cattlemen of the Southwest.

Work of providing better accommodations for the program of the reunion for this year than were available last year have been under way, with D. T. Perkins in charge. A permanent grandstand is being created at the rodeo arena; a pavilion for the dances is to be built, and other improvements made during the next few weeks.

Last year over 300 of the early day citizens of the West Texas cattle ranges were here for the reunion.

CONOCO TO PRESENT MEADOR ON THE AIR

George Meador, lyric tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Co. of New York City, will be the featured artist on the 26th broadcast of the Conoco Listeners' Hour—the final program of this series which began last December. He will be heard in operatic selections—the type of singing which has won him the acclaim of critics.

The rest of the program staff, headed by Peggy and Pat—the listeners' own representatives—are working to make this final program the finest of the entire series. The Roneliers are preparing special arrangements of requested songs, and the Conoco orchestra, directed by George Shackley, will play numbers of universal popularity.

Peggy and Pat, who are leaving soon for their vacation motor trip, will tell the listeners how they have been aided in making their plans by

RED CHAIN Egg Mash

PUTS IN THE EGG BASKET

WHAT OTHERS PUT ON PAPER

A fair feeding test of RED CHAIN is the best way to clear up conflicting claims about egg mash—Talk is cheap—and anyone can find nice words in the dictionary. On paper most feeds claim "more eggs at less cost"—but RED CHAIN actually does what others claim to do! Don't buy your egg mash for what it does on paper—buy it for what it puts in the egg basket... Feed RED CHAIN to your own hens and see the difference between claims and results. It is the unequalled quality of RED CHAIN Egg Mash that makes it the cheapest egg producer—regardless of price.

WEST TEXAS GROWS UP

One day of reckoning has come. Years we've been treating West Texas like stepchildren. We've burned their cotton, and paid them for it when we felt darn good and ready. We've maintained East Texas, North Texas, and South Texas schools upon the rentals from vast areas of West Texas lands on which we refused to pay any taxes. When we cut a melon, we've kept the heart and tossed the rind to West Texas.

And now somebody's let the cat out of the bag: West Texans have tried that our political chickens something besides necks and wings. They've grown up; they're big and strong; and they're themselves in ways that are disconcerting to our national privilege.

They almost gave us a government yet. They will give us one. They raise a confident voice in our legislative assemblies, and, whether we like it or not, we give that voice a respectful hearing.

West Texans have minds of their own. They are isn't far distant from the hampered with a lot of worn out customs and rusteaten traditions. They think broadly and liberally, and they have the ability to look over, around, or under a bale of cotton.

Just now—down at Austin—West Texas is more or less a pain-in-the-neck to the representatives of older sections who resent the loss of their authoritative and final speech.

The facts are, however, we're a little jealous of the West Texas' magnificent self-confidence and self-assurance; we're a little impatient of the impertinence of its youth; we're a little awed at its superb strength, its amazing sagacity; but, deep down in our hearts, we're mighty proud of our youngest child and, for all the world, wouldn't have it anything but what it is.—Editorial Digest.

THE THREE C'S OF ACCIDENT PREVENTION

The key to automobile accident prevention is in the hands of individual drivers. There is a point where even the best traffic laws become ineffectual. At this point, the individual must take up the work. Care, courtesy, common-sense—these are the three C's of accident prevention which are not covered by law.

The majority of accidents occur when they are violated. Each year such violations mean death to 30,000 people, to say nothing of a vast sum in property damage.

Last year, according to the Travelers Insurance Company, the largest single cause of accident was failure to give right-of-way—which accounted for 31 per cent of all mishaps and 15 per cent of all deaths. Foolhardiness coupled with discourtesy, is strutting death along the highways. The driver who cuts in and out of traffic—who drives on the wrong side of the road—who drives at an excessive speed—is a menace to the life and property of all who use the public roads.

Traffic laws should be improved and modernized to the greatest possible degree. But after that is done, the rest is primarily up to the individual driver. He will decide whether or not our horrible toll in human life increases or decreases.

OVER 2,000,000 BALES OF COTTON INCREASE 1930-'31

Supply of cotton in the United States on April 1 amounted to 9,510,000 bales, an increase of 2,414,000 bales over the supply on April 1, 1930, according to Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"This heavy increase is in spite of the fact that the 1930-1931 crop was 895,000 bales less than last year," Dr. Cox said. "The increase has been due to the fact that on last August 1, the carry-over was 2,217,000 bales more than the previous year, and consumption plus exports are down 1,887,000 bales. Imports have been decreased 193,000 bales, making a net gain of 2,215,000 bales in supply on April 1 over the supply on the same date last year.

"Changes in supply on April 1 in the past seven years totaled 8,681,000 bales and the changes in the deferred price for the same period amounted to 2,978 points or about 34 points change in price for each change of 100,000 bales in supply. If that ratio holds good at present, the increase of 2,215,000 bales in supply should cause a decrease of 753 points in the New Orleans deferred spot price from last year, or a decline from 17.67 cents to 10.14 cents. When the 10.14 cents devalued price is converted to the present low wholesale price level of all commodities of 745 as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, it pulls the calculated actual New Orleans spot price down from 7.55 cents.

"The supply of American cotton in and afloat to Europe March 27 amounted to 247,000 bales more than last year. Applying the 34 points to this increase of stocks, the price should be only about 6.75 cents based on the heavy increase in supply and the drastic decline in the price level.

"At this time of the year the prospects for the new crop become the dominating supply factor causing price changes. The anticipated decline in both number of acres to be planted and probable yield per acre are strong factors in sustaining present prices."

THE NEW HOME

Bobby Beaver and Mrs. Beaver had a nice meal of food-wood before they set to work on the home they were planning to have for themselves.

Bobby Beaver was a hard working animal and he got right at his job without any fuss at all. First he made use of some nice country land and a brook. He used the sticks which were left after they had eaten the bark of the wood and he began to make a dam.

You know the beautiful beavers are famous for building dams, canals and all things built with water, land and sticks. Bobby made the dam out of some good mud and he carried it himself to the spot where he was building, carrying it always between his paws and holding it close to him so as not to lose it as he swam along.

Then he worked over the mud, making it just the height and width he wanted, and using the sticks, too. And then he made a fine deep brook-let, which he used as a private driveway to his new home.

He made a most handsome home and Mrs. Beaver thought it was perfectly beautiful.

He swam around, using his tail to help him go, and asking Mrs. Beaver if she liked it.

She had to say over and over again, of course, that she thought it was a beautiful home, and indeed she did think so.

But Bobby liked to hear her say so many times, and then, finally she felt quite sure that she liked it.

"I always build the entrance to any home I make," said Bobby, "under the water."

"It seems so stupid to enter one's home on dry land."

"That is the way it has always seemed to me," said Mrs. Beaver. "I don't believe I could enter my home in any other manner."

"I heard such a strange thing the other day," said Bobby.

"Do tell me what you heard," said Mrs. Beaver, as she took a bit of food-wood.

"I heard of a beaver," said Bobby, "who lived in the zoo, and who wouldn't work when he was being watched."

"And they tell me that all our cousins who live in the zoo are the same way."

"They simply will not work when they are being watched. They don't like it. It quite annoys them, and so they do nothing at all when visitors are around."

"Do they have many visitors?" asked Mrs. Beaver.

"Yes," said Bobby, "they have guests all the time who come to call on them."

"The visitors know the beavers are hard workers and they stand around and wait to see the beavers work."

"But the beavers will not work while people do nothing but stand and watch them!"

"They do not think that is right at all!"

"Well, that is a good joke," said Mrs. Beaver. "So that is the way our cousins in the zoo behave?"

"Yes," said Bobby, "and they do all their work at night when no one is watching."

"Dear me, dear me," said Mrs. Beaver.

"And I heard, too, of one who had pulled down a big tree in the zoo just by working at night," said Bobby.

"Well, now, that is most interesting news," said Mrs. Beaver.

"And then they went into their home and admired it all over again."

The Hippopotamus

What is the hippopotamus? Its name means river horse, but really, it is a very large member of the pig family. The Greeks called it river horse because they thought it looked rather like a horse and because it certainly lived in rivers.

After the elephant, the hippopotamus is the biggest land animal in the world; it weighs up to four tons and has a hide nearly two inches thick.

Hippopotamuses are now found chiefly in the rivers of central Africa, but formerly they were found all over Europe; they once even lived as far north as the north of England.

"Alfalfa pays Brazos Valley farmers better than cotton at 20 cents" is the startling statement of T. H. Porterfield, Marlin county alfalfa demonstrator. He cut 14 acres of red bottom land five times last year for a total yield of 4.6 tons of fine alfalfa hay per acre most of which sold for $22 per ton.

In Swisher county club boys are demonstrating that hogs pay well when fed a mixture of wheat, grain sorghums, cottonseed meal and tankage in self feeders. They produced pork for an average feed cost of 4.2 cents per pound of gain.

Producing eggs for a feed cost of 7 1/2 cents per dozen, J. W. Bethea, Jackson county poultry demonstrator, cleared $111.78 above feeding costs in March from a flock of 1130 white leghorns. Good stock, proper feeding, constant culling, and keeping the flock free from parasites is the explanation, he says.

THEY CLAIM TO HAVE GOTTEN THE "OLD GRANDPAPA"

Oran Davis and Dick Tunc returned late Wednesday afternoon from a late trip down on the Llano, boasting a five-day growth of underbrush on their chins and over the fact that they had caught "OLD GRANDPAPA". However, B. L. Davis declares that session of kangaroo court was full order, as he knew full well that they had gone away without their licenses, and that the only proof brought back to back up their claims was a fish head. Everyone, even B. L., admits that the head is big enough to have belonged to the great Grandpa, but, what we're all wondering is: Where is the rest of Grandpa?

As we have stated in these columns the business of bringing back the heads of a few members of the finny tribe may be all right but so far we have failed to connect with more substantial proof. And we, as well as the general public, are beginning to be skeptical. Nothing personal intended, you understand; just a mere statement of a condition about to begin to exist. (We used to fish some ourselves and we have learned "them all".)

However, some seem to be wondering whether or not Grandpa is really gone. Tom Vandell and Perry Howard left early Tuesday morning for Ballinger, intent on securing Grandpa's older brother, in the event that the first named gentleman is really A. W. O. L. Well, we wish 'em plenty of luck, but we sure hope they bring back something heavy big to substantiate their claims.

on February 22 and continue until the following Thanksgiving Day. It will embrace every phase of Washington's life and include in its programs the recognition of his great services to this country.

The records of the Convention consisting of the official journal and the unofficial shorthand notes made by James Madison, record only one occasion when Washington made a suggestion in the Convention as to a point in the Constitution. There can be no doubt, however, that he was in constant touch with the leaders of the Convention and that his counsel was taken upon many important clauses of the document as finally completed.

It is impossible to overestimate the influence George Washington wielded in the framing of the Constitution. The part he played in the creation of this great instrument of government did not consist of impassioned oratory or specious arguments. It was solely the silent influence of an unassailable character.

When the delegates came to the Convention many of them were determined not to surrender the authority of the separate States to any form of central government; but the realization that George Washington would be the first executive under the Constitution led them to abandon their objection and confer on the President more power than they at first had any idea of granting. It may be said that the Presidency of the United States was created with George Washington as the idea type of man who should fill that office.

L. B. DENNING

L. B. Denning, president of the Lone Star Gas Company, who is to be one of the principal speakers at the inspirational sessions of the Texas Press Association Convention which meets in San Angelo June 11, 12, and 13, has played one of the most important parts in the development of Texas natural gas service. At a time more than 20 years ago when natural gas service was only a name and was looked upon as a highly risky business, Mr. Denning took the lead in organizing the company which built the state's first long distance gas line.

Under the supervision of E. R. Brown, as vice-president and general manager, and W. P. Gage, as superintendent, the first pipe line was constructed by the Lone Star Gas Company from the Petrolia field near the Red River to Fort Worth and later to Dallas, this was in 1909. He became president of the Lone Star in 1915 and since then has been instrumental in building up a gas system of about 4,000 miles of pipe line, supplying complete gas service to about 300 communities in Texas and Oklahoma.

Mr. Denning was born in Greensburg, Indiana. He became associated with natural gas interests in 1902 as attorney for gas companies in Southern Ohio, and his contact with the industry covers a period of almost 30 years in the leading natural gas producing areas of the country. In 1921 he was president of the Natural Gas Association of America, and during President Wilson's administration was a member of the national committee on natural gas conservation.

Every since he took the lead in building the first long distance pipe line in the state, he has been constantly at work developing the natural gas resources of this section and making natural gas service available to the towns and cities now served by this company.

RETAIL MERCHANTS TO MEET AT LUBBOCK

LUBBOCK, May 20—Several hundred of the most successful merchants in Texas are to be in Lubbock May 25, 26 and 27, next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday for the annual convention of the Retail Merchants Association of Texas.

An unusually large number of West Texas merchants are expected here due to the fact that it is the first time in the history of the association to be held this far west in the state and it is the first time in four years that the convention has been held in West Texas.

Carl Mueller of Austin, retail shoe dealer, president of the association will preside. In addition to the merchants organization, the Texas Retail Credit Bureau, Inc., an organization of secretaries of credit bureaus, the Associated Retail Credit Men of Texas, and the Texas Retail Grocers Association, will likewise hold their convention jointly.

Some of the principal speakers on the three-day program follow: Arthur H. Hert, Business Research Department, University of Texas, Austin, "An Analysis of Accounts Charge Off to Profit and Loss"; Guy H. WEST TEXAS GOLFERS TO BATTLE AT LUBBOCK

LUBBOCK, May 18—More than 750 West Texas golfers are enrolled to participate in the seventh annual tournament of the West Texas Golf Association that is to be played over the Lubbock Country Club Course, May 21, 22, 23, and 24.

Preliminaries for some 100 members of the Lubbock club will likely be held Wednesday, May 20.

The golfers will be after the West Texas crown, won by Dennis Lavender of Dallas and formerly of Abilene, who won the tournament last year at Brownwood.

In the event Lavender stays away, there will be a heated battle for the vacated throne between golfers in the same class with the 1930 champion, Fort Worth, Abilene, Brownwood, San Angelo, El Paso and Amarillo will send "big town" players to vie with those of Lubbock and there will be a host of players just as capable of outstriking the metropolitan golfer from the smaller towns of West Texas.

Four flights of 32 men each will emerge from the qualifying round and on Friday, May 22, these 32 men will be matched in 18-hole contests. The preliminary rounds in the championship bracket will continue through Saturday, with the first rounds of the consolation matches beginning Friday afternoon. Finals in all flights will be held Sunday, and the winner of the final 36 hole match will be crowned champion of West Texas amateurs.

Both the Meadowbrook and the Lubbock Country clubs in Lubbock have entered the tournament. Other clubs that have entered follow: Brownwood Country Club, Meadowbrook, Ft. Worth, River Crest, Ft. Worth, Eastland Country Club, Big Spring Country Club, Thurber Country Club, Spur Country Club, Texas Country Club, McCamey Country Club, Mineral Wells Country Club, Floydada Country Club, Ralls Country Club, Wichita Falls Country Club, Colorado Country Club, Amarillo Country Club, Plainview Country Club, and Lamesa Country Club. Entries will be received until Thursday afternoon by Joe Dick Slaughter of Lubbock Country Club.

Amos 'n Andy call it "repression", some call it "depression", but the most convincing to remind us is the "expression".
