Canadian Dam Project Election Date Set

Meeting in a called session at Plainview Saturday morning, directors of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority passed a resolution giving formal notice to the 11 member cities that the board intends to call an election on a contract with the United States government to finance the Canadian River dam and reservoir project and an adequate system to furnish the cities with water.

The meeting followed in the wake of House approval Friday of a $300,000 appropriation for advance planning on the project. The project was authorized by Congress by an act effective December 19, 1959.

Capacity Is Noted

The board's resolution, a statutory requirement, gave notice that the election would be called at the next directors meeting on September 12.

The board's resolution gives the cities notice that the reimbursable cost of the project will total an estimated $93 million and that the reservoir will provide 500,000 acre feet of conservation storage, 495,000 acre feet of sediment storage and 1,505 acre feet of dead storage with a dependable yield of 103,000 acre feet of water for the cities annually.

In addition to the dam and reservoir, the contract on which the cities will vote also will provide financing for the aquaduct system approximately 200 miles in length and pumping facilities at various points.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

It has been a long, hot summer and there are probably no "blue northerners" in sight for two or three months yet. When you have moved to town you don't lay by the crops at this time of the year like Pa and Ma did a few years ago! However, if you are still turning the sod for a living you are probably glad to get an opportunity to sit on the front porch for a day now and then instead of riding a tractor in the sun. Most farmers break out in a cold sweat at the mention of tax come taxes, but the "Farmer's Tax Guide", that a lot of farmers picked up at the County Agent's office last winter, has a lot of cold facts for front porch study on a hot summer day. The "Farmer's Tax Guide" will save farmers dollars come next January.

Under conditions of good management, feeding aureomycin to milking cows at a low-level apparently has no advantages, reports A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman. On the other hand, the dairyman may run the risk of having his milk condemned because of faulty feed mixing or may create antibody resistance disease organisms in his herd and is sure to increase feed costs if the antibiotic is fed.

LAST RITES PENDING FOR DANNY SHAW BABY

Funeral services for Landa Sue Shaw, 1-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Shaw, 4912 Ave. G, are pending at Rix Funeral Home.

The infant died at 7:45 p.m. Monday in St. Mary's Hospital of natural causes, hospital spokesmen said.

Survivors include the parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crain, all of O'Donnell.

Soil testing is a tool you can use on your farm to help determine the level of fertility of your soil. The recommendations which you will receive from the soil testing laboratory, based on the analysis of the soil samples you submit, will give the amounts of fertilizer needed for the most profitable crop or pasture production. Local county agents can supply information on soil testing.

Farmers and ranchers cannot afford to be dull and lazy during late summer and early fall. Extension range specialists say that winter is not very far away, and now is the time to make preparations for carrying the livestock until next spring.

There are several mineral elements which a chick must have if he is to show normal growth and development. Dr. C. W. Deyoe of the Texas A.&M. College System Poultry Science Department says that a chick will not fulfill the poultryman's expectations if his ration does not contain proper amounts of these elements.

Texas A.&M. College System entomologists say that stored grain cannot be forgotten. Insects may be stored with the grain, and these insects could cause tremendous losses. To combat insect damage to stored grain, the storer should fumigate the grain according to recommendations of the local county agent.

USDA PLANS NEW RESEARCH ON SCREW-WORMS

College Station. — While some scientists are trying to send a rocket to the moon, others are trying to rid the Southwest of one of the worst livestock pests... the screw-worm.

The USDA has announced that new research on means of eradicating the screwworm will begin soon at Kerrville. This is the same USDA station that was responsible for much of the basic research that led to the sterile-fly technique used successfully against the screwworm in the Southwest.

One of the main projects of the USDA's entomologists will be to develop better methods of rearing screwworms, and also to find ways to produce strains of the insect better suited to sterilization by radiation. Another important aim of the Kerrville research is to learn more about the nutritional requirements of screwworm larvae so that an improved, inexpensive rearing may be developed. Project scientists will also seek new methods by which flies can be eradicated with minimum effect on their life processes. In announcing the new project, the USDA reported that Dr. Raymond C. Bushland would head the researchers.
