Water Conservation Is Urged

A water conservation program must be started immediately by towns, water districts, ranchers, and farmers, declared the State Health Department. The present situation is extremely grave and immediate action is necessary to relieve drought areas and prevent such conditions occurring in the future.

Our diminishing water supply, and in many places in Texas, the total lack of sufficient water, brings about an emergency that imperils the life and health of the citizenship and brings about a substantial economic loss.

Without water industry can not operate, homes can not exist, crops can not grow, forests would disappear, game and fish would die, the earth would become a desert, and the human race would perish.

Municipalities must make plans for additional water supplies. These may come from the construction of dams to impound water during the time of rains and with additional wells. However, the construction of dams is the more practical as the water level in Texas is getting lower each year.

An immediate water conservation program thruout the state that will provide for the impounding of flood and rain water will contribute more to protecting the health of our people and add more to our economy than any other known project that could be undertaken. To wait three to five years to develop such a program could prove to be our greatest domestic tragedy.

Mrs W M Cox and son spent the week end in Oklahoma City visiting relatives.

Spraberry Tester

The Hiawatha Oil and Gas Co will spud in this week a Spraberry wild cat 1 mile north of the O'Donnell townsite. The venture will drill to 7,800 feet and drilling time is estimated at 2 months. Drill site will be on the 40 acres north of the J. B Moore farm home (the 40 acres just east of the Geo. Lindly 40 acre drill site—as the index gets the location. The proposed test is a northeast offset to the Sinclair No. 1 Lindly, a 11,000 foot dry hole abandoned in 1949. The Sinclair project reportedly had about 100 feet of oil stains in the Spraberry section which was not tested.

Elsewhere the Standard offset in the Smith field and the Gulf test, in the Adcock field are making hole nearing the pay sections; the Gregory well south of New Moore is also nearing the expected pay.

NOTES FROM 1046 STUDY CLUB

Are you as a parent, interested in your child's education? These years in public schools are his ONLY chance to obtain the foundation for his whole life.

Why do you send your child to school? Is it to learn or is it simply because the law requires it? We feel sure that it is because your only thought is to provide him with the best tools for living.

We are convinced that by far the greater majority of our boys and girls in O'Donnell (NEED) to STUDY in order to learn. In your child one of the few in our school who does study? Our school authorities tell us that the few students in Junior High and High School who are really eager to take advantage of their too few study periods are often distracted by those others who have legal permission to be excused from these periods. Did you know that, these minute periods, present, in one 45 minute period, as many as a dozen parent signed requests for permission to leave the Study Hall?

Would you, as parents, who have no other interest above that in your boy's and girl's welfare, think of the real importance of these preparation periods?

After considering how little time the school day offers your older child for study, and how poorly that time is often used, you will appreciate how vital is the necessity for home preparation.

Every member of the faculty will appreciate the evidence of your interest by your insistence on seeing, and signing, some of your child's written work, by your insistence on some home preparation, and by your cooperation in seeing that he has the time and opportunity at home for that preparation. This is our school and it will be just as good as we require—and help—it to be.

Mrs Hafer of Brownfield visited Mrs Mack Noble last week.

Ratio of Workers to Persons 65 Or Older Continues to Decline

Today there are only five adult workers in the United States for every person 65 years old or over...

respect to our aging population, reports the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

As medical science and improving conditions enable more people to live past 65, we are at the same time retiring more oldersters from useful work, says the report.

Simply voting the old people more dollars is no solution, either for them or the nation, the report observes, adding that old people do not consume dollars—they consume goods, like everyone else.

Therefore any practical program of security for our aged must face two basic requirements, says the report:

(1) Production of goods and services by our young and middle-aged people must be expanded much further, through industrial progress...

(2) At the same time our increasing millions of older people must be permitted and helped to keep on at productive work as long after 65 as possible...

Unless these basic realities are kept in mind, the problem will grow worse instead of better, says the report; passing out more and more government dollars looks like an easy solution...

MOST AMERICANS want to stay useful after 65, says the report, pointing to a recent survey of the retirement aims of 3,000 of the company's male policyholders...

Such responses further emphasize the need for all retirement programs, whether based on life insurance, industrial pensions or government payments...

GRASSROOTS

President Disregards His Dixiecrat Opposition

REGARDLESS of what the permanent effect may be on the future of his party, how wide the factional split may spread, the President is determined to make another try at securing legislation on his Fair Deal program.

Senator Humphreys of Minnesota has been delegated to prepare and introduce in the senate eight bills that, if they can be passed, would effectuate the Fair Deal program as contained in the Democratic platform of 1948...

Senator Humphreys is promised the active support of half a dozen other northern Democratic senators who support anything the President asks for.

The first of these measures is the anti-lynching bill, which the south has been able to talk to death, as an invasion of state's rights. It is the President's belief that the passage of such a measure, with its effect on the northern negro vote, could mean turning the electoral vote of such states as New York, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Ohio, and others with a large negro population into the Democratic column...

real answer. If the President is right in his surmise, it could mean his election to a third term. All such bills are to be promoted as welfare legislation.

What the action of the Republicans in the senate, whether or not they will support the Dixiecrats of the south, will not be known until the senate votes. The Republicans are not anxious to affront the northern Democratic negroes. The Republicans, too, would like to have as many of those votes as possible.

Such a move on the part of the President could mean a permanent split in his party that in time might be politically expensive and mean a third party and a loss of regular Democratic control of congress. Such a result could not be evident in the next election.

When I was in Hawaii between the first and second world wars, an invariable subject of conversation was "statehood for the islands." A large majority of the people of all the racial groups were for it. A small minority, led by the Honolulu Advertiser, was opposed.

The Advertiser based its opposition on its expressed belief in a lack of loyalty on the part of the Japanese, then the largest of the racial groups in the islands, but the publisher and owner admitted the real reason was the certainty that the publisher and owner of the compet-

THE FICTION CORNER

BERTHA

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

ROY was correcting his English mid-year book reviews and the whistling annoyed him. It came from the alley beneath the window at the end of the hall.

Presently he could stand it no longer. He was not a violent man, but as he descended the back stairs there was a grimace about his mouth.

Roy emerged into the alley and headed for a high board fence, from behind which came the measured whistle. He went through a door in the fence and stopped short. A voice said: "Hi, kid!"

Suspended from a peg in the fence was a cage and in the cage was a parrot. As Roy stared at it the parrot emitted a shrill, piercing whistle.

Roy was in the act of opening the cage door when someone shrieked. He turned to see a girl with red hair and blazing brown eyes rushing at him.

"Don't you dare touch that cage! Who are you? What are you doing here? You were going to harm Bertha!"

Roy blinked, "Yes," he said calmly, "I was going to wring Bertha's scrawny neck. Bertha's whistling annoyed me. It was driving me crazy. All morning long I have been trying to correct my English book reviews. If the book reviews aren't in by tomorrow I'm apt to lose my job."

The girl's eyes brimmed with tears.

"I'm sorry," Roy said. "Unless you remove Bertha from her present location I shall insist on bashing in her stupid head."

"I'm sorry," said Roy. "Unless you remove Bertha from her present location I shall insist on bashing in her stupid head."

The redhead gasped. "And I'll bet you would do it, too! It's only on bright days that I place Bertha outside. Otherwise, she has to stay in where it's dark. If you don't believe me, come and see."

Roy realized that she was appealing to his better nature, if any. He permitted himself to be led into the house. The room, where abode the girl and Bertha, was truly a gloomy place.

"I conceded the point," Roy admitted. He stared at the girl closely. "I should think on warm days you'd want to get out into the air yourself."

"I do. I spend nearly all my time looking for a job. Today I stayed home so Bertha could have a sunning. Tomorrow she won't bother you at all."

"Tomorrow," said Roy, "I won't be here to mind." He scratched his chin.

"Look here," he said. "What kind of work are you looking for?"

"I used to be a librarian," said the girl.

"A librarian!" exclaimed Roy. "Would you like a job correcting English IV book reviews?"

The redhead's eyes grew round. "Do you mean—why I'd adore such a job!"

"By the way," he said, "I haven't asked your name."

"It's Roberta Cameron. And if you want these papers tonight, I think you'd better let me get to work on them."

It was in October that Bertha had first aroused Roy's ire. Two weeks before Christmas he asked Roberta an important question. She shook her head. "I couldn't marry you. You don't like Bertha."

"But I've really grown fond of Bertha!" Roy cried. "Why, if it weren't for Bertha, I'd never have met you."

The day after this, Bertha caught a cold. It was bright and warm in the morning and Roberta left the bird outside while she went to town. At noon it turned cold and began to rain.

Team Almonds with Coconut for these Delectable Bars
(See Recipes Below)

Tempting Cookies

You'll want some for after-school snacks, for easy dinner desserts that can be made well in advance, and for entertaining.

ALMOND COCONUT BARS are a delightful chewy type of bar, and they make a perfect mate for ice cream and custard desserts.

Almond Coconut Bars
(Makes 24 1 1/2 x 2-inch bars)

Bottom layer:
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
1/2 cup butter of substitute

Top layer:
1/2 cup roasted, unblanched almonds
2 eggs
1 cup brown sugar (packed)
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup shredded coconut
1/2 cup thoroughly drained crushed pineapple

Bottom layer: Blend flour, brown sugar and butter together thoroughly. Pack in bottom of greased 8-inch square pan. Bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven for 10 minutes.

Top layer: Chop almonds. Beat eggs well. Gradually beat in brown sugar. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Stir into egg-sugar mixture. Blend in coconut, pineapple and almonds. Spoon over baked layer. Bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven 25 to 30 minutes longer. Cut into bars while slightly warm.

YOU'LL ENJOY this Orange Cookie which takes its flavor from brown sugar, fresh orange juice and rind. The cookies may be iced singly, or they may be put together with icing in-between, sandwich fashion.

Orange Cookies
(Makes 30 2-inch cookies)

3/4 cup light brown sugar
1/2 cup shortening (part butter)
1 egg
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1/4 cup orange juice
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
3/4 teaspoon baking powder

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add egg and beat until mixture is light and fluffy. Add orange rind and juices. Sift flour, measure and resit with soda and baking powder. Stir flour mixture into sugar mixture stirring gently until it just forms a soft, smooth dough. Drop by teaspoonsful onto a greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven for about 7 minutes or until done. Ice cookies or put two together, sandwich fashion with:

Orange Icing
Place in top part of double boiler 2 cups confectioners' sugar, 1/4 cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon melted butter and 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind. Cook over hot water for 10 minutes. Beat icing until cool and of easy spreading consistency.

LYNN SAYS:
Serve Tempting Dishes For Cool Weather

Try a hot corned beef hash sandwich for a hearty snack. It's easily prepared by heating the hash in a skillet with sweet pickle relish, salt and grated onion for seasoning. Spread on toast, top with a tomato slice and another piece of toast.

Carried chicken soup starts any meal off right. Simply add one teaspoon of curry powder to diluted canned chicken soup. Sprinkle with parsley before serving.

Kidney beans are popular fare and can be used nicely for a hearty sandwich. Season canned kidney beans with chopped onion, catsup and worcestershire sauce, then spread on split hamburger buns. Top with sliced tomato and strips of bacon; broil until bacon is crisp.

When menfolk want a snack, none of them will turn down this one: mash canned sardines with their oil, add chopped stuffed olives and enough chili sauce and mayonnaise to make the mixture spread easily on crackers.

Cancer Mortality On The Decline

Encouraging indications of a decline in cancer mortality are reported by statisticians who base their findings upon the postwar experience of millions of industrial policyholders.

Favorable developments in the cancer picture are most evident, the statisticians point out, when the recent trend of mortality is studied according to whether the primary site of the disease is accessible or inaccessible to diagnosis.

For the accessible sites as a group, both men and women in the insurance experience recorded declines in the death rate from 1946-47 to 1949-50, men by 2.4 per cent and women by 7.2. There was a reduction in female mortality from almost all the accessible specific types of cancer.

In the case of the inaccessible sites as a whole, the death rate among women declined 1.1 per cent, but, on the other hand, that among men showed an increase of 4 per cent. However, both sexes showed decreases for such specific sites as the stomach, intestines, other digestive organs, bladder, and liver.

Considerable increases in death rates were recorded for cancers of the lungs and other respiratory areas.

Greatly intensified efforts have been put forth on all fronts since the end of the war to fight cancer. These have included the expansion of diagnostic facilities, the opening of more special cancer hospitals, and intensified cancer research. In addition, the statisticians state "great emphasis is still placed upon early recognition and treatment of the disease."

Good or Bad?

"I had a mighty queer surprise this morning," remarked the stock broker. "I put on my last summer's thin suit on account of this extraordinary hot weather, and in one of the trousers pockets I found a big roll of bills which I had entirely forgotten!"

"Were any of them receipted?" asked a pessimist.

Planted 'Em Himself
"And you say you guarantee these canaries?"

"Guarantee them? Why, na dam, I raised them from canary seed!"

FEEN-A-MINT
FAMOUS CHEWING-GUM LAXATIVE

it's Wonderful the Way

Chewing-Gum Laxative

Acts Chiefly to REMOVE WASTE

—NOT GOOD FOOD

Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why FEEN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different!

Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon... right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out.

But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes only waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, worn-out feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel your "peppy," energetic self! Get FEEN-A-MINT! No increase in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

M-M-M... HALLOWEEN DROP DOUGHNUTS

MADE WITH RED STAR Special Active DRY YEAST

HALLOWEEN DROP DOUGHNUTS

Crispy brown outside, delicate and fluffy inside, an easy-to-make holiday treat

ADD 2 pkg. RED STAR Special Active Dry Yeast to 1/2 cup warm water (110°-115°). Let stand SCALD 1/2 cup milk. Pour into large bowl with 1/4 cup sugar, 1 tsp salt, 1/2 tsp each of nutmeg and nutmeg. Blend together and cool to lukewarm. STIR yeast mixture well and pour into bowl. MIX IN 1/2 cup sifted shortening, 2 eggs, with 1 1/2 cups sifted flour. BEAT until batter is smooth about 100 strokes. SCRAPE down dough from sides of bowl. COVER and let rise in warm place until doubled about 30 minutes. STIR down and let rest while fat is heating to 350° (to test - a 1-in. cube of bread browns in 60 seconds). DROP batter from teaspoon into hot fat. Turn when edges show color, frying golden brown about 1 1/2 minutes on each side.

DO'S FOR DOUGHNUTS

DO have fat 1 1/2 to 2 in. deep in heavy pan for shallow frying.

DO keep temperature around 350-375 degrees. Too hot fat forms crust before doughnuts are cooked through, too cool fat means doughnuts will soak up fat.

DO turn doughnuts when edges show golden brown color.

DO drain doughnuts on absorbent paper, such as paper toweling, near a warm place.

DO sugar coat while still warm.

Rice Is Most Important Food in the World Today

Although most Americans believe the statement exaggerated, rice is the most important food crop in the world today. It is the basic food of more than half of the world's population. In recent years the cultivation of rice has increased in this country, but in Asia it is the important crop because it is virtually the only food millions of people have—their means of sustaining life.

The most important item in keeping the kitchen range in first class condition is cleanliness. By using a budget plan, families can use the budget as a guide to help them keep expenses within the expected family income.

Step-Ramp Loading Chutes Are Safest Many Livestock Yards Are Remodeling Ramps

Livestock markets across the nation are continuing in their program of modernization and the installation of step-ramp chutes to replace old wooden chutes that cause great damage to animals. Cattle prefer steps to the old-style cleats. Many animals are injured and much meat lost from bruising due to the constant prodding necessary to get the animals up and down the old ramps, cattlemen have reported.

The Chicago stock yards recently opened 12 of the modern step-ramp chutes. Of concrete and steel construction, the new chutes are designed to ease the task of unloading stock, and insure safe and efficient operations. Galvanized steel fencing and gates add to the safety features of the dock area. Waffle-grid concrete floorings provide safe footing for animals during the penning process.

The first truck to unload over the ramps brought 24 head of Hereford and Angus steers shipped by Carroll Snola of Onslow, Ia.

Cracked Corn Found Best Feed for Suckling Lambs

Tests made at the University of Kentucky experiment station indicate cracked yellow shelled corn is the cheapest and best ration for the creep-feeding of suckling lambs.

Experiments carried on over a period of nine years compared cracked yellow corn with mixtures of feeds. These included cracked corn, crushed oats and pea-sized linseed oilmeal; cracked corn and commercial milk substitute, and a third ration composed of "sweet feed" made of corn, oats, bran, linseed oilmeal, molasses and salt.

The experiment was conducted under the most controlled conditions possible. Kentucky educators reported.

The conclusion of the experimenters: "None of the three more costly mixtures showed any consistent or significant superiority to corn alone in rate of gain, efficiency of gain or market finish of the lambs."

The experimenters were not designed to answer the question of whether creep-feeding pays, but rather to determine what rations are best for creep-feeding under Kentucky conditions.

Strip Cropping Helps Hold Soil in Place It's Only First Step in Conservation Plan

Strip cropping, an important part of soil conservation, is a good deal like putting a splint on a broken bone. The splint holds the bone in place, but it doesn't knit it. Strip cropping helps hold the soil in place, but it won't rebuild run-down fertility.

The above picture is a beautiful example of strip cropping, but it was not accomplished by mere contour plowing. It was accomplished by sound soil conservation, based on use and treatment of land with all proven, appropriate measures that are needed to keep it permanently productive while in use.

Strip cropping on a field just north of Neillville, Wis., is a beautiful example of one step toward soil conservation.

Sound conservation means terracing land that needs terracing; contouring, strip cropping, and stubble-mulching the land as needed; along with use of supporting measures of crop rotation, cover and green manure crops and the use of the right commercial fertilizers.

No farmer should undertake a conservation program without expert advice. He should first contact any one of his soil conservation district officers and apply for assistance from his district. If he doesn't know who his officers are, he can locate the address of his district office in the phone book, or he can call his county agent. Districts help only farmers who request their assistance.

Number of U. S. Farms Lowest Since the 1890s

The number of farms in the United States has continued to decline since the end of World War II with the current total the lowest since before the turn of the century.

The department of agriculture reports there were fewer than 5.4 million farms in the country last year. This figure compares with approximately 5.9 million in 1945, and with the peak number of 6.8 million in 1935.

Thus the number of American farms has declined over 1.4 million, or more than a fifth, in the last decade and a half—a period in which land in farms has continued to increase and in which total agricultural production has likewise shown a spectacular increase in aggregate volume of products raised as well as in total market value.

In 1900 there were some 5.7 million farms in the U. S., approximately 350,000 more than at present. A decade before, in 1890, the number of farms was about 4.6 million.

Uncle Sam Says

Depreciation of machinery and equipment is a big annual expense on today's farms, even though replacements are not bought every year. It is only sound management for a farmer to put part of what his machinery earns each year into a safe investment, readily convertible into cash when the machine is worn out. An ideal way to accumulate this replacement fund is to buy U. S. Defense Bonds. They are safe—earn a good rate of interest—and are easily redeemed when needed.

Rice Is Most Important Food in the World Today

Although most Americans believe the statement exaggerated, rice is the most important food crop in the world today. It is the basic food of more than half of the world's population. In recent years the cultivation of rice has increased in this country, but in Asia it is the important crop because it is virtually the only food millions of people have—their means of sustaining life.

The most important item in keeping the kitchen range in first class condition is cleanliness. By using a budget plan, families can use the budget as a guide to help them keep expenses within the expected family income.

Step-Ramp Loading Chutes Are Safest Many Livestock Yards Are Remodeling Ramps

Livestock markets across the nation are continuing in their program of modernization and the installation of step-ramp chutes to replace old wooden chutes that cause great damage to animals. Cattle prefer steps to the old-style cleats. Many animals are injured and much meat lost from bruising due to the constant prodding necessary to get the animals up and down the old ramps, cattlemen have reported.

The Chicago stock yards recently opened 12 of the modern step-ramp chutes. Of concrete and steel construction, the new chutes are designed to ease the task of unloading stock, and insure safe and efficient operations. Galvanized steel fencing and gates add to the safety features of the dock area. Waffle-grid concrete floorings provide safe footing for animals during the penning process.

The first truck to unload over the ramps brought 24 head of Hereford and Angus steers shipped by Carroll Snola of Onslow, Ia.

Cracked Corn Found Best Feed for Suckling Lambs

Tests made at the University of Kentucky experiment station indicate cracked yellow shelled corn is the cheapest and best ration for the creep-feeding of suckling lambs.

Experiments carried on over a period of nine years compared cracked yellow corn with mixtures of feeds. These included cracked corn, crushed oats and pea-sized linseed oilmeal; cracked corn and commercial milk substitute, and a third ration composed of "sweet feed" made of corn, oats, bran, linseed oilmeal, molasses and salt.

The experiment was conducted under the most controlled conditions possible, Kentucky educators reported.

The conclusion of the experimenters: "None of the three more costly mixtures showed any consistent or significant superiority to corn alone in rate of gain, efficiency of gain or market finish of the lambs."

The experimenters were not designed to answer the question of whether creep-feeding pays, but rather to determine what rations are best for creep-feeding under Kentucky conditions.

Strip Cropping Helps Hold Soil in Place It's Only First Step In Conservation Plan

Strip cropping, an important part of soil conservation, is a good deal like putting a splint on a broken bone. The splint holds the bone in place, but it doesn't knit it. Strip cropping helps hold the soil in place, but it won't rebuild run-down fertility.

The above picture is a beautiful example of strip cropping, but it was not accomplished by mere contour plowing. It was accomplished by sound soil conservation, based on use and treatment of land with all proven, appropriate measures that are needed to keep it permanently productive while in use.

Strip cropping on a field just north of Neillsville, Wis., is a beautiful example of one step toward soil conservation.

Sound conservation means terracing land that needs terracing; contouring, strip cropping, and stubble-mulching the land as needed; along with use of supporting measures of crop rotation, cover and green manure crops and the use of the right commercial fertilizers.

No farmer should undertake a conservation program without expert advice. He should first contact any one of his soil conservation district officers and apply for assistance from his district. If he doesn't know who his officers are, he can locate the address of his district office in the phone book, or he can call his county agent. Districts help only farmers who request their assistance.

Number of U. S. Farms Lowest Since the 1890s

The number of farms in the United States has continued to decline since the end of World War II with the current total the lowest since before the turn of the century.

The department of agriculture reports there were fewer than 5.4 million farms in the country last year. This figure compares with approximately 5.9 million in 1945, and with the peak number of 6.8 million in 1935.

Thus the number of American farms has declined over 1.4 million, or more than a fifth, in the last decade and a half—a period in which land in farms has continued to increase and in which total agricultural production has likewise shown a spectacular increase in aggregate volume of products raised as well as in total market value.

In 1900 there were some 5.7 million farms in the U. S., approximately 350,000 more than at present. A decade before, in 1890, the number of farms was about 4.6 million.

Uncle Sam Says

Depreciation of machinery and equipment is a big annual expense on today's farms, even though replacements are not bought every year. It is only sound management for a farmer to put part of what his machinery earns each year into a safe investment, readily convertible into cash when the machine is worn out. An ideal way to accumulate this replacement fund is to buy U. S. Defense Bonds. They are safe—earn a good rate of interest—and are easily redeemed when needed.

Beef Price Increases Announced; Marshall Retires to Private Life

BEEF PRICES—Harassed small town housewives, who have been fighting a losing battle with the food budget since the beginning of the Korean war, heard the news of a wholesale beef price increase with dismay. OPS authorized the increase of 1½ to 2 cents a pound at the wholesale level. It will mean the home town housewife will pay more for chucks and rounds.

In addition, OPS announced retail price increase on hams, shoulders, and bacon by 1 to 2 cents. Ceiling on pork chops and roasts were recently subject to an adjustment.

OPS said the new increases will restore fair profit margins to packers. Several had closed in recent weeks because they reported losing money under existing OPS price regulations.

It was estimated the new ceilings represent an average increase of a cent a pound on beef sold by the carcass.

Another order issued by OPS increased the ceiling price on utility grade of live cattle from $21.80 to $23.40 per hundred pounds. This grade is used by canners for the army and some other customers, but represents less than 10 per cent of all beef sold at retail.

FULL SCALE WAR—Military observers believe there is little, if any, chance of Korean truce talks resuming. For the most part they predict increased activity in the fighting, with latest reports confirming this view.

Flame throwers, tanks and artillery were used by the Allies last week in chopping up limited gains in eastern Korea, while in other sectors, U.N. troops beat back large Red attacks.

Junior Hog Champ

A 13-year-old city reared lad won nearly $600 and carried off top honors in competition with 55 farm youngsters in the 12th annual Chicago Junior Hog Show. Here he is, Carl Silva, Jr., of Dundee, Ill., who never lived on a farm until 5 months ago.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, eighth army commander, is reported to have said the Reds at present do not have much of an offensive capability left on the eastern front. He reports Red casualties are running at 20 to 1 in comparison with the Allies.

Meanwhile, the word war between the Communist and United Nations commands continues. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway warned the enemy that the admission that an American plane accidentally machine-gunned the Kaesong area recently is "no indication the U.N. command will accept any trumped up Communist charge, no matter how loudly they protest." He referred to Communist charges of previous attacks which the Allies have denied.

A-WEAPONS TRAINING—Some 12,000 soldiers from the home towns of the nation will get a close look soon at what an atomic explosion can do as they undergo training in the tactical use of atomic weapons. The training will be carried out in the Frenchman's Flat proving grounds near Las Vegas where the atomic energy commission set off several atomic explosions some weeks ago.

The maneuvers will be the first time army ground forces have received actual field training with the new "tactical" atomic weapons recently developed by the AEC. The weapons are believed to include guided missiles with atomic warheads and atomic artillery shells.

PAY RAISE—A pay raise of 10 per cent was approved by the senate last week for approximately 1,000,000 federal workers. The house must act on the bill and President Truman must sign it, however, before the money would be forthcoming.

The measure would increase federal employee wages on the average of $307.53 a year, at an annual cost to the government of about $340,000,000. It would grant raises to almost all federal workers except those in the post office department. Postal workers previously were voted increases ranging from $400 to $800 in a senate bill.

NO RUSH BUYING—Merchants in all sections of the country, from the home towns to the big towns, have noticed recently there is no buying rush as there was only a few months ago. Economists have come up with several reasons why rush buying has stopped, but the two main ones seem to be the increased cost of items and the consumer now is buying what he needs, not because he fears future shortages.

During part of 1950 and early 1951 the American consumer went on a buying spree because of predicted shortages. Many of the items purchased were on the installment plan and now the consumer is paying for them. The old fear of shortages no longer worries the consumer because he believes goods will be available.

And because of higher prices many consumers are saving for that rainy day, to pay off debts, and to buy things when prices are readjusted.

TAFT PROSPECTS—Sen. Robert Taft frankly admitted on his recent speaking tour through Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota was a prospecting trip which will have great bearing upon whether or not he will seek the 1952 Republican nomination for president.

"A lot of people say they want me to run, but I want to be sure of the amount of support I am going to have before I make any final decision," the Ohioan said.

THE GENERAL—The acceptance by President Truman of George C. Marshall's resignation as secretary of defense retires to private life a man who has held a unique place in American public life during the past decade, especially in the minds of the people in the home towns of the country. Gen. Marshall inspired confidence in the American people as has no other military man in recent years.

After a long and honorable military career, Marshall rose to new heights as United States chief of staff in World War II. At the end of the war he retired, but was called back by President Truman to head a mission to China in an effort to end the civil war there. After that fruitless mission he was named secretary of state, during which the government launched the foreign-aid program that became known as the Marshall plan. He resigned that post in 1949. A year ago Truman called him from retirement to take the post of secretary of defense.

Senator Johnson of Texas very well summed up the opinion of the average American's regard for Marshall: "Long after the trivial carping of his detractors has been forgotten, the memory of George Marshall's services will stand as an inspiring monument to future defenders of freedom in the world. Because of his efforts, freedom has survived and will continue to survive."

FARM OUTLOOK

Second Largest Farm Crop Is Expected

Despite unfavorable weather—drought in much of the south and southwest and excessive rain in the midwest—crop production in 1951 promises to be the second largest on record, according to the department of agriculture.

The department reported the volume of all crops was indicated at 133 per cent of the 1923-33 average compared with a record of 138 per cent set in 1948. In another report, the department predicted livestock marketing will increase this fall to equal or pass the large volume of the fall of 1950. So far this year marketing of livestock has been running behind that of last year. Hog slaughtering is expected to levels of a year ago. As a result, prices may be considerably lower.

ENRICHED BREAD

Enrichment of White Bread With Vitamin B Started 10 Years Ago

Enriched white bread in the past ten years has resulted in the virtual wiping out of two deficiency diseases and has contributed materially to better health and increased vigor to the American people, according to statements from outstanding authorities in medical and nutritional science.

Bakers all over America this year are celebrating the decennial bread enrichment. It was in March, 1941, when the enrichment program got under way on a national scale.

White bread "enrichment" is simply the raising in bread of the content of the B vitamins—niacin, thiamin and riboflavin—and iron. These elements are produced in volume in the process of milling wheat into flour.

The two diseases which result from a lack of the B vitamins are called beriberi heart disease and pellagra. While the average person probably is not too familiar with either of these, they were not at all uncommon in the United States prior to 1941.

The B vitamins perform an important function in the body. They make it possible to eat an ample quantity of food but still suffer from malnutrition if B vitamins were not present in sufficient quantity to make the proteins, carbohydrates and other food properties adequately absorbed into the body.

It was indications of this lack of proper nourishment which was causing considerable concern among doctors and nutritionists in the 1930's. The state of the nation's health was definitely not good and the fact was pointed up sharply when the draft started in 1940 and 1941. Thousands of young men were rejected for military service and the cause for some of the rejections could be traced to malnutrition.

Families such as the one pictured above enjoy better health today, leading scientists declare, because the bread they consume has been enriched with vitamins and minerals.

The discovery of how to make B vitamins by chemical combinations in 1936 made it possible to provide the people with the vitamins. The method of getting the vitamins to the mass of the people was another problem. Consultation between government health authorities and scientists brought about an approach to the flour millers and bakers.

These meetings culminated in agreement that bread was the natural place for the vitamins and the program was launched in 1941. The B vitamins belonged in bread, since they were present in the original whole grain. Bread is a universal food, appearing most frequently in most families. And bread is one of the least expensive of foods. These facts added up to the obvious conclusion that the best place to provide B vitamins was in bread. Enriched bread thus came into being.

TO THE AVERAGE consumer, enrichment has meant general betterment of physical well being, the scientists say. Studies among children reveal, in test cases, that youngsters who received B vitamins were more vigorous, more alert, less peevish, while those whose diets did not include B vitamins were listless, inclined to cry more readily and showed little inclination for play.

Changing living habits were major factors in making the enrichment program necessary. Around 1900, 95 per cent of all the bread consumed in America was made in the home, today, 95 per cent is made by bakers.

Flour 50 years ago was not as fully refined as it is today and most of the nutritional elements of wheat were obtained in the daily diet. Better transportation and better methods of processing, shipping and handling food brought a greater variety to daily diet.

Each American used to eat more than 200 pounds of cereal products each year. Recently the average has been about 135 pounds. Too, the consumer insists on a white and light loaf of bread which means less of the B vitamins are present in the product reaching the consumer table.

Health authorities who were more and more alarmed by the declining state of national health in the mid-30's made strenuous efforts to promote greater use of whole wheat bread, but with no noticeable results. The consumer still wanted white bread.

Today, a huge percentage of all white bread made by American bakers is enriched.

GRASSROOTS

If Truman Wins Again, Republicans Are Through

By Wright A. Patterson

THROUGH his numerous addresses throughout the nation, notably those in Texas, Washington, Boston and others, General Douglas MacArthur has given the American people "that something to be for" rather than only something to be against.

This he has done in unmistakable words which admit no possible misinterpretations—not weasel words to confuse. Through these statements he has established the clarion call for political battle in 1952.

He calls for a battle for the freedom of the American people as individuals, freedoms established and passed down to us by our forefathers, the founders of this nation.

General MacArthur, without any desire for political reward, has given words to what the Republican leaders either could not or would not express. And he has driven the idea to a point where it must be accepted as a plank on which the campaign will be waged.

Should it, by any chance, not be accepted as the gauge of battle with an insistence that the fight be along that line, the President, if he be the Democratic candidate, will win, and the Republicans as such will be through.

In providing the one issue, that of freedom of the individual, General MacArthur covers all the issues that could be expected. It embraces the opposition toward the drift toward socialism, maintenance of the private enterprise system, the rights of states and local governments—all are wrapped up in one package labeled "freedom of the individual citizen." He has sold freedom as opposed to government direction and persuasion.

There they are, the issues of the 1952 campaign, expressed as the people like them. It only remains for Republican leaders to accept what is their's for the taking with no strings tied to the package.

With it would go the enthusiasm statements as the general delivered them from many platforms. Certainly, these Republican leaders cannot be foolish enough to turn away! It's a campaign ready made for any party nominee—with the exception of General Eisenhower. Such a pronouncement would not be a "sneaking with alarm" by either the party or MacArthur.

It would constitute a promise of what the party would do in exchange for victory, the thing for which General Douglas MacArthur, the popular hero, has asked to be done.

The unsupported statements of the approach of the Russian war wolf have ceased to jar the nerves or arouse the fears of the American people, though they have not stopped the appropriations of more billions for preparedness on the part of congress.

A preparedness that does not seem to advance as rapidly as so

BIG RED'S CURE

By Helen Langworthy

THE reason my husband has been nicknamed Big Red is because he's over six feet tall, carrot-topped and peppery dispositioned. While painting our home and reaching far out from the top of the ladder Big Red fell. There were more people than the doctor and I to realize that my husband had broken his leg. He was howling mad!

Surprisingly, though, Big Red wasn't too bad a patient during his long hospitalization. Yes, leave it to him—he did a royal job, nothing simple and routine! His fracture required specialists, operations and enough paraphernalia around his bed to make it resemble Frankenstein's nightmare. That's my Big Red!

During those long months before he came home Big Red said that the thing he was most thankful for was that he was away from the Sanders, the Markhams, and the Keatings. Perhaps in other neighborhoods there are more family's like those three. If so, I can sympathize with all who live neighbor to thoroughly nice but thoroughly tiresome folks. Take Mr. Sanders, for instance. He has gall stones. The way he describes the pain, the many medicines the doctors have tried to dissolve them is something to remember for days. When anyone suggests an operation, Mr. Sanders gasps, "Oh, no!" You wonder if one would rob him of his only conversational topic!

Little Mrs. Markham is sweet and lovely. She seems so—until she mentions she didn't sleep last night, the night before and for weeks has heard the clock strike every hour! She's tried counting sheep, hot milk and drugs. Nothing helps. Then there's Mr. Keating. He's next in size to Big Red. His woe is an allergy. When he and his wife come in maybe it's the new davenport pillow that he stares at like it came from Mars. He's spent hours receiving painful shots and telling about them.

"If this cure doesn't work," Big Red agreed, "I could always do a repeat."

WHEN Big Red finally came home and was established in bed he told me to ask the Sanders, Markhams and the Keating's all to visit. Those bores—and all at once. Wondering if complex broken legs could upset a man mentally, I argued gently. Big Red roared so I asked the three couples over.

It must have been the first time anyone had dared having the three chronic complainers under one roof. How the conversation flew! "My painful gall stones—" was interrupted with, "—not a good night's sleep for three years!" Then Mr. Keating pounced on one of Big Red's fluffy blankets and gave us a run down on awful allergies. I looked at my husband. He was smiling!

Then he began! With a voice that could make a general stand at attention, Big Red described the troubles he'd undergone. He recited off treatments, doctors, specialists, traction affairs, the silver plates that had been applied to his leg bone during the operations, the pain, the sleeplessness, the discomfort, the way the doctors had been perplexed, hundreds of shots! It was terrific. I think my mouth flew open and I forgot to shut it. When our company looked at each other in extreme boredom and wished their feet experimentally as though they wondered how soon they could decently leave—Big Red winked at me! He took a deep breath—and began again on the horrors of his case.

Out on the porch, with Big Red's voice just a muted roar our guests expressed their sympathy. "Such a one track mind!" said Mr. Keating.

"Don't you get tired of hearing him talk about pain?" asked Mr. Sanders who never tires of his! I stepped inside, closed the door on their pity. Then I went to Big Red. . . and we giggled, we roared with laughter. Big Red's bed shook.

"I can't wait 'til we see them . . . next time," I told him, finally. "If this cure doesn't work," Big Red agreed, "I could always do a repeat!"

Somehow, though—I'm sure there will be no need!

many billions would indicate. The people are taking the war cries largely as a hoax. They did react for a time to the President's announcement that Russia had created and exploded an atomic bomb, but there has been no evidence offered to substantiate that statement.

He has not told us the source of his information, and lacking anything in the way of corroboration the people, largely have accepted that statement as but a part of the system of hoaxing, as a means of keeping tax increases flowing.

We hear the name-calling, and denunciations of the Russian representatives to the United Nations, and we hear the equally strenuous name calling and vilification for Russia on the part of American spokesmen, including the President. But such statements do not constitute war.

There are no advancing airplanes, or tanks, or gory battlefields. And between the cries of war we have the President's statement that we are nearing a state of peace. That, too, may be but a political hoax, preparing the way for the campaign of 1952. Anyway the people have quit taking the President's statement either way seriously.

The 1952 elections will determine whether the nation turns to the right or goes further to the left.

Will the next congress see how much it can spend?

'GOLD DEMONS' FIGHT CUPID!

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Quantity Cooking For Church Suppers Requires Planning

IT'S ABOUT that time of year when clubs and groups are getting organized enough to plan a large dinner or luncheon to feed most of the group. To run these affairs smoothly requires advance planning as well as an understanding of what foods are likely to go over nicely with a crowd.

These recipes are planned to give first aid for the homemaker who suddenly faces the task of feeding 25 to 50 people in her group. The recipes given will serve 25, and they are easily doubled to serve 50.

Plan the work far enough in advance to avoid lack of supplies and disappointment when the work actually gets under way. All groceries should be ordered in advance and checked the day before the event in case something is missing and the menu has to be changed.

If you have help, assign one or more of the foods to be prepared to individuals. Consider who can best do each type of work, and let this be your guide in assignments.

Check equipment and dishes to be used so that you have made ample preparations for the actual work. One woman who is capable can direct the preparation and serving.

HERE'S A GOOD community supper menu which is bound to please a group of people:

- *Ham Loaf
- *Green Beans
- *Scalloped Potatoes
- *Apple-Cranberry Salad
- Butter Relishes
- *Shoofly Pie
- Tea
- Coffee
- *Recipes Given

Meat or ham loaf makes an excellent meat course for a large crowd because it's easy to prepare, pleasing to a large number of people and slices readily for easy serving. Either loaf can be baked in home-sized tins, thus eliminating the necessity of getting special equipment.

LYNN SAYS: Here are Hints For Quantity Cookery

If you're planning rolls for a crowd, three dozen rolls will serve 25 people, allowing some of them seconds. For heavy eaters allow four dozen which will give you 48 rolls.

Brick ice cream is an easy dessert for large crowds. Unpack from dry ice 45 minutes before serving and then slice with a knife dipped in warm water.

Shoofly pie tops off the large quantity supper nicely because of the failure-proof recipe. In place of large pie tins, the 8-inch size may be used, allowing four to serve 25 people. The pie slices easily thus simplifying large quantity serving.

- #### CHURCH SUPPER MENU
- *Ham Loaf
 - *Green Beans
 - *Scalloped Potatoes
 - *Apple-Cranberry Salad
 - Butter Relishes
 - *Shoofly Pie
 - Tea
 - Coffee
 - *Recipes Given

- #### *Scalloped Potatoes (Serves 25)
- 6 pounds potatoes, peeled, thinly sliced
 - 1 tablespoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/4 cup flour
 - 3/4 cup butter or substitute
 - 1 quart milk

Place layer of potatoes in greased baking pan and sprinkle with salt, pepper and flour mixed together. Dot with butter. Repeat until all potatoes are used. Pour over heated milk to cover. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven until potatoes are tender, about 1 1/2 to 2 hours.

If you plan to have boiled potatoes, you'll have to use 8 to 10 pounds. Green beans may be canned for easy preparation. A No. 10 can contains 3 quarts and will serve 25. Use 4 tablespoons salt and 1 cup bacon drippings for seasoning. Or, use 6 pounds fresh green beans or 2 1/2 pounds frozen for 25 people.

- #### Cabbage-Carrot Salad (Serves 25)
- 4 pounds finely shredded cabbage
 - 2 pounds carrots, grated
 - 1 pound celery, diced
 - 1 quart boiled salad dressing
- Blend all ingredients together and serve with lettuce.

- #### *Apple-Cranberry Salad (Serves 25)
- 5 cups cranberries
 - 2 1/2 cups water
 - 2 1/2 cups sugar
 - 2 1/2 tablespoons gelatin
 - 5 tablespoons cold water
 - 1 1/4 cups diced apples
 - 1 1/4 cups diced celery
- Pick over and wash cranberries. Cook gently with water until skins burst. Put through sieve and add sugar; let stand 5 minutes. Soften gelatin in cold water, then blend into hot cranberry mixture. Let cool to thicken, fold in apples and celery. Pour into mold or pan. Chill until firm. Serve with lettuce and mayonnaise, mixed with whipped cream.

- #### *Shoofly Pie (Serves 25)
- 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 - 2 cups light brown sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 1/2 teaspoon ginger
 - 1/2 teaspoon cloves
 - 2 teaspoons cinnamon
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup shortening
 - 4 egg yolks, well beaten
 - 1 1/2 cups light molasses
 - 2 tablespoons baking soda dissolved in 2 1/2 cups boiling water
 - 4 6-inch pie shells, unbaked
- Sift together first seven ingredients. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles cornmeal. Combine egg yolks, molasses and soda in water. In pie shells, alternate flour mixture and liquid having the flour mixture as a base and topping. Bake in a hot (450°F.) oven for 10 minutes. Reduce temperature to moderate (350°F.) and bake 15 minutes until pie is set.

Keep hot rolls and bread from drying out in the oven by covering them with a slightly damp towel.

For tossed salads, made in quantity, wash and prepare vegetables ahead of time, then cover with a damp cloth or place in a plastic bag until just before time to serve. Toss and add dressing.

Biscuits and pie crusts may be prepared in advance; if you make either mix and refrigerate it. Then only the liquid needs to be mixed in, and the shaping done before baking.

FIRST AID TO THE AILING HOUSE

White Painted Walls Turned Yellow

QUESTION: What can be done to keep walls that are going to be painted white, from turning yellow? My white painted walls have always turned yellow or have discolored. Would putting bluing (laundry blue) or else some blue paint in with the white paint prevent this discoloration? How much should I use in each gallon of paint?

ANSWER: A good grade of paint should not turn yellow or discolor. I believe you bought an inexpensive grade. I would not advise using laundry blue. If you wish to add a small amount of blue paint to the white, it should be perfectly all right, and might help to give a good white effect. But do not attempt to mix the paint yourself. Ask your paint dealer to mix it for you in his mechanical mixer. If you try it yourself, add very small quantities of color in oil and thoroughly stir each amount until you get the desired shade.

Food Poisoning Can Be Prevented

Recent outbreaks of food poisoning show every strikingly the need for special care in handling and refrigerating any food that must be prepared some time in advance of serving, states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health officer.

Prevention of food poisoning requires clean food handled as little as possible and consumed while it is fresh. Foods prepared hours before serving and allowed to stand at warm temperatures become good culture media for bacteria. Cooked products of a perishable nature are readily subject to decomposition and must be kept well refrigerated.

METHODIST REVIVAL

Continued from front page meet at the church for assignment and will visit in homes of prospective members, in a friendly discussion of the values of personal salvation and church membership. Each night during preaching hour groups will be visiting persons who are members of the Methodist church in other communities or who prefer the Methodist church as their church home. Some 50 families, where one or more such persons reside, are found to live in the O'Donnell territory. Rev. H. A. Longino said.

There will be two mass meetings in connection with this Revival effort: The Young People's rally will be held at First Methodist Church of Lubbock Saturday Oct. 27th at 7:30 p. m. A group will leave O'Donnell Methodist church at 4:45 p. m. to meet with a larger group just north of Tahoka and be joined by another group at the Circle in the south edge of Lubbock. They will be joined there by a patrolman who will escort the group to the church. No less than 1500 young people are expected to be in attendance.

The second mass meeting will be Sunday Nov. 4th at Texas Tech stadium at 3 p. m. They, too, will go in near caravans and be escorted to the stadium where reserved seats will be awaiting. Some 15,000 persons will be gathered for this meeting. Any person may join in this great religious parade.

Rev. Longino said the public will be delighted with Dr. Goodenough's messages nightly. Prayer call will be each evening at 6 with the chimes.

Wanted: used dishes, sugar bowls pitchers, platters and bowls to be donated to the Cemetery Association; leave your dishes at O'Donnell Motor or call 114 and they will be picked up. These will be used each year at the dinners. Thanks
