Revival Underway at Baptist Church; All Invited Attend

A midsummer revival meeting began at the First Baptist Church here Thursday with Evangelist Jesse Yelvington of San Antonio in charge of the preaching and Melvin Rathel of Tahoka in charge of the song services.

The revival will continue only ten days, with services at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.

To insure a comfortable building during the hot weather a large cooling system was installed in the church building this week.

A full attendance of the church's entire membership is urged by the Rev. E. C. McDonald, pastor, who says that at no time in history, perhaps, have greater problems faced the Christian world, and if Christianity is to be brought into the lives of those in dire need of it, Christian church members should redouble their efforts to do their part.

A cordial welcome to attend and take part has been issued by the pastor to all citizens.

Use of Mail Boxes As Gun Practice May Bring Severe Penalty

Uncle Sam, he of the pointed beard, ardently desires that the young men of the nation become proficient in the use of fire arms, and, too, to shoot straight.

But he frowns upon the use of rural mail boxes as targets. Incidentally he can do something about it to the tune of a prison sentence and heavy fine.

Mail carriers are complaining that several mail boxes have been riddled, some beyond repair. On several boxes the mail carriers used both shotgun and revolver.

"Better stop it" is the advice of Uncle Sam, through his carriers.

Canning Sugar May Be Secured Until Month of September

Persons desiring sugar for canning purposes may secure their allotted amount up to the middle of September, according to members of the rationing board in Tahoka.

Rumors, wrong as usual, have floated about O'Donnell recently that no sugar for canning purposes would be available after next Monday.

That the middle of September would be a more nearly correct time, was voiced by the board members. Sugar stamp No. 7 can be used now.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Bearden and son, former residents, are now living in Pampa. Sterling is employed at the Pantex Plant near Amarillo.

Visitors Present For Noon Rotary Meeting

The second meeting under the leadership of the new president, Waldo McLaurin, was held by the O'Donnell Rotarians Tuesday noon. Several visitors were present.

A discussion was invited by the president relative to the quantity of scrap metals and rubber still remaining in the territory. He explained that the federal government has authorized a new, all-out, drive for the precious scrap materials and is scheduled to start within the next fortnight.

A scrap drive and rally committee composed of Dr. J. M. Bubany, E. T. Wells, James Applewhite, B. M. Haymes and W. G. Forgy is to represent the club. They will meet with prominent citizens of various communities adjacent to O'Donnell and other leading O'Donnell civic and patriotic leaders in the near future to map out plans for this section's participation.

E. I. Hill, editor of the Lynn County News, Tahoka, "made up" attendance from his own club, and was called upon for a short talk. Hill dipped quickly into the patriotic angles of the proposed drive, and also mentioned that, in his opinion, unless we did go all-out, there would be rationing of gasoline in Texas.

TAKE EXAMINATIONS

Advanced examinations as beauty culture operators were taken Tuesday and Wednesday in Austin by Bea Cochran, Nell Upton, Bill Jones and Peggy Watson, all of whom have been going to school in Lubbock. They were taken to Austin by Ed James.

W. J. Shook informed the Press that his son is now "Corporal Jimmie Lee." He is stationed at Duncan Field.

Early Voting In Primary Urged

TAHOKA, July 16 — (Special)— Judge C. H. Cain, County Democratic chairman, is urging the voters of Lynn County to go to the polls early on Saturday, July 25, to cast their ballots for their favorites.

Early voting will make early counting of the vote possible, and enable election officers to complete their task without remaining on the job all night Saturday night, as has been the case in many elections.

Go to the polls and register your choice early.

Women Take to Hoes, And Down Come Weeds Around Church Bldg.

They "dood" it.

Sunday morning, several members of the First Baptist Church saw that weeds around the building needed cutting. The count hasn't been made as to the number seeing the condition, but the women of the church did something about it.

Today the weeds are gone. A large number of the ladies brought hoes and rakes and didn't waste any time talking, but piled the implements lustily and with a vim.

While the weeds were being cut, it is believed that the problems of the world were debated and solved by members of the opposite sex. Congratulations seem to be in order from someone to the ladies.

W. S. of C. S. MEETS

The W. S. of C. S. met Monday afternoon, July 13, at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Joe Garner was leader of the program, based on supplies.

Following the opening song, Mrs. Coffee led in prayer.

Minutes were read and corrected during the business session, with Mrs. Koeninger leading the devotional.

Mrs. Dulin gave a discussion on Scarritt college, while Mrs. Pickens discussed the Navajo Methodist Mission School.

"Women and Home Missions for 1942" was the topic given by Mrs. Curtis. Mrs. Hollowell led in the closing prayer.

Others present were Mesdames M. E. Price, McGregor, Moore Sr., Warren Smith, Knight, Stark, Gates, Schooler, Moore Jr., Miss Mabel Harris and a new member, Mrs. G. F. Lindley.

Attends Brother's Funeral

R. T. (Bob) Latham, 67, a former resident here and a brother of Emanuel Porte, passed away Monday from an attack of pneumonia. His funeral was held Tuesday in Littlefield and burial made in Bomerton. Other survivors include his widow and his seven children.

Mr. Latham left here in 1938, after living here almost constantly from 1923.

Orchid Beauty Shoppe Under New Management

The Orchid Beauty Shoppe reopened Wednesday under the new management of Miss Inez Tolbert of Lamesa and Miss Marjory Tapp, who has been employed here for some time.

Both are experienced operators.

Miss Nila Rae Miller visited with friends in Lubbock last week end and attended a dinner at the Hilton Hotel given by her social club.

Masons Celebrate Lodge Founding

The twentieth anniversary of the founding of the O'Donnell lodge, A. F. & A. M. No. 1187, will be celebrated here Saturday night, August 8, with Dr. E. N. Wood, of Anson, grand master of the lodge of Texas, present for the occasion.

W. E. Tredway is worshipful master of the local lodge.

School Transfers Now Being Made

August first is the last day for school transfers. If your child is above the grade taught in the local district, he should be transferred to the school of his choice. I should like to urge the parents to call at the County Superintendent's office and transfer their children.—Mrs. Lenore Tunnell, County Superintendent.

New Scrap Drives, Rallies Planned Soon Over Nation

TAHOKA, July 16 — (Special)— Another drive for vital scrap metal and rubber will be staged over the nation at an early date, and Lynn county is being called on to cooperate.

Despite the fact that two campaigns for the collection of scrap iron, one for paper, one for aluminum, and one for rubber have been held to date, the government believes much scrap still remains to be gathered. Lynn county has met her expected amount in every drive.

However, in spite of the fact that the United States is involved in a life or death struggle for the freedom of every man, woman, and child, and in spite of the fact that the people are being told every day of the critical shortage of vital metals and rubber, it is astounding that some citizens right here in Lynn county have refused to take the time and energy to gather up and sell their scrap materials.

EUZELIAN CLASS TO MEET

All members of the Euzelian Class of the Baptist Church are asked to meet Tuesday, July 21, at the home of Mrs. Truitt Hodnett. Mrs. Alta Lee Hohn will be co-hostess.

Judge W. W. Price of Brownfield was a business visitor in the city Wednesday in the interest of his race for district judge.

J. A. Smith of Chillicothe was in this city during the last week visiting his brother, Cecil Smith.

Claud Gowen, candidate for treasurer of Dawson County, was a visitor in O'Donnell Monday.

Kermit Corbin, who is in the race for County Judge of Dawson County, was here on a business trip Tuesday.

Mrs. H. H. Hollowell and her mother were in Lubbock Thursday.

Preaches Here Sunday

REV. LUTHER KIRK Of Munday.

Funeral Services Held for Simmons

Funeral services were held in the Church of Christ in O'Donnell at 2:00 o'clock last Sunday afternoon for Thomas Jefferson Simmons, 56, a resident of O'Donnell and this section of the state for many years, who died in the Lubbock General Hospital of heart trouble at 1:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon, July 11.

The body was prepared for burial in the Harris Funeral Home where his wife, Mrs. Simmons, was present.

Services were conducted by the minister of the Church of Christ at O'Donnell.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Mary Ann Simmons; three sons, Melvin James Simmons of Levelland, Edgar Louis Simmons of San Antonio, and Marvin Morgan Simmons of O'Donnell; the mother, Mrs. Sarah Simmons of Cleburne; one granddaughter, Shirley Ann Simmons of Levelland; one brother, Frank Simmons of Ranger; and one sister, Mrs. Mattie Whitehead of Cleburne.

Mr. Simmons was born at Menard on July 3, 1886. He was married to Miss Mary Ann Whitehead at Cleburne Johnson County, on December 5, 1912. He came from Johnson County to Lynn County in October, 1923.

Mr. Simmons was a farmer by occupation. He was a good citizen and enjoyed the esteem of many friends.

RETURN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Howard and Billy Jack and Mr. and Mrs. George Walls returned Sunday.

The group had started to Colorado for a vacation but Billy Jack became ill and they returned.

He was reported as not being seriously ill.

Mrs. Witte Still Bedfast

Mrs. O. E. Witte, who suffered a broken hip in a fall two months ago is still bedfast, so friends report, while Mr. Witte has been suffering from an ear condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Eason of Big Spring visited Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Wimberly Sunday.

Munday Pastor Will Preach Next Sun. In Methodist Pulpit

In the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Howard H. Hollowell, the local First Methodist Church pulpit will be occupied next Sunday morning by the Rev. Luther Kirk, pastor of the Munday church.

The Rev. Mr. Hollowell is holding a revival meeting in Munday.

No services will be held at the church Sunday night, nor the following Sunday, as the church membership is to attend and worship with the Baptist Church, now in a revival.

The Rev. Mr. Kirk, who is considered one of the outstanding ministers in conference circles, is the organizer and was the first pastor of the St. John's Methodist Church in Lubbock. The church membership and visitors in O'Donnell are urged to hear the Rev. Mr. Kirk next Sunday morning by the local pastor.

Is Acting Bookkeeper At Cicero Smith Lumber Co.

Miss Louise Edwards is now serving as a bookkeeper at the Cicero Smith Lumber Company, and will continue the work until school opens in the Fall.

Miss Edwards is to relieve Stansell Jones of several duties, due to his imminent call by the United States Navy, in which he enlisted several weeks ago.

Leaves For Naval Duty

Beryl Hooten, who enlisted in the "seabees" of the United States Navy several weeks ago, was called to duty this week, and left for an eastern navy base Wednesday.

To The Voters of Dawson County Greetings:

The candidates of Dawson County met and decided not to make a house-to-house canvass because of the tire situation. So I am coming again to you through the medium of the press.

To you who do not know me I wish to say that I am married and 54 years old. I have two children, sons, both of whom will be called to military service soon.

I have lived in Dawson County for the past 22 years and have not asked for a public office during my period of residency. I have carried the mail and handled the Fort Worth Star-Telegram agency for the past 12 years. Thus I have a wide acquaintance throughout the county except in the extreme northern part.

Since I cannot see each of you personally, please take this as a personal visit to you, and if you can support me on July 25 as your next County Treasurer, I shall always be indebted to you, and I shall at all times strive to make you the best officer possible.

Respectfully Yours,

Claude F. Gowen

To The Voters of Precinct No. 2, Dawson County:

In making my statement to the public, as much as I would like to visit each of your homes, solicit your vote, I will not be able to do that and those of you whom I fail to see or contact in some way, remember this:

I will appreciate your votes, and, if re-elected, will do what I think is best for the county and you people as a whole. It has been a pleasure to serve you the past term. You and my dealings have been mutual and we are not ready to say quits so soon.

I am wishing you luck and will you do that much for me?

Respectfully,

G. C. ATEN

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazis' Drive Into Don River Sector Endangers Rich Caucasus Oil Fields; Jones Warns U. S. of Inflation Peril; FDR Says Tire Seizure Is Possible

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel (left), receives report from General Navarini, commander of Italian forces supporting the Nazi armies in Egypt. The picture, made after the German victories in Libya, was received from a neutral source.

RUSSIA:

Nazi Menace

Breaking through the Russian front east of Kursk and Kharkov, a Nazi armored assault had driven 100 miles into the upper basin of the Don river and given Adolf Hitler his first significant success in his summer offensive against the Reds.

With both sides throwing in all available manpower and equipment, the greatest armored battle in history raged.

To hard-pressed Marshal Timoshenko it must have seemed that he faced more disastrous threats than he could meet. Although counterattacking gallantly and fighting grimly, the Red forces had been forced steadily back. Violent combat had centered around Voronezh, key link between Russia's central and southern armies.

And the goal, as before, was the rich oil fields of the Caucasus to the southeast. Possession of this prize would mean unlimited fuel for Hitler's mechanized legions.

Two immediate targets of the Nazi offensive were the Don river, one of Russia's chief transportation arteries, and the Moscow-Rostov railway which parallels the Don and feeds much of the Soviet's industrial and military machine.

Meanwhile in Egypt, Marshal Rommel's headlong drive had been stopped by the British under General Auchinleck. Refusing to be bottled up in stationary fortresses, the "Auk" had chosen his own battleground when he turned on the Nazi army. The site was a narrow funnel-shaped front between El Alemein on the seacoast and the Quattera marshes 40 miles inland. Here, aided by reinforcements, fresh equipment and slashing blows by the RAF and their American flying Allies, he had brought to a halt the Nazi steamroller headed for Alexandria and the Suez canal.

INFLATION:

Perils Revealed

Like a stern pedagogue pounding the three R's into the skulls of his scholars, gray-haired Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, read the American people a lecture on the ABC's of economics.

His theme: The dangers of inflation. Mr. Jones said that the American people will have "over $30,000,000 more income in 1943 than the value of the things for which the money will be spent" and termed this "a potential 'inflationary gap' greater than any the world has ever known."

The secretary's remarks followed hard on press conference warning by President Roosevelt that it would be necessary for Americans to adopt a national economic policy which would control inflation.

Among maxims Mr. Jones laid down were:

"No business man or industrialist can expect higher prices for his products without paying higher prices for having them made."

AIR TRANSPORT:

Saga of Service

The answer to what had become of civilian luxury airliners taken over by the army after Pearl Harbor came when it was announced that these planes were among craft that had flown 5,000,000 miles during the past five months rushing war equipment and personnel to strategic points in the Pacific.

The saga of this bold aerial venture included chapters highlighting the heroism of hundreds of pilots.

RUBBER:

Tire Confiscation?

The administration's nation-wide rubber hunt had produced disappointing results. Only a portion of the hoped-for scrap rubber stock pile had been turned in and meanwhile 30,000,000 American motorists continued to roll along on steadily thinning tires.

Hence it was not a surprise when President Roosevelt declared at a press conference that if war conditions grew worse, the government might be forced to confiscate every automobile tire in the country.

The President tempered his warning with the cautious hope that nation-wide gasoline rationing could be avoided. But, he emphasized, he was trying to save the nation, not gasoline and rubber.

Mr. Roosevelt's review of the situation came after the army, the navy and Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes' office had appealed to East coast motorists to discontinue immediately all unnecessary use of gasoline, regardless of what their ration cards entitled them to. A joint statement said joyriding in the gas rationed area was preventing war workers from getting enough motor fuel to get to work and back and was threatening to hamper seriously the war production program.

Fortunate were congressmen, members of state legislatures, other government officials and candidates for public office. For under regulations promulgated by the OPA for permanent East coast rationing, such persons were given "preferred" mileage ratings providing them with gasoline for transportation needs "in pursuit of legislative business."

SABOTEURS:

History Recalled

Once before a military commission had sat in Washington deliberating over evidence that was to send a band of conspirators to their death. That was 77 years ago when eight defendants were tried in the dingy old penitentiary building for the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

Now again, a military commission sat in Washington. This time it was to pass sentence on eight Nazi saboteurs who had landed on the East coast to launch a campaign of destruction against American arms plants. The trial this time was held in the new department of justice building.

In proceedings marked with the same secrecy that characterized the former trial, the prisoners learned whether they were to meet a firing squad or go to the gallows—for death was the penalty they faced.

Observers who noted the coincidence between the two famous trials—eight defendants in each case—remembered that only five of the Lincoln conspirators, including a woman, Mary Surratt, were put to death.

MISCELLANY:

SYDNEY: A highway capable of maintaining heavy military traffic has been completed across the trackless northern territory of Australia, in a little more than a year, a government report revealed. The highway is so designed that army vehicles will not be halted during the rainy season. Civilian road workers, including several United States engineers, worked on the project.

Keeping the St. Lawrence Free From Subs

Canada's new mosquito boats are busy at their job keeping convoys safe from submarines in the St. Lawrence river. The sub-chasers, which are the Canadian navy's version of the U. S. "mosquito boat," are called "Fairmiles." They are 100 feet long, fast, and capable of carrying a record volume of depth bombs. In picture at the left two husky crewmen are given the ticklish job of loading a depth charge on a "Fairmile." Center: Typical French-Canadian sailors enlisted in the Royal Canadian navy operate a blinker signal to escorting destroyers. Right: One hundred feet of water from the St. Lawrence cascades into the air as a depth bomb blasts the "sub" below.

Pushing Against Axis in the Pacific

Chemical Warfare Demonstration

A barrage of 25 shells is fired from "Livens projectors" during the army's chemical warfare demonstration at Edgewood arsenal, Maryland. The projectors are used to throw destructive chemicals against the enemy, or smoke bombs to screen troop movements. Men in the foreground are telephone operators in contact with advance forces and the "plunger" man who sets off the charge.

Yankee Tanks in Northern Ireland

Armored units of the American expeditionary force in Northern Ireland, among the most recent arrivals, have lost no time in getting into hard training and preparing for the opening of a possible second front. Negotiating rough country in Northern Ireland, these "General Grant" tanks, followed by U. S. infantrymen, are proving that they can take it—and give it!

Gains Freedom

Cools His Heels

John T. Robertson, musician first class at the U. S. naval air station, Corpus Christi, Texas, cools his heels after a long march, while practicing on his bass horn.

Letter to the German-American Bund:

Thanks for betraying yourselves. Some of us have been hollering all along that the Bund was a school for traitors. The FBI just snatched eight saboteurs from Berlin who confirmed it. That was very helpful. It may even shut the mouths of certain distinguished American dopes, but don't bet on it. From the beginning we always argued that you had to be a sneak and a cut-throat to get into the Bund. We figured that a guy hired to sell out a country that sheltered, fed and welcomed him had to be a 100 per cent no-good. The dopes claimed you were nice guys—just misunderstood. So thanks again for coming forward and proving yourselves rats.

All eight of the dynamiters under arrest were Bundists, they admitted. So you see where that leaves you, don't you? It puts the official Nazi stamp on your activities. It comes out that the Nazi consuls in New York, San Francisco, New Orleans, etc., directed you. It doesn't jell with your claim that you gang up for athletics and to improve German-American relations.

But then I suppose you can get a few laughs out of fooling those distinguished American dopes. Those so-called good citizens who squatted on Bund platforms and orated how wonderful you were. I'll bet you felt good that night in Madison Square Garden, when they came right out for you. Remember the incident? Dorothy Thompson (the canny girl) spotted you for scum—so you threw her out. You must have been proud of the way you tamed those Americans, who roosted on the rostrum and let you get away with it. They even agreed that Miss Thompson was a trouble-maker. That must have killed you: Americans calling Dorothy Thompson—from a Bund platform yet—a trouble-maker!

How do you like that $170,000 the eight saboteurs carried over here? That's bad. They had to explain it as bribe money, you know, to pay off the subversives for help to blow up war plants, bridges, stores, etc. That looks like something that involves you Bundists. You can bet your dialects that if the saboteurs know any subversive people, they met them at Bund rallies. See where it leaves you? You have no idea of the record Mr. Whiskers has of you chumps. He used to jot down your license number when you came to meeting in your car. Ach! Dot Hoover!

The hell of it is this: You don't know just how much J. Edgar Hoover has on you. He's so wily, that Hoover. He puts out so much to the papers, then holds out quite a lot to work on. That's why you don't know when your front door is going to be kicked in and you'll have to explain how come. It was a bad day for you, wasn't it, when you chumped up with those eight? The minute they're in trouble—boppo—they drag you into it. A fine way for the Master Race to behave.

And don't expect a lift from Hitler. You Bundists are cheap labor. He can buy you in herds. He uses you, but the minute you can't take care of yourself he throws you to the wolves. What makes you think you punks mean anything to him when he butchers his own generals when they fail to deliver the goods? And look how he left Fatzo Fritz Kuhn out on a limb. Fatzo was dumb, but he worked hard. Worked like a dog, but the minute things went wrong what did Der Fuehrer say? He said: "The Reich cannot concern itself with stupid failure." See? He wouldn't even send you a copy of Social Justice to while away the time in jail.

And have you been reading about all the Bundist suicides right here in New York? And can you be sure they were suicides? Lots of the Bundists are better off dead, especially since the FBI's roundup. They had too much to tell, in case the law reached them. So they were found in the river. Or maybe they fell eight stories into Yorkville. How about you, Fritz? And you, too, Hans? Are you too informed? Be very careful. Some bosom pal is going to drop in some night and shoot you right through the square haircut—and blow all the data right out of your head. Working for Hitler is a tough way to make a pennig.

Any way you look at it, it's a pretty stiff price you're going to pay for strutting around in brown shirts and feeling good about being the Master Race. You can't be very proud of your fellow Aryans for the way they wretched. You wouldn't catch the Czechs doing that. Those brave people, unarmed and conquered, told your armed bullies to go hell themselves when they were tortured for a squeal on who sent Heydrich to hell. More than 800 of them died before they'd please a Nazi.

E. C. Nelson

Judge E. C. Nelson is a candidate for Chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals. This is one of the highest judicial offices in our State, one that demands the most thorough training and the widest possible experience. Judge Nelson has attended and graduated from the leading universities and law schools in our country, giving him an educational background of the highest order.

He taught school for five years before entering the legal profession, and served two years in the United States Army during World War I, fourteen months of his service being in France.

He has had a well-rounded legal experience. He has been a licensed attorney for more than 22 years. He has practiced law in all of our courts and has been judge of all courts of record up to the Court of Civil Appeals. As an appellate judge, he will be able, from his own experience, to review a case from the standpoint of both the practicing lawyer and the trial judge. He is now District Judge of the district composed of Potter, Randall, and Armstrong Counties, and his record as a trial judge is one of the best in the State.

Judge Nelson is 51 years old, just the right age to undertake the work of an appellate judge. He is old enough for maturity, experience, and judgment, and young enough for the years of hard work the position requires.

The size of the district has made it impossible for him to see all the people, but he solicits the vote and influence of all our citizens.

the candidacy of

JUDGE LOUIS B. REED

For District Judge,
106th Judicial District

Because--

1. EDUCATION: He is a product of the School of Law of the University of Texas.

2. EXPERIENCE: (a) For more than twenty years he has been an active, efficient, responsible practitioner of law, not encumbered with other lines of business; (b) A District Judge in an administration marked by economical management, the clearing of dockets, the establishment of continuous terms of court, a superior record regarding appealed decisions and prompt trials, resulting in the saving of time for jurors, witnesses and trial officers over a six year period.

3. MILITARY RECORD: Judge Reed is an overseas Veteran of World War I, having served with distinction in rank from private to Captain. He was called to duty as a Reserve Officer on January 12th, 1942, and assigned to duty with the Field Artillery Detachment at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

4. COURT AS USUAL: During his absence the court has been ably conducted by Judge J. E. Garland, and the court's business has been properly cared for and no litigant has suffered or been delayed by the absence of Judge Reed. The Court is conducted continuously at no extra expense to the tax payers. Judge Reed has drawn no salary from the State of Texas since his induction into the Army.

5. HEALTH AND CHARACTER: Judge Reed is physically fit, as proved by his call to and acceptance for military duty. He is a faithful church man, an efficient church school teacher; his character and integrity ratings are of the highest order; his personal life is characterized by honesty, patriotism, friendliness for all people, especially for youth; sympathy for all unfortunate and sorrowing, and a happy, cheerful disposition reflecting the soul and spirit of a GOOD MAN and a WISE MAN.

4-H Club Workers Meet In Tahoka

Representative 4-H Club workers from this and five neighboring counties had an all-day meeting at the American Legion Hall here Tuesday for the purpose of studying 4-H club work with a view to improving it throughout this area.

Counties represented in addition to Lynn were Scurry, Dawson, Terry, Gaines, and Yoakum. Each county was represented by two 4-H club girls, one sponsor, and the home demonstration agent, making four workers from each of the six counties.

Miss Onah Jacks, state girls leader, from the Texas A and M. Extension Service, led the discussions, which pertained to various phases of 4-H club work, and many topics were discussed.

Games and other forms of entertainment were sandwiched in between the discussions and a picnic lunch was served at the noon hour. The meeting opened at ten o'clock in the morning and closed about 4:30 in the afternoon.

Jo Ann Henderson and Ebbie Lois Hamilton together with their sponsor, Mrs. Harley Henderson, were the hostesses.

At the opening of the meeting Jo Ann Henderson introduced Miss Maurine McNatt, Lynn County home demonstration agent, who had charge of the program throughout the day.

The girls from each county contributed to the program with a game and a song. Jo Ann Henderson directed the game for the Lynn County delegation and Ebbie Lois Hamilton rendered the vocal number.

The discussions by Miss Jacks are reported to have been very helpful and were enjoyed very much.

These meetings are being held successively in various groups of counties in the different H. D. districts of the state.

Mrs. Mattye Shook of Lubbock visited relatives here Sunday.

Mrs. J. T. Middleton Sr. has returned from a vacation in Ruidoso.

SADDLE and RIDE

By ERNEST HAYCOX W-N-U Release

THE STORY SO FAR: Clay Morgan has decided to play a lone hand against Ben Herendeen, a rancher bent on running the cattle country his own way. The two men have been enemies for years, having first fought over Clay's wife, Lila, who died hating him and believing she should have married Herendeen. Morgan is a solitary figure, devoted to his nine-year-old daughter, Janet. Although two women, Catherine Grant and Ann McGarrath, are in love with him, they know he cannot forget Lila. Of his former friends, only Hack Breathitt has not gone over to Herendeen's side. Gurd Grant, Catherine's brother, hesitated about joining Herendeen, but became Morgan's sworn enemy when he discovered that Catherine had been to his ranch. Hack Breathitt, seen camping with Pete Borders, a rustler, is being watched by Herendeen's men. Learning that Government Valley, a piece of land he and Herendeen both want, is to be auctioned at Sage City, 150 miles away, Clay rides all night and arrives in time to outbid Charley Hillhouse, Herendeen's foreman. Then he proves his generosity by letting the Willings, a family of "nesters" threatened by Herendeen, stay in the Valley. Now continue with the story.

Morgan went forward until Vance stood at the shoulders of the horse.

CHAPTER IX

Morgan was standing alone in his kitchen, thinking of Hack Breathitt. He refilled his coffee-cup, standing with his feet apart in the middle of the kitchen; light struck the surface of his eyes, setting up a quick frost-glow. Restlessness turned him out of his tracks and made him gently circle the room. Breathitt, he thought, would be sitting somewhere in the hills, laughing at the pusses on his trail and ironically amused at a world which could turn him into a fugitive overnight. Morgan speculated on Breathitt's possible hideout. The three of them, Breathitt and Hillhouse and himself, had ridden this country for years together and knew every hollow and ravine and windfall pit.

He pulled the coffee-cup from his lips and held it suspended, suddenly struck by a warning. If he were familiar with Hack's ways, so was Hillhouse.

Morgan turned to the living room, pausing there only long enough to get his hat, his gun and belt, and to lift a Winchester from the rack near the door. He crossed the yard, lugged his saddle gear from the horse barn and roped a pony out of the corral. Cap Vermilye and Harry Jump strolled forward. In these moonshot shadows they watched him thrust the Winchester into his boot beneath the saddle fender and swing aboard. Harry Jump said, gently: "Nice night for ducks."

"I'll be riding around, here and there," explained Morgan. "Don't know when I'll be back."

When he turned the prow of the Moguls the lights of Long Seven were cut off. The moon was at three-quarter stage and so he traveled through shadows that had the luminous, pearly shine of fog. Mogul's summits were clear-black against the sky; as he rode over the meadows he saw the blurred shadow of himself go forward in lengthening distortion against the yellow grass. At the jump-off of the meadow lands, where Mogul slid a thousand feet through pine groves into the narrow valley occupied by Herendeen, he paused to take his survey. Dell Lake was a silver circle, half-down the incline. The valley itself, filled with this night's fog-like mist, was a winding silver ribbon. He followed its course with his glance, catching the distant glitter of Herendeen's lights, and then his attention came back to the red-yellow glow of a campfire in the pines. Probably a posse.

The floor of the forest was thick with needle droppings; it absorbed the footfalls of his horse completely and so, gently walking the pony, he drifted forward until he reached the margin of light. Here he halted, amused that none of the five men crouched and lying by the fire yet knew of his approach. Charley Hillhouse squatted by the fire, idly feeding in pine branches. Two of the other men were Herendeen riders, one was Hamp Brigham, a smaller rancher from the Cache Mountains; and the fifth, lying full length on the ground, was Gurd Grant.

"Where you think you'll find him?" Gurd asked.

"Not on this side of the valley. I know Hack pretty well. He likes the Caches better."

Morgan spoke from the protecting shadows. "That's the way I figure it, Charley."

He had a swift sample of what these men would do under strain or surprise. Gurd Grant lunged to his feet and Hamp Brigham and the two men in the background were instantly up, Brigham reaching for his gun. But Charley Hillhouse, cross-legged by the fire, only tilted his head and stared over the point of the flames.

Morgan said: "About Government Valley, Charley. Your beef is still in there. Send somebody over to drift it back."

Hillhouse remained humped over the flame. He didn't look up. "I'll get around to it in time, I guess."

"The time," decided Morgan, at once matching Hillhouse's unfavorable manner, "will be exactly forty-eight hours."

winked. Woodsmoke lay in curled wisps on the still air. Going forward Morgan called: "Vance—hey, Vance!"

He heard Vance's boots drag over the shanty's floor and pause. There was this cautious interval and the dimming of the light before Vance opened the door. He showed himself vaguely in the doorway and quickly stepped into the yard, his bulk merging with the shadows of the cabin wall. "Who's that?"

"Morgan. Did Hack ride this way?"

Vance delayed his answer. Then he said in a lower voice: "Come closer, Clay."

Morgan went forward until Vance stood at the shoulders of the horse.

Vance murmured: "Herendeen's got somebody watchin' me." His talk rubbed the shadows with a softness that didn't carry beyond Morgan. "Hack passed here Friday night. Think he's up in the hills above Freeport."

"Thanks."

Vance said: "You'll bump into Ben's riders along the trail."

Morgan recrossed the clearing. A quarter-mile southward he struck the wide trail leading from War Pass to Freeport and settled into a run. Darkness packed the roundabout trees but at intervals, as he crossed an occasional small mountain meadow or the charred area of an old burn, moonlight showed all things pale and soft. In his mind at the moment was a picture of the section toward which Hack Breathitt had apparently gone, and a fairly definite idea of Hack's possible hideout had occurred to him when the smell of dust brought him out of his thinking; he had pulled the horse to a walk, deep in these quilt-thick shadows of the forest, when a man's voice came from the immediate foreground.

The man said: "Who is it?"

Morgan said, "You go to hell, Bones."

"Oh, Morgan," grumbled Bones McGeen.

"Get out of the trail." McGeen thought about that, and didn't like it. For he said: "You can go around me, I guess."

Morgan matched insolence with insolence. "I guess not, Bones. Hack saw the color of your tail, and I think I'll see it." He hit his pony with the spurs, driving it forward at a long jump. It carried him against McGeen, his knee jamming McGeen's knee. McGeen's shoulders turned and one arm lifted suddenly—all this was a dull, shapeless scene in the black—and Morgan, bending in the saddle, knocked that swinging arm down with his hand and caught McGeen around the waist. Both horses were milling across the trail. McGeen shouted, "By God—!" His gun's explosion was like a dynamite racket in the settled stillness of the hills. The shot struck somewhere in the high trees. Morgan used his spurs, still holding McGeen. He dragged McGeen out of the saddle as he plunged forward; he carried McGeen like this, McGeen slipping lower and lower in his arms until the man's feet were hitting the ground. Morgan's pony broke into a run, excited by the bumping of McGeen's legs, and at last rushed down the trail at a dead bolt. McGeen struggled up a yell and made a huge effort to get free, which was the moment Morgan let go, dropping McGeen flat. He was a hundred yards away before McGeen tried a shot. The bullet slashed into a pine. Bones's cursing rose to a fever pitch.

Morgan called back, "The ride was free, Bones."

There was no foot of this section he didn't know. Now, making a quick guess, he began to climb through the hills by one narrow trace and another. He came to the head of a gulch, fell into it and rode sightlessly along for a half-mile. A steady current of wind came against his left side, cold as ice-water. At this point he swung the pony and scrambled half up the ridge to a kind of stony shelf. The draught of air poured out of a deep recess here; facing it, Morgan spoke against the night.

"Hack—it's me. Morgan."

He had no answer but he sat the long while, once repeating the call. There was no smell of smoke and no sound at all except for the cow-like waunk of a bull-frog near by. Presently Morgan dismounted and walked deeper into a natural rock fault, against a steady play of wind. He dropped to his knees and felt the flooring with his hands. There had been a fire here but when he lighted a match he saw that the ashes were old. He had made a bad guess.

He climbed over the ridge and took another trail downgrade until the lights of Freeport showed again. There was a rutted wood road at this point which dropped circuitously off the hills into the end of a narrow street. When he reached this street-end Morgan paused to have a look, turned cautious by the night's events. For he now knew there was no longer any safety riding alone. Thus had the country changed in the space of a week.

Morgan reached the general store, left his horse and walked into the half-gloom, into the stagnant compound of old store smells. A stove in the middle of the room showed its fire through square isinglass eyes; a man stood bowed over a counter, his lips silently framing words as he read a paper. Morgan's presence pulled him from this chore. He said idly: "Hello, Morgan."

Morgan said: "Shank of a busy evenin', Kern."

Kern Case was huge-bellied and high and round-shouldered from all his weight. He was younger than he looked but he had the moon-shaped unginging face of a man to whom silence was important. "Thin shank," he said.

They knew each other pretty well, yet there was always a reserve to keep, a roundabout way of talking. Out in the hills were a hundred men who stayed there for the profit of it; in this town now were other men who would fade through rear doors at the sound of swift-coming horses. Kern Case, himself an honest man, held the secrets of these others in his head. They trusted him; and he kept his mouth shut. When Morgan asked his question it was not a question at all but a statement.

"Pretty dark to be chasing through the hills."

"Maybe," said Kern Case, "you went down the wrong canyon."

"I could ride this country asleep. But maybe I guessed wrong."

"Sometimes," said Kern Case, "a man gets tired of sleepin' on the ground."

"Maybe," agreed Morgan. He turned the remark over in his head; it meant something but he didn't get it. He backed to the stove and warmed himself, gently rubbing the seat of his pants. Kern Case didn't show any change on his face, though his eyes were laughing at Morgan. "You're a long way from the ranch. Ridin' back tonight?"

"Never gave it a thought."

Case started to speak and changed his mind. Somebody came quickly into Freeport, a horse beating out a rhythm on the dust of the street's far end. Case folded his hands on the table, serenely incommunicative, listening to the horse haul up. Morgan said, "Hell of a lot of traffic for a dead burg," and moved idly to awdrt the door.

"Twenty years ago," said Kern Case, "you'd of got shot for a remark like that."

Paused by the door, Morgan watched the newcomer swing off his horse in front of the hotel. He looked around at Case. "Times change. So do visitors." He stepped into the store, turning to the stove. He wheeled when he reached it, keeping his eyes on the door. The newcomer's steps faded from the street and the silence thickened across the town. Morgan's face was flat, and still; his lips were flat, their edges pushing together. A flare of light showed in his eyes and he stood straighter than before, he stood balanced and attentive. The newcomer's steps broke the stillness again, heavy and loud and coming rapidly forward. Case stared at Morgan, reading what was to be seen. In a way it was information, for when the storekeeper put his attention to the door and saw Ben Herendeen there he wasn't greatly surprised. Morgan's expression had been in the nature of warning.

My Week

by Eleanor Roosevelt

DEATH OF A COUSIN
WASHINGTON. — One afternoon the sad news was telephoned to me that my cousin, Mr. Henry Parish, had died very suddenly. When I was young he was always more than kind to me. Mrs. Parish is my godmother and my mother's double first cousin, so she always took great interest in me and in my younger brothers. My brother Hall and I spent many vacation months with them and Mr. Parish did a great deal to teach us to enjoy the out-of-doors.

Later, when I tried to master my own finances, he was patience itself. Though he could never quite teach me the intricacies of double entry bookkeeping, nor make me keep the kind of accounts which he thought were presentable, still he did a great deal to help me manage my own money. I owe him a debt of gratitude, not only for many good times, but for valuable discipline.

In the last years of his life, it must often have been very difficult for him to accept many of the things for which my husband and I stood. Yet he was always sweet to me and ready to offer help if there was anything he could do of a personal nature.

I know that none of us has any idea of how many people he has helped and who have depended upon him, both in a business way and in his private life. None of the people who were close to him will know how much he did for them until they miss the little daily things which he did so unobtrusively. I have rarely known a more disciplined or more unselfish character, and I am sure his influence will live long after him.

VISIT IN THE SOUTH

NEW YORK CITY. — I found some friends staying in the house when I reached Washington on return from New York and two of them even joined me at a very early breakfast before I went off to Richmond, Va., by train. Because of some difficulty with a pipe, we were three-quarters of an hour late in leaving Washington, and by the time we reached Richmond, we were one hour and a half late.

I knew that Governor Darden and some of the officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars were planning to meet me. Luckily, they had discovered how late the train was and all we had to do was to hurry through lunch. We reached the hall on time and I was sorry I was not able to stay for the whole meeting.

The governor took me on the afternoon plane, so we had an opportunity to talk for a little while. I was impressed by his sincerity and interest in a number of questions which are very important to his own state and to all southern states today.

He would like to see his state do on a state scale what the Farm Security administration does on a national scale, in making more productive the poorer farms of the state. If every state would do that, we would cease having soil erosion. We would soon have more intelligent farming which would improve the land for the future and produce more for people to eat and to market at the present time.

U. S. BOYS IN IRELAND

I think you will all be interested in a quotation from a letter which has just reached me. Lady Reading, who heads the Women's Voluntary services in England, writes:

"I have just come back from Northern Ireland, where I met a great number of your people and visited some of your camps. I was immensely struck by the extremely nice type of boy and the freshness of his outlook as well as the sincerity of his beliefs. I do hope they can be mediumly happy on this side of the Atlantic, and that we shall not fail in according to them the measure of welcome we wish so earnestly to give them and that we are so characteristically tongue-tied in giving."

Lady Reading is a fine person and has done extraordinary work in organizing the British women. I hope that in every community which is near a camp where British boys are training as cadets in this country, our Women's Voluntary services will take an interest in their welfare and make them feel at home and try to create a better understanding between them and our own boys.

There is no use thinking that because the British speak English we shall automatically be friends. We sometimes find their particular brand of English hard to understand and they look upon ours as equally odd.

CO-OPERATIVE ARTISTIC GROUP

The Yiddish Theater division for the Army and Navy Relief funds is giving a benefit at the National theater in New York City. I hope very much that it will be very successful. I am much impressed by the way in which the theatrical and other artistic groups throughout the country have actually given, not only of their money, but of their time for these benefit performances. They have brought in a great deal of money throughout the nation and I think all of us are grateful.

Garden Afloat

Every spring, from 3,000 to 7,000 huge rafts of logs are floated down the Yalu river, which forms the boundary between Manchuria and Korea. So they will be well fed during the journey that takes many weeks, the Chinese who handle these rafts usually carry along a patch of earth and raise a variety of vegetables, says Collier's.

Household Hints

If your bread is too fresh to slice easily, put it into the refrigerator to get thoroughly cold.

Keep your linoleum floors waxed. Wash the floor first with mild soap and water. Wipe it dry. After half an hour has elapsed apply a thin coat of floor wax.

When you want to thicken gravy put the flour and water into a wide-mouthed jar, with a screw top and shake well.

Wipe greasy pots, pans and dishes with paper before washing.

Use the tab in opening and closing slide fasteners. Don't force them. Before washing a "zip" garment close the zipper. Guard it in pressing so the teeth will not be thrown out of alignment.

If you have china plates with cracked, old faces you probably subjected them to sudden, great or unevenly applied temperature changes. Or perhaps you soaked the dishes too long in water and the body expanded, cracking the glaze.

To keep lemons, sift dry sand into a stone jar, then bury the lemons in the sand, so that they will not touch each other.

Clothes iron much easier if they are hung up carefully, pinned securely with plenty of clothespins and shaken occasionally to remove wrinkles.

Inescapable History

Fellow citizens, we cannot escape history. We of this congress and this administration will be remembered in spite of ourselves. No personal significance or insignificance can spare one or another of us. The fiery trial through which we pass will light us down in honor or dishonor to the latest generation. . . . We shall nobly save or meanly lose the last, best hope of earth.—Lincoln.

A TELEPHONE CONVERSATION

Adolf called up old Satan on the telephone one day, and the operator listened to what they had to say:

"Hello," said Hitler's voice, "is old Satan home?"
Just tell him this is Adolph, who wants him on the phone."
"Hello Hitler," said Satan, and Hitler said, "How are you?"
I'm raising here a hell on earth, so tell me what to do.

"If there's a thing that I can do to help I surely will, but what can I do to help you, the helpless ones to kill?"
Old Adolf said, now, listen, and I will try to tell.
The way I am running on earth a modern hell.

"My army went thru Belgium shooting women and children down, we shot up all her country and blew up all her towns. I started out for Paris with the aid of poison gas but the . . . Belgians didn't want to let us pass.

"My submarines are treacherous, you ought to see them fight. They go sneaking thru the ocean, sinking foreign ships on sight. I was running things to suit me until about a year ago, when a man named Roosevelt wrote me that I had better go slow.

"I paid him no attention at his home across the sea. So now a million soldiers are coming after me. That's why I called you, Satan, for I need advice from you, I believe that you can help me, so tell me what to do."

(SATAN'S REPLY)

"Why listen, dear old Adolf, there's little I can tell. The U. S. will make it hotter for you, than I could here in hell. I've been a mean old devil, but not half as mean as you, and the minute you get down here, I'll give the job to you.

"I'll be waiting for your coming; I'll keep the fires all right, I'll have your room all ready when the U. S. begins to fight. The boys from the U. S. will get you; I've nothing more to tell. So hang up the phone and get your hat and come on down to Hell.

"You and Benito might as well cut out the yaps. For Uncle Sam will get you like he's going to get those Japs."

Second Term
JUDGE OF THE

COURT OF CRIMINAL APPEALS

Judge Harry N. Graves was elected four years ago to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge O. S. Lattimore as a member of the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas. He has actively participated in the work of the Court since that time, and has written his share of their opinions.

This Court has disposed of the cases submitted to it, and is up with its docket, and he requests a second term at the hands of the voters.

Would it be wise to change the personnel of this Court at the present time?

Texas Plainsman Squadron Is New Navy Air Group

The U. S. Navy is going to enlist sixty Plains youths to form the Texas Plainsman Squadron of the Navy Air Corps. Lieut. Ralph Binnion and Lieut. Charley Hawn of the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board from Dallas are in Lubbock this week accepting applications. They are going to select the 60 young men from the entire Panhandle territory revolving around Lubbock and Amarillo and that means youths from every nick and cranny on the Plains will be welcome to make application for enlistment.

The Texas Plainsmen Squadron will go directly to the University of Georgia, at Athens, for pre-flight training, and then either to Grand Prairie or Corpus Christi, Texas, or Pensacola, Florida. Status of the trainees will be the same as midshipmen at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, with ensign commission awaiting successful completion of the flight training.

Any youth 18 to 26 years old, inclusive, who is unmarried and possesses a high school diploma is eligible to apply for training with the Texas Plainsmen. Enlistment may be made at the local Naval Recruiting Office, in the Post Office Basement at Lubbock, Texas.

EASTERN STAR

A picnic supper was given for the O. E. S. Monday night at the home of Mrs. Harvey Line, outgoing Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Elliott Harris was installed as worthy matron in the meeting at the hall.

Initiation for new members was also given.

About twenty-five were present.

Our thanks to Mrs. C. C. Schooler, Route 1, for her recent Press subscription.

POLITICAL Announcements

The following are candidates for office, subject to the action of Democratic Primary on July 25.

Dawson County

For County Judge:
VERNON D. ADCOCK.
FOR SHERIFF:
IKE HOUSTON.
For County Treasurer:
CLAUD F. GOWEN
For Commissioner, Prec. 2:
G. C. (Cleve) ATEN
(re-election)
R. L. (BOB) BUTCHER.

We, the undersigned citizens of Terry County, Texas, endorse the candidacy of W. W. Price for District Judge. Judge Price has been one of our best citizens for 42 years.

We know him as a Christian gentleman, loyal to his country.

Judge Price has the Highest Respect for the Soldier in Uniform. His only Son is in Our Nation's Army Being Now in the Caribbean War Zone, Where he has Been Stationed for 21 Mo., Having Enlisted as a Private at $21.00 a Month.

We Present Judge Price as a Candidate Representing Him to be:

1. A man trained in the law.
2. A man with a judicial mind.
3. A man with patience.
4. A man who has control of himself.
5. A man that will not speak when he should be listening.
6. A man that has control of his own mind and will act on his own judgment.
7. A man of firmness, coupled with common sense.
8. A man that will rue with an iron hand, gloved with diplomacy.
9. A man that will see that the rights of men are settled under the law.
10. A man that will insist that the spirit of right prevail in the council of the judiciary.
11. A man that can't be bought or sold.
12. A man that will stay in the middle of the road, plowing deep to determine the rights between men.
13. A man of character that lives an exemplary life.

We feel that the District is entitled to a resident District Judge, and that our present District Judge is too far away to be of service to his constituents—that he cannot hold two positions. We represent that the Government is paying him well as an officer in the United States Army.

Join us in the election of Judge Price as District Judge. Respectfully,

A. R. Brownfield, Jesse D. Cox (Mayor), Mrs. M. B. Sawyer, W. B. Collins, H. R. Winston, Tom Cobb, W. H. Dallas, Clyde C. Coleman (Ex-Mayor, City of Brownfield), Roy Moreman (City Marshal), J. B. Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Vegetable Preparation and Processing Guide

Stock Those Shelves

Well-justified pride is yours if you can gaze at the summer's crop of vegetables, nicely put up on your canning shelf for winter, you have but to open one of those brightly colored jars with tomatoes, peas, beans, beets or carrots or any of the other vegetable favorites and part of that well balanced meal is planned and on its way to the table.

Time was when canning was an unscientific and highly questionable process, but all this is past now, and you can now put up any of the vegetable and victory garden produce, and be certain that it will be attractive to look at, good to eat, and will not be spoiled if you take the simple precautions that make for successful canning.

Safest method for canning vegetables is the pressure cooker. Your concern here is to be sure to process the exact length of time the vegetable requires, as indicated by the table at the top. If not properly processed, the food will spoil.

Selecting Vegetables.

Young, tender vegetables, freshly gathered, give you the best finished product. Canning cannot remedy tough, over-mature produce, so do not expect it to. Nor, should you expect to can what you cannot dispose of at the table while fresh. Commercial canners use vegetables grown to order, not leftovers, so it behooves you, homemakers, to take a tip from them.

Cleanliness is important. You'll enjoy letting cool water trickle, trickle, trickle over the vegetables to free them entirely of every trace of soil. Any soil left on the vegetable can carry bacteria, and thus be a major factor in spoiling an otherwise good product.

Process the jars of vegetables as soon as they are packed, never allowing them to stand around until you get to the serious business of canning.

Spoilage Factors.

Mold, yeast and bacteria cause food spoilage. They lurk in air, soil and water and must be destroyed by proper processing if the food is to keep in perfect condition. Then to assure food keeping well be sure the jar cover is fastened as tightly as possible. This you can do by any number of available devices.

It is also important when packing the jars, after vegetables have been precooked and you are spooning them into the jars, to wipe off any excess before fastening on the cover. Any small particles which lodge between cover and jar will cause spoilage.

Cooling the Jars.

Proper cooling is important to the good keeping of canned food. Do not

Lynn Says:

How many jars will it take? That's the question many home canners are asking when it comes to figuring the number of jars she should have.

Here are hints on some of the common canned goods:

- Tomatoes: 3 pounds yield a quart jar.
- String Beans: 1 bushel yields 17 to 20 quart jars.
- Greens: 1 bushel spinach yields 13 pints; 1 bushel dandelions yields 15 pints.
- Corn: 100 ears of golden Bantam makes about 14 pints.
- Beets: 12 pounds yields 6 pints in the stalk, 2 pint jars, if cut in pieces.
- Peas: 1 bushel pods yields 14 pints.

set them in a draft, but rather away from one, with jars far enough apart to allow a free circulation of air around them.

Stacking the jars or covering them with a cloth does not allow for free circulation of the air. Jars should not be packed in boxes or in the canning cupboard until they are properly cool.

When the jars are cool, test to see if they are sealed properly, by taking a spoon and tapping the lid gently. If they give off a clear, ringing sound, they are properly sealed. If the sound is low and dull, there's a leak somewhere, and you would do best to re-can the food, and prevent spoilage.

Sterilizing Jars, Caps, Lids.

To dip the jars, lids and caps in hot or warm water is not proper sterilization. Before placing in sterilizer, wash all caps and jars and lids in soapy suds, then rinse thoroughly. Place in a pan on a rack or on a cloth laid on the bottom of the pan and pour warm water over them. Bring to a boil and boil for 15 minutes. The equipment may stay in the hot water longer, until you are ready to use it.

Speed Is Necessary.

The time from which the vegetables or fruit are picked and canned should be pared down to exceed not more than two hours. Changes take place in the composition of the food which makes it less desirable for canning, each hour it is allowed to stand without being canned.

Packing the Food.

Sandwiching the food down in the jars too tightly prevents the heat from getting around it and will result in improper processing. Especially important is a fairly loose packing with vegetables like corn, peas, greens and lima beans.

If liquid boils away or evaporates during processing, do not replace this other liquid before sealing the jar. Even though all the vegetables or fruits are not covered with juice, they will keep perfectly well, provided the contents are cooked properly and sealed well.

Since tomatoes are technically a fruit and are acid, they are canned differently from vegetables.

Tomatoes.

Scald tomatoes in boiling water 1 minute. Soak in cold water 1 minute. Peel, core and pack into sterilized jars. Add 1 teaspoonful of salt to each jar and cover with boiling water or tomato juice to within 1/2 inch of the top. Put on cap, screw tightly and place in pressure cooker for 10 minutes at 5 pounds, in a hot water bath for 35 minutes or in the oven for 75 minutes.

Vegetable Soup Mixture.

- 1 large onion (cut fine)
- 1 quart tomatoes (cut fine)
- 2 cups okra (cut fine)
- 2 cups corn (cut fine)

Combine the ingredients, stirring carefully to prevent scorching, for about 12 minutes. Pack loosely into clean jars and add 2 teaspoons salt to each jar. Put on cap fastening it tightly, and process in pressure cooker 40 minutes at 10 pounds.

If the directions for the vegetables you wish to can are not given in today's column, or if you have any vegetable canning problems, write to Miss Lynn Chambers, explaining your problem to her. Address your letters to her at Western Newspaper Union, 210 South Desplaines Street, Chicago, Illinois. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your reply. CAIN AND ABEL: A CONTRAST

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 4:1-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous.—Hebrews 11:4.

The weed of sin is fast growing, and brings forth bitter fruit. The disobedience of Adam and Eve resulted in their being put forth from the garden, but that judgment did not terminate the awful plague of sin. We see it in this lesson showing forth in their son, as it has in all the sons of Adam down through the centuries.

It is a dark picture and one which would discourage us did we not know that redemption has been wrought out by "the second man, the Lord from heaven" (I Cor. 15:47).

We have here two sons of Adam with their differing personalities, a clash and the first murder, and then one man, a vagabond on the face of the earth.

I. Two Sons (vv. 1-7).

The birth of a child is always an exciting occasion, and one can readily imagine what it must have meant when the first boy ever to be born put in his appearance. What joy, what concern for his welfare, what plans for the future! And then, what disappointment and sorrow!

But before speaking of that, let us observe how he and his brother differed in their interests and personalities. It is a surprising thing how completely different two sons in the same family can be.

Abel chose the work of a shepherd, much honored in the early history of man. Cain became a tiller of the soil, which with the passage of time has come to be more important than the other.

They also had a different viewpoint on worship. Cain was a religious man. He apparently was the first to worship, but he came in the spirit of one who recognized God only as his Creator, the One worthy of his homage. Abel came also with a gift, but his attitude was quite different. His offering spoke of sacrifice, the need of a covering for sin (cf. Gen. 3:21). It was more than homage, it was a plea for forgiveness.

The Lord's acceptance of Abel's sacrifice made Cain angry (v. 5). Here again he differed from Abel, for there was no angry response on his part. Abel had recognized God's desire in worship. Cain not only failed to do so, but rejected God's instruction and His plea (vv. 6, 7).

Jealousy led to anger, and anger (as it so often does) led to

II. Murder (vv. 8, 9).

Instead of repentance and correction, the anger of Cain carried him to the awful conclusion of hatred, the taking of life. We tend to think of murder as a crime which only a desperately wicked man would commit. We hardly think of the "respectable" little sin of envy as being the root of murder, but it is, often and sometimes very quickly.

Actually there is no little sin, for it is the genius of sin to grow, to increase, to go step by step, yes, often by leaps and bounds, to its horrible fruition. "The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it?" (Jer. 17:9). Why trust it?

The deceitfulness of Cain's heart is shown by the callous evasiveness of his reply to God concerning his murdered brother. His sin brought God's question. It always does. Do not assume that you can hide from Him. It has been suggested that committing sin is like touching a burglar alarm—the bell rings, and one must answer for his act.

"Am I my brother's keeper?" is the perfect expression of the selfish and indifferent attitude of the world. Human beings are regarded as simply those to be exploited, beings upon whom they may prey. For example: Just to make money, men are willing to destroy a fellow man with intoxicating liquor, or break down his decency and morality by selling him indecent books or magazines.

Murder having taken one of the two sons, we find that the remaining one is just

III. A Vagabond (vv. 10-15).

Judgment for sin made Cain a wanderer and a fugitive. Never would he be able to get away from the cry of his brother's blood (v. 10). No wonder he said he could not bear it. But notice that his cry was not one of repentance or contrition, but only of fear, of retribution.

So God shows mercy, forbidding the judgment of men upon Cain. Vengeance belongs to God, and in this first murder He reserved judgment to Himself. Later He put upon man the responsibility of judging and punishing murder by death (Gen. 9:6), but here He put His protecting hand on Cain.

Yet, to be a fugitive, with no real abiding place on earth, and every man's hand against him, was indeed a heavy punishment. One could have wished that it had brought repentance, but it did not. May none of us go the way of Cain.

To The Voters of Dawson County:

It is with gratitude and a deep feeling of humility that I take this means of expressing to the voters of Dawson County, Texas, my sincerest thanks for the heartening encouragement and the splendid co-operation you have given me during my first term of office.

I consider my not having an opponent in this election the greatest compliment that could be offered me, and renew my determination and efforts through the remainder of this term and through the two years following to be at all times efficient and courteous, alert and comprehensive, trustworthy and progressive.

For the furthering of all democratic principles, and for the satisfaction of our inherent rights in the pursuit of happiness, I urge every voting American to exercise that privilege at the Primary election on July 25th.

Yours Very Truly,

Butchee Makes Statement To Voters Of Dawson County

To the voters of Dawson County, Precinct No. 2:

As I cannot see each and every one of you, I will take this method of reaching each of you.

I sincerely solicit the vote of every one of you. If elected I will pledge myself to do my best for the entire Precinct, at all times, I will assure you if I am elected, I will not be obligated to any one person, or group of persons, but will be for the betterment of the Precinct as a whole at all times, showing no partiality to any one.

I believe in regular and correct maintenance all the year round. I also believe in maintaining the bar ditches as well. By doing so it will aid in keeping down Johnson Grass and other pestilence that grows on the side of the road.

I also believe in the very best care of the county machinery. Being an experienced operator myself I know very well that a stitch in time will really save nine, and as I know every mile of road in the entire Precinct and am familiar with most of the duties of the office I can serve you satisfactorily and with pleasure, so I will thank you in advance for your vote and influence in the coming election.

Thanking you again I remain your Road Hand Candidate until July 25, then I hope to be your next Commissioner.

R. L. (Bob) Butchee.

MRS STEWART SCHOOLER JR. HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. Stewart Schooler Jr., nee Aveida Golightly, was honored with a shower of lovely appointments at the W. E. Vermillion home on East 8th Street Wednesday afternoon.

Co-hostesses were Meses. Truett Hodnett, R. E. Golightly Jr., Vermillion, J. R. Miller and Misses Nila Rae Miller and Mary Frances Fowler.

A profusion of summer flowers decorated the house.

Misses Mary Frances Fowler and

You might as well CONFESS!

Almost everyone likes a mystery — almost everyone enjoys the thrilling excitement of tracking down a criminal with an ace detective. But some are a little ashamed to admit reading mysteries. Well—you needn't be. Maybe you didn't know that many college professors, bank presidents, great scientists, captains of industry, even the President of the United States all like their mysteries. In fact, millions of Americans are reading more mysteries today than ever before. Why? Mainly because these fast-paced, easy-reading stories are both relaxing and refreshing. It is for them—and for you—that we are publishing

Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine

Edited by Ellery Queen, famous detective of the radio, the movies, and the best-seller books, it is devoted exclusively to the best in detective crime short-story literature. The fact that a story owes its plot to crime and detection need not prevent its being well written. Short detective fiction that is well written is not too readily available. But we are finding them—in books, in magazines, in the files of famous authors — and by arrangement with other publishers as well as authors, we reprint in the approved Reader's Digest manner the best detective fiction to be procured.

Such masters as Dashiell Hammett, Agatha Christie, Stuart Palmer and Ellery Queen are to be found in it. But stories are selected on their merits, not their authors' names. Tough and suave, casual and swift, comic and tragic, they are mingled with refreshing variety and stimulating change of pace. Rare gems, fit for the most critical, delightful to the most naive. You will find the new magazine well printed — sharp and clear, kind to the eyes. You will find the size the same as The Reader's Digest—convenient to hold, to handle, to slip into your pocket. You will find the cover as pleasing to look at as a book jacket. And you will find the contents the most satisfying quarter's worth of good entertainment you have found in many a day. On sale at all good newsstands — 25s a copy.
