

Story Of Rabies

by Grant H. Burton

The word "rabies" is derived from the word "rabere" meaning to rage. Obviously the modern word is a grimly descriptive of a horrible disease of both man and beast, a disease which drives its victims into a wild and uncontrollable fit of convulsive rage before merciful death overtakes them.

A few years ago, as a health education effort, I wrote a piece for Farm and Ranch magazine called "East Texas Nightmares." It was the story of a consuming epizootic of wild fire rabies which had swept like a brush fire across 27 counties in the eastern part of the state, of un-mad foxes driven to a bold and un-mad foxes driving entering town natural recklessness entering town to attack citizens in their yards, of thousands of dollars in livestock losses, and — more important — of human life placed in jeopardy of a vicious disease killer.

That article ended with this admonition: "Remember, East Texas is having a nightmare. There's no sense of the rest of the State having the same bad dream."

Assuming the piece was read at all, the admonition has obviously gone unheeded, for today at least 36 counties stretched from east to west across the southern half of Texas are standing on the brink of equal or surpassing what could be full-blown epizootics which could equal or surpass that of a few years ago. If the truth were known — and it cannot be unless someone is willing to foot the bill for a wildlife refuge — there probably isn't a section of Texas which isn't being actively threatened.

Prior to 1954, counties along the Mexican border had never known a case of fox rabies. But they have them regularly today. Counties of West Texas in which rabies was a rarity just a few years ago are now being forced to take emergency action against their rabies problems.

The reason for fox rabies invasions into areas previously free of the disease makes interesting speculation. Some authorities hold that it is due to the thinning out of larger cat species, such as jaguars, which used to keep West Texas' fox populations in bounds. But the widespread theory is that foxes formerly could not successfully compete with West Texas coyotes. Both are carnivores, but coyotes have the upper hand because of size. In recent years, though, farmers and ranchers have diligently prosued the sheep-killing coyotes until today they are as scarce as purple cows. Result: foxes have moved in from rabies regions of Central and East Texas.

The simple rabies transmission pattern of dog-bite-dog and dog-bite-man has been a familiar one at least since the days of the Roman Empire. Even today, whenever rabies is mentioned, the vision most readily conjured up is one of a huge dog with dripping jaws running amuck through the streets. The truth is that the most range of rabies is one of the broadest claimed by any disease. All mammals are liable to the infection. It may even extend to poultry. The wildlife reservoir, however, does today and apparently will continue to loom as the most serious menace.

Skunk rabies is nothing new in Texas. More than one cowboy on cattle drives along the old Chisholm Trail a hundred years ago fell victim to attacks of so-called "hydrophobia cats," which in reality are civet cats, or "skunks of the genus Spilogale," as the mammalogists would say.

Dogs are man's most constant four legged companion, his dearest and most devoted animal friend. Yet this very fidelity makes dogs the principal source of human exposure to deadly rabies. Dr. Ernest Tierkel, the government rabies expert who heads the research program at the U. S. Public Health Service communicable disease center at Atlanta, Georgia, has been quoted as saying "the bite of infected dogs causes 90 percent of the human cases of rabies in the U. S."

Conservation estimates place the number of persons bitten by mad dogs each year in this country at 400,000.

Rabies kills a reported average of 12,000 dogs and 1000 head of cattle annually. Since January 1 a known total of 63 head of cattle have been lost by Texas farmers and ranchers and that's only a small part of the real loss. It is (continued on back page)

Crops Continue To Do Well

Crops continue to do well with the prospects best in memory for the beginning of August. Insect population continues light and many fields are chopped out after being nearly lost to weeds only a short time ago.

April cotton has large bolls and May cotton is in bloom. Because of the rank nature of the vegetation a dry August will damage the sappy growth, farmers agree. However, deep moisture is available.

The hot dry weather of the past half - month is ideal for cotton growth. Grain is growing off rapidly but August moisture will be needed in most all cases to insure the greatest yield.

Store buildings and houses are filling rapidly for the fall run.

This Week In Austin -- SEN. PRESTON SMITH

Who is to blame for Texas' lack of action on raising additional money to finance the state's government? After six months of work, including the special sessions, frayed tempers here in Austin have circled the blame for delay of a new tax program.

Gov. Daniel blames the lobby — House Speaker Carr has blamed "obstructionists in the House" — and the House, in occasional flurries, blames the press and black headlines. Actually the real issue is a severance beneficiary tax on natural gas vs. a production tax on natural gas. The opposition to both types of natural gas taxes has clashed in many legislative skirmishes during the 56th Legislature.

One Austin columnist calls this natural gas tax dispute, one of the principal issues that have delayed tax action. He pinpoints the natural gas dispute as costing time, money and tempers in the Legislature.

The gas tax issue has been camouflaged in many voting bouts by side issues, he said, and that "Texas gas-wise" is split between producers, pipelines, industrial users. It is strictly a lobby fight, pro and con, carried on thru the Legislators who have to vote on the issue."

INSECTS CONTINUE LIGHT

Late planted cotton is generally infested with aphids which should be controlled with parathion or methyl parathion. Both of these materials are toxic to higher animals and should be used with caution. During the spraying the operation should not be exposed to drift if it is not practical to apply these materials with caution, malathion should be used. Repeated dosages of any of these materials may be necessary to obtain adequate control.

Fleahopper infestations continue low in a majority of fields while in some plantings damaging infestations should be controlled. The heavier infestations were generally reported in early planted fields. Heavy infestations were reported in some fields in Crosby, Dickens, Hockley, Howard and Lamb Counties. Light to medium infestations were reported from other counties.

Bollworm activity has increased somewhat over the previous week but infestations were generally light to medium. Heavy infestations were reported in some fields in Hockley County.

Draw Reunion Is Enjoyed

Some 250 people enjoyed the first annual homecoming of Draw Ex-students Sunday in the Lamesa park. Plans call for having this reunion each year.

The history of the Draw School dates back to the school year of 1905-06 when school was held in a small building on Moores (Draw) later in the Redwine district. Miss Emily Waller was one of the students attending there.

The Draw School District began in 1907 with a small frame building near the present site of Draw. (There was no O'Donnell until it was organized in July 1910.) Mrs Dick Simpson, nee Miss Berry, of Borden County attended school there in 1908. As the Draw school grew a new frame building was erected about 1914-15 and a brick building in the 20's. The school hit its peak in mid 30's with about 150 students. During the depression the trend was to the cities for jobs and also due to changing farm economy.

In the 20's there was a farm family to most 160 acre farms. Now the average is a family to each 400 acres. The Draw school, due to a smaller number of students and rising cost of education, merged with O'Donnell in 1948 with part of the old district going to Tahoka. Now only the old lunchroom, used as a community center, stands.

Among the former teachers at the reunion were Durwood Dodson of Honey Grove, R. K. Green of Plainview, Warren Berzett of Dallas and Mrs. Walter Mathis of Tahoka.

Among the early day school officials were Mrs. Tunnell, A. R. Hinsley, E. W. Holloway, C C Nunnally, a Mr. Green and the late F C Thorp who died in a plane crash.

Visitors present were from Del Rio, Ft. Sumner, N. M., Springlake, Arlington, Midland, Abilene, Aberrathy, Jal, N. M., Grand Prairie, Sherman and Big Spring.

Lunch was served by L. D. Jackson.

Mr and Mrs. W. D. Parker are the parents of a 10 lb 2 oz. son born July 22nd in a Brownwood hospital and named David Dewayne. Grand parents are Mr and Mrs. Henry Cathey and Mr and Mrs. Lester Parker.

For sale — house, 3 rooms and bath, to be moved. Make a good fishing house. H L Wood

Mr and Mrs. Truett Hodnett visit in Denver City Sunday and Mrs P A Mansell returned home with them.

Watchman Harvey Castleberry requests that merchants reopening at nite after closing to contact him. He only checks the doors once each nite.

Mrs. G. C. Aten had her children home for a visit as follows — Mr and Mrs. K H McDonald of El Monte, Calif., Pat Aten of St. Louis, Missouri, Estelle Jackson of Farmington, N. M., and the following nieces and nephews over the week end were Mr and Mrs Henry McLendon of Salida, Colo., Mrs Fay Addington of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mr and Mrs. F. A. Tutt of Abilene.

Cottonseed Has Wide Market

Prior to 1947, says the USDA, use of cottonseed meal for livestock rations was limited largely to cattle because of the gossypol, a pigment that is toxic to poultry and swine.

Although variable from year to year, the new market for cottonseed meal has been estimated by the USDA to have reached 300,000 tons annually in recent years. California, at the present time, is the largest market for the improved cottonseed meal, where in 1958 an estimated 200,000 tons went into poultry rations.

In the past, even when fed to laying hens at low, non-toxic levels, gossypol in unimproved cottonseed meal caused egg yolk discoloration. The improved cottonseed meals, however, can be fed at levels up to 10 percent of the total diet of hens with no adverse effect on yolks of eggs produced for the fresh egg market.

USDA's Agricultural Research Service began work early in the 1940's to improve cottonseed meal. Studies of the chemical and physical properties of cottonseed and of the pigment glands containing gossypol gave scientists of the ARS Southern Utilization Research and Development Division, New Orleans, an understanding of the role played by gossypol and laid the groundwork for producing cottonseed meal with a low gossypol content.

Further work indicated that the glands containing gossypol could be ruptured during processing by several means, and a large part of the freed toxic material could then be inactivated at a much lower temperature than was previously thought possible. Also, low processing temperatures favor high protein quality in the meal. However, achievements to date do not complete the research required to realize the full feeding potential of cottonseed meal, the USDA added.

One-key control: only Chevy in its field has done away with fumbling for two or three keys. The same key unlocks the door, starts the engine, opens the glove box and trunk.

WHY DO WITHOUT THIS CONVENIENT LITTLE TOUCH... LET ALONE THESE BIG CHEVY VIRTUES!

BIGGER BRAKES
Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR*-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.
*National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research

GREATER ROOMINESS
Official dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make this point abundantly clear. For example, Chevy's front seat room is up to 5.9 inches wider than in comparable cars. And Chevy even offers more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars!

MOST ADVANCED ENGINES
We'll let SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED talk about Chevy's standard passenger car and Corvette V8's: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." And every motor magazine concurs! There are eight V8's to pick from—the widest choice in Chevy's field.

FRESH STYLING
POPULAR SCIENCE magazine's experts took one look and said, "In its price class, Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling."

HIGHER TRADE-IN
N.A.D.A.* Guide Books carry the proof of Chevy's extra trade-in value. They show that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to a solid $128 higher than comparable models of the other two cars in Chevy's field.
*National Automobile Dealers Association

FULL COIL RIDE
You've almost got to find a really rocky road to show off Chevy's easygoing ride to full advantage. MOTOR TREND magazine gives you an idea, though: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

BIGGER SAVINGS
Two Chevrolets packing our pennypinching 6 with Powerglide delivered a whopping 22.38 mpg in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, winning the first two places in their class and walking away with top honors among all full-size cars. How can you argue with a figure like that?

No wonder more people are buying Chevrolets in '59 than any other car

Know The Law --

A trial aims to settle a dispute when the parties fail to do it themselves. For this the court needs facts.

Simple? Well, no. For if the parties could agree on the facts, a settlement out of court would be easy. But as a rule each side has its own story, and the trial judge or jury must hear witnesses and view physical evidence to decide what took place. In doing this the court applies the rules of evidence.

It took centuries for the court to work out rules by which a judge can say what is proper or improper evidence.

1. In "hearsay," for example, someone who did not see the event reports what someone told him about it. Courts seldom allow such evidence, except in rare cases such as where the dying words, say, of a murdered person may be vital.

For one thing, courts frown upon hearsay because no one in court can cross-examine the eye-witness to find out what actually took place, or to judge whether his story merits belief.

2. Irrelevant testimony will also be barred by the judge. It is testimony which has no bearing on the case, even though it may be true enough.

Suppose in a battery case the jury has to find out whether Jones knocked Smith down or not. The judge would have to rule out any evidence that Jones, say, was rich and Smith poor. Such a fact, even if true, has nothing to do with the "issue." Moreover, such irrelevancies often confuse jurors or arouse their prejudices.

3. Only an expert like a doctor, an appraiser, a chemist, a pharmacist, or an engineer can give opinions as evidence, and he must show his qualifications as an expert before the judge will let him express his views.

Lawyers keep inadmissible evidence out of court by making "objections." When the judge "sustains" an objection, the jury may not hear the evidence. Or if he does, the judge may "instruct" the jury to ignore it. Should the judge "overrule" the objection, the jury may hear the evidence.

BURN CANCELED BONDS—Sale of the Burkburnett municipal power plant and system to Texas Electric Service company enabled city officials to purchase and burn bonds that had represented a debt of $676,000 on the municipal light and water systems. Sale of the plant was approved by a vote of almost 2 to 1 in a special election in April. The city now plans a program to provide city-wide sewer service and a modern sewage disposal plant. The company will remove unnecessary duplicating lines and poles and install modern street lights.

What you do about insurance protection within the next 24 hours might very well determine whether you remain a homeowner or wind up "out in the cold" like the gentleman above.

Building costs have doubled. Would you be able to replace your home if it is destroyed tomorrow? Not if it is insured by 1946 standards.

Be sure your insurance protection is up-to-date. Our free protection check costs you nothing, and may save you thousands of dollars.

A NEW CONVENIENCE FOR OUR CUSTOMERS

Budget Payment Plan for Residential Electric Service Now Available

The convenience of budgeting your payments for residential electric service so that a pre-determined amount is paid each month now is available to our customers.

Under our new Budget Payment Plan, the residential customer will pay the same total amount for the electric service used during the year, but it will be paid in 12 equal monthly payments.

This plan, we believe, will appeal to those of our customers who enjoy lots of good cooling in their homes during hot weather, and would prefer to have their monthly payments averaged throughout the year to take care of their increased use of electricity during the hot summer months.

There are no additional charges of any kind for using our new Budget Payment Plan for residential electric service. Let us show you how it works, and how it might be applied to your account. Just telephone or come by our office for complete information.

Stranger in My Arms

The present price outlook for hogs does not warrant the dispersal of commercial breeding herds as has been done in the past by many Texas producers when similar price situations have been faced. But, it does mean, say extension specialists at Texas A & M College, that every practice which will increase efficiency of production must be put to use.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council urges rural residents to include water safety in their family and community programs. Drawings, point out the Council, are increasing in number and only those who participate in water sports can cut the toll. Are you doing your part?

no small chore to sever the head of fallen stock, pack it in ice and ship it to the Austin laboratory. Consequently the number of heads submitted for diagnosis reflects only a fraction of the total number of animals which die of rabies. New York state gets a truer index of their cattle rabies by the simple but expensive expedient of paying an indemnity to farmers for cattle lost to the disease.
