And Names Are Names

Remember "Mr. Sims of Seattle," and his ability to remember a man's name years after he met him—and even though he had not met the man but once? Dead easy, so the originator of the "ten easy lessons" claimed. Association of words and names, formation of a mental picture turned the trick, the advertisements claimed.

Wonder how it would work on a number of names in O'Donnell? Just in fun, and no puns intended, here we go:

Each morning "Mr. Dodd goes to town," even when it rains or the sand blows. His Line of travel is pretty well marked, and each time he passes a certain house. He claims it gives him a Payne, because the owner is forever complaining of the high cost of living, but, in reality, is out more for Gardenhire, than bread and butter. A queer Guye.

One day this last week, he changed his course and passed by Cabool's home.

"How about riding down with me, you Noble son-of-a-gun?"

"Okay Doak," Charlie replied, "but I've got to leave a suit with the Taylor. Hm! What a morning, and you know what. I just finished the finest meal I've ever set, and while some people may think I'm Stark staring mad, I'd like to install an old-fashioned Camp-bell that could be heard in the city of Cabool, so that I'd never miss another meal."

"You're exactly right," Mr. Dodd echoed. "Why, a long time ago when I had to cut wood, and generally got hold of hickorywood at that, meals tasted lots better because we had to work for 'em. Many a time I'd go to the house from the Barnes, burning a Carroll, grab the axe and then I'd Huff and I'd puff, placing the wood in three piles, and what a lot of it there was! But my dad would think otherwise, and insist on Moore, until if there was a pound, it was at least a Singleton. Anyway, I kept smiling."

"Just a little Ray of sunshine, eh?" Charlie chuckled. "That's a minor thing, old fellow."

"Yes, maybe you're right, and the river, Jordan, doesn't have any Beach, but the things a Mansells, even though just Nichols roll in, isn't a minor matter and we had to make our living."

"By the way, Mr. Dodd, did you buy any magazines from that girl the other day? Cabool asked.

"No by gum, I didn't, and I would do anything to Blocker. Some peddlars should be thrown down our city Wells. She claimed the Shoemaker bought a dozen different kinds, but if he did, he needs a Shepherd, to say the least."

Oh, it isn't that bad," Charlie grinned as the car hit a bump and shook both of them until their teeth rattled. "The only thing about buying magazines now, we have to do our reading at night and the Millers won't let you. About the time you get interested, in plops those pesky things and get in your hair. Thanks for the ride."

"You're welcome," replied Mr. Dodd when he got to town once more.

And on, and on, and on. Just read easy. Association of words and names in a mental picture, and you'll have a wonderful memory, in ten easy lessons.

Flour and A Song!

Where will the women's vote go in the governor's race is a question many minds are mulling, but one O'Donnell man has it all figured out—to his satisfaction, anyway.

Troy (Lags) Isaacs, who seldom has very much to say (just a silent boy) claims the women will vote for W. Lee O'Daniels, the candidate who often extolls the merit of a certain flour, and who formerly extolled the merits of another brand just as vehemently as he does the present favored commodity. Lags says that 90 per cent of the farm women will vote for O'Daniels because Lee says well enough, and they like his voice and flour. And that isn't all—Isaac Lags, O'Daniels himself, says the candidate's platform is a lulu.

"Why, my dad, W. Z. Isaacs, of Wyndom, Texas, and his entire family went two whole weeks without flour, and ate cornbread because we couldn't get O'Daniels' flour," so Lags relates. "And I know the women will vote for W. Lee O'Daniel because of his music and his flour. There just isn't nothing to it—Lee will get about 200,000 votes more than anyone else. All my uncles and cousins are going to vote for him, and so is Hal Singleton. Hal is a smart man."

It seems not right to put Mr. W. Z. Isaacs and Hal Singleton on the spot like that, without giving them a chance to speak, but everyone knows that Lags—well, they know him!

But if singing has anything to do with being elected, Governor (and there's about as good brains in that as to vote for a back-slapper or loud burrhaer) O'Daniels has a chance. May Peterson, a grand opera singer, is Ernest O. Thompson's wife, and by heck, we know she can sing better than any other man.

But maybe she can't bake biscuits as good!

The person on the street has a word for it, and although the word isn't elegant, every owner of a radio has listened to the vast amount of bull that is sent out via radio about soap, flour, whiskey, beer, medicines, automobiles. Bull about everything from safety pins to airplanes. Far-fetched statements and the average listener to be what the doctor ordered and a sure cure for baldness. But we haven't heard anything, yet. As the political campaign waxes warmer and warmer, if you'll listen you'll hear bull that is bull! Candidates are not cured in statements they make over the radio as they are when newspapers are used. When it is printed in black and white, the boys are chary in their remarks, but when on the air they go wild and get wilder. All that our poor radio owners can do is to cut off the radio, or consider the source, believe about ten per cent told us, and smile, smile, smile!

Just within the last week the Press received two letters from a well-known gubernatorial candidate from Dallas. One listed a tentative schedule of speaking places—and the second letter changed almost all the dates. But at the tail-end of each it was mentioned that he would speak to a Sunday school class in Post Sunday. Why hallyhoo a religious undertaking so much? Was it to get a crowd or merely inform the voters that the candidate was such a good Christian? We prefer our candidates to campaign through the week and get all the publicity they can, but not mix Christianity with politics. We don't believe it is very good politics because most voters can figure things out.

Monday Was Last Day For Filig

Monday was the last day for candidates for state and district offices to file applications to have their names placed on the ballot for the first Democratic primary.

Other dates of importance to candidates this month follow: June 13—State Democratic executive committee meets at city designated by chairman.

June 18—Last day to file for county and precinct offices.

June 20—County executive committee meets to determine by lot the order in which candidates for each office will appear on the ballot. On this date county chairman presents executive committee certificates from state and district committees showing names of state and district candidates to appear on ballot.

June 23—First day to file first statement of campaign expenses. Last day for county judges to post notice of election at each precinct.

June 25—Last day for candidates to go to ballot boxes.

June 27—Primary committee appointed by county chairman with approval of executive committee meets to make up official ballot.

June 28—Last day to file first statement of campaign expenses.

Stockmen Warned To Prepare For Screwworms

COLLEGE STATION.—"Prepare for the screwworms in general," R. E. Reppert, entomologist of the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College, has warned Texas ranchmen.

The Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has forecast a severe infestation, probably worse than that of 1935, in many parts of the Southwest, especially Texas and Arizona.

The screwworm fly has started earlier than ever before. The infestation in extreme Southwest Texas had been held down by dry weather during the first part of the season, but the weather in other parts of the state has favored the rapid development of the insect.

The best way to protect livestock from screwworms, Reppert points out, is to examine insects frequently so that wounds may be treated before they are seriously infested. Many ranchmen report that they have found it advisable to hold wounded or infested animals in small hospital traps, located on a high, open part of the range where flies are less abundant.

Reppert endorses the Bureau's recommendation for killing the maggots. The procedure is to treat the infested wound with 90 per cent commercial benzol. The wound is then plugged with clean cotton saturated with benzol. Reinfestation is prevented by lightly covering the area around the wound with dehydrated pine-tar oil of 1.065 specific gravity.

The advantage of the benzol over most patented medicines lies in its low cost and in the fact that it does not cause shock to animal tissue. It does not deteriorate with age but is highly inflammable and will evaporate readily. It is this last property which makes it valuable in screwworm control, for the maggots are killed not by the liquid but by the fumes.

Reppert also emphasized that the common pine-tar oil will often burn the animal while the dehydrated form will not.

Interest Increasing In Manufacturing Of Dairy Products

AUSTIN, June 8.—Increasing interest in the manufacture of dairy products in Texas has been evidenced by the large number of dairy shows held during the last month at various points in the state, according to Mrs. Clara H. Lewis, editorial assistant in the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. The Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation opened a cheese plant at Grapeeland the latter part of 1937 which is proving successful, and the cheese plant under construction at Sulphur Springs by the same company is expected to begin operation some time this month, she said. The Spring Valley Butter Company of Houston has also been added to the list of dairy manufacturers in the state.

Other food processing plants include the egg drying plant of the Cudahy Packing Company at Cudahy, employing approximately 125 workers, the Freezerved Foods, Inc., of Houston which has opened a canning plant at Port Lavaca for freezing fruit juices, and the canning plant at Jacksonville of the Ozark Mountain Canning Company and the Ogburn Canning Company factory at Lindale, which have opened for the season canning fruits and vegetables.

Income From Crop Sales Below Last Year

AUSTIN, June 8.—Cash income from the sales of crops, livestock, and livestock products in Texas during April was sharply below both the preceding month and the corresponding month last year, according to Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas. The April index for the state also indicates a substantial decline when compared with the base period, 1928-32.

Sharp declines in April in comparison with the month before and the like month last year are especially noticeable in the crop reporting districts of the High Plains, the Permian North Central Texas. Total farm cash income as computed was $20,921,000 compared with $16,434,000 and $27,970,000 in the year. The average cash income during 1928-1932 was $16,434,000.

URGES DEFENSE

With war scares bobbing up all over the world, the United States must be assured a plentiful supply of "strategic minerals," Dr. John W. Finch, director of the bureau of mines, announced in a memorandum to the press. He urges a tariff protection and stock-piling program to help potential domestic industry to solve defense problems with respect to manganese (No. 1 "strategic mineral"), nickel, chromium, aluminum, antimony, tungsten, tin, mercury and mica.

HORSE AND BUGGY DAYS

in Production
Roosevelt administration day a farm and commod-ket similar to that it set solve in 1933, according associated Press, story ap-in the Dallas News.
Nation's farm markets are overwhelmed with surplus.
modity prices have fallen to lowest level since May,
as the decline has mounted to 30 per cent during the year.
Agriculture Department confident that cash farm income this year, including approximately a billion dollars in Federal benefits and subsidies, will be at least a billion dollars less than 1937's $8,550,000,000 (billions).

Conditions with respect to the major farm commodities:
Cotton—Indications are that the new crop will move into a market already burdened with a record-breaking world surplus of 25, 000,000 bales. The surplus of American cotton alone is expected to be at least 13,000,000 bales.
The Government either owns or holds a mortgage on 7,000,000 bales of this surplus.
Wheat—Present prospects indicate a national surplus of at least 450,000,000 bushels compared with the 1932 record of 378,000,000 bushels. Foreign trade experts of the Agriculture Department hold out hope of an export market for about 50,000, 000 bushels.
Corn—Officials forecast a surplus of 300,000,000 bushels of 1937 corn when the new crop starts to market this fall. This would be 30 per cent greater than normal, and a near-normal crop this year would add to it.

Other Surpluses Too.
As for most crops, surpluses exist. This is especially true regarding tobacco, rice, wool peat-s and cottonseed oil.
Insofar as cotton, corn and tobacco are concerned, the administration is attempting to curtail this year's production through provisions of the new farm law Congress passed in February.
The control program is expected to hold the cotton yield to about 12,000,000 bales, a reduction of about 6,500,000 below last year's. A similar program probably will be invoked in 1939 and 1940 if necessary to eliminate the present surpluses. Marketing quotas will tend to prevent farmers from selling any 1938 cotton except that grown on Federally allotted acreage. Sales in excess of quotas will be subject to a penalty of 2c a pound.
Corn farmers in the commercial Corn Belt of the Midwest were asked to reduce this year's plantings about 18 per cent—a request which many farmers protested. Even if most farmers cooperate, there is a possibility, officials say, it might be necessary to propose marketing quotas.

The wheat surplus problem promises to become the most acute. If present crop prospects are borne out, growers will be asked to limit plantings for the 1938 crop to between 45,000,000 and 50,000,000 acres. Wheat farmers seeded 80,000,000 acres for the 1937 crop. The proposed planting for next year would be the smallest wheat acreage since before the World War.
Stabilizing Markets.
The administration will make loans to farmers on cotton, corn, wheat and possibly several other crops in an effort to put a bottom under prices. Officials say these loans will enable farmers to hold their crops and avert a price-demoralizing rush to market.
The wheat loan program, which probably will be inaugurated late this month or early in July, may tend to discourage exports of this grain. The farm law provides that the loan rate shall be not less than approximately 60c a bushel. It is quite probable, Agriculture Department officials say, that such a rate would tend to peg domestic prices above world prices and thus retard exports.
The cotton and corn loans probably will be in line with the 1937 loans on these commodities. Last year's basic loan rates were 9c a pound for cotton and 50c a bushel for corn.
Administration leaders also have announced they will use millions of dollars to purchase surplus products for distribution this summer and fall to families on relief.
Tobacco sales will be restricted under marketing quotas.
Marketing programs which prohibit interstate shipment of low grades of potatoes are being established to control surplus of this commodity.

Charlie McCarthy Learns Swedish

That gabby wooden Irishman, Charlie McCarthy, had to learn Swedish as a result of his selection as "chief spokesman" at a celebration in Hollywood, Calif., marking the three-hundredth anniversary of the arrival of the first Swedish settlers in America. Charlie is shown getting some tips on the language from boss Edgar Bergen, whose mother, Mrs. Nellie Bergen, was born at Hasselholm, Sweden.

"Dizzy" Is Happy as Cub

"Dizzy" Dean, right, former star pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals and now a member of the Cubs, is seen with "Gabby" Hartnett, star catcher. Dean's transfer to Chicago has sent the Cubs' pennant stock soaring.

Trades Eye for Her Life

Nestling in the arms of Nurse Betty Parkin is little Helaine Judith Colan, Chicago, victim of glaucoma, a dread eye disease. A debate of days to decide whether to operate at the expense of blindness, or permit the dread disease to take little Helaine's life was settled when after a conference of scientists, the left eye was removed. An attempt is being made to save the right eye.

Toe Shine Boy Does Rushing Business

America's first "Toe Shine Boy" is advertising for his business, who does a rushing business of manufacturing the pedal of the fair swimmers at Hawaii's popular Waikiki beach at Honolulu.

Europe Said Suffering Worst Drouth In Years

Europe, an American farm authority says, is gripped today by a drouth "worse than any in 100 years." Howard D. Salins of Chicago, managing director of the Flax and Fibre Institute of America, said in an interview "there isn't a country that hasn't been hit hard." Salins returned Monday from a two-month agricultural survey abroad for the institute. He assailed the New Deal agricultural policy "that scarcity makes prosperity." "We are losing business, by the hundreds of millions of dollars."

There is a law in this country, which makes it illegal to deface a coin in such a way that it could be put back in circulation. The total destruction of a coin, however, is not prohibited.

Cotton Week Very Successful In Promotion of Sales

Reports from the 50,000 retail stores in all lines—food, dry goods, department, variety, including independents and chains in every state in the Union, show that National Cotton Week from May 30 to June 4 was very successful in the sale of cotton goods, the Cotton Textile Institute announced. No figures are yet available on the volume of goods sold, but an increase over last year is expected. A gratifying response was reported from newspaper, radio and window display advertising. Much of the success this year, according to the institute officials, was due to co-operation and promotional efforts of the Nation's leading chain stores. The institute of distribution, National Association of Food Chains and other organizations were influential in the campaign. In Sweden and Norway the milk of reindeer is sometimes used for the making of cheese.

CAMPING AND HEALTH

Most of the schools of the nation have closed for the summer, and in the great cities, the small villages, the bustling townships, and the restful hamlets, the thoughts of nearly three quarters of a billion khaki-clad Boy Scouts will turn toward camping. Cities of tents will spring up in woodlands, signal towers will lift their gaunt arms upward, and the flow of a thousand camp fires will flicker by the water's edge and through the forest glade. Restless boys, through with school and eager for adventure, will run into the forests. They will work and play in the sun and in the rain. They will swim and hike, rest and eat, be tired and sleep. They will learn the stories of the forests, and from nature glean lessons which to them are entirely new. They will be led by strong-hearted, clear-eyed men; men who know the woodlands and understand boys. Then the autumn will come. From the mountain sides and woodlands, the lake fronts and sea shores, with renewed confidence and vigor, the boys of America will return to their city homes.

They will be the same boys, but unlike the boys who went away. Strong-bodied, clear-eyed, brown and husky, they will swing back into their daily activities. Home, school, church and nation, will gain by the summer that each Boy Scout has spent in the open. Each will receive from the experience, the wealth of eagerness, courage, faith, hope and knowledge that boys bring back with them from summer camps where self-reliance has been taught.

Have you a boy who is of the Scout age? If you have, set to it that he becomes a Boy Scout and goes to a Boy Scout camp. It will pay dividends in happiness and health, and the summer will be one of the most interesting of his life. The Boy Scout movement has its purpose, character building and citizenship training. It is an outdoor vigorous program, the best in the world for boys.

BUTTERSCOTCH PIE SUPREME

Twelve butterscotch pies in a row! The members of my staff eyed them coldly. It was Saturday noon. Absolutely and positively they were not to be sampled and reported on. One butterscotch pie, of course, would have been welcome—but twelve! However, they were all good troopers so they sat bravely down to sample the twelve pies. Each and every one was an outstanding pie of this kind with its smooth brown sugar and butter flavored filling. We'd been working for weeks trying to evolve the most perfect possible butterscotch pie. Now we'd narrowed our choices down to these twelve. One of them would be the pie. After the sampling a careful ballot was taken, and here is the one which received an almost unanimous vote on every count.

Butterscotch Pie

1 cooled baked 9-inch pie shell
1 tsp. sugar
2 tsp. all-purpose flour
1 tsp. cornstarch
1/2 tsp. salt
6 tsp. water
1 cup milk

6 tsp. butter
1 cup brown sugar
3 egg yolks

Meringue

3 egg whites
1/4 cup cream of tartar
6 tsp. sugar

Mix sugar, flour, cornstarch, salt, and water in top of double boiler. Beat in milk. Place over heat and stir until milk is hot. Place over boiling water, and cook until thickened (about 10 minutes)—beating with rotary beater occasionally to prevent lumping. In meantime, melt butter in heavy saucepan. Blend in brown sugar, and cook over low heat—stirring constantly—until sugar is dissolved and mixture is smooth. Beat butter and sugar mixture into milk mixture, and cook 5 minutes more. Beat egg yolks slightly, and gradually beat into them the hot milk mixture. Cool, and pour into cooled baked pie shell. Add a meringue by beating egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff enough to hold a point, then gradually beating in sugar (5 times), continuing beating until mixture is stiff and glossy. Pipe lightly on the filling, being sure that it completely covers filling. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in a slow oven, 300°.

Pie Crust

1 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup ice water (2 to 3 tsp.)

Sift flour once before measuring. Sift flour and salt together. Cut in shortening with 2 knives or a pastry blender—leaving some of the shortening in lumps the size of giant peas. Add ice water. Sprinkle with a little water at a time, until the flour and shortening are moist. Blend it in lightly with a fork; then gather dough together lightly with the fingertips. As soon as you can make dough stay together, you have plenty of water in it. Round up dough on cloth-covered board using flour rubbed into cloth to keep dough from sticking. Roll out to 1/8 inch and place in pan loosely to avoid stretching. Let pan rest on table while cutting of extra pastry, leaving 1/2 inch extending beyond edge of pan. Build up fluted edge. Prick thoroughly with fork to prevent puffing. Chill thoroughly. Bake 10 to 15 minutes in a very hot oven, 500° F. This makes enough pastry for one 9-inch pie shell.

J. A. Lunsford. Gifts were exchanged and new names drawn.

English Child Refuses Stardom

CHRISTOPHER LEHANE, an obscure English schoolmaster, has declined the offer of an American film company to star his blonde, five-year-old daughter, Mauri, in motion pictures.

The proffer of stardom for little Mauri came after her picture had appeared on the cover of the June issue of Good Housekeeping Magazine. Mr. Jack Warner, head of the Warner Bros. Studios, saw the cover and decided that the child was the "new Shirley Temple" he needed for the principal role in a new film.

The aid of the artist, Jacques Gaillon, famed Scottish painter, was enlisted and the baby located in her modest home in provincial England.

When a talent scout from Warner's London office arrived at Mauri's home he found her sick in bed with chicken pox. Informed of the refusal of the girl's parents to permit her to enter pictures, Mr. Warner said, "I did not know the little girl was English. I would rather have an American child, anyway, so we will simply find another girl that looks like the magazine cover and she will serve as well as the original model."

Mr. and Mrs. Eumer Burks of Big Spring were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Golightly Saturday. They were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Golightly and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Dodd, Jr., for a day's visit.

SOME LIKE IT HOT, SOME LIKE IT COLD

Meat loaf comes into its own in summer. It goes to picnics—well chilled or hot from the oven and well wrapped in newspapers to keep in the heat, or it is baked just before dinner and served hot with a creamy horseradish sauce—or a tomato sauce. Again it is baked in the shell of the morning ready to serve cold with creamed potatoes and either "top-of-the-oven" fare, so that it won't be necessary to heat the kitchen by keeping the oven going on a sizzling hot night. Again it adds its place sliced cold on the summer buffet table with other cold meats.

You can even dress the humblest meat loaf with colorful fruit garnishes that look like an elegant company dish. I'll tell you about these meat garnishes in a minute.

But first let me give you a recipe for an unusual and exceptionally delicious meat loaf in which peanut butter is used. This loaf has an especial elusive flavorfulness if you use whole wheat breakfast flakes in place of the cracker crumbs. Here is the recipe:

- #### Peanut Butter Ham Loaf
- 1 lb. ground smoked ham
  - 2 1/2 lb. ground fresh pork
  - 2 cups bread crumbs or cracker crumbs
  - 1 egg, well beaten
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1 tsp. peanut butter
  - 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
  - 1/4 tsp. pepper

Mix all ingredients together thoroughly. Pack tightly into ungreased pan, and bake. Serve on platter surrounded with Hot Fruit garnishes, sprigs of watercress or parsley, etc. If a ring mold is used, center may be filled with vegetables of contrasting color—green beans, peas, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, etc.) Bake 1 to 1 1/4 hours in a moderate oven, 350° F. Use a loaf pan that is 3 by 9 inches and 2 1/2 inches deep or a ring mold 10 inches in diameter.

Any of the following garnishes will be handsome and delicious with this loaf:

Hot Fruit Garnishes

Pineapple: Line baking pan or ring mold with pineapple slices, and pack meat on top of them. Pour a little pineapple juice over loaf. Rub top of loaf with paste made of 2 tsp. brown sugar and 2 tsp. mustard before baking.

Peaches: Heat peach halves under broiler a few minutes. Fill centers with green jelly.

Cinnamon Apple Rings: Core 4 apples and cut in 1/2 inch rings or slices. Cook until tender in syrup made of 2 cups sugar, 1 cup water, 1/2 tsp. cinnamon candies, and a drop or two of red vegetable coloring.

Plums: Heat green gage or large blue Italian plums.

I never can let an opportunity pass for giving my favorite Vegetable Meat Loaf. Even though I've given it before in this column, I'm going to repeat it for the benefit of any who may have missed it the first time. Here it is:

- #### Vegetable Meat Loaf
- 2 tbs. all-purpose flour
  - 3/4 tsp. salt
  - 1/2 tsp. pepper
  - 1/2 cup drained cooked spinach, chopped
  - 1/2 cup ground or grated raw carrots
  - 1/2 cup tomatoes
  - 1 lb. ground beef
  - 1 egg (well beaten)

Mix all ingredients together and pack into a loaf pan 3 1/2 by 7 1/2 inches across the bottom and 2 1/2 inches deep, well greased with meat drippings. Bake in a moderate oven, 350° F., for 1 to 1 1/4 hours.

If you worry about what to serve, if you dread to start the next meal, just drop a card to Betty Crocker in care of your newspaper, and ask for this week's menus. Complete menus for the week will be sent to you at no cost. Please enclose 3 cent stamp to cover return postage.

SUMMER HOSPITALITY

The buffet supper solves many a summer entertaining problem. Especially for those with large verandas or terraces or velocity lawns where easy chairs and shady trees beckon one to relax and let the rest of the world go by.

It seems a shame to leave these pleasant outdoor living rooms so empty. So the summer hostess plans a meal that can be enjoyed out-of-doors. The guests may be asked to go into the dining room to fill their plates at a beautifully set buffet table. But the food can be enjoyed outside—at one long table—or at convenient little tables.

Here is a distinctive and festive menu for a buffet supper or luncheon of this kind:

- #### Sea Food Surprise
- Lettuce Carls, Red Cress, Sprigs of Watercress
  - Ripe Olives, Sections of Lemon
  - Crisp Hot Potato Chips
  - Hot Buttered Peas
  - Fresh Berries and Cream
  - Chocolate Sponge Cake

The place of resistance to summer is a gorgeous looking gelatin mold that seems to melt in the sun. But when we look more closely we discover that our "resistance" is made of a number of different kinds of shell fish and other marine life put together. You see the name Sea Food Surprise is very apt when applied upon this "fish."

- #### Sea Food Surprise
- 1 tsp. granulated gelatin
  - 1 cup cold water
  - 1 bouillon cube
  - 1 cup boiling water
  - 1 tsp. sugar
  - 1/2 tsp. lemon salt
  - 1/2 tsp. lemon juice
  - 1 can sardines
  - 1 can shrimps (No. 1 size)
  - 1 can crabmeat (7 oz. size)

Soak gelatin 5 minutes in cold water. Pour boiling water over bouillon cube. Stir until cube is dissolved. Pour bouillon over soaked shell. While gelatin mixture is cooling, arrange a fish mold lightly and orange whole sardines down the back. Use small green seedless grapes for the eyes. Pour 1/2 cup of the gelatin mixture (slightly set) into one mold. Allow to harden. Arrange carefully cleaned whole shrimps around the sides of the mold and flaked crabmeat in the center. Pour the rest of the partially set gelatin mixture over this and chill until stiff. When ready to serve, dip mold quickly into warm water and unmold on a bed of lettuce. Use a 3 cup capacity mold.

Chocolate Sponge Cake is fairly and delicious without being too rich. It's the perfect accompaniment for berries and ice cream. Here is the recipe:

- #### Chocolate Sponge Cake
- 6 eggs
  - 1/2 cups sugar
  - 6 tbs. cocoa
  - 1 cup cake flour or all-purpose flour
  - 6 tbs. cold water
  - 1 tsp. vanilla
  - 1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
  - 1/4 tsp. salt

Beat egg yolks until very thick and lemon colored (about 2 minutes). Sift cocoa and sugar together. Beat in cocoa and sugar mixture gradually. Sift flour once before measuring. Blend flour and water alternately into the egg yolk mixture. Blend in lemon rind and flavor. Beat egg whites until frothy, add baking powder and salt, and beat until egg whites are stiff enough to hold a point. Gently fold into egg yolk mixture. Pour into dry, ungreased tube center pan. Bake in a deep tube center pan, 9 inches in diameter, for 1 hour in a slow moderate oven, 325° F.

Note: When cake is baked, invert pan until cake is entirely cold. To loosen the cake from the pan, plunge a straight knife or spatula up and down around edge of pan and around the center tube. Remove from pan by shaking the inverted pan sharply—holding the fingers underneath to catch the cake as it falls from the pan.

If you worry about what to serve, if you dread to start the next meal, just drop a card to Betty Crocker in care of your newspaper, and ask for this week's menus. Complete menus for the week will be sent to you at no cost. Please enclose 3 cent stamp to cover return postage.

When Sales Drop Off At Your Store . . .

"It Pays to Advertise" is a slogan that should be amplified—too many things are done in the name of ADVERTISING which are really DONATIONS!

It Pays to Advertise—when that advertising is done right—when the copy is well written, forcefully displayed and designed to catch the eye of the busy reader.

Old-time methods of newspaper advertising, which still persist to a great extent, and belong in the days of the cluttered store, will not draw business to your store.

YOUR customers read Daily Newspapers—they are constantly confronted with the advertisements of city stores, and well-displayed stocks.

Your answer should be a straight-from-the-shoulder advertising campaign in your home-town newspaper that is read from cover to cover. Have no fear that your advertisement will not be read. BUT make sure that your advertising is well done . . . that it is well written, that modern pictures are used . . . and by all means place your advertising on a BUDGET and advertise each week.

You'll find your medium—the O'Donnell Press—goes over this wide territory as no other paper, and by using our service—30 years of experience on the better daily and weekly newspapers, plus a desire to SERVE YOU RIGHT—your cash register will be ringing up sales instead of gathering cobwebs.

Plan your advertising—and remember when sales drop off is the time for you to push your business more.

day South American jaguar and representing a new species. Throughout middle and upper plicene times in West Texas, there were saber-toothed tigers, larger than the present day bengal tiger or African lion. These animals are so named because of their enormous scimiter-like canine tusks. They were certainly the most terrible of any of the carnivorous animals and were probably the only animals that ever lived capable of attacking and killing the huge imperial elephant, or the thick skinned rhinoceros.

Business Decline Shown From March to April

AUSTIN, June 8.—Business activity in Texas showed a slight decline from March to April, continuing the trend observed in recent months, Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, pointed out in his monthly analysis of economic conditions in Texas and other parts of the country. The rate of activity is still only moderately below what it was during April last year, however, he said.

Dinosaurs, Huge Turtles and Crocodiles Ruled West Texas Back In World's Infancy

CANYON, June 8.—When the world was young the Panhandle offered from too much water, says Prof. C. Stuart Johnson, head of the West Texas State College department of archeology and anthropology. Flooded, sluggish streams crossed the plains, depositing loads of sediment from the Rocky Mountains and forming the fertile wheat fields of today, and gigantic animals ate abundant vegetation. Fossils taken from silt beds, in sand, Donley and other plains counties give the scientist an accurate picture of what this section was in the plicene age. "It was in the beds of sand and silt the bodies of prehistoric animals were buried," Johnson said. "Prior to the plicene time there apparently was a period of erosion so that the rocks that ordinarily should be present between the plicene epoch and the triassic time of 150,000,000 years ago, are missing. The climate problem was semi-tropical in the triassic period."

Below the triassic formations are the brick-red deposits of Permian age that contain no fossils in this region. The uppermost beds in the Panhandle of Texas belong to the plicene and were laid down in the ice age. The Rock Creek locality in Briscoe County, being worked by the West Texas College, has yielded a valuable assemblage of mammals representing life in this region in the lower plicene time, about one million years ago.

After deposition of these plicene rocks, which overlie and are almost indistinguishable from the plicene below them, there was a broad uplift throughout the whole high plains region, with the result the streams were speeded up and began to form by process of erosion numerous canyons and gorges. Coincidentally, there seems to have been a chilling of the climate, bringing about extinction of numerous animals, Johnson said.

Big Turtles There

During plicene and pleistocene times, numerous land turtles inhabited this region, some four feet in diameter and must have weighed 300 or 400 pounds.

A complete skeleton of one of the turtles was uncovered in an old river bed deposit of upper plicene age in North Cita canyon. Judging by the position it seems to have died while hibernating. More than a million years elapsed between the time this turtle began its plicene nap and the day it was brought into the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum.

The lower and middle plicene deposits of West Texas are characterized by the abundant remains of rhinoceros. At present the rhinoceros seems to be foreign to North America, but it was here they developed through millions of years of evolution.

Tigers, Too
 In the upper plicene of Randall County, numerous remains of several large cats were found, one somewhat larger than the present

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

AUSTIN.—The temperature of the weather and the Governor's race both mounted this week as Ernest Thompson in a Lockhart speech charged that Attorney General Bill McCraw "bungled" the Lone Star gas rate case in the Supreme Court, and pledged himself to a continuation of the fight to cut rates for a million Texas consumers.

"Verne's" Out of Luck There was every indication that "Verne O. Thompson," the Dallas filling station employe who seeks a place on the ballot next fall, will not get his name on the ballot—at least not that way.

Ernest Thompson issued a statement vigorously castigating the Dallas Thompson's obvious attempt to capitalize on the Thompson name. Similar statements also came from Gov. Allred, and later, after a report was circulated here that a man named "William McCraw" had been found, and that he had potential ambitions to be a candidate for governor, the Attorney General likewise denounced the "similar name racket."

That Man Allred Again The story that Jimmie Allred would be named a Federal judge for the Southern Texas district was revived with vigor here this week.

Fire—The Great American Tragedy

Suffering Loss In Life, Property, National Problem

Safety in Home Building, Frequent Inspections by Family, Solution

By PERCY BUGBEE National Fire Protection Association

Fire is the American home's greatest enemy. Most of us don't realize that, because fire which destroys one home here and another there is not nationally dramatic.

The burning of the Zeppelin Hindenburg at Lakehurst, N. J., May 6, 1937, was one of the greatest disasters in the history of man's aerial conquest, with a loss of 36 lives and nearly four million dollars. The country dramatic, terrifying. The country asped.

But it would take one hundred Hindenburg disasters to equal our national fire loss for a single year in the United States. And it would take nearly three hundred such disasters to equal our average annual loss of life due to fire.

Fire is an insidious enemy because it strikes without warning. We don't fight it as we should. We take it as a commonplace—until it strikes home and leaves smoldering ruins and death behind.

Each year brings approximately 40,000 fires in homes in the United States. The money loss in home fires is more than $100,000,000—nearly a third of a million every day. More terrible is the fact that 10,000 Americans lose their lives every year in fires. 7,000 of them in dwelling fires. Any of these one-half of the tragic victims are children who deserve the right to live.

The solution lies with you, in your own home.

The twin answers are these: first, prompt construction of your home second, frequent, careful home inspection in which every member of the family can take part.

If your home has not been constructed safely from the point of view of fire, a loss on time in correcting that condition. Tomorrow, next week may be too late.

Today's home should have fireproof, fireproof floor from sweeping upward from one floor to the next in the space between the inner and outer wall. The chimneys should be built wholly from fireproof material. The roof should be fire-resistant roof, not wood shingle.

Fire-safe homes, frequent inspection by family are solutions to menace that costs millions in property, thousands in lives annually.

may spark or a dying brand. The wooden shingle roof, which limits quickly when dry and also results in dying brands that spread fire with incredible rapidity has been a major factor in virtually every one of America's hundred great conflagrations.

But even proper construction is not enough to insure the safety of a home. There should be, in every family, regular, frequent inspection that eliminates rubbish, waste, ashes, old papers and other accumulations. One such inspection instituted by the Fire Department of Providence, R. I., in September of a recent year, revealed over 500 Christmas trees left in cellars and basements from the preceding Christmas. They were as dry as tinder, a constant source of fire hazard. A spark or lighted match had dropped on any one of them. Similarly, abandoned rags of paint rags would never be left lying around. When heated by sun or otherwise, they can cause fire by spontaneous ignition.

Flammable liquids should be eliminated or properly stored. These days, save in the exceptional case, there is no excuse for the presence of gasoline, kerosene or any other volatile liquid in the house. If kerosene lamps or stoves are necessary, fill them by daylight only. If you value your life or that of your family, never use either kerosene or gasoline to start or quicken a fire.

Home inspection should also include the electric wiring where there is any doubt whatever of its condition. Never do electric wiring yourself. If the electric system of your house must be extended or changed, call an electrician and have the job done right.

Special days bring special hazards. July Fourth is one of the year's most dangerous days, especially in the toll of children's lives. Christmas brings the peril of flammable trees and decorations. Brush fires and bonfires in spring must be watched closely. Burn rubbish in an incinerator if it must be burned out of doors. I have mentioned here no precaution which is not easily within the reach of any householder. Observance of these precautions could cut our national fire loss by 75 per cent in a single year. Let's stop fires before they start.

campaign managers. Woodward is said to have gotten a prompt protest over the Coleman incident from several members of the Senate who are supporting Thompson, and indicated he was "duped" by the McCraw press-agents into a very unhappy position. He explained that he didn't promise to vote for McCraw, when he introduced him.

Crowley's Contribution The chief effect which Washington Candidate Karl Crowley has had on the Texas gubernatorial race, according to the other candidates, has been to make it tough for all the candidates to raise campaign funds.

"After Crowley spread around that talk about $2,000,000 campaign funds, folks that usually counted on to donate $1,000 to our candidate, began writing letters and offering to work for our candidate—for so much a week and expenses," complained one campaign worker. "The result is the boys who usually put up the money think we're already financed, like Crowley, and we're having a hard time getting enough dough to pay our press agents and print our literature."
