Mr. Smith suffered a fracture of the hip about 4 inches below the hip socket. He was blown by the wind and fell enroute from his home to the storm cellar Wednesday night. A dark and threatening storm cloud Wednesday night caused many to go to the cellar. Wind from this rain storm damaged the garages of A. K. Gilliam and Bert Fritz as well as Wallace Rains garage.

Williams Well Blows In As Borden Co. Discovery

New Extension Seen To Hunt Discovery

Over the week end the Sterling Williams wild cat test of the Sinclair Prairie Oil Co., located in the northwest part of Borden Co., 3 miles south of Mesquite, and above the caprock, tested for production from 9576 to 9650 feet in the Pennsylvanian, probably the upper Ellenburger. Drill stem tests Saturday indicated a discovery and from eye witnesses at the well Sunday the Index learns the well kicked off, blowing for over two hours and throwing oil over the crown block. Indications are the well will flow; estimates on production range from 500 to 900 barrels per day. Efforts were made to drill deeper with indications of at least 100 feet of rich pay. Samples of the oil shown in town Monday by J. E. Nance of Mesquite indicates the oil is high gravity, clear and of a blue black quality and is expected to bring a premium market price.

LINDLY TEST NEAR PAY

The Lindly test a mile north of town and owned by the same company and drilling on the supposed northwest end of the "high", is drilling below 10,000 feet in lime. The pay hit at the Williams well is expected to be passed in the Lindly from 10,500 feet on. If it produces this will mark the extremes of a possible field extending 16 to 20 miles northwest by south east. This same fault line produces deep oil south of Gall and at Vealmore. The Hunt discovery east of the Williams discovery produces from the Spraberry.

TRADING ACTIVE

Leasing and royalty sales are brisk in this area with leases going at $20 to $30 an acre 10 days ago. Most of this area is leased and has been for years. Monday royalty 5 to 6 miles from the discovery were priced at $100 a base acre or more.

WAS IT UNEXPECTED?

Unofficial reports indicate the Williams well blew in as the crew were coming out of the hole preparing to close down for orders. This has not been confirmed from official sources, however.

Local real estate has reflected the oil scare with asking prices rising and out of town investors seeking property. However from the town's possible benefit, the discovery well will not greatly benefit here until the field is proven in a northwesterly direction. It is much too early to judge the outcome of the discovery but the Index can join with others in saying "Hot Dog!!"

Mr and Mrs H. M. Shade of Midland visited the Hal Singletons over the week end.

Mr and Mrs Hal Singleton 3rd of San Antonio visited Mr and Mrs Hal Singleton Jr over the week end Saturday Mrs. Don Edwards returned from a Lubbock hospital after having a cataract removed; the operation was thought to have been quite successful.

Mr and Mrs H. C. Frost visited their daughter and family at Seminole Sunday.

Mr and Mrs T. A. Wimberley visited their daughter Mr and Mrs Jimmy Eason at Big Spring Sunday.

THE OLD TIMER WRITES

Speaking of pioneer Texans, we believe that our fellow townsman, S. E. Jordan is just about tops.

Mr. Jordan was born back in Alabama at a time when folks were not too keen about venturing out into West Texas, more especially The Great Desert, now known as a sort of bread basket and cotton empire. Out here, at that time, buffaloes were the "crop" and Indians were the harvesters, to a great extent.

Mr. Jordan did not arrive in the O'Donnell section until 1914 when he settled about 2 miles west of town after spending many years in Henderson County. We know that he was a successful farmer since he and we were neighbors for a good many years.

He sort of shame-facedly admitted this week to being but 92. He has had a good time, getting much joy out of life, thank you.

See Walter Teeter for fresh milk cows.

If you have wondered just about how long roses here are supposed to live and bloom, you may take a squint at those at Mrs. E. T. Wells' home. They were set out at least 25 years ago and we think it is nearer to 27 years — and the roses have no notion to quit soon.

Monday night Elvin Ray Moore received his B. B. A. from Texas Tech. college; his parents, Mr and Mrs Ben Moore, Sr. attended the graduation exercises.

Lions To Give Fun Nite Friday

The O'Donnell Lions Club is presenting a FREE show Friday night June 3rd at 8:30 at the high school auditorium. The show will consist of home talent of three groups: grade school, high school, and the adult group with a cash prize for each winner. There will also be a novelty auction. The club will present a fine show including much local talent; also there will be talent, not local, that will entertain the entire family.

The Lions wish you to come and enjoy the entire show and then be prepared to buy something at an auction. The club is taking this means of securing funds in order to help the less fortunate children of our community. There are known to be children who need glasses, medical help, dental work, etc who can't afford it among the white and negro children. The Lions Club wish to help these children and they know you do too. Won't you come out Friday night for an evening of fun and also do a good deed?

Polio and 7 other common diseases; a good policy Ben Moore Sr.

J. L. Taylor attended the graduation of his daughter Miss Dorothy Marie Taylor at AGC at Abilene Monday night. She is the first girl graduate of Boles Home to receive a degree from AA. She received a B. A. in speech.

J. L. Shoemaker Jr is on the sick list this week.

NOTE TO THE CITY DADS:

The "Sketers" are big enough to spank little children; aint it about time you sprayed the town?? If our taxes aint high enough to pay for monthly spraying maybe we could pass the hat, eh, boys ????

Poultry House Cleaner

A superior poultry house cleaning method has now been found—cleaning with a high-pressure sprayer. As shown here, the high-pressure spray actually pulverizes the dirt and droppings and blasts them away. Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation developed the sprayer that is doing the cleaning. It is said to do a better and cheaper cleaning job, faster and easier.

Hormones May Limit Frost Damage in Time

American apple growers, usually hard hit financially by late spring frosts will soon be able to avoid that obstacle. A combination of tracers (radioactive atoms) and hormones may make it possible to keep apple buds closed until the cold season has passed—thus saving the industry millions of dollars lost annually through damaged fruit. A spray would be used to cover fruit and prevent freezes.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity of expressing our heartfelt appreciation to our friends for their many tokens of friendship at the time of the passing of our beloved brother; also for the food so generously supplied, the beautiful floral offering, and the thoughtfulness of the American Legion in rendering the military rites, and the comforting words of Bro. Rains. May God bless you.

O. L. McClendon and family

Paul McClendon Rites Are Here Sunday

Funeral services for Paul McClendon, age 53, were conducted Sunday afternoon May 29th at 4 p. m. at the Church of the Nazarene with Rev. Jess Rains reading the service. Burial was in the local cemetery.

Mr. McClendon was killed by an automobile at Berger last Friday where he had been living for the past two years. Paul was walking across a street intersection at night watching a car approaching him without lights, while from the opposite direction approached a car with lights which struck him. The driver picked him up and rushed him to a hospital where he lived only a few hours. He evidently suffered a skull injury.

Paul was well known here having worked for his brother, O. L. McClendon, in the operating of the Crescent Cafe here. Until moving to Berger he resided here with his brother and family.

Mr. McClendon was born March 16, 1896 at Greenville and his mother passed on in 1900 when he was four. The children were reared by their grandmother. Their father passed on in 1937.

Close survivors are two brothers, Ira McClendon of Greenville and O. L. McClendon and family of here; also an aunt and uncle of Lamesa with whom Paul had lived for a time. He was a veteran of World War I having served his country in 1917-18.

Paul enjoyed a host of friends in this community making friends easily and a cordial manner of meeting the public.

Our sincere sympathy to the loved ones.

The military service at the graveside was in charge of the American Legion, Hulon Bolch, commander. Pall bearers were: Jack Gilliam, Terry Hunt, Jeff White, Willie Gates, James Teeter

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

New Roosevelt Political Dynasty Seen in FDR, Jr.'s Vote Triumph; Clay Urges Accord With Germany

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

ROOSEVELT: Old Tradition

The old tradition was running true to form: you can't beat a Roosevelt. Young Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., most like his father in looks, charm and smile, won the New York congressional seat left vacant by the death of Sol Bloom. And he won it with the national administration and Tammany allied against him.

FDR worshippers were jubilant. Those who had fought the "champ" throughout his years in the White House professed to see in the election result the creation of a new Rooseveltian political dynasty.

Already the cry of the exultant victors was "on to Albany." New York capital which Franklin D. Roosevelt, four-time President of the United States, used as a springboard to the White House.

Denied the Democratic nomination, young Roosevelt ran on the Liberal and Four Freedoms parties' tickets in a contest which kept Manhattan's west side in an uproar for months. A surprise to many Americans, who did not know such procedure was permissible, Roosevelt does not reside in the district he will represent in congress. It seems that all the while there has been no bar in the law to prevent a candidate from living in one district and representing another.

DESPITE his victory as a standard bearer for two other parties, Roosevelt declared he is still a 100 per cent Democrat.

Campaigning, he visited thousands of voters, turned on the old Roosevelt charm, mingled with the masses in their homes, attended house parties as honor guest, made street corner speeches.

One defeated candidate sounded a familiar note heard so frequently during other Rooseveltian campaigns:

"The formula in this election was a glamorous name and a quarter of a million dollars, and neither of these did we have."

BARKLEY: No Guards

"I'm a big boy now. And besides, who would want to harm a young man like me anyway?"

Thus did Kentucky's Alben W. Barkley, Vice-President of the United States, dismiss the idea of personal guards.

BARKLEY, who will be 72 in November, goes where he wants, when he wants and flatly refuses protection of any sort.

He told newsmen that President Truman had "tried to get me to accept a few secret service men," but was turned down.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and top G-man J. Edgar Hoover also offered to provide bodyguards. But Barkley wanted his freedom. "I like it better that way," he said.

Barkley claims he's just a "common man, nothing fancy." In fact, he gets a kick out of people trying to figure out how to address him. "I STILL call myself senator," he says, "a habit after 22 years in congress, but the kids call me 'veep.' I like that."

He could also be called Mr. President, since that's how he's referred to in the senate over which he now presides.

RADIO: Godfrey Tops

Carrot-thatched, gravel-throated Arthur Godfrey, radio's chief exponent of the "be yourself" type of entertainer-announcer, led the CBS network in earnings during 1948. He was paid $440,514.16 last year by the broadcasting system for which he labors.

Newscasters didn't fare so badly, however. Lowell Thomas was a close second with $420,300. Oddly enough, the network boss, Frank Stanton, garnered only a measly $109,738.80. All these figures covered income before Uncle Sam took his cut, so there was some difficulty in trying to ascertain just how much "take home" pay these gentlemen received.

For the ABC network, Don McNeill, emcee of the Breakfast Club, was tops with earnings of $180,229.40.

Paul Whiteman, ABC's musical director and vice-president, received $145,316.56. Again the network president ranked lower. ABC's president Mark Woods got only $75,000.

TROOPERS CATCH TARTAR

Wild West Showman Defies Georgia Law

Many a man has had a hankering to do just what Col. Zach Miller, 71-year old Texan and boss of the 101 Ranch Wild West Show, for permitting use of his panel truck by an unlicensed operator.

Colonel Miller refused to stand trial. In lurid language he declared he'd "rot in jail," before he paid a dime.

The sheriff explained further: "Miller refused to stand trial."

Last Man Over

Lt. Joe Russo, U.S. army air force, is shown holding a bouquet of flowers presented to him after he landed his airplane at Templehof airdrome to complete the last airlift flight before the lifting of the Berlin blockade.

GERMANY: Clay Speaks Up

If Gen. Lucius D. Clay, retiring United States military governor in Germany, had his way, America's ex-foes would be permitted back into the company of democratic nations as soon as possible.

BACK in Washington where he was feted and decorated by President Truman, Clay warned that unless Germany is restored to the community of western nations, an alliance with Russia by our former enemies is inevitable.

Speaking to the house of representatives, the general declared that the German people, in spite of their recent history of aggressive war and "extreme cruelty," now had shown their preference for a government standing for the "dignity of man as an individual."

In the spirit of the residents of Berlin who survived through the airlift, Clay declared, there is a spark for German freedom that "may grow with the years." He told the senate how the people of western Germany had adopted through their parliamentary council a constitution which guarantees free elections and is "devoted to reestablishing in Germany the dignity of man."

WITHOUT referring to the Soviets by name, he charged, nevertheless, that the Russians have two objectives that were irreconcilable with the efforts made by the United States, England and France to create a four-power government in Germany based on international cooperation.

He defined these objectives of what he termed "the fourth power" as intent to exact the maximum in reparations from Germany and to set up a government that could be controlled or exploited by a police state.

COMMUNISTS: Losing Ground

Whatever was responsible—the American airlift, a conviction that American democracy had more to offer or a general revulsion to all police states—the Communists weren't doing so well in the eastern Berlin elections.

THIS was in contrast with the confident predictions of Communist politicians in the Soviet zone of occupation of an overwhelming majority.

The vote was being taken on a "people's congress" of 2,000 members, all hand-picked by Communist-controlled organizations and put on a single ticket. However, the Communists were picking up only about a third of the votes expected.

Some voters wrote on their ballots "we won't vote for a police state and we reject Communism." Early returns from Berlin showed a majority of "no" votes—the only way the congress could be rejected since only one list of candidates was submitted.

THE "PEOPLES' congress," if it were to be set up, would be the Soviet answer to the western state being set up in the western zone.

Objective observers couldn't fail to see in the initial trend of the voting an indication that in any case where American system and ideologies may be contrasted with that of the Soviets, the latter cannot command support.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Pastel Colors Vie With Whites in Bridal Gowns

By Erta Haley

LUCKY is the girl who is being married this season, for more than one reason! Gowns combine all the lovely, sentimental and romantic trends which have been making fashion history during the last few months.

Another reason is that you may have a dream dress at a price that is far, far from being a nightmare. Naturally if you intend to choose a gown using 25 yards of the finest organdie or 80 yards of nylon tulle, the price of the wedding dress will be understandably high. However, if you choose a somewhat simpler gown, there are a number of enchanting dresses from New York designers at a "something new" in cost.

For under $60 there's a particularly heart-melting white imported organdie dress designed with an off-shoulder ruffle of eyeleted cotton, snug waistline and a full skirt lengthened into a generous train. It comes with its own taffeta slip.

For a little more you may have an adorably young, puff-sleeved white satin dress, high waisted and frilled with Swiss organdie below a flesh-toned yoke of nylon tulle. It, too, has a wide train.

Choose "Something Blue" In Wedding Gown

This year's bride may want to choose as "something blue" her own gown. Pearly white satin has lost none of its appeal for brides, but for those who prefer a pastel, the girl may choose an ice blue or a blush pink, both of which are very attractive. Both of these colors have been recently introduced in a lightweight but highly lustrous summer satin. Lace combined with satin, all cotton lace in a Chantilly-like pattern, marquisette and organdie are other fabrics of importance throughout New York collections.

Crisp, rather than frothy or ethereal is a dress of snowy pique, the gathered skirt fully trained and the bodice sleeved to points over the wrist. Framing the wide-spreading V-neckline is a deep beehive-like collar echoing the decor on the skirt.

Interest Shown In Sleeves, Yokes

Many designers sponsor cap and puffed sleeves in their bridal fashions. In most instances, however, matching mitts or gauntlets go along, leaving little of the arm bare. An exception to this is the beautiful hoop-skirted white satin dress with bell-puffed sleeves, meant to be worn with short, white gloves.

Bridal Finery

Here's a stunning capelet-sleeved princess white satin bridal dress from the spring and summer collection of a New York designer. The bodice is yoked with a marquisette and richly embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent paillettes, and buttons in back. Satin gauntlets are embroidered at the top.

Yokes, frequently defined with ruffling of lace or eyeleted organdie, give a demure touch to many of the new bridal dresses. The yoke in some cases is done in pale blue or flesh-colored nylon or net rather than the traditional white.

Full Skirts Featured In Bridesmaid's Dress

Simple designing marks the bridesmaid's dress this year. This does not mean, however, that it's in any way an ugly duckling. With full, charming skirts, scooped or wide-open necklines and sash waists, these gowns are very romantic looking. One in light blue combines plain and eyeleted organdie and has a small ruffled apron over its skirt.

Perfect for a garden wedding is a hoop-skirted, floor length dress in green and lavender plaided cotton with a matching cartwheel.

Can look lovelier than ever.

Snug bodices, very wide skirts with wide sashes, appliqued flowers, all are features on the new bridesmaid's dresses.

Brides Should Plan Beauty Routine

Since the girl who is a bride should look her loveliest at the wedding, it's the wise bride who goes on a beauty ritual before the wedding. She may be perfectly lovely, but a few beauty routines followed faithfully for a week or 10 days before the wedding when her days are healthy, wholesome look for her hectic, will give her good grooming as well as confidence.

Properly chosen food, rest and cleanliness will assure her of a wedding day. These will be beneficial for preventing the skin from breaking out all of a sudden from too much rich food during bridal showers!

No matter how busy her program the bride-to-be should plan to get her full quota of eight hours sleep. If she can't manage this every night, she should take an hour or two for a nap during the day. No bride should appear at her own wedding with dark circles under shining eyes!

A daily tubbing will take care of cleanliness, but special attention should be directed to the face, arms and legs, especially if the skin is dry. Use a cleansing or lubricating cream if the skin is dry, and do this treatment faithfully.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Youthful Errors Leave Scars

TWENTY YEARS ago a certain girl went off on a motor trip with a college friend; she was 19, the boy-friend was 22. Both were living on money sent by self-denying and hardworking parents, month after month, so that the girl and boy might acquire a real education, culture and the benefits of social contacts in a wider world.

The motor trip lasted five days. For those five days, and they weren't by any means days of unclouded happiness, the girl threw away her honor. It seemed fun to register as Mr. and Mrs. ; it seemed fun to spend his last $19 of allowance and the $10 she had borrowed from a sorority sister on the delights of little wayside meals and overnights at the picturesque motels of Southern California. A "motel" is an informal one-story hostelry, and at many of them guests are not too closely questioned as to age or relationship.

This girl was a sensitive, well-bred, proud young thing, who came to me a few months after this brief interval ended, half-mad with self-contempt and shame. No, she was not going to have a baby; the escapade hadn't left that scar.

Tortured with Remorse

But she was writhing under the burning misery of knowledge far too old for her 19 years. Knowledge that the boy hadn't taken the affair seriously at all. Knowledge that what she had thought a generous surrender had only been a cheap yielding to his casual impurity. Knowledge that many of her college associates suspected what had occurred, and the nicest of them couldn't help showing that they didn't like it—or her.

When a telegram came from a

sick mother this girl returned gladly to her Iowa home. The boy had long since shown his complete indifference and was taking another girl about. Our girl—call her Anne—felt a deepened shame when she realized that he was the sort of boy who might under certain circumstances boast of his conquests.

Well, she went home and became a domestic angel. She saw her mother through a long illness, kept house for an adoring father and two small brothers, filled to the brim her obligations as daughter, sister, friend, and eventually wife and mother. She married with dignity, with position and modest wealth, and with true love. Her husband never has had a suspicion of her early mistake.

Can't Escape Selves

So what? What's the moral? The moral lies in Anne's own heart. Every cheap, dishonest, vulgar careless thing we do in youth is stored away in our consciousness and in our characters. We can't escape ourselves, even though we escape everyone else. Probably the arrogant boy who made love to her 20 years ago hasn't suffered; he was made of coarser clay. All colleges have scores of boys of this type; unscrupulous, attractive, sure of themselves and neither knowing or caring what results from their love affairs.

But Anne is finely constructed; she is sensitive to her fingertips. Her daughters are 16 and 9 now, and there is a son in between, and

Be Smart!

Lovely wash fabrics such as the many fine cottons are taking novel turns in the current skirt blouse styles, and nearly all of them are designed with variety in mind. In the model sketched, stunning appliqued flowers of the same white as the blouse become even more flattering with quilting. The skirt is worn with or without the pretty weskit, according to your mood. Another idea that is extremely popular is the skirt with a wide, matching sash which can double as a stole or a cleverly draped halter, according to need.

Can't Collect Bargain Damages

By Will Bernard, LL.B.

May a Shopper Collect Damages if Knocked Down At a Bargain Sale?

A dry goods store ran a month-long sale on bed linen, and got results far exceeding its fondest hopes. A huge crowd gathered and began milling around. Women screamed, fainted and even climbed up onto the counter! During the excitement, one housewife was knocked down a stairway.

Though not badly hurt, she determined to sue the store for damages. She claimed that the company should have taken special measures to prevent this kind of accident. However, the court rejected her suit. The judge pointed out that the store had no reason to expect such a violent response to the sale!

May a Child Collect Damages If Hurt in a Revolving Door?

A young boy suffered a sprained wrist when he caught it in the revolving door of a hotel. His parents sued the management on the boy's behalf, claiming that such a door was dangerous because it was so tempting to children. They insisted that the hotel ought to have a guard posted by the door—and to have it locked when the guard wasn't there. However, the court rejected their claim. The judge said it wasn't fair to the hotel.

Is a Fire Engine Driver Liable for Reckless Driving?

On the way to a fire, a fire engine sideswiped a parked taxicab. The cabbie was injured, and later sued the fire engine driver for damages. The fireman protested that he was not personally responsible for something that happened in the course of his urgent public duty. However, the court ruled that there was no excuse and held him liable for reckless driving.

Is a Beekeeper Responsible If His Bees Attack a Mule?

A farmer set up a beehive alongside his back fence, right close to the favorite grazing spot of his neighbor's mule. One hot day the bees lit out after the mule and stung him so badly that he died. When the neighbor sued for the value of the beast, the farmer protested that he was not to blame for what his bees had done. However, when he admitted that the same bees had once attacked his own mule too, the court decided to hold him responsible. The judge said that, since the farmer knew his bees were vicious, he should not have stationed them so close to the neighbor's animal.

Koreans Run Thieves Mart

Seoul Natives Sell Variety 'Hot' Items

SEOUL, KOREA.—Any modest-sized American department store would be envious of the thieves' market in this capital city with its variety of goods ranging from surgeon's scalpels to G.I. uniforms. With a sly grin the native calls it "our Korean P.K."

The market, which is stuffed with goods obtained mainly through questionable channels, is made up of hundreds of wooden stalls on a muddy, twisting side alley almost a mile long.

The American influence on this little community of "hot" goods is plainly evident. The three years of American military government combined with the large civilian personnel still here has been the market's best source of supply.

The market, whose merchants operate on the basis of "you name it, we have it," or "if not, we can get it," is cluttered with medicines, shoes, toilet articles, civilian and G.I. clothes, plaster pin-up girls, and almost anything else you can think of.

The market has grown into quite a little industry with its own dyed and tailoring concerns. It is only a matter of hours until a "hot" man's suit can be tailored over into a woman's garment and dyed a different color.

Another favorite pastime of the local slippery finger men is the lifting of automobile headlights, provided they can't make off with the vehicle. But those thieves specializing in the automobile trade apparently are imbued with a certain amount of community consciousness and need for safety on the roads at night. They invariably remove only one headlight.

THE HOME TOWN REPORTER IN WASHINGTON

WALTER SHEAR, WNU Correspondent

The "Great Illusion"
YOUR Home Town Reporter has just read a well-prepared and documented booklet released by the National Association of Manufacturers entitled "The Great Illusion."

Whether or not the system of federal grants is economically evil of course depends upon your economic viewpoint. But the great mass of American taxpayers thinks this money is either inexhaustible or free.

What hurts the NAM apparently is the fact that 14 states under the federal grant system, pay out relatively more money than they receive. And it just so happens that it is these states which are the most populous and would pay in more federal taxes, and are also the richest states where the properties of the great majority of NAM members are located.

Your Home Town Reporter likens the federal grant system to the system of installment buying. First it spreads the tax base, and second it permits the taxpayer to pay for a project over a period of years.

For instance, the folks in Boone county want to build a hospital. They don't have all the money, but they need the hospital now. Under the prescribed conditions, they can pay part of their own funds down, get a federal grant for the balance, build their hospital and pay for it over the years on the installment plan in taxes.

General Benefits
They can build a road for an airport and many other projects on the same basis. The federal grant system has grown up on the theory that good roads, good public health or other services for the benefit of one area, benefit also other sections of the country.

Then came a township-wide law and all the taxpayers in that township were taxed; then came a county-wide law and the tax base was spread to the whole county; then state-wide laws for a road across Boone county was of benefit to the whole state.

Then the federal government decided that same road was of benefit to the entire country since tourists and truckers from other states used it and it allowed grants to build the road in a national highway system spreading the tax base over the whole country.

Federal grants to the states today come from many departments of government which the local taxpayers pay back on the installment plan in taxes from the department of agriculture, the department of commerce, the interior, public health, federal works, public housing, veterans administration, social security and others, all for a total of approximately a billion and a half dollars in 1948.

Otherwise the folks in the various states would have done without their improvements or services, or they would have paid for them on a state or county basis instead of the grant being spread over a national base.

Worried About Future?

But the NAM is worried about the future. It is worried about the proposed 300-million-dollar annual grants for education, the proposed 200 million for slum clearance and housing and the recommended increase of some 250 million annually in federal grants for expanded social security programs.

They say by 1950 a possible upper cost of 5.4 billion as compared to the one billion of today. They maintain that the states can handle their own slum clearance.

CAN'T BLAME ANYONE FOR HIDING... They're Happy - in Their Hermit Heavens! ... IN CLOTHES CLOSET THESE DAYS

H. I. PHILLIPS

CLOTHES CLOSET REFUGEES

The case of the young New York man who lived in a clothes closet for 10 years and, upon his release, cried, "I want to go back in there. I don't like it outside," is not as unusual as you might think.

This department has come into possession of the fact that there are numerous such cases. Elmer Twitchell, for instance, has a nephew, Pastrami Twitchell, who has not only been in a closet for 10 years, but has resisted all efforts to entice him out. "He went in during Hitler's oratorical tirades over the mike. We nearly got him out this season, but he heard Vishinsky," Elmer explained. "Then he nailed up the door from the inside."

Other cases reported today, with statements by each follows: Thaddeus Swivelhead: "Yes, I have been living in the top drawer of an old dresser for five years. I crawled in because of the depressing war news all over the world. After a little while I heard that the war was over and that peace had been declared. I came out, read the newspaper headlines and leaned back in again. I'm no fool."

Asa Z. Boogle who has been living on a shelf in a basement pantry ever since 1943: "I climbed onto this shelf when the prices of everything began rising, with government controls helping very little. From time to time I peeked out and found things getting more unbearable. I am a fugitive from 75-cent cocktails, beer at 17-cents a glass, $4.50 steak dinners, 23-cent gasoline, shrimp cocktails at $1.10 a throw, 90 cents for watered soup, the $1.25 raw lamb chop delivered on the butcher's block and people who call up to know what radio program I am listening to. Come out again? Why?"

H. K. G. Staffinbo, who has been residing in a filing cabinet for ever so long: "If you wish to talk to me, climb in. I refuse to come out for anybody. I consider that I am a sane, wise and highly judicious fellow. You and all others who prefer the outside world in its present shape are nuts. "The location of my home and my place of employment was such that I had to use the subways for north and south travel and buses for east and west. Once in a while when I went to a theater I had to take a taxi. I lived in an apartment where everybody kept the radio on all night. A room across the hall was occupied by an opera star who vocalized all day. Every few weeks there was an elevator strike in the building. And in order to get to my job I had to cross nine picket lines. So I got into this filing cabinet and, mister, it seems paradise."

Jarvis P. X. Waffle, who has been living in an abandoned cello case ever since 1919: "I got in right after Woodrow Wilson announced America would make the world safe for democracy. I knew what that would mean. Now and then I get a pretty good line on what life is like outside this cello case and, boy, am I happy to be where I am! No flying saucer mysteries! No video comedians! No bop music! No radio jingles! No jackpots! They can't even get me interested in "Stop The Music."

There are so many daily changes in President Truman's cabinet that it seems to us something should be done to number the players or abolish the two platoon system in government.

The New House

HERE Christ shall come, and here He shall abide. Our table shall be set for our great Guest; Our lamp be lit, our hearth be warm and wide, And here He shall find shelter, food, and rest.

And He will talk with us beside our fire, And He will walk with us through every task. We shall take care no evil thing be heard; Because His ways are kind and courteous, We shall watch our ways, our every spoken word.

Because He lives with us, is one of us, We shall take care no evil thing be heard; Because His ways are kind and courteous, We shall watch our ways, our every spoken word.

This is our new house, Lord, be Thou its Head; We gladly share its simple fare with Thee. Sit at our table, break and bless our bread, And make us worthy of Thy company.

The Fiction Corner MURDER BY TWO

By Richard H. Wilkinson

IT SEEMS to be universally presupposed," said Inspector Ben Odell, "that people who aren't in their own element are at a disadvantage.

"I'm thinking of the time Detective Sergeant Rod Upshur went up to Round Pond for his summer vacation. Rod was city bred and city raised. He worked on the police force of one of the country's largest cities. He didn't know a great deal about the country and country ways. But he knew human nature, and he was smart.

"Rod was staying at one of those summer camps and was having a pretty dull time, when Henry Graves, the owner, came to him with a request.

"There's been a drowning up the river a ways," he explained. "Jed Thomas, the local officer, isn't so sure but what there's foul play. I know it's out of your jurisdiction, but we'd appreciate having you lend us a hand." He smiled flatteringly. "You see, your fame as a detector of crime is far reaching."

"Jed Thomas, a farmer by trade, was congenial and willing to let Rod assume the entire burden.

"Fact is, Mr. Upshur, there's been a feud hereabouts. Between the Hallams and the Spencers.

"Well, sir, couple days back Harm and Punk Hallam come to me and says they was bait diggin' in their lower pasture and suddenly they sees a boat with Pat Spencer in it come sweepin' around the bend. He was clear across the river, which is about 200 yards wide there, an' they claim he hit a submerged log and stuck. They claim he tried to push hisself off with an oar an' the oar slipped an' it an' him fell overboard. Well, sir, Pat can't swim an' he just naturally drowned.

"Jed Thomas drove Rod out to the Hallam farm and introduced him to Herm and Punk. They were big strapping fellows, smug, amused.

"I see," Rod remarked to Jed, "that you recovered the oar Pat Spencer lost overboard."

"Yep," replied Jed, and not too happily, "I found it caught in some weeds along the bank about 15 yards downstream. I guess he musta lost it, just like Punk and Herm said."

"Punk and Herm laughed. "Wait a minute," Rod said easily. "Not so fast, boys. You two are smart all right. Too smart. So smart you made one awful blunder. Officer Thomas, I think you'll be safe in arresting these men and charging them with murder."

PAT'S AND HERM'S mouths fell open. In fact, so did Jed's. Jed said: "Yuh mean, you know Pat didn't drown hisself?"

"O' course he did!" Punk Hallam said darkly. "Listen, city jigger, you ain't comin' up here an' gettin' away with accusin' us o' murder. You ain't scarin' us none. We got each other for witnesses."

"Fine," said Rod. "That makes the lie all the worse, because you both declare you saw Spencer fall out of the boat, first dropping his oar. No, I must confess I am a city man and the ways of the country are strange to me. However, any dumbbell would know after looking at that river and seeing that bend above here and knowing that there's a fast current, that an oar dropped overboard near the opposite bank, could never lodge in underneath along the bank on this side 15 feet from where we're standing. It would be two or three miles down stream by now."

"For a minute, there was silence. The three men stared at Rod blankly. It took quite awhile for the announcement to penetrate. Officer Thomas fortunately, recovered first. He had a gun in his pocket and he got it out, just as Punk Hallam jumped at him. He had to shoot Punk through the shoulder, and would have done the same to Herm, apparently, had one more ounce of grey matter than his brother. He quit."

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

Building A Basement Room

Question: We have a project in mind and I am able to do the work myself if I have a little help. We want to dig out a basement under the kitchen; we have two rooms under the house already. Have you any leaflets on tiling out the drain, and footings for concrete blocks? After the basement room is completed, we plan on a kitchen sink and cupboards. Have you any leaflets on plumbing for a kitchen?

Answer: Those are all rather large subjects, and I do not have any leaflets to cover them. If there is a good public library in your town, you should find handbooks on plumbing and piping on file. Other sources of information are the publishing house of Theodore Audel & Company, 49 West 23rd St., New York; also the Popular Mechanics Magazine, 200 East Ontario St., Chicago. The Portland Cement Association, 33 West Grand Ave., Chicago, can supply bulletins on concrete work around the house.

New Gasoline Process

The nation's transportation industries, worried by the current gasoline shortage, have been assured of an abundant supply of liquid fuel at reasonable cost when sufficient plants are placed in operation to use a new synthetic process from natural gas. However, this source of supply is not expected to be widely used for several years.

IN MEMORY

By Effie Bazar
"Life is just a moment, a bite, a slip."
We were reminded of this Sunday, May 16th, at 9:45 a. m. when William H. Putman slipped away. Eighty one years was spent in wearing this lovely life. But how beautiful it was woven—so sweet, kind, obedient and unselfish was he. So happy and vitally alive. He was a constant inspiration, a star of hope to those who loved him most devotedly. Perhaps by him being so nearly perfect, but had not live here any longer, but had to pass on to join that land of sunbeams where Jesus Himself could lay his hand on his blessed head and say again, "Suffer little children to come unto me."
I think of the poem --
"God took him in His arms, and bore him Home"
He was too dear to die, the world will say,
There was across his sunny yesterday no hint of sorrow, or approaching gloam.
That last brief moment of pure anguish was his only heartbreak -- all his years were sweet.
Faithfully keeping God's immortal laws, Heaven had ever beckoned his quick feet.
His life was purposeful in its short space. He drew a circle of pure happiness. He never knew a lonely heart's distress. Content and goodness gave his spirit grace.
Long disillusionment and sorrow were no intimates of his joy was his friend. Upon his sky, no sudden storm will stir. Never will any bitter rains descend, for he is safe from Pain and Sorrow now. The tears that dim our eyes he can not know. Goh has removed him from our certain woe and marked with happiness his fair brow.

It is for you who love him that we weep. There are no tears to shed in heaven's dome. Only a cloud of starry joys to keep! God took him to his arms and bore him Home!

Land Should Be Turned Under for New Legumes

When corn is to follow first year sweetclover, it is advisable to get the ground turned under before the new growth of the legume removes too much moisture from the soil.
This tip comes from D. L. Gross, Nebraska university extension agronomist. He advises, however, not to plow under the clover before new crown shoots get to a length of four to six inches. Earlier plowing may not kill the legume.

Insecticide Shower Evaluates Formulae

An old-style phonograph rigged up to give a revolving shower bath to a white mouse is helping test new chemicals for effectiveness in stable fly control. The mice are pinch-hitting for dairy cows in making the tests, says the U.S. department of agriculture.
The old phonograph was one that played wax cylinder records. The test mouse is confined in a screen cage that replaces the old record holder. The mouse is rolled around several times under a sprayed solution of the new chemical, and then is rolled under an air stream until dry. The test comes the next day in another cage with 20 stable flies. If as many as four of the flies succeed in attacking the mouse without being driven off or poisoned, the chemical is not regarded as worth a full scale test on a cow. This is the first time white mice have been used in just this kind of experimental work.

Federal entomologists are searching actively for a spray that will protect animals from attack by stable flies and other blood-sucking flies and mosquitoes. Recent experience has proved abundantly how profitable it is for farmers to protect cattle from the torment of "fly time" and thus avoid the summer slump in milk production and gains in weight of animals on pasture.

This search calls for trials of hundreds of chemicals. Many of these are new synthetics.

HERE'S THE ALL-PURPOSE CULTIVATOR FOR PRACTICALLY EVERY TILLAGE JOB

The all-around usefulness of the John Deere Tool-Bar Cultivator makes it a cultivator that soon proves its worth on every farm.

Equipped with broad, flat, sub-surface sweeps, it's all set to do a good job of sub-surface tilling, undercutting surface growth and killing weeds, yet scarcely disturbing erosion-controlling surface trash.

With the double-coil spring teeth and shovels, the John Deere becomes a heavy-duty field cultivator for many jobs. Add beams and lister bottoms and it becomes a lister for blank listing. With the planting attachment, it lists up to four rows. With the disk gang attachment, the John Deere is ideal for throwing up beds for melons, tomatoes and other such crops.

When you consider its broad usefulness, its quality construction, and other outstanding features, you'll agree—the John Deere is a cultivator you can't afford to be without. See us for complete details the next time you're in town.

One-Story Home Grows in Favor

Plan Well Suited To Farmers' Needs

The one-story home with basement for the laundry storage purposes and the heating plant is growing in popularity.

Highly suited as a farm home because it eases housekeeping, its popularity is demonstrated by the number of ranch-type houses being built today in both rural and metropolitan areas.

The one-story and basement house pictured here offers features that justify the popularity of homes of this type. Planned as a farm home, it includes the conveniences of modern design found in city homes.

The narrow kitchen is accessible to both the dining area at one end of the living room and to the dining porch. Sink and storage shelves are along the outside wall, with the stove and additional storage area on the inside wall. This arrangement provides numerous economies.

The work room is adjacent to the dining room porch but far enough from the living and bedrooms to confine disturbing noises. The two bedrooms, each with two exposures, contain ample closet space and are close to the bathroom.

The garage is separated from the house by a breezeway, which can also serve as an outside porch.

The basement includes several features considered essential to comfortable living on a farm. It is entered from the back porch, eliminating this traffic from the living area of the home.

The cold room is ample for storage of glassed fruits, vegetables and other farm produce. Plenty of electrical outlets in this room provide current for a food freezing locker.

In one corner of the laundry is a shower.

Jarrett's Radiator and Air Conditioning Shop is now open across the street from James Feed Store. Recently from Lamesa; 17 years experience in this area; all work must meet your satisfaction.

WEDDING PLANS

IF YOU'RE PLANNING to entertain after the wedding and make all the refreshments yourself, with just a little help, do consider a simple menu as the most effective means of doing it.

You'll probably have to cook in large quantity since many guests will be there. Time will have to be spent on the decorations. All in all, if you want everything to be perfect, it's best to have a simple menu which can be carried out more perfectly than a larger, elaborate menu.

FOR A LARGE WEDDING RECEPTION, a simple but effective menu goes like this:

- Assorted Tiny Sandwiches
- Potato Chips
- Stuffed Olives
- Salted Nuts
- Fruit Punch
- Coffee
- Wedding Cake
- Ice Cream or Ice Cream Mold

The cake may be made in several layers of different sizes. If you desire a smaller cake, use three or four layers of the same size. In either case, make the cake and decorate it at least 24 hours ahead of serving time so that it can be sliced easily.

Here's a good recipe for a large cake. The filling and icing recipes follow:

- Six Layer Wedding Cake (Serves 16-18)
- 6 cups sifted cake flour
- 6 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/4 cups shortening
- 4 cups sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- 2 cups milk
- 10 egg whites

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening with vanilla and almond extract until fluffy. Fold in sugar and blend until thoroughly mixed. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, in small amounts, beating after each addition, until smooth. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold in gently. Pour into greased, waxed-paper lined pans and bake in a moderate (350°) oven for 30 minutes. This recipe makes six nine-inch layers.

Lemon Filling

- (For 6 nine-inch layers)
- 2 1/4 cups sugar
- 1/4 cup cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons grated lemon rind
- 1 cup lemon juice
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 3 tablespoons butter

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt thoroughly. Add remaining ingredients in order given and blend thoroughly. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until thickened. Cool.

Ornamental Icing

- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup water
- 3 egg whites
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Boil together sugar and water,

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Smoked Tongue
- Raisin Sauce
- New Potatoes, Boiled
- Creamed Spinach
- Hearts of Lettuce Salad
- Lemon Meringue Pie
- Beverage

without stirring, to 242° or until a small amount dropped from a spoon spins a thread. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and pour on hot syrup in a thin stream while beating constantly. Add cream of tartar, vanilla and almond extract and beat until thick enough to spread. Cover cake smoothly with a part of the icing and beat remaining icing until cool and stiff enough to hold shape when forced through pastry tube. When coating on cake has hardened, decorate as desired with remaining icing forced through pastry tube. If icing becomes too thick, add a few drops of hot water.

YOU MAY TINT

some of the icing forced through the pastry tube a delicate yellow or pink if you want tiny roses for decoration. Also tint part of the icing a pale green if you want leaf decorations for the roses.

For the top of the cake, you may purchase a bride and groom decoration or a pair of lovebirds.

When setting cake on a platter, place fresh flowers all around the base of the cake, for decoration.

Strawberry Punch

- (Makes 8 quarts)
- 2 quarts water
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup corn syrup
- 4 quarts strawberries
- 1 1/2 quarts chilled orange juice
- 1 pint chilled lemon juice
- 2 quarts ginger ale
- 2 thinly sliced limes or 2 quarts lemon sherbet

Combine sugar, water and corn syrup. Bring to a boil. Add the washed, hulled strawberries and boil, covered, for four minutes. Remove, strain through a sieve, without pressing, and chill. Just before serving, combine with other ingredients. If using sherbet, place in scoops on top of punch in punch bowl.

Coffee

- (Serves 25)
- 1/2 pound drip grind coffee
- 4 1/4 quarts boiling water

Tie the coffee loosely in a fine cheesecloth or muslin type bag. If desired, mix coffee with one egg, including the shell, to which has been added a small amount of cold water. This will make coffee clear. Drop the bag in the water which is boiling in a large kettle. Cover the kettle and turn heat very low. Let coffee steep for 12-15 minutes. Remove bag and serve coffee as needed. This will give 25 people an average coffee cup serving.

Look into your garden for salad inspiration.

Lettuce, spinach, radishes, carrot sticks and a bit of watercress, if you have it, make a delectable green salad.

Start a meal off with a salad to pep appetites; watermelon, honeydew and cantaloupe balls, pineapple cubes, red cherries and a topping of sherbet.

Lima beans left over from supper? Mix them with chopped sweet pickle, celery, sliced, stuffed olives and mayonnaise and serve for lunch.

Behold The Man!

Lesson for June 5, 1949

LAST JANUARY a man in Holland wrote to the high court of the new nation of Israel, petitioning for a review, now nearly 2,000 years afterwards, of the trial of Jesus by the court at Jerusalem in the year 30 A. D. That court may never review the case, and perhaps has no legal right to do so. But history has reversed it, and Jesus Dr. Foreman was tried by at least four tribunals on the early morning of the first Good Friday. But the verdict of history is that the courts were guilty, one and all, while the prisoner was innocent.

Sentence first, Verdict afterwards

BESIDES the informal hearing before the ex-high priest Annias, there was the formal trial before the High Priest Caiaphas. He presided over the Sanhedrin, the supreme court of the Jews at that time. It was a learned tribunal, venerated all over the Jewish world. As the lawyers might say, its writ ran everywhere; its decisions were quoted as precedent in Alexandria, Babylon, Spain. You might have expected it to be dignified, honorable. But not on that night, with that victim.

You might as well expect a pack of wolves, starved in mid-winter, to be dignified and honorable with a sheep in their circle. These men, and their intimate friends, had been described by the Prisoner, not long before, in words that stuck in their brains like arrowheads. "Whited sepulchres . . . full of all uncleanness . . . ye say, and do not . . . yet devour widows' houses . . . blind guides . . . offspring of vipers. . ."

If there had been any hope that they might change, Jesus would not have used such words. So they had made up their minds: He must die. Now was their hour, while the city slept. Leader of the pack was this Caiaphas. As the farce of a trial went on and the high priest by grace of Rome faced Jesus, High Priest by the grace of God, what did he see in Jesus' eyes?

That Fox

IF CAIPHAS was a wolf, Herod was a fox. It was Jesus' nickname for him. On that April morning this fox had the surprise of his lifetime. Before he could collect his wits, he was facing the very man whom his private police force had been vainly trying to arrest—Jesus of Nazareth. Two kings faced each other in Herod's hall that morning. The one wearing a robe and crown, seated on some kind of throne, was one of the most un-kingly men who ever bore the royal title. The other, in plainest citizens' clothes, and no crown, no throne to be seen, was the one real king who has lived among men.

"Suffered Under Pontius Pilate"

PONTIUS PILATE, procurator of Judea, deputy plenipotentiary of his Imperial Majesty, sat on his judgment seat and looked at Jesus. Six times he had looked at him; six times he had made certain that this young prisoner was an innocent man, and six times he had said so, even in the face of the mob.

The noises in the street confused him. He could not hear, down through the centuries, the voices of millions of men, women and children, rising up week after week and repeating the words, almost like a curse: "—and in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord, who . . . suffered under Pontius Pilate." The voices in the street drowned the voices of the centuries.

But if, as Pontius Pilate turned Jesus over to the will of those who hated him, he had dared to look into Jesus' eyes, and what would he have seen?

To this very day, and to the end of time, in all places and among all men, this Christ whom the world holds in chains is yet the Judge of every man. Men may say of Jesus what they wish, and he will be silent still. But in his eyes in the verdict. A man is judged by his own judgement of Jesus Christ. And you, too. Facing you, he looks straight through you. What do you see in Jesus' eyes?

AROUND THE HOUSE

For best results, do not put a solid block of frozen vegetables in your pressure cooker: the outer portion may overcook before the inner part even gets warm. Separate peas or beans by knocking against a hard surface several times, cut solid vegetables into cubes with heavy knife or kitchen saw.

Pour that extra breakfast coffee into a thermos bottle while it is still fresh and hot; your mid-morning coffee snack will be more delicious than if left in the pot to grow strong and rancid.

One pound of coffee will make approximately 40 cups of the beverage.
