A parade Thursday at 7:30 p m will open the rodeo.

This year the rodeo grounds will be equipped to seat 600 fans in elevated seats, also there's a good parking room. Season tickets good for 4 shows will be sold at $1.00.

Burson, Hulon Bolch, Ross Smith, Jimmy Hash, Shorty Lamb, John Stephens, Pat McKibben, Junior Light, Melvin Pierce, G. R. Pierce, Jimmy Schooler, and Glenn Gibbs.

Booster trip set for Friday. Friday June 20th there will be a booster trip leaving O'Donnell at about 8:30 a. m. visiting Tahoka, Brownfield, Seagraves, Seminole, Lamesa, Gall, Snyder and Post to advertise the 3-day show. Some 40 cars are being registered for the road trip.

A sister, Mrs. Winn of Aspermont, and a nephew, Kenneth, and wife and daughter of Sweetwater visited Mrs. G. P. Bray over the week end.

Paul Mansell is the retiring post commander. During the past year the group has done well financially toward their building program. At the meeting there was discussion of the need for a hospital here and a resident doctor.

THREE ISSUES O. K'D BY VOTERS OF SCHOOL DISTRICT

Voters of the O'Donnell Independent school district Saturday overwhelmingly approved three election issues that would raise the school maintenance tax, provide funds for completing additions to the school plant and provide assumption of bonds of the Draw district. The voters approved 54 to 9 the issuance of $25,000 in bonds to complete additions to the school -- a study hall and library. In an election last year, $75,000 was voted but it was found not sufficient. The maintenance tax rate was approved by a vote of 54 to 11, at $1.50 and the assumption of the bonds was approved 56 to 8.

SUFFERS BURNS IN FARM ACCIDENT

Donald Street was painfully burned Friday evening when gasoline from a tractor became ignited and burned Donald's clothing. He was immediately rushed to a Lamesa hospital and his father, B. B. Street, said Don was greatly improved Monday. He suffered some 3rd degree burns and surface burns on his neck, chest and arms.

As the Index understands the accident, a pan of gasoline was atop the battery of the tractor on which Donald was working. Probably a spark from the battery ignited the gasoline and as a result the flaming fuel caught Mr. Street's clothes afire.

H. and S. Auto and Home Supply is headquarters for Perfection Oil Stoves, and Perfection repair parts for stoves.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR BUMPER CROP IS SEEN

Sunday evening 11-100 inches of rain fell in a blustery thunderstorm with rain reaching about 1-3 inch in vicinity of Lamesa and about 1-4 inch in vicinity of Tahoka. Rain was generally light west of here and heavier in the Mesquite and Berry Flat area than in O'Donnell.

The middle of June finds this section in a splendid condition so far as crops go. There will be two or three times as much wheat marketed here as has ever been seen in the past. This fact coupled with the grazing which wheat afforded thru the winter guarantees almost all profit since grazing usually pays for all incidental expenses of a wheat crop on the plains.

Reports from over the area indicate that just about all cotton has been knifed and this means the plant has reached a position of relative safety. A few "cotton" showers will now insure a bountiful yield. Many farmers predict another 1937, remembering that 42,000 bales were ginned in the town of O'Donnell, one gin having set a world's record of some 10,000 bales for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bray and daughter of Dallas are visiting with his mother, Mrs. G. P. Bray.

Don't be caught at canning season without one of H. and S.'s high quality and guaranteed steam pressure cookers.

Your electric refrigerator is waging a continuous war against food waste in your home by providing constant temperatures of forty degrees and below -- the food safety zone.
- 2. Economical Operation
Electric refrigerators have long enjoyed an enviable record of economical operation. Operating costs of new electric refrigerators now making their appearance in ever-increasing numbers average well under one dollar a month.

More than half the electric refrigerators now in use are eight or more years old. Many electric refrigerator owners have refrigerators that have never faltered during their years of dependable day-and-night service.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR BETTER REFRIGERATION

- Don't place hot foods in your refrigerator. Let them cool first.
- Don't open the refrigerator door more often than necessary.
- Defrost frequently, at least once a week. Thick frost lowers efficiency.
- Leave space between refrigerator and wall to allow air to circulate.

Senate Chaplain Marshall Offers Challenging Prayer

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON. — Many words spoken beneath the high-arched dome of the capitol become first page news. But seldom quoted are the words which appear beginning with the third paragraph of the first page of the Congressional Record. However twice recently they were quoted — a nd widely. They were preceded by two first paragraphs which for the past 10 years have varied only as to the proper names and hour mentioned therein:—

"The senate met at 11 o'clock a. m. on the expiration of the recess."

"The chaplain, Rev. Peter Marshall, D. D., offered the following prayer:—"

(Then came "paragraph three," including the part of the prayer offered for that day that appealed to me):

"Forbid it, Lord, that we should walk through thy beautiful world with unseeing eyes. Forgive us, our Father, for taking our good things for granted, so that we are in danger of losing the fine art of appreciation. With such dire need in every other part of the world, make us so grateful for the bounties we enjoy that we shall try, by Thy help, to deserve them more. Where we are wrong, make us willing to change, and where we are right, make us easy to live with."

I repeated that last paragraph on my broadcast because one of my associates had called it to my attention that morning. Since then I have been getting letters from all over the country asking for copies of that prayer. Earlier (though I had not noticed the items) Time magazine had carried a story about Chaplain Marshall, and Newsweek magazine had quoted part of another prayer:

"Help us to do our very best this day and be content with today's troubles, so that we shall not borrow the troubles of tomorrow. Save us from the sin of worrying, lest stomach ulcers be the badge of our lack of faith. Amen."

I think my choice is a fairer sample of Marshalliana. But both selections reveal one characteristic of the doctor's utterances, which perhaps is a reason for his popularity. He is able to reduce religion to the simplest and most understandable terms—his simile (like those of his Teacher) are taken out of our daily life.

Peter Marshall is an interesting person as well as a popular preacher.

Immigrant Boy Fulfills Ambition

Dr. Marshall's personal history is reminiscent of early Horatio Alger. He came to this country from a foreign land because he believed America was the land of opportunity. But his story is unique in this: He came, not with the dream of "making his fortune," but to fulfill an ambition for neither wealth nor power, but simply to get a theological education.

He was born in Coatsville in Lanarkshire, Scotland. His father died when he was little, and Marshall was raised by his mother and stepfather, who sent him to public school and later to a technical institution. On graduation, he took a position in a tube-manufacturing concern.

But he wanted to be a minister, and he decided it would be easier to obtain an education for this calling in the United States. He came to this country in his early twenties; found work in New Jersey, but soon had an opportunity to go to Alabama where he joined the business department of the Birmingham News. With the help of some friends who became interested in this pleasant Scottish boy with the intriguing burr and the inspired goal, he was able to enter Columbia Theological seminary, from which he was graduated in 1931.

He held two pastorates in Georgia, and made the acquaintance of the young lady who is now his wife. In 1937, he was called to the historic "Church of the Presidents" in Washington, a church which has numbered among its worshippers John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson, William Henry Harrison, James Buchanan, Andrew Johnson, Millard Fillmore, Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt and Abraham Lincoln, whose pew, left as it was when he used it, is a shrine for tourists.

Dr. Marshall was elected chaplain of the senate on January 4 of this year, and it might be well to record a bit of recent history as a background to his selection.

Dr. Ze Barney Phillips was chaplain of the senate for 15 years—from 1927 to 1942. When he died, many senators had favorite candidates for his job. They "auditioned" them, just like radio announcers—although the ministers didn't know they were being auditioned, and no senator would admit such a thing.

From among the candidates, Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, Methodist, emerged victorious, gossips say, because he delivered the shortest prayer. Later on Dr. Harris' prayers became longer, a common phenomenon among senate chaplains according to some of the old timers in congress. What they don't add is that in the speech-making body in the country, the affliction may be contagious.

Traditionally, filling of the chaplain's post is a majority party prerogative, and so when the Republican 80th congress convened, after disposing of the question of Senator

The Rev. Peter Marshall, D.D., senate chaplain, offered a prayer that probed deep into the consciousness of the nation's busy, harassed legislators.

Bilbo's qualifications, Senator Wherry arose to offer a resolution that Dr. Marshall be elected chaplain of the senate.

But Wherry's proposal touched off an argument occupying nine close-typed columns in the Congressional Record. (No chaplain would dare deliver a sermon THAT long.)

Democratic Sen. Alben Barkley maintained that Dr. Harris had done a fine job and should be retained. He added that politics should not be permitted to touch the office of senate chaplain. He opined that Republicans were "offering a very poor example for the time when the Democrats resume control of the body two years from now." (1948—1951)

Republican Senator Bridges was shocked at the implication that politics might be involved. Why, he protested, he didn't even know Dr. Marshall's politics.

But the Republicans had their majority, Dr. Marshall got the job, and as far as I can learn, nobody has regretted the choice.

There are some Washingtonians who have read and listened to this Scottish boy whom America has awarded for achievement in a calling in which there are often few earthly awards, who feel that his presence in the Lincoln church is quite as "appropriate" as his appointment as chaplain of the senate. They feel that if the ghost of the Great Emancipator ever slips into his old pew of a Sunday, he smiles in approval of the simple, earthy truisms, not too unlike his own, which come down from one pulpit in that friendly Scottish burr, with the same terse impact with which they echo from the rostrum of the senate.

SLIM CHANCE

Survey Indicates No Depression

WASHINGTON. — Chances of a depression in the near future appear slim, in the opinion of a committee of congressmen studying the nation's economy.

In its report, the joint senate-house economic committee disclosed that most of the 583 persons who answered a survey expect a "mild recession" this fall. The committee concluded, however, that "answers to the economic questions do not give any real support to the theory that we are nearing a depression."

The survey showed "general

THREE YEARS AFTER DESTRUCTION . . . It has been just three years since American and Allied troops stormed the beaches of Normandy on D-Day to begin the invasion of Europe. Streets like this one in Caen, France, raged with bullets and mortar shells, and it would have been impossible then for a little girl to walk along the sidewalk carrying bread for the family's dinner. But now the war looks far away.

NEWS REVIEW

Shipping Crisis Impends; Predict High Feed Prices

Fears of a minor crisis in railway shipping in mid-July have been expressed by federal transportation experts in view of an apparent slowdown in freight car construction.

Contributing factors are mounting industrial production coupled with increasingly heavy wheat export movements, and officials predict that the "minor crisis" could swiftly develop into a major transportation block unless steps are taken to ease the traffic slowdown or prevent it from occurring.

With fate of the now financially embarrassed Office of Defense Transportation still undecided, the Interstate Commerce commission has been requested to assume full responsibility for continuing orders requiring full loading of boxcars in the event that congress does not extend the life of ODT beyond its June 30 expiration date.

Meantime, ODT has sent investigators to freight car building companies to probe reports that allocated steel tonnages have not gone entirely into the 10,000-a-month car construction program.

Reports for the first half of May indicated that only 1,751 freight cars were built, 81 short of the number constructed during the corresponding period in April.

Explanation offered by the car builders is that inadequate steel supplies and strikes within the industry have been responsible for the grave decline in freight car construction. That view, however, is discounted by federal officials who point out that the government forced the steel industry to provide the necessary 200,000 tons of steel for the 10,000-a-month goal.

FEED PRICES: To Stay Up

Prospects for the 1947 feed crops will be an important influence on feed prices, according to a department of agriculture report.

The very strong foreign demand for grain is expected to continue to support prices through 1947 and into 1948; although if production of feed is as large as in recent years, feed prices probably will decline, at least seasonally, in the last half of 1947.

Corn prices this summer, the report predicted, will average higher than the June, 1946, ceilings, but lower than in the summer of 1946 after price controls lapsed.

The department's survey went on to reveal that reports in early May indicated that approximately 832 million bushels of 1946 corn would be marketed this season. That figure would be 50 per cent greater than the 1938-42 average and 14 per cent above the previous record sales from the 1944 crop. Farm sales of other feed grains from 1946 crops also ran generally larger.

SWINGBACK: Braden Quits

Spruille Braden, longtime advocate of and principal force behind this country's hard-headed attitude toward Fascist-inclined Argentina, has resigned as assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin-American affairs.

To succeed him in that post, President Truman was expected to nominate Norman Armour of New Jersey, top-flight career diplomat.

Armour previously served as American envoy in the Argentine and is well known and liked there. Latin-American reaction to his appointment was expected to be highly favorable.

Acceptance of Braden's resignation by President Truman was generally regarded as a strong implication that the United States is ready to swing back to a policy of appeasement in Latin America. It was anticipated that the changed attitude would take the form of "just a little appeasement" of Latin-American Fascist dictators, particularly Juan D. Peron, president of Argentina.

Braden, long a foe of Peron and his methods, told Mr. Truman in a letter that personal responsibilities compelled him to return to private business.

Departure of Braden from the state department followed closely on the heels of his being overruled by the administration on two basic issues in inter-American relations: Supplying of arms to Latin-American nations and formation of a military alliance with other republics in the western hemisphere.

Earlier Taft had declared that he believed President Truman and the Democratic administration had abandoned efforts to bring prices down in favor of "heavy lending" abroad. He contended such lending would keep domestic prices up.

Big Bombers to Get Maine Base

Army Air Forces Announce Work to Begin Soon at Canadian Border.

WASHINGTON.—A base for the heaviest and longest range bombers will be built by the United States in Aroostook county, Maine, the corner of the nation closest to troubled Europe.

The army air forces disclosed this important development in the nation's strategic planning in a routine announcement that work would begin soon on construction of the new base, four miles from the Canadian border. It probably will be completed in the fall of 1948, at a cost estimated at between 13 and 14 million dollars.

Superbomber Base.

While the announcement did not mention particular types of bombers, the AAF now uses B-29s and expects delivery in the near future of B-50s and later B-36s. Unless a new very heavy bombardment (VHB) command is created before the field goes into use, it is probable that one of the two forces of the strategic air command, the 8th or 15th air forces, will operate superbombers from it.

The new field, to be built four miles northwest of the village of Limestone, is about 30 miles northeast of the AAF base at Presque Isle, Me., starting point for trans-Atlantic flights during the war.

When asked why a new base was being constructed instead of improving one of the existing bases in the area, an AAF official said that "the criteria for very heavy bombardment bases have increased so much that no field in the area could be converted as quickly or cheaply as can be done by constructing a new base."

While the official did not elaborate, his reference to the increased requirements for a base suggested that the runways would be capable of handling the huge B-36s, which will be able to carry 36 tons of bombs. This airplane, far heavier than the wartime B-29, is understood to be too heavy for most existing runways.

10,000-Foot Runway.

Construction plans call for a runway 10,000 feet long by 300 feet wide, taxiways 100 feet wide, parking aprons 700 by 2,000 feet, a hangar 300 by 370 feet (wing span of the B-36 is 230 feet); sewage disposal plant, water supply system and electric power system capable of serving 2,000 men and which can be expanded later; operations building and control tower and barracks and dining hall facilities for a security detachment of 250 men.

Local labor and construction materials will be utilized as far as possible, the AAF said.

It was recalled that the army and navy jointly announced a new unified military command system last winter which included a northeast command. Beyond the original official announcement that such a command would "include U. S. bases and forces in the northeastern approaches to the United States," no description of this plan had been issued up to now.

Speculation has been that the northeast command would be headed by an air officer.

Wives of G.I.s Can Learn To Cook on $50 a Month

IOWA CITY, IOWA.—Wives of G.I. students at Iowa university are going to school to learn how to cook on $50 a month.

Special classes have been set up, under sponsorship of the Red Cross nutrition committee. The idea came into being when a number of veterans' wives, pressed by a tight budget and spiraling prices, voiced a need for economical ways of preparing food.

"It's almost impossible to live on $90 a month, and it's worse when you're learning to cook from a cook-book," one said.

Report Miracles in Cairo Church, Paper Announces

CAIRO, EGYPT.—Le Progres Egyptian, Cairo newspaper, said that a man paralyzed 10 years became able to walk and that a 9-year-old child blind since birth gained his eyesight in two St. George's day miracles in the Greek Orthodox St. George's church.

The paper added that Patriarch Christophoros "of Alexandria and all Africa," who officiated at a solemn mass, later announced the reported double miracle to a crowd of worshippers observing the saint's anniversary, on which they believe the church each year becomes miraculous.

General Store Thriving With No Stock on Shelves

FALLS CITY, NEB.—George Lockhard, former sailor, has an unusual business. He operates a general store with no stock on its shelves.

Lockhard buys and sells anything for anybody. People merely list with him items they wish to sell and he sells them. Recently in one day he sold a 10-cent rubber ball and an $800 corncripper.

Currently, he has about 700 items listed, including nine fur coats and numerous heaters

Over Million Spent In Cancer Research

Detection Clinics Taking Part In Intensive Campaign.

NEW YORK.—Expenditures for cancer research passed the million-dollar mark this year for the first time.

This uprush is just the beginning that promises to put cancer research in the multi-million dollar class, as a result of campaigns for money by American Cancer society and appropriations of the federal government.

More than 10 years was needed to arouse the public and the medical profession to anything more than a few-hundred-thousand-dollar annual research program against the disease that is the second cause of death.

To the 17 million Americans now living who, by the predictions of American Cancer society, will get cancer, there is another phase of this upsurge that is far more interesting and personally important. This is cancer detection clinics.

Where there were only one or two dozen clinics two years ago, there are now 119 in the United States.

Most of the present hope of saving the lives of cancer victims of the immediate future centers in these and similar clinics to come. They catch cancer early, the only period when it is likely to be curable.

It is illuminating to contrast all the past history of cancer cures with the estimate of what could be done by early treatment.

American Cancer society's figures are that 95 per cent of skin cancer could be cured, 75 per cent of breast, 75 per cent of uterine and 95 per cent of lip. But the entire list of cured cancers, as kept by American College of Surgeons, is under 50,000.

There are many sites of cancer not included in the estimates of high percentage cures by early treatment. But one thing is certain about these, that more will be cured through early examination.

He Just Had to Wake Up With All This Happening

PORTLAND, ORE.—An auto sheared off a power pole, knocked out electrical service in a large part of the city, set off burglar alarms, put a substitution out of commission, sent traffic signals haywire—and woke up the driver. Francis W. McBride, 21, the driver, saw that three wires had fallen on the car, and leaped clear, unhurt.

Legless World War Vet Manages Farm, Drives Auto

HERRIN, ILL.—Lester Ogden has no legs but he's working a 70-acre southern Illinois farm.

The 37-year-old World War II amputee has turned the seemingly impossible trick with an assist from two gadget-minded mechanics who rigged a regular tractor so Ogden runs it only with his two hands.

Ogden admitted a bit of difficulty at first in operating the vehicle but has no trouble now. He straps himself to the seat with a leather belt and, in his own words, "Lets her go."

He held a technician fifth grade rating as a radio operator and has a Purple Heart and several battle stars on which he is reluctant to talk. He lost his legs on a Pacific island in 1944. His legs were amputated too near his body to permit artificial legs, he said.

Ogden also drives an automobile especially rigged for him by himself and his brother, Howard. He gets around in a wheelchair that he takes with him in the car. He has an outdoor motor boat for fishing, but he takes a companion along to lug the motor.

In addition to tilling the land, he also is feeding 17 cattle.

Ogden plans to open an automobile service station.

Animals Share Comforts Of New Radiant Heating

MINNEAPOLIS.—Radiant heating, the kind that bombards a room with invisible rays from concealed coils, now is bringing comfort to dogs, ducks and chickens, as well as the folks at home.

First used by the Romans some 2,000 years ago, radiant heating was "rediscovered" by American home builders only recently. Already, however, it is popping up in the most unexpected places, according to engineers of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company who have been called on to supply automatic controls for countless odd jobs.

In Hartford, Conn., for example, dogdom is getting its first experience with radiant heat. Westberg kennels there in a kind of rarefied canine atmosphere induced by the radiant rays and a modiflow control system which keeps Fido's temperature just right for Fido's taste.

Long Island ducks also are getting scientific treatment. One farm which has a feathered population of 10,000 has decreased its mortality rate substantially by imbedding heating coils in the concrete floors of its barns and controlling temperature precisely.

An eastern poultry farm reports similar results, plus substantial fuel savings, with new-born chicks.

FUNERAL SATURDAY FOR 3 DROWNING VICTIMS

Funeral services were held Saturday at 3 p. m. at the Tahoka Baptist Church for Doyle Johnson, age 19, and Gladys Rose Johnson, age 8, children of Mr and Mrs. J. T. Johnson, who live about 6 miles north of here and Bobbye Faye Brooks, age 9, daughter of Mrs. E. W. McDonald of near Tahoka and granddaughter of Mr and Mrs. Johnson. Rev. Leon Quillion, Assembly of God minister of Tahoka, officiated and was assisted by Rev. R. T. Peek of O'Donnell.

The three small children were drowned in the McGinty tank near the Johnson home at about 2 p. m. Thursday. The children had been cautioned about the tank and taken away by one of the mothers, but child-like, the three had gone back and into the water.

Upon coming to the house for late dinner, Mr. Johnson asked about the children, and then instituted a search. The body of Gladys Rose was the first child found in water 5 or 6 feet deep. The other two children were found a little later in water 7 or 8 feet deep. Doyle is said to have been a good swimmer but neither of the girls could swim. It is believed that he lost his life in trying to save them.

Doyle attended school here last year and Mr and Mrs. Johnson are well known here. The heart of all in this community goes out to the loved ones at this sad hour.

A pamphlet entitled "Minimum Swimming Pool Standards" is being distributed by the State Health Department through the State operators of swimming pools or other interested parties.

The Lubbock Softball Association will hold a tournament starting on June 22 and continuing until the tournament is played off. The games will be at Jumbo Webster field at Lubbock.

First prize is $300 with prizes to 4th place at $40. Entry fee is $25

MORE FOOD NEEDS MORE PROTECTION DURING VACATION DAYS

Now that schools are out and children are at home all day every day, electric refrigerators are faced with the tough job of providing more protection for more food. In addition, little folks playing in the yard get thirsty and hungry often and, of course, make a dash for the electric refrigerator. This causes refrigerator doors to be opened far more often than under normal conditions and adds considerably to the work the refrigerator is called on to do. You can help your electric refrigerator get through these trying vacation days with flying colors if you'll give it proper care—regular defrosting, as often as is necessary, and having needed adjustments or repairs made promptly.

What blight and ruin met his anguished eyes, whose lips may tell — what brilliant, broken plans, what baffled, high ambitions, what bitter rending of sweet household ties! Behind him a proud, expectant nation, a great host of sustaining friends, a cherished and happy mother, wearing the full, rich honors of her early toil and tears; the wife of his youth, whose whole life lay in his; the little boys not yet emerged from childhood's day of frolic, the fair young daughter, the sturdy sons just springing into closest companionship; claiming every day and every day rewarding a father's love and care; and in his heart the eager, rejoicing power to meet all demands. And his soul was not shaken.

Raglan-Sleeved Frock
TRIMLY tailored frock with a flair for versatility and smart good looks. Raglan sleeves are accented with button trim, which is repeated on the handy pockets. Perfect for classroom, office, general wear.

Pattern No. 8116 comes in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 14, 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch; 1/2 yard of 35 or 39-inch for collar.

Feminine Frock
A COOL, delightfully simple afternoon dress to flatter the more mature figure. Soft shirring at the shoulders adds a feminine touch, the gored skirt is as graceful as can be.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
On stormy days confusion is greatly diminished when looking for rubbers if mates are attached with snap clothespins which are labeled with the names of the owners.

Use an electric fan to dry your liquid stockings. While smoothing the film on your legs, let the direct breezes from a fan speed drying.

It is time to change your mind if you're one of those who think all furniture in your best room should match piece for piece. The smartest and most comfortable rooms we've seen were rooms with mixed furniture -- mixed with taste. You need not have all "period pieces" or all modern to get a good effect. Blond and dark pieces go together very well and you may, for example, have a practical, functional table next to your old wing chair.

Grind small pieces of toilet soap in a food grinder for use in your dish pan. It makes lots of suds and is easy on your hands too.

If you sew the buttonholes of coat sweaters together before washing, they will not stretch.

An effective method for cleaning copper, brass or pewter is making a paste of equal parts of salt, flour and vinegar. Apply the paste, let stand for an hour, rub off, wash with water, and polish.

A box of stationery with a three-cent stamp on each envelope makes a nice gift for a friend in the hospital.

After you have washed your sweater, press it when it is almost dry. Lay it smoothly on the ironing board, placing a cloth over it. Use a warm iron and press lightly, then allow sweater to lie flat on a towel to finish drying.

Pattern No. 8019 is for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38, 4 1/2 yards of 35-inch.

THE PUBLIC nature of advertising benefits everyone it touches. It benefits the public by describing exactly the products that are offered. It benefits employees, because the advertiser must be more fair and just than the employer who has no obligation to the public. These benefits of advertising are quite apart from the obvious benefits which advertising confers--the lower prices, the higher quality, the better service that go with advertised goods and firms.

What we consider a dog tale de luxe comes from a city mail carrier in Lubbock. He says that he had long listened to stories wherein folks had been able to get by bad dogs by getting down on all fours and posing as "another bad dog", thus bluffing their would be attack. Instantly, the big dog slackened his chain, then another instant or two, he was at chain's length, standing on his hind feet and straining at the leash in an effort to get into the house.

Now, herein lies the great mystery in the mind of the carrier, for from behind a screen of vines a
