Up, Weed-Killing Campaign Held Here Week July 14th to 19th

City-wide clean up, paint up and weed-cutting campaign will be held in O'Donnell during the week of July 14 to 19, according to C. H. Mansell, following request by the Rotary club. The city administration will give cooperation, and we hope other communities will do likewise," said Mansell Wednesday. Property owners are to be urged to cooperate for reasons of health and citizenship and appearance of the city. Initiative plans call for the employment of someone to use a weed puller thereby keeping work costs to a minimum. Over the city, due to a heavier rain this spring, weeds have shot up to heights they resemble small trees. Sufferers of hay fever and flu and their troubles have been aggravated by the weed condition. The drive, which the Press will sponsor, and about which more information will be released next week, are to be cut around homes in vacant lots, and all rubbish to be removed. Old buckets, cans, etc., which have become filled with water, are to be removed and hauled away. Mosquitoes reign will then be within bounds.

To Enroll Men

Call for CCC enrollees! Miss Allen, Supervisor of the Department of Public Welfare at Lubbock, Texas, announces information has been received the tentative date for the next enrollment in the Civilian Conservation Corps will be on July 17, 1941, at that time all white boys, including Latin-Americans, between the ages of 17 and 23½ years of age have the opportunity of enrolling as unmarried White Americans within these age limits of good health and moral character who is not enrolled in any other service. This opportunity is offered this opportunity, regardless of the financial status of the family. Miss Allen quotes James H. Teece, Director of the Civilian Conservation Corps, as an example of what is being done at the camps. McEntee announced that a re-survey disclosed that on June 30 young men and war veterans in Texas CCC camps were being trained related directly or indirectly to national defense. It is stated that all junior enrollees are getting training and basic CCC training which is of the greatest value to them, whether they are to duty under the Selective Training Law or obtain jobs in national defense industries. The job training includes truck driving, tractor operation, surveying, drafting, and the 8800 men enrolled in the Texas camps in May, 2171 were given special national defense vocational training courses in camp or nearby trade schools in cooperation with state vocational training agencies. Miss Allen urged that all those interested should make application at the earliest date possible. The lo-

Rainfall Totalling One Quarter Inch Fell Here Tuesday

Approximately one quarter of an inch of rain fell here Monday night, according to records kept by Ben Moore, government gauge operator. However, some nearby sections reported higher recordings and others no rain at all. The downpour in Tahoka Monday night was terrific, as much as an inch and a quarter falling in a period of thirty minutes, and 1.40 inches in less than an hour's time. The streets were flooded, and in some places in South Tahoka the pavement on the highway was covered to such a depth for a short time as to render traffic difficult. Residents of the Draw community report a heavy rain there Monday night. S. A. Mensch, who lives five miles southeast of Draw, says that the rain at his place amounted to two and three-eighths inches by accurate measurement, during Monday and Monday night. This brought the total for the month of June at his place up to nine and one-eighth inches, he reports. But the rainfall was much lighter during the month of May than it was here. April and May combined brought him a total of only seven and one-half inches, whereas Tahoka footed up a total of 11.09 inches during the month of May alone. Farmers generally have gotten their crops cleaned out and report one of the finest crop prospects they have ever seen.

Softballers To Play Thursday

Softball games scheduled to be played Friday night, July 4, were rescheduled to be played Thursday night (tonight), so announced S. F. Johnson, league Tsar. Shorty's Volunteers, both girls and men, will provide half of the attraction in both games. The cafe operator's girl team will "cross bats" with the Corner Drug club, while his beard growers tangle with the Builders, popularly called the "school boys." Both games will feature good teams, and a large crowd is expected.

REMODELING HOME

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Vermillion on East Ninth Street is being remodeled this week.

cal selecting agency, headed by Mrs. Dude Holland, county welfare worker, is located in the Relief Building, Tahoka, and is open on Mondays and Tuesdays from 8:00 to 5:00. Miss Allen suggested that Mrs. Holland will be glad to discuss CCC with any interested parents or relatives.

Katherine Teeter Is "Miss O'Donnell" At Amateur Show

Miss Katherine Teeter, popular vocalist, was awarded first place in the voting Tuesday night in the amateur contests held at the High school auditorium and officially named "Miss O'Donnell." She will appear later over the Lubbock radio station in competition with contestants from other towns. Miss Teeter is a junior voice pupil of Mrs. Delores Burks, local teacher. Other contestants making good showings were Emma Jo Hinkle, Laquita Robinson, N. T. Singleton, Betty Joyce James, Betty Katherine Edgerton, Johnnie Q. Bronson, Mrs. Hulien Bolch, Ruby Lois Shook, Pat and Jo Montgomery and the Ratliff brothers. Misses Hinkle and Robinson will appear also on the Lubbock program.

PTA To Sponsor "84" Party For USO Benefit

A lawn "84" and "42" party will be held at the home of Mrs. Harvey Line on Thursday evening 8:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers Association. Funds derived will be turned over to the USO. Should weather be unfavorable, the party will be held in the High school auditorium.

Lamesa Drugless Clinic To Move To New Quarters

New quarters for the Lamesa Drugless Clinic will be completed by the end of the week, according to Dr. Hall B. Cutler, who has maintained clinic offices in the Del Paso Hotel for about two years. The new location is two blocks north of the hotel, and building is being remodeled to house the clinic, which will feature more rooms.

Singers Of District Here Next Sunday

Starting at 2:30 p. m. the District Singing Convention will be held in O'Donnell Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist church. Singers from various places will be present, and the public is invited to attend. C. H. Mansell, local church leader, is president.

Funeral Held For Mrs. N. S. Frost

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the cemetery for Mrs. N. S. (Nobe) Frost, pioneer citizen of O'Donnell, with the Rev. O. M. Addison, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Mrs. Frost passed away Saturday night after a brief illness. Survivors included Mr. Frost, a son, Clyde, and four grandchildren. The Frost family pioneered this section, having filed 40 years ago on a section west of O'Donnell, and through all the trials which beset early day settlers, took the good with the bad and came up smiling to meet whatever fate awaited them.

Rotary Club First To Raise Quota For USO Here

The jackpot was quickly hit by Chairman Hervey Gardenhire Tuesday noon when he announced the USO quota for the Rotary club. Gardenhire said the club had been assessed $15—and $24 was immediately made when each member gave a dollar. The Rotary thereby became the first to go over the top in the drive for USO funds here.

KONGENIAL KLUB MET

Mrs. Elmer Daniels entertained the Kongenial Klub at her home Tuesday. The members enjoying the occasion were Mesdames Street, Gibson, McLaurin, Walls, Brewer, Eubany, and the hostess. The guests were Miss Margaret Garner and Mesdames Garner, Stark, Tredway and Singleton. In games, Mrs. Gibson won bingo, Mrs. Tredway low, and Mrs. Eubany high. Next week Mrs. Gibson will entertain in her home.

JOLLY DOZEN SEWING CLUB

Mrs. Con Burns entertained the Jolly Dozen Sewing Club at her home Tuesday.

The refreshments of sherbert and cake were served to Mesdames Middleton, Keoninger, Howard, Yandell, Burns, Wheeler, Carroll, Blocker and the hostess. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Earles.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Beach had as guests Sunday, Mrs. Beach's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jackson of Lovington, New Mexico. Mrs. Jackson remained for a visit.

Washington Bound

W. LEE O'DANIEL

W. Lee O'Daniel Elected Senator

Falling far short of the vote he predicted he would receive in his race for U. S. Senator, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel emerged as the winner Tuesday over his nearest opponent Lyndon Johnson, representative. Tabulation of the vote Wednesday showed that O'Daniel had garnered 175,368 votes, while Johnson followed with 174,273, Gerald Mann 140,853 and Martin Dies 80,601. The governor trailed in the tabulation over the state until the vote from "the folks of the creek" came in, and made his election certain, and an opportunity to go to Washington. O'Daniel again ran a good campaign even though not receiving the support he had in his races for governor. However, he was pitted against some of the best campaigners the state has seen. His hold over what he terms the "common people" remained mostly in the rural areas because Johnson and Mann outdistanced the governor in the larger places. O'Daniel again failed, for the third time, to capture his home box in Fort Worth. This time he ran fourth. Lynn county went into the column of Gerald Mann, but the O'Donnell box remained loyal to O'Daniel. It is possible, of course, that these returns will vary slightly from the returns gathered by the Election Bureau, but if all counties have reported to the secretary of state by that time, there is no probability that there will be any material changes in the result. Following the findings of the state election board, it is expected that Governor O'Daniel will resign and proceed to Washington immediately to be sworn in as the United States Senator from Texas to serve out Sheppard's unexpired term. This term will expire in January 1942, and a senator for the succeeding full term will have been elected in November, 1941. There will be a campaign for the nomination in the Democratic primaries next summer, this nomination being tantamount always in Texas to election. So, whoever is nominated in the Democratic primaries next summer will be the Senator for the succeeding six years, if he lives.

Don Edwards' Home Beauty Spot In City of O'Donnell

Anyone who has lived in East Texas during the late spring and early summer, and saw the abundance of fruit, flowers and well-kept grounds peculiar to that section, may be transported back (apparently) in a few moments should they visit the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Edwards at this time. Plum trees, with limbs weighed down by heavy clusters of fruit, "cherries that are ripe" and a flower garden was shown the writer one day last week. The combination of "cherry-plum" fruit shown us by Don was not quite ripe, even though they tasted good. They should be just about right now.

Mrs. Edwards, to whom most of the credit for such beauty belongs, is an ardent lover of flowers, and never a day passes but what a bouquet is placed in each room. Mr. Edwards also admires a well-kept, "homey" place, and with both giving some of their time, they have a spot that is to be admired.

Crocheted Sailor Important Fashion

CROCHET has taken the fashion world by storm, this year, and this traditional American needlework is being used in many different ways by the most fashionable dressmakers and milliners. The all-crocheted sailor is making important fashion news, and here is one which you can crochet for yourself. Make it in lustrous mercerized cotton in a color to dramatize your daytime wardrobe. Fashion accessories, such as this, will have an important place in the judging of the Nation-Wide Crochet Contest, this Fall, when America's outstanding crocheters will be selected by foremost needlework authorities. Directions for making this hat and details of the Contest may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper, specifying design No. 111.

New President Of Rotary Installed

Rotarian Fletcher Johnson assumed the duties of club president Tuesday when the retiring president, B. M. (Mack) Haymes, turned the meeting over to him. Johnson then presented a gift to Haymes from the club, and thanked him for good work during the last year. Haymes responded with his appreciation "for the gift, the kind words, and his sincere thanks for the co-operation that had been given him." New Committees will be named by Johnson next week.

Masons of District Meet In Tahoka

Masons of the 116th district assembled in Tahoka Tuesday for a program, officer installation, barbecue, and an address by Sam B. Cantey, Fort Worth, most worshipful grand master of Texas. Officers of various lodges in the district were installed in an impressive ceremony at the High school gymnasium. A barbecue was held at six P. M. for Masons and their wives.

Miss Geneva Graham, of Lubbock, daughter of Bill Graham, co-owner of the American Cafe, is now among those employed at the cafe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Payne, daughter Treva and J. W. Payne attended the funeral of Mrs. Green Payne in Gorman Tuesday.

INDIAN AFFAIRS

I asked Mr. John Collier, of the office of Indian affairs, to come in to tell me something about the Navajo situation.

It appears that the land on the reservation, in 81 years, has completely changed because of overgrazing. What was once meadow land with plenty of water and beautiful grass, is now practically desert. The wooded slopes have disappeared, floods wash away the top soil and the grass no longer exists. It is quite evident that, in order to bring it back, there must be a drastic curtailment of cattle, wild horses, goats and sheep.

This means that a people, whose average cash income is only about $120 a year, must either go on relief, which they want at all costs to avoid, or starve to death. The only other solution seems to be the possibility of carrying through an irrigation project which will allow them to irrigate enough land so they can raise crops to feed their cattle at certain times, and also to grow some cash crop if the difficulty of transportation can be overcome.

The decision on the irrigation is, of course, up to congress. At the present time, I can quite understand the argument against putting money into anything which can be set aside to be done when the defense period is over. Still, if congress decides that this is necessary, it seems to me that they have a joint responsibility with the office of Indian affairs to devise some means by which these naturally independent American citizens can earn their living and not feel dependent upon the government for a chance merely to survive.

AMUSING LUNCH

We had an amusing lunch one day. Dr. Floyd Reeves and Mr. Mark McCloskey were our only guests. We sat on the south portico looking across the White House lawn to the Jefferson Memorial. In passing, I should like to say that I hope in time the gleaming white dome of that memorial will weather to a little softer color.

At a little before six o'clock, Prince Bernhard and Princess Juliana arrived. He is as friendly and simple as she proved to be when she came on her first visit. I met them on the front portico and took them up to the President's study, where the President was waiting for them.

We had a small dinner and movie in the evening. The President had given me strict instructions that I was not to put over anything educational on them, that it was to be an evening of entertainment! In other words, he did not want me to use the occasion to show any of the government films. Therefore, our dinner guests are none the wiser as to our farm security program, our soil conservation work, the CCC, or any of the things which they might otherwise have seen!

When our dinner guests had left, the President sat and talked to our two young royal guests on European conditions until late in the night.

It was a joyful surprise just before dinner to get word from Bolling field that Elliott had flown in from one of our outpost camps now being built. He telephoned his wife and made the distressing discovery that his small son had had an accident to his eye.

Elliott told me something about this camp on which these regular army boys are working 18 hours a day to transform it into an airfield. The weather has been very trying and the boys who came up from Miami are finding it very difficult to adjust to it. Even letters take a long while to get there. Elliott says it is easy to think you have been forgotten by your family and friends as well as your government.

TO NEW ENGLAND

We spent one night in cabins just beyond Portsmouth, N. H., by-pass. Several detours, roads in the process of being mended, heavy traffic in and around Boston, and occasional showers of rain, made our trip really longer than it should have been.

It is a lovely drive though, along winding Connecticut roads with many glimpses of small lakes and running brooks. Finally, when we were nearing Newburyport, I had my first good smell of the sea, which is always exhilarating.

I thought we would spend the night in Portsmouth at the old Rockingham hotel. My first surprise, however, was to find myself on the by-pass, which I do not remember having seen before. It is a good many years since I have taken this drive and it may not have been in existence when I came up last.

In any case, I missed the first road into Portsmouth, and then was lost after turning off further on. I finally reached the hotel, only to find that they had no room. They directed us elsewhere, but we decided to go on a little further and look for some attractive cabins.

As a matter of fact, I think I could almost have reached Portland, Maine, in the time I wandered around the outskirts of Portsmouth. But these little mistakes are all "luck of the road" and, if you like occasionally to wander, you must count on making mistakes.

Chungking, China,—Most Bombed City in World

This photo of a 5½-hour bombing of Chungking, China, by Japanese planes, was released by United China Relief, New York, now conducting a $5,000,000 campaign for relief work among the Chinese. Dennis McEvoy, one of the best-informed newspaper men in Chungking, says: "Chungking looks as if a huge hammer from the heavens had struck, wildly, blindly, with crushing effect. But the sounds of hammering could be heard almost immediately after the all-clear signal. If the Japanese can dish it out the Chinese can take it."

NEW IDEAS for Home-makers

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

HAVE you considered covering your out-of-door cushions with water-resistant artificial leather? It may be cut and sewn the same as any heavy fabric. The colors are all so fresh and gay that you will be inspired to try striking combinations. Use a coarse machine needle; a No. 5 hand needle; No. 20 or 24 sewing thread and regulate the machine to about 12 stitches to the inch.

The cushions shown here are green with seam cords covered in red. The sketch shows how they are made. The cotton seam cord should be about ¼-inch in diameter. It is covered with a straight strip ¼ inches wide stitched with the machine cording foot to allow the sewing to come up close to the cord. The raw edges of the cord covering are basted around the top and bottom of the cover on the right side, as shown, and are then stitched in with the seam.

If you like variety in your cushions, there is an idea for sturdy ones made of burlap and silk stockings on page 23 of SEWING, Book 5.

NOTE: Book 7, in the series of Homemakers' Booklets by Mrs. Spears, is the latest and contains directions for making more than thirty things which you will want for your own home or for gifts. Included are working drawings for reconditioning old chairs and other furniture; directions for a spool whetstone; an unusual rag rug; and many things to make with needle and thread. The seven booklets now available contain a total of more than two hundred of Mrs. Spears' NEW IDEAS for Homemakers. Booklets are 16 cents each. Send your order to:

Dear Mom:

Well, here it is another weekend and I'm not a General yet. But give me time.

The nearest village is 5 miles away. All you find there is a general store, a garage and a canning factory—nowhere to go for any good clean fun, unless you drop in at a smoke-filled juke joint on the way.

Well, Mom, there's a big favor you can do me. The U. S. O. is trying to raise $10,765,000 to run clubs for us, outside of camp. Places with lounge rooms, dance floors, games, writing rooms. Places you can get a bite to eat without paying a king's ransom.

I know you don't have an idle million lying around, but if you could get the family interested and some of the neighbors, and if that happened all over the country, the U. S. O. could raise $10,765,000 overnight.

I'd appreciate it a lot, Mom, and so would every other mother's son in the U. S. Army and Navy.

Love,
Bill

Wildcat Well To Be Spudded In

A wildcat oil well is to be spudded in today or tomorrow on the J. E. Rice farm three miles east and one mile north of New Home.

The Ussar Drilling Company of Oklahoma City had the drilling contract, which calls for a depth of 5,500 feet unless oil is struck at a lesser depth.

Backing the project are a number of major oil companies, including the Honolulu, Western States, Devonian, Plymouth, Texas & Pacific, and others.

Mr. Sport expressed the opinion that the well would be completed within thirty days, although the time required to drill a wildcat well is always somewhat problematical.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Singleton, Jr. have returned from a trip to Flint, Michigan and from a fishing trip to East Texas.

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry; irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling, feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

William L. Shirer's Book, "Berlin is now out. Shirer was CBS correspondent in Berlin for years. He tells of the German mother of the airman who was notified by the staff that her son was dead. A few days later, BBC in London (which weekly broadcasts a list of prisoners) announced that her son had been captured. Next day she got eight letters from neighbors telling her they had heard by short-wave that her son was alive in England. It is against the law in Germany to listen to foreign broadcasts. The mother had all her neighbors arrested for "breaking the law." When Shirer wanted to tell the story on his broadcast the censor deleted it on the ground that Americans would not understand the heroism of the airman's mother!

The way the foreign correspondents now use the phrases "informed sources" and "according to reliable information" because stories in Europe are difficult to confirm, recalls a classic about the cub reporter. He was on a small town newspaper and was assigned to cover a bridge party. He was told never to write anything as a fact that he was absolutely sure about. His story came out in the paper this way: "It is rumored that a bridge party was given yesterday by a number of reputed ladies. Mrs. Smith, it was said, was the hostess. The guests, it is alleged, with the exception of Mrs. Brown, who says she comes from Illinois, were all local people. Her husband says he is from Chicago. The hostess, Mrs. Smith, claims to be the wife of Alexander Smith."

Two outstanding appeasement newspapers are very quietly preparing to become patriotic. Preparations have been made to get behind the gov't at the next break in S-German relations. A face-saving device is being worked out for their editorial about-face. Under Sam has just cracked down hard on a "refugee" who was caught doing Nazi propaganda here. His final citizenship papers are being withheld. His draft board got after him and visas for kin refused. His initials are H. C. Immigration officials have just discovered a big traffic in Puerto Rican birth certificates for aliens.

New York Heartbeat: The Story Tellers: Chas. Lindbergh Sr. is profiled in the SEP by one-time law partner, Walter E. Hingley, who calls the piece "Like Father, Like Son." Read the minor Lindbergh's speeches in the book, "Your Country at War," and you'll see how "like" they are. The arguments the father made against aviation in 1917 (sensible then, maybe) show up in the son's soapboxing in 1941. Jack Oakie has a good sense, in Liberty, for those sentimental memories of hard times. "All that," he says, "reads better than I lived." National is a new member, taking its name from its chief subject, national defense. It is common-sense-national. Read it and give your brain a break.

Typewriter Ribbons: Zona Gale: Not only could she neatly cock an eyebrow—but could also produce in his victim a feeling that he had been fished and fired it. A. Devere: Prejudice, which sees what it pleases, cannot see what is plain. Jean Richter: Recollection is the only paradise from which we cannot be turned out. Oscar Wilde: Unselfishness is letting other people's lives alone. Alvin C. York: By our victory in the last war, we won a lease on liberty, not a deed to it. Jay Russell: A good test of man's character comes when he's getting ahead without getting one on the way. Mark Twain: Don't part with your illusions. When they are gone you may still exist, but you have ceased to live. The Akron Beacon-Journal: Fate does its part, yet most of the things we regret or resent would have been avoided if we had tried.

Drama critics aren't always mean. When George Bernard Shaw was a critic a young actress asked him what he thought of her ability. Shaw told her to get married, have two children, learn something about life, then she would be able to act. She followed his counsel. Five years later she returned to the theater and became a great English actress. E. B. White: Thorndike.

Sounds in the Night: At the Famous Door: "If you had my brains you wouldn't have anything to worry about." "Gawan, if I had your brains, I wouldn't have anything to worry with!" At the Havana-Madrid: "Don't get him angry, he's liable to hit you with his bank book." At the Glass Hat: "She's very good for her folks. Keeps away from them." At the Riviera: "After the horse is stolen—they close up all the consulates!" At El Morocco: "He's popular with kids—they like the rattle in his head."

INSTALLMENT II THE STORY SO FAR:

Dusty King and Lew Gordon had built up a vast string of ranches in the West. King was killed by his powerful and unscrupulous competitor, Ben Thorpe. Bill Roper, King's adopted son, was determined to avenge his death in spite of the opposition.

When Lew Gordon spoke, his voice was so quiet that its very stillness carried threat of imminent destruction. "Bill Roper sent a man to you?"

"I didn't say that. He's a man who was with Bill Roper in the Texas Rustlers' War; he doesn't seem to be in the Montana raids."

"Who was it?" Lew Gordon rumbled. "What's his name?"

"Shoshone Wilce."

"Wilce! I know that name. I know it well. I'd rope and drag him in a second, if I caught him talking to you!"

"This man has talked with Ben Thorpe in Dodge," Jody told her father. "A lot of strange news is working down to Thorpe from up here in Montana. Some bands of rustlers are slashing up and down Montana throwing lead and leather into the Thorpe outfits under Lasham; they say he's badly hurt already—nobody will know how badly until the winter breaks."

Her father waited, his eyes angry. "The word from Dodge explains half the trouble that King-Gordon is up against," Jody said. "Thorpe can't believe that one lone cowboy, deserted by everyone who should have been his friend, could manage to smash his Texas holdings, and go on to cut away his herds in Montana. He thought that we were backing Billy Roper in the Texas Rustlers' War. And he believes that we're backing him now."

"Well?" Lew Gordon said. "You mean to say you came all this way to tell me that?"

"Ben Thorpe means to kill you." Lew Gordon's face showed no change of expression. But he did not reply at once.

"I don't doubt it," he said at last; "what would you expect? You bring war into a range and anybody is likely to go down."

Jody's face was white. "You know what's at the bottom of all the trouble we're having," her father said. "You know as well as I do that two years of nothing but trouble lays square at the door of Bill Roper."

Jody sprang up to face him. "I certainly do not know anything of the kind!" she answered him.

Lew Gordon stared at her. "It's an everlasting shame upon the cow country that Dusty King's killers are still in their saddles. I tell you, Billy Roper is the only man I've seen with courage enough to—"

And now her father angered as she had seldom seen him anger. "You'll tell me nothing!" he roared. "Roper! I'm sick of hearing his name—a dirty outlaw whelp that knows nothing but kill and burn and raid!"

Jody's eyes narrowed and filled with tears. "You may as well know this," she told her father. "The day that Billy Roper dies I want to die too."

For a moment Lew Gordon seemed bewildered; he stared at his daughter as if the devil had come up through the floor. The girl who faced him was entirely strange to him.

He heard her say, "If you had stayed by him, as Dusty King would have done, Thorpe would have been whipped and through, long ago."

"Child," he said queerly, "what are you talking about?"

"If you'd only take Billy Roper back into King-Gordon—"

"That'll never happen while I live," her father said flatly.

A silence fell between them, presently broken by the girl. "He asked me to ride with him once, when he first took the outlaw trail. I wish I had. To the last day I live, I'll wish I'd ridden with him then. And now I'll tell you something more. If ever he asks me again, I'll go."

For several moments he stared at her, more shaken than he had been since the death of Dusty King. Then his face congested, and he rose up on his boot heels to tower over the girl.

"By God," he said, his voice unsteady with the repression he put upon it, "that closes the deal! I've kept my riders off him because of Dusty King, and I let him run on and on, rousing up a range war that has close to busted King-Gordon. But when it comes to tampering with you—it's the end! I'm through, you hear me?"

He caught up his battered sombrero, and his spurs rang as he turned toward the door.

"Dad, what are you going to do?"

"Thorpe has a reward on Bill Roper's head. King-Gordon is going to double that reward."

He went storming out, his face black and violent with portent of war.

For several moments Jody Gordon stood motionless where he had left her. Then she turned and went out of the house to the long shed-like stable.

Shoshone Wilce was loitering there in the shadow of the rear wall, an uneasy and restless figure.

"Did you find out where Billy Roper can be reached?" Jody demanded.

of his sweetheart, Jody Gordon, and her father. Daring raids upon Thorpe's Texas holdings wiped him out of the state. Roper then prepared for a great raid upon the vast herds on Thorpe's Montana ranches. Several thousand Indians had gathered near

"Yes, mam, I kind of did, I guess; and I got to be getting on there, Miss Gordon. If you'll just give me any message you want me to take, I'd sure like to be pulling out of here, before—"

"All right. You be here with two good horses just after dark."

"If you could just as leave give me the message now, I'd sure like to—"

"There is no message. I'm going with you to Bill Roper."

Shoshone Wilce looked like a man entrapped. "I can't do it! Your father—I just won't do it, Miss Gordon!"

"All right. I'll make the ride by myself."

"Hey, look! You can't—"

"Bill Roper isn't going to like this, Wilce."

Shoshone studied her searchingly, but found nothing to reassure him. It was in his mind that this girl would do exactly as she said. "My life ain't worth a nickel, either way," he almost whimpered.

"I'd sure like to be pulling out of here, before—"

"You be here with the horses," Jody said.

She turned and went into the house, leaving Shoshone Wilce standing unhappy and uncertain, ankle deep in the wet snow.

CHAPTER XVI

The rounding up of the wild bunch of riders lost Roper a few days; but within the week Bill Roper and Tex Long rode into the plains of the Little Dry.

Here around a spluttering fire the riders crouched in their sodden blankets, like Indians, while Roper gave out his orders. Thirty-two men and six outlaw leaders were now in the field against Walk Lasham's powerful Montana outfits in the Great Raid.

Roper's first move had been to split his renegade riders into five bunches under the leaders that he knew—Tex Long, Lee Harnish, Dave Shannon, Dry Camp Pierce and himself. Hat Crick Tommy he sent to Miles City in search of further word from Jody Gordon; Hat Crick would later rejoin Roper as messenger and scout.

It was Roper's plan that he and Tex Long, with twelve men between them, should make the most daring raid of all; a raid upon the big herds which Lasham held between the headwaters of Timber Creek and the Little Dry. Of all the ranges in which the wild bunch was interested, this was the nearest Miles City—the most accessible, the most closely watched, the best protected. How many cattle he could transfer from this range to the starving Canadian Sioux, Roper did not know; but it was his hope to raise such a conspicuous and stubborn disturbance as would mask the operations of the rest of the wild bunch, and permit Pierce to work unimpeded.

"The fourteen of us will split seven ways," Roper told them now. "I figure Lasham's look-out camp for this range is about twelve miles southeast. We'll comb every way but that way. I'm not telling you how to gather stock. Hunt 'em like you know how to hunt 'em. Move out one day's ride, spotting your cow bunches. Next day pick 'em up and work 'em this way. And on the third day throw your gather against a coulee or something where one man can hold 'em, and the other man of each pair ride back and meet me here. I figure this range is heavy with cattle. I don't see any reason why two good men can't the Canadian border to take every beef that was driven across. Shoshone Wilce, one of Roper's men, told Jody that her father's life was in danger, so she rode to warn him. He was surprised to see her so far from home.

easy throw together three hundred head in a couple of days. That gives us a nice bunch of anyway two thousand. The more the better—but with two thousand we'll make our drive."

They slept that night under the slowly falling snow. Roper himself made coffee and routed out his riders two hours before the first light. They caught their horses in the dark, with hands that fumbled the stiffened ropes; then split off in pairs to comb the range.

For two days Roper watched the enemy camp while the snow held on, piling a deeper and deeper mat; then on the third day he returned to the rendezvous as the roundup men began straggling in.

Tex Long was the first one back. "This range is plumb solid with stock," Tex declared. "How many head do you figure me and Kid Johnson scraped up, just us two?"

"Well," Roper grunted, "upwards of a dozen—I should hope."

"Better'n six hundred head! Lord Almighty, Bill! Figuring they're worth twenty dollars apiece, and allowing that all the other boys do as good, we're liable to get out of here with around eighty thousand dollars worth of cattle! You realize that?"

But Roper was thinking of the letter in his pocket; the appeal of a girl who needed him in some unknown way, and who did not even know why he couldn't come.

All the next day they worked to throw the little bunches together into a trail herd. Not all of them had done as well as Tex Long and Kid Johnson, but most of them had done well enough. And then, at last, the first herd privateered in the Great Raid began to roll. A long unsteadily moving river of cattle poured northward, a dark velvet in the thinning fall of the snow. White-faces, mostly, blocky and heavy, well wintered on the prairie hay—Roper counted two thousand six hundred odd!

Pressed hard by the heavy force of cowboys, the cattle bawled but humped along northward into the valley of the Prairie Elk.

Rounding up within a day's ride of Miles City itself, Roper's men had taken this herd almost out of the very corrals of Lasham's outposts; and yet, so far as any of them knew, that swift-moving drive represented a harder blow than had ever been struck a cattelman in a single raid. In all their months of effort the winter wild bunch had been unable to achieve an equal reprisal upon Lasham, and now they could hardly believe their own success. They forced the cattle hard, driving through the clogging snow at a rate incredible to men accustomed to handling market herds.

The cattle that broke the way through the snow kept dropping back, blown and tired; but as fast as they failed, others were forced forward to take their places. Longhorned, stag-legged steers of the old Texas strain fought the riders, breaking the heavy column repeatedly in their wild-eyed thrusts for liberty, and these were allowed to get away. Gaunt, weak cattle lagged back, unable to keep up even under the snapping rope ends of the tail riders; they also were allowed to drop out, promptly forgotten. Yet, in that first day, the side riders swept in enough north-roaming cattle to more than make up the loss.

Roper went with the herd as far as Circle Horse Creek; but when they had forded the shallows, crashing through the rotten ice, he turned back. With him he took four men who he believed would do what he said. The cattle were moving more slowly now, plodding doggedly through the heavy going; Tex Long and the remaining eight men could hold them to their way. What was needed now was work of a different kind, and Roper thought he knew how that was to be done.

It was his intention to fight a rear guard action—not only for this first herd, which would be delivered within the week to the Indians who would spirit it away, but for the protection of all the rest of the wild bunch raiding to westward.

But now as he neared the head of the Little Dry, a rider came dropping down a long slope upon a racing horse. His carbine was held above his ragged sombrero in sign of peace; and as he came near they saw that it was Hat Crick Tommy.

Roper jumped his horse out to meet Hat Crick. "What is it? Is there any word? Did she—"

Tommy's face was haggard with fatigue. "She's gone!" he jerked out. "She's been to Miles City—and now she's gone!"

"Gone? Gone where?"

"Nobody knows. She's missing—disappeared—strayed or lost or rustled, I don't know which! Her father's wild crazy, and every K-G outfit in the north is combing the trails—"

Roper sat staring for a full half minute. Then his hands fumbled for his reins, shook out the loop.

"Turn that roan pony! I've got to have a fresh horse . . ."

Benefits to Our Readers THE PUBLIC nature of advertising benefits everyone it touches. It benefits the public by describing exactly the products that are offered. It benefits employees, because the advertiser must be more fair and just than the employer who has no obligation to the public. These benefits of advertising are quite apart from the obvious benefits which advertising confers—the lower prices, the higher quality, the better service that go with advertised goods and firms.

New FSA Lease Plan Available

The Farm Security Administration has available a revised Flexible Farm lease which will enable the landlord to improve his farm over a long time period according to Wyman J. Welch, County RR Supervisor. Mr. Welch states that a meeting of all county and home management supervisors in this district met in Lubbock last week to discuss land tenure and long term rental agreements.

Families who cannot get adequate credit from other lending agencies to finance their operations are eligible for these loans. The Farm Security Administration will advance funds to the tenant to place adequate improvements on a farm provided the landlord will pay the appraised value of the improvement at the termination of the lease or give the tenant an option to purchase the land.

With a long term lease the Farm Security Administration will advance funds to the tenant to place adequate improvements at the termination of the lease or give the tenant an option to purchase the land.

With a long term lease the Farm Security Administration will advance funds to build the improvements and collect so much out of the rent each year to pay for the improvements.

This long term lease has advantages for both the tenant and landlord. More information will be furnished at the local office of the Farm Security Administration in the courthouse.

Coke R. Stevenson Will Be Texas' 33rd Governor

COKE R. STEVENSON

When Gov. W Lee O'Daniel relinquished the office of governor to take his seat in the United States Senate, Lieutenant Governor Coke R. Stevenson will become governor for the unexpired term, a period of about eighteen months.

Stevenson is serving his second term as lieutenant governor, having been elected first in 1938, when Senator G. H. Nelson, formerly of this city, was one of his opponents. He was re-elected last year.

Prior to that Stevenson had served two successive terms as Speaker of the House of Representatives, the only man ever accorded the honor of succeeding himself in that position.

NEW OIL BEATS
five other big-name brands in
TORTURE-TEST

Endures Sizzling Death Valley heat for
13,398 MILES ON ONE 5-QUART FILL

How this Certified Record can spell new Oil-Savings—new Engine Safety—for You

You get the oil that outlasted 5 other highly reputed brands by 74% to 161% in Certified Competition, when you change to this proved-in-advance new oil named

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL
—Popular-Priced

Your own engine can be fortified by new Conoco Nth motor oil right today, at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. But before going on sale this new oil proved that a regular 5-quart fill could establish startling extremes of endurance, protection and miser-economy.

Fantastic Death Valley brings Your Evidence

Death Valley seems to shimmy—like heat at your furnace door. And down on this desert impartial observers watched 6 identical stock cars run at 57-mile speed, torture-testing 6 quality oils including new Conoco Nth oil. No let-up, day on day, till each oil gave out and junked its engine.

Even the best competitive oil in the test was outlasted 5,683 miles by Conoco Nth oil. And one "rival" was outlasted all of 8,268 miles by new Conoco Nth oil. Certified.

All this New Economy how?

America has long known Conoco best for making it possible to give any engine OIL-PLATING...lubricant that can't all quickly drain down, but must stay PLATED UP—alert against wear in advance—not waiting till oil-flow starts. OIL-PLATING comes from a rare synthetic...man-made under the Conoco Germ Processed oil patent. And Conoco Nth motor oil still brings OIL-PLATING—but not only that!...

In addition this new oil brings Conoco's latest synthetic—Thialkene inhibitor. It inhibits—controls—the effect of foul "leftovers" produced by every engine's normal firing. Otherwise uncontrolled oil spoilage could easily start. In oils that let this spoilage start, it spreads like a rumor—gets worse, faster and faster. But now that's nipped in the bud by Thialkene inhibitor, in new Conoco Nth oil...U. S. Patent 2,218,132. This oil stays more like its own good self. Then your engine will, and that saves oil...as demonstrated by the long life of Conoco Nth in pitiless Death Valley.

You'll never give your own engine such a "trial by torture." You wouldn't pass up your regular time for draining. Authorities say, "Don't!" But you can know that Conoco Nth outlasted other big-name oils by as much as 161%... Certified. So you can see your chance of big Summer savings in changing now to new Conoco Nth at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

THE GOSPEL IS TAKEN INTO EUROPE

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:6-15. GOLDEN TEXT—Come over into Macedonia and help us.—Acts 16:9.

America is coming to the fore in the thinking of a confused world as the final hope of democracy and religious freedom. Europe, or at least most of Europe, represents in our thinking dictatorship, a totalitarian disregard for the personal rights of man, including his freedom to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience.

It is therefore very appropriate that on this "Fourth of July" Sunday, when patriotism has been much in our thoughts, that we remind ourselves in the study of our Sunday school lesson that the roots of American life, both cultural and religious, reach back into the European soil on which our forefathers dwelt. Much of that which we as Christians count precious has come to us because Paul, the missionary, was responsive to the leading of the Holy Spirit and carried the gospel into the heathendom of Europe, from whence, in due time, it came to our own land.

It was a crucial point in the history of Christianity; yes, and of the world, when the gospel came to Europe.

I. By Providential Hindrance (vv. 6-8).

Not only are "the steps of a good man ordered by the Lord" (Ps. 37:23), but his steps as well. That is not an easy lesson to learn. Let us remember that we may be as much in the will of the Lord when all our efforts are thwarted as when they prosper.

Paul had set out on a second journey to carry out a follow-up campaign in the cities where he had already preached. This was a good plan and had God's blessing (see v. 5). But soon we find that word "forbidden" (v. 6) and then "suffered not" (v. 7). The Holy Spirit began to close doors to the gospel preacher. Now what? Shall he go on in determined self-will? Or shall he become discouraged and embittered in his soul? No, let him wait, for God is guiding him by providential hindrance, which is soon to be followed.

II. By Divine Guidance (vv. 9, 10).

The Spirit spoke to Paul in a vision, revealing the divine purpose that the gospel should go over into Macedonia. The Spirit leads in our day, possibly not by visions, but by impelling inward prompting complemented and checked by the teaching of Scripture and by providential circumstances, and thus a man may know what is the will of God for him.

A word of caution is needed at this point. Some earnest Christian people go astray by projecting their own desires and purposes into the place where they seem to be the will of God, and thus do themselves and others, and Christianity itself, much harm. The three things should agree—(1) the inner prompting of the Spirit, (2) the teaching of God's Word, and (3) God's hand in our outward circumstances.

If these three do not agree, the Christian does well to wait, prayerfully, expectantly, for the Lord's further guidance.

III. Through a Faithful Witness (vv. 11-14a).

The gospel came to Europe because Paul and his fellow workers were faithful to their calling. When God led, they went to Macedonia (vv. 11, 12), where they sought out those who were in the place of prayer (v. 13). Paul spoke to them about Christ (v. 14). There he met the man of Macedonia who turned out to be a woman. For some reason the men were absent from the place of prayer on that all-important Sabbath morning. They were undoubtedly the ancient counterpart of our present day men who are "brothers-in-law" to the church, these foolish men who seem to assume that a bit of "religion" second hand through the wife or children will suffice.

IV. Through a Receptive Heart (vv. 14b-15).

God sent an obedient messenger to the place where He had a prepared heart. Lydia was a woman of distinction, business ability, and high moral character. But she knew, and Paul knew, that even good people need to be saved. We do well to keep that fact before us.

Paul spoke the truth of God, who opened Lydia's heart. Observe that she not only received the Word of God into her own heart, but at once gave herself to the task of passing it on. The first thing she could do was to give aid and comfort to the messenger of the truth, and she did that at once. Be assured that from that day on she did all she could to prosper the gospel on its way through Europe and to the ends of the earth. Have we done likewise?

Extending of Material Aid to Russia Poses Difficult Problem for British; U. S. Also Studies Soviet Aid Question; Early Reports on Fighting Are Vague

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Total National Production (in millions of tons): Coal (1940), 164.6; Oil and Gas (1940), 14.9; Pig Iron (1940), 14.9; Steel (1940), 18.4; Sugar (1937, 1938), 3.5.

Drawn from an authoritative source, the above chart indicates the total amounts of strategic resources produced in the entire Soviet Union. These items come from the Ukraine and Caucasus in the following percentages: Coal, 62; oil, 83; iron ore, 64; pig iron, 63; steel, 47; and sugar, 74. Thus loss of the area represents a tremendous blow to Russia and an important gain for the Nazis. This chart was released by the University of Chicago Round Table.

AID: To Reds?

As Nazi Germany and Red Russia hurled their armies into the most far-flung battle-line of all human history, the question of just what aid would be sent to the Soviet forces was a moot point on both sides of the Atlantic.

The governments of both Britain and the United States declared themselves on successive days as having solved the question as to the aid principle by boiling it down to a very simple equation—

"Anybody that is fighting Nazis is on our side in this fight."

Britain announced it would send "economic and military aid," and the United States said the same, but it was not immediately clear just how much of the latter there would be.

England's first move was to increase the effectiveness of her bombing raids on occupied France and German cities, raiding both by day and by night, and reportedly downing many Nazi airplanes.

In fact, the RAF reported the dropping of as many bombs by weight in two weeks of the Russian warfare as they had in a whole month previously.

Heavy American bombers were constantly arriving on the scene in England, and these, presumably, permitted the British to regard planes as slightly more "expedient" than they had viewed them previously.

There did not seem to be any question of "ferrying" airplanes to Russia. Rather, the only serious question of a changed policy on the part of England was the suggestion in some quarters that it might be a good thing for Britain to cross the channel with soldiers and tanks now that Hitler's "back was turned."

That Britain was watching the Russo-German war with her fingers crossed was evident in the military answer to this suggestion. The first objection was that the channel ports had been so blasted that they would not be suitable for landings of large numbers of troops, and that, if the Germans should win a sudden and swift victory over the Russians, then limited forces of British on the continent might find themselves in a very precarious position.

Therefore the question of British aid to Russia seemed to be largely one of sending an advisory military mission, which was done at once, and the extension of more liberal trading credits.

In the United States, aside from the fact that the question of any aid at all became a matter of vitriolic debate, the actual aid to the Reds boiled itself down to the same thing. President Roosevelt said:

"Even if Russia were to send us a list of her needs, it is not possible to fill the order as one would go to a store. Our munitions factories, including the airplane plants, are completely busy filling our own needs and those of Britain."

The question of time was important, for the United States did not want to send planes and other equipment to Vladivostok, thence to start the long trek across Siberia, and then to arrive just in time to fall into Nazi hands.

Yet this government did unfreeze Russian credits in this country undoing an action it had taken just 10 days before. Messages of sympathy and encouragement were sent by Sumner Welles, although he plainly stipulated, as Churchill had, that American aims and ideals were utterly foreign to those of Stalin.

Anthony Eden was the official spokesman for Britain and his words had the same portent.

And so history in the gross was being written, with an estimated 4,000,000 men in action on two sides of a 2,000-mile battleline.

FIGHTING: Clouded

The Russo-German war was odd in that it was being carried on without the benefit of war correspondents.

Of little value as they are in modern warfare, where they are scarcely able to keep up with the swiftness of events, and where they are just as apt as civilians of other types to become casualties themselves, they were badly missed in this, the greatest battle from point of numbers and power of all history.

It would have taken an army of them to cover a 2,000-mile front, to begin with, and in the second place, the Nazis barred all correspondents from the front, and the Russians did likewise. The Nazis were using "soldier correspondents," but the feeling among readers of communiques was that they were more than usually uncommunicative.

It was impossible to do more on a war map than to draw hazy lines, with arrows pointed at the districts where one side or the other claimed that the action was taking place.

Estimates of the number of men and machines in action were of the haziest conjecture, running all the way from 100 divisions on a side to 200, and the plane guesses from 2,000 on a side to 4,000.

There were even skeptics on the street who asked "who knows whether there's any fighting at all."

The answer to that was to be found on the Western Front, where bombing of England had been abandoned, and virtually German defense of the air. Hitler, said wise observers, would not have permitted that unless the "real McCoy" in the way of a war blitz were going on at the Eastern front.

Both sides made the most optimistic claims. The Germans claimed "uncounted" planes shot down and destroyed on the ground; the Russians said the count in the first week was 387 for them, 382 for Germany.

The Germans claimed that they'd wiped out a whole division and that their blitz was moving forward on schedule and that a great victory would be announced momentarily.

The Russians countered with the statement that at no place had the Nazis moved into actual pre-war Russian territory, and that at some points their own troops were on the offensive.

One instance of the difficulty of getting facts from the communiques came in the battle of the Prut river, which the Germans first claimed to have crossed without difficulty; later said they had "established by hard fighting a bridgehead across the Prut," two days after they had previously announced an easy and swift crossing.

As to the Prut, the Russians said "10 barges of the enemy crossed a wide river under cover of a fog, but were hurled back later with terrible losses"—and this river was supposed to be the same Prut.

The Russians claimed Warsaw and Constanta, important cities in Nazi-occupied territory in flames, and heavy damage on Helsinki and Danzig. The Germans said they were burning up Leningrad, Russia's second most populous city.

MISCELLANY:

BROOKLYN, N. Y.: Public school children were given an emergency air raid drill, getting them "in on the ground floor" in case of air attacks on the metropolis.

LONDON: The RAF has 500 young pilots who were born in the United States, according to an official report. Most of them enlisted in Canada.

DAYTON, OHIO: Fred Snite, the "iron lung" daddy, is practicing with a portable outfit that will permit him to walk about.

PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE

WEARING the simplest frocks you can find these hot days? Here is a style you can easily make for yourself, and you can wear it in cool comfort on the most sizzling days. It is a simple one-piece dress, cut to a low point in front, sleeveless and backless except for shoulder straps. Of course you wear the bolero with it on the street. Pattern No. 1359-B is a tried and true design for the ideal warm weather dress. It has everything; youthful lines, back opening which makes it easy to get into, no fussy details which take time to iron.

Make this dress in any of the washable sports fabrics; cottons, linens, rayon. Percale, dimity, chambray, broadcloth are particularly recommended. Bolero can match the frock. The frock in a print and the bolero in a solid color is also a smart effect.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1359-B is in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements are 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 14 (32) dress requires 2 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric, bolero jacket 1 1/2 yards. Ric-rac outline takes 4 yards. Pattern is complete with sew chart. Send order to:

Rastus Had Just Gone Through the Preliminary

"Rastus," said the judge, "you are accused of disturbing the entire neighborhood on Tuesday night. And this is not the first complaint. What have you got to say for yourself?"

"Well, suh, judge, it was this here way," said Rastus. "Me an' Lucy had an argument. She called me a lazy loafah, an' I clap her down flat. Up she hops an' smash a plate on mah head an' drop me flat. Den I rise up an' welt her one wid a chair; an' den she heave a hot tea-kettle at me."

"I see," said the judge, "and then what happened?"

"An' den," said Rastus, "we gets mad an' starts to fight."

THREE LOVELY HEADLINES

HERE are three lovely headlines which are going to get themselves into the fashion news this summer. They show what wonders can be wrought with shining lustrous hair no matter what the color, texture or the age of its owner.

Note the upward swing of all three hair-do's, which is for coolness sake, of course. You'll also mark the hint of modified pompadour in each, though it be only in the soft roll of the natural blonde, the group of curls in the chestnut hair and the single little front curl on the dimpled brunette.

All three heads, however, have one outstanding virtue in common — gorgeous lustre that highlights every hair. These ladies are fervent users of Drene, that remarkable liquid soapless shampoo which turns drab locks into thrillingly lustrous hair and makes a glamour girl of even the mousiest individual.

Take another close look at the pictures and you'll see what we mean. These heads are alive with health, and we just know their tresses have been well and vigorously brushed before shampooing. Then a few drops of the soapless shampoo, which comes for oily, or dry hair, a hearty massage with the finger tips, rinsing (at least two, depending on how much is used) and these entirely different types of heads emerge with 33 per cent more lustre than they've ever had before, and with all the previously hidden highlights shining in full glory.

Keep your hair clean this summer with frequent shampoos and you are bound to look as cool and radiant as these glamour girls, who know that it is lustre first, then style. With the hair experts busy as bees thinking up new coiffures, it's up to the girls to keep their hair manageable, and grimy locks that cling together in ugly strands or frizzy wisps are never that.

HOME DEMONSTRATION EXHIBIT

How many ways do you serve potatoes to your family during the year?

If you follow suggestions of the Midway Home Demonstration club, which placed an exhibit in Boulouin's Grocery last Saturday, you will get out of that rut of serving them only as boiled, baked and fried, and try something a bit more pleasing if not really thrilling. Well, yes. Right in the middle of that exhibit the Club women had a miniature volcano! Wouldn't that wake up the most sluggish appetite? There were other attractive potato dishes, too, such as Scalloped Potatoes and Scalloped Sweet Potatoes with Apples.

Best of all they had prepared a bunch of mimeographed recipes so that each person who saw the exhibit could go right home and prepare similar dishes for their tables.

Here are some other interesting facts that we learned about potatoes from the Midway Club women: Both sweet and Irish potatoes are good sources of vitamins and each person should have one serving each day which amounts to about 200 pounds of potatoes per person per year.

Besides the valuable vitamins contained in potatoes both kinds furnish minerals so necessary in body processes.

The Draw Club will present Dried Peas and Beans at the A. L. Smith store this Saturday.
