

Lynn Co. Farmers Were Aware Of Provisions To Withhold Funds

Nearly every Lynn county farmer who signed a cotton acreage reduction contract, was aware of a provision in it, that the federal government might, if so desired, withhold the amount due to the grower from the check to be issued in payment of acreage reduction.

This was pointed out yesterday by Joe Williams, county agent, following publication of an Associated Press dispatch from Washington that said that an old law might halt payment.

"I have heard many farmers talk," said Mr. Williams "about that clause in the contract, since signing it and so far I have heard none of them object to it. They take the attitude that the government is going to do as and as far as they are concerned it is all right."

Lynn county farmers are in good shape in their obligations as far as can be determined. Only a relatively small amount is due the government from loans in the county made prior to 1933. Most of these were protected by collateral cotton. Total cotton acreage is estimated at $43,000,000 for Texas.

Heavy Buying Features Fall Season Here

Local drygoods merchants are re-stocking their shelves this month in anticipation of exceptionally heavy buying this fall. Economic conditions which have prevailed here for the past four years have in a large measure precluded very extensive marketing, but business men here are optimistic over the outlook for the coming months.

C. H. Cabool of C. C. Drygoods returned Saturday from Kansas City and St. Louis, where he bought ready-made, shoes, millinery, etc., and states that shipments are due to begin arriving immediately.

N. Saleh at the Economy store, has not gone away to market but has ordered heavily in such lines as shoes, neck goods, and ready-to-wear. Mansell Bros. hardware store has just received a quantity of new merchandise, including furniture in new designs and at attractive prices.

Both the corner and Whitsett drug stores are placing orders for those little luxuries which have had to go begging for several months. With all merchandise making its appearance this early, it is easily seen that O'Donnell folks will have to spend their money as they go and help your merchants make O'Donnell a better town.

Prices Climb To New Highs In Most Lines

The upward trend of retail and wholesale prices continues in local stores. Edibles and wearables, because they are necessities, are most noticeably taking a balloon ride on the wave of the NRA, new federal taxes and natural price advances.

In the grocery line, such staples as flour, potatoes, shortening, and sugar are especially upish, while other staples and practically all luxuries have not yet jumped enough to hurt the pocketbook to any great extent. Cotton goods have risen like sky-rockets. The new processing taxes, plus manufacturers' increased dues to the NRA wage and hour scales, plus cotton's doubling up within the past few weeks, have sent some items—necessities all—to astonishing levels.

Shoes, silks, and other wearables are following the leader at a slower pace, but following, nevertheless. Tires took their third boost last week with a few weeks, making the total advance 25 to 30 per cent. Livestock feed of all kinds, including meal, hulls, molasses and good hay, is so high that it is almost prohibitive in some cases.

Standard local prices for barber work, tailor work, beauty shop work, laundry, bread and other such very routine demands have been in effect from a week to a month or more. There seems little incentive, most merchants and salesmen will tell you that the rise is stopping. Instead, it will probably go gradually on in most lines until the peak of NRA prosperity is achieved.

O'Donnell Wins Game As Tournament Opens

O'Donnell's baseball team marked the big end of a 4-3 score Sunday afternoon in the opening game of the Dawson county baseball tournament being held at Lamons. The ten-man team was featured by good pitching and hitting.

Plans Underway Hope To Fix Cotton Price

Formation of a permanent organization aimed at stabilization of a federal code to fix a minimum price of 16 cents per pound for cotton was perfected at Austin Saturday when Texas cotton farmers met there in response to the call of J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture. Mr. McDonald has gone to Washington to confer with federal officials on provisions of the proposed code.

He also was requested, according to Associated Press dispatches, to invite the agricultural commissioners of the leading cotton states of the south to join him in pressing for immediate stabilization of cotton market through governmental action.

A resolution stating that the declining cotton market will prove disastrous to the south unless it is checked was adopted by the meeting. Sixteen cents was suggested as a price at which farmers will be able to pay their obligations and provide for their families on the rising commodity market.

It was the opinion of the meeting that any plan, however radical, should be adopted to stem the declining market and advance it to an adequate price level.

Other resolutions adopted were: That the cotton plow-up campaign be extended if necessary; That provisions be made for farmers to borrow money at low rates of interest with their cotton as security to enable them to hold their crop and prevent its being placed in a disorderly market.

That the government acquire a substantial portion of the surplus and apply it to uses not in competition with the new crop. That a permanent plan be devised to govern agricultural production next year.

Just how effective this plan will be, if adopted, remains to be seen, but it is plain to anyone that the sharp decline in the price of cotton following the government report of more than 12,000,000 bales, accompanied by increase in the prices of food and clothing is working a hardship on farmers and business men.

The prosperity of any nation depends on the prosperity of the buyers of its products. It is the reason that when increased prices of merchandise so far outbalance the price of products, buyers will be unable to purchase that merchandise. What is needed is some form of economic sense other than that acquired in the struggle to make a small income meet bills at the end of the month, but it seems that this income should have followed rather than preceded a rise in the price of cotton and wheat.

What will benefit the grocer and the drygoods merchant is to price their goods higher if the price of farm products prohibits farmers from buying their actual necessities? What this country needs is some form of able to provide their families with the actual necessities of life. And don't mention diversification as a panacea for it. We are ardent believers in the benefits to be derived from raising the greater part of your living at home, but when cotton is three cents, eggs four, and cream twelve, very little calico and gasoline can be bought.

Gunners To Meet August 19th

Tentative date of August 19 has been selected for a meeting of South Plains Gunners to discuss plans for the coming season, according to Geo. Deming, manager of Lubbock Cotton Oil Mill and vice-president of the association.

"The gunners hope to get the code by that time," Mr. Simmons said. "We hope the national code is ready by that time."

The association includes about 19 counties and more than 200 gunners.

R. E. Patterson, Lockney, is president. Roy Grisham, manager of the Plainview Cotton Oil Mill is secretary of the Association.

Certificate Men Are Taking Exams Here

W. S. Tate, one of the committee on work in Texas, is with the O'Donnell Masonic lodge this week, holding examinations for certificate.

A number of local masons are taking the exams, but as we go to press they have not received their certificates as yet. It is expected that not all their work will be satisfactory.

A full report, with the names of those receiving certificates, will be published next week.

W. L. Gardenhire was in Tahoka on business Tuesday.

Farmers' Government Money To Be Mailed To Them Agent Says

Checks for farmers who sold a portion of their cotton crop to the government to be sent direct from Washington, according to information received here.

No indication is given as to when checks are to be mailed. County Agent Joe Williams, along with other county agents, is sending in his proof of performance notices, correctly signed, as rapidly as possible.

Each form was accompanied by a copy of the acceptance of contract sent each farmer and also an emergency order to plow up cotton.

Several more acceptances were received yesterday. Mr. Williams believes that the end of his week will see the clerical work in connection with the campaign about over with.

Many farmers of the county are reported plowing under more than their allotted calls for. Community committees have told County Agent Williams that they fear more men were led their allotted acreage than they did men who did not plow under the required amount.

In only a few instances has there been any reported plowing under of the wrong cotton or of cotton not covered by the contract.

Nearly all the inspection work by the committees has been finished. No case of a farmer refusing to plow under his crop has been reported to the county committee or to Mr. Williams.

RFC Labor Improves Streets This Week

RFC funds were used the latter part of last week and the first of this when local men chopped, piled, and burned weeds which were threatening to take the highway here in town, and also filled in the miniature grand canyon which has been a threat to limb and life since the recent rains.

The appearance of the street has been decidedly improved by the loss of the weeds, and motorists from Lubbock to Big Spring are offering no prayers of thanksgiving that the hole is filled in.

Citizen Of Draw Died Tuesday

The remains of S. E. Holloway, whose home was five miles south of Draw were laid to rest in the cemetery here Wednesday morning. Mr. Holloway died in the Lubbock Sanitarium Tuesday, having been afflicted with gall bladder trouble.

Mr. Holloway was 71 years of age and was an honored citizen of this county. He was the father-in-law of George Bardett of this city. Harris and Applewhite, undertakers, had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Buffalo Cow To Be Feature At Reunion

The cowboy reunion planned for Gail on Saturday, August 19, will feature a buffalo cow that has never been ridden, according to C. C. and W. C. Miller, sponsors of the affair. Attempts of ambitious cowboys to tame the animal will be worth the price of admission, those who have seen the hump-back in action will tell you.

Circulars and other advertising matter has been distributed in a number of the Texas counties, and it is expected that hundreds of folks will be present, including some of the best punchers in the state. Good purses are being offered in rodeo events. Attractions include a rodeo, barbecue, polo game, baseball game and platform dances.

Rev. Henderson W. ds Mississippi Lady

News was received here Sunday of the marriage of Rev. W. L. Henderson of this place and Mrs. Kate Belle Stricklin of Lena, Miss., the marriage being performed at four o'clock Thursday afternoon of last week, at Forest, Miss.

Rev. Henderson is well-known to everyone in this territory, having made his home in O'Donnell for a number of years. He has filled appointments in practically every church in this county, and is recognized as a religious and civic leader throughout the territory.

The title is a stranger to his many friends here, but it is felt that she must be a lady of sterling quality and worth, and will be a fitting helpmate for him.

It is hoped that Mrs. W. L. Palmer will be able to come home sometime this week, and may be here when this copy of the Index is in the mails.

Harris & Applewhite, undertakers from Tahoka, took the remains overland to Mineola, the former home of the deceased for burial. They left here Wednesday afternoon, accompanied by members of the family and a number of friends.

Mr. Hays was well known and loved by all with whom he came in contact, and his death is mourned by scores of friends here and at Mineola.

Farmers Not Selling Grain; 35 Pct. Of Crop Being Held

Kansas City, Aug. 12.—Movement of grain to market, which showed a sharp upturn in some parts of the Southwest and mountain territory when prices were leaping upward has virtually ceased since the sharp reactions which resulted in restrictions in trading on futures.

A survey of farming grain producing areas revealed an estimated 35 per cent of the 1933 wheat crop in storage in Texas. Walter A. Barlow of Amarillo, pioneer grain man, called it "the greatest percentage of holding he had ever seen."

Oklahoma board of agriculture officials reported "an unusual tendency" on the part of farmers to hold their new wheat crops. In many areas building bins and graineries and the marketing activity apparent around harvest time has ceased.

An Oklahoma City grain buyer estimated that but little more than half the state's wheat crop was sold when harvested. It is difficult, he said, to purchase a carload now.

In Kansas City, which saw the largest July movement of corn to market in 15 years, stocks of grain in elevators came within 100,000 bushels of the all-time record set in September 1922.

Early in August more than 3,000,000 bushels of corn were stored in Kansas City or about 100 times as much as last year. Grain men attributed this heavy cash selling on the part of farmers to one thing—higher prices.

In contrast to the farmers who had grain to sell at the higher level—and did, many wheat growers in Kansas, Texas and Montana are awaiting poor prospects of profit because of unusually short crops.

Trustees of County Meet; New School Law Is Explained

Many school trustees of Lynn county met in the district court room here Tuesday afternoon to hear the new school laws explained by the school superintendent of this district, Mr. Holbrook. County superintendent H. P. Caviness presided at the meeting and explained the new laws.

Mr. Holbrook explained the new law in detail, particularly as it relates to rural aid and the transportation of high school pupils and to the school.

From the address, Senator Duggan explained some provisions of the law. He was one of the most active supporters of the measure in the senate and succeeded in having some amendments adopted for the benefit of West Texas districts. He also took occasion to explain at some length the efforts that are being made by himself and others to induce the federal government agencies to relieve the situation of farmers in a few dry counties in this area.

The county superintendent of Lamb county, L. D. Rochelle, also made a few remarks, giving some interesting information as to his own county. More than 100 school buses are being operated in that county, he said. Every high school pupil in the county living more than a mile and a half from school is being transported to and from school.

Representative John Thomas of Tahoka also made a neat, brief address, expressing his interest in education and the public schools and the higher institutions of learning in this state.

The new school law, which Mr. Holbrook explained, is quite revolutionary in some respects and the administration at Austin hopes that it will prove to be a great boon to education in Texas.—Lynn Co. News.

Lynn Co. Farmers We're Aware Of Provisions To Withhold Funds

Farmer's Government Money To Be Mailed To Them Agent Says

Checks for farmers who sold a portion of their cotton crop to the government to be sent direct from Washington, according to information received here.

No indication is given as to when checks are to be mailed. County Agent Joe Williams, along with other county agents, is sending in his proof of performance notices, correctly signed, as rapidly as possible.

Each form was accompanied by a copy of the acceptance of contract sent each farmer and also an emergency order to plow up cotton.

Several more acceptances were received yesterday. Mr. Williams believes that the end of this week will see the clerical work in connection with the campaign about over with.

Many farmers of the county are reported plowing under more than their normal calls for. Community committees have had County Agent Williams visit their places and have explained their expected acreage than they did men who did not plow under the required amount.

In only a few instances has there been any reported plowing under of the wrong cotton or of cotton not covered by the inspection.

Farmer's Not Selling Grain; 35 Pct. Of Crop Being Held

Kansas City, Aug. 12.—Movement of grain to market, which showed a sharp upturn in some parts of the Southwest and mountain territory when prices were leaping upward, has virtually ceased since the sharp reactions which resulted in restrictions in trading on futures.

A survey of leading grain producing areas revealed an estimated 35 per cent of the 1933 wheat crop in storage in Texas. Walter A. Barlow of Amarillo, pioneer grain man, called it "the greatest percentage of holding he had ever seen."

Oklahoma board of agriculture officials reported "an unusual tendency" on the part of farmers to hold their wheat until a market to market in 15 years, stocks of grain in elevators came within 100,000 bushels of the all-time record set in September 1922.

Early in August more than 3,000,000 bushels of corn were stored in Kansas City or about 100 times as much as last year. Grain men attributed this heavy cash selling on the part of farmers to one thing—higher prices.

In contrast to the farmers who had grain to sell at the higher level—and did, many wheat growers in Kansas, Texas and Montana encountered poor prospects of profit because of unusually short crops.

Trustees of County Meet; New School Law Is Explained

Many school trustees of Lynn county met in the district court room Tuesday afternoon to hear the new school laws explained by the school superintendent of this district, Mr. Holbrook. County superintendent H. P. Caviness presided at the meeting and introduced the speakers.

Preceding the address, Senator Duggan explained some provisions of the law. He was one of the most active supporters of the measure in the senate and succeeded in having some amendments adopted for the benefit of West Texas districts. He also took occasion to explain at some length the efforts that are being made by himself and other legislators to induce the federal government agencies to relieve the situation of farmers in a few dry counties in this area.

The county superintendent of Lubbock county, L. D. Roebuck, also made a few remarks, giving some interesting information as to his own county. More than 100 school buses are being operated in that county, he said. Every high school pupil in the county living more than a mile and a half from school is being transported to and from school.

Representative John C. Thomas of Tahoka also made a neat, brief address, expressing his interest in educational progress and his friendship for the public schools and for the other institutions of learning in this state.

The new school law, which Mr. Holbrook explained, is quite revolutionary in some respects and the administration at Austin claims that it will prove to be a great boon to education in Texas.—Lynn Co. News.

True Love's Path
Never Runs Smooth

Miss Opal Musick of Wilson received word several days ago that her dearly beloved was forcibly in-terred in the city bustle at Carlsbad, and when her father delegated her to sell two bales of cotton Monday afternoon, she promptly decided that it was her duty to ride the roads to Carlsbad and bail him out.

However, she neglected to secure parental approval of this procedure, and when interested friends informed her family that she had been seen concealing herself in one of the box cars of the Santa Fe passenger train, her mother suffered a mild case of hysterics, phoned to sheriff B. L. Parker to stop that train and get her child.

The train had already left the station at Tahoka so the officer staged a first class race to O'Donnell, a race which resulted in a tie, and the young lady was removed from the train and returned to the bosom of her family.

No little interest was aroused here at the spectacle of the high sheriff dashing up to the station, marching determinedly to an apparently empty box car, and leading out a rather attractive young lady, who offered little or no resistance, but begged to be allowed to go on her errand of mercy. She repeatedly insisted that she kne w his boy at Lamesa who would take her to Carlsbad, and that she would pay her daddy for the funds used in hailing her sweetheart. She had spent none of the money, and had paid the rent as instructed.

Design Of Cotton
Boll To Be In Cloth

Implanting the design of the cotton plant in fashionable cloth, a plan originated by Mrs. Edgar T. Neal, who plans to send it to the Cotton Textile Institute of New York City is hoped to become a national fad.

The plan was adopted by Texas Technological college and a demonstration of its practicability reveals a faintly design revealing the green of the leaves, brown of the stalks, and the soft pastel shades of the blossom during its stages of growth and opening. The modernistic design was modeled by Miss Edna Mae Houghton head of the architectural designing department of the college.

Messrs. M. E. Heard and Carl D. Brant, both of the textile department of the college, have expressed their enthusiasm for the idea.

Other designs forming and carrying the tones of the plant, its blossoms and ripened, downy bolls are being worked on to be used in the Texas Centennial celebration in 1936. The cotton plant, which is one of nature's most beautiful creations is taking its place in the elevation of the universal fad, the return of cotton as a fashionable fabric as well as its use in many other commodities.

Mrs. Neal's plan to popularize the cotton motif in draperies, upholstery and clothing is meeting with general favor with newspapers, industrial heads and colleges. She expressed the desire that all club women and people of the South would take interest in this due recognition of one of nature's most plentiful and substantial gifts and to strengthen its use. This will be of untold benefit to cotton growers as well as offering a much wider field for its general use than has ever been known before.

Mmes. J. P. Bowlin, Guy Bradley, Boss Johnson, and Nyvonn Everett attended a meeting of the Lubbock chapter of the O. E. S. Thursday evening of last week.

It cost 75 farm women an average of $26.42 to dress appropriately last year in Parker county, the home demonstration council reports after a study of clothing accounts kept by these women in cooperation with the home demonstration agent. The lowest cost was made possible by watching sales, making clothing budgets, and by making clothes at home.

He is a dairyman aiming to produce milk cheaply.

Fish potatoes grown on fertilized land doubled the yield of unfertilized potatoes for W. V. Ellis, Oia community, Kaufman county. He produced 95 bushels on less than two-thirds of an acre. The No. 1 potatoes sold for $85, says the county agent in reporting the demonstration.

NRA Buy in August

"BUY IN AUGUST" should be the uppermost thought and plan of every person who contemplates buying anything in dry goods for fall. In accordance with the N. R. A. program, September the first marks the date, when all cotton goods or goods processed principally from cotton will have added processing tax of approximately four and one-half cents per pound. This will mean about ten cents per pair on standard makes of overalls, two cents per yard on wide sheetings and other goods in proportion. To make the president's plan a success, every citizen is urged to buy whatever is needed and help lift our people back to the level of comfortable and decent living. Only through a fair price for farm products and living wages for industrial workers can this be accomplished.

Baldwin's are better equipped than ever to fill your requirements for dry goods, clothing, shoes, and in fact anything carried in a general line of dry goods. Our prices are the lowest, we believe you will see for years to come. We invite you to come and see this stock of up-to-the-minute styles and values. Make Your plans to buy in August at Baldwin's.

BALDWIN'S

"LAMESA'S LEADING STORE"

Merchants May Sell Now High Market Price

production loan borrowers have authority to order in any time at the prevailing market prices, according to an order issued here Thursday by Murray, district supervisor. The proceeds from the sales are to be used to pay the interest charges, the balance to be paid to the borrower or to whom his written order.

At the time the cotton was taken on the loans the market was about seven cents. The interest allowed nine and one-eighth per bale, but it is now not advisable to give the farmer opportunity to exercise his judgment on the selling proposition.

Mr. Murray is confident that the loans will be paid this year 100 percent.

The letter from Owen W. Sherrill, regional manager at Dallas, relative to the new provision on the cotton collateral reads as follows:

To All Borrowers Having Collateral Cotton:

"During the fall and winter of 1931 and 1932 the prevailing prices of cotton were such that the Department realized that forcing the liquidation of loans by selling the cotton would work a considerable hardship on the majority of the farmers who secured Government aid.

"The Secretary of Agriculture, in order to be of assistance to farmers who secured aid through this department, permitted borrowers to withdraw their cotton from the market and store same in Federal Licensed Warehouses or any recognized Cotton Co-operative Association.

"We were advised that all cotton held by this office was sold to the Secretary of Agriculture on June 19, 1933 at the price of 9 1/2¢ per pound basis middling 7-8 inch staple as of the close of the July New York market on that date. We are now in receipt of instructions from the central office at Washington D. C., authorizing us to inform all borrowers having collateral cotton that the sales was not made as of June 19, for the reason that the market now shows considerable advance in excess of the market value of the cotton on that date. This cotton is still being held in your name, and until further advised you have authority to have it sold at any time.

"In view of this information we are enclosing herewith a Selling Order showing where your cotton is stored. If you now desire the sale of your cotton at the current market price, you may sign the order in the exact manner in which your name appears at the top of same, and forward it direct to the Warehouse of the Co-operative Association as indicated, or you may wire at your expense authority to sell. They should make sale of the cotton in accordance with your wishes, and the proceeds from the sale will be applied on your account with this office.

"Sales orders which were forwarded to the office prior to any Warehouse Co-operative Association between the dates of June and July 20 have not and will not be acted upon. There fore, it will be necessary for those who have forwarded such orders to give new instructions on the attached form. Where borrowers executed sales orders prior to June 16 and have received copies of our sales instructions to the cooperative Associations, it will not be necessary for them to issue new sales instructions as the original ones were executed and remittances will now be made on them.

"In the event the proceeds from the sale of this cotton fail to fully liquidate your account, after the deduction of all primary claims, cost and expense, the balance due will remain an obligation of the borrower. If, however, the proceeds from the sale are more than sufficient to pay the loan, interest, and accrued charges, the balance will be paid to the borrower or others upon his written order."

"That's right," said the judge. "And do you know what will happen if you tell the truth?" "Yes, suh," answered Sam very promptly: "we'll lose de case."

Two hoboes stopped at a cafe for a hand-out. The proprietor told them to stay outside because ex-Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was inside.

Mellon, overhearing the conversation, said: "Let the boys come in and I'll pay for the meal."

One of the boys, looking at the other, said: "Wouldn't that kill you; the man has got our money, and now he wishes our appetites."—Ex.

Father Kelly and Rabbi Levi were seated opposite each other at a "get-together" luncheon, where, some delicious roast ham was served. Father Kelly smacked his lips and commented very favorably on the ham, and in a quizzical voice he inquired of his friend:

"Rabbi Levi, when are you going to become broad-minded enough to eat ham?"

"At your wedding, Father Kelly," responded the Rabbi.

The nurse at the hospital looked at the patient with a puzzled frown. "Your face is familiar to me," she said, musingly, "but I can't quite place you, somehow."

"Let bygones be bygones, mum," said the sufferer, sadly. "Yes, mum I was the policeman who arrested you once."

WEST TEXAS EXHIBIT PLACED AT WORLD'S FAIR

The space set aside for Texas exhibit at the Century of Progress Exposition is to be occupied in the near future with a showing so comprehensive and varied as should reflect credit on the State and its six million inhabitants. The active work of the committee, backed by the concerted support of the press, has assured the assembling of material which will give the world some conception of the unrivaled resources of Texas and which will be transplanted to Chicago at an early date for installation in the waiting booths.

The exhibit will thus be in place in time to impress the heaviest influx of visitors to the great exposition, and it should yield returns to Texas out of all proportion to the amount invested in the showing.

The contributors, committee workers and chambers of commerce who have made the exhibit possible merit the warmest commendation. They have served the state constructively, not only by assuring creditable representation at Washington, but by laying the ground which will warrant other world to take part in its own Texas in extending invitations to the centennial celebration. in 1936.

NR A EAGLE, OR "BLUE HAWK" BORN IN THE AIR

Philadelphia, July 27.—The Blue eagle that will display its wings at all establishments cooperating with the president for industrial recovery was born in the air.

Summoned to Washington, the artist boarded an airplane and, while poring to the capitol, he drew two rough sketches of what he conceived the president of the United States wanted as the emblem of his recovery plan.

Charles T. Coiner, of this city, art director of N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., was the artist who satisfied both Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery act administrator, and the president.

One of his two sketches was selected and after completing the detail work it was rushed to the printer in order that the emblem might be distributed on time. Johnson refers to it as "My Blue Hawk."

Coiner's opinion of his national recovery "badge of honor" is that it represented a departure from the traditional and has about it certain modern tendencies which he feels are significant in this government insignia in the past have adhered largely to tradition.

Methodist Church
 W. R. Burnett, Pastor

Next Sunday morning the pastor plans to bring a message on "The Peace-makers". We are looking forward to a good service at this time and we are expecting a good attendance.

The evening service at the Methodist church will be dismissed next Sunday in favor of the services of the Baptist revival at the Baptist tabernacle.

The Woman's Missionary Society will meet at the church Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

The pastor and family returned last Saturday evening from Fayetteville, Arkansas, where they spent two weeks attending the Leadership Training School at the Western Methodist Assembly Grounds at Mt. Seayah. Each took two courses in Leadership Training Work. The training courses, the splendid associations, and the helpful addresses from outstanding leaders in their respective fields of work, were sources of great inspiration and helpfulness.

Our revival meeting is to begin at the Methodist church on Thursday evening before the first Sunday in September, the date being the 31 of August. Rev. W. C. Hinds, pastor of the First Methodist church at Childress, Texas, will assist in the meeting. Bro. Hinds was formerly pastor of the Methodist church at Lamesa and is known to several of our people. Let us begin looking forward to the meeting and making our plans to attend.

T-Bar next Sunday night, and services will continue throughout the following week and Sunday. A cordial invitation is extended to every one within reach of T-Bar to attend these services.

Everyone will find a cordial welcome at the Methodist church. Come and worship with us.

Forestry Camp Has Pleasing Appearance

A little ingenuity and a great deal of hard work have made the Civilian Conservation Corps Work Camp No. 854 at Blanco, Texas, a bright and shining example of army sanitation and organization. The enrollees at this camp are employed in building a dam across the Blanco river to provide a lake for the State Park on highway 66 at this point, but they have also erected four semi-permanent buildings for the use of the camp. These are a mess hall, bath house, latrine and supply house.

While not classed as semi-permanent, the hospital tent is floored and tightly screened. With its woodwork and furniture enameled a gleaming white, it presents a striking appearance, quite in keeping with the neat, clean grounds, the tents lined up with mathematical precision and the neatly white-washed trees in the camp.

Captain J. J. Canella, 9th Infantry of Fort Sam Houston, Texas, is the commander of the camp at Blanco. His company was given a hearty welcome by the people of Blanco when they arrived on June 16th, and a room in the old court house which stands in the center of the town square was turned over to him for headquarters. Since then he has also been given the use of a farm house adjoining the camp.

From a closed restaurant Captain Canella purchased a range and a display case formerly used as a pie counter. The range was promptly installed in another room in the court house, and the pie counter, after a thorough cleaning and enameling, is now doing duty as a dustproof medicine and bandage case in the hospital tent. From the bake-shop a regular Army baker, Private Merle M. Jones of the 2nd Tank Company, Fort Sam Houston, is turning out delicious pies and cakes for the camp.

A high order of talent is found among the enrollees at this camp. John L. Wray, Jr., of Edinburg and San Antonio is an experienced newspaper reporter and has been serving a number of papers as special correspondent. He is also an experienced actor and last week directed a home talent play and minstrel that packed the Blanco High School auditorium and netted enough money to construct a boxing ring for the camp. It is expected that the players will go on tour over the week ends and repeat the performance in nearby towns. A similar show is planned for each month.

A daily cartoon on some camp subject is another feature of the Blanco camp. Irving Kinard of San Antonio turns out cartoons of professional quality, and each day's subject is awaited eagerly by the boys in camp.

The 200 boys at the Blanco C. C. camp come from 225 sections of central and southern Texas with a large number from the Rio Grande valley.

Cotton Yield In Texas To Be Low

Austin, Aug. 9.—Information gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture indicates that Texas cotton crop this year will be the smallest since 1922. It was estimated 3,541,000 bales of 500 pounds each would be produced, as against 3,222,000 in 1932. Conditions of the crop as of August 1 was given 71 per cent of normal against a ten year average of 66 for the same period of this season. The report said the indications were the harvest acreage this year would be the smallest since 1919. Acreage harvested that year totaled 3,000,000 acres. The 1933 harvest acreage was estimated at 11,095,000 acres.
