Among Our Pioneers:

Series Written by Ben Moore, Sr.)
MRS. ERA PRITZ RECALLS:
 For some time after our settling in Nolan County, Buffalo Gap was the county seat of Taylor county, the county seat was removed to Abilene after the arrival of the railroad after the year 1879. So, our groceries and other supplies were purchased in the then thriving town of Buffalo Gap.

Posey and Cowan established a general merchandise store out about 2 miles east of the present town of Sweetwater. My father bought one half interest in this store and later the elder Fritz store and other half, thus binding the two families a bit closer to each other, especially the young Fritz son, Johnny and myself. There was a little schoolhouse out on the banks of Bitter Creek and I very well remember how we often took a circuitous route around a little mountain in order to avoid the very wild range cattle which more often frequented the valleys. We were mortally afraid of them.

Among my schoolmates were the Trammel children for whose family the large Trammel Lake is named. Newt Trammel, who now has one of the most remarkable private museums in the south, located near the street from the Bluebonnet Hotel, was a redheaded boy who furnished much amusement for the rest of us while in school, he being very mischievous. Public sentiment has seen it that this old landmark residence of the Trammels is not removed. Most of the artifacts now to be seen there were picked up by Newt and his late father in the mountains near Sweetwater. Some of the old rock blighting posts which stood before the original Nolan county courthouse are of which bears the Fritz name and dated in the '50's. The Fritz residence in Sweetwater was founded on the site of the present great Bluebonnet Hotel and was removed in order that the spacious building might be built for serving a very different generation.

With the coming of the T and P, Nolan County was organized and my father, J C Montgomery, was chosen as first sheriff. (Oddly, his grandson became sheriff of the county last year.) One of my older brothers served as tax assessor upon reaching manhood there. My brother, J C Jr, was sheriff of Cochran county several years ago. Conclusion next week.

The Country Editor

This is difficult to write as we have no factual information but because of its importance is news this week and NOT when the City decides it is time to tell John Q. Public. So, this column; it is more 'talking out loud' and may be in error all or part.

Word is that Wednesday (today) the City will consider a contract with a Hobbs firm to pipeline water from the C J Beach farm some 3 and 1-2 miles east of here. Upon reaching the water tower the line will be about 22,000 feet. The line will be at least 10 in. and the probable minimum cost is figured at $50,000. Pumps and more storage may push the figure to the figure even more or it may be considerably less. The City is securing water rights to 40 acres from Mr. Beach, we learn unofficially, and will pay 5 cents a thousand gallons metered with the City doing the pumping. This can not be confirmed officially, however.

In the past days the City has met several times on water problems but no official will permit use of his name with direct quotes

Financing call for issuing warrants without an election. Interest rate will be from 5 per cent up unless the sun suddenly rises in the west. A part or all of the water department revenue will be earmarked as security for the loan. At this time there should be no increase in taxes for this project.

At 5c a thousand, a simple projection, which is just a guess, estimates $7 a day paid for water or $2500 a year or $25,000 for 10 years. The time estimated to retire the pipeline debt, Land is usually sold, at top prices, without any mineral rights being reserved at $100 an acre.

All other factors favorable, the $44 question is: Will the water remain in such abundance? No one knows for sure.

For the record the index is with the Council on getting water. We elected these men and without exception they are trying to help us get desperately needed water. But for their own good they have, in our opinion, erred. Even at first this should have been a COMMUNITY DECISION and not a decision of five. This is a big, and, oh, how important for our growth, decision and big money and lots of interest to be paid. When the true facts are known in an official news release, flaws now seeming apparent, may disappear. We hope so 'cause WE NEED WATER—even at 5c a thousand; so how to it boys!!!!

Note to Go Times Change Dept --2 years or so ago when at first Known Who was a City Dad the City's credit wasn't even good for a $1,000 fire truck loan --at first. Now, shoot the works, Buy the sewer, buy anything. Mr. Bradstreet must have raised our rating or are we broke anymore.. Well, then let's do a little job: spray.

Administration Asks Vast Powers In New Agriculture Support Plan; Labor Legislation Gets Priority

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

NICE TRY! ... Like a round peg in a square hole, Officer George McPherson of the San Francisco humane society became stuck in a narrow light well into which he crawled to rescue a cat. It took fellow officers several minutes to dislodge him. The cat was removed through a window opening onto the bottom of the light well and is being held by Officer George Warren, at right.

FARM PLAN: More Curbs Asked

Critics and supporters alike of Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan's 1949 farm support program were surprised when Brannan asked sweeping new powers to control the nation's agricultural production.

THE latest Brannan proposals were contained in the full draft of the administration's farm program which was laid before congress. In that program, the powers requested would mark the first time in the history of the nation—not excepting wartime—when farmers and their activities would be so completely under federal control.

For example, Brannan asked that rigid marketing quotas, now usable on only six major crops, be applied on the great bulk of farm products, including meat animals, milk, poultry, eggs, fruits and vegetables.

It was a bold stroke on the part of the administration and one that was gambling with farmer good will over the nation.

For it was quickly discernible that, if enacted, this program would put the American farmer under federal control from the moment he arose to feed the chickens and other stock in the morning, until he tended his vegetables and worked his crops, milked the cows and fed the stock again in the evening.

The big question was: Would the farmers stand for that, even if congress did enact the law? Farmers would be given a choice because under the Brannan proposal, they would have to vote adoption of the program by a two-thirds vote of all producers.

LABOR LAW: Gets Priority

With domestic issues having been given the green light over foreign affairs, the U. S. senate was committed to wrestle out a new labor law—or repeal Taft-Hartley—before adjournment.

The importance of the labor question to the administration was indicated in the senate's shelving discussion of the North Atlantic security pact until the troublesome labor issue has been disposed of.

THE reason was rather obvious. Organized labor, worried by an apparent disinclination of congress to go along with the President in repealing Taft-Hartley and fearing further delay, was pushing the administration to get going.

Berlin presented concrete issues which many hoped could be resolved or, at least, discussed more profitably. The western powers were understood as ready to insist upon written agreements concerning rights in Berlin to replace oral understandings that alone have given them any rights in the immediate past.

It was also believed they would urge a single elected city council and retention of occupation status for their zone. It was believed inevitable that the question of four-power authority—which led to a deadlock over the veto right when the whole of Germany was discussed—will arise again in relation to a Berlin regime.

IF YOU CAN'T BEAT 'EM ...

Shanghai Populace Swings to Communists

It was mostly beer and skittles for the Communists in Shanghai. The city and its millions had swung into the Communist camp, not by degrees, but with what appeared to be an enthusiastic rush. Along long lines of avenues, Red flags flew from every shop. Newspapers reversed their policy overnight and began to sell the populace on communism.

Baldness "Cure"

Buried on inside pages of most newspapers was a story which, if true, would have rated banner headlines in the eyes of those it concerned.

FOR, from Een, Holland, there came a claim that Meinheer J. Van Rooyen, a bewildered little barber, could cure baldness—no fooling.

The news leaked out, and the little barber shop was thronged with visitors. Letters poured in by the thousands.

The meinheer started it all himself by trying to stop his own thinning hair from growing thinner, experimenting with various lotions and use of infra-red rays.

ACCORDING to reports, he finally hit upon a combination that made his hair grow. Tried on others, it succeeded. Now he is treating 160 people, working 13 hours a day.

U. S. JOBS: Could Be Cut

A contention that the government cut its civilian employ rolls by 10 per cent and "accomplish exactly the same purposes" was made in Washington by former President Herbert Hoover. Declaring that this could be done if the government were organized properly, Mr. Hoover said the savings to the taxpayers might reach four to five billion dollars a year.

MR. HOOVER'S statement must have carried some weight, but there were only an optimistic few who believed anything might be done along the lines he pointed out.

The former President was speaking with authority because a commission of which he had been named the head—a fact-finding body to uncover just such things as he had uncovered—had exhaustively studied government functions and processes and had reported its findings.

A 200,000 cut in federal personnel would require no wholesale firings, he said. He added it could be accomplished through normal turnover, which now runs about 500,000 a year.

BERLIN: New Issues

The meeting of the big four council of foreign ministers had developed one fact—discussion of German unity under current conditions was futile. So, it appeared attention would be turned to Berlin where some major problems yet remained unsolved.

Berlin presented concrete issues which many hoped could be resolved or, at least, discussed more profitably. The western powers were understood as ready to insist upon written agreements concerning rights in Berlin to replace oral understandings that alone have given them any rights in the immediate past.

It was also believed they would urge a single elected city council and retention of occupation status for their zone. It was believed inevitable that the question of four-power authority—which led to a deadlock over the veto right when the whole of Germany was discussed—will arise again in relation to a Berlin regime.

Stain Removal Kit at Home Is Economical

By Ertta Haley

JUST HOW MUCH do you know about removing stains? Or, do you just ignore them and hope that the cleaner will get them out of your favorite dress or that the stain on the linen napkin will come out in the wash?

Many stains can be removed rather quickly and easily if you know just what to do when the material is stained. A tragedy can be averted with prompt attention and your favorite dress or linen can be saved.

It's impossible to remember what you should do for all stains, but you can probably remember the common ones and give them prompt attention. Otherwise it's a good idea to clip out the tips I'm giving you, tack them on the kitchen or laundry room wall, or better still, in your stain removal kit, and then you'll know just what to do when the time comes.

A stain removal kit is difficult to assemble, and it will save you many hours of worry over stains and probably prevent some very real losses in clothing and linens. Many of the items given on the list can be purchased from the druggist or even grocery. Others are household items which you already have, but they should be placed in a handy kit where you don't have to search for them.

A large tin box that locks is the ideal kit. Or, use any other durable box which you may have. It should be large enough to hold all the items without their getting jumbled together.

Use These Materials In Your Kit

Here are the items to go in the kit which you probably have at home already: absorbent cloths, white blotting paper, medicine droppers and bowls. You also have ammonia, vinegar, baking soda, French chalk or talcum powder, and borax.

Here are items which you'll probably have to buy for the kit: turpentine, benzene, glycerine, banana oil, acetone or nail polish remover, hydrogen peroxide, carbon tetrachloride or another non-inflammable solvent, and denatured alcohol. This alcohol should be labeled poison and placed out of the children's reach. Also, you will need exalic acid crystals, which should be labeled poison and kept away from children.

If you can find a good rust remover, place that in the kit along with the other items.

Follow These Directions For Stain Removal

in lukewarm suds. For a stubborn stain on cotton or linen, soak in salt water (1/4 cup salt to two cups water). Hot water should not be used until at least part of the stain has been removed as it may set it. For a non-washable fabric, use an absorbent first, then sponge with cold water.

Candle wax stains: for all fabrics, scrape off excess wax, then place between blotters and press with hot iron. Sponge with carbon tetrachloride.

Chocolate or Cocoa: For cotton or linen, dip fabric up and down in hot water; wash in hot suds. Bleach any remaining stain with hydrogen peroxide. For washable colored fabric, use lukewarm suds and carbon tetrachloride sponging. For non-washable material, use the solvent.

Coffee or Tea: Pour boiling water from a height through the stain (stretch fabric over a bowl). Bleach with hydrogen peroxide. For fine, but washable fabrics, sponge with warm water, apply glycerine if stain remains, let stand 1/2 hour and rinse well, then wash in lukewarm water. For non-washable material, sponge with carbon tetrachloride, then apply glycerine (warm), then sponge with warm water.

Woman's Genius Is for Living

NOT LONG AGO I said in one of these articles that an important element in a successful marriage was the quality all good wives have, the quality of apparently accepting what is presented them by the different members of the family, apparently agreeing to it, and then gradually and gently breaking it down.

This process is entirely familiar to all intelligent women. It is dimly visualized by some men, but not clearly. That the little woman, without crossing them or starting a row, does somehow manage to keep things going with a maximum of happiness for all concerned, is all they want to know.

Men's way is to do a thing at once, do it twice over if necessary, hammer and nail it down. And then they show an innocent surprise, and have been showing it for hundreds of years, that somehow it all come unstuck.

Some years ago a national magazine asked me to answer a provocative article by Albert Wiggam. The article was entitled "Where Are the Women Geniuses?" and it contended, and truly, that there aren't any.

No Real Genius

No, no woman has ever written a great literary classic, a play, an opera, a symphony. Rosa Bonheur, Sappho, Chaminade, Jane Austen and George Eliot usually are rushed to the fore when this question is raised, but having sampled or seen the works of all of them, I am obliged to agree with Professor Wiggam. Perhaps Miss Austen comes closest to genius, but it

In planning lovely costumes for warm days ahead, don't overlook the unusual and rich beauty achieved by color contrasts. her physically as well as mentally, or the great statue that stands in plaster dust for years.

No, her masterpiece is the living thing. The clean and happy children about the supper table. The tired man, rested and content at the end of the day, among those who love him. The delicious seven-pound bundle that her hands are the first to touch is her poetry. The acid little wail of the new born or her music, or the sound of the children shouting in a Saturday backyard. Her marble is touched by her own lips as she stoops over the coffin of some loved old companion who has gone home.

This sounds perhaps like the flip-pant answer of an offended woman to a not-too-serious critic. But I do not mean it so. I mean it as a sincere tribute to the name of woman.

It is my profound and sorrowful belief that this quality in woman—this content with the fact rather than any interpretation of the fact, this putting first the pictures and the music, the statues and plays take second place, might have had a profound effect upon our whole world history had it been sooner recognized.

In one of his timely poems about a great politician, whose unselfish action in one of our social crises cost him high political power, the American poet Vachel Lindsay said: "sleep on, oh eagle forgotten who kindled the flame. Far better to live in mankind that to live in a name." There is, ultimately, the finest reason for being.

That is a woman's genius and her opportunity. To live forever in the continental betterment of mankind.

Ex-GI Likes Baby-Sitting Says Job Can Be Happy Avocation

ALFRED N. Y.—Like many another college-going ex-serviceman, Roy A. Kane has turned to baby-sitting as a source of extra income.

And for his fellow baby-tenders the 23-year-old Alfred university undergraduate has a few suggestions to increase the efficiency of their work. The job, he maintains, "can be pleasant and profitable if the parents cooperate."

"I always smoke my pipe when I go to a home," he said, "because I have heard that a pipe-smoking man gives a woman confidence."

"Also, when I get to the house, I always ask about the children's health to reassure her and to find out whether I will have a pleasant evening," he said.

Upon arriving at the home, the Fanwood, N. J., political-science major sits down with his pipes, glasses, and textbook and "looks intelligent."

"As soon as I am sure the parents are safely gone, I make a quick reconnaissance of the refrigerator, cookie jar, and cake box to get my evening properly scheduled."

"If the man of the house is a pipe smoker and has an expensive make of tobacco in his mididor, I knock out my pipe and refill with his tobacco," Kane explained. The pipe and a magazine keep him occupied for the next few hours.

"Later I go to the kitchen and prepare a snack," he said. "On one occasion I had just finished cutting a liberal slice of beef for a sandwich when I heard the sound of little footsteps."

"It was 6-year-old Junior, rather displeased. I couldn't scold him for getting out of bed because he had caught me being naughty before I caught him."

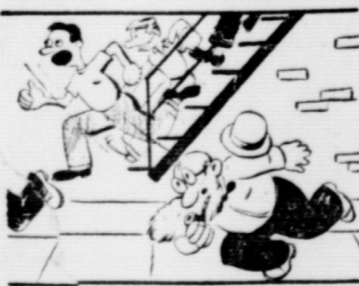

THE READER'S COURTROOM

Hit by Fire Escape, Wins Suit

By Will Bernard, LL.B.

May a Pedestrian Collect Damages if Bumped By a Fire Escape?

At the end of a movie matinee, several of the patrons in the balcony decided to make their exit by way of the fire escape. They stepped out onto the platform—and the drop ladder swung slowly down to the street. The end of the ladder struck an unsuspecting woman passerby, knocking her down. When she later sued the theater for damages, the proprietor insisted that he was not responsible for the misbehavior of the patrons. However, he admitted that customers often had used this same exit in the past. For this reason the court held him liable, saying that it was up to the theater management to take reasonable precautions against such a dangerous practice.

May a Father be Jailed for Spanking His Child Too Hard?

Missing a 25-cent piece from his pocket, a father concluded that his 12-year-old son was the thief. He gave the boy a terrible beating and left him locked in an attic room, his hands tied together. For two days the child was kept that way, fed only on bread and water. At last his cries attracted a neighbor and the boy was rescued by police. Arrested for assault and battery, the father was held guilty by the court.

May a Husband Annul A Marriage After 28 Years?

A husband went to court for an annulment, 28 years after his wedding. He claimed he had just found out that at the time of the marriage ceremony his bride was already the common-law wife of another man! To make the story still more remarkable, he alleged that the other man was no one else but his own brother! However, the court refused to grant an annulment. The judge said he didn't believe it.

May a Wife Get an Annulment Because Her Husband Doesn't Have a College Degree?

After several years of married life, a wife went to court for an annulment on the grounds of fraud. She told the jury: Before the wedding, her husband-to-be said he had a medical degree and was planning to apply for a license to practice. But afterward he kept postponing the application, and finally admitted that he had never finished his medical studies. The court, however, decided this deception wasn't bad enough basis for an annulment. He compared the wife's situation to that of a bride who discovers that her bridegroom's teeth are false—or a bridegroom who discovers that his bride's blonde hair is dyed. In all these cases, said the judge, the deception is not serious enough to justify an annulment.

would be a bold typewriter that dared place her works beside those of Dante, Goethe, Shakespeare, Milton, Dickens or the great company of the Russians. Of Sappho I know nothing, and I don't think the people who cite her as a genius do, either.

"Pride and Prejudice" I re-read last year. It's a fine tense story, but musty in its household morals as genius never becomes musty, stiff in its language. It's a book in which the lives of several helpless, love-hungry, marriage-awaiting girls are described, but what the Bennets wore, or wanted to wear, what they ate at any single meal, or what furnished any one of their rooms, Miss Austen does not deign to say.

They don't take walks or raise flowers or read books or get jobs; they languish about suffering at every slight from indifferent and godlike males, and are thrown into ecstasies at every smile. But yet it's good reading. I recommend it.

Different Interpretation

What I said in my countering article in defense of women was this. That men's interpretation of the word "genius" ought to be entirely different from that of women. Unfortunately it isn't. Unfortunately we have followed like sheep their proud designation of their fellow-men as geniuses, when half of them—nine-tenths of them—are't geniuses at all. Genius lives. Most of the "geniuses" of my childhood are as forgotten as the roses of yesterday.

The genius of women goes far deeper than that of men, and real geniuses are almost as rare. But while the man wants the imitation, the copy, the superfluous thing that is art, woman wants the real thing. She doesn't spend her energy on the musical composition that drains her dry, or the book that exhausts

Renunciation

By Lawrence Gould

Will a man "renounce" a girl he really loves?

Answer: Yes, if he has an exaggerated sense of guilt which drives him to deprive himself of happiness. Under such conditions, the stronger his love, the surer he will be to find some plausible excuse for giving her up, since what he fears most of all is what he thinks will make him happy. But the average man who tells his sweetheart that he cannot marry her because he is "unworthy of her" is more often trying to deceive her or himself. He really is afraid she represents a standard which he is unwilling to try to live up to.

instincts into useful and effective patterns of behavior. "The development of an ethical code that will be strong enough to govern the individual's future actions is dependent on the existence of family life," and nothing else can replace it.

Does seeking "perfection" prove high standards?

Answer: No. It shows that you are morbidly afraid of being criticized, either by others or by yourself. What makes your standards high—and so rigid—is that you don't dare to leave the tiniest loophole in your defense against largely imaginary accusations. The woman who cannot bear to see a speck of dust in her house does not really love cleanliness; she's afraid of being called a "bad housekeeper." And the man who cannot finish a job because he "can never get it done to satisfy him" is the victim of a similar fear.

Could children grow up without homes?

Answer: No, writes Kate Friedlander, British welfare worker, in the Journal of Mental Science. For a child's conscience develops out of his relations with his mother, and he must have constant contact with her during the first six years of his life if he is to learn to transform his primitive

Today's Most Amazing Medicine

By Dr. James W. Barton

AS YOUR PHYSICIAN thinks over the past 10 years, you would naturally believe he would have in mind the wonderful work of saving lives now being done by penicillin and the sulfa drugs. Diseases that were practically all fatal and others in which but a small percentage recovered, are now successfully battled by these antibiotics, as they are called, because they kill the organisms which formerly caused death. Two other antibiotics, streptomycin and aureomycin, have been recently added to man's defenses.

It may come as a surprise to many to learn that your physician is thinking more about the blood coursing through your blood vessels as he realizes—as he did not realize just 10 years ago—that blood is today's most amazing medicine. "It has become more of a miracle worker than penicillin."

In a pamphlet, Blood's Magic For All, issued by the Public Affairs Committee Inc., a non-profit, educational organization in New York City, Alton L. Blakeslee states that blood already does more lifesaving jobs than any one of our wonderful drugs. If, on a single day, you looked in upon the hospitals in one large city, you might see the following:

A surgeon, in a brain operation packs a soft, white spongy mass into a wound. It quickly stops the bleeding and he leaves it there. The body will gradually absorb this sponge—fibrin foam—because it is made from human blood. He covers the exposed brain with transparent plastic film. This film, made from blood, stays safely till the body manufactures a new covering.

In the accident ward, a quick injection of a clear liquid, human serum albumin, made from blood, saves a dying man from shock.

In the delivery room a new-born baby is being given a complete new blood supply to halt a possibly fatal battle caused by Rh antibodies in his veins.

A boy who is a "bleeder" is given an injection of a blood product that enables him to have diseased teeth removed.

HEALTH NOTES

From April to November of 1947 a total of 72 patients with tuberculous meningitis were treated at the University of Athens. All nine patients who didn't receive streptomycin died, whereas of the 63 who received injections of the drug, 29 survived. The earlier the treatment the greater were the chances of recovery. "Early," in this case, means within the first 10 days following the onset of the attack.

No one is born a neurotic. It is more our surrounding "culture," our personal environment, which drive us to neuroses. A neurosis begins in disturbances in close human relationships.

Notwithstanding all that has been learned about the rheumatic disturbance, it still causes more disability than any other ailment except perhaps the common cold.

AS BABY-SITTERS, FOOTBALL PLAYERS . . .

Gridders, Says Lou Little, Make Good Sitters

. . . WOULD MAKE JUNIOR STAY IN LINE

By H. I. PHILLIPS

GRIDDERS ARE SITTERS

Lou Little, famous Columbia football coach, has appealed for jobs for football players as baby sitters. "It is no gag," he says. "I will personally guarantee that any of my players will prove 100 per cent dependable."

So there, Junior! Behave yourself while mom's and popy are at the theater tonight or else develop some fast off-tackle plays.

Reactions to football players as baby sitters have varied. At first thought, many parents had difficulty associating "Rock-a-bye Baby" and "Sleep, Pretty One, Sleep" with "Block that kick!" and "Hit that line hard!" They found it hard to think of a husky fullback as the best person to handle kids who made up their own rules as the evening went along.

It did not seem to mother that when she asked, "Do you think the baby is all right?" she would find comfort in father's answer, "Yes, my dear. Remember that our baby sitter for tonight booted the longest punt in the 1948 season!"

But on more sober reflection most people decided that, children being the problems they are when mom and pop are out, it might be reassuring to know that they are in the hands of a baby sitter coached in a rugged school and with a good record for victory, on fields wet or dry.

Kids are quick to recognize authority. They know when they are up against heavy odds. In the manner and actions of a university gridder, they sense power, speed, determination and the old "do or die" spirit.

Few children will try to sit up until midnight listening to the radio if the baby sitter is all-American material.

Baby is not going to whip out the argun around 9:30 and take some pot shots at the old woman across the courtyard, knowing that a great broken field runner is on watch.

No kid is going to howl for a cookie if it can see in the eyes of the baby sitter the never-yield-an-inch spirit of a football man around whose end no opponent made any progress in two seasons.

All in all, parents should feel easy with a football star as a baby sitter. Even in a home where the kiddies are sure to get rambunctious a crack gridiron man can detect the signals, sense the trick plays and stop the formations. Unless, of course, he is in one of those homes where there are so many children they use the double platoon system.

Why Fans Go Mad

These days in the video belts where baseball games and horse races are broadcast the same afternoon are proving pretty hectic to sports fans. Trying to follow both is doing the American nervous system no good. We found ourselves shouting, "Slide ya big bum!" at a horse the other day and yelling, "Stop pullin' his head off," at a ballplayer.

It is all quite confusing. To see both sports, a video addict has to be pretty fast on the switches. In a stirring ball game it is quite a trick tuning out at the proper moment to catch the horses all set in the starting gate. And in an especially important horse race split-second judgment is necessary in deciding when to tune out of the horse oval and into the ball park.

He liked a horse on which Arcaro was announced as the jockey. "Arcaro!" he exclaimed. "That's poor judgment. They pitched him yesterday."

Then while the race track announcer was chatting on generalities, Elmer dove back into the baseball channel. The home team had a man on second, one out and a big hitter up. It added to his pulse beat and general confusion. "Come on!" he yelled. "Don't go wide on the turns. Ya can't lose at the weights!"

Back to the ponies he switched, just in time. The horses broke as one. Elmer liked something called Mike's Pride. "Atta baby," he cried. "You got your stuff today!"

SHUT-IN

Grace Noll Crowell

I WAKED to a day of darkness and cold rain, I said, "Would that the hours were past and the day gone."

The wet boughs in the wild wind lashed the pane, The flowers were sodden splotches upon the lawn. "Would that the night were here and the hours through!"

Restless, my heart cried out, and then there came A sudden shaft of sun and a stain of blue, Catching the curtained darkness like a flame.

And there was firelight dancing upon the hearth; There was a small book weighted with golden lore; A song rode in on the wind-waves of the earth; A neighbor breasted the storm to reach my door. A beloved voice came to me over the wire, And there was a letter from many a mile away. Shut-in? My heart was ashamed of its desire; It would have missed so much had it missed today

Cast in a minor role in "Riding High," Dorothy Barrett sang a song for members of the cast during a break; Director Frank Capra heard her and chose her to sing with Bing. SMILING LOSER

By Richard H. Wilkinson

KIRBY FOUND the girl seated on an upturned box behind the stables crying. He hesitated, feeling awkward, then said:

"Hello. Anything wrong?"

She looked up quickly, appraisingly. "No, please go away."

Instead, Kirby squatted on his heels. "You must have lost some money on that last race."

Black Fox fooled every one by not coming in. I lost too."

"I suppose I'm a baby to cry, but I couldn't help it. I—my father and I staked everything on Black Fox. Then that terrible I'm-a-Runnin', who nobody thought had a chance, had to win."

She hesitated, dabbing at her eyes. He seemed like a nice young man. And she did so want company and to talk . . .

He discovered her name was Polly Hayden. The next day he called at her house and met her father, a jolly faced old gentleman with white walrus moustaches.

"We really shouldn't feel so badly," Polly told her father after the introductions were over. "Kirby lost a lot more than we and he isn't complaining at all."

That night Polly and Kirby had dinner at a little inn out on the Tamiami trail.

He knew she was wondering when and how he was going to pay his racing debts, and where he was going to get the money to establish himself in the law business. You just can't hang out a shingle in Miami and expect business at once.

But he didn't offer the information. The next day he hired an office on Flagler street, then called up Col. Stratton and asked that racing enthusiast to meet him at Hialeah. "Colonel," he said over a sandwich and coffee an hour later, "I'm going to take you up on the offer you made me for I'm-a-Runnin'. He's yours for $50,000."

The colonel stared. "Now wait a minute, Kirby. Has the horse died or broken a leg or something?"

at sight of Polly Hayden talking with his stable boy.

HER EYES blazed at him. "So! The good loser. The man who can lose everything, who will have to spend the rest of his life paying his racing debts and still smile! Oh, what a fool I've been!"

"Wait a minute! Listen!" He caught at her arm but she jerked away. He followed her out to her car. "You've got to listen," he said desperately, getting in beside her. "I only did it because I thought it would make you feel better. And it worked. I meant it when I said I was through with racing. I've sold I'm-a-Runnin' to Colonel Stratton. Look!" He held out the bill of sale and the check.

She stared at him round-eyed, frightened. "Oh, you shouldn't have! Kirby, you shouldn't! You'll never be able—I mean, you love horses. Any one can see that. You loved I'm-a-Runnin'."

"Not half as much as I love you," he told her soberly. He put his arm around her. "You believe that, don't you? You must believe it."

"Darling, of course I do. And—I am glad that you're going to be a respectable lawyer, only—only—"

"Only what?"

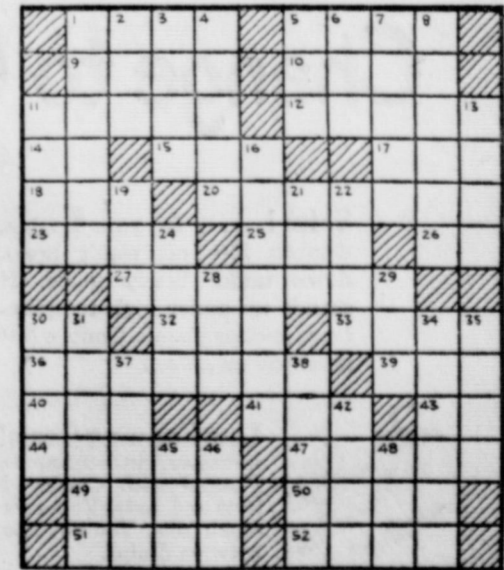

"Well, sometime, after we've been respectable for a good long while, we'll buy another horse, won't we? A horse as great as I'm-a-Runnin'? Because—we both love horses, don't we?"

"We do," Kirby agreed joyfully.

PUZZLE NO. 2

New Fertilizer On The Market

A new Plains fertilizer industry is taking shape in Plainview, where the Rowland Co. has announced completion of a new $20,000 plant for the manufacture of ALL CROP NITROW, the trade name of a 25 per cent Nitrogen low cost liquid fertilizer. With its daily capacity of approximately 20,000 gallons of NITROW, the Rowland Co. plant will help help overcome the local shortage of nitrogen fertilizer. In liquid form, NITROW is ready for application thru irrigation water to growing cotton, maize and other area crops.

The importance of nitrogen as a plant food has long been recognized. For higher yields, better quality and earlier maturity, nitrogen is a most essential fertilizer component. This has been repeatedly evidenced by the big increases in yields of crops following alfalfa and other nitrogen producing legumes. Other plant foods, particularly phosphorus and potash, must be added from time to time to keep the soil in proper balance but nitrogen is the responsive factor in all types of plant life. Ammonium nitrate, which is a bagged form of nitrogen fertilizer that corresponds to the Rowland Company's liquid nitrogen, has a good record in the Plains area on sorghums, cottons, wheat and truck crops.

The liquid Nitrogen Manufactured in the Rowland Co. plant is made by transferring 83 per cent Anhydrous Ammonia, a nitrogen gas, from an 18,000 gallon storage tank to mixing tanks where it is combined with water and passed thru heat exchanges to

"NITROW" is liquid nitrogen for all crops to be used in irrigation water

"PACKS THE SOIL WITH POWER!"

NOW... a new nitrogen from a new plant to make fertilizing easy and profitable! The Rowland Company's new Plainview NITROW plant, shown above, is the answer to this area's nitrogen fertilizer shortage. For the soil's basic nitrogen needs, liquid NITROW contains 25% nitrogen. It is manufactured by combining 83% Anhydrous Ammonia with water, by the process shown above, and is being distributed to irrigation area dealers in 50 gallon steel drums. The price of NITROW is 45c per gallon, plus a drum deposit.

The flow of NITROW down your rows is easy to check, for it gives irrigation water a milky color, and gives off an ammonia odor. You see where your fertilizer is being distributed when you channel NITROW liquid nitrogen fertilizer into your rows. YOU CAN SMELL IT! YOU CAN SEE IT!

The Rowland Company's NITROW is the equal of the best in increasing yield and quality of cotton, maize, wheat, truck and other crops. From a few drums used on maize last season by a West Texas farmer, yield was so multiplied that 8 rows filled a harvest hopper which took 14 rows to fill without the help of liquid nitrogen. Near Las Cruces last year, cotton that ordinarily made a 2 bale-per-acre stand, made another one-fourth bale when strengthened with nitrogen in the NITROW form. Call or visit us for NITROW today!

other storage tanks. ALL CROP NITROW will be distributed to dealers and farmers in 50 gallon steel drums for application directly to the irrigation water by means of a metering tube placed in the bung of the drum.

It is easier for the farmer to follow his fertilizer distribution down the rows with ALL CROP NITROW, for, when it combines with irrigation water, it turns the water a milky color and gives off an ammonia odor. The Rowland Co. estimates that the price of this new liquid nitrogen will be 45 cents per gallon to the farmer, plus a drum deposit.

Cover That Cough

"Cover that cough, smother that sneeze" is not only good advice for people in public places. It has practical meaning in the cowbarn, too.

Danger that coughing cattle may spread respiratory infections to their stablemates is highlighted in a research report from the American Veterinary Medical Association.

The report describes an unusual case of tuberculosis of the eye in a heifer. A tuberculosis cow with a bad cough, stanchioned next to the heifer, is believed to have spread the disease.

AVMA points out that this case occurred in England, where bovine tuberculosis is widespread. Although tuberculosis has been reduced to a minimum in United States herds, coughers and sneezers are nevertheless a menace because they may spread all kinds of respiratory infections. Isolation of any animal showing respiratory symptoms is urged, therefore, to protect the rest of the herd.

More Pipe Lines for...

Good Gas Service

Over 40 miles of new transmission and distribution pipe lines have been installed by West Texas Gas Company this year. Many more miles of new lines will be installed before the end of 1949.

Many of these new pipe lines, all of which are designed to maintain good gas service, replaced smaller lines. Other new lines were extensions to serve new customers and others were designed to transport natural gas to cities and towns West Texas Gas Company serves.

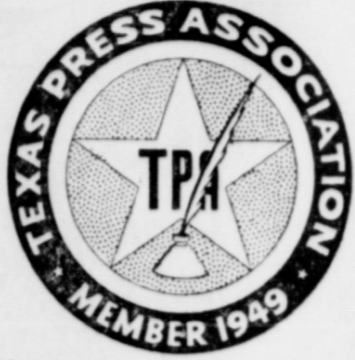

The installation of pipe lines is but one of many functions of West Texas Gas Company.

This year we will invest over $2,225,000.00 in new facilities... all of which are designed to maintain good gas service, high in quality, low in price... the best bargain in your family budget.

Children Will Adore This Sturdy Playhouse

IF YOU'VE made up your mind to build a playhouse (it happens to every father) give some thought to its use in later years. If you make it too small, your children will outgrow it. If you make it too large they won't feel it was built exclusively for their use. The playhouse illustrated is the happy medium—it measures 12 feet by 8 feet. It's a little house with possibilities for a long and useful life. It is one every child will never forget. The front can be left open to the floor, or storm windows may be used to close it in during bad weather. Later, as the child grows, it can be furnished as a clubhouse for the neighborhood youngsters.

Protecting Silver from Tarnish
Question: Is there any way to prevent silverware from tarnishing? Isn't there a preparation to apply on the silverware as a thin coating to prevent tarnish?

Answer: Dealers in jewelers' supplies usually sell a lacquer for this purpose, but firms of this kind are only found in large cities. If you cannot get it, a clear lacquer, sold at a well-stocked paint store, can be used instead. After polishing the silver, wipe it with benzine and then apply the lacquer.

Cook a Savory Main Dish in a Skillet
(See Recipes Below)

Skillet Dinners

WHEN YOU WANT to cook a really appetizing dinner for your family, do it in a skillet. Veal chops, pork chops, carries and chicken, all can be cooked to mouth-watering tenderness in a skillet after browning, by covering the skillet and turning down the heat. Mushrooms, green peppers, onions and all sorts of other seasoning can be added to make the food savory.

Pork Chop Skillet Meal (Serves 4)
 4 tablespoons fat
 4 pork chops, 1" thick
 4 slices Bermuda onion, 1/2" thick
 3 cups canned tomatoes
 4 rings green pepper, 1/4" thick
 4 tablespoons uncooked rice
 1 cup celery diced

Heat four tablespoons of fat in skillet on high heat. Turn switch to medium and brown pork chops until well browned on both sides, approximately 15 minutes. Place a slice of onion and one pepper ring on each chop. Place one tablespoon of rice in each ring. Pour tomatoes around meat and add celery. Place cover on skillet. When steaming (about eight minutes), switch to simmer and allow to cook for one hour.

*Skillet Chicken (Serves 3-4)
 2 cups cooked chicken
 2 tablespoons butter
 2 tablespoons flour
 3 cups chicken stock or water
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 Dash of pepper
 2 bay leaves
 1 sprig thyme
 2 small sprigs parsley
 8 small onions
 1 pound mushrooms
 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Melt butter in a saucepan. Stir in flour. Add stock slowly, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened. Then add bay leaves, thyme and sprigs of parsley which have been tied together. Add salt, pepper, onions and mushrooms which have been cleaned and stemmed. Simmer on low heat for 45 minutes. Add the chicken which may be in large pieces, if desired. Heat chicken, but do not allow mixture to boil. Remove bay leaves, thyme and parsley which were tied together. Serve very hot, over biscuits or cooked rice, sprinkled with chopped parsley.

Skillet Veal Chops (Serves 4)
 6 loin veal chops
 1 teaspoon salt
 3 tablespoons flour
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 5 tablespoons fat

Dredge the chops in flour which has been mixed with salt and pepper. Sauté onions in two tablespoons of fat until brown. Place chops on top of onions, and add tomatoes, water and bay leaf. Cover and simmer on top of range for 45 to 60 minutes until tender. Remove chops to a hot platter. Make a smooth paste of cornstarch and cold water and add to liquid in skillet. Stir and cook until thickened, then pour over chops.

Veal in Sour Cream (Serves 4)
 2 pounds boned veal shoulder, cut in 1" cubes
 2 ounces salt pork, cut fine
 1/2 cup minced onion
 1/2 clove garlic, minced fine, if desired
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1 tablespoon paprika
 1 1/2 cups boiling water
 1/2 cup soured cream
 2 tablespoons flour
 1/4 cup cold water

Sauté salt pork, onion, garlic and veal until meat is browned well on all sides. Add seasonings and water. Cook, covered over low heat until veal is tender, about one hour. Remove veal to hot platter and keep warm. Add sour cream to pan drippings. Stir flour and water together until smooth and add to ingredients in saucepan.

Lamb Kidney Sauté (Serves 4)
 8 lamb kidneys, split
 2 tablespoons fat
 1 tablespoon flour
 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
 1/2 cup beef stock
 1/4 cup canned tomato juice
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
 4 slices toast

Sauté cleaned kidneys in fat in a skillet for 15 to 20 minutes or until tender, turning frequently. Reduce heat and sprinkle flour over kidneys. Blend flour with fat while turning. Add parsley, stock, tomato juice, salt and sauce. Cook over low heat until sauce is thickened. Serve on toast.

International Union Sundry School Lesson
 By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Mark 16:1-8; John 21:1-17; 1 Corinthians 15:12-19
 DEVOTIONAL READING: Luke 24:21-32

Conquest of Death

Lesson for June 19, 1949

DOCTORS TALK about conquering death, but they never do. All they can manage is to put it off a little. In all the long sad story of mankind there is only one absolute conquest of death. It happened on the first Easter morning, and it was a turning point in the history of the world. The few lines about the Resurrection, in our New Testament, would not cover the front page of this newspaper. We do not know all we want to know. But those few lines tell us enough to set us singing, they are a solid foundation for a soaring faith.

Dr. Foreman

The Mighty Act of God
 WE shall be disappointed if we expect the Gospels to "explain" the Resurrection. If there is anything the stories show clearly, it is that the first persons who knew of the Resurrection were confused and shaken by it. The disciples had not expected anything like this, and they may not fully have understood what was going on.

What they were sure of, what they could not deny, was first of all that Christ rose from the dead, and also that it was God who raised him from the dead, God had beaten the one unbeatable power — death. Death, the universal conqueror, turned out for once to be the conquered.

It is only those who can believe in an all-powerful God who can fully believe in the Resurrection.

It Is The Lord
 WHAT MANNER of person was Jesus, after that first Easter morning? There were some differences hard to describe, and in fact not described, only hinted at. You notice that at times it was not easy to recognize him at first. Paul refers to Christ's "glorious body" and surely there must be a glory in a person who has actually proved too strong for death to hold—a glory such as even Christ, before Calvary, had not shown. And yet—and yet, it was the same Jesus they had always known.

No Ghost
 BY NIGHT, in many a "seance," mediums profess to get in touch with the spirits of the dead. If you could believe the spiritists, Shakespeare and Queen Victoria and innumerable other famous people, have come back and talked from beyond the grave. But the thing that makes the Christian church more than doubtful about such performances, is that somehow the dead-and-come-back genius is never a genius any more. Neither Shakespeare nor any other famous person has said anything worth saying through a "medium." And even these feeble ghosts cannot endure the daylight. They have to come at night.

How different were the comings of Jesus! There was nothing weird or uncanny about him. Around the supper table, or on an afternoon walk, or out on the lake shore under the morning sun... never the poor mumbling ghost of a seance, never any stupid trifles from his lips, but words of truths and comfort which the church cherishes as among the best from our Lord's mind. Jesus' resurrection is not the story of the survival of a ghost, still less the mere return of a revived and walking corpse.

It is the story of a Divine Person who conquered death, and who came back from that conquest in power and majesty, yet with all the tenderness, love and brilliance he had ever shown.

Our Hope in Him
 PAUL (in I Cor. 15) makes it clear that our hope of life-beyond-death grows right out of Christ's resurrection. The enemies of Christ would have given their right eyes to stop the mouths of the men who told that story, and to prove it a lie.

But they could never do it. You cannot well stop people from believing what they have seen with their own eyes. So our hope of eternal life is not just a hope.

As Paul says, if that were all, we should be miserable men.

 It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.
 You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.
