SCHOOL OPEN MONDAY

Enrollment Reaches 338
Teachers In Grades
6 In High School

An enrollment of 338, O'Donnell Public Schools opened for the year Monday morning. The students are that this year are the most successful in the history of O'Donnell.

The formal public opening of the school was held in the auditorium Monday evening. The school was divided among classes as follows: First grade, Miss Grace Harshbarger, 35; second grade, Miss Irene Jordan teacher, 24; third grade, Miss Jessie Galy teacher, 23; fourth grade, Mrs. A. W. Gibbs teacher, 25; fifth grade, Miss Louise Miller teacher, 25; sixth grade, Miss Irene Jordan teacher, 24; seventh grade, Mrs. A. W. Gibbs teacher, 25; eighth grade, Miss Louise Miller teacher, 25; ninth grade, Mrs. A. W. Gibbs teacher, 25; tenth grade, Miss Louise Miller teacher, 25.

It was observed that this year's school graduating class is the largest O'Donnell has ever had, and the teacher is of the type that practically every member of the class will do the work for graduation.

The grammar school faculty is especially strong and well-organized, with each teacher applying having just the place she is suited to fill. All of them were Miss Anderson have served on health in previous years. Miss Anderson, though she has not had a year's experience as the others, is reported to be a first class teacher.

Annual Opening Exercises Scheduled For Friday
The public opening exercises of the public schools, scheduled to be held Monday evening, will be held at the high school auditorium Friday evening, November 20, at 7:30. The exercises will be held in the auditorium and will be presented by the school.

School Classes Plan Year's Work
The sophomore and junior classes of O'Donnell High School believe that their year's work is well planned and are planning to do their best.

U. ZONE MEETING AT TAHOKA SUNDAY
The U. Z. P. U. of this zone are planning an interesting and unusual meeting for next Sunday, when the zone meeting will be held at the public church at Tahoka.

LIVESTOCK FEEDING A GROWING INDUSTRY

Many farmers of O'Donnell trade territory are turning to livestock feeding for the winter to take care of their large stacks of grain sorghums and other winter feeds.

Nearly every farmer in the territory, according to J. L. Shoemaker Jr., will have from one to three or four hogs to feed out for himself and perhaps a few to sell. Many farmers have a couple of sows that a litter will be fattened and the surplus sold. Others are going into the feeding more extensively.

Shipment of hogs for market is not expected to begin until after the first of the year. From then on there will be a good market for them.

C. H. Doak, who has extensive farms west of town, has both cattle and hogs on feed. He has a large supply of feed this year, he reports.

E. W. Hester, living southwest of O'Donnell and who is an extensive breeder of dairy stock, is following his usual procedure and is feeding some hogs also.

J. N. Schooler, living east of town, has some hogs, as does S. R. Schooler, living west. Other feeders include A. R. Tyler, C. L. Tyler, D. G. Phipps, and D. J. Bolch.

Among the cattle men feeding out besides Mr. Doak is Mr. Williams, who generally feeds a carload or more.

GIN MAN SCALDED SUNDAY AS HE CLEANS BOILER

Jim Stockton, well-known citizen and employee of the Edwards gin, was severely scalded Sunday afternoon when water from the boiler drenched him from the waist down.

Mr. Stockton was cleaning the boiler and making minor repairs when the accident occurred. He removed the cover from the manhole before draining the boiler, and the scalding water poured out on him.

A local physician applied first aid measures, and Mr. Stockton is doing as well as could be expected.

GRANDDAUGHTER OF SMITHS DIES AT SLATON
Mrs. Roy D. Smith was called to Slaton late Friday afternoon by news that her little granddaughter, Betty Frances McCarty, was seriously ill.

Early Saturday morning Mrs. Smith phoned back the sad news that the child had passed away shortly before she reached her bedside. Mr. Smith and other members of the family left immediately for Slaton to be present at the funeral services.

Little Betty Frances had been ill only thirty-six hours when the end came. Bronchial pneumonia was the cause of death. She was the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCarty, and had visited here with her parents on a number of occasions.

Funeral services were conducted at Slaton by Rev. Ferguson, pastor of the Baptist church, in the presence of a throng of sorrowing friends of the family.

SIXTY PER CENT OF SCHOOL TAXES PAID

W. A. Tredway, secretary of the school board, reported this week that fully sixty per cent of the 1930 school taxes have been paid into the treasury of the district, and he and other members of the board believe that 100 per cent will be collected.

Collection of taxes for the district are much better this year than last year at the same time, Mr. Tredway said, and it is hoped that the majority will be paid before the first of the year.

ATTEND FUNERAL SERVICES AT POST SATURDAY
Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith and daughter, Miss Laynette, and Mr. and Mrs. Harford Smith were called to Post Saturday to attend the funeral services of Mr. Will Ferguson, brother-in-law of Mrs. Smith.

Mr. Ferguson had been ill since April, so that his demise was not unexpected. He was buried with Masonic honors at Post Saturday afternoon. He is survived by his widow and twelve children, all of whom were at his bedside.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson had visited relatives here on several occasions, and he has many acquaintances and friends in O'Donnell who join in extending condolences to the bereaved family.

SEED LOAN MAN COMING HERE
Announcement is made by county agent Ray Shover that L. L. Smith of the Government Seed Loan Office will be in O'Donnell each Friday morning and will make personal calls over the county each Friday afternoon.

Any person desiring any information pertaining to his loan may see him and he will be glad to answer any questions.

ESTIMATE HARVEST TO BE 60 PER CENT COMPLETED

With 7,471 bales of cotton ginned up to Thursday, the general opinion here seems to be that more than half of the cotton of this trade territory is out of the fields. Farmers and cotton men estimate that at least 60 per cent has been picked, although probably not all of the picked cotton has been ginned.

Farmers are reported holding from 3,500 to 4,000 bales. Some who have had their cotton ginned as fast as it has been picked, have sold only what they had in order to meet obligations. The rest they have kept, either in the cotton yards or at home.

There has been spirited bidding for cotton here by buyers and brokers. A number of brokers from Lubbock make regular calls at the local co-op office to buy cotton. Charles Hoffman, classifier and manager, has handled a large amount of cotton this season. He states that the office will handle more than last year.

Grade and staple this year are better than last. Long staple cotton was sold here last spring and farmers who planted small blocks of the long staple, certified seed report better than expected yields.

Cotton comes into O'Donnell from four counties: Lynn and Dawson, many farmers in eastern Terry and northwestern Borden counties bring cotton here for ginning and sale.

J. T. MIDDLETON HAS FRACTURED WRIST
J. T. Middleton, thirteen year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Middleton, and a Farmall tractor had a slight accident Monday afternoon, and the result was a fractured right wrist for young Mr. Middleton.

The argument with resultant casualties grew out of a disagreement as to the proper time to quit work. The tractor thought it was time to stop for the day, and the driver thought it wasn't. J. T. cracked with vim and vigor, and the tractor retaliated with still more vigor, kicking with enough force to fracture the boy's wrist.

HEAVY RAINS FALL HERE LAST WEEK

Much Damage To Cotton-- Big Aid To Wheat And Fall Pastures

More than enough rain has fallen in this section of the South Plains to insure fall planting of grain, according to farmers here.

Since Armistice Day from an inch to better than two inches of rain has fallen within a radius of 15 to 20 miles of O'Donnell. The fall extended into Borden county to east of Gail. The rain there the night of November 13 is reported to have averaged two inches. In some parts of northwest Borden county the crops have been very short for the past two or three years, due to lack of moisture.

The territory here is in parts of four counties, Borden, Dawson, Lynn, and Terry and in all of these sections the rainfall was good, reports indicate. The rain slowed up picking of cotton to some extent. Many farmers who had piled cotton in the fields are having it to town to take advantage of the let up in picking to haul to the gins.

With wheat that was planted before the recent rains showing up to a good start, many farmers will plant more wheat within the next few weeks, according to statements by seed dealers.

Indications are that nearly every farmer has a little wheat sown, or will plant some for pasture, while it is very likely that the acreage will exceed that of last year by a large amount.

J. L. Shoemaker, cashier of the bank says: "If what makes next year, we ought to ship 20 or 30 cars or more of wheat from O'Donnell."

John Vermillion, who has been at work in Meadow for the past few weeks, spent the week-end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Vermillion.

A THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS God in his goodness and mercy has seen fit to bring our nation safely through a year of trial and conflict, and

WHEREAS this is the season when mankind is reaping the fruits of the year's labor, and

WHEREAS our community and town is far more fortunate than many others and is enjoying civil peace and a measure of prosperity,

I, by virtue of the authority invested in me as mayor of the city of O'Donnell, do hereby ask that merchants close their places of business on Thursday, November 26, and that the entire community join in following the example set by our forefathers in Thanksgiving to the Almighty for His bounty and providence to us through the past twelve months, and urge that all citizens attend the special Thanksgiving services Thursday evening.

Yankee Ingenuity Scholarship

LEONARD L. MOELLER
LESTER, MASS. When Leonard Moeller, 19 years of age, spent his summer vacation in the town of Middleboro, Mass., he spent his time in the construction of a miniature model of a steam locomotive. He had hoped to win the $1,124 award offered by the Yale Craftsmen's Guild, but unfortunately he did not win the award. However, he was granted a much more important award when the Yale Institute announced that it had been selected as the winner of the year's Yankee Ingenuity Scholarship.

The award of the Yankee Ingenuity Scholarship is one of the most valuable American awards. It was established by the Yale Institute of Science and Engineering to foster the training of the American youth in the various branches of science and engineering.

TREATING OAT SEED WILL PREVENT 1932 SMUT LOSSES

Treating oat seed now for sowing this fall is important; if large smut losses next year are to be prevented, the U. S. Department of Agriculture warns. The oat crop is important for grain and forage and as a cover crop throughout the South, and the increase in smut losses in many fields this year makes it clear that seed should be treated. Seed may be treated for as little as one-half cent a bushel.

Smut infection of oats in the South was worse this year than it has been for some time. Even Fulghum, one of the varieties which formerly was fairly smut-resistant, was badly smutted in many fields. Some varieties such as Red Rustproof, Koeniger, and Texas Red were less smutted than Fulghum this year. As Fulghum is an early and productive variety and valuable as a grain and forage crop, treating it to prevent smut is especially important.

One of the reasons advanced for the prevalence of smut in fact sown oats is that new physiological forms are appearing and attacking hitherto resistant varieties, declares Dr. R. J. Haskell, extension plant pathologist of the department.

Seed treatment definitely prevents smut infection from the seed and so all farmers are urged to treat their seed this year. There are three preparations used for treating. The first is liquid formaldehyde. Formaldehyde should cost not more than 20 cents a pound, and a pound will treat 40 bushels, making the cash cost of treatment one-half cent a bushel. Formaldehyde dusts, preferred by some because they permit treating some time in advance of the time of sowing and because they are easy to apply, are purchasable at about 40 cents a pound and the cost of this treating material approximately 8 cents a bushel. A third treating material is organic mercury dust. This retails for about 60 cents a pound and a pound treats five bushels, making the cash cost of treatment one-half cent a bushel.

The Personnel of the Award Committee are scrutinizing. The committee consists of Frederick H. Payne, Assistant Secretary of State, Edwin C. Mazy, President of the Gochran Company, and Ralph E. Theanston, Vice-President of the Gillette Safety Razor Company.

Moeller had his choice of the several technical courses offered by the Institute and has elected to study aeronautical engineering.

garded as being a very capable and efficient teacher, and will doubtless be a valuable addition to the popular faculty.

Mr. Burkhalter and Mr. and Mrs. Scott are the only former members of the high school faculty returning this year, Mr. and Mrs. McAfee and Mrs. Sherrod taking up their work in O'Donnell for the first time this term. Mrs. Sherrod, however, is a familiar figure all over the county, having become well known through her work as county home demonstration agent before her marriage, and O'Donnell is to be congratulated on securing her services as a teacher. Superintendent and Mrs. McAfee have made themselves thoroughly at home in O'Donnell since their arrival in the summer, and are no longer considered as "new" teachers. Both have years of experience in their work and have reputations as being splendid educators. The work of Mr. Burkhalter and Mr. and Mrs. Scott needs no comment, it being recognized as a fact that they are successful teachers.

Mr. McAfee expressed himself as being more than pleased with the outlook for the term, and was profuse in his words of appreciation of the interest and co-operation being displayed by patrons and students. The superintendent especially stressed the fact that patrons and parents are welcome in the class rooms at any and all times, and cordially invited them to visit school throughout the year, emphasizing the idea that parents need expect no more interest on the part of their children than they manifest themselves.

Enrollment in the four high school classes reached 110, with several others expected to enroll before the end of the week.

It was stated at the opening assembly Monday morning that regular day and hour assembly programs will be announced later, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Enrollment and classification went forward in an orderly and systematic manner, and work is expected to be well under way by the end of the week. The board is planning only a short vacation Christmas, and after the holidays classes will meet on Saturday also, so that some of the lost time may be made up. Whether school will dismiss for Thanksgiving had not been definitely decided Tuesday, but it was thought that classes would not meet on that day.

"You say the officer arrested you while you were quietly minding your own business?"

"Yes, your honor. He caught me suddenly by the coat collar and threatened to truncheon me unless I accompanied him quietly to the station."

"You were peacefully attending to your own business, making no noise or disturbance of any kind?"

"None whatsoever, sir."

"It seems very strange. What is your business?"

"I'm a burglar, sir."

Employee: "Do you have an opening for a bright young man?"
Employer: "Yes, and don't slam it as you go out."

DOCTORS HARDEST HIT!

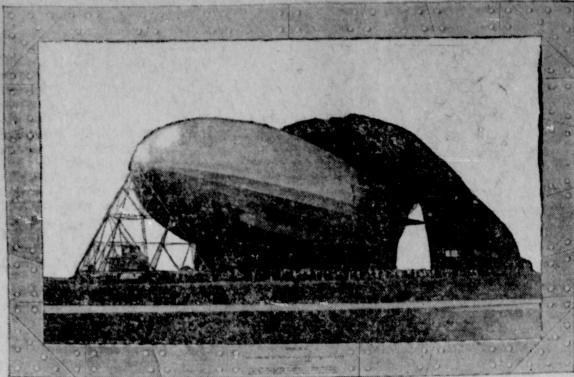

We have collected very little since 1928. We are without money and in debt. There are a few people who have in the past paid us what they could spare and a very few have paid us all they owed, to these we wish to extend our heartfelt thanks, and we are glad to render our service to them just as long as we can buy gasoline to make the trip. But a large majority of the people are using hard times as an excuse for not paying anything, and this is the reason that we are now broke, while we feel that everyone could pay us at least a part of their account.

Or do you expect us to go forever without any pay? If we refuse to come when you call us, you will howl around to get the sympathy of your neighbors, and try to prejudice them against us, but you fail to tell them that you owe us an account and have never paid us a dime.

If we have to resort to raising pigs and chickens or some other means of making a living, what will you do when your family gets sick?

And you young "Bucks" that are dodging about from place to place, having a confinement case here this year and another in some other place next year and never paying anybody, had better have the cash on hand in advance or make some satisfactory arrangements, or you will not get any service from us. We are absolutely fed up and chuck full of this kind of practice, and we positively will not make any more blind runs.

An unusual picture of the giant Navy airship, 'Akron' taken by Margaret Bourke White, famous photographer, and framed in duralumin, was received by a local tire merchant here this week and is attracting considerable attention in his window.

The picture showing the big dirigible emerging from the air dock at Akron, Ohio, was taken during the "walkout" of the ship, just before starting its trial flights. By a curious fore-shortening effect which Miss Bourke White caught, the dock or hangar, which is three full city blocks long is narrowed almost to an arch, the rear doors of the building being open at the time accentuating this effect.

Scrap duralumin from the ship itself was used in the frame of the picture and held in place by a hundred duralumin rivets.

The picture was presented to the Highway Garage, winner in a summer merchandising contest instituted by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., constructor of the airship.

Miss Bourke White, a slender Cleveland girl whose climb within five years to be the highest paid photographer in America, took the picture recently as her last commission in this country before starting for Russia to take some industrial pictures for Fortune Magazine, of which she is associate editor.

With two oblique sailors from the airship crew carrying her plate holders Miss Bourke White tramped several miles over the airport during the walkout period, lugging her precious camera with her, trying some 60 shots before she caught an angle and background that just suited her.

Presentation of the prize winning pictures to the local man was made by C. G. Stinson, sales representative of the Goodyear company who congratulated the recipient on his aggressiveness and fine character of service that had won the award for him in a depression year.

Explaining the anomaly of a tire manufacturer being in the unusual business of airship building, Mr. Stinson explained that some 21 years ago, President P. W. Litchfield, of Goodyear then superintendent of the company, was looking about for new products to manufacture, and was attracted to aeronautics for two reasons. The company was already experienced in impregnating cotton fabric with rubber in connection with making tire plies and belting. This is also the first step in building balloons. And as a more important reason, he was already impressed with the importance of improved transportation, whether by land or air, and felt that aircraft were destined for an important future in economic history.
