It's WHERE you buy a used car that counts!

When you can trust the dealer who sold you a used car, you can trust the car.

The next question, then, is: Who can you trust most?
 We Ford Dealers are established business men with large investments at stake. Our business reputation depends on every business transaction—whether it is a new car sale, a used car sale or a service operation.
 We want your used car business, and some day we hope to sell you a new car or another used car. And we want your service business, too!

 "But," you say, "granted that you Ford Dealers have reputations to uphold, granted that your mechanics and service facilities make it easier to put your used cars in good shape—how do you compare in price?"
 Let us give you some facts and the answer will be obvious. Ford Dealers handle used cars and trucks as a service to customers who trade them for new cars. When we get overloaded with trade-ins, our capital is tied up. Like everyone else, we have to pay our bills. So we must always offer used cars at rock-bottom prices to keep things moving.

Associates Honor Rite Crew Veteran

DALLAS, TEX. — Named Wilfred, they call him Bill. He'll be 82 Jan. 2, and he's still mighty active.

He was the first director of the stage crew that functions during Scottish Rite Masonic reunions, twice yearly. He now is director emeritus.

Wilfred Max Feehelmer, 4618 Gilbert, is referred to. His old-time associates of the stage crew had him sit for a portrait by Dmitri Vail, 4245 Armstrong Parkway, Dallas. Finished, it now hangs in the Rite Cathedral's San Hedron room, headquarters of the crew and its activities.

Figures on the cornerstone of the Rite Temple reveal it was "labeled" in March, 1907. Two years later the building was occupied, and Mr. Feehelmer's tenure as stage director began. It continued until 1931, making him dean of the group.

He was succeeded by Dr. A. L. Frew, 1931-33, and he by the late Colby E. Smith, 1933-35. Royal A. Ferris, Jr., served 1935-1941, and the late Andrew John Balcom, 1941-1949.

L. B. Hapgood, succeeding Mr. Balcom, retired last spring, having served 1949-1953. His total service on the crew was for 27 years. Frank Cronk, also a long-time member, succeeded Mr. Hapgood.

"Dean" Feehelmer, born in Hot Springs, Ark., has been a Dallas resident since 1889 and with Lanz Bros. for 40 years.

He is the oldest 33rd-degree member of Dallas Scottish Rite bodies and the second oldest past potentate of Hells Shrine Temple. His portrait complements life-sized photographs of his successors in the stage crew's quarters.

Fashions Seen Influenced By Advent of 3-D in Films

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—A whole new world is opening for motion picture fashions with the advent of three-dimensional movies, says Renie, one of Hollywood's top designers. And this new approach to fashion will be felt throughout the fashion world, she believes.

The new film processes bring out depth and detail as never before. The rich texture interest of woolen fabrics, for example, makes them ideal for three-dimensional filming, Renie declares. In designs, she continues, the camera now picks up the minutest detail of texture in woolen fabrics. Tweeds, cashmeres, patterned weaves and surface textures literally "come alive" on the screen.

Fabrics made of wool absorb light, instead of reflecting it, whereas other fabrics tend to cause glare and unpleasant reflections when photographed by the new process, technicians report.

Renie and other designers at her studio, 20th Century-Fox, are enthralled with the vast possibilities of the new medium, and with its potential impact upon the over-all fashion scene, she asserts. The fashion influence of motion pictures in general is certain to increase with the life-like quality of three-dimensional reproduction, authorities agree. In "The Robe", her firm's first film on its new CinemaScope process, the reproduction of many woolen robes worn by actors is perfect, Renie adds. Every fabric type can be readily identified when it appears on the screen, she says.

"You can tell immediately what every piece of wool is—jersey, flannel, tweed, crepe, and so on," she explains. "And the colors are magnificent."

Renie and other designers at her studio, 20th Century-Fox, are enthralled with the vast possibilities of the new medium...

Oregon Blood Donor Trying for 50 Pints
HILLSBORO, Ore.—After giving his 49th pint of blood when the Red Cross bloodmobile was in Hillsboro, Bob Lewis said he's waiting for 50.
 As nearly as he can figure, 19 of the pints have been given to the Red Cross beginning in Portland early in World War II. He continued giving blood there until the center closed following the war, and since the bloodmobile has made its regular trips to Hillsboro, he's missed only one time.
 While he was a member of the Portland fire department, donations were a regular thing. There firemen were allowed to give blood while on duty and a four-hour rest period was allotted. But Lewis recalls, he never missed a fire call—four hours or no four hours.
 Because he has type 'O' blood—so-called universal type—he was often called upon by hospitals in emergency cases. He counts giving blood each at the Multnomah county hospital, St. Vincent's, and Good Samaritan and once at Providence in Portland.
 Although he has given more than two and a half times the amount of blood now coursing through his veins, Lewis has never suffered any ill effects. "I'm always careful to drink plenty of juice afterwards," he said.
 His advice to others is to give a try at donating. "If there's any reason why you shouldn't give blood, the nurses there are sure to catch it before you get in," he said.

May Sing With Window Shut
CLARKSVILLE, Tenn.—Her neighbors have obtained an injunction against Mrs. Wentworth S. Morris.
 Under the injunction, she may close her windows and sing all she wants or open her windows and sing not more than two hours daily.
 Neighbors had complained that she practiced her vocalizing three to four hours each morning and two to three hours each afternoon. Mrs. Morris, who had employed attorneys to lift the restraining order, said she practiced only an hour and a half daily.
 "We own our home and I thought I had a right to sing in my own home," she explained. "This isn't Russia."

This Small Town Is Mailing Center For Rays of Cheer
CANASTOTA, N.Y.—Ma and Pa Bobb are a couple nearing their 70th birthday who live near here and consider bringing cheer to others the greatest satisfaction in life. This town is mailing center for rays of sunshine.
 They send greetings, "sunshine letters," to hundreds of the bed-ridden or persons in wheel chairs, people often suffering more from loneliness and neglect than from physical ailments.
 During the past nine years thousands of shut-ins have received birthday and Christmas greetings as well as letters twice a month from the Bobbs.
 The letter-visits to the shut-ins were begun in 1942. At first only 50 lonely persons received letters, but the idea grew until now more than 1,400 elderly people, all with physical handicaps, hear regularly from Ma and Pa.
 The Bobbs find their shut-ins by consulting through the mails with health departments and public health associations.
 There is no mention in the letters to the shut-ins of wars and economic problems. They concern things like the buckwheat cakes mom used to make, the woodbox beside the kitchen stove, and the peddlers who used to come around with pins, threads, shoelaces and buttons, the old covered bridges, and other things the oldsters remember with fondness.
 The oldsters know that they are not expected to reply to the "sunshine letters."

WORLD NEIGHBORHOOD
International Kids' Village Peace Inspired
TROGEN, Switzerland—In the Swiss canton of Appenzell, overlooking the Boden See (Lake of Constance) and the German shore across the lake, is a new kind of village, an experiment in bettering international relations through the minds of children.
 The International Pestalozzi Children's Village, on the outskirts of the modest village of Trogen, is the temporary home of some 200 children of varying European nationalities. All of them were in need of help when they arrived, and many were war orphans.
 The village is the outgrowth of the idealism and compassion of Walter Corti, an Italian-speaking Swiss, who not only deplored the ravages of war upon children in belligerent nations, but who did something about it.
Popular Subscription
 Corti first suggested a children's village in neutral Switzerland in 1944, while the war was still raging. The suggestion was received with enthusiasm by the Swiss.
 Thus French children live in French homes, English children in English, and so on. They live much as they would in normal homes in their own countries, speaking their mother tongues and studying the subjects they would in their native schools, with teachers of their own nationality.
Joint Activities
 There is a difference, however. In some classes the entire group works together. Recreation and community duties are international. Italian, Greek, German and English children may be playing soccer together while French children teach Finns the French words to a German tune.
 Mutual suspicion and distrust were problems when the school first opened. In the immediate postwar days Polish children refused to play with Germans and the Finns had a tendency to keep to themselves.
 The problems changed gradually as the war faded into the past. Fewer of the children entering the school now are war orphans. And some new troubles have arisen. Polish and Hungarian children once in the school have not been allowed to return after summer vacations in their homelands.

AN ACRE OF TOMATO PLANTS WILL YIELD FROM 5 TO 20 TONS OF TOMATOES.

Statistics reveal that there is a big boom in the sale of "do-it-yourself" items. Men are the buyers. This would indicate that men are taking more interest in their homes and are probably becoming more domesticated.

There is a telephone for every three persons in the United States, while the rest of the world averages only one telephone for each 43 persons.

Purple Heart Veteran Deported as Wetback

SAN ANTONIO—Immigration authorities sent a 21 year-old Purple Heart veteran of Korea back to Mexico as a "wetback" recently. The veteran, Cpl. Alberto Gonzales of Monterrey, Mexico, was sent in an immigration bus to Laredo, Tex., to be put off in Mexico. Immigration Officer W. L. Meulhauser said he had entered the United States on a dead man's birth certificate before he joined the American army three years ago. Wetbacks—named for those who swim the Rio Grande—are illegal entrants.

The G.I. Forum, which works on the problems of Latins in San Antonio, assigned an attorney, Richard Casillas, to the case with instructions to "go all the way to the state department if necessary" to allow Mr. Gonzales to live in the United States.

The immigration office said he was being allowed to leave the country "voluntarily" and predicted he could get a permanent visa from the American consul in Mexico that would allow him to come back in time for the wedding.

Mr. Gonzales was discharged from the army at Fort Sam Houston.

He joined the Army Sept. 17, 1948, and enlisted for another three years on the same date last year. Vella Sanchez, 20, his fiance, said he had spent a year in Korea, with headquarters of the Eighth army.

"He was wounded in the hip and got a broken ear drum," she said. "He has the Purple Heart, five campaign stars, the United Nations ribbon, the Korean service ribbon and a unit citation."

Spare Parts for Body Are Available to Man

NEW YORK—Spare parts for the human body still can't be ordered from a mail-order catalog. Nevertheless, the advance of medicine during the past few years has made available an imposing array of replacements for damaged or ineffective organs.

Following the development of the blood bank, first of the spare-part repositories, ingenious surgeons have found ways to maintain banks for eyes, bone, cartilage, arteries and veins. There are now methods for transplanting whole organs from one individual to another, and for constructing replacement organs from tissues taken from the patient's own body.

Some man-made spare parts, such as the artificial kidney, are already coming into clinical use, while others, among them the mechanical heart and plastic heart valves, are well along in the experimental stage.

REMEDIAL READING FOR JR. HI

A remedial class has been organized in Junior High this year in an effort to give help where needed in reading, spelling and comprehension of content in other subjects. Mrs. Bill Gravitt points out that the group will change from time to time as needs develop and specific help will be given in each case.

(Ed. note: Fine. We have long believed the purpose of school is teaching . . . and results in reading writing, and figuring. The salad of modern education is tooting a horn, pounding a typewriter, doing and dying for dear old high school in athletic contests, baking a pie, doctoring a sick cow, making a fine and glowing speech . . . is fine if the student has time left over after mastering his basic tools of education. America is seeing a group of educated citizens, many college graduates, who can't even read the FUNNY PAPER WELL.

So, again, congrats to the O'Donnell teachers and Mr. Morris . . . first things first.)

On page four are the T. V. programs for next week.
