Eagles Pick Plains 38 to 7 At Home Coming

Exes of OHS from as far back as 1923 to the Seniors of 1950 turned out for the annual ex student banquet held at the OHS Lunchroom Friday night. The exes were welcomed by a long admired teacher who is also an Ex of OHS, Mrs. Chas. Cathey, with Sumner Clayton giving the response. Supt. S. P. Johnson gave an interesting discussion on the progress of the public schools of O'Donnell since 1932. According to Mr. Johnson the enrollment has grown from 336 in 1932 to 923 at the present. The budget has increased from $15,000 to $145,000. The size of the district has increased from $750,000 to $4 million in valuation. The new buildings that have been erected include a gym, study hall, library, homemaking cottage, Vocational Agriculture building, band hall, bus barn, janitor house, colored school and a school cafeteria.

A short business meeting followed with Burl Koeninger, president, acting as chairman, and Mrs. Joe Harris, as the retiring secretary. Sumner Clayton, an Ex of 1930, was elected president and Ben Morrison of the 1935 class, was elected secretary for the ensuing year. A personal introduction was given each guest after the benediction by Wilbur Line.

The Exes then went to the O'Donnell and Plains game at Johnson Field in which the Eagles won 37 to 7. They were entertained at the half by the crowning of Miss Pat Etter as the 1950 Home Coming Queen.

The band marched onto the field forming a heart. The ex-queens of OHS came onto the field in a beautifully decorated float followed by the 1949 queen, Mrs. Harold Franklin, nee Janelle Lindley.

The Queen's attendants were: Frankie Jo Young escorted by Bob by James, Mary Frances Sanders escorted by Eldon Gill spie, Jimmie Dean Fultz, escorted by Kenneth Fannon, Elwanda Stalcup escorted by Kellias Davis formed an arch for the 1950 Queen, Miss Etter, escorted by the football captain, Leroy Gass and Benny Clark. ### Iowa Farm Earns $4.50 Per Acre Each Month

The average Iowa acre is earning between $4.50 and $5.00 a month, cash, the Iowa development commission reports. Which means that the average 160-acre farm, under good management, is bringing in $768, gross per month.

Last year Iowa farmers made $59.40 for each of the 34 1/2 million acres in farms in the Hawkeye state. That figures out $1.95 per month, per acre, or $495 per month for each 100 acres of Iowa land being farmed.

In the first six months of 1950—the leaner half of the farmer's year—Iowa farm income came to $77 per acre, or $4.80 per month, per acre. That still is $480 a month for every 100 acres of farm land.

The commission hastened to repeat that the figure is gross income. Out of it the farmer must pay for power and machinery, labor, feed, feeder stock and breeding stock, before he arrives at his own salary.

On a farm where there are many hogs to feed ideas that will save labor usually are appreciated. The storage tank for hog slop, shown in the above illustration, has been used on a number of farms successfully. Materials needed include two pieces of 3-inch pipe 6 inches long, one piece of 3-inch pipe 12 inches long and two 3-inch elbows and assemble them as shown in the illustration. Mount the barrel on a box 30 inches high, placed close to the fence so that the pipe may go through into the feeding trough. Make a plunger out of soft wood.

U.S. Consumer Demands Better Quality Meats
The national economic picture and the more nearly equalized meat production in relation to consumption are putting much greater emphasis on quality or grade of meat animals than was true in the last several years of meat scarcity, livestock specialists report. Live stock producers are now attempting to produce animals which nearly meet consumer demand for quality product.

Montana State college scientists are reaping benefits.

Commercial flower producers say the color of roses, cinerarias and Milk-fed vegetables also do much ordinary conditions.

The scientists reported the milk

*Are Our Texas Highways
Being Destroyed by 1% of Highway Users?*

This question is presented squarely for the first time by the Texas Tax Journal in its booklet, "The Case of the One Per Centers."

Every Texan who wants good highways, adequate for 99 of every 100 users, should write for a free copy of this revealing booklet.

Approximately 99% of all Texas motor vehicles are registered for a gross weight of 20,000 pounds or less.**

All Texas taxpayers, including your Texas
Railroads, have reason to be concerned about the high cost of constructing and repairing our highways and the prospect of building more costly roads made necessary by the operation of highway "box cars."

No one has any desire to bar vehicles of reasonable size from our highways, so long as each pays its fair share of construction and repair costs.

Other Texas taxpayers should not be required to shoulder the burden of a roadway system for highway "box cars", representing only 1% of highway users.

Every Texan interested in good highways without increasing the growing tax burden should fill out the coupon below and get a copy of this valuable booklet.

Truman-MacArthur Discuss Korea Reconstruction at Wake Meeting; Dewey Says He Won't Run in 1952

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

WAKE ISLAND: Talks Lack Something

On the hot, lonely little island of Wake in mid-Pacific, President Harry S. Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, two men who have had much to do with world destiny in the last few years, had a talk.

After it was over a statement was issued which said the two discussed a number of subjects vital to world problems. According to the press release they talked about reconstruction of Korea, the possibility of a Japanese peace treaty, and the general agreement to strive toward peace in unity with other U.N. nations.

The meeting was of great interest to the American public from another angle. MacArthur and Mr. Truman had never met and their conflicting views on a number of subjects had been reported in the press during recent months.

Reports of the meeting indicated that MacArthur had only a general idea of the topics to be discussed when he was asked to meet the President. It was also reported that Truman conducted the talks from an agenda scribbled on a pad.

Observers believed these reports gave an indication of the how and why of the meeting. The President had a number of topics to discuss with the U.N. commander and he limited the talks to that agenda. It was also suggestive, some observers believed, that Mr. Truman was acting in his capacity as President and commander-in-chief and not as a man seeking advice.

On the surface the meeting was cordial. In farewell, MacArthur said: "Good-by, sir. Happy landing. It has been a real honor to talk with you."

But the other MacArthur seemed revealed when he said good-by to Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff: "Good-by, Omar. Don't let them get you down up there."

To the observer not so close to hand, the MacArthur-Truman meeting seemed to lack something, although no one has been able to say definitely just what.

DEWEY: A Bombshell

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tossed a political bombshell upon the national scene by saying flatly he would not run for President in 1952 and would back Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican nomination.

The governor had no more than made his statement when other liberal Republicans, including Harold Stassen, backed the move.

"Under no circumstances that I can conceive," Dewey said, "will I accept the nomination for President in 1952, and I doubt if there is any possibility the situation would arise thereafter."

The Democrats had nothing to say about Dewey's announcement. President Truman when informed of it was reported to have murmured "that's fine" and continued his swim in the Pacific.

A number of political figures, however, recalled that the governor said shortly before he announced for the third term as governor of New York, he would not be a candidate for that office again.

The last time Eisenhower mentioned politics he said he did not want to identify himself with any one political party. He added that "I have no political connections, no political ambitions, and don't want any connections with politics."

HARD TO BELIEVE

Nine Firms Announce Price Cuts

In these days when the public seems to be fair game for all kinds of price boosts, it's hard to believe that nine companies announced price cuts. The cuts were on bag-packed coffee, airplane parts and asphalt tile.

The A & P company and Grand Union company, retail grocery chains, announced reductions on the price of their various brands of bag

Headliners

"Firm action in Korea must not lull us into a sense of false security. What happened in Korea has set world peace on stronger foundations. There may be time to build up a European army with strong aid from Britain, the United States and Canada," Winston Churchill told a cheering mass rally of the Conservative party.

"As for myself, my convictions as to the place and methods through which I can best contribute something to the cause of freedom have been often expressed. They have not changed. Here at Columbia University I have a task that would excite the pride and challenge the qualifications and strength of any man. I still believe that it offers to such an individual as myself rich opportunities for serving." General Eisenhower said in answer to Thomas Dewey's suggestion he become the Republican candidate for president in 1952.

THE DRAFT: Fathers in Line

National Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey, worried about where the men are coming from for the draft, announced he might ask the President to erase almost all draft dependency deferments except for fathers. Later he said he even favored taking some men with children.

Hershey said it might be necessary to take some fathers if the goal of three million men in the armed forces by next June was to be met.

Meanwhile 19,000 young physicians, dentists and veterinarians registered for a possible 21 months' military service. Of the total, 1,522 face induction by January 15 unless they volunteer first.

If there are too few volunteers the army will begin an induction program November 15 by taking 300 physicians, 300 dentists and 50 veterinarians. Another 322 doctors, 200 dentists and 50 veterinarians will be called by January 15.

All doctors through age 50 eventually must register, but the first group includes only those deferred during World War II to train at their own or government expense and saw less than 21 months service.

Investigators

Sen. Estes Kefauver, chairman of the U.S. senate crime investigating committee, confers with chief counsel Rudolph Halley and his assistant, Alfred Klein. Kefauver's committee has revealed major crime syndicates in a number of U. S. cities.

Boeing Airplane of Seattle Announced It Was Reducing by 10 per cent the price on all stratosphere spare parts. The cut was retroactive to September 1.

Armstrong Cork company put price reductions of about 5 per cent in effect on standard asphalt tile. Coffee prices had been on the upswing for many months.

CAP Rapidly Expands Services Since Outbreak of Korean War

Since the outbreak of the war in Korea, enrollments have rocketed to a new all-time peak in the Civil Air Patrol, the volunteer civilian pilots' organization which helped fight German submarines off our coasts with frail "puddle-jumper" landplanes in the early years of World War II, and also gave basic school training to many thousands of high schoolers who later became military pilots.

JACKIE KELK, now in his 11th year as "Homer" in radio's "The Aldrich Family", is the perennial teen-ager on the air. In private life he is an astute young business man with profitable real estate investments. He is co-author of a musical, "Little Boy Blue", based on his own life, which was directed by screen star Gene Kelly when it was produced in Hollywood last month; he'll have the leading role if it is done in New York. Yet he is never too busy to entertain the men at veterans' hospitals, continuing his work during the war, when he appeared at training camps and gave both time and effort to recruiting drives for army and navy.

Paramount has re-established a service introduced during World War II. Motion picture theatre patrons who can identify sons, husbands or sweethearts in Paramount News clips of military training camps or battle areas can obtain these clips free of charge, with instructions for having them enlarged. Thousands of clips were sent out during the last war.

Sterling Hayden has returned to Paramount, the studio which took him off a sailing ship and boosted him to overnight stardom. He made two pictures with Madeleine Carroll, married her, then got into the war and made a brilliant record as captain on secret O. S. S. duty under the name of John Hamilton. Recently a free-lance, he has signed a long-term contract.

Humphrey Bogart refused to play a scene in a sound stage subway for "The Enforcer", persuaded Director Windust to rewrite the scene with a bus background. His shamed explanation—that riding subways makes him sick!

Gary Cooper plans on making one more picture after "Dallas" and then going to Africa again for some big game hunting. This time he will also take a camera, hoping to get enough good shots for a short subject at least.

Today the flying "minute men" of the CAP are giving basic training directly to over 22,000 cadet members, aged 15 to 18; besides this their ground school program is installed as an accredited course in hundreds of public high schools; they are in training themselves and are training new members for civilian defense problems, participation in air-search rescue work and anti-sabotage patrol. Their "service pay" consists of the privilege of buying their own uniforms and of contributing dues to cover their regular operating expenses.

TOTAL MEMBERSHIP of CAP has topped the 175,000 mark and is still climbing. There is a rapid shift of inactive senior members to active status again.

The CAP radio communications network available for either civilian or military emergencies, has expanded from 538 stations thinly covering some two-thirds of the area of continental United States in 1949, to approximately 6,500 stations blanketing the United States and extending to Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. The network is equipped with government surplus radio telephone material, serviced and operated by CAP instructors and their cadet radio communications students.

SOME 6,000 CAP cadets attended summer encampments at 32 air force bases for intensive study of jet engine operation and maintenance, radar detection work, and other ground school training subjects. The cadets were ferried in air force transport planes from their home states to their encampment location, and back again.

In the so-called peacetime years since VJ day, CAP volunteer pilots have done a large share of the air-search-rescue flying, to locate lost planes and crash victims; they have logged hundreds of hours of forest fire patrol; have participated in "haylift" operations after western blizzards; have flown medicines into flooded areas. In a number of such emergencies the CAP radio communications network has been the only means of outside contact with flooded or stormswep areas.

In 1948 congress gave CAP permanent status as an auxiliary of the air force, which provides an AF-CAP liaison headquarters with a compact air force staff in each state to coordinate activities of the civilian volunteer organization with those of the military men.

Cuban Solomon Solves Lovers' Problem With Justice

By BILLY ROSE

Last night at Lindy's a bunch of us were making small talk between big mouthfuls, and as per usual the conversation ran the full gamut—from girls to girls.

A little before closing time we got around to a well-known Power's model who had been going steady with a press agent pal of ours, and who was recently lured away from him by the financial blandishments of a well-heeled heel.

"All lady-stealers ought to be buried up to their necks in sand and the ants turned loose," said Mark Barron who covers the theatre for A.P.

"In Cuba," said Charlie Moses, the film distributor, "they have even more interesting punishments than that for dame-nappers. As a matter of fact, there's one particular story they've been telling for years down there which illustrates how they let the punishment fit the crime."

"Spare us the puns," I said, "and let's have the story in a few easy paragraphs . . ."

According to Charlie, it all happened a hundred and something years ago when Cuba was under Spanish rule.

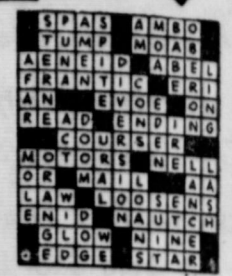

ONE DAY AT A fiesta, a scrumptious senorita named Josefina was having herself a time with her boy friend, a prepossessing but peso-less caballero named Roberto, when she

THE FICTION CORNER

TRICKY DARLINGS

By Richard H. Wilkinson

JOHN Carlton would never go so far as to say his daughter, Jane, was stubborn. He chose to call it an independent spirit, a desire to lead her own life, make her own way in the world.

Actually Jane was a duplicate of old John in character and disposition. Old John recognized the resemblance.

3-Minute Fiction

Knowing Jane as he did, and loving her as he did, gave Old John a decided advantage. He knew what methods to employ when he wanted her to do something.

Jane was beautiful. She attracted men, lots of them.

Old John frowned on Jane's reckless regard for love. He frowned on the young men who paid her court. All but one, it seemed to him, were worthless.

The one, Phil Scot by name, a son of Old John's closest friend, appeared to possess the requisites of a good husband. In the first place he had a job. Secondly, he worked hard and had ambition to do big things. Thirdly, his attentions toward Jane were honorable and sincere.

Old John was too wise to suggest to Jane that she consider Phil Scot as a possible husband. Despite the fact that he knew that Jane did not regard Phil with disfavor, he knew, also, that the moment she became aware of her father's prejudice poor Phil wouldn't stand a chance.

"Look here, Jane," he said one day, "I notice you've been seeing that young Scot fellow a good deal lately. I absolutely wouldn't stand for his type as a son-in-law."

Jane was beautiful. She attracted men, lots of them. She was, in fact, a bit reckless about it all, and refused flatly to take the matter seriously.

Jane's surprise gave way to anger. "Phil Scot," she said defiantly, "is a darling. Of all the boys I know Phil stands head and shoulders above the rest. And," she added, "you'd better like it because he's the man I'm going to marry."

Old John scowled. "He'll never be a son-in-law of mine. So you'd better begin forgetting him now."

AN hour later Albert J. Scot, a young Phil's father, completed a telephone conversation with his oldest and closest friend, John Carlton, and summoned his son.

"Phil," he began, frowning deeply, "it seems to me you've been paying a good deal of attention to that Carlton girl lately. I want it stopped! Understand! She's nothing but a flirt and a social butterfly."

Phil was aghast. "But, Dad, she's the daughter of your oldest friend! I thought . . . that is . . . well, you see I like Jane a lot. I was in hopes . . ."

"Well, cease hoping," Scot senior cut in.

A WEEK LATER Old John and Albert Scot were sipping drinks and exchanging congenialities on the veranda of the former's home. A car stopped out front and two young people came up the walk. The two young people stopped and smiled pleasantly.

Jane Carlton said: "I'm sorry to disappoint you, father, but John and I are married. We love each other, and, despite the fact that neither you nor Mr. Scot approves of the match, we're going to live our lives as we see fit."

"And," said Phil Scot defiantly, "if you don't like it, you can lump it."

Old John and Albert T. Scot exchanged glances. They laughed. They slapped each other on the back and roared with delight.

Jane and Phil looked on in bewilderment. After awhile Old John wiped his eyes and explained the conspiracy the pair had concocted.

Jane looked at Phil and Phil looked at Jane and Jane said:

"How clever. You won't mind, then, when we tell you we've been married for two months! We've kept it secret till Phil got a raise in pay. He got it today and tomorrow we're leaving on our honeymoon. You two can sit here and think up ways and means of running our lives when we get back."

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Girl Athletes
Feminine, Too

By Lawrence Gould

Are women athletes "unfeminine"?

Answer: Not always, by any means—it is a matter of the "culture" they grow up in. The more generally customary it becomes for girls to go in for sports, the less "unfeminine" girl athletes will be. But when a woman takes up what she was taught to think of as a masculine activity, one may suspect that she does so as a more or less unconscious protest against what she feels to be the limitations of her sex, and that she cares more about proving she can do anything a man can than about the sport in which she is engaging.

ness that has no intrinsic color looks gray compared with a relatively black or white one. But black and white are not really colors, either; they, too, vary in proportion to the effect of the amount of luminosity on the eyes of the beholder.

Does fluent speaking prove you are sincere?

Answer: No, though it tends to give that impression to the hearer. Fluency shows merely that the speaker is familiar with his subject and is free from inhibitions, both of which may be so whether he believes what he is saying or not. Especially when he's trying to express a new idea, a sincere person is apt to be slightly hesitant because he wants to be sure to convey his meaning accurately. But of course, a "prepared" speech or radio talk is different—the work has been done beforehand and fluency does not mean glibness.

Is gray a real color?

Answer: Not in the sense in which such colors as red and blue are, says Ralph M. Evans in the Journal of the Optical Society of America. For you cannot see gray unless you are looking at two areas or different degrees of lightness and comparing one with the other. An object of medium light-

KEEPING HEALTHY

Prevent Tooth Decay With Fluorine

By Dr. James W. Barton

AS A MEMBER OF A COMMUNITY, you naturally have the health of the community, which includes your own health and the health of your family, in mind. A healthy community is bound to be a happy community, other things being equal. As a member of the community you may be asked to vote on some public health project, and you may wonder whether the project is worth while, or merely a fad.

Two possible propositions have to do with the water supply. One is whether iodine should be added to the water to prevent goiter. It can now be stated, with abundant high authority behind it, that in some districts, particularly in the region of the Great Lakes, iodine should be added.

The other health proposition is that of adding fluorides to the water supply. Some years ago it was found that the inhabitants of a certain county in a certain state were almost free of decayed teeth.

Investigation showed that the water and the soil there contained a certain percentage of fluorides. Previous experience with fluorides where the percentage was much higher had caused mottling of the teeth.

Experiments have been carried out in different parts of the United States and Canada in which small amounts of fluoride salts (in the proportion of 1 to 1.5 parts per million) were added to the water systems of town and cities. All reports were favorable to this method of preventing tooth decay.

In the Journal of the American Dental Association, Dr. Francis A. Bull, Madison, Wis., states, "The addition of fluorides to domestic water supplies has now been recommended as a decay-control measure by the U.S. Public Health Service to approval of the state and local health authorities and dental and medical professions. Large scale control tests have been carried on within the past five years in a number of cities."

Interflowing Life

Lesson for November 12, 1950

AN AUSTRALIAN minister once remarked: "If ever a church could be found whose members treated one another better than people treat one another on the outside, the world would flock to its doors." In that exaggerated remark there is a pointed truth. As a matter of fact, that was the case in the early church and the world did flock to its doors. From six score people that church grew to 5,000 in no time, and in less than three centuries it was the religion of a world-empire.

Dr. Foreman

ON THE "outside" what is the rule? David Harum put it in a nutshell: "Do unto your neighbor what he would like to do to you." "Every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost." "Every man has his price." "Look out for Number 1." "Blessed is he that tooteth his own horn, for he that tooteth not his own horn, the same shall not be tooted."

People get tired of living in a world like that. Something tells them that the everlasting scramble is not the way to live, there must be a better way. Suppose they could look down the street and see that better way actually being put into practice by a little community of people? They ought to be able to see it wherever there is a Christian church. But—is the average church that kind of community? Do the members treat one another (on Mondays, that is) with more understanding, consideration and affection than the local atheists or Non-Christians show toward one another? Indeed, is there anything whatever that seems to link these First What-is Church people together with a common bond?

Making Fellowship Real
IN A large city there will be a page or more of Smiths in the telephone directory. These all have the same name, but most of them don't know one another and don't care. Too often it is this way with Christians even in the same congregation. They all bear the same name, but that is about all.

What they ought to have is fellowship. This is not a mere word. It can be a real thing. It is like a two-way blood transfusion, in the realm of personality. It is interflowing life. It can be the source of the Christian's finest growth and service. Musicians develop musically through sharing with other musicians. Every "Future Farmer of America" is going to be a better and more enthusiastic farmer through his associations with the F.F.A.

So our Christian faith and life are kept glowing and growing through the fellowship of like-minded persons. One thing your Sunday school class, and indeed the whole congregation, may well consider seriously, even adopting it as your Project for the Year is this: What can we do to make fellowship more real in our church?

Wider Horizons
CHRISTIAN fellowship needs not only to be enriched; it needs to be enlarged. In a town or section where denominational lines run sharply across the population, there is too much cross-fire. Such a community has a hard time being a community. Many a denomination has been afflicted with the disease of pride. Loyalty to one's own denomination too easily replaces loyalty to the kingdom of God.

Whatever be your own church connection, there are unnumbered true Christians outside the bounds of your church. Do you know them? Do you worship with them from time to time? Do you encourage visitors from other churches? Not only in other denominations but across lines of race and color you can find a thrill in coming close to Christians who may even be much better Christians than yourself.

Young people in your church may be interested in a new organization which is interested in bringing together the thinking of young people in every land. Young Christians can bring to such a project the insight and the spirit of Christian Faith, and learn to know young Christians in other lands than ours. "Youth of All Nations" at 16 St. Luke's Place, New York 14, N. Y. serves as a clearing-house for the exchange of letters and will be glad to hear from you.

KOREA:

Now Rehabilitation

Except for isolated guerrilla action, the war in Korea was over. The end was hastened by spectacular parachute drops of U. S. troops between Pyongyang and the Manchurian border to block escape of North Korea troops.

As the end came, however, the world was horrified by reports of new atrocities against U. N. troops in Communist hands. Red leaders had long since escaped into Manchuria, most of them fleeing when U. N. troops crossed the 38th parallel.

Now the United Nations is faced with the rehabilitation of Korea, estimated by a U. S. survey at $200,000,000. The figure was described as a rough estimate and many observers believed comparable sums would have to be furnished annually for at least two or three years to put Korea back on its feet.

The rehabilitation of Korea was one of the big issues discussed by President Truman and General MacArthur during their recent meeting at Wake island.

An indication of the job ahead was given when Reginald H. R. Parminster, special adviser to the U. N. on Korean affairs, told the assembly committee working on rehabilitation that over $36 million in relief supplies already had been received.

Members of the U. N. have offered supplies and cash totaling from $12,000,000 to $13,000,000. Another $5,000,000 was expected.

Politicians

U.S. EMPLOYEES

Total of New High

Salaries of government employees will cost the average U. S. family about $402 for the year 1950, compared to $155 in 1929, the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life reports.

Because the grand total of federal, state and local government civilian employees has approximately doubled in the 21 years since 1929, while the U. S. population has increased by only about a fourth, each average government worker's salary for eight weeks out of each year, compared with five and a half weeks' salary borne by each family in 1929.

Salaries of federal state and local civilian employees totalled $4,650,000,000 for 1929, were approximately $16,000,000,000 for 1949, and are estimated at about $16,500,000,000 for 1950.

The number of persons on public payrolls fluctuates from month to month, but the roster of civilian government workers will average in the neighborhood of 6,050,000 for the 12 months of 1950.

RUSSIA:

Internal Troubles?

Perhaps it is wishful thinking upon the part of the western powers, but rumors persist that Russia and certain of her satellite states are having renewed trouble with discontented elements of their own subjects.

Nothing in the nature of mass uprisings had been reported. Rumored incidents in the Ukraine, Czechoslovakia and Romania appeared to be on an isolated scale. Nevertheless, the reported incidents, if true, indicate increasing bold resistance to Communist domination behind the iron curtain.

One report told of widespread riots and sabotage in Slovakia where the Communists have experienced trouble since they seized control of Czechoslovakia in the spring of 1948.

Other reports told of renewed resistance to the Communist regime in the Ukraine. Some 2,000 persons were reported arrested in the Kiev area.

Reports persist that the overwhelming majority of the people in the satellite states remain opposed to Soviet domination. This certainly would seem wishful thinking upon the part of western diplomats.

U.S. DEBT:

$218,600 Million

The commerce department reported that the federal government went deeper in debt this year than all the private firms and individuals put together. The total net debt was put at $218,600 million.

The total owed by private firms and individuals was reported at $205,500 million. State and local governments owed another $18,100 million. The government's debt increased $2,100 million in 1949.
