The Journals Go Modern!

We Are Now OFFSET

With this issue, the Journals "go offset." We believe you will be able to see a vast improvement, once we have eliminated a few of the "bugs" that always plague any new undertaking. New machines, an entirely different type of printing process are involved. Offset printing is the method used by many modern newspaper these days, replacing the old-style "letter press" system. A number of West Texas newspapers, including a daily or two, have gone offset.

Once the personnel at the Journals have mastered the machines, we know a very fine product will result — with blacker blacks, whiter whites.

This is the third anniversary of the Bailey County Journal, the Sunday issue, which was started at the request of the merchants to give them a first-of-the-week advertising medium.

Now we go offset which is the modern way of printing, another progressive step — first from a weekly to a semi-weekly; now a second step, offset!

Muleshoe school board has named a general maintenance supervisor for all schools in the system. He is Preston Campers, a licensed plumber who has had extensive experience in maintenance in related fields. Superintendent Neal Dillman said, "He will begin work April 1."

Schedule for the High Plains Bookmobile for this week, announced by the librarian, Georgia Pena, is as follows: Wednesday, Whiteface in the morning, Bletsoe at noon and Maple in the afternoon. Thursday: West Camp and Lariat in the morning, Bovina in the afternoon. Friday: Lums Chapel in the morning, Spade at noon, Hart Camp and Fieldton in the afternoon. Saturday: Olton in the morning, Littlefield in the afternoon.

Three new school buses are to be delivered this summer here. Two 60-passenger buses are to cost $4635 each and a 48-passenger bus will cost $3952.

Decorators 216 Floral here has been selected as a member of the Florists' Transworld Delivery Association, the world-wide flowers-by-air organization. Mr. and Mrs. Gid Howell are the owners of the shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thompson were presented with lawn furniture Thursday afternoon in the community room of the Muleshoe State Bank by the employees and directors as a going-away gift.

A new retirement system has been approved by Muleshoe school board for teachers and auxiliary employees; Upon reaching his 65th birthday, on or before Sept. 1 of the school year to be employed, he must submit a written request for re-employment. The request will be reviewed and considered individually by the board, which may, at its discretion, request the employee to have a physical examination, before a decision to re-employ is made.

Mrs. Johnie Prater and Mrs. Ralph Douglas were in Abilene this past week, attending a conference meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service.

Bailey county boys and girls who didn't have the slightest idea that "picnicking" had a "k" in for some strange and unexplainable reason, are learning about that "k" among other things. Because these are boys and girls who are "bc'ing up" for the annual school spelling bee to take place April 15 in the high school auditorium here. The bee is sponsored by The Bailey County Journal and the Muleshoe Journal. Winner will go to Lubbock for the district spell-down and after that will come the national bee in Washington, D. C.

Pupils in order to participate, must not be more than 16 years of age by the time the national bee is held June 8 and 9.

Give-over will be Fred Johnson, a veteran of the spelling bee business who has been pronouncing the words for Bailey county boys and girls since 13 years back when. Judges will be announced soon.

Farm Program Blamed for Dip In School Rolls

The new federal farm program which will whittle acreages of cotton and possibly other crops has resulted in a lower farm hand need.

And this in turn has resulted in a lower enrollment in city schools. This explanation was given this past week by Superintendent Neal Dillman who said that the rolls had dropped 83 since the mid-term re-counting Jan. 10.

This also is 42 students fewer master their little gray spellers in preparation for the big mid-April date. More than 100 of the little books have been sold in this county by the Journals, indicating a good turnout for the bee here next month. The words in the book are divided into three categories: first-round, intermediate words and final words, and one school chief said Friday that his pupils who are trying out for the contest this year already are deep into the final series.

School Board Sets Segregation's End For Autumn

Muleshoe school board took steps this past week to mark complete desegregation of Muleshoe schools. An end of separate schools will come September 1 this year Superintendent Neal Dillman said after the U. S. Commission of Education had given his final blessing to the Muleshoe plan.

Negro teachers and pupils will integrate and the board moved this past week to assign the three Negro teachers to previously all-white staffs. The report said: "Hilltop school will be closed at the end of the current school year and the three Negro faculty members will be absorbed into the desegregated schools."

The plan was subjected to the U. S. commissioner Aug. 25 last year marking the end of segregation by Sept. 1 this year.

The board discussed the "New Guidelines for Desegregation of Schools" issued by the U. S. Department of Health Education and Welfare. The minutes of the meeting this last week said: "The board approved and signed the Assurance of Compliance with the Revised Statement of Policies for School

Luring Industry Muleshoe's Goal

Industrial experts who turned x-ray eyes on Muleshoe's inroads this past week, believe it has plenty of assets, those experts agreed, but it will be necessary to promote those assets if Joe Bloo who wants a factory and is looking for a new place to put it, picks Muleshoe.

But if Muleshoe gets industry, then it will have to:

LINE UP LAND, PEOPLE AND MONEY — all of it local! It has plenty of assets, those experts agreed, but it will be necessary to promote those assets if Joe Bloo who wants a factory and is looking for a new place to put it, picks Muleshoe.

But luring industry is to be a major project in Muleshoe during the coming months. And the Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation, which daddied the big clinic this past week, will meet at 7:30 p.m. April 7 to elect officers and make further plans, says Jim Cox, MAIF chairman.

The experts — who represented top industrial names in industry and top staffers of the Texas Industrial Commission — were pretty well agreed that if Muleshoe gets results in this highly competitive industry-getting business, it will have to do a lot of the work itself.

Take the matter of land, for instance. Most of the speakers at the whirlwind, high-level conference, pointed out the need for trackside land. This land, the local folk were told, can be acquired outright or it can be taken on an option basis. But in any event, it is a "Must" if industry becomes.

One of the experts, for example, suggested that a sign-up campaign be launched with 100 to 250 men contributing to the fund in cash or on a dues-paying basis. The speaker called this "the prospect committee. He also suggested that at least 20 percent of the fund agreed upon be secured in cash — 20 percent down, in other words, as an industry-getting fund.

These members would also work with all the town's "allies." These were termed by the speakers as men and companies that would work with Muleshoe in industry-seeking. These included such companies as the power company, the gas company, the railroads, telephone company and many others.

While the industry discussion ran the entire gamut from clothespins to dirt-movers, much of it centered around agriculturally-related industry. One of the speakers, for instance, discussed the possibilities of much greater agricultural industry, such as expanded feed lots. One agricultural leader, for example, told the group that cattle feeding operations of up to 88,000 capacity, were possible. He pointed out that much of the meat sold in Texas is not Texas produced, and in some of the neighboring states, the percentage of home-grown meat is even greater, running as high as 82 percent.

A railroad industry expert for Santa Fe offered the suggestion that MAIF "make inquiries immediately to determine whether track-side land is available." He pointed out that industry "must have trackage, and sometimes it becomes difficult to procure after an industry decided to locate in a given area; thus the need to line-up sites in advance. He offered the services of his company in making studies and that they should be made available to the "allies." The state tourist department was represented at the conference by Sam Godfrey of the tourist bureau. He pointed to "Pete the Mule" as an "industry within himself." He explained: "I think you have a natural in Pete. There is no other town in Texas, the nation or even the world that has a statue of a mule, and I am surprised that you don't have signs along the highways telling about Muleshoe and the statue to a mule. It's worth much money to Muleshoe, that old mule statue, and I believe if it were properly publicized it would draw thousands this way every year."

Jaycees Set Installation Ceremonies

With Bob Houts, president of the Lubbock Jaycees as principal speaker, and State Director Elvon DeVaney, Muleshoe, as the installing officer, Muleshoe Jaycees will put the big pot in the little one Saturday, April 2.

Occasion will be the 16th annual Jaycee installation banquet, to be held in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church at 8 p.m. Bill Kinard, general banquet chairman, announced.

One-hundred-twenty persons, including Jaycees' wives and guests, will attend the function when Carl White will be installed as new president of the Muleshoe organization. He succeeds Kenneth Henry.

ABSENTEE VOTES ARE SCARCE HERE

Few people are expecting to be out of town April 2 or April 5 when polls open for school board naming or city council selecting, respectively. Or it could be that folks just aren't greatly interested in those two elections.

This was revealed Saturday after only two school board absentee votes had been cast and none for city councilmen.

One couple had cast absentee ballots at the county clerk's office for school board members. Absentee voting in that race ends next Tuesday and on Friday combat Woody Lambert is opposed by Buck Cramer for post 4.

Two city councilmen are to be named on Tuesday, April 5, Opposing Irvin St. Clair for post 3 is James Fowler, and incumbent Woody Lambert is opposed by Buck Cramer for post 4.

Four candidates are seeking three school board positions

Echo, Simplicity's Fashion Meteorologist, will present this collection which is keyed to the needs of teen-age girls at 1:00 p.m. She will also give pointers on staging a dress revue. In the morning session, she will give them pointers on how to plan and execute a well coordinated wardrobe that contains all of fashion's newest trends.

Miss Echo is well qualified as an expert on fashions for girls. She herself was a 4-H Club member in New Jersey before going to the University of Miami to receive her degree in Home Economics. She was a 4-H Club agent in New Jersey and Michigan, then joined the Simplicity Educational staff as a 4-H Club stylist. In her work, she travels throughout the country helping to guide 4-H Club girls with their own clothing, accessorizing and grooming problems.

"Easy Breezy Fashions" . . . a refreshing necessity for every group of Simple-to-Sew and How-to-Sew patterns highlight the "in" look of smocks for the sewing beginner. She can create just as fashionable a look for herself as the girl who is already more skilled with a needle.

"Sparkling Spring Greens" . . . a refreshing necessity for every girl's wardrobe. They feature the wandering waistline from the high rise to the hip-line for the new smocked look, girls may select the fake, simulated or real hand stitching to frost their dresses.

"Sunshine Bright" . . . lively little cottons with the mod look are favorites of the young set in the influence of the Granny Dress, . . . the short school version!

"Cool Weather Coordinates" . . . protect teens from brisk breezes, but add zing to a fashionable wardrobe. For a girl with greater skills, a collection of suits and coat ensembles are shown in high fashion shades.

"Sports Predictions" . . . feature a whirlwind of excitement in a pullover top with the Mon-drian look . . . navy braid frames squares of white, yellow, and orange. Completing the look . . . pants with a bell bottom flare. Other predictions featured . . . wrap around skirt with shirt and casual shirt dress. Especially dramatic are "Cloud 9 Confections" . . . created for dates and proms. For that special occasion, a glamorous evening dress of white pique, trimmed with lace and eyellet puts in an appearance. White is a girl's great love for spring.

This one day workshop is open to any 4-H leader or other clothing leader who is interested in teenager clothing.

Slow Taxpayers To Get Warning, Then Crackdown

Muleshoe schools took a long hard look at the growing delinquent tax list this past week and decided to take action. In fact the tax payers who have been dragging their feet have worried the school board for some time and this past week Norman Bays attorney met with the board to help answer some of the questions the board was asking about delinquent taxpayers.

As a result the board came up with these decisions:

1. Delinquent tax notices on real property will be mailed soon.
2. A month later letters will be mailed to the same tax holders stating that all taxes delinquent more than three years will be turned over to the attorney for collection after June 1 of each year.

Greene: Complex But Interesting

THE COMEDIANS. By Graham Greene. Viking. $5.75. Green's novel is a story, a comment on faith and commitment, and a polemic. The scene is Haiti, under the dictatorship of Duvalier. The narrator is a drifter named Brown, who thought he had found a haven in running a tourist hotel in Port-au-Prince - only to have the tourist business wiped out by the terror of the dictatorship. Brown's relationship with his mistress, Martha, German-born wife of a South American diplomat, also has fallen upon uneasy days.

For contrast, there are the Smiths, a tightly laced couple who have arrived in Haiti from Wisconsin, to carry the crusade of vegetarianism to the heathen - quite laughable characters, except that they bear with grace the staunch faith of utter innocence.

But at the center of the narrative is Jones, who comes to Haiti because many other parts of the world are too hot for him - patently a rogue and con man, not quite so patently a faker and liar, but also a fast talker who gets along because he has the gift of making people laugh. Jones is the joker in his own deck, who knows his glib pose as a swank soldier of fortune has only a longshot chance to succeed. Who are the committed characters in the story? Aside from the visiting Smiths, they are a Haitian doctor of Marxist intellectual stripe and a young, highly inexperienced insurgent.

Of course Greene's polemical treatise is directed mainly at the dictatorship, but it also scores the United States as a blind supporter of any dictatorship which pretends to fight (often non-existent) Communists.

As a story, the book both suffers and gains from the leisurely way that the British draw, exhibit, and contains some striking passages. As a social commentary it is obscure, and as a polemic it is a bit too heavy-handed. The surprising thing is that with all these complications, it remains an interesting novel.

Carol and People Of Siam

MAI PEN RAI MEANS NEVER MIND. By Carol Hollinger. Houghton Mifflin. $4.95.

For all its wit and charm, this account of a woman's experience in Thailand is more than just entertainment. It has some penetrating things to say about the American position in Southeast Asia.

On the entertainment level you'll find it is a much brighter than average comedy of the transplanted housewife trying to cope in a strange land - the dizzy problems of servants, food, local filth, local taboos and baffling Asiatic illogic. Such comedies have been written before, and too many of them descend into cuteness, but this author has a really astringent approach to the ironies of outlandish life, and a refreshing attitude toward the subtle reactions of her native hosts.

But there is a deeper thread of concern in the midst of this bright humor. The author became a teacher in a Siamese university, and in spite of the wild chaos of her classroom experiences, she gained a rare rapport with the Siamese young. As an uninhibited "natural" personality she also found her way into the confidence of some of their elders.

As a result, she developed a split personality; she could see visiting Americans as the Siamese saw them (tight), but she also could appreciate the crude integrity with which some of her countrymen stumbled blindly into the touchy enigmas of Thailand.

Here is dry comedy that should rate higher than many a Broadway play, combined with compassionate understanding of another world. Is it too much to ask that this affectionate and crisply witty memoir be required reading for Americans going abroad?

The Lazbuddie farmers Union fed customers and friends of the area with a fish fry supper recently. Films were shown pertaining to feed crops, fertilizing, etc. The Lazbuddies Buddies entertained the group with band music.

The Lazbuddie Booster Club had a chili supper Friday night. Games of "42" were played to a large group after the supper. Nola Treider and Luthalia Watson served the meal. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Neal Agee on the birth of a son, born March 13. The baby weighed 8 pounds and 14 ozs., and was born in the Clovis Memorial Hospital.

He has been named John David Agee. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Eulan Parham and Mr. and Mrs. John Agee all of the Lazbuddie community.

Congratulations to David Nelson on his winning first in the mile run at the track meet at Hale Center Saturday. David has won first in the run so far this season. The Lazbuddie Tracks-

Honorary members were made, more talent represented, and The Sharon Singers sang and the highlight of the program came as Dr. Leon of Amarillo spoke. He is a former pastor of the San Jacinto and Hollywood Baptist churches and presently presents over 250 addresses a year. His title could have very well been, "Those Bots Are Made For Walking," according to the Lazbuddie area people attending.

For an especially delicious butter frosting, add both grated lemon and orange rind. The simplest way to prepare the frosting is to cream butter with confectioners sugar and moisten with a little lemon or orange juice.

GOOD HABITS

Sound teeth, sound bones, good muscles, strong body — all of these things are in large measure dependent upon the good habits a parent cultivates in his child when she is very young. But even more important than a strong body is a strong spiritual understanding of life, which depends in large measure also on her early habits. Start building in your child now the good habit of regular worship of the God who gives her her very life. Go to Church with your child this Sunday and every Sunday.

Is something wrong with your life — an inner restless dissatisfaction? The answer to every human problem comes only from God our Maker. He alone can forgive and reassure. Through the church God has committed the provisions and proclamation of His forgiveness and redeeming love. Without a church relation no one is securely related to God. Everyone should be in the Church and the Church in everyone.

Grain Sorghum Rot May Strike Here, Adams Says

Charcoal rot of sorghum can this area. Sudden lodging occurs in the field at this stage. A red or black rot develops and quickly disappears, sometimes within 48 hours. Therefore, the rot is often over-looked.

If lodged stalks are split and closely examined, the pith will be in various stages of destruction. This may occur in several internodes above the ground and into the roots below the soil surface. At maturity, heads of diseased plants are not fully developed and a poor yield of shrunken grain.

Charcoal rot is caused by a fungus which can exist in more than one form, Adams said. The one causing charcoal rot is called Macrophoma phaseoli. The growth of the organism and its ability to cause plant diseases are greatly influenced by temperature, moisture and association with microflora. The fungus is very resistant to adverse environmental conditions, being able to survive in the soil or in plant tissue for years. This ability to survive plus the wide range of host plants means that many soils are infested with the fungus.

High temperatures and moisture stress favor the development of the disease. Recent information indicates that moisture stress, temperatures of 95 degrees F. or higher, and sorghum plants that bloomed two to four weeks before these conditions exist are necessary for severe damage from charcoal rot. Plant population may have an indirect effect. Under conditions of moisture stress heavier stands appear to suffer more because of need for more moisture. The disease appears to be worse on land continuously cropped to sorghum, Adams said. Since all hybrid grain sorghums are susceptible, management practices which will develop the sorghum past the danger period before moisture stress and high temperatures occur should be used. Under irrigation needed moisture can be supplied.

Cotton Promotion Program is Needed

AT AMARILLO DRAGWAY

Plans Complete For 1966 Racing Session

Producers, generally, are in almost complete agreement as to the need for a vastly stepped-up program of research and promotion for cotton. They know that is the best and quickest road to a revitalized cotton industry.

This statement from J. L. Smith, president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., in a discussion of PGC's position on H.R. 12322, the bill which would authorize a grower referendum on a per bale check-off for cotton research and promotion. The bill is now under consideration in the Senate, and would also set up the machinery for carrying out a research and promotion program if growers approved the referendum.

Smith continued his discourse as saying: "Most producers also know that the only way such a program can be adequately financed is with their own money, and I believe at least a majority of them are willing to put up the money that is required. So the question on the $1 check-off procedure being proposed by the National Cotton Council is not a question of need for the program, nor is it a question of reluctance on the part of producers to put up the money. Where there is a question at all, it is only a question of which is the best way to get the research and promotion so badly needed."

Referring specifically to the position taken recently by the PGC Board of Directors, Smith pointed out that this is an issue on which every High Plains cotton farmer will be given the opportunity to vote. And, given complete and factual information, he said he was confident these farmers could and would make a wise and intelligent decision on the matter.

He likened the referendum in which all interested parties voice an opinion to the operation of a "pure" democracy, as opposed to a "representative" democracy in which elected representatives presume to express the wishes of the people. The complete resolution adopted by the PGC Board without an audible dissenting vote, agreed with Smith's statements. It reads:

"Resolved, that inasmuch as cotton's situation and the situation of cotton producers is seriously jeopardized by declining markets both at home and abroad, the need for increased research and promotion is clearly recognized on both regional and national levels, therefore the Board of Directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., reaffirms its unqualified support for bringing about such increase in research and promotion by the most practical, effective and expeditious method or methods possible.

"Further, to enable cotton producers on the High Plains to make for themselves the most intelligent decision possible with regard to the research and promotion program outlined in H.R. 12322, it is resolved that Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. shall make available to High Plains cotton producers, all information pertaining to the proposal, and that such information shall be presented in an objective, unbiased manner so as not to be construed as an endorsement of, or opposition to the proposed program."

Smith also called attention to the fact that the research and promotion now being carried on pointed directly at improving production and marketing of High Plains cotton, will continue in any event to be of prime importance to this area. He said if national research and promotion succeeds in creating a "bigger pie," then it will be up to each state or regional organization to assure its members of a fair sized slice. Some in the cotton industry will doubtless put it in the category of "giving the devil his due," but Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman is due a pat on the back for a recent statement made before the House Agriculture committee. Referring to the world food crisis, he said: "The disaster can be averted in only one way - by greatly accelerating the expansion of food production within hungry nations themselves."

Carrying the Secretary's thought to its logical conclusion could be of great importance to U.S. cotton producers. There has already been talk and reports that the U.S. may insist that countries receiving U.S. food aid reduce production of non-food crops such as cotton and devote greater acreage to the production of their own food.

It is thought that countries such as India, which has recently been getting three boatloads of grain a day from the U.S. and at the same time producing over 5 million bales of cotton in 1965, should take first things first and plant grain and other food crops instead of cotton. But so long as they can get their grain from the U.S. under P.L. 480, they are not apt to abandon the more lucrative cotton crop. And their cotton will keep on competing with U.S. cotton in export markets until such time as U.S. policy is changed.

So PGC says three cheers and best of luck to the Secretary. We hope he will exert his full influence in the direction indicated by his statement to the House Committee.

Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. has been asked by the National Cotton Research and Advisory Committee to present High Plains recommendations to USDA cotton research projects. The committee will hold hearings in Washington on March 28, and from the testimony presented will form its advice to USDA on the direction future projects should take.

Johnson's recommendations will cover a wide range of needed research, but will emphasize the need for a more searching view of the cotton fiber itself through the eyes of chemists. Some work is being done in this area, but Johnson will stress the expanded use of recently developed scientific techniques and equipment toward the possible chemical alteration of cotton fibers, thereby opening up entirely new market potentials for cotton.

Members of the committee from Texas are Dr. Harold Loden of Paymaster Seed Farms, Plainview, and Jack Funk, manager of the Sebastian Cotton and Grain Company, Sebastian, Texas.

Earnest Walker, president of Amarillo Dragway, Inc. in Amarillo, Texas, announced today completion of plans for the big 1966 season's opening races. Walker says that it is with great pleasure that he presents such an outstanding drag racing line up for the season's opening race, Sunday, March 27th. Some 400 entries are expected to enter this big race where they will be competing for prizes valued at some $2,000. Connie Kalitta, Michigan's State Champion in AA fuel class, will be pitted against the Texas State Champion, Bobby Langley and his 205 miles per hour dragster "The Scorpion." Eddie Hill from Wichita Falls, Texas, will go up against Bob Critz, the Oklahoma State Champion from Tulsa. Accord-

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm apparently has been getting his mind off of world problems, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
I was sitting on a bank doing a little fishing the other day when I noticed an interesting item in a newspaper I'd brought along to sit on in case the ground was damp.
According to it, an Italian firm is now making a battery-powered fork that automatically winds up spaghetti.
An electric fork, well, why not, if you're going to tackle spaghetti, and that got me to thinking about the other things in that line, like the electric carving knife, the electric toothbrush, the electric comb, the electric hair brush, the electric blanket, the electric baby bed after a button and rocks the baby after your small red ear set has shown where the fish are hiding.

As for an electric cane pole, that may take some doing. It's not going to be easy for science to determine where to locate the motor to make it yank the line out of the water, but in the meantime science can certainly perfect an electric fish cleaner.

I can't think of a single reason why in this modern age science can't do something to take the drudgery out of fishing.

If you don't like to fish, have you thought of perfecting an electric golf stick?
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Suing Uncle Sam

Camping out in Yellowstone National Park, a man was attacked during the night by a rambunctious black bear.

Later he sued the federal government for damages, blaming Park Rangers for not warning him of an outbreak of similar attacks in the area.

Until recent years such a claim would have been tossed out of court. Even if the government's employees had been guilty of negligence, a lawsuit was blocked by

L. R. Fred Owen and Richard Hawkins - Employees of Bovell Motor Supply.

Bovell Motor Supply Has Complete Stock

When you need a part for your gas buggy, go to Bovell Motor Supply at 107 E. Ave. B and 99 times out of a hundred you will find what you want.

This firm is owned and operated by Mrs. W. T. Bovell who has been in this business a number of years and who knows what you need to repair your car.

She is assisted by Richard Hawkins and Fred Owen who are thoroughly familiar with this business. When they sell you a part it will be the one you need and you won't have to bring it back to exchange it.

This company handles only the ancient doctrine that "the King (that is, the government) can do no wrong." A victim's only hope then was to be compensated by a special act of Congress.

But in 1946, Congress passed the Federal Tort Claims Act, opening the door for the first time to suits of this kind. The bear-bitten camper in the case above, suing under the American Bar Association and the Act, did win substantial damages for his injuries.

By and large, the Tort Claims Act is limited to cases of negligence. Thus it does not let you collect for various intentional wrongs by government employees, such as assault and battery or false imprisonment.

Nor does it extend to injuries caused by decisions made at the higher levels of government, such as a decision to conduct nuclear tests in Nevada.

Neither are you entitled to payment merely because your injury happened to occur on government property. You must also have a first class nationally advertised parts and supplies and they are guaranteed to do the job. Whether you want piston rings, bearings or a new crankshaft these men can get it for you in a hurry.

Many car owners like to do their own repair work and they can save many dollars in that manner. The men employed here can give good advice to amateur mechanics and help them solve their repair problems.

A full line of auto accessories such as horns, batteries, head lights, spot lights, mirrors and legitimate cause for complaint. For example, a sightseer who slipped and fell in a corridor of the Capitol building was denied damages from the government, because there simply wasn't anything wrong with the floor.

It is in the ordinary negligence situations that you now have a right to sue Uncle Sam. To illustrate:

A motorist won damages from the government after his car was struck by a careless FBI agent.

A woman won damages from the government after she lost her footing and was injured on a slippery ramp at a Veterans' Hospital.

And a woman won damages from the government after a faulty window at the local post office came crashing down on her fingers.

In other words, nowadays the "King" not only can do wrong but also can be made to pay for it.

CIVIL RIGHTS PLAY NEW YORK (AP) - A stage adaptation of "The Liberation of Lord Byron Jones" is being prepared for Broadway showing, probably next season.

Collaborating on the job are Jesse Hill Ford, author of the novel about a civil rights episode in the South, and Sterling Silliphant, a TV-film scripter.

The play is to be produced by Romay Lubin who expects to make it into a movie later.
